2 Killed in Crossing Crash at Rochester

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A passenger train and an automobile collided in downtown Rochester, Minn., Sunday, killing two men in the car and injuring two other occupants.

The deaths raised Minnesota's 1962 traffic toll to 18, compared with 30 through this date last year.

The Rochester accident happened at a crossing marked with a warning bell and flashing red light, police said. The train, the Chicago & North Western "Rochester 400," had left the depot moments before the crash.

The impact hurled the car to the railroad right-of-way. Police, an auto wrecker crew and a Fire Department rescue squad used crow bars to pry the fatally injured men from the wrecked car.

Conrad Johnson, 67, Hollandale, Minn., bachelor, was dead on arrival at a Rochester hospital. Arthur O. Johnson, 55, Hartland, Minn., died about 30 minutes later. Police said the men were not related.

Injured were Leonard Gilbertson, 52, and his sister, Thelma A. Gilbertson, 57, both of Hollandale.

THE CROSSING was marked with a warning bell and flashing red light, police said.

The train, which had left the Rochester station a few minutes before, consisted of a diesel locomotive, two coaches, a diner and a parlor car. It was not damaged and proceeded on its way after a police investigation.

Railroad officials said the train left the Rochester station, 11 blocks away, at 12:24 p.m., 16 minutes late, and was still moving slowly when it hit the car. The car was pushed 20 feet down the track by the impact.

ABOUT 25 persons boarded the train at Rochester, a railroad employee said. The train was bound for Chicago, Ill., from Mankato, Minn.

The train is one which the railroad is seeking to discontinue, maintaining it operates at a loss.

An Interstate Commerce Commission hearing was held at Rochester Friday at which railroad representatives presented their case and at which several local persons protested the proposed curtailment in service.

Three persons died in Minnesota traffic accidents Saturday and late Friday. Robert W. Wilson, Edina, died in a three-car collision in the Minneapolis suburb. Mrs. Ben Wilson, about 65, Mankato, was killed Friday night when a truck hit her. Victor Shade, 65, of rural Austin, died Saturday of injuries suffered when his pickup truck went off a road near Brownsdale.

Thomas Lyght, 16, St. Paul, was fatally injured in Iowa Sunday. Patrolmen said the youth was driving a stolen car which struck a Highway Patrol car four miles south of Hampton.

Authorities said Lyght stole the car Saturday night in Northfield, Minn., stopped at a Mason City service station for gas, then drove off without paying. A short time later Mason City police spotted the car headed south. Officers gave chase, hitting speeds of up to 95 miles an hour at times. The police covered 32 miles in 22 minutes. Four roadblocks failed to stop the youth, officers said.

The youth's attempt to pass a fifth roadblock, a patrol car set up by Sgt. Harry Lown, ended in young Lyght's death, officers said.

"400" Hearing Moves to Madison

ROCHESTER, Minn. — The Interstate Commerce Commission hearing on the Chicago & North Western's plea for abandonment of the "400" passenger trains between Chicago and Mankato and the Twin Cities has been completed here and will resume at Madison, Wis., Tuesday.

Rusk Tells Senators of Trouble Spots

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk goes to Capitol Hill today to brief members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on world trouble spots. One possible subject for discussion is proposed U.S. purchase of U.N. bonds.

Rusk appears before a closed session of the committee as Congress members continue to voice their opinions of President Kennedy's proposal for authority to purchase half of a $200-million U.N. bond issue.

The 25-year, 2-per cent bonds would help pay the cost of U.N. operations in the Congo and the Middle East.

A Democrat, Sen. Harry F. Byrd, of Virginia, has been vocal and persistent in his opposition to the idea. Sunday a Republican, Sen. John Sherman Cooper, of Kentucky, swung behind it.

"We've committed ourselves to it. We're in it and I'll vote for it," he said of the U.N. financing plan.

But, Cooper added on a television interview—CBS—"Washington Conversation"—the United States should inform all nations it will not continue such aid unless they pay up their U.N. assessments.

Elsewhere, Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., a member of the Senate committee, championed U.S. purchase of the bonds to help "clinich (Soviet Premier) Khrushchev's defeat in the Congo."

"The one biggest defeat Khrushchev has suffered in the last 10 years has been in the Congo," Gore said. "Success in the Congo, which means success in Africa, will represent our biggest victory since World War II."

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., denounced the bond issue proposal Sunday, asserting it would provide the Soviet Union "a long-time escape avenue" for refusing to pay its share of the Congo operation.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he is "hopeful that we can get through what the administration requested, and that is a $100-million bond issue underwritten by us which will be repayable."

The U.N. deficit is expected to reach $170 million by June 30. The world organization has been unable to collect special assessments for its Congo operations and its truce supervision in the Gaza Strip.

U.S. to Sign Treaty With Common-Mart

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—The United States and the European Common Market nations will sign a sweeping tariff-cutting agreement on many industrial products Tuesday afternoon, sources close to the Common Market reported today.

The agreement will be signed by Howard Peterson, special adviser to President Kennedy, and Jean Rey, member of the European Economic Community (EEC) commission in charge of foreign relations.

"Everything seems to be going all right," the sources said. "Meetings of experts are taking place today to examine the last problems still pending. These meetings will continue tomorrow morning if need be."

The sources indicated that the French representatives had expressed some reservations about tariff cuts on imports of some American chemicals, but that it was hoped these objections could be met to the satisfaction of the French government.

Big Bomber Leaves Spain For Flight Home

MADRID, Spain (AP) — The U.S. Air Force's record-smashing B52H superbomber left Torrejon air base near Madrid this morning for its home base at Minot, N.D. Estimated arrival time at Minot is 2:20 p.m. (CST).

In a flight without refueling from Okinawa to Madrid last week the eight-engine jet claimed 11 new records, including a world mark of 12,519 miles for distance in flight without refueling.

Maj. Clyde T. Evely of Petersburg, Va., commander of the huge plane, estimated the flight to Minot would take 11 hours.

Ten Die in Arkansas Fire

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP)—Ten persons, including eight children, burned to death when a pre-dawn fire swept their farm home 25 miles north of here today.

Sheriff Martin Hawkins identified the victims as Mr. and Mrs. Andy Paladino and their children, ranging in age from 3 to 12 years.

The fire, fanned by a swift wind, had swept through the two-story frame house before being discovered by a neighbor, Hawkins said.

Showers Pieces Of Aluminum Into Atlantic

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A huge space balloon broke apart hundreds of miles above the Atlantic today as it was inflating to the size of a 13-story building.

The breakup of the big balloon—dubbed "Big Shot"—showed several pieces of aluminum coated plastic into the ocean about 600 miles southeast of the Cape. The pieces, illuminated brilliantly by the rays of the rising sun, provided a spectacular show for observers.

The 500-pound bundle of plastic sheeting was folded neatly in a canister in the nose of a Thor rocket which blasted off at 6:06 a.m. in an experiment aimed at testing techniques for launching an advanced Echo communications satellite.

A few minutes after the launch, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced that the balloon had separated from the Thor and had started to inflate. But a short while later the space agency said that the balloon had split.

After viewing a television film, officials theorized that perhaps the sphere carried too much residual air which caused it to expand too quickly.

The TV film, relayed from a camera in the Thor booster, showed vividly the separation of the canister from the rocket, opening of the canister with one-half slipping off into space and sudden inflation of the balloon and the almost immediate ripping.

The tear first appeared about three seconds after inflation, and immediately split the balloon into several pieces.

Newsmen viewed the film at a news conference. Officials said the film was much clearer than expected and that it was among the best footage of type ever relayed from a space vehicle.

Walter Brissette, a project official, said the expansion of the balloon was much more rapid than anticipated, indicating that perhaps an overdose of air had been placed in the sphere before

Built in Minnesota

NORTHFIELD, Minn. (AP) — The huge space balloon, destroyed in a rocket shot malfunction at Cape Canaveral today, was manufactured by the G. T. Schjeldahl Co. of Northfield.

The balloon was more rigid and efficient as an electromagnetic space reflector than its forerunner Echo I, which is still visible at times after being put in orbit 17 months ago.

Both Echo I and the new balloon were made of ultra-thin aluminum.

launching to help the inflation.

Actually, the amount of air was very small. The main inflation was caused by 30 pounds of sublimating powder which turned to gas in space.

An attempt also was under way to recover a 16-mm movie camera which ejected from the Thor and parachuted into the sea. The package carrying the movie camera was sighted floating in the ocean about 200 miles northeast of San Salvador about an hour after the launching. This film would provide a clearer picture of what happened to the big sphere.

Newsmen at the Cape saw the beginning of the inflation process as the sun reflected off the aluminum surface. The balloon at first appeared as a solitary star drifting slowly upward in the dark, clear sky.

Suddenly, several other bright objects appeared to surround it. Observers thought initially that these might be parts of the rocket and the canister which carried the inflated balloon.

The fragments climbed upward for approximately the intended maximum altitude of 950 miles before starting a quick descent, leaving wavy vapor trails in their wake.

"Big Shot" was to have inflated to a diameter of 135 feet, which would have made it the largest—but not the heaviest—space vehicle ever sent aloft.

NASA has a backup Thor and balloon and expects to repeat the shot as soon as today's trouble is pinpointed.

If the second shot is successful, a similar sphere will be rocketed into orbit later this year as Echo II.

Heavy Blanket of Wet Snow Covers Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Heavy wet snow blanketed broad areas of the Midwest today, piling atop the big covering still on the ground from last week's storm.

The storm, which swept north-eastward from eastern Kansas and Oklahoma dumped from one up to more than six inches of snow in a belt extending from northern Missouri across northwestern Illinois into southeast Wisconsin and western lower Michigan.

Snow depths in the region ranged from 8 to 10 inches, with the covering in Muskegon, Mich., measuring 15 inches. Chicago, hit by an 11-inch snowfall a week ago, started digging out from the fresh fall which was expected to reach eight or nine inches.

Driving conditions were reported hazardous throughout the snow belt. At least three traffic deaths were attributed to slippery highways, one each in Kansas, Missouri and Iowa. Three persons died of heart attacks while shoveling snow in Illinois.

Air travel was curtailed in some cities, including Kansas City and Chicago.

South of the snow belt, heavy rains pounded areas from southern Illinois and Indiana southward through the lower Mississippi Valley.

Thunderstorms rumbled across Alabama and sections of Louisiana and Mississippi, causing some property damage. Gusts of 66 m.p.h. lashed Birmingham while gusty winds and heavy rains hit southeast Louisiana.

There was a warming trend in most of the Southeast in the wake of last week's unseasonable cold weather. Temperatures were above freezing for the first time in several nights in the Carolinas, Tennessee and the Gulf region. Readings ranged up to 80 in southern Florida Sunday.

9 Dead in Wisconsin

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nine persons, including the former mayor of Black Earth and his wife, and three victims of a two-car crash near Menominee County, lost their lives in highway crashes in Wisconsin during the weekend. The deaths raised the state's toll for the year to 26 compared with 36 a year ago today.

Jacob P. Lange, 67, former mayor of the Dane County community of Black Earth, died Sunday night in a Madison hospital, and his wife, Hulda, 67, died early today in the same hospital, of injuries suffered several hours earlier in a head-on crash with another car on Highway 14, a mile and a half west of Cross Plains. Three other persons were injured. The cars did not have seat belts police said.

A two-car collision on Highway 47, two miles north of Neopit in Menominee County Saturday night took the lives of a woman and two young people. The victims were Franklin Dodge, 17, of Neopit and Mrs. Mary LaRock, 33, of Keshena, the mother of seven children, who died in the crash, and Elizabeth Boivin, 11, of Keshena, who died later at a hospital. The dead girl's mother, Mrs. Lorraine Boivin, was the driver of one of the cars. The car in which Dodge was riding was driven by Colin Laue of Keshena, one of three persons injured.

James Alvarez, 53, of Milwaukee, was found dead early Sunday on a city street near his home. Police said he had been killed by a hit-and-run car.

Mrs. Martin R. Melchert, about 21, of Kenosha, died Saturday night in the collision of two cars on Highway 12 just south of Black River Falls.

Victims listed earlier were: Bert Thomas of Antigo and George I. Eddy of Clam Falls.

Man Hit by Falling Tree Dies in Cold

MARSHFIELD, Wis. (AP)—Steve Hurban Jr., 54, a Town of Harmony farmer who lay unconscious in freezing weather for more than six hours after he was struck by a tree he was cutting down, died after an emergency operation Saturday.

Neighbors organized a search party when Hurban did not return Friday. He was found in the woods near Harmony, in Price County. He was taken to a Park Falls hospital, then transferred to a Marshfield hospital where he died.

U.S. Opposes Plane Sale To Red China

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department told a congressional critic today that it had opposed a British sale of airliners to Communist China but that Britain felt it had every right to make its own decision.

The State Department's position was stated in a letter from Assistant Secretary Frederick G. Dutton to Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y. The senator had protested the transaction to Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

In the multimillion-dollar deal the Peiping government late last year purchased six Vickers Viscount airliners. Since then Red China was reported to have begun talks for the purchase of a fleet of Handley Page Herald airliners. Earlier this month, the Routes Group, one of Britain's biggest motor builders, announced the sale of 130 trucks to Peiping.

Cancellation of the sale, Dutton told Keating, would cause a bad public reaction in Britain "largely directed against the United States and, in the judgment of the British government, would cause undue harm to Anglo-American relations."

Dutton said the State Department was consulted in advance about the aircraft deal and told the British "we were opposed to supplying the Chinese Communists with these planes together with the embargoed equipment on them."

Indonesian Torpedo Boat Sunk by Dutch

HOLLANDIA, West New Guinea (AP)—An Indonesian motor torpedo boat has been sunk by Dutch warships in Dutch territorial waters off New Guinea, a navy spokesman said today.

The engagement took place when Dutch patrol vessels encountered a number of Indonesian motor torpedo boats, the navy spokesman said. He had no information on the fate of the other torpedo boats.

The Dutch news agency in The Hague said the engagement took place Sunday night.

Indonesia has threatened to seize West New Guinea by force if it cannot win the island by diplomacy, and Dutch officials report infiltration by small bands of Indonesian already has begun.

A Dutch official at Balikpapan said some Indonesian infiltrators have been killed in skirmishes with Dutch patrols.

The navy spokesman said Dutch craft encountered the torpedo boats off the south coast near Etna Bay. This is a region within easy range of some of the eastern Indonesian islands believed used as a base for infiltrators into West New Guinea.

It was not clear how many vessels were engaged in the encounter.

U.S. Navy Ship Landing Copters For Viet Nam

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A U.S. Navy ship arrived today with two large Army helicopters and several observation planes to aid the forces of President Ngo Dinh Diem against the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

The aircraft ferry Breton, a converted carrier, also had seven jet fighters and a Neptune flying boat bomber on her deck, but these were to be taken to Yokosuka Naval Air Station in Japan, U.S. sources said.

Four jets bearing the markings of the U.S. Air Force 109th Fighter Squadron landed today at Saigon airport, but U.S. sources declined to comment on them.

The sources denied a report that the Breton had discharged a company of helicopters—about 20 aircraft and 200 men—farther up the coast of South Viet Nam on Sunday.

The Breton was the second ship loaded with planes to arrive here since South Viet Nam and the United States reached agreement last month on a major new military buildup.

The first ship, the Core, brought about 40 helicopters and 400 U.S. Army men to fly and service them. The helicopters are capable of carrying 14 men each.

The official silence blanketing the arrival of new U.S. equipment has led to wide speculation as to the numbers and types of weapons being brought into the war-torn republic.

Large quantities of military supplies arrive here both by air and ship nearly every day, and convoys made up of U.S. Army trucks are often seen passing through Saigon.

Winona Flier Missing From Navy Carrier

An air and ground search was continuing in the Philippines today for a Navy airplane for which a Winona man was navigator-bombardier.

He is Lt. (j.g.) Thomas J. Beadles, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beadles, 1209 W. Howard St.

HE WAS aboard the two-jet Sky Warrior missing since Saturday from the carrier Coral Sea in the South China Sea, according to the Associated Press. Two other Navy men were aboard.

The AP reported that planes were searching in the Mindoro Island area south of Manila. Units of the Philippine constabulary were searching thick jungles in the mountainous area of southern Luzon.

The Beadles were informed late Saturday night that their son was missing. This morning Mrs. Beadles talked to Chief of Naval Personnel office in Washington, but this office could provide no additional information. The office did say that the flight had occurred Friday, Manila time.

This is Lt. Beadles' fourth cruise. He was out on the Shangri-La twice and on the Lexington once. All have been in the Pacific area. The Coral Sea left from Alameda, Calif., Dec. 12. He is expected to return to the mainland for shore school this year.

LT. BEADLES is a 1958 graduate of the University of Minnesota. He was in the ROTC.

The Sky Warrior, an attack bomber, has a flying range of about five hours. The two other men aboard were Lt. Wallace B. Meachine, the pilot, and an enlisted man, Albert W. Forner, both listed as coming from Oak Harbor, Washington. This was Meachine's first time out as a pilot; previously he had been a navigator-bombardier.

Two Cathedral Trustees Cited

Two trustees retiring after 10 years of service to the Cathedral of the Sacred Heart parish received Catholic Action medals from the Most Rev. Edward A. Fitzgerald, bishop of Winona, in ceremonies Sunday at the Cathedral.

Fockens Walter

Wildenborg Slaggie

Chester Fockens, vice president of the First National Bank, and Carlus Walter, manager of Bob's Brewery, were two of the original incorporators of the Cathedral parish in 1951. They have served as secretary and treasurer, respectively, of the parish since that time.

Their posts will be filled by John Wildenborg, secretary, and Len Slaggie, treasurer. Wildenborg is manager of the Winona Milk Co. and Slaggie is the owner of Gate City Agency.

In awarding the medal at a Holy Name Society breakfast, Bishop Fitzgerald commended the unselfish devotion and cooperation of Fockens and Walter during their tenure as trustees. "Never have their hands failed to support the pastor and every parish activity," said Bishop Fitzgerald.

Fockens and Walter have resigned their parish duties effective Jan. 31.

New Hospital Dedicated At Wabasha

WABASHA, Minn. (Special)—The Most Rev. Edward A. Fitzgerald, bishop of Winona, dedicated the new $2 million St. Elizabeth's Hospital in the chapel here Sunday afternoon, followed by a banquet at St. Felix auditorium, attended by about 200 E. R. Hillestead, chairman of the lay board, was toastmaster.

Dr. B. J. Bouquet, chief of the medical staff, was the principal speaker at the banquet. The Rev. Mother Mary Olivia, mother general of the Sisters of the Sorrowful Mother, and others spoke briefly. Music was furnished by St. Felix Choral Group directed by Sister Stephen Marie.

St. Felix Altar Society served the meal, with Mrs. M. Pfeilsticker as chairman and Mrs. T. J. Passe in charge of arrangements. The Rev. David Ryska, hospital chaplain, gave the closing prayer.

THE BISHOP PAID tribute to the sisters who established a mission here 64 years ago.

"The sacred body, fashioned by God and infused with an immortal soul, needs care because man is subject to illness and suffering," the bishop said. "The greatest work the sisters do is to give solace to sufferers and comfort to those in pain. They do not rest. They don't work for money or praise, but for love of God, and demonstrate this love through their labor with the sick and unselfish devotion and sacrifice to people who suffer."

Through the ages the church has been solicitous of the development of medicine and surgery, the bishop pointed out. During the Middle Ages, hospitals were attached to monasteries and called hospices. Following his talk the bishop led in the benediction of the Blessed Sacrament and blessed the new hospital. The chapel in which the program was held was filled to overflowing.

DR. BOUQUET paid tribute to Dr. C. G. Ochsner, who was chief of St. Elizabeth's medical staff many years before moving to St. Paul in 1961. He was largely responsible for maintaining the high level of staff service, he said. The staff was organized in 1936 and most of the doctors on it then are still with the hospital.

The big goal of the doctors is to attain accreditation of the hospital, he said, and their greatest challenge is to maintain the proper sense of values in the presence of modern scientific advances—to always remember that patients are people needing care. Dr. Bouquet expressed appreciation for the presence of sisters in key positions at the hospital, saying the nursing problem is acute. There is a shortage.

THE REV. MOTHER Mary Olivia, who has her headquarters in Rome, said she attended a staff meeting at St. Elizabeth's Hospital four years ago when the need for a new building and how to finance it were discussed. She came to Barbados and St. Lucia in the West Indies last June to establish missions.

The Sisters of the Sorrowful Mother also have elementary and high schools, orphanages and old people's homes in Italy, Germany, Austria and the U. S.

Speaking briefly were Sister Superior Mary Blanche, administrator of the hospital, who reported the nurse's home was nearly completed; Robert Fitzgerald, Rochester, first fund chairman, and Dr. William Barr, chairman of the state Board of Health. Dr. Barr said of the hospital, "This service will be just as good as you, the people, are willing to get behind it."

FITZGERALD was succeeded as fund chairman by Eugene Foley until he left for a Washington, D. C., position, when Hillestead was appointed.

Others in the audience introduced were Dr. Helen Knutson, Minneapolis director of the Hill-Burton board which selects hospitals to

Regents May Be Asked to Raise Tuition at U

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The University of Minnesota Board of Regents may be asked next month to increase student tuition rates.

Dr. O. Meredith Wilson, university president, told the board Friday that he and other administrators have been discussing effects of a student population explosion and it appears higher tuition rates may be the only answer.

"We are in financial trouble," President Wilson said. He added the problem must be solved soon or the university may run the risk of becoming stagnant.

Dr. Wilson said he expects to make recommendations at the regents' February meeting.

periodicals. All unbound periodicals were carried to the new library previously by the Scholastics or student brothers.

At 8:15 a.m. today Brother I. Basil, FSC, college president, appeared at the old library to lend a hand to the book lift. He received the first batch of books from James L. Hurley, Minneapolis, a junior who planned the move. Brother Luke Azarias, librarian, estimated it would take about 6,400 trips to move all 60,000 volumes. That averages 9 books a trip—a sizable load if a volunteer receives volumes 1-9 of the Encyclopaedia Britannica instead of 9 paperbacks.

Brother H. Charles, FSC, chairman of the biology department, appeared with knapsacks he uses during field trips to the woods.

THIS MORNING books were carried to the new library's basement while work on book shelves in the upper floors of the new building was being completed. These shelves will be ready Tuesday.

Plans for the Feb. 14 dedication of the library will be announced soon. Construction contracts totaled $348,315 for the library which was designed by Flad-Smith & Associates. The library is 132 by 80 feet and is in the center of a future dormitory quadrangle. The library will seat 925 students and will house about 200,000 volumes.

Trade Commission Urged for State

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Minnesota's attorney general says the state should have a state trade commission, similar to the federal trade commission, to protect businessmen from unfair trade practices.

"As it stands now, slow laborious court proceedings are required to combat such practices," Walter F. Mondale told the Minnesota Independent Grocer Association Sunday night.

Mondale pictured the small businessmen as "trying to hold his own against the encroachments of monopoly and predatory competition."

He said many of the laws under the Minnesota Unfair Trade Practices Act are 20 to 30 years old, and commercial practices have changed in that period.

Mondale said it is obvious why the small businessman is sometimes called the "forgotten man" of our times.

"He is the victim of a multitude of practices against which he is defenseless," the attorney general said. "Far too little is done to protect this vital segment of our economy."

3 Shots Fired Through Wine House Windows

BLUFF SIDING, Wis.—Buffalo County Sheriff Glen Davis was seeking today the person in a moving car who fired three shots through three windows at the Wine House here Sunday evening, causing about $1,500 damage but no injuries.

A customer, who had just parked in the parking lot, told the sheriff the car was going south on Highway 35 which is about 40 feet from the liquor store. The customer, who was not identified by the sheriff, heard three shots from the car at 6:20 p.m. and thought a capitalist was being fired. The customer did not see the weapon which Davis believes was of 22 caliber.

Each shot went through three 2-layer-insulated windows of the store, missing the bottles. Nobody was in the store at the time. Mr. and Mrs. Paul G. Druschke, who operate the Wine House, heard the shots in the apartment they occupy in the building.

Davis said he had not found where the three bullets had hit inside the store. Each window is about 8 by 8 feet along the front of the store. The store is owned by Len Losinski, who was not present at the time.

Davis said whoever did the shooting was a good marksman to be able to place one shot through each window from a moving car.

The Druschkes could give no motive for the shooting.

Five Arraigned In Fillmore Co. District Court

PRESTON, Minn.—Five were arraigned before Judge A. C. Richardson in a special term of Fillmore County Court here this morning.

Mrs. Waller O'Graskey, Ostrander, pleaded guilty to selling liquor to minors and was sentenced to 60 days in the jail here. Sentence was suspended and she was placed on probation for a year to Sheriff Neil Haugerud. She also was fined $100.

Her husband, arraigned on the same charges, pleaded not guilty and was bound over to the spring term of District Court on $100 bail. His attorney is A. M. Keith, Rochester.

George July, Spring Valley, pleaded guilty to selling liquor to minors and was sentenced to 60 days. All but 15 days of his sentence was suspended and he was placed on probation for a year to the sheriff. He was fined $100.

Patrick Hill, 25, and Robert Miller, 20, St. Paul, pleaded guilty to grand larceny, second degree, and were referred to the commissioner of corrections for sentence investigation. They are being held in jail in lieu of furnishing $500 bail.

Donald Farnholtz, 27, Witoka, requested a preliminary hearing in municipal court on second degree grand larceny charge. He was arrested for allegedly taking a wagon loaded with corn from Harroby Jan. 2, hooking it behind his car. The wagon was found near Whalan.

Farnholtz, represented by Clarence Perkins, Chatfield, is out on $100 bail.

STANLEY MORELAND, 20, Chatfield, charged with contempt of court for failing to pay support money to his family after divorce proceedings were started, has been charged and is leaving for service Tuesday, the sheriff said. His case was continued with the understanding that part of his Army pay will go for support.

An attorney, David A. Joerg, Preston, was appointed for Lauritz Peterson, 22, charged with kidnapping, and trial was postponed. He was returned to jail on failure to furnish $5,000 bail.

They Were Glad When Day Ended

DODGE, Wis.—Sunday was a bad luck day for the John Grzadziewski family at Dodge. John Jr. broke his arm, John Sr. cut his thumb and upset by it all, Sharon had a collision.

It all started at 11:30 a.m. when John Jr., otherwise known as Butch, fell down concrete steps and broke his arm. Then at noon his father, 42, cutting meat for dinner, ran the butcher knife through the thumb part of his left hand. Gene Galowski, local marshal, took him to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment. He was released but his arm is in a sling.

Sharon, 18, was emerging from the family driveway at 1:45 p.m. in her father's 1956 car when she collided with Norbert Bunke, who was driving the 1951 pickup belonging to Ed Jaszewski, Arcadia Rt. 2. Bunke was proceeding south as Sharon was turning into his lane of traffic.

Milo Johnson, Strum, Trempealeau County traffic officer, said there was about $100 damage to each vehicle, but neither driver was injured. No charges will be filed.

Juliet'll Tame That Sinatra

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "Tall Gal Plays It Cool, Confident, Independent and Loyal and Gets Her Guy"

There's your Juliet Prowse. Having been a ringsider at Frank Sinatra's life, I now claim that Juliet, with her long, pretty, sexy legs and her cool continental calm, may succeed in making him a henpecked husband like the rest of us.

About a year ago, Juliet sat around the lounge of the Las Vegas Sands and said, "I love him and I'm going to marry him." Some of them smiled and went off and played roulette but Juliet bagged Romeo.

Juliet and I were having a slight interview here 10 days ago — I think she was having coffee grog — and she spoke of her height being a handicap. Why, it's a tower of strength!

"I think I've grown . . . I think I'm now 5'8", she said.

She was sitting there with those nice legs up, with her young manager Eddie Goldstone Jr., whom I had cleverly figured out to be marrying her, spinning out plans for a night club act with three to six boys which would tour the world.

"The difficulty," she lamented, "is getting tall boys. . . Most boys are 5'9" or so, which is fine if I'm in my flats, but if I'm not, what'm I to do?"

WELL, JULIET doesn't have to brood any more, because Mrs. Sinatra in the cafes—how would it look?

Juliet didn't tell me a single thing about marrying Frank, of course. Though he was calling her every day ("I've found out since"). But she was loyal to the Thin One.

"Are you still a member of 'The Group' or 'Clan'?" I asked. Juliet wrinkled her nose at the term.

"I guess one is naturally a part of it if one is a friend of those people," she said.

Then one night last week I peeked in at her dressing room at a Perry Como TV taping. Angerly she told me that Syrus Skouras had suggested she get Tony Curtis to co-star with her in "Blood and Sand" and that Skouras had said:

"We wouldn't want Sinatra. His legs are too skinny." Juliet blazed, "That's ridiculous. They know they couldn't get Sinatra."

And her independence! "Slave labor" was one of her milder

terms for her life at a studio which mostly lent her out. "They own my flesh, but I'll fight!" she vowed.

Juliet Prowse will ascend to the loftiest heights of Hollywood and Frank will spend his nights at home, a tamed tiger. We'll miss you around the joints, Frank. Maybe she'll let you out one night a week.

Joseph Kennedy reportedly will be transferred to NYU-Bellevue's Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation in Manhattan. . . .

BIRD WATCHERS: A field trip through Gilmore Valley and the Stockton area was made by members of the Hiawatha Valley Bird Club and guests Sunday afternoon.

Observations made during the trip were discussed at a meeting at the Stockton home of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Lipschitz. Tentative plans are being made for a showing of colored slides and movies taken by members at the February meeting at Lake Park Lodge.

Retail sales in the U. S. in 1960 totaled $219.8 billion.

DOUBLE TAKE . . . A pair of Winona twins, stationed in Germany at the same base for the first time since their enlistment in the Air Force, are confusing their co-workers by seeming to do two jobs at once.

Because of their identical appearance, Marvin and Melvin Niemeyer, sons of Mrs. Della B. Weisbrod, 656 E. Howard St., have personnel at Hahn AFB, Germany, talking to themselves. They have been together on the base since February 1961, when Melvin joined Marvin, who had been in Europe since 1959.

Melvin, an airman first class, is a personnel specialist in the base retention office. Marvin, an airman second class, is an air policeman in the security section. Melvin is the older brother, by 15 minutes. Both are 23.

Twins run in the Niemeyer family. Their mother is a twin. So are an aunt and uncle. And their grandmother. And so is the mother of Melvin's wife. A brother, Sgt. Walter Niemeyer, is not a twin, but he is stationed in Germany.

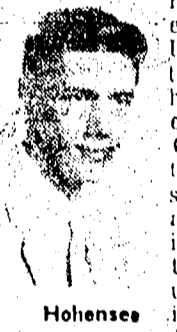

Things should be less confusing at Hahn since Melvin is due to rotate in February. Melvin will serve another two years there. In the picture, that's Marvin at left and Melvin at right, according to their mother. (U. S. Air Force photo)

He reported aboard the nuclear submarine USS Sculpin at San Diego, Calif., Dec. 29. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kleinbach. His wife, Judith, resides at 874 40th Ave., Goodview. Kleinbach enlisted in the Navy in February 1961. Following boot training, he attended Class A Machinist Mate School, Great Lakes (Ill.) Naval Training Center. He is a 1957 graduate of Lewiston High School and a graduate of Utilities Engineering Institute, Chicago, Ill.

Two area men enlisted in the U. S. Air Force Wednesday for four years and are now undergoing basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex. They are Richard M. Theising, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Theising, LEWISTON, and David A. Forsythe, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Forsythe, RUSHFORD. Upon completion of basic training they will go on to technical training in their respective fields.

Trempealeau Co. Fallout Shelter Survey Slated

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—A La Crosse engineering firm has been engaged to make a survey to locate existing buildings in Trempealeau County which might be made public shelters for 50 or more persons.

The buildings, said Ernest P. Sobotta, Independence, county civil defense director, would be stocked with food, first aid kits and radiation detection meters at government expense.

A FEDERAL incentive program will be offered for approval by the Congress. The plan will provide a federal grant of something less than the actual cost for every shelter meeting the approved standards. A substantial number of these shelters will undoubtedly be dual purpose, serving a useful community service in addition to offering protection from radioactive fallout.

All schools, hospitals, clinics and welfare institutions will be especially eligible for incentive payments. These shelters would be available to the general public.

FAMILIES living in isolated areas will find family shelters a necessity. Under the present plan funds will not be available for family fallout shelters, Sobotta said. Only shelters accommodating 50 or more would come under this incentive payment program.

The government's fallout protection bulletin is available at all post offices.

Julius Engelen, secretary, and Lawrence Thompson, chairman.

The sum of $4,000 was given to the synodical budget in 1961, and $600 was given to the church's jubilee offering.

THE CONGREGATION will observe its centennial year late in September. Committee members planning the celebration are Arthur Ofsdahl Sr., Melvin Solberg, Alfred Anderson, Henry Solberg, Mrs. Emil Helstad and Mrs. Arthur Thompson.

A committee to write a new constitution for the congregation is comprised of Norman Hagen, Irwin Hogden, Lester Hogden, Dallas Olson, Arnold Solberg and Helmer Thompson.

A new roof was put on the church during the past year. The interior of the church will be redecorated prior to the centennial celebration.

The U. S. is still the world's leading producer of passenger cars, with their 1960 output amounting to 52 percent of the world's total.

DEAR ABBY:

There's Always Some Solution

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Every Christmas my husband gets an 18- or 20-pound turkey from his boss. Our problem is that neither my husband nor I care for turkey that much and there are just the two of us. Once I roast it we have to eat it up and you know how sick you can get of turkey after a while. We aren't so well off that we can throw or give it away. Would it be all right to sell it? That doesn't seem right somehow.

Abby TWISTER

DEAR TROUBLED: Don't sell it. Why not roast it and invite some friends in? Or cook it and freeze what you don't eat. Or get a cook book and discover how many ways there are to fix turkey. There's turkey salad, turkey soup, turkey hash, creamed turkey, stewed turkey and cold turkey. If you prepare it properly, you'll gobble it up in no time.

DEAR ABBY: My parents won't let me do The Twist as they say it causes heart attacks. Is this true?

DEAR TWISTER: For those doing it, or those watching it?

DEAR ABBY: I read in a horoscope magazine that people who are born under different signs don't get along with each other. I think that's the trouble with my mother and me. She is very bossy and crabby and is always asking me a million questions. She complains a lot that she doesn't feel good, but I'm sure it's just an act she puts on to get sympathy. She is more strict with me than any of my friends' mothers are with them. She forces me to go to Sunday school and take piano lessons. I am 14 and am treated like a baby. Is what the horoscope magazine said true? And what does the future hold for me?

DEAR FOURTEEN: Since you are old enough to read, may I suggest a very good book? The Bible. I don't know what the future holds for you, but it will hold much more if you will honor your mother.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "OLD ENOUGH TO VOTE": And you are also old enough to know better. Leave him alone. He's still married.

HOW MUCH WERE RATES? . . . Miss Alberta Seiz, Winona librarian, and M. O. Holland, Minnesota City, chairman of the Winona County Historical Society's curator's committee, take a look at one of the early registers of the historic Huff House, which stood on the site of the present Hotel Winona. The 41 volumes dating from June 5, 1856, to May 6, 1899, have been in possession of the Winona Public Library, although never accessioned, for many years. The library board now has given them to the society. Henry D. Huff built Huff House in 1855. He also built the Lambertson home, at Huff and 4th streets, recently given to the Diocese of Winona. By GRETCHEN L. LAMBERTON
YOU know how in March the cardinals start their jubilant spring song of "Cheer-cheer-cheer! Whoopee-whoopee-whoopee!" Well, that's exactly what I'm chortling these days. For at long last, after having had my arm in a cumbersome cast for two and a half months, I've busted out and feel like a bird. So after a month's layoff from columnar here we go again.

One of the most interesting recent events was the Christmas Bird Count, which every bird club in the U.S. and Canada takes part in, and which Winona's new bird club observed for the first time (see story in yesterday's Winona Sunday News supplement magazine). This Christmas bird census was started in 1900 and has unearthed some interesting facts. For instance, of the 750 species of North American birds about four-fifths—530—have been recorded on these Christmas counts. These censuses have established the fact that 14 south-migrating birds are tending to stay farther north in greater numbers each year.

These counts have also proved that there are definite cycles in birds. For instance this year there seems to be a great concentration of pine grosbeaks in this area, while last year there were an unusual lot of purple finches. Every fourth year flocks of great snowy owls come down from the Arctic as far as this region, and this is the year for them. The reason they leave their Arctic home every fourth year is because they feed on lemmings (small rat-like creatures of the far north), and every fourth year the lemming population practically disappears so the owls must go south for food. Several years ago Brother Charles of St. Mary's College found one of these beautiful owls with its wing injured, and it was kept in a cage at the college. Although the Winona bird club members watched for a snowy owl none was seen in the Christmas count.

Last month when I was in the hospital at Rochester, every day from my window I saw Vs of wild ducks and wild geese. There were 40 to 50 birds in some of the formations. I was told there are 6000 ducks and Canadian geese wintering in Silver Lake right in Rochester. This lake stays open and fairly warm all winter because an electrical company discharges steam into the water. Speaking of winter birds: the other night at the State Theater a bat flitted around energetically much of the evening, and while several of us were being shown through the nearly-completed new Community hospital one lone sparrow kept zooming up and down the long corridors as though trying desperately to find its way out.

Another unusual bird note: during the Christmas Bird Count one full-grown bald eagle was observed in Pleasant Valley near the Country Club, and one young one across the river. But the place to really see eagles is around Reads Landing, and many Winonans have seen these noble birds on the nearby bluffs. Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Tyler drove to Minneapolis the December day of the first heavy snowstorm and saw the most amazing concentration of eagles at Reads Landing. They were sitting in trees along the river and on the ice, and when the Tylers stopped to put the field glasses on them they counted 45 eagles. On a Sunday bird tour yesterday the Winona bird club explored Gilmore Valley and the Stockton area.

Breakdowns in Cram Session

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D.
Professor of Education,
University of Southern California

The all-night "cram" session has become a well-established social event in American high schools, colleges and universities. That's too bad. It probably helps you fall more than it helps you succeed.

The "cram" session is just what the name implies. You attempt to crowd all the information that should have been acquired in a semester's work into your mind in one all-out, all-night effort. It didn't start that way. It just grew.

At first you put off study until the last minute a few times and managed to pull the fat out of the fire by cramming. The cram sessions got longer and longer as you got farther along and the subjects became more difficult.

INSTEAD OF taking this as a warning, however, you "bought" the system. It became your ONLY way to study. By the freshman or sophomore years in college, the cram sessions have reached exhausting, all-night proportions.

There will be a day of reckoning, of course. At some place along the line the cram session, which worked in high school, will reach the point of not working at all. For a few outstanding students it may not happen until they get to graduate school. For most, it will happen in the first year or two of college.

The reason for the breakdown is obvious. Our minds just don't work at peak efficiency when they are overloaded. We overload them when we try to jam all those "facts" into place at once. Our minds can accept the facts, but it has no time, and no logical system, for organizing them into a useful pattern.

BECAUSE OF this, most of what we learn in a cram session is wasted. As "remembered facts" rather than as a part of our actual knowledge, the items fade away almost as rapidly as they were crammed into place. They are no longer available when we need them most.

If you want to enter your semester examinations rested, with calm assurance rather than suppressed panic, try a new system. Substitute the kind of review that allows for a short, useful "polish" session rather than an exhausting "cram" session which may prove to be futile.

Give your mind a break by presenting it with a logical structure on which it can hang the facts. This is nothing more than a short outline of the course, done in brief sentences, but just as brief as possible. If you do not have such an outline, or find it impossible to write one, you can get something of the same effect by substituting the table of contents or chapter headings from the text. This will help get the major divisions of the course in your mind.

THERE IS a "catch," of course. You need this outline at least a week before the final. You need it because it gives you the overall pattern of the course and lays the background for the details. In writing the outline you will find, and need time to answer, the big overall questions.

Now you can spend the evening before the final in polishing. Think of possible questions and look for illustrations and examples that you can use in clarifying your answers. As you find these items they will be "thought" into place where they will be useful. This builds your knowledge, it doesn't clutter your mind.

You CAN break the cramming habit. The eventual, all-night sessions are like the lost weekends of alcoholics — and just about as useful!

Society Elects At St. Casimir's

James Cisewski, 200 Harvester Ave., was elected president of the Holy Name Society of St. Casimir's Catholic Church Sunday at a breakfast meeting in the Parish Hall following 8 a.m. Mass.

Also elected were William Stark, 737 W. 4th St., vice president, and Ernest G. Brose, 676 1/2 W. 5th St., secretary-treasurer.

The Rev. Robert Stamschor was celebrant of the Mass, at which the men of the Holy Name Society received Communion. Father Stamschor, a faculty member at Cotter High School, resides in the rectory at St. Casimir's and assists the pastor, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Julius W. Haun. Father Stamschor also attended the breakfast meeting and led the men in opening and closing prayers.

Cisewski appointed Dr. Robert F. Datta, 470 Sioux St., parish chairman of the Bishop's lay committee for vocations. Dr. Datta announced he will meet with other members of the committee Tuesday at 9 p.m.

General plans for the society call for continuing with spiritual exercises such as attendance in a body at Mass and Communion the second Sunday of the month. The society also will continue assisting other organizations and members of the parish with the building renovation plan now under way.

Parish women prepared and served the breakfast under the direction of Mrs. Frances Graczyk. The meeting was conducted by the former president, James Kukowski, 686 W. 4th St.

Disability Rider Still Available On GI Insurance

More than 104,000 veterans in Minnesota holding National Service Life Insurance (NSLI) still have the opportunity of buying a low-cost total disability income rider for their GI policies.

John R. Murphy, manager, Veterans Administration Center, Ft. Snelling, St. Paul, said this rider was first offered to veterans in November 1958. Since that time Minnesota have applied for the rider.

Those policyholders who have bought this rider and who become totally disabled from any cause before age 60 while their rider is in effect will receive a monthly income of $10 for each $1,000 face value of their policies. Payments will continue for the duration of the disability, regardless of its length, Murphy said. The premium cost of the rider varies with the policyholder's age, type of policy and its face amount.

Veterans whose age at nearest birthday is 40 or less may get the rider without physical examination.

Average Earnings at All-Time Record

FOR THOSE who are weary of gloom and doom (as we are) a couple of figures in the news may be significant and worth a change of emphasis.

In November, says the Labor Department, the average earnings of factory workers set an all-time record.

The hourly figure was $2.36. It involved 55.1 million Americans, a number equal to the previous all-time record for employment.

Thus in November the average American who worked at a living enjoyed unprecedented prosperity.

To come clean, this is a figure based on an inflated dollar. Yet it also represents a dollar no more inflated in November than in previous months.

IT ALSO REFLECTS to some extent the federal priming of the economic pump that began early last spring, plus heavier spending for both the welfare and the war-fare states. Yet business spending for new plants and equipment is already estimated at the highest rate since the third quarter of 1957 as building plans are laid down for the first three months of 1962. The inflation rate is $36.5 billion annually—a stiff slug for the private economy.

We could cite higher retail sales, a second breath for steel production and other points to round out a picture that is not black nor even gray but gratifyingly light.

FOR ALL the dirges and laments, the economy of the United States is healthy and opportunity under it has not been foreclosed. Perhaps this is nothing special, but it's worth recording lest we come to think there's nothing worth a line save the Congo, East Berlin, Viet Nam, the Common Market, Cuba and what the Twist has done for chiropractic.

Freedom Requires Absence of Coercion

POLAND is a puzzle to the free world, because while it is a Communist state beyond any shadow of doubt, Poles express some surprising sentiments in public and still manage to avoid being hustled off to the salt mines.

Prof. Leopold Infeld, a Polish theoretical physicist, popped off not long ago about freedom and liberty. These are topics that anyone inside the Red Empire usually handles fearfully. But Prof. Infeld complained that there isn't much freedom and liberty within Poland.

"We speak of competition with the West," he wrote in a Polish journal. "That competition cannot be purely on an economic plane. It must also be on the level of freedom and on the level of liberty."

HE WENT on to say that while he understood that the process of communication necessarily deprived people of these concepts, that he hoped that mature communism would allow his children more freedom and liberty in their times.

It took courage for the professor to speak this way, and it is too bad that he missed the point. Many Americans are confused about the meaning of freedom, too, and it may be worth while to examine it.

Freedom and liberty require the absence of coercion. Communism is a system which can work only when the state makes the decisions for all individuals. It decides who will have what job, where everyone will live, what everyone will receive for his labor. Any gain that freedom makes in a Communist state makes the state less communistic, which the professor either didn't notice, or was afraid to mention.

LIKEWISE, IN THE United States, each power that is given to the government to decide the details of people's lives lessens freedom. Freedom requires that individuals be allowed to act as they, not a government, choose.

Farmers have to keep replenishing the lime in their fields. But with so many hunters blasting away, they never have to worry about the land's lead content.

One of the neighbor women says her husband's a mighty sound sleeper—that is, his snoring is a mighty sound that keeps her awake.

Agriculture Secretary Freeman says the farmer's lot has improved. Every Democrat hopes the farmers think so.

A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and loving favor rather than silver and gold. Proverbs 22:1.

How Do You Stand, Sir?

Time to Spot Reds in U.S.

By SEN. BARRY GOLDWATER
 LOS ANGELES—Much has been said in recent weeks in condemnation of certain anti-Communist movements in the United States. I hope that all who have heard or read these criticisms were privileged to view David Susskind's presentation on this subject on his "Open End" program last Dec. 10.

Mr. Susskind, an able and knowledgeable moderator, had as his guests Cong. Rousselot of California, Thomas J. Anderson, publisher of Farm and Ranch, Dr. John Bennett, dean of Union Theological Seminary and Sen. Gale McGee of Wyoming.

To my mind, all of the participants conducted themselves with admirable restraint. And while I doubt the program convinced many people to change their opinions, it did, I feel, explore in a beneficial way many of the charges which have been leveled at what the liberals call "the right-wing extremist" John Birch Society.

I don't propose to re-fight any of that battle in this column, but I was appalled and shocked to hear Dr. Bennett, the dean of a Christian theological seminary, proclaim on more than one occasion that "the church should not fight communism."

DR. BENNETT is, of course, privileged to maintain and voice his own opinion on this matter, and I have no right to judge his motives. Nor do I mean to suggest that Dr. Bennett be criticized because he holds this opinion.

My protest is directed entirely at what I regard to be the dangerous falsity of such a notion.

The doctrines of communism are too frequently regarded as merely a substitute economic system, antagonistic to American free enterprise, and/or a political governmental organization which is the antithesis of free representative government.

It is my contention that while communism is both of these things, it is fundamentally, and much more significantly, a secular atheistic religion which has as its first objective the denial of the existence of God and the refutation of the Judeo-Christian concept of the origin of life, man's purpose on earth and eternity.

I SUPPOSE it may be possible for a sophisticated intellectual such as Dr. Bennett to hold firmly to the declaration in the creed—I believe in God the Father Almighty, the maker of heaven and earth—and at the same time grant the right of other men to hold to an opposite belief. But I do not believe that any one who is passionately committed to the concept of man as first of all a spiritual creature can disdain to oppose those who would contradict that belief.

If Dr. Bennett, whom I will confess is my superior in theological matters, can condone this evil, I am surprised. If the Christian church is not to fight communism, then who on earth is left to resist this evil which is determined to destroy all virtue, decency, thrift, love, friendship and the dignity of the individual. How do you stand, sir?

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

From Des Moines comes the story of the beautiful and restless young wife of an elderly Wall Street millionaire who perked up considerably when the millionaire's dashing nephew came for a week of fishing and golf at their Palm Beach estate. After dinner the second night, the husband fell asleep over his copy of "The Wall Street Journal" and the wife cuddled up to the nephew. "Pull a hair out of his head," she whispered, "and if he doesn't wake up, I'll let you kiss me."

The trick worked so neatly and the kissing was so enjoyable that the nephew was in the act of pulling out the elderly husband's seventh hair when said husband bounded to his feet in a rage. "Confound it all, Jack," he roared to his nephew, "kiss your imbecile aunt all you please, but I'm darned if you'll use my head for a score-board!"

Warns British Member of Parliament M. Edmund: "Censorship is like an appendix. When inert it is useless; when active it is extremely dangerous."

A young mother looked into the nursery and found her 6-year-old son laboriously putting a bandage on his thumb. "What happened?" cried the mother. "I hit it with a hammer," said the boy. "You poor darling," sympathized ma. "I wonder why I didn't hear you cry." "What was the use of crying?" explained the boy. "I thought you were out."

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Many Senators Dodge Confirmation Liability

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Many senators take their constitutional duty to scrutinize the confirmation qualities of public servants rather lightly these days. This is especially true of so-called "career" appointees. If a man has served in government before, senators give him a police once-over and speed him on to his new job.

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine has been about the only member of the Senate Armed Services Committee to hold up a general's promotion, and Sen. William Fulbright of Arkansas and Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon are almost the only senators who have made a fight against any ambassadorial appointments.

ONCE BEFORE, when Harold Talbot was nominated to be secretary of the Air Force I laid before Sen. Dick Russell of Georgia, the charming and able chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, the scathing record which the late Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes had written on Talbot and war-profits conflict of interest. But the scholarly Georgian decided President Eisenhower had a right to pick his Air Force chief regardless of the past damning record. Later President Eisenhower was forced to fire Talbot for a new conflict of interest.

The Senate Armed Services Committee includes some very able men: Jackson of Washington, who, however, is busy with other problems; Symington of Missouri who is so kind-hearted he hates to oppose a man he has known for many years; Stennis of Mississippi who can be righteous when he gets aroused; Ervin of North Carolina, a respected ex-judge; Eagle of California, Bartlett of Alaska, Cannon of Nevada; and Byrd of West Virginia—all tough battlers for what is right, but all busy men without much time to investigate. All are Democrats.

On the Republican side, courtly Sen. Lev Saltonstall of Massachusetts never engages in personal opposition. But Francis Case of South Dakota, author of the renegotiation act, has saved the government the amazing total of $12 billion on war contracts; while senators Smith of Maine and Glenn Beall of Maryland don't hesitate to do battle—even against a fellow Republican.

NEVERTHELESS, McCone will probably slip through the Armed Services Committee as easily as he slipped through the Joint Atomic Energy Committee when he was confirmed as atomic chairman.

The records of that committee contain some amazing facts—which also illustrate the good-natured complacency of busy, agreeable senators.

McCone's hearing was held on July 2, 1958 at exactly the same time the headlines were featuring the conflict of interest of Sherman Adams in the Goldfine case. So nobody paid any attention to McCone. They did not note, for instance, that McCone sent a "Dear Sherman" letter to Adams outlining his corporate stock interests and asking Adams to be the judge as to whether he, McCone, had a conflict of interest as AEC chairman.

Thus the man who was later kicked out of the White House for a conflict of interest was put in the indefensible position of judging another man's conflict of interest. And the senators let McCone get by with this—even though the newspapers, including this column, had already aired the strange conflict in which Adams found himself with Bernard Gold-fine.

That is how Senate confirmation committees frequently operate in Washington.

TOO WILD for Moscow—Fidel Castro complained bitterly to Soviet diplomats last week that Moscow was deserting him in his greatest hour of peril. Twice Castro talked with Soviet embassy charge D'Affaires, appealing for more military and economic aid as well as public proposals of Soviet backing. But there are signs that the Kremlin has decided that Castro is too wild and unpredictable. And Castro is reported becoming frantic with worry.

Restless General Cay—Gen. Lucius Clay wants to quit as Kennedy's special representative in Berlin, because he feels hamstrung by the State Department. But the general won't quit, at least for the time being, because his departure would be interpreted in Germany as deserting a sinking ship. Gen. Clay eased his difficulties with Secretary Rusk during his trip back home, but he's still far from satisfied, believes the State Department is forcing him to be too cautious.

Restless ambassador—Tommy Thompson wants to quit as ambassador in Moscow too, but is also trapped by the Berlin crisis. After four years in Moscow, Thompson wants a new assignment. But now that he's started negotiations with Foreign Minister Gromyko over Berlin, the State Department has told him he'd better see it through until the end.

JOHN C. DAVIS, Washington, D.C.—There was no statement in this column that Bob Cummings, the TV star, was in any way associated with Rev. Billy Hargis, the extreme right-winger. Though Cummings is a vice president of Nutri-Bio, which Hargis is promoting, there was no statement in this column that Cummings knew Hargis or approved of him; and the last thing I want to do is induct anyone for guilt by association.

JACKSON LEIGHTER, Mexico City—the best intelligence from Moscow is that Premier Khrushchev was persuaded by deputy premier Mikoyan not to fire ex-foreign Minister Molotov, but rather return him to his former post in Vienna. The argument is reported to have been that firing Molotov would kick up more resentment from the old Stalinist than it was worth.

President Kennedy has picked Matthew McCloskey, the Democratic treasurer, for the interesting post of Ambassador to Ireland.

McCloskey, whose home is in Philadelphia and who is one of the big builders of the eastern seaboard, has been one of the most faithful money-raisers in the Democratic party for many years.

The post of Ambassador to Ireland is considered a corrupt one, with practically no problems. The Irish are pro-American, and the American ambassador to Ireland is usually of Irish ancestry. Matt McCloskey is considered an ideal choice for the post.

Wants to Know How Legislators Vote

To the Editor:
 As a Minnesota newspaper, the Winona Daily News has, in my opinion, done a good job reporting news stories from Wisconsin. I was especially pleased with the coverage of the new tax program in Wisconsin.

From the evidence I have seen, the Winona Daily News is widely read in my locality. Of the high students in my English class who read a daily newspaper, more than 75 percent indicated they read the Winona Daily News. Many of them gave the paper favorable comments.

There is, however, one suggestion I would like to make for reporting legislative action. The vote is usually given in the approval or rejection of a bill. Why not also reserve a few column inches for reporting which side our area representative chose in voting on the issue?

I realize this has been done several times on national issues, but why not do it on the state level, too? The public needs to know the score, especially at election time, and this would be a good step toward a well-informed public.

Why You Should Be For a Sales Tax

To the Editor:

Regarding a Sales Tax: Very few people like to pay taxes. In spite of that fact, they are a very important part of our way of life and if there is a possibility that a sales tax will ease our over all tax burden, then we should ponder it carefully before completely condemning it.

We all have to become tax conscious and to do this everybody should pay taxes even if some have to pay only a few cents.

An out-and-out socialist "Soak the Rich" form of taxation never can work in our form of government.

If we are going to study the good or bad effects of a sales tax, then we should forget generalities or personal opinions and consider actual facts.

Here are a few facts we get by reading what the experts and legal advisors, in charge of the "Minnesota Taxpayers Association," say.

If anybody has studied the sales tax laws in the 37 states that have a sales tax law now; or what is proposed for Minnesota, they would know better than to say that a sales tax makes no allowance for low incomes or multiple dependencies, because it just simply is not true.

Let's admit first that our present tax structure needs a complete overhauling (that is true).

The sorest spot in our present tax situation is the personal property tax.

This is next to impossible to administer fairly and equitably. It is the worst against farmers or business or industry that require the ownership of property to operate.

Our real estate tax burden gets worse every year. Minnesota's individual income tax is now the second highest in the nation.

We need an entirely new source of tax revenue and a sales tax as a partial replacement of some of those revenues seems to be the only one capable of producing the required amount of revenue without overburdening anyone.

We all know that we have 37 states with an approximate population of a hundred million now, with a sales tax; and once a state gets one they are so well satisfied with it they never want to change.

In California 32 percent of their tax revenue comes from a sales tax; 44 percent in Michigan; 44 percent in Illinois; 36 percent in Washington and it is more or less the same right on down the line.

The big bone of contention seems to be who pays what and how much.

In the first place for the benefit of the low income bracket, rents and housing or mortgage payments are exempt. Doctor bills, medicine, dentistry, barber shop, contributions, if any, to a church are exempt. Most food items bought at grocery stores are exempt and many states exempt work clothes and children's clothing. Cigarettes, gasoline and alcoholic beverages are exempt in most states because they have a sales tax on them now.

the exemptions and credits that everyone will be allowed; actually as large as or larger a proportion or percentage of the high incomes will go toward paying for a sales tax than that of the lower income brackets.

Another thing that is hard to understand is—why a sales tax in Minnesota should be a political issue.

Of the 37 states that have a sales tax now 32 of them adopted the sales tax when they had Democratic governors.

In view of this fact it is hard for me to believe that 32 Democratic governors would be advocates of a vicious tax device that does not tax on the ability to pay but on the necessity to live. The fact remains that everyone will really benefit by the more equitable distribution of and the easy administration of, a sales tax.

Last but not least—we have to consider the fact that Minnesota ranks in 5th place as a favorite vacation state.

Also Minnesota is a great convention state and the Mayo Clinic at Rochester brings thousands of patients and visiting friends and relatives into the state every year from all over the country.

Of these hundreds of thousands of people that come to our state, most of them come from states that have a sales tax now and they are used to paying it so it would make no difference to them to pay a sales tax in Minnesota.

As it is now, while they are here we donate all the cost of all our public services to them and none of them pay so much as one red cent in property or income taxes in our state.

If we had a 3 percent sales tax these people who can well afford to pay this small tax would bring us in a new untapped tax revenue of at least $6 or $7 million dollars a year.

Now you know why I am in favor of—and you should be in favor of a sales tax for the state of Minnesota.

Genetic Research

WASHINGTON (AP)—Research in human genetics has advanced to the point where scientists believe they can someday reverse ill effects of atomic radiation on the human body.

An article in Medicine at Work, publication of the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association, said one of the major studies under way is to reverse the increasing incidence of birth abnormalities blamed by some on mutations from radioactive fallout.

Dr. H. Bentley Glass, professor of biology at Johns Hopkins University, pointed out in the article that biologists are learning how to modify the outcome of heredity. One day, he predicts, they may learn to control mutation by correcting or replacing defective genes.

Dr. Hermann J. Muller, Indiana professor of zoology and Nobel Prize winner, forces the time when human sperm "banks" might make it possible for parents to select the characteristics they would like to see in their children. Germ cells stored in deep-frozen condition below ground could serve as one step toward survival of future generations undamaged by radiation, Dr. Muller said.

Chatfield Man 97 Wednesday

CHATFIELD, Minn.—A resident of Bungum Terrace, Rest Home the past 10 months will celebrate his 97th birthday Wednesday. Colbin Thorson's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Edne Thorson, is making the birthday cake.

His long life, he says, is a "precious gift of God." He has worked hard all his life and is an habitual smoker. His general health is exceptionally good. His appetite is good, he sleeps well, and his doctor says he has an exceptionally good heart for his age.

THORSON was born Jan. 17, 1865, in the Pilot Mound area, seven miles east of Chatfield. He lived there continuously until he entered Bungum Terrace.

His wife, Inger Trulsson, died many years ago but he continued to farm because he liked it, and was engaged in agriculture 50 years on the same place. Before the advent of tractors, he was known to have high spirited horses and runaways were not unusual.

He never ran out of ambition. On Sundays, neighbors gathered in his pasture for a picnic or to play baseball or kitenball, playing without gloves. Bruised fingers or thumbs and sometimes a black eye often resulted.

WHIST GAMES were popular in the neighborhood. Thorson liked to play cards. Then there were ice cream socials in the local church. Thorson is a lifelong member of Pilot Mound Lutheran Church and can remember when the church was built. He served on the board of trustees.

Deceptive Split-Level Has Attic Expansion

By JULES LOH
Growing families and tight budgets seem inexorably to go together. This handsome three-bedroom home with an expansion attic—an entirely new concept in split-level design—should help ease the strain.

Its straight ridge roof makes the home look, from the outside, like a two-story, or perhaps one of the new bi-level designs. Actually it is a side-to-side split with no less than six levels.

DESIGNED BY architect Rudolph A. Matern, the house is No. J-2 in the House of the Week series.

"By extending the roof line over the living level," said Matern, "I was able to provide 517 additional square feet of expansion room which many homeowners can finish off themselves at half the cost."

If finished in the manner Matern suggests, the house would then contain four bedrooms and 3 1/2 baths. The new bedroom would be a huge 15' by 12'6" room opening onto a side balcony, plus a dressing alcove with an oversized closet, and a two-story bath—in addition to an off-season storage area the full width of the living level.

Another well-placed room is the lavatory, located in the small hall between the foyer and kitchen. It is convenient also to the living room and, with its large vanity, serves as an excellent powder room for guests.

Closet space is abundant throughout the house. The master bedroom has two closets, one of them especially large, and both the other bedrooms have oversized closets. The linen closet is convenient to the main bath (note the corner tub), and there is a cabinet outside bedroom No. 3 "for the linen closet overflow," as architect Matern put it.

A two-car garage (plus shop, lavatory and laundry room) is on the slab level, and the basement is a half flight down, beneath the foyer, dining room and kitchen.

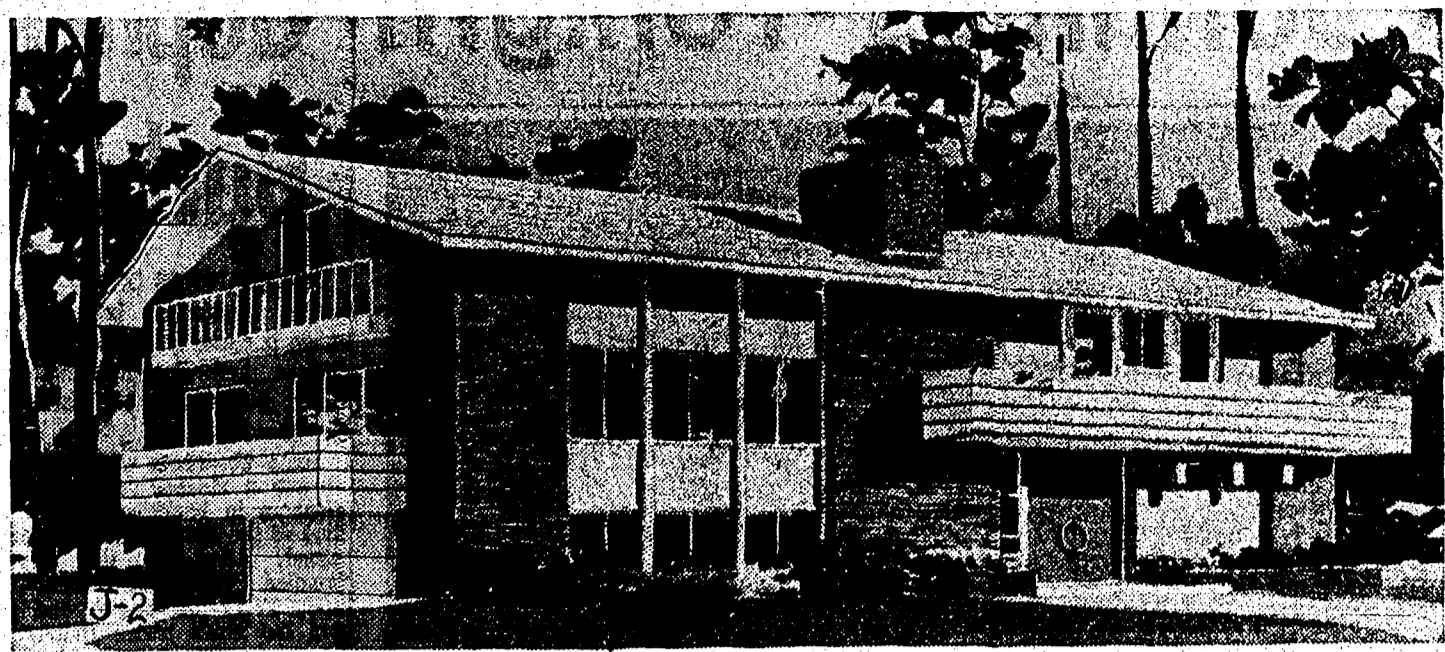

Such efficient use of space results in the entire house occupying only 1,210 square feet of ground cover in dimensions of 21'1" deep by 49'9" wide—small enough for an 80-foot lot. The area of the bedroom level is 665 square feet.

OUTDOOR LIVING areas are so well integrated in this home that even each bedroom has access to a balcony—a private one for the master bedroom. A sundeck also joins the living level, entered through sliding glass doors from both the living room and study.

A rear terrace is on the grade level, separated from the breakfast room by sliding glass doors, and a covered porch is fitted nicely in the kitchen-dining room corner.

The kitchen contains a number of unusual features, in addition to its 16'11" by 10'4" size. Note the location of the double sink, and also the uncommon amount of counter space. Cabinet space also is plentiful, in fact there are 3 1/2 linear feet of base and wall cabinets.

THE FAMILY room is well placed a few steps above the kitchen and overlooking the back yard.

DECEPTIVE SPLIT . . . Though its straight ridge roof is deceiving, this actually is a side-to-side split on no less than six levels. The roof has been extended to provide expansion room for a fourth bedroom and bath. Brick panels and balconies also give the home a fresh appearance.

through an entire wall of windows, and a soundproof wall, divides it from the study.

Another well-placed room is the lavatory, located in the small hall between the foyer and kitchen. It is convenient also to the living room and, with its large vanity, serves as an excellent powder room for guests.

Closet space is abundant throughout the house. The master bedroom has two closets, one of them especially large, and both the other bedrooms have oversized closets. The linen closet is convenient to the main bath (note the corner tub), and there is a cabinet outside bedroom No. 3 "for the linen closet overflow," as architect Matern put it.

ALL IN ALL, the house is a well-ordered innovation which provides an exceptional amount of livability with numerous touches of luxury in a modest amount of space.

J-2 Statistics

A three bedroom side-to-side split with 1 1/2 baths; with optional 517 square foot expansion space which would add fourth bedroom and bath; built on six levels.

Living level and foyer level (ground cover) contain 1,210 square feet; bedroom level 665 square feet; has two-car garage, shop and laundry room as well as basement; dimensions are 49 feet 9 inches wide by 27 feet 1 inch deep.

Engineer Issues Single Permit

A permit for interior remodeling of a business building was the only one issued by the city engineer's office last week.

The single permit was taken by Ed Rivers for a $400 job to be done by George Karsten at 154 Walnut St.

The mid-January dollar valuation of new building is $97,066. The figure for the same date a year ago was $8,350. No new house permits have been issued thus far this year, nor had there been any drawn at this time a year ago.

They Buy for Lifetime, But It's 'Short' One

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures
When you buy a house, the chances are you expect to live in it a long time.

But the records show that, on the average, a family lives only six or seven years in the same home. Now you know why there are so many not-new homes up for sale all the time.

What causes this constant shifting of the population into different residences? There is no one reason—not even one reason that stands out above all others.

PEOPLE MOVE for a variety of reasons. The family breadwinner may get a job opportunity in another city or may find that his company either has relocated its headquarters or has transferred him to a branch office somewhere else.

The family may have an added income that enables it to seek a more luxurious dwelling. The house may be condemned for a public improvement, the area may become too crowded. The house may be too rundown to make remodeling practical. Or the family may have grown so over the years that there just isn't enough space.

ANOTHER contributing factor in this home-to-home movement is the tendency in recent years to move into retirement houses and areas. Old folks once were content to live out their lives wherever they were at the time of retirement.

Now they want to sell the old homestead and move somewhere else. In many cases, they move hundreds or thousands of miles away in order to get the benefit of warmer climates. Some prefer retirement developments where the needs and wants of elder persons are given special attention. Others prefer to settle in areas where they can mix with younger persons.

BUT THERE no longer is the feeling of years ago that they must stay close to their children and grandchildren. Modern transportation has made it easier for families to get together on special occasions even when separated by long distances. Yet it isn't the speed of transportation alone that has generated this feeling. It's a kind of modern attitude that retired people should live where they want to live, not necessarily where their families live.

One reason why you often can get a good buy in a home that isn't new is, as we said a few paragraphs back, people expect to live a long time in houses they buy. They make changes, add landscaping and do a dozen other things to turn the house into a home.

THEN, when they decide to move for one reason or another, the buyer gets the benefit of the improvements.

His only problem is to decide whether it is more economical for him to pay extra for a home with such improvements or to put the improvements in a house that doesn't have them.

Floor Covering Designs Get More Complex

By VIVIAN BROWN
New designs in hard floor coverings leave little to be imagined. "We have fabulous new designs and we haven't even scratched the surface," says Herbert Bright, one of the country's best-known floor designers. "There are products that can fit just about any look you desire."

IF YOU THINK patterns that simulate brick, marble, cork and distressed wood are the last word in flooring conceptions, don't bet on it.

New vinyl floor designs include burial laminates, wallpaper floors that coordinate with wall fabric, matchstick bamboo floors (tatami matting).

There are Florentine gold-stamped floorings and one new flooring that gives the effect of stones floating in water. It is pebbles seen through transparent plastic.

Bright works from a variety of floor materials.

"FROM FRANCE we import hand-made terra cotta tile processed from clay, three-eighths of an inch thick. These are laid with cement grout," he says.

"It isn't what you can get in flooring that counts. It's what you can do with what is available that counts," Bright continues. "Vinyls are not made to look like vinyls. They are made to look like another product and should be treated in the manner intended."

A travertine vinyl can be beveled, cut into planks and made to look like distressed wood. Take 9 by 9 inch or 12 by 12 inch tiles and cut them into 4 by 12 and 6 by 12 inch sizes, bevel the edges, and fit the shapes together for a brick floor. If you don't bevel the edges, you'll just have a series of shapes that do not mean anything, he advises.

"IF YOU HAVE an elegant Louis XV dining room and want a marble floor, you can't just put down the tile squares. The tiles laid in plain fashion will lose their identity. Lay it to look like marble flooring, and you will get the value out of it," he says.

Bright uses a bronze-color vinyl that looks like ceramic tile in his own living room. He cuts 36-inch slabs of vinyl into octagons and squares. Hexagons will fit together, but octagons need to be balanced, he points out. He beveled them for a distinctive look and to outline the pattern.

New vinyl asbestos flooring duplicates the textured surface of natural slate flooring for rustic charm. The tiles are available in 12-inch squares in one-eighth-inch thickness.

Bright showed their versatility recently in designing floors in a number of patterns—hexagons, herringbone brick designs, flagstones with and without grouting.

THE TILES may be cut when warmed with a hot warmer, blowtorch or in an oven or pan of hot water. They are scored on the back with a knife and snapped over a straight edge to achieve varied, aged effects. They also can be cut along a penciled line with tin snips.

The tiles simulate flagstone and are available in flagstone colors—terra cotta, charcoal, gray and green.

"Standard white and beige are still top choices in vinyls but earth tones are making great inroads into the flooring picture," Bright says.

More Receiving Public Assistance
ST. PAUL (AP)—More persons received public assistance in Minnesota in November than in October and in November 1960.

Morris Hursh, state commissioner of welfare, said the total number on the rolls last November was 112,891. That was 2,705 more than in October and 4,461 more than the November 1960 total.

Despite the increases, expenditures were lower than in October, when medical payments were $6,851,430, a drop of $123,528 from October.

U.S. Balance Of Payments In Poor Shape

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. balance of payments situation took a sharp and unexpected turn for the worse in the last quarter of 1961.

Preliminary figures indicate that the payments deficit soared to an annual rate of about $5 billion, not far from the peak rate of $5.7 billion recorded a year earlier at the height of a rush by foreigners to buy American gold.

In the July-September quarter of last year the deficit rate was $3.1 billion.

The deficit, in essence, represents the difference between the amount of money Americans spend, lend, invest and give away abroad and the lesser amount received from foreign sources.

The U.S. balance of payments is considered important because it has a direct impact on the strength and stability of the dollar, the principal Western currency.

The surprising change in the payments situation was disclosed over the weekend by informed sources, who also said the precise cause had not been determined.

Our Sun Only a Young Star

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't read his mail:

The world is an opening envelope, but one of the mysteries science still can't fathom is—why your pet cat says meow when it is hungry.

Heaven holds a billion stars, but on the clearest night a child can look up and see only about a thousand. Our sun is comparatively a young star—about five billion years old. The age of the oldest stars in our galaxy—the Milky Way—is estimated to be 20 billion years, give or take a month.

How they got started: Belle Davis began as a film usher. Sid Caesar worked briefly as a movie doorman. John Barrymore was a cartoonist. Walter Winchell hoofed on the other side of the bright lights before he took pen in hand.

Spice used to be the variety of death. The ancient Egyptians customarily buried peppercorns with their mummified kippers.

Speaking of condiments, did you know that salt is an absolute variety of life? A diet from which all salt was removed would kill you almost as quickly as if you tried to live utterly without water.

Our quotable notables: "When women kiss, it always reminds me of prize fighters shaking hands."—H. L. Mencken.

Strange town: The French village of Aromia is pretty much like any small community except for one thing: Its population of 300 includes 148 so-called normal people and 161 inmates of a mental hospital.

Signs of our times: Seen at an auto repair shop: "We require a 50 per cent deposit from all customers we don't know, and 100 per cent deposit from some we do know."

Life gets better every year: A new 'split personality' electric toaster now can brown each of four slices of bread to individual tastes.

This reminds me of the best single sentence of advice I ever heard for housewives: "The husband that gets his breakfast downstairs," said Kin Hubbard, "is liable to be late for supper."

Wisest crack of the week: Actor Oscar Homolka says most women don't save for their old age because they never count on being older than 40.

The Biblical span of man's life is 70 years—which most of us now can hope to reach after 5,000 years of human civilization. Zoroaster has established these longevity figures for other creatures: Giant tortoise, 122 years; box turtle, 123; great horned owl, 10; snapping turtle, 57; eagle, 57; rook, 30; bullfinch, 30; English sparrow, 23; wolf, 16; beaver, 12.

The moral here, if there is one, is: "If you enjoy living, be as busy as a tortoise—and to heck with the eager beavers."

Lack of prosperity note: A new car is a status symbol in our times but 60 per cent of Americans never own one.

Now—get this straight: A Belgian hare isn't a hare, it's a rabbit. And the jackrabbit isn't a rabbit, it's a hare. Hares have longer legs than rabbits and a different digestive tract. Rabbits are born hairless and don't open their eyes for a week or so. Hares are born fuzzy and wide-eyed.

It was Abraham Lincoln who observed, "It has been my experience that folks who have no vices have very few virtues."

Chamber Will Honor Rancher
SIOUX FALLS, S.D. (AP)—The Sioux Falls Chamber of Commerce will say "thanks" to rancher Don Hight Feb. 9.

The Westover, S.D., rancher and his family will be feted at a luncheon. President Al Schock said the chamber will honor the rancher for the publicity he won for South Dakota in his 65-mile overland drive of 2,000 cattle.

Let's Get Growing

By A. F. SHIRA
A Dream Garden

We have often thought what it would be like to have an ideal garden: a garden neither too large nor too small, a velvety lawn, pleasing combinations of beautiful and fragrant flowers blooming in continuous succession, properly placed evergreens and shrubs, and suitable trees complementing the whole and, if you will, enclosed by a low white picket fence.

A dream garden you say? something to be envisioned, but never realized, except, perhaps, by an abstracted mind devoid of reality, or one lost in fantasy. Yet, the vision indicated by such dreamings can blend so harmoniously and insistently with the material world as to transport us bodily to a garden not entirely of pure imagination.

In dreams we can be real down-to-earth gardeners, creating visions of beautiful combinations of color harmony, good design and flowing lines with not a blossom out of place in the unbroken symmetry, with nothing to be altered by the cold facts of reality. Truly, we can be something more than ordinary gardeners when dreaming.

THE GARDEN of dreams is a realm where enthusiasm never wanes; where the rainbow of fulfillment never disappears, even though it may fade to the point of dimness. Still, dreams should produce no definite convictions in the orderly thoughts of the gardener. Otherwise, the prosaic might be gilded over with filmy hallucinations and that which we thought to be a beautiful and fragrant flower might turn out to be a noxious weed fit only for eradication.

If what we accomplish with our dream garden could be transported to reality, perfection would be a realization and not just a deluding mirage urging us onward. The laws of nature, regardless of dreams, are just and impartial, though at times they may seem uncomplimentary and severe.

THERE IS no weak or vacillating sentiment in them, for causes and the corresponding effects are inevitable, though most disastrous they may be at times. The elements are the same everywhere, the waters take their toll, the earth, tornadoes lay waste, and destructive fires burn all before them, yet they are necessary to the survival of mankind.

As we turn from our dream garden and look out over the snow covered landscape, we receive a rude awakening. Can we actually envision a beautiful garden amid such bleak and frigid surroundings? As we ponder this we begin to realize that dreams can be transported into realities by an active brain and that every gardener can transmute many idle dreams into tangible and worthwhile results.

DREAMS WERE the beginnings of all art. In the realm of music we may have a favorite song or symphony; the same may be true in the other arts, poetry, sculpture and painting. All of the arts are universal and encompass beauty, rhythm, symmetry of line and form, as well as harmony, yet all started as dreams.

Gardening as envisioned in dreams and transplanted into reality is a quest for beauty and, at the same time an inherent desire to become proficient in growing.

What about your home? Does it have enough outlets to let you enjoy all the appliances you want to at one time . . . without unsightly extension cords?

There are many new and different kinds of electrical outlets and switches, each designed to fit a job. Best of all, they're pretty well as practical.

Let us show them to you. While we're at it, we'll be glad to check the wiring inside the walls. Remember, the wiring which feeds your outlets must be adequate to carry the electricity you need in order to use your lighting and appliances whenever and wherever you wish.

St. Mary's vs. Winless Johnnies Tonight Gophers to Face Bucks Saturday

Wiltgen Not Bitter Over Saturday Loss

Although the St. Mary's Redmen were beaten by St. Thomas 61-59 Saturday night, Coach Ken Wiltgen is not one to be pessimistic about his team's chances for the rest of the season.

"WE PLAYED A real good game against St. Thomas," the coach said. "The kids don't have to be ashamed of losing that one because they played their hearts out."

Dennis Burgman didn't play Saturday as a result of an injury he received after practice Friday. Wiltgen feels that he could have made the difference.

Burgman did suit up for the contest, however, and will make the trip tonight. He will not see any action unless the Redmen have trouble rebounding.

THIS WAS NOT the case Saturday as the front line made up of Tom Hall, Tom Ruddy and Al Williams did a tremendous job against the taller Tommies.

The changes the St. Mary's coach made in his starting lineup for Saturday's game will stay in effect tonight.

Williams and Hall will be at forwards with Ruddy at center and Bob Jansen and Marty Lilling at guards.

In St. John's the Redmen will face a team of comparable height but thus far winless in six starts.

"WE PROBABLY won't get a top effort tonight," Wiltgen commented. "You never do when you're playing a team that hasn't won a game."

According to Wiltgen the scrap tonight could make or break St. Mary's which now stands 2-4 in the conference and 5-7 overall.

"We never seem to play as well on the road as we do at home and St. John's always comes up with a top effort when we play them at St. Paul," the coach said.

AFTER TONIGHT'S clash the Redmen have a 10-day layoff before departing for Christian Brother College at Memphis, Tennessee, and Arkansas State College, Jan. 26-27.

Jan. 29 Duluth brings its power laced squad to Terrace Heights for a contest that the Redmen have vowed to win.

After coming within a whisker of losing their first loop game, the Minnesota Duluth Bulldogs take this week off from Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic conference basketball wars.

But the UMD powerhouse won't be idle. The Bulldogs meet the Phillips Oilers tonight and cross the bridge to play Superior State Wednesday.

The Hamline Pipers had a good go at derailing the UMD title express Saturday night but fell a point shy, losing 57-56 and leaving Duluth in solitary splendor atop the standings at 7-0.

Hamline led at the half 29-25 and held a 48-41 tie with 4 1/2 minutes left. But Duluth's Roger Hansen came through with a free throw and Gene Hamilton added a basket to pull victory out of reach for the Pipers.

Bill Mattison had 16 and Tom Adams 11 points for Duluth. Hansen had 13, Bill Nelson and Bryan Jensen had 16 each for the Pipers.

In other MIAC action tonight, Gustavus is at Concordia, St. Mary's at St. John's and Augsburg goes to Hamline.

Saturday's college results included Augsburg over St. John's 66-53, Concordia over Macalester 66-65, St. Thomas over St. Mary's 61-59, Winona over Marquette 81-77, Cornell of Iowa over St. Olaf 89-76, Beloit over Carleton 60-47, and St. Cloud over Bemidji 72-65.

Things went from bad to worse if that's possible for St. John's Saturday. With Bernie Kuker out with an injury, the Johnnies lost to Howard John Osborne to the Illinois.

But where the Johnnies lost their shooting eyes, they may never know. They were winging along against Augsburg on even terms midway in the first half when the tid went on the basket and Augsburg outscored them 31-4 in a 37 1/2 minute span.

St. John's had an 18 per cent shooting average for the half as the board showed a 41-16 halftime lead for Augsburg. Subs Dan Anderson with 15 and Wendell Carlson with 14 paced Augsburg while Craig Murray and John McBoyle had 17 each for the Johnnies.

Concordia took over fourth place as reserve Keith Brings hit a jump shot with 32 seconds left for the victory over Macalester. Frank Johnson had 17 for the Cobbers; Craig Canham and Arlo Boyert had 14 apiece for the Scots.

Bedbury Sweeps Men's Crown at Great Lakes

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The youth and experience of two former U.S. Olympic team members carried them to more titles in the Great Lakes speed skating championships during the weekend.

Floyd Bedbury, 24, St. Paul, Minn., won the senior men's laurels with 22 points. Mrs. Jeanne Omelchuk of Detroit picked up 15 points to secure the crown she won in 1958 and 1959.

Bedbury headed into the second day of competition Sunday with a slim two-point edge over 41-year-old veteran performer Ken Bartholomew of Minneapolis.

Bartholomew raced to first place in the 400. Bedbury placed third but surged back with victories in the half-mile and two-mile races which, coupled with his triumphs in the three-quarter mile and mile events Saturday, brought him his second senior men's championship. He also won in 1959.

BUBBLE BURST Bucks Saturday

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minnesota's basketball bubble burst when it came in contact with Don Nelson and Joe Reddington of Iowa, but it may all have been for the best.

Some observers were beginning to see a sleeper season for the Gophers in basketball, much like that of the 1961 Minnesota football squad. After all, the Gophers handled Purdue and Boilermakers star, Terry Dischinger, and then put the skids under Indiana.

Their 65-63 loss to Iowa in the last five seconds Saturday was a heartbreaker, considering Minnesota trailed by 10 points more than once. But, like in football, observers were wondering if over-confidence might develop and the Gophers would be unprepared mentally for the nation's No. 1 team this Saturday—Ohio State.

In Ohio State's Jerry Lucas, Minnesota will be facing the top court performer in college basketball. He is a three-time All-America choice, and his opponents say he has no weaknesses.

Tom McGrann, the 6-7 Gopher center whose job it will be to guard Lucas, is one member of the squad who knows what to expect.

"How do you play Lucas? 'How-ever you can,' replied McGrann. 'He doesn't have any weakness.' The Gophers fell from the undefeated ranks into a four-way tie for third place as Iowa's Nelson coolly sank a pair of free throws in the waning seconds.

Although holding Nelson to 20 points, the Gophers were unable to neutralize Reddington, who came into his own after playing behind sophomores in earlier games. Hitting from 15 and 20 feet out, Reddington chipped in with 17 points to provide the margin of victory.

Minnesota trailed most of the game but moved to within five points, at 58-45, with eight minutes left before again falling back. Led by Ray Cronk, Eric Magdanz and McGrann, the Gophers started to nibble at Iowa's lead and with only two minutes remaining the margin was down to a single point, 60-59. Cronk topped Minnesota scoring with 19 points while Magdanz had 15.

The first half was close, with the lead changing hands several times and the score knotted at 32-32 at the half.

Caldwell, Jofre Box Thursday For Bantam Title

One of the three tangled boxing championships will be straightened out Thursday in Sao Paulo, Brazil, when title claimants John Caldwell of Ireland and Eder Jofre of Brazil clash in a 15-rounder.

Caldwell is recognized as king of the 118-pound set in Europe while Jofre is considered the champion in South America and by the National Boxing Association in the United States.

The bantam title has been in dispute since Mexico's Joe Beccerra retired 17 months ago after being knocked out by Eloy Sanchez.

Jofre gained the NBA's nod by flattening Sanchez in Los Angeles Nov. 18, 1960. The hard-hitting Brazilian solidified his claim by knocking out Italy's Piero Rollo and Ramon Arias of Venezuela in title defenses.

Caldwell gained recognition in Europe by twice outpointing France's Alphonse Halimi, the world champion before Beccerra, in London last year.

No matter who wins, the division will get a worthy champion. Jofre, 25, has a record of 40 victories and three draws, including 30 knockouts, Caldwell, 23, has a 25-0 record, including 12 kayos.

Minnesota, which plays a home and home series with Minnesota Duluth Friday and Saturday, fell to a 2-4 association mark as Michigan Tech swept the series. Single goals in the first and third periods did the job for Tech after the Gophers came to life and matched the invaders, 2-for-2, in the second period.

Tech, which plays at North Dakota Friday and Saturday, now has a 9-3 record.

North Dakota did somewhat better than the Gophers while still bowing to Denver. The visitors' victory came in overtime on a shot by wing Emery Sampson.

West Rides Unitas Pass to Close Win

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP)—With two seconds left, Johnny Unitas tossed a 12-yard touchdown pass to Jon Arnett Sunday to give the favored West a 31-30 come-from-behind victory over the East in the National Football League Pro Bowl.

The scoring tuss provided a wild climax to one of the most hectic Pro Bowl games in history. A few minutes before, Jim Brown of Cleveland shook off four tacklers and rambled 70 yards to a touchdown to put the East ahead 30-24. Minutes after Brown's scoring romp electrified the Coliseum crowd of 57,409, the big fullback was named the most valuable player of the game. But as the clock was running out, Brown, on a routine running play, was knocked loose from the ball by a jarring tackle by the West's Bill George of Chicago.

GEORGE ALSO recovered and with about a minute remaining, it was the West's ball on the East 41. Then Unitas went to work.

The Baltimore star passed 15 yards to rookie Mike Ditka of Chicago, then 14 yards to Colt teammate Lenny Moore. With 15 seconds left, a Unitas pass for Moore fell incomplete.

As the seconds ticked away, Unitas shook off New York's Andy Robustelli, rolled to his left and threw a scoring strike to Arnett, all alone in the end zone.

It was a sad day for the East's Y. A. Tittle, the balding quarterback from the Giants, who starred in a losing cause. Tittle mixed his plays beautifully tossing touchdown passes of 9 and 2 yards, and engineered several other long marches.

WHEN BROWN fumbled in the final minute, the weary Tittle flung his helmet to the ground and marched off the field dejectedly.

In the first period Dick (Night Train) Lane of Detroit intercepted a Tittle pass and galloped 42 yards for a touchdown.

The game, played in sunny, breezy, 70-degree weather, also provided many defensive high spots. In the third quarter the Packers' Henry Jordan and Lane baited down a conversion attempt by Bobby Walston of the Eagles. That proved to be the difference.

THE EAST opened the scoring with a 33-yard field goal by Walston early in the first period. But the West roared back with an 11-play 47-yard scoring march. Unitas passing 16 yards to teammate Raymond Berry for the touchdown.

The West maintained its edge until Brown's touchdown romp late in the final period.

In the third quarter Yale Lary of Detroit intercepted a Mill Plum pass and ran it back 27 yards to the East 10. Two plays later Bart Starr hurled a 10-yard TD pass to Hugh McElhenny of Minnesota.

The East came right back with an 80-yard touchdown drive in nine plays, with Plum passing to Walston for 12 yards and the score.

2 Found Dead At Badger Farm

MARRON, Wis. — An autopsy has been ordered to determine the cause of the deaths of an elderly couple whose bodies were found frozen Saturday night.

The bodies of Albert Schudlick, 82, and his wife, Ida, 75, were found on their farm about nine miles north of here.

Sheriff John Marcon started a search for them after neighbors said the couple had not been seen since Monday. Schudlick was dressed for outdoor work, but one of his boots was some distance from the body.

Mrs. Schudlick, wearing a light jacket and scarf, was found some 300 feet from her husband.

The sheriff said both had histories of heart disease.

County Patients Removed From Badger Home

STEVENS POINT — All county patients have been removed from an Amherst nursing home where a patient had been charged with assault and battery and disorderly conduct, a spokesman for the Portage County Welfare Department said Sunday.

The operator of the home, Mrs. Mae Kedrowski, is scheduled to go on trial Jan. 20 She pleaded innocent to the charges at a preliminary hearing before County Judge James H. Levi who set bond at $300.

Mrs. Kedrowski was arrested on the complaint of a patient at the home, Peder Kjendalen, 79, who said the woman attacked him with his own cane without provocation on Jan. 3. He was hospitalized here for three days.
