Long-Time Surveillance Of Cuba Is Indicated

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy feels U.S. surveillance of Cuba will have to be continued in some form long after the current missile crisis is settled, government sources report.

In offering this view of the President's thinking to newsmen Sunday, the sources did not specify how the watch would be kept. The object they said, would be to guard against any future introduction of Soviet missiles into Cuba.

Aerial photographs of the island last month gave the first hard evidence that the Soviet Union was mounting an offensive missile threat in Cuba, the White House has said. It was from aerial photos taken last Thursday that the administration concluded Soviet Premier Khrushchev had begun to make good on his pledge to tear down the missile bases.

The Navy, in maintaining an arms blockade of Cuba, has also been filing a surveillance role.

Removal of the missiles and other Soviet offensive arms from Cuba remains a thorny problem. By the terms of the Kennedy-Khrushchev agreement, the United Nations would supervise the verification that Soviet missiles have been withdrawn from the island.

The government sources who discussed Kennedy's position emphasized that he is determined to verify the removal of the weapons by international inspection teams—and that nothing less will be satisfactory.

While the United States and the Soviet Union are reported prepared to have the International

Red Cross fill the inspection role originally proposed for the United Nations, Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro has the power to bar international inspectors from his territory.

Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan conferred with Castro in Havana over the weekend—presumably in an effort to prod the Cuban leader into accepting at least the fundamentals of an international inspection system.

Mikoyan and Castro met twice Sunday at the government palace. No communiques were issued and Cuban officials gave no hint of the nature of the talks. Mikoyan remained in Havana despite the death of his wife in Moscow Saturday night.

The administration's continuing stress on the necessity of international inspection is being viewed in some quarters as a means of keeping pressure on Castro.

As far as it can be ascertained, the United States has set no deadline on compliance from either Moscow or Havana. Nonetheless, Kennedy was understood to feel the United States cannot wait indefinitely.

Hot Campaign Winding Up In Wisconsin

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Wisconsin voters will select state, congressional, legislative and local officers Tuesday to wind up one of the state's most bitterly fought political campaigns.

And in choosing a governor, electors probably will determine the state's tax policy for at least the next two years.

The statewide contests are for the U.S. Senate seat held by veteran Republican Alexander Wiley, and for the five constitutional offices. There also are fights for 10 Congressional seats and 119 legislative jobs in addition to the local contests.

Most of the voter interest is in the contests for governor and the U.S. Senate.

Both Republican Philip G. Kuehn and Democrat John W. Reynolds have voiced confidence they will win the gubernatorial contests. Both, however, say that their victories will be slim margins.

Kuehn has come out for a three percent general sales tax with credit refunds to return the tax paid on necessities. Reynolds has based much of his campaign on repeal of the present selective sales tax and increase in the state income tax.

White House Plane Returns Body of Slain U.S. Airman

WASHINGTON (AP)—A White House plane today carried home to South Carolina the body of Maj. Rudolf Anderson, a flier who perished in a reconnaissance mission over Cuba.

The 35-year-old Air Force pilot will be buried Tuesday with full military honors in a private cemetery in Greenville.

The long trip home started Sunday in Havana when Anderson's remains were transferred by Cuban authorities to the care of the Swiss ambassador, Emil A. Stadler.

A cargo plane painted white and carrying the Swiss flag carried the body to Miami. The United Nations and the Swiss government had arranged the return and one passenger was Brig. Gen. Idr Jit Rikhye of India, military adviser to U.N. Acting Secretary-General U Thant.

A half hour after Anderson's body reached American soil, the casket was transferred to an Air Force Boeing 707 jet and the White House plane took off from Miami's International Airport for Andrews Air Force Base, just outside Washington.

Today, the same plane, one of three Boeing 707 jets used by the White House, flew south with Anderson's body, accompanied by an Air Force escort.

At Donaldson, a sheriff's guard of honor will meet the plane.

The Defense Department on Oct. 27 declared Anderson missing and presumed lost. Survivors include his wife, Frances Jane; two sons, Rudolf III, 5, and James, 3, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolf Anderson.

Kenosha Youth Also Dead in 2-Car Collision

Two persons—one of them a Winonan—were killed late Saturday night when the cars in which they were riding collided on Highway 53 at La Crosse.

Jerome (Romey) Porter, 23, 734 E. 2nd St., a passenger in a car driven by Robert Buege, 24, 853 E. Mark St., died early Sunday at a La Crosse hospital of injuries suffered in the accident about 45 minutes earlier.

THE OTHER victim was Gary Rogers, 22, Kenosha, Wis., riding in an automobile driven by Gerald Hohmann, 20, Onalaska, Wis., who with Buege was hospitalized with multiple injuries.

The accident happened at 11:57 p.m., a scant hour after Buege and Porter left the Buege home for a drive to La Crosse.

The two Winonans were re-

Federal Bureau of Roads Starts State Investigation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Federal Bureau of Public Roads today begins its "in depth" investigation of Minnesota highway construction, a red hot issue in the political campaigns leading to Tuesday's statewide election.

Republican and Democratic Farmer-Labor office seekers were brought into the controversy, but the issue especially sparked the governor race, where it produced superheated accusations and adjectives.

The matter came to light only a week ago, when Rep. John A. Blainik, D-Minn., chairman of a congressional highway investigating committee, divulged an investigation was pending into alleged irregularities in construction of Interstate Highway 35 near Hinckley.

DFL spokesman said the irregularities were permitted so the road could be finished before election. The route was dedicated last Thursday. Republicans said the charges were politically inspired and added that any deviations were slight and of a type not unusual on large projects.

Saturday in Washington, the bureau announced Joseph M. O'Connor, director of audits and investigations, will personally supervise an "in-depth investigation on evidence of possible serious irregularities."

Grant Mickie, BPR deputy administrator, added that federal investigators already had substantiated allegations of a Minnesota highway inspector "as to failure of certain of the tests to meet specifications on materials and temperatures."

Mickie did not give the inspector's name but presumably he referred to Robert O'Donnell, Knife River. In the days since the controversy began, Republicans have made frequent note of the fact O'Donnell has a brother working as a campaign aide for Lt. Gov. Karl Rolvaag, DFL candidate for governor.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn. Saturday night said O'Donnell had been dismissed by the State Highway Department and this constituted "out right intimidation and persecution."

Jerome Porter

turning to Winona, driving north on Highway 53, when their car and the southbound Hohmann car collided as Hohmann attempted a left turn at a street intersection.

BUEGE WAS thrown out of the automobile and suffered facial injuries, fractures of six ribs, a dislocated hip, leg injuries and cuts on his hand.

If his condition permits, he'll be transferred to Community Memorial Hospital here for further treatment.

Both Porter and Rogers remained inside their cars. Rogers was pronounced dead at the accident scene while Porter was taken by ambulance to the hospital where he died at 12:45 a.m.

An employee of Winona Knitting Mills where he was a machine operator, Porter was a close friend of Buege and a frequent visitor at the Buege home.

BUEGE'S MOTHER, Mrs. Hazel Buege, said today that Porter had come to the house Saturday afternoon, remained for dinner with the Bueges and then spent the evening playing cards with Buege and his two brothers, Steven and Willard. Porter lived at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Porter.

Mrs. Buege said that at about 10 p.m. the card game ended and Bob Buege and Porter left the house. She said she understood that her son was going to drive Porter to his home.

When they got outside, Mrs. Buege said, they had difficulty starting the car and received help from Willard, who lives across the street.

It wasn't until nearly 10:45 p.m. that they left the house, apparently drove directly to La Crosse and were returning to Winona when the accident happened.

THE ACCIDENT site was just inside the city limits of La Crosse, a few feet from the Onalaska limits, at the intersection with George Street.

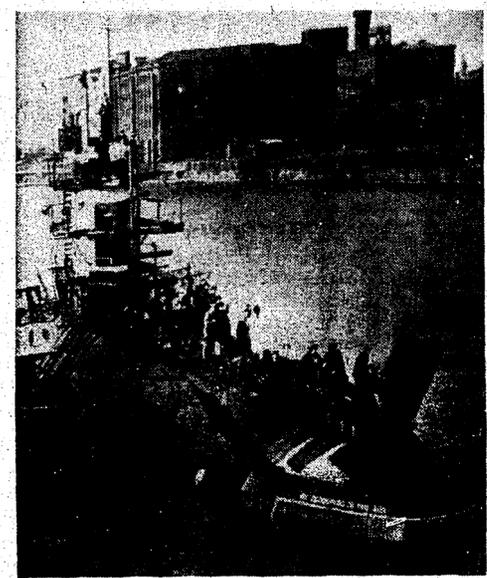

Mrs. Buege said that during a visit with her son at the hospital Sunday he said that all he could remember was that there was a "flash of a car in front of him" immediately before the accident.

La Crosse police, who are continuing their investigation of the crash, said today that apparently Hohmann was driving south on Highway 53 and attempted to make a left turn onto George Street.

In turning, Mrs. Buege said, the Hohmann car reportedly ran into the path of the Buege automobile and the two cars collided.

Porter was born here Dec. 21, 1939, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Porter. He was a member of St. John's Catholic Church, St. Thomas Court of Catholic Order of Foresters and was employed by Winona Knitting Mills. He served with the Air Force from 1957 to 1961, and was a 1957 graduate of Cotter High School.

Survivors include his parents; two brothers, Walter Bernard, U.S. Navy, Norfolk, Va., and James, Winona, and one sister, (Continued on Page 16, Column 2) WINONAN

3 More Americans Slain in Vietnam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The war in Viet Nam has brought death to three more Americans.

Two U.S. Air Force pilots were killed early today in the crash of a Vietnamese air force B26 fighter-bomber believed brought down by Communist ground fire. A U.S. soldier was killed Sunday night by grenade presumably thrown by a Communist.

No Sign of Russ Bombers Leaving Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. authorities reported today they have no evidence yet that the Soviets are packing up the atomic-capable jet bombers in Cuba.

The deaths raised to 37 the number of Americans killed in Viet Nam since last December. A Vietnamese also died in the crash of the B26 about 160 miles southwest of Saigon. The plane had been flying a night strafe mission against Communist guerrillas attacking a government position.

Officials in Saigon said the last radio report from the plane said it had sighted the target and was moving in for an attack.

Ground troops were flown to the crash site and the bodies were recovered. Names of the dead were withheld pending notification of their families.

Five Killed in Iowa Collision

MOVILLE, Iowa (AP)—Five persons, including four members of one family, were killed and two others were injured in a head-on crash of two cars near here Sunday night.

The dead included Thomas De Witt Beem, 45, of Hornick, Iowa, his wife Inez, 41, their daughter, Barbetta, 8, and a son, Thomas, 15.

Also killed was Dennis Edward Hart, 18, of Correctionville, who was riding with Allen Mahin, 18, also of Correctionville.

Another son of the Beems, Brian, 12, was taken to a hospital at Sioux City in critical condition. Mahin also was hospitalized. Moville is 15 miles east of Sioux City.

'Uncle Wiggly' Author Dead

AMHERST, Mass. (AP)—Howard R. Garis, 89, internationally known author of children's stories under the name of "Uncle Wiggly," died in Cooley-Dickinson Hospital, at Northampton, today.

Marshfield Doctor Dead in Plane Crash

OSHKOSH, Wis. (AP)—Dr. Robert Taylor, 48, a prominent Marshfield physician, was killed Sunday night when his light plane crashed in a field about six miles west of Oshkosh.

At the same time, Washington is convinced the missile bases are coming down. Their destruction is almost complete, Edward M. Martin, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, said Sunday in a television interview.

Martin touched, too, on the subject of present concern within the administration when he added: "We still do not know where they (the missiles) are going, or have verification they have left the island or will not be reintroduced."

In another television interview Theodore C. Sorensen, special counsel to Kennedy and one of his chief speechwriters, said the United States has given no formal pledge not to invade Cuba. It will not do so until a satisfactory arrangement regarding Cuban missile sites has been worked out, Sorensen said.

In other Cuban developments: Moscow radio accused the United States of failing to carry out its pledge to settle the Cuban crisis. It said the United States should have lifted its blockade and ended its aerial surveillance of Cuba.

At the United Nations in New York, John J. McCloy, the top U.S. negotiator on Cuba, gave a luncheon for his Soviet counterpart, First Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov. "It was a social visit and of course the subject was Cuba," said a U.S. delegation spokesman.

Authoritative sources disclosed at the United Nations that Paul Ruegger of the International Committee of the Red Cross will arrive in New York Tuesday to negotiate with the United Nations on a plan for Red Cross inspection of Cuba-bound Soviet ships.

Acting U.N. Secretary-General U Thant said the outlook was good for a Cuban settlement satisfactory to all concerned. He told newsmen he will consult with Security Council members today about a possible council meeting.

Evaluating Soviet strategy on Cuba, Assistant Secretary of State Averell Harriman said in a televised interview, Moscow's action will show some neutrals that Russia "follows its own devices not necessarily for the benefit of the government it is supposed to be helping."

U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson said late Saturday of the Kennedy-Khrushchev agreement on Cuba "a great many problems are still unresolved." Stevenson talked with newsmen at the White House after attending a two-hour meeting with the President and the executive committee of the National Security Council.

Red Premier of Bulgaria Ousted

SOFIA, Bulgaria (AP)—Bulgarian Premier Anton Yugov has been ousted from his post and expelled from the Communist party's Central Committee.

Yugov's ouster, apparently an element of a major purge of remaining Stalinists, was announced at the opening session of the Eighth Bulgarian Party Congress today by First Party Secretary Todor Zhivkov.

The Democrats in 1958 made their first major breakthrough in more than 30 years in normally Republican Wisconsin when they elected four of the five state constitutional officers. The only major Republican office seeker to win in that year was Robert Zimmerman, secretary of state.

Wiley was elected to public office for the first time as Chippewa County prosecutor in 1909, seven years before Nelson was born. He is seeking his fifth term in the U.S. Senate.

Nelson, who served several years in the Wisconsin Senate, was elected governor in 1958 and re-elected in 1960 to become the only Democrat in modern times to gain two successive terms.

Zimmerman who seeks re-election as secretary of state is opposed by Gerald Humphrey of Springfield. The Republican state treasurer, Mrs. Dana Smith, is opposed by John Schneider, Jr., of Sheboygan, a former assemblyman.

In the race for lieutenant governor the candidates are Republican Jack Olson of Wisconsin Dells and Democrat David Carley of Madison. The incumbent, Republican Warren Knowles of New Richmond, did not seek re-election.

For attorney general the race is between George Thompson, La Crosse Republican, and William H. Evans, Milwaukee Democrat.

The 10 incumbent representatives—six Republicans and four Democrats—are favored to win re-election.

Close races are expected in the First and Second Congressional Districts. The Democratic incumbent in the second district, Robert Kastenmeier, may have trouble beating Ivan Kindschi unless he picks up a big majority in Dane County.

The First District campaign is a re-run of 1960 when Republican Rep. Henry Schadegeer defeated Democrat incumbent Gerald Flynn.

In the Ninth District, Democrat Lester Johnson is favored to defeat Republican Dennis Danielson. The district is expected to be swallowed up in the reapportionment scheduled at the next session of the Wisconsin Legislature. The winner, therefore, probably will have to run in another district in two years.

Republican incumbent Vernon Thomson, a former governor, is favored to win the Third District. His opponent is Walter Thorsen. Democrat Clement Zablocki is favored over David Tillotson in the fourth Milwaukee District as is Democrat Henry Reuss over Tom Nelson in the Fifth.

In the Sixth District, Republican William K. Van Pelt is expected to defeat John Race. In the seventh, Republican Melvin Lair is conceded the edge over John Evans.

Veteran Republican Representative John Byrnes is expected to win over Owen Monfils in the Eighth as is Republican Alvin O'Konski, the 10th District incumbent who takes on J. Louis Hanson.

Red Chinese Charge Russia Appeasing U.S.

TOKYO (AP)—Red China today likened the Soviet Union's agreement to remove its missile bases from Cuba to the British-French appeasement of the Nazis at Munich.

The editorial in the Peiping People's Daily, official organ of the Chinese Communist party, did not mention the Soviet Union or Premier Khrushchev by name. But its target obviously was Khrushchev's backdown in the face of U.S. firmness.

The Cuban situation, said the editorial, is "a crisis of carrying out an appeasement policy toward U.S. imperialism and aggression and a crisis of encouraging U.S. imperialism to pursue even more insatiably its policies of aggression and war."

"The attempt to play the Munich scheme against the Cuban people who have already stood on their own feet is doomed to complete failure," the paper said.

The People's Daily also backed Prime Minister Fidel Castro's contention that U.N. inspection of the removal of the missiles—proposed by Russia—would be a "serious violation of Cuba's sovereignty."

Both candidates have soft-pedaled the family aspects of the race. But Republicans have read a kinship meaning into Ted's campaign slogan: "He can do more for Massachusetts."

Most polls favor Ted to win, possibly as much as 400,000 votes out of an unexpected two million cast. But George's campaign manager, Paul Grindle, using his own statistics, insists: "It's still a horse race."

A third candidate, Harvard history Prof. H. Stuart Hughes, grandson of the late Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, is not expected to corner more than 2 percent of the vote.

Merging Africa Has Troubles

WASHINGTON — The troubles of a merging Africa have been somewhat obscured in international interest by our own recent involvement in what might easily have been the end of a world in which the votes in the United Nations by the emerging tinpot principalities would have been equally obscured in the rubble remaining after the Big Boom.

Certainly the so-called nonaligned but definitely left-leaning hoggish and mangrove-swamp nations which almost monthly swell the U.N.'s roster were badly shaken by such delightful exhibitions as the outright lies of Russia's Mr. Valerian Zorin in behalf of the great Co-Prosperity Company Store which is run by Russia.

Surely the faith in Russia's pledge to look after the nonaligned brethren was cruelly shaken when Khrushchev snatched the rug out from under both his U. N. front man, Zorin, and Fidel Castro's Cuba, as well as by the straight horse trade between the U. S. and Russia for the missiles which he has promised to Cuba's shores.

Ruark

Undoubtedly the childish belief in Father Khrushchev, Protector of the Poor, Champion of the Down-trods, must be causing the newly emerged, if bankrupt, members of the Brotherhood of Nations to quake more than slightly.

A thing fit to fill the knotty little heads of our new ambassadors from the alphabet-soup additions to the U. N., insofar as "one-nation-one-vote" is concerned, is the wild political Mardi gras currently going on among India, Russia and Red China—a piece of entertainment which makes the low-comedy minstrel show of the Congo seem downright dignified and reasonable by comparison.

WHAT GHANA is saying to Sierra Leone, what Upper Volta is saying to Outer Mongolia, what the Camerouns are discussing with Uganda in terms of international political reference beggars not only the imagination but possibly defeats the tribal dialects as

Stop and Read This OPEN LETTER From Donald Berg

IT CONTAINS IMPORTANT INFORMATION FOR WINONA COUNTY VOTERS

It has been my intent ever since I filed for the office of Sheriff of Winona County to conduct a clean campaign. The many persons I have contacted throughout my campaign will attest to the fact that I preferred not to discuss by opponents nor smear them in any way. Unfortunately for me, my opponent has seen fit to question my responsibility and fairness and I feel I must respond to his inferences.

I am well aware that the office of sheriff is an important and responsible position that requires experience, integrity, and fairness. No one can dispute my qualifications for the position of sheriff, our present sheriff had only 9 years of service on the Winona Police Department and 4 years as a deputy sheriff when he was first elected to the office. I have had 21 years of experience. I have conducted my extensive campaign at my own expense. If I am elected my only obligation will be to you, the public.

In a message distributed and mailed to the residents of Winona County, I have outlined a program I intend to inaugurate in the Winona County Sheriff's office if elected. This basic program is: To provide constant training and a tenure of employment for the Deputy Sheriffs; remove the fee system for prisoner's meals; request that I be placed on a straight salary; have the County Board provide all of the automobiles used for county business in the sheriff's office; remove the yearly salary of $840.00 of the jail maroon. My opponent, the incumbent, has attempted to discredit me and my program through an open letter published in local newspapers.

I read with interest my opponents record. This record is typical of many veteran law enforcement officers, including myself. I know my opponent and I could elaborate for hours on cases we have been involved in.

A statement in my opponent's record is that HE apprehended Ellis Watts at gun point. I was there! This event shows the importance of cooperation between departments. This event took place on Aug. 20, 1942, when the incumbent was still a Deputy Sheriff. My opponent called the Winona Police Department to assist him in apprehending a person who had just murdered 2 men. My opponent met the four of us police officers at Wyattville, about 3 miles from the scene of the shooting. We all drove to the scene together. We surrounded the house, a Winona police officer shot into the house, and it was at this point that Ellis Watts came out with his hands in the air and surrendered. Let me quote from the Aug. 21, 1942, issue of the Winona Republican-Herald, quote: "A minute later Watts came out the front or west door of the house onto the porch, with his hands extending high above his head. He was covered by all of the patrolmen's guns, while Deputy Fort handcuffed him. 'I'll come, I'll surrender,' Watts kept telling the officers." Unquote.

May I now take issue with the open letter submitted by my opponent. Rebutal #1 — It would imply that I was unfair to revive an article published in a Twin Cities newspaper inferring the Winona County Sheriff was the highest paid elected official in the state. This article, if you will recall, was brought to our attention through various news media. It was corrected and brought to our attention through our own local newspaper. My opponent even went one step further and paid for a reprint in the form of an advertisement Sept. 10, 1962. Each and every time this article was brought to the attention of the public, I was accused, by some, of plagiarizing the original article, and using it to my advantage. I HAD NOTHING TO DO WITH THIS ARTICLE. Why is it only when I wish to mention the article in my message, I am accused of being unfair?

#2 — It is said my message infers large cost to the County of Winona for operation of the Winona County Sheriff's office. I am not inferring anything. I am reporting the figures available to me and to you from the files in the Winona County Auditor's office.

#3 — My opponent has attempted to draw a red herring across my path by trying to compare the costs of the sheriff's department and the costs of the City Police Department. I have not tried to compare the total costs of operation of the two departments as the operations of the Winona Police Department are not in question. WE ARE VOTING FOR A SHERIFF — My comparison was the cost of meals for city prisoners and the Fee System cost of meals for county prisoners, and the cost of operation for publicly owned automobiles against the mileage system for automobiles owned by the Sheriff. No place in his open letter has my opponent justified the high expenses in these two departments. My opponent states he has only 7 deputies to police 17,000 people living in the rural area. Why has he neglected to mention the many police officers and constables employed by the villages throughout the county?

#4 — The residents of the city of Winona depend very little on law enforcement service from the Winona County Sheriff's office. My opponent has responded by citing specific duties of a sheriff's office rather than services rendered.

#5 — My opponent would imply that I cannot request a tenure of employment for Deputy Sheriffs until a special legislative act would be passed. This may be true insofar as Civil Service is concerned, but nothing can prevent my entering into an agreement with the County Commissioners providing a Deputy Sheriff with a right to a hearing before being relieved of duty. I believe that every Deputy Sheriff is entitled to this protection. I will not wait 19 years for such a request, nor will I wait until an election year. I will request this tenure as soon as possible. My opponent would imply that I cannot receive a straight salary until the state law is changed. Olmsted County is not the only county that will have a sheriff on a straight salary. The sheriffs of Ramsey, Hennepin and St. Louis counties turn their fees over to the county and receive straight salaries. If I am elected, I will be entering a legislation year. I have worked with legislators for many years, and have not met one who will not cooperate with an individual or department or political subdivision when expenditures and taxes may be lowered. I will strive to fulfill my commitments.

#6 — The Winona Police Department record system was not installed by the Minnesota State Crime Bureau. Our record system is ultramodern and is recognized by the International Chiefs Association as such.

#7 — My opponent challenges me to do better with the training of Deputy Sheriffs and in obtaining better cooperation between other law enforcement officers. To me this is no challenge, however, it is up to you the voter, to permit me to prove these are not idle campaign promises. I am opposed to the fee system. I sincerely believe the Winona County Sheriff's office can be operated more efficiently and for less money.

I, Don Berg, Will Serve You Well!

Little Warmer Weather Due; 45 on Tuesday

After a touch of snow Sunday a slight warmup is predicted for Winona and vicinity tonight and Tuesday.

The forecast says: "Partly cloudy and warmer tonight with considerable cloudiness and warmer Tuesday with chance of light rain in the afternoon. Low tonight 25-30, high Tuesday 45."

Partly cloudy weather with little temperature change is the outlook for Wednesday.

THE EXTENDED forecast for the next five days indicates temperatures Tuesday through Saturday will average near or a little below seasonal normals. It will be a little warmer Tuesday and warmer again about Thursday with day to day temperatures averaging 41-47 in the daytime and 24-30 at night.

Less than .10 of an inch of precipitation is indicated in scattered rain Tuesday.

The light rain and snow which fell Sunday morning measured .03 of an inch and was accompanied by sharp, chilly northwest winds. The thermometer rose to 46 Saturday afternoon and 37 Sunday. Sunday morning the low was 25 and the morning 30.

A year ago today Winona had a high of 57 and a low of 24 with half an inch of snow. All-time high for Nov. 5 was 71 in 1924 and the low for the day 1 above in 1951. Mean temperature for the past 24 hours was 34. Normal for this day is 41.

Colder weather hit other parts of Minnesota today with the thermometer dropping to 8 at Bemidji, lowest in the nation, and 10 at International Falls. Duluth had a reading of 21 and Rochester 22 after a Sunday high of 36. At La Crosse the figures for the same times were 30 and 39.

Snow fell throughout most of Wisconsin Sunday—but it was difficult to tell today. The weatherman reported that the snow melted as it dropped virtually everywhere except the Park Falls area and there were few measurable amounts on the ground by daybreak.

Green Bay had the largest amount of precipitation in a 24-hour period ended about dawn. Green Bay reported 33 of an inch. Other precipitation totals included Racine .27 inch, South Milwaukee .26, Beloit-Rockford area .17, Milwaukee airport .13, Park Falls .12, Wausau .05, Madison .05, and traces at Lone Rock, La Crosse, Eau Claire and Superior-Duluth.

PARK FALLS reported three inches of snow on the ground today. The Superior-Duluth area and Green Bay each reported a trace.

High temperatures in Wisconsin Sunday ranged from 29 at Park Falls to 40 at Milwaukee airport.

The Superior area reported a minimum reading of 21 during the night, the lowest in the state. Other lows included Park Falls 25, Lone Rock 28, Madison and Wausau 30, Beloit-Rockford area 33, Milwaukee airport 34, and Racine and Green Bay 35.

Yuma, Ariz., was the hottest spot in the nation Sunday with 95 degrees.

GUSTY northerly winds fanned cold air, rain and snow from the north central region eastward and into sections of the South today.

Light snow fell as far south as parts of Tennessee and Kentucky where temperatures dropped to the 30s. Readings were in the 40s from Alabama through the Carolinas and northern Florida.

Chairmen Confident

WASHINGTON (AP)—The chairmen of the Republican and Democratic national committees did the expected today. They predicted their parties would be the voters' choice in Tuesday's election.

The GOP chairman, Rep. William E. Miller of New York, predicted Republican victories at every level, particularly gubernatorial, and substantial gains in Congress. He did not say if he thought his party would wrest control of the House from the Democrats.

The Democratic chairman, John M. Bailey, was more restrained in his forecast. He said he was confident the voters would favor "moving forward" with the Democrats. He mentioned no specific gains in either Congress or the governor's mansions while predicting a record mid-term vote.

Man Cuts Off Fingers To Get Out of Picker

HOUSTON, Minn. (Special)—A 52-year-old area farmer cut his fingers off to free himself from a corn picker Sunday, turned off the tractor, then walked to his farm residence.

Paul Steinfeldt was picking corn in a field about 30 feet south of the house at 11:45 a.m. When stalks became plugged in the machinery, he got off the tractor and put his right hand in the mechanism to pull them loose. The four fingers of his right hand became caught in the rollers of the husking bed.

He tried pulling his hand loose with his other hand and arm. When the rollers wouldn't let go, he cut the fingers off at the hand with his jackknife. The bones were crushed but the corn held until he cut them. There was little bleeding, Mrs. Steinfeldt said probably because of pinching by the rollers. She got him to Community Memorial Hospital, Winona, in 20 minutes after he reached the house, she said, and surgery was performed to close the wounds.

His thumb was not injured—only the nail was missing. He had cried out, his wife said, but a strong wind from the north prevented the family from hearing him. The farm is about five miles south of Ridgeway.

Paul's brother, Emil, about 48, lost his entire right hand in a corn shredder several years ago, Mrs. Steinfeldt said.

Car Goes Off Mississippi Bridge, 2 Die

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
An engaged young couple died together Sunday—six days before their scheduled wedding—when their car careened from a slippery Minnesota highway, slashed through 50 feet of bridge railing, plunged down a 40-foot embankment, and dropped to the bottom of the Mississippi River.

The crash near Deer River, in Itasca County, another double fatality accident south of New Ulm, and four other deaths over the weekend carried Minnesota's 1962 toll to 568, compared with 633 through this date last year.

David Maki, 20, and Joyce Holmstrom, 18, both of Deer River, had gone to the North Grange Hall south of town Saturday night for a wedding dance in honor of friends wed that day. They left about 2 a.m. and were dead minutes later.

Three miles east of the hall the car apparently went out of control on the icy county road, smashed through the wooden railing along the narrow bridge, and plunged into the river.

A skin diver located the car on the river bottom but all the windows had been smashed and no one was inside. Maki's body was found about 100 yards downstream. Dragging operations for the girl's body were to resume this morning, with one or two skin divers joining in the search.

Muriel Beinke, 29, Mankato, and Kathy Rae Jan, 25, New Ulm, died in a collision on Highway 15 south of New Ulm. The woman was dead at the scene Saturday night and the child succumbed in a hospital Sunday.

Miss Beinke was a passenger in the car driven by William Danfench, 32, Mankato. Danfench was not seriously hurt but another occupant, John Schaus, Mankato, suffered multiple fractures of the skull, a broken left hip and a fractured left leg. His condition was listed as serious in a Rochester hospital.

The second car was driven by Loel W. Jan, 28, father of the little victim. Jan escaped serious injury. Another daughter, Rochelle, 3, suffered cuts.

Gerald W. Straka, 18, St. Paul, died Saturday of injuries suffered when a car smashed into a tree in the Como Park picnic grounds.

Royal Olson, 16, Kiester, Minn., was killed early Saturday. He was run over by a semitrailer truck after being thrown from a side-swiped car near Albert Lea.

Laurence Jay Nelson, 24, rural Princeton, died in a collision south of Princeton late Friday night. Mrs. Jean Huben, 30, St. Cloud, was fatally injured when she was struck by a car near her home Friday.

ETTRICK PATIENTS

ETTRICK, Wis. (Special)—Ben Erickson had surgery for varicose veins on his legs at a La Crosse hospital Friday. Mrs. Melvin Olson, South Beaver Creek, was taken by ambulance to Tri-County Memorial Hospital, Whitehall, Saturday.

Veterans Groups To Join for Ceremony Sunday

Joint ceremonies by veterans organizations here will be held Sunday in observance of Veterans Day, originally known as Armistice Day.

Color guards from Neville-Lien Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Leon J. Wetzel American Legion Post and the Winona Barracks of the Veterans of World War I will participate. The units will assemble at 3rd and Center streets at 11 a.m., the hour on which the cease-fire order went into effect to end World War I, marching from Franklin and 3rd streets.

Colors will be massed and military honors rendered to the deceased veterans of the nation's wars. There are ceremonial volleys will be fired by a rifle squad and a bugler will sound "Taps."

Traditional Veterans Day noon lunches will be served next Monday at 11 a.m. at Legion and VFW club rooms for members and other veterans.

A proclamation, issued by Mayor R. K. Ellings following passage of a resolution by the City Council, calls attention to the occasion. "It is fitting that we set aside this day each year to honor the men living or dead, who have served our country in time of war," the mayor said. He asked that employers grant employees sufficient time Monday noon to attend the luncheon ceremonies sponsored by veterans' organizations.

Ceremonies Monday will include a program at 9:30 a.m. at Winona Senior High School auditorium. Speaker will be Donald T. Winder, a colonel in the Marine Corps Reserve. Musical selections will be played by the high school band and Marty Farrell, president of the student council, will lead students in the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

Also on the platform, according to Robert H. Smith, WHS principal, will be representatives of Legion, VFW, Veterans of World War I and their Auxiliaries, Spanish War Veterans, Gold Star Mothers, Women's Relief Corps and Daughters of the American Revolution. Normal Indall, chairman of the social science department, is in charge of the program.

Houston Youngster Contracts Polio

HOUSTON, Minn.—A 6-year-old rural Houston child is recovering at Community Memorial Hospital, Winona, from a suspected case of nonparalytic polio.

Daniel Craig was taken sick about 10 days ago and was admitted to the hospital Oct. 27. His doctor says the spinal fluid findings indicate Type III polio but study of the case is continuing in the laboratory.

Daniel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Craig, who reside in the Witoka area.

Lions at Lewiston

LEWISTON, Minn. (Special)—Lewiston Lions Club has moved to a permanent meeting place at City-Ram Bowl and Restaurant. The next meeting will be Nov. 14. The club entertained 300 youngsters from 12 years and down at a Halloween party Wednesday night at Lewiston School. There was costume judging during a grand march. The children sang and played games; two comedy films were shown and there were treats. Robert McPhail was chairman, assisted by Dr. K. W. Klaus and Travis Nelson.

State Electing Governor For Four Years

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Slightly warmer weather, matching the frenzied closing week of the campaign, is forecast for election day Tuesday in Minnesota.

A record off-year vote of 1,250,000 or more is forecast as voters choose a complete slate of state officers, eight congressmen, two supreme court justices, a full legislature, and pass on three constitutional amendments.

The election is the first at which the governor and other state officials will be elected for four-year terms. It is also the first since the state's congressional representation was revised for the first time in 46 years.

Big issue in the closing week of the campaign was a claim by Lt. Gov. Karl Rolvaag, the DFL candidate for governor, that the administration of Gov. Elmer L. Andersen, Republican, had winked at construction irregularities so a stretch of Interstate Highway 35 in northern Minnesota could be dedicated before the election.

Gov. Andersen called the charge "cheap politics." He has demanded a congressional investigation of the Bureau of Public Roads, claiming the bureau had allowed itself to become involved in politics. The bureau has begun a full-scale investigation of the highway matter.

Andersen heads a slate of Republicans seeking re-election which includes State Auditor Val Bjornson. DFL office holders seeking a return to office include Secretary of State Joseph Donovan, Atty. Gen. Walter F. Mondale and Paul Rasmussen, a railroad and warehouse commissioner.

Incumbents are seeking re-election in seven of the state's eight congressional districts. Five are Republicans, two Democrats. Only district without an incumbent is the 6th, where Rep. H. Carl Andersen, GOP, lost to State Rep. Robert Odgaard in the primary. Odgaard's DFL opponent is Alee Olson.

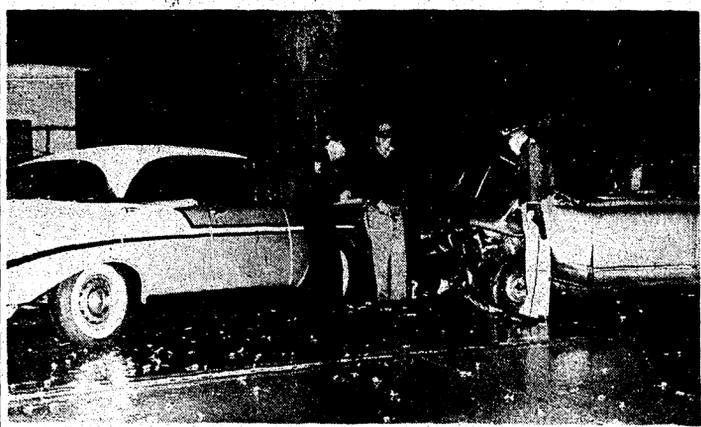

Highlighting the congressional contests is that in the 5th (Minneapolis) District, where State Sen. Donald Fraser, a Minneapolis attorney, is seeking to upset the veteran Republican, Rep. Walter Judd.

Seeking re-election to the Supreme Court are Associate Justices James Otis and William Murphy. Their opponents are E. Luther Mellin and William Dressel, both Minneapolis attorneys who have run unsuccessfully for court posts before.

The proposed amendments on the ballot would broaden the field for investment of state trust funds, empower 60 per cent of the members of each house of the legislature to authorize borrowing for buildings and other purposes, and permit extension of legislative sessions from 90 to 120 days.

To be filled in the State House of Representatives are 135 seats—four more than before the reapportionment, and 67 in the Senate. All but a handful are being contested. The liberals controlled the House two years ago and the conservatives dominated the Senate.

In its final pre-election survey, conducted too early to measure the impact of the Cuban crisis and the Highway 25 issue, the Minneapolis Tribune's Minnesota poll showed Andersen leading Rolvaag 52-48. For the lieutenant governor position vacated by Rolvaag, the poll showed State Sen. A.M. Keith, DFL, slightly ahead of State Rep. C. Donald Peterson, GOP.

Aldermen to Discuss Sunday Closing Law

Adoption of a Sunday closing ordinance for retail stores will be proposed by Chamber of Commerce representatives at a meeting of the City Council tonight.

Francis H. Whalen, chairman of the Chamber's merchants' bureau, said the proposal stems from a recent poll of city retailers which showed them overwhelmingly in favor of a Sunday closing law. Fifty-four replies were received to the 81 questionnaires mailed. Whalen said, with 45 favoring Sunday closing and 9 opposed.

Whalen said the suggested ordinance is modeled on one adopted in Edina last February. It exempts certain retail and service businesses but would generally prohibit Sunday operation of such concerns as supermarkets, appliance and automobile dealers and other hard lines outlets. Specifically exempted are grocery stores normally employing less than four people, allowing unrestricted operation for smaller neighborhood stores. Other classifications not affected are service stations and food and drink establishments. Drug stores would be prohibited from selling items outside the categories of prescriptions, drugs and emergency supplies.

Lewiston Asks Plat with Utica

Jesse Jestus, Winona County superintendent of schools, said this morning he had received a request from Lewiston school board for a consolidation plat with Utica.

The plat is in process of being made and will go to the state commissioner of education in a few days. The commissioner has 60 days in which to approve or reject the plat.

India Loses Military Post To Red China

By HENRY S. BRADSHER

NEW DELHI (AP)—The Indian government announced today the loss of one of its most important military positions on the battle lines to the Chinese Communists. The position at Daulet Beg Oldi, at the northern end of the line in Ladakh, was evacuated a few days ago, a Defense Ministry spokesman said.

Ladakh is at the western end of the Himalayan border.

The outpost at Daulet Beg Oldi was the center of a series of smaller posts, all of which fell earlier.

The Chinese have now crossed what they claim to be their border with India at one or two places and have driven beyond the disputed territory.

New Delhi officials think there are no chances now of a negotiated peace with the Chinese.

Prime Minister Nehru has demanded the Chinese withdraw to positions they held before Sept. 8 and has rejected proposals of a cease-fire and peace talks until they do. The Chinese offensive in both the northeast and northwest area of Ladakh was launched Oct. 20.

Nehru was reported preparing another reply to Soviet Premier Khrushchev to that effect.

But it appears here that the Chinese have no intention of going back to their Sept. 8 positions.

Khrushchev sent Nehru his proposal for a cease-fire without conditions last Friday. A primary aim of the Soviet peace gesture appeared to be to get the conflict stopped before India falls out of its neutral alignment. A Pravda editorial warned India against "the intrigues of the imperialist camp" and also absolved Peking of any aggressive intent.

Informants said Nehru would tell Khrushchev there could be a cease-fire and peace talks tomorrow if the Chinese pull back but that otherwise "there is no alternative left to us but to resist this attack, whatever may be the cost or the consequences to us."

Repeating a previous Peking tirade of this demand, Chinese Premier Chen En-lai emphasized in a broadcast statement that the Chinese consider India the aggressor and will fight on to hold their gains.

A U.S. Air Force jet lift is now delivering a steady stream of weapons to the hard-pressed Indian army, which is bracing for an expected new thrust by the Chinese towards the plains of Assam in the northeast.

U.S. planes, arriving in Calcutta at the rate of one every three hours, are delivering 160 tons of infantry arms and mortars a day. Light British weapons also are being sent to India. Canadian arms have been promised.

Youth Who Paid On 13 Charges Back in Court

The "I give up, you guys are too fast for me" driver was in municipal court again today. He is Bernard L. Clark, 22, Trempealeau, Wis.

This time he was charged driving after revocation of driver's license and with resisting arrest.

When he was in court a week ago today, he pleaded guilty to 13 charges. He was sentenced to pay fines totaling $195 or to serve 75 days in jail. He paid the fines and was released.

He pleaded guilty today to the resisting arrest charge and was sentenced to pay a fine of $25 or to serve eight days. He paid that fine. He pleaded not guilty to the driving after revocation charge.

Judge S. D. J. Bruski set the trial for Nov. 14 and set bail at $100. Clark had not posted bail at noon.

Marlene L. Salisbury, 22, 1881 Gilmore Ave., was charged with permitting illegal operation of her car.

Police say she permitted Clark to drive her car. Both were arrested by police at Sarnia and Huff streets at 2:45 a.m. Sunday.

She pleaded not guilty to the charge and her trial also is set for Nov. 14. She has posted the $30 bail.

Robert A. Boland, 20, Lake Court, forfeited $35 bail in court on a charge of speeding. It was his second conviction for speeding. He was arrested by police at Huff Street and Highway 1461 at 2:05 a.m. Saturday for driving 45 m.p.h. in a 30 m.p.h. zone.

Sharon K. Stahmann, 19, Minneapolis, forfeited $30 bail on a charge of careless driving. She was arrested by police at East 3rd and Franklin streets at 11 p.m. Friday.

Court Hits at Block Booking

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court affirmed today an order barring six distributors of motion pictures from block booking in selling and licensing their films to television stations.

The order was issued by U.S. Dist. Judge Archie O. Dawson in New York who ruled that some block booking deals violated the Sherman Anti-Trust law.

Justice Arthur J. Goldberg delivered the Supreme Court's main opinion, his first since he took his seat on the high tribunal on Oct. 1.

All nine justices agreed that block booking practices violated the Sherman Act.

Dawson's order applied to Lowe's Inc., C & C Super Corp., Screen Gems Inc., Associated Artists Productions Inc., National Tele-Film Associates Inc. and United Artists Corp.

Man Killed When Tractor Overturns
RICHLAND CENTER, Wis. (AP)—Tod Roudshead, 60, who lived near here, was killed Saturday when a tractor overturned on him as he was skidding logs on his farm.

Three Injured In Collision On Highway 61

Two persons were injured in a three-vehicle accident on Highway 61 in Dakota at 2:15 a.m. Sunday.

Another person involved in the accident complained of pain. The three were taken to a La Crosse hospital.

LYLE SWEET, 17, Rochester, the driver of one car, complained of pain, but was not seriously injured according to sheriff's deputies at the scene.

A passenger in his car, Mrs. Kitty Steinhour, 21, received a broken arm and cuts on the neck. The driver of a second car, Terry Beach, 19, Dakota, had mouth and chest injuries. Two young children in Sweet's car, Rhonda and Dean Steinhour, aged 2 and 3, were not hurt.

A truck, which hit Sweet's car after the first collision, was driven by Lloyd L. Kasten, La Crescent Rt. 1. He and his wife were not hurt.

Beach was driving north on Highway 61 and came around a curve. Investigating officers said he crossed the center line and went into the east lane of traffic, hitting the Sweet car head-on. Kasten's truck was following the southbound Sweet car and hit the rear end of it.

Sweet's car was wrecked. Beach's car had about $400 damage and Kasten's truck had $40 damage.

SHERIFF'S DEPUTIES also investigated two other accidents which occurred Sunday.

Terry P. Husmann, 20, La Crescent, was slightly injured when he fell asleep while going north on Highway 61, two miles south of Homer, at 7:15 a.m. Sunday.

His car went on the right shoulder for 69 feet and hit three guard rail posts, then spun around and overturned on the pavement landing on its top facing north, 53 feet from the first guard rail post. According to the deputies Husmann was not thrown from his car.

Richard L. Speltz, Rollingstone, was driving west on State Highway 248, two miles east of Rollingstone, at 1:25 a.m. Sunday. A deer jumped in front of his car and he was unable to avoid hitting it.

His car had more than $200 damage. He was not hurt.

Ulbricht Has Secret Talks With Nikita

MOSCOW (AP)—East Germany's Communist party chief, Walter Ulbricht, left Moscow today after a four-day stay which included a secret conference with Premier Khrushchev.

The departure was reported by the official news agency Tass which said Ulbricht and his party were seen off by President Leonid Brezhnev. Khrushchev apparently remained in the Kremlin.

Ulbricht and other top leaders of the Soviet bloc unexpectedly came to Moscow last week for what Western diplomats believe were emergency briefings on the world situation. Some of the diplomats think Khrushchev's timetable in Berlin was badly upset by American firmness on the Cuban question.

The Polish Communist party leader Wladyslaw Gomułka, went home Sunday night, but left behind a tribute to Khrushchev's "deep political wisdom" in the Cuban crisis which Pravda published today.

The 3,000-word article charged the United States had brought the world to the brink of nuclear war over Cuba.

Gomułka called for adequate guarantees for Cuba's security against American aggression. He made no reference, however, to Fidel Castro's five demands including U.S. evacuation of the naval base at Guantanamo Bay.

SURGICAL SEMINAR
Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Howell, 3650 9th St., and Dr. and Mrs. Robert F. Datta, 470 Sioux St., attended a three-day seminar on the surgical division of the Minnesota Podiatry Association held at New Ulm Friday through Sunday.

H. T. Lawrenz, Utica Collision Driver, Dies

UTICA, Minn.—Henry T. Lawrenz, 68, Plainview, driver of one of the cars involved in the head-on crash on Highway 14 about three miles west of Utica at 6:50 p.m. Tuesday, died at St. Mary's Hospital, Rochester, early Sunday.

The other driver was Roy R. Lewis, 58, Lewiston.

Mr. Lawrenz was born Feb. 16, 1894, in Winona County and married Rose Denner May 24, 1917, at Winona. He farmed west of Plainview until 1935 and worked for Plainview Township until 1947.

He is survived by his wife; one son, Ralph Plainview; two daughters, Mrs. Earl Ford Winona and Mrs. Harold Essmann Fountain City, Wis.; six grandchildren; five brothers, F. R. B. Lewiston, George and Walter, Winona; John, Austin, and Hugo, Los Angeles, and three sisters, Mrs. Henry Neumann, Plainview; Mrs. Wilbur Parkin, Marshfield, Wis., and Mrs. Erhardt Hafner, Milwaukee, Wis.

Funeral services will be 2 p.m. Wednesday at Immanuel Lutheran Church, Plainview, the Rev. Rodney Riese officiating. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery. Pallbearers will be six nephews.

Friends may call at Johnson-Schriver Funeral Home, Plainview, from 3 p.m. Tuesday until Wednesday noon and at the church after 1 p.m.

Boy, 10, Struck By Gun Pellets

A 10-year-old Winona boy was his with three pellets from a shotgun blast near the Shive Road area which leads to the dump grounds, police said.

He was hit in the leg and hand. He was taken to Community Memorial Hospital and released after the pellets were removed.

The incident occurred sometime Saturday afternoon when a 14-year-old boy and his 13-year-old friends were hunting in that area. The 14-year-old shot the gun "carelessly" and the pellets hit the 10-year-old who was playing with two other young boys. Chief of Police George Savord said.

He did not reveal the names of the children involved because, he said, there is a possibility that a charge under the juvenile statutes may be involved.

Chief Savord warned that the area near the dump is within the city limits and that it is illegal to fire a gun of any kind there. He said that hunting there also is illegal.

DeMolay Installs On Wednesday

A slate of De Molay officers, headed by Master Councilor Eric Stenehjem, will be installed at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in a public ceremony at the Masonic Temple, 251 Main St.

It Happened Last Night

Desi Arnaz Is Marrying Again

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Lucille Ball may be having an addition to her family — yep, it looks like Desi Arnaz is marrying again.

Phoning Desi in Hollywood, I asked whether he's going to marry Edie Hirsch, recently divorced from the rich dogfood dandy, Clement Hirsch, who's now romancing Marnie Van Doren.

"I think so," replied Desi, sleepily. "Soon?" I asked. "I think so," said Desi. "Are you engaged?" "I think so."

"Are you going to give me the story when you can say more than you think so?" "I think so."

It occurred to me that he might be answering with a photograph record, so I shot him a curve question: "Does she have an engagement ring?" "She doesn't need a ring!" hollered Desi good-naturedly. "Well, thanks, Desi," I said. "I think so," replied Desi.

It was my Cuban hour—so then I got an exclusive interview with Castro who, by the way, is now clean-shaven and just loves America.

"How'd you like Kennedy, Mr. Castro?" I asked him. "Great!" "And Khrushchev?" "Stinks!"

IN FACT, he's a great guy... Joe Castro, once-upon-a-time boy friend of Doris Duke, now pianist-conductor of Tony Martin's great show at the Americana Royal Box.

"Where you from?" I asked him. "Born in Miami." "Miami, Fla.?" "No, Pittsburgh, Cal." "Name ever embarrass you?" "Well, Tony thought he ought to introduce me as Joe Calvin in Miami."

Joe's ancestors came from Mexico. His father John Castro is a steelworker in Pittsburgh, Cal.

Vincent Price — who lectures under the same management that represented Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt — says Mrs. FDR was known as the speaker "who never failed to show up."

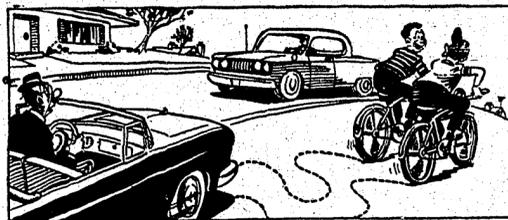

One night in Connecticut, a car taking her to her lecture engagement broke down, and she got out on the highway and thumbed a ride.

"Can you imagine the astonishment of that driver," says Price, "when he found out that the hitchhiker he picked up was the former First Lady?"

DIRECTOR Billy Wilder was asked how he liked a film he'd seen at a preview and (as Herb Stein tells it), he capsule-critiqued: "I looked at my watch at midnight and it was only 9 o'clock."

Better Think Twice About Bigger House

By GERRY NELSON

ST. PAUL (AP) — Minnesotans had better think twice about making their House of Representatives any bigger.

George Leahy, chief clerk of the House, has completed most of the housekeeping chores in preparation for the 1963 session opening some two months hence with four additional members.

He got the four new desks in, all right, but that's about it. There just isn't any more room in the dome-ceiling House chamber.

The four new members, added by the state reapportionment act, bring the House membership to 135. The Senate remains at 67 members.

"Where are we going to put 67 Senators?" Leahy moaned as he showed off the chamber this week.

The constitution provides that joint sessions — for governor's addresses and similar occasions — be held in the House chamber.

The increase to 135 completely fills the voting board on which members record their ayes and nays in green lights or red. One more member — a new board.

Leahy found a retired St. Paul cabinet maker, Thomas Sciotti, to make the new desks. They're a perfect match in polished wood, complete with ornate scrollwork on the sides.

Chairs to match were another matter. But Leahy scrounged around the Capitol and found four tucked away in the Supreme Court chamber. He got the jurists to part with them in return for some new ones.

Leahy, after 30 years on the job, is a walking storehouse on legislative information. He says the 135 members make the Minnesota House one of the biggest in the nation.

But the championship in that respect goes to New Hampshire, with 400 members. Connecticut has 294, Vermont 246. New York and Texas get by with 150 House members.

The national trend has been toward smaller legislative bodies, the chief clerk said. Minnesota's changes will shuffle scores of districts and reduce the House membership from predominantly rural counties.

Populous Twin Cities and Duluth areas, in the main, are the gainers in the shuffling.

The result, Leahy predicts, will be a heavy turnover of the House membership from two years ago.

The Casual Observer

By GRETCHEN L. LAMBERTON

THE most astonishing lot of people have told me that they have done exactly what I wrote that I had done with my new and extremely unhandy telephone book — slashed it away in some cupboard and used the old handy book. Many of the newer and more compact houses are built with special shelves to put telephones on, and there just isn't room for the big ungainly phone books.

However, I'm afraid I'll have to confess that my glib and simple solution — putting the big new book away and continuing to use the old one — isn't the answer either. This I realized when I started calling some of the city schools, the hospital and some other numbers. For all their old numbers had been changed and listed in the new books, and my dialing the old numbers was a great nuisance not only to me but to the telephone company.

Two valuable suggestions came to me from people, strangers to me, who took the trouble to telephone me, and I want to pass on these ideas. One woman told me that she too fumed over the unhandiness of the new book, but then she figured out a way to make it a little easier to use. She took a sharp razor blade, held the first 130 pages together, and carefully sliced the triangular edge off this mass of pages. In this way, said she, the Winona section from page 130 to 164 was easier to turn to, and it didn't crumple the pages as a rubber band did. Said this woman, "I dislike the big book very much, but if we're stuck with it we might as well try to use it."

The other suggestion came from a man who hasn't lived here very long. He said, "I have the hardest time finding my way around Winona because the cross streets, except Center and Main streets, all have such illogical names. I cut the city map out of the old phone book and pasted it in the new book on the first advertising page."

It's a little hard to see how this big telephone directory listing 18 different towns and villages can be a benefit to anyone except possibly Rochester which takes up most of the book, but maybe the telephone book has its reasons. It would seem that it might be a great waste of money passing out these thick books to all those 18 communities or need we worry about the telephone company expenses? Also it seems as though the company would get more calls for help from people who aren't sure how to use it or who can't find numbers in the bulky classified section.

The treasure hunt at the site of the old side-wheeler War Eagle sunk May 15, 1870, has many curious aspects. For instance, though the number of dead was set at five, still no one knows for sure how many persons died of burning or drowning when the flaming ship sank on that black midnight. For though there was a passenger list of people who had cabins this cabin-passenger list was burned. In addition there were a number of deck passengers who might have stayed on the boat only between adjacent towns, and no record was kept of them. But it was estimated there were 40 passengers aboard when the boat sank.

Through Mr. O. Florin of Fountain City I learned that one of the five known dead was Mary Ulrich of La Crosse who apparently was a distant relative of mine; for my Swiss great-grandmother Barbara Ulrich of Fountain City was Mary's aunt, or my grandmother was a first cousin of the unfortunate girl.

The writeup of the catastrophe in the May 16 La Crosse Evening Democrat said that "Mary Ulrich was 18 years of age, an educated, accomplished lady and was on her way up the river to be present at the nuptials of her sister in Alma. The whole community is stricken at her fate. She perished when she leaped from the burning packet into the river clad only in her night clothes." In La Crosse's Oak Grove Cemetery is her headstone on which one can barely decipher "Mary Ulrich... Drowned 1870... War Eagle."

Forty percent of Americans could use psychiatric help in some form such as counseling, Dr. Don Ullie, associate professor of health education, La Crosse State College, told a recent meeting of the Winona County Mental Health Association at the YMCA.

Americans already are receiving guidance from churches, schools and other organizations, said Dr. Ullie whose topic was "Who Are You?" He said there is an increasing percentage of maladjusted children who have the intelligence to get a high school diploma but will not because of their problems.

The speaker said we can get along with each other better if we become more aware of ourselves and our assets such as intelligence, self-control and our community and church activities. He said we can achieve our goals by joining a group, working for the welfare of others and going to church.

Dr. Ullie described Jesus Christ as one of the greatest philosophers of all time. Jesus taught people how to control their behavior, Dr. Ullie said.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Preparation No. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation No. At all drug counters.

No Nobel Peace Prize For 1962

OSLO, Norway (AP)—The Nobel Committee of the Norwegian Storting (Parliament) today announced it had decided not to award the Nobel Peace Prize for 1962.

The prize money has been reserved for next year, the brief announcement said.

No reason was given for the committee's decision, but in the past the prize has not been awarded in times of great crisis.

Informed sources said the committee regarded the world situation as "too labile" that is too unstable—to make any award this year.

Webster's Third International Dictionary defines the word "labile" as meaning: Characterized by a ready tendency toward or capability for change; readily or continually undergoing chemical or physical or biological change or breakdown.

X15 Ready for More Testing

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The X15 rocket plane tries one of its trickiest re-entry braking maneuvers this week in tests to determine whether eliminating its bottom tail fin will help it set new altitude records.

Pilot John McKay will tilt the nose 20 degrees above the windstream—the highest angle of attack yet attempted without the ventral fin. The higher the angle, scientists say, the greater the braking effect.

With the fin, the plane has tilted as sharply as 23 degrees, but pilots said it had a tendency to roll. The highest previous angle of attack without the fin was 15 degrees.

Southern Minnesota's SANDY KEITH

FOR MINNESOTA'S FUTURE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

Every generation produces a number of men who are unmistakably marked for leadership. People of Southern Minnesota have watched with pride as one of their own — State Senator Sandy Keith — has taken his place among these men. Sandy Keith's special quality showed plainly in his performance as State Senator and was recognized by both Liberal and Conservative colleagues when they voted him an outstanding new Senator on the Minnesota political scene.

SENATOR KEITH'S BACKGROUND Alexander M. (Sandy) Keith was born and raised in Rochester, Minnesota, where his father practiced medicine at the Mayo Clinic. Educated at Rochester public schools, Amherst College, where he graduated magna cum laude and Phi Beta Kappa, and Yale Law School. He served as a U.S. Marine officer in Korea, then as assistant legal counsel to Mayo Clinic, and in 1960 formed law firm in Rochester. Serving his fourth year as state senator from Olmsted County Senator Keith understands the problems of Minnesota and accepts the challenge to meet them.

NASON ON EDUCATION

Students Must Communicate

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.
Professor of Education,
University of Southern California

If the ability to express is the mark of an educated man, then the men of the future will have to be largely self-educated.

Employers complain bitterly that high school graduates cannot express themselves clearly in a simple letter without grammatical and spelling errors.

College freshmen, who received A's and B's all through high school, are stunned when their first college English themes come back marked D and F.

FOUR TRENDS are responsible for this decline in communication ability:

- Size of high school classes has been increased to a point where expression by an individual student is held to a minimum. A class of 40 students meeting for 40 minutes certainly cannot devote more than 30 seconds to each student for practice in expression.

- The study-recitation procedure in vogue 50 years ago has been discarded. The student used to study an assignment and his comprehension was tested in the next class period. It isn't any more.

- Progressive education has allowed the student to think in his own way. Thinking accurately on a topic prescribed by another person is a new experience. The student is unable to cope with it.

- Standardized tests, to a large extent, have replaced the essay type examination. Students can receive a high test grade through memory without having to express themselves.

Not all teachers and school systems have digressed to the extreme mentioned above. But too many have. Since change in our schools is always slow, students must initiate the remedy themselves.

HERE ARE some procedures by which students can train themselves in the communicative skills:

- Two freshmen girls, faced with low grades on their first exams, realized they lacked practice in formulating and communicating ideas. They devised a successful scheme.

Although they did their assignments separately, their reviews for tests were a joint effort.

- One, holding the books and notes, asked questions that might appear on the test. The other formulated the answers, with criticism from the questioner. Then they exchanged roles.

- A student can, of course, carry on this procedure by himself. Answering his own questions is especially effective when he takes the trouble to write out the answers. Writing them is practice in written communication—a skill essential to passing examinations.

- In language class a student should spend part of his thinking efforts formulating in the language those questions or statements which he would ask or say if given the opportunity.

- A student can also summarize in his own words the ideas presented by the teacher. If these short summaries are written as notes, every class period becomes a practice session in written expression.

- In reading an assignment a student should recite back to himself the ideas contained in each section of the material. With a little practice, he can readily express the ideas in his own words.

These are procedures through which students can make up for the neglect of such training in our educational system by training themselves.

Few Major Changes In Wake of Cuba

A LATE NATIONAL re-check of Tuesday's election outlook indicates these highlights:

- Republicans are expected to score strong gains in the 35 gubernatorial elections.
- Support of President Kennedy's programs in Congress will drop slightly.
- Little change in the current heavy Democratic majorities in both House and Senate will occur.

A final pre-election review, including last-minute checks with all states after decisive breaks in the Cuban crisis, indicated Cuba was having surprisingly little effect on the elections. The President's popularity was said to be at a high level, but it was not clear how much this would help Democratic candidates.

The biggest gainers from Cuba appeared to be seasoned Congressional incumbents who could point to their experience in a time of crisis. Ironically, Republican Senate leaders Everett M. Dirksen (Ill.) and Thomas H. Kuchel (Calif.) benefitted most clearly from this. Some Republicans, notably Sen. Homer E. Capehart R-Ind., claimed they were months ahead of the President in urging get-tough action on Cuba.

THE CRISIS appeared to have little if any effect on gubernatorial elections, although it permitted former Vice President Richard M. Nixon to return to his favorite subject, foreign affairs, in the hot California contest.

Some Democratic House candidates would doubtless benefit from an increase in the President's prestige, but this factor was hard to identify in any individual district. The decision of the President not to campaign in view of the crisis may hurt some marginal Democrats.

The final checks showed outlooks changing in many states, but in mixed patterns so that party control projections for the Congress and governorships did not change much from previous expectations.

The survey indicated the Republicans have at least an even chance of scoring a grand slam in the major gubernatorial contests, re-electing Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in New York and electing William W. Scranton in Pennsylvania, James A. Rhodes in Ohio, George Romney in Michigan and Richard M. Nixon in California.

IF REPUBLICANS were to win most or all of these key races, plus others apparently headed their way, more than half the U. S. population would have Republican governors. This would create a new base of political strength with an activist states' rights philosophy clearly contrasted to that of the Kennedy Administration in Washington.

Election of men like Rockefeller, Scranton, Romney and Nixon would also create a strong "liberal" Republican voice to compete with the conservative GOP Congressional leadership. They would probably dominate the 1964 Republican Presidential nomination.

The survey identified "doubtful" gubernatorial elections in California, Colorado, Hawaii, Iowa, New Hampshire, New Mexico, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Wisconsin and Wyoming. A stronger Republican trend, adding as many as six or seven new governorships, is possible. Democrats currently control 34, Republicans 16 gubernatorial elections.

IF THE REPUBLICAN outlook is bright on the gubernatorial level, it is equally dark on the Senate level—for the 1962 elections, and as far as gaining control is concerned, for several years to come.

The 100-member Senate currently has 64 Democratic, 36 Republican members. If the doubtful seats split about evenly in 1962, a likely new outlook is 67 Democrats, 33 Republicans—a net gain of three for the majority party. If this occurs, Republicans will not be in shooting distance of Senate control until 1966 or 1968, if then.

The tightest Senate contests are in Colorado, Kentucky, Idaho, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Wisconsin and Utah.

Republicans currently lead in Senate races in California, Illinois, Indiana, New Hampshire and Wyoming while Democrats have clear leads in Alabama, Alaska, Arkansas, Connecticut, Hawaii, Maryland, Massachusetts, Missouri, Oregon and South Carolina. All other seats are considered absolutely safe for the incumbent parties.

ALL 435 HOUSE seats are up and little change is likely in the current lineup of 263 Democrats, 174 Republicans. Democrats are considered sure of winning or lead strongly in 227 races and Republicans in 155.

Another 53 seats are considered doubtful, many of them pure toss-ups: If they divide about as expected the new House will have 255 Democrats (a drop of eight) and 180 Republicans (an increase of six.) The gain and loss figures do not match because the House, now temporarily increased by two seats for Hawaii and Alaska, returns to its normal 435 seats in the 1962 elections.

MANY UNPREDICTABLE factors—even the weather election morning—may change the results by several seats. But unless the Cuban crisis or other developments have created an as yet undetected trend for one party or the other, no major changes are likely.

But they who wait for the Lord shall renew their strength, they shall mount up with wings like eagles, they shall run and not be weary, they shall walk and not faint, Isaiah 40:31.

How Do You Stand, Sir?

Latin-American Support Hailed

By SEN. BARRY GOLDWATER

Administration sources in Washington have observed that Latin-American support for the United States in the Cuban crisis was, according to The Washington Post, "almost unbelievable."

Immediately following President Kennedy's action in blockading Cuba, the Organization of American States voted overwhelmingly to support the United States position. The only hesitant members were those who hadn't been able to establish communications with their governments.

Then, as the crisis deepened, offers of hard, military backing for American moves poured in from the nations of the Western Hemisphere.

It isn't difficult to understand why American officials regarded the firm, immediate and courageous reaction of hemisphere nations as beyond belief. When you think back on how long these same officials had argued that any firm action aimed at the Soviet build-up in Cuba would alienate world opinion, particularly opinion in Latin America, you can see why the so-called "moment of truth" produced results that surprised them.

The fact is that the free world, including Latin America, has long yearned for leadership and resolute action from the United States. And, in taking that action at long last, the United States gained in a few short days more world-wide respect than it has known since the days of our strong stand on behalf of Quemoy and Matsu.

NOT ONLY has United States action gained support from our NATO allies and the nations of Latin America, but the so-called neutral nations have been strangely silent. Always in the past these nonaligned nations have taken considerable satisfaction in sniping at the United States and imputing to us "imperialistic" designs and attitudes. But in the present situation, 45 smaller nations contented themselves with calling on United Nations Acting Secretary General U Thant to try to resolve the crisis.

There can be no doubt that the United States is learning a valuable lesson from the present crisis. The lesson is that a firm stand, backed by strength, is capable of paying heavy dividends in the power struggle between the forces of freedom and slavery. It is a lesson which teaches that slavish and unrealistic deference to the nebulous something called "world opinion" does nothing but play into the hands of world communism.

MANY PERSONS of conservative persuasion have attempted time and time again in the past two years to convince American policy makers that the fear of an adverse rating in the court of world opinion was paralyzing the fight for freedom. Many of us argued, on almost a daily basis, for a policy which would speak from strength in a world where strength is counted the one major common denominator.

But until the "moment of truth" we were always countered with high-sounding, intellectual arguments of the sweetest-and-light variety. For example, after I had complained on the Senate floor last year that the periphery of freedom was growing steadily smaller in direct ratio to our failure to act from strength, Sen. J. William Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, had this to say:

"What would a policy of strength involve? Does it mean a military invasion of Cuba which would destroy the Castro dictatorship, but which would also alienate the rest of Latin America . . . ?"

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Ancient Voting System Delays California Count

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — If the big race between Gov. Pat Brown and Richard Nixon isn't decided until late at night or even the next morning, you can blame not merely the differences in time but the ancient system of California voting, and the California dynasty responsible for it.

It was in 1903 that the Wright brothers first flew the airplane and in the same year that a commission was appointed to study voting machines for California. The airplane is now spanning the continent, and TWA is even running a commuter service between Los Angeles and Chicago. But the voting machines, except in a handful of counties, have not come to California.

The dynasty responsible for this is not the Kennedys of New England but the Jordans of California. Frank Jordan Sr. was secretary of state from 1910 to 1930—30 years. His son, also Frank Jordan, has been secretary of state from 1942 to 1962—20 years—a total of 50 years that the Jordan dynasty has run the voting of California, and in that time it hasn't improved a bit.

This was the reason why Charles E. Hughes went to bed in 1916 thinking he had been elected president, only to wake up next morning to find that California had shifted and Woodrow Wilson was president. It's also one reason, plus absentee ballots, why Nixon in the end won California in 1960 after Kennedy thought he had it.

Secretary of State Jordan, though 74 years old, wants to be re-elected to the job in order to equal his father's 30 years in office.

OSMERS FOR instance put Miss Laura Seltner on his payroll for $301.51 a month, paid by the taxpayers, yet she works full time in the office of the Lanford Printing Co., which does the private printing for Osmers. She has collected a total of $6,341.55 from Uncle Sam, all of it deducted from Osmers' printing bill.

This is not only unfair to the taxpayers who are supposed to pay the bonafide upkeep of a congressman's office, but it also cheats the man who runs against Osmers.

Rep. Berry of South Dakota, who incidentally makes great speeches about government waste, has his private printing done by the Art Press, and put the owner's brother, Paul Baron, on the government payroll. Rep. William Cramer of Florida put Carl Baron, owner of Art Press, directly on the payroll where he has collected $2,972.40 and used it against his private printing bill.

Rep. Victor Wickersham, (D., Okla.), who has a long record of payroll finagling, put Jerolyn Kingery, an employe of Printer Truman Ward, on the government payroll for $425 a month last October and November and for $400 a month in December and January to help pay part of his printing bills.

ANOTHER record that has not been kept straight is the Congressional Record in which Sen. Wallace Bennett (R., Utah), inserted a speech supporting five Utah river projects. Yet believe it or not Bennett voted against the very same projects which he said he supported.

Reason is that Bennett lives a few doors from the Washington apartment of Senate GOP Leader Everett Dirksen and dutifully does Ev's bidding in the Senate. So when it came to the five Utah river projects, Bennett voted against an appropriation benefitting his own state and with the senator from Illinois.

Then in order to fool the home folks he inserted a speech in the Congressional Record supporting the projects he helped to kill.

It's a great game if the voters don't catch up with you. Jimmy Van Zant, the dapper congressman from Pennsylvania, also needs to have the record straight. In the eyes of the Pentagon he's a blabbermouth on government secrets, close-mouthed on private secrets.

He came out of a congressional briefing on Cuba the other day to leak the story of the first Soviet tanker that had been intercepted. Intelligence officer Thomas Hughes had warned that this was confidential, the President wanted to assess the danger in the delicate situation.

Last January Jimmy leaked a story that our Pacific tests were to develop a neutron bomb—again highly classified.

But on Sept. 30 Van Zant announced that he had been a "confirmed bachelor up until marriage to his present wife, Esther Meisenholder in 1947. The marriage records show, however, that the congressman married Frances Schuen of Brooklyn on Jan. 30, 1920, and divorced her in 1947 when he married his second wife.

DECAYS PROVED POINT MIAMI (AP)—Russell C. Faber placed nine decoy ducks on a "pond" outside his office.

He didn't get any ducks, but he did get a sewer.

Voter Deplores Smear Tactics

To the Editor:

Today's mail brought the proverbial straw that broke the camel's back! For weeks the mails have been flooded, the radio and TV programs loaded with smear campaigning — what one candidate has failed to do, — what another is going to do. The public is getting fed up to this kind of stuff. Past experience has taught us two things — the smear candidate if elected is going to find himself just one small toad in a great big puddle; the voter is going to find that the "hail fellow well met" candidate will have lost his interest in the voter, he will no longer slap him on the back or greet him with a glad hand. He will go into office and do what little he can. If he is honest he will work for the good of the public; if he is otherwise he will be swayed by his own personal interest and the influence of other constituents like him. Many voters no longer listen to those candidates who expect to buy votes at the expense of an opponents accomplishments or lack of them. Given a choice my vote will go for the candidate who doesn't smear.

Mrs. Herman Zander Lewiston, Minn.

A Vote for the Youth of Minnesota

To the Editor:

There is considerable misunderstanding surrounding Amendment 2 which will appear on the ballot in Tuesday's election. This is the amendment which would eliminate the unreasonable restriction on the power of the people to provide for the building needs of the State.

Contrary to much that has been said, Amendment 2 does not represent a lessening of controls on spending. In fact, under the new plan it will be more difficult to gain approval for capital improvements than has been true in the past.

For years it required only a simple majority of the House and Senate to authorize building construction. Under Amendment 2 it will be necessary to have a 60 percent majority favoring the plan. This is a substantial improvement. It should be pointed out at the same time that even with the lesser controls that existed, there is no evidence in the present indebtedness of irresponsible spending.

If Amendment 2 fails, the people of the state will be prevented from providing the facilities necessary to the business of the state. Building will come to a halt until such time as a new effort can be made to change the impossible limit presently in effect.

If Amendment 2 fails, there will be thousands of students for whom the state will have made no physical preparation. For example, in 1964 there will be approximately 50 percent more freshmen seeking entrance to the state colleges and the university than there will be in 1963.

It is already too late to make adequate plans for these people. To postpone planning longer will only prove a desperate misfortune for them. If we fail to educate them, it will prove a desperate misfortune for all, for our chief reliance, both for economic prosperity and for national security, is with them.

We are desperately hopeful that all who go to the polls will support this vital need. It is not a vote for institutions—it is a vote for the youth of Minnesota and the future security of the state.

O. Meredith Wilson, President University of Minnesota

Salaries of County Employees Up Average of 41 Percent

To the Editor:

How many of our taxpayers are aware that within the last five years the salaries of Winona County employees have risen an average of 41 percent? Let's review the facts:

| Department | 1941 | 1956 | Increase |
|---------------------------|---------|---------|-------------|
| County Attorney | 10,879 | 4,780 | 74% |
| County Probation Office | 5,973 | 3,600 | 66% |
| Probate Court | 20,131 | 13,000 | 55% |
| Sheriff and Deputies | 41,241 | 26,983 | 53% |
| Superintendent of Schools | 11,419 | 7,740 | 48% |
| County Comm. Missioners | 13,500 | 9,535 | 42% |
| Court Reporters | 5,280 | 3,795 | 39% |
| County Auditor | 21,118 | 14,119 | 32% |
| Clerk of Court | 12,643 | 9,822 | 29% |
| County Assessor | 11,532 | 9,016 | 28% |
| County Treasurer | 15,291 | 12,152 | 26% |
| Register of Deeds | 3,140 | 2,550 | 26% |
| Janitors | 11,700 | 9,740 | 20% |
| Totals | 181,916 | 126,324 | 41% average |

How many know that in addition to the above salaries, the county contributed $32,864.92 in 1961 toward the future retirement of these employees? Add this amount to $183,996.97 and the increase amounts to 66 percent over 1956 compensation costs.

To Your Good Health

Sweets After Meals

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Recently a drug clerk told my sister that there are many cases of diabetes among young people and he attributed this to the fact that they consume so many sweets, candies, soft drinks, etc.

I had always thought that any sugar taken into the body was eliminated via the kidneys. Although my four children eat well-balanced diets of meat and fish, cereals, vegetables and salads, they are often treated to sweets after meals—not as a replacement for meals. I would appreciate your opinion.—L. K.

My opinion is that your sister ought to listen to smarter drug clerks. Sugar doesn't cause diabetes, except to the extent that people who are fat are more likely to develop the disease than those who aren't.

There's substantial reason to believe that diabetes is increasing simply because in the last 35 years we have found out how to keep it from killing people prematurely.

Many who used to die in misery at an early age now live to have children and raise them, and see grandchildren grow up. Heredity plays a big role in diabetes.

Reasonable amounts of sweets aren't dangerous. They are good. Just keep desserts as desserts and there's no need to be fearful.

Dear Doctor: I've heard of arthritis, neuritis and rheumatism, but what do I have? I'm only 14 and I often get a terrible pain in my shoulder. It started about eight months ago and most often comes when I sit still a long time as in church or assembly in school, or when I have a heavy coat on for a long time.—H. K.

If it were arthritis or rheumatism it would be in the joints and worsen with motion; if neuritis, in the nerves, and it would be persistent and in muscular areas. It could be bursitis, too.

Since it comes only when you sit a long time and are feeling bored, or under a strain, let's guess it's muscle spasm or just plain tenseness. Some of us at 14 noticed that an equal amount of sitting at a movie or football game never caused the pain!

How many know that in addition to the above salaries, the county contributed $32,864.92 in 1961 toward the future retirement of these employees? Add this amount to $183,996.97 and the increase amounts to 66 percent over 1956 compensation costs.

DEAR ABBY:

Underwater Marriages

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Approximately 25 years ago, as a United Press reporter, I covered (from the surface) a wedding in which all participants were clad in diving suits of the bulky, weighty type, with helmets and air hoses to the surface. The ceremony took place on the floor of Green Lake in the city of Seattle. The words of the ritual, along with the bubbles, came to the surface over a loudspeaker. A crisis arose when the clergyman's vestments developed a small leak, but he managed to pronounce the happy couple man and wife before the situation became critical. I never did hear whether the marriage remained solid or was dissolved.

Sincerely, WILFRED BROWN

DEAR ABBY: I recall reading about a couple from Atlanta, Georgia, who fell in love while diving, and wanted to be married under water. They had their underwater wedding, but the Methodist Bishop of Atlanta thought they should take "the plunge" in a more spiritual atmosphere, so he married them again, on land, the same day.

MIKE N.

DEAR ABBY: On March 8th, 1954, Bob Smith married Beth Sanger at the Aquarena in San Marcos, Texas. This was, I am sure, the first underwater wedding on record. The bride's flowers, gown and veil had been waterproofed and so had the groom's tuxedo. Even the wedding cake and Bibie were under water, so I suppose they were also waterproofed. They had bridesmaids and ushers just like a dry land wedding. The only difficult part was that they had to have 25 pound weights in their shoes to keep from floating around.

Alan Ladd Injured by Gun Wound

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Detectives say they will question actor Alan Ladd today about how he sustained a gunshot wound in the chest.

Ladd, 49, has been under sedation at Woodland Park Community Hospital since doctors removed a .38-caliber bullet from his chest Thursday night.

The actor was wounded at his Hidden Valley ranch home. Sheriff's Sgt. Bill Cox said evidence indicates the shooting was accidental.

Ladd's physician, Dr. Donald McGillis, said the actor was in "very grave" condition for a time, but that he is now "out of the woods."

Ladd's wife, former actress Sue Carol, said the actor told her he was awakened by what he thought was a prowler. He got up and picked up the gun, but doesn't remember what happened afterward, she said.

UCLA Experts See Business Recession

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sixteen members of UCLA's business faculty predict a minor business recession in the United States in 1963.

Income tax cuts could reverse the trend in the second half of the year, they add.

The predictions were made as part of the Graduate School of Business Administration's annual business forecast.

9 College Sailors Missing at Tokyo

TOKYO (AP) — Nine college sailors were missing and presumed drowned today after two boats disappeared in a race on turbulent Sagami Bay, southwest of Tokyo.

Ten collegians from Waseda and Keio universities were in the two boats. The body of the 10th student was recovered.

Forty-three boats competed in the race Saturday. Five finished the stormy course.

Marcia Roemer Becomes Bride Of David Meyer

WABASHA, Minn. (Special) — Miss Marcia Carol Roemer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd B. Roemer, and David Edward Meyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Meyer, Theilman, Minn., were married Oct. 20.

The Rev. Hilary McNellan, Fairmont, Minn., uncle of the bridegroom, performed the ceremony at St. Felix Catholic Church. Carol Roemer was soloist and Sister Stephen Marie, organist.

MISS PENNY Roemer, sister of the bride, was maid of honor; Mrs. Jack Willis, sister of the bridegroom, matron of honor, and Miss Elaine Sweeney, Rochester, Minn., and Miss Lavada Wodele, Wabasha, bridesmaids. Best man was Charles K. Meyer, Theilman, and groomsmen were James Roemer, Wabasha, Ronald Springer, and Gene Becker, Lake City. Larry Roemer, Wabasha, and Allen Rahman, Theilman, ushered.

Becky Meyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Meyer, Stockton, and Randy Meyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Meyer of Theilman were the miniature bridal couple.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of bombazine and Chantilly lace. The fitted bodice was of lace with a scalloped neckline sprinkled with sequins. The bouffant skirt had a cascade of lace falling into a chapel train. Her bouffant tulle veil was held by a rose shaped crown accented with rhinestones. She carried a cascade of red roses and a crystal rosary.

THE BRIDESMAIDS wore bonbon satin street-length sheaths with satin overskirts and matching headpieces. Their bouquets were tangerine carnations. The bride's gift to her attendants were cultured pearl earrings and a necklace. The miniature bride's dress was styled after the bride's. The bride's mother wore a red dress with black accessories and the bridegroom's mother, a navy dress with black accessories.

A reception was held from 2 to 5 p.m. at the American Legion Club and dinner was served at the Idle Hour.

For travel the bride chose a gray wool sheath with red accessories. Following a trip to Denver the couple is at home at Wabasha. Both are graduates of St. Felix High School and the bride is a graduate of Rogers and Benner and is employed at Marrietta's Beauty Shop at Wabasha. The bridegroom is employed at the VFW Club at Wabasha.

The rehearsal dinner was held at Cox's Resort Oct. 19.

Miss Bagniewski Is Married At Fountain City

FOUNTAIN CITY, Wis. (Special) — Bouquets of blue and white pompons and yellow and rust chrysanthemums were used on the altars of Immaculate Conception Catholic Church for the wedding of Miss Kathleen Bagniewski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alois Bagniewski, Fountain City, and Ronald Northrup, son of Mr. and Mrs. Byne Northrup, 1741 W. Wabasha St., Winona.

The Rev. Louis J. Clarke performed the double-ring ceremony with a nuptial Mass at 10:30 a.m. Oct. 13. Mass servers were Raymond and James Bagniewski, Cochrane, Wis., cousins of the bride. Mrs. James Scholmeier, organist, played traditional wedding music and accompanied the women's choir.

THE BRIDE, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white Chantilly lace over satin designed with fitted bodice, sequin trimmed scalloped sabrina neckline and long sleeves. The full skirt of Chantilly lace and tulle was accented with a white rose at the front and tiers of lace and tulle ruffles at the back. A crown of teardrop crystals held her silk illusion veil and she carried yellow roses on a white prayer book, a gift of the bridegroom. She wore a double-strand necklace of aurora borealis crystals and matching earrings.

Miss Donna Rae Mayotte, Omaha, Neb., was her cousin's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Della Bagniewski, Fountain City, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Jerome Glenna, Hayfield, Minn., the bridegroom's sister.

Their street-length frocks of peacock blue nylon over tafeta were fashioned with scalloped necklines, full skirts, long sleeves and lace jackets. They wore matching veil hats and carried bouquets of blue and white pompons. Their necklaces of aurora borealis crystals and matching earrings were gifts from the bride.

Pamela Northrup, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Northrup, Winona, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. Her dress was identical to that of the bride and she carried a tiny bouquet of yellow roses. Her identification bracelet was a gift from the bride.

William Baechler, La Crosse, Wis., was best man and groomsmen were Gerald Northrup, Brecksville, Wis., brother of the bridegroom, and Rodney Bagniewski, Fountain City, the bride's brother. Allan Mayotte, Albert Lea, Minn., and Roy Northrup, Winona, ushered. Curtis Northrup, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Northrup, Minneapolis, Minn., nephew of the bridegroom, was ringbearer.

MRS. BAGNIEWSKI, mother of the bride, wore a brown dress with white and gold accessories. Mother of the bridegroom wore a multi-colored print jersey dress with white accessories. Their corsages were white orchids.

A wedding dinner for 50 was served at the Fountain City Auditorium, where a reception for 350 friends and relatives was held from 2 to 5 p.m. The wedding cake and four heart-shaped cakes made by Mrs. George Engel were served by Mrs. Elton Pape, Milwaukee, aunt of the bride. Mrs. Raymond Bagniewski, Cochrane, aunt of the bride, registered guests and Mrs. Allan Roiblock and Miss Ruth Horstmann displayed gifts. Mrs. Garry Buerck and Miss Ruth Buerck poured coffee. Mrs. George Engel had charge of kitchen details, assisted by the Meses. Henry Bork, William Kammueler, Charles Guenther, Solomon Stuber, Adolph Horstmann, Stella Sutter and Irene Haeuser. The Meses Delma Dennison, Judy Fetting, Mary Tuxen, Ruth, Jane and Karen Herzberg and Virginia Puts served.

For travel the bride chose a brown three-piece suit with matching accessories. The couple is at home at 5231 7th St., Minneapolis, where the bride, a graduate of Cochrane-Fountain City High School, is employed as a file clerk with Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co. The bridegroom, a graduate of Winona Senior High School, is employed at Ford Motor Plant, St. Paul.

Pre-nuptial parties were given by Mrs. Willard Mayotte, Mrs. Robert Wera and Mrs. John Bagniewski at the home of the bride's parents, and by Mrs. Byne Northrup at Jack's Place, Winona. A dinner for the bridal party was served at Wally's Supper Club, Fountain City, following the rehearsal Oct. 12.

St. Teresa Theater Schedules Tragedy

Lorca's "The House of Bernarda Alba" will open at the College of Saint Teresa Theater Nov. 18 and play for three nights. Miss Eileen Whalen of the speech and drama department is director and John E. Marzocco, technical director. The play opens at 8 p.m. and all seats are reserved for each production.

The play, a tragedy, is concerned with Bernarda and her five daughters and the setting is in Andalusia. Throughout the play no man appears in the house. Male characterizations are suggested by the discussions of Bernarda and her five daughters, a situation which demands dramatic ingenuity.

LORCA, Spanish playwright and poet, wrote this play as a passionate, thoughtful social document. Many of his works, poems and plays, had national import because of his concentration on fantastic Spanish pride, but in this play the disastrous effect of false social values on basic drives and desires is given universal meaning. "The House of Bernarda Alba" is the third play of a trilogy.

Cast as Bernarda, the sanctimonious tyrant mother, is Miss Patricia Travin, a senior and a drama major of La Grange, Ill. Her five daughters are Miss Sharon Naslund, Alexandria, Minn.; Miss Normandy Hamilton, South Minneapolis; Miss Anne Kratch, Winona; Miss Anne Joyce, Rochester, Minn.; and Miss Maureen Holly, St. Paul.

In the figure of Ponia, the servant, played by Miss Earbara O'Brien, St. Peter, Minn., the author subtly indicates the class structure of the society he portrays. The action of the play can almost be seen as a struggle between Bernarda and Ponia for the "house" or family.

Other Tereans in the production are the Misses Margaret Reburn, Ada, Michigan as a servant; Phoebe Yaeger, Wabasha, Minnesota, as Maria Josefa; Melanie Brennan, Chicago, Illinois, as Prudencia; Jerrine Brincer, Carroll, Iowa, as the beggar; and Vera Leytem, Cascade, Iowa, as the first woman; Virginia Tren, Webster Groves, Missouri, as the first girl; and Barbara Lambert, St. Peter, Minnesota, as the second woman.

JACKETS BUTTONED throughout the evening was the military order at the fifth annual military ball held Saturday evening at Winona Country Club. The ball for 150 was sponsored by the Winona Chapter of the Military Government Association. The Henry Burton Orchestra played for dancing after cocktails and dinner. Among guests were, from left, Mrs. John Tlougan, Mrs. Connie Herron, WO Paul Libera, Mrs.

Aurelius Maze and Maj. and Mrs. Stanley Wehrensberg, Wabasha. Capt. Severance Fill, Cresco, Iowa, president of the Winona Chapter, was in charge with Capt. John Tlougan assisting. Commanding officer of the 419th is Lt. Col. Joseph P. Emanuel and executive officer is Maj. A. J. Kiebusch. (Daily News photo)

College Woman Needs Extended View: Mr. Hill

The dilemma of the college educated woman who feels forced to choose between a career and the frustration and boredom of family living was given an idealistic solution by William Hill, instructor in the department of education at the College of Saint Teresa, Friday afternoon.

He addressed 75 members of the college club of the Minnesota Home Economics Association meeting at the college.

MR. HILL suggested the girls adopt an attitude open to all fields of knowledge. He would reinforce this attitude with stimulation supplied by books, social contacts, discussion with a husband who has a well-developed intellectual life, contemplation, good speech, reading, appreciation for art and music.

Mr. Hill described this course as idealistic, but essential for the girl who specializes in her college studies, sometimes to the point of specialization. "It must be a rather heady feeling to realize that, at this moment, you are a national problem. The American female is being studied by sociologists, psychoanalysts, educators and just plain folks—all concerned with enabling the educated woman to lead a normal life in our society," he said. "Alerted to the ever-present danger of over-specialization, the future home economist will actively seek out and eagerly welcome opportunities to expand her horizons, to broaden her views with knowledge beyond her field either through the occasional elective which a rather tight schedule may permit or through reading and by dint of her own effort."

THE GROUP heard Dr. Ruth Palmer, head of the department of Home Economics at the University of Minnesota, Duluth, speak on "Unifying Subject Matter in Home Economics" during the Saturday program. Officers elected Saturday were: President, Miss Rita Akemann,

All this and no taxes too? Elmer Anderson—the spendiest governor in Minnesota's history—has made new promises and endorsed new spending programs requiring $300,000,000 more during the next two years.

BUT: According to Elmer we will have only $110,000,000 in additional tax monies (tax report, Oct. 8, 1962) and he says we won't have to increase taxes. And he says this will balance the budget.

GEORGE FORT'S RECORD

In 20 years of service to Winona County and its people George Fort has established a reputation for fair and thorough law enforcement, he has materially reduced the CRIME RATE IN THIS COUNTY. He has done this by maintaining 24 hour service throughout the County, by prompt action on all complaints, by personal attention to all details of his office, and by the use of skills acquired in a lifetime of law enforcement.

Everyone in the County should be familiar with the fact that hundreds of larceny cases have been solved by Sheriff Fort, the criminals apprehended, and thousands of dollars worth of stolen goods recovered and returned to the rightful owners.

George Fort has solved innumerable crimes: murderers, bank robbers, burglars, safe-crackers, and thieves have all been run down and arrested by him, resulting in almost 100% convictions.

George Fort has never delegated any risky jobs to his deputies, but has personally handled all dangerous assignments.

The routine work of his office has been promptly, courteously, and carefully attended to. All inquiries of whatever nature are promptly taken care of, and his common-sense approach to the work of his office is immediately recognized by persons who contact him. Truly he has served the public well.

As "in" officer of the courts of this County he has expeditiously taken care of the business of the courts assigned to him.

George Fort has given full cooperation to all law enforcement agencies of the State and Nation, and has in turn received from them their fullest cooperation. He is respected by both the Minnesota Crime Bureau and the Federal Bureau of Investigation as a law enforcement officer of the highest caliber.

Here are a few examples of his outstanding achievements which are typical of his work:

He apprehended Ellis Watts at gunpoint after he had shot 2 men, a father and son, 3 miles South of Wyattville. Watts is now serving a double life term at Stillwater for these murders.

George Fort single handedly went into the home of Charles Lorenz, a suspect in an assault with a shotgun upon one John Pealofaki, and arrested him. His detection of Lorenz through plaster casts of footprints at the scene and ballistic tests of the expended shotgun shells was a masterpiece of criminal investigation. While held in jail, Sheriff Fort obtained a confession of murder committed by Lorenz 17 years previously, and for which murder Lorenz is now serving a life term in Stillwater Prison.

GEORGE FORT HAS MADE WINONA COUNTY A BETTER PLACE IN WHICH TO LIVE, and we firmly believe that a vote for him is a vote for strict, competent, fair and impartial law enforcement within Winona County. Certainly his record amply attests to his competence in this elective office.

RE-ELECT SHERIFF GEORGE FORT

Homelike Exterior Graces Modern Design

By JULES LOH

In the rush to bring every new housing development and design to the burgeoning post-war army of eager home buyers, an awful lot of builders have thrown out the baby with the bath water.

Gone are the dim tapestried sitting rooms and parlors (in favor of airy and bright living and family rooms with tile floors and sliding glass doors); gone are the cramped closets, narrow and dark hallways, steep staircases; gone the dirt collecting bathrooms and stuffy kitchens. And good riddance.

BUT GONE along with these primitive horrors are some of the pleasant things, the homey characteristics that make recollection of our childhood homes delightful.

Architect Derick B. Kipp, who designed today's House of the Week, believes the best from the past shouldn't be discarded in place of the new.

"This house retains the 'provincial' look, as architects describe it," said Kipp, "that has remained popular over the years."

He referred to that inviting characteristic that makes you want to come inside and take your shoes off. "But at the same time," said Kipp, "it brings to the homeowner all the newest developments in home design—including split level construction."

BELIEVE IT or not, despite its deceiving roof line, this house is a four-level split.

It contains three bedrooms on the top level plus a fourth on the level below, two full baths and a separate lavatory section which multiplies the use of the main bathroom, a family room complete with a corner fireplace, a basement recreation room, workshop and double garage, besides a handsome living room, dining room and kitchen.

All these features are contained in the old fashioned tradition—under one roof. Living and bedroom levels contain only 1,147 square feet of living area, and the overall dimensions of the house are 61 feet wide by 28 feet 11 inches deep.

ARCHITECT KIPP suggests red cedar shingles with tongue and groove V-joint siding at the front of the house, accented by brick

HOMEY SPLIT LEVEL . . . It has a deceptive roof line, but actually this is a four-level split which combines modern design with a provincial exterior. The house contains three bedrooms, plus a fourth which could serve ideally as a guest room or private apartment for in-laws.

trim. Together with the unusual treatment of doors and windows, this gives a folksey flavor to the up-to-the-minute design.

The bow window that adds charm to the exterior also enhances the living room of the house. This room, 20 feet wide including the footage of the stairs, combines with the 12 foot 10 inch dining room to form a 25 foot 4 inch sweep down the side of the house. An attractive planter divides the rooms, while allowing them to flow together.

The kitchen is compact but a wall oven, counter range and corner refrigerator make every square inch functional. There's even a broom closet, a necessary but often neglected feature, especially in smaller homes.

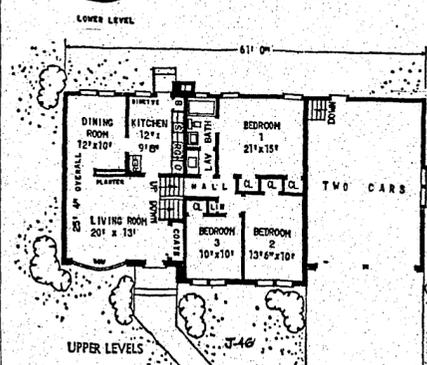

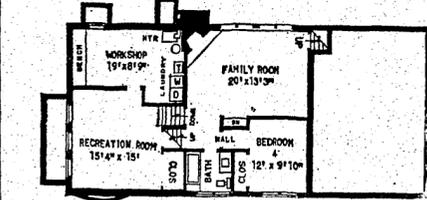

THE LAUNDRY and utility room are directly below the kitchen on the lower level, taking economical advantage of the same plumbing stack (which also serves the main bathroom and lavatory).

Six steps down from the living room is the informal area with its large family room, second bath, and additional bedroom. If not needed as a family bedroom or guest room or private apartment for in-laws, the location of this room makes it ideal for a den.

The corner fireplace plainly enhances the family room, and is in keeping with the homey tone of the house. Adjoining it on one wall are double windows with deep sills and shelves beneath. If you like, the windows could be replaced by sliding doors leading to a rear terrace—but that's up to the whim of the owner.

NOTE THE extra flight of stairs that has been provided so there is direct access from the family room to the garage, and vice versa. This means the kids can entertain without anyone having to come through the house.

Upstairs, three nice size bedrooms are packaged without a foot of wasted space. The master bedroom has a private entrance to the main bath, which itself is partitioned for double duty.

FLOOR PLANS: Living and bedroom levels contain only 1,147 square feet in overall dimensions of 61' wide by 28'11" deep. Note the efficient design of the main bath, which provides a private entrance from the master bedroom, as well as a double-duty lavatory section.

3 New Building Permits Taken Last Week

Only three building permits with a total valuation of $7,900 were issued last week by the city engineer's office.

The largest was taken by George Karsten, 687 Wilson St., for construction of a warehouse and workshop for his contracting business on a tract in Breezy Acres near Highway 14-61 at the east approach to Winona.

THE $4,500 BUILDING will be 36 by 60 feet and will be erected just south of F. A. Krause Implement Co.

Miss Evangeline Heim, 415 Center St., received a permit for construction of a garage estimated to cost $2,800. Ralph Scharmer is the contractor. She also was issued a permit for removal of two sheds.

St., drew the other permit, one for $500 for remodeling a porch.

WITH TWO months remaining in the year, Winona's 1962 building total now is $2,579,595. There have been 22 new house permits issued.

Last year at this time the total was $3,284,268, including permits for 43 new houses.

The only oil burner permit taken last week was by Carney Heating Service for an installation for August Benck, 551 W. King St.

Only new Mighty Mix guarantees a dry basement for 5 years (or your money back!)

Because new Mighty Mix has proven so effective in preventing moisture seepage it's the only product of its kind with a 5-year guarantee.

PROVEN PERFORMANCE: While Mighty Mix is "new", it has been tested for 5 years by hundreds of painting contractors in residential, commercial, industrial uses. Not one failure reported when used as directed.

WHAT MIGHTY MIX IS: A bonding primer for all masonry surfaces, provides waterproof seal when covered with finish coat of approved latex paint.

HOW MIGHTY MIX WORKS: Apply to dry masonry surface. After drying 24 hours, cover with latex finish coat. As coat dries, it penetrates into Mighty Mix primer and two coats crystallize together, forming permanent, waterproof seal.

Becomes more waterproof each time exposed to moisture! This increasing protection contrasts with competing products that deteriorate with each exposure to water!

NO SPECIAL PREPARATION: No wetting required. Unnecessary to scrape or sandblast paint film, even chalking, if surface is firm. No need to "V-groove" floor-wall joints, lapping of joint is sufficient.

EASY TO APPLY: Anyone can apply. No special tools needed. Nylon brush or spray unit will do job. Three simple steps: 1. Brush loose material from surface. 2. Mix primer with water, stir. Apply. 3. After 24-hour dry, recoat with approved latex.

WHERE TO USE: Above or below ground, inside painted or unpainted concrete or block, stucco, plaster, brick, stone. Outside: Above ground.

ADDED BENEFITS: Use new color on basement walls . . . same tasteful decorating as upstairs.

COSTS: Average basement can be waterproofed for $30 (840 sq ft), plus cost of latex finish coat.

FIVE YEAR GUARANTEE: Mighty Mix guarantees dry basement for 5 years when instructions followed, or money back in proportion to length of service.

"Mighty Mix" is available in 5-gallon lots, gallons and quarts. Use "Carousel" Latex Paint for re-coating.

What's New in Building?

By AP NEWSFEATURES

From various sources come these bits of information:

Home builders say the greatest myth they have to counteract is the impression that they're not building houses today the way they did in the old days.

On the contrary, the builders state, the buyer now is getting a better-built, better-designed and better-functioning home than he ever did.

Epoxy resin products continue to make a big dent in the adhesive market. New variations of this type of adhesive are making an appearance every week. The latest is an epoxy adhesive which is applied with two plastic syring-like applicators, one of which contains the resin, the other the hardener.

The manufacturers say the product is a consumer version of a glue which a typewriter company has used successfully since last year. They claim it sets in one minute.

Another epoxy resin, for use in joints between ceramic tiles, is said to be unaffected by food or household chemicals, heat or stains.

Ceramic tile manufacturers say that this eliminates the complaint that the grout used between their tiles previously did not stand up as long as the tiles, especially on kitchen countertop installations.

An auto creeper, useful in spotting and fixing car troubles, can be made quickly and inexpensively. Join 1-by-3-inch lumber in to a 4-foot by 2-foot framework with a cross brace in the center.

Soft water is fine for drinking, cooking, baking, washing clothes, etc. But it isn't as good as hard water for plants. Therefore, if you're having a water softener installed, be sure the plumbing contractor designs the system so that the softened water does not flow to the faucets and hydrants used for watering the lawn and garden.

Does water drip to the floor from your hanging plant pots? Solve the messy problem by slipping a plastic bowl cover (the kind that resembles a miniature shower cap) over the bottom of the pot. Excess water running through the drainage hole will be caught in the bowl cover, which may be emptied in the sink when the draining ceases.

Question: I'd like to make a fiber glass overhang at the rear of our house. The area to be covered is only 12 feet by 12 feet. Can you advise me how to make a simple frame on which a fiber glass roof can be installed?

Answer: It is difficult to be very specific because you did not mention whether the attachment will be made to wood, masonry or brick veneer and whether the supporting posts will be set in dirt or on concrete.

Generally, however, you will need a frame of 2 by 6s, with five 2 by 6 rafters inside the frame. There should be at least two braces between each set of rafters.

These rafters can be pieces of 2 by 4s. One end of the frame should rest on a 2 by 6 attached securely to the house with either lag screws (if a frame house) or expansion bolts (if masonry or brick veneer). The front end of

Pigs Set Off Texas Blast

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—When the Arnold Gerling family brought home three pigs Saturday they had no place to keep them at their West Dallas home. So they locked the pigs in the bathroom.

Mrs. Gerling and her daughters, Linda Lee, 6, and Carole Sue, 5, were in the living room Sunday when the wall between the bathroom and the living room was blown out.

Battalion fire chief Don Ratliff said the pigs apparently had turned on a gas outlet as they roamed around the bathroom and a pilot light touched off the blast. Damage was estimated at $1,000.

The mother and daughters were treated for second- and third-degree burns. The singed pigs were hauled to a slaughter house.

Properties Change Hands at Kellogg

KELLOGG, Minn. (Special)—Properties have changed hands and Kellogg is having another moving cycle.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lavigne, Plainview, purchased the Wayne Schmitz home. The Schmitzs have moved into the Mrs. Lottie Wehrenberg home. Mr. and Mrs. Victor Klein, Plainview, purchased the Mauritz Lindmark home here. The Lindmarks moved into their newly built home here. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Huth moved into the Joy Maahs home. Mrs. Marian Miller, who resided in the Charles Wehrenberg apartment, moved to Wabasha. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pfeilsticker sold their farm to Mr. and Mrs. William Graner. The Pfeilstickers and their family are moving to Roswell, N.M. Mrs. Muriel Krueger is building an addition on her home. Victor Holland is contractor.

The frame should rest on a 4 by 4 set on three 4 by 4 supporting posts. Be sure the frame is pitched to allow for drainage.

In attaching the fiber glass panels to the wooden frame, use the type of aluminum nails which have attached washers. For a 12-foot-wide roof, get the panels which are 144 inches by 26 inches. This will enable each panel to be attached directly to the rafters without any cutting.

Let's Get Growing

Early Winter Comments

This is a good time to start the feeding of our resident birds so they can become accustomed to the feeders before severe weather sets in. A pair of cardinals, as well as several chickadees and nuthatches have been coming to our feeder regularly. The woodpeckers, however, have not yet put in their appearance though they are frequently seen and heard up in the woods.

Those persons who do not start to feed the birds until late in the season, and then wonder why they do not get a greater patronage, should put out their feeders now and keep them well filled. Each winter we receive inquiries from persons who are slow in providing food for the birds asking what can be done to attract a greater number of them.

For about two weeks prior to October 30, a large flock of robins numbering 50, or more, fed daily on the heavy crop of berries on our mountain ash tree. The birds would feed on the berries for brief periods and then fly to nearby trees, or work over the lawn for bugs and worms, then back to the berries again. A flock of about twenty cedar waxwings joined the robins for several days and fed freely with them.

THE TREE WAS completely stripped of berries by October 29, and the waxwings left, but the robins still flew to the tree, or alighted on the ground to clean up the few fallen berries that still remained. On October 30, the robins moved out probably to continue their migration.

As we gather up the fallen leaves to be used for mulching, or applied to the compost pile, we think of the importance of leaves to mankind. The chlorophyll which is the green coloring matter of nearly all plants is the only known substance that can manufacture starch which in most plants is changed to sugars, both necessary products in the life of both plants and animals. The process by which this is done is not thoroughly understood. Flowers, seeds, fruits, wood and other plant products would not be possible without the normal functions of the leaves.

As living associates of our daily lives, leaves have an aesthetic value in their beauty of form and color that cannot be over emphasized. Also, the transpiration of water that takes place through the

Negro Vote Watched In Georgia

By DON MCKEE

ATLANTA (AP)—Political resurgence of Georgia Negroes sharply underscores Tuesday's general election which will put a Negro in the state Senate for the first time in 92 years.

Election of a Negro senator is a certainty since both the Democratic and Republican nominees in Fulton (Atlanta) County's 38th District are Negroes.

Carrying the Democratic banner is Leroy R. Johnson, 38, an attorney. A former school teacher, he holds three college degrees. Johnson won without a runoff in the Oct. 16 primary after a state judge ruled votes had to be counted on a district, not county, basis.

The Republican candidate is T. M. Alexander, 50, insurance company president nominated without opposition in the party primary. This is his second political race. He lost in a 1957 runoff for an aldermanic post.

The last Negro to sit in the state Senate left office in 1876, during Reconstruction. Three Negroes served in the Reconstruction Senate.

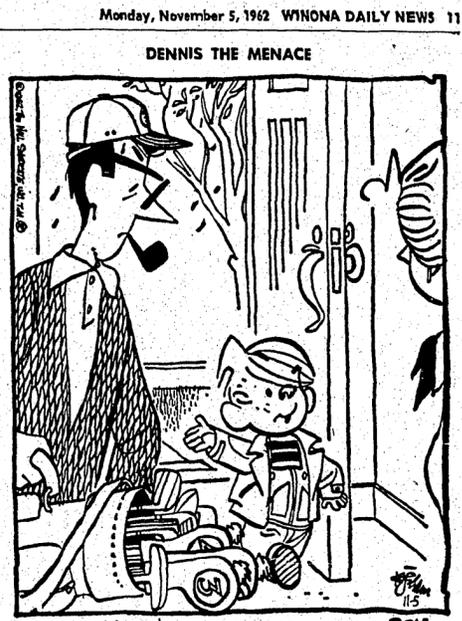

However, 46 Negroes served in the House during and after Reconstruction. About 14 Negroes were elected to the House between 1880 and 1907, the year Negroes lost primary election voting rights.

Georgia's last Negro legislator, Rep. W. H. Rogers of McIntosh County, served from 1902 to 1907. Rogers quit before his term ended after Gov. Hoke Smith pushed through a constitutional amendment denying Negroes the right to vote in primaries—which under a one-party system have controlled elections in the state.

With approval of the "white primary" amendment, Georgia became the last of the Southern states to disfranchise Negroes.

Not until after the U.S. Supreme Court invalidated the "white primary" law in 1946 did Georgia Negroes begin their gradual resurgence as a political factor.

Negro voters now number approximately 205,000 in Georgia, about 15 per cent of the 1,366,000 registered voters. During 1962, about 30,000 Negroes have been registered.

Vote on Three Judges Tuesday; One Unopposed

Winona County voters will help decide the election Tuesday of three judges—one for the 3rd District of District Court and two for the state Supreme Court.

District Judge WARREN F. PLUNKETT, Austin, is seeking re-election to his second six-year term. He is unopposed. He was appointed in 1955 by Gov. Orville L. Freeman and was elected to his first term in 1958. Judge Plunkett is a former University of Minnesota football player. (There are 11 counties in the 3rd District in Southeastern Minnesota. Five judges serve the district.) Seeking re-election as associate justices of the state Supreme Court are Justices William P. Murphy and James C. Otis.

Eklund achieved international recognition as an Antarctic explorer and scientist and was scientific leader in the Antarctic International Geophysics Year from 1956 to 1958.

3 Children, Woman Killed in Fire

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Three children and their grandmother died in a pre-dawn fire Sunday. Police said the blaze apparently started from a cigarette which had been left burning on a chair.

The victims were Mrs. Jannie Moore, 66; Evron Thompson, 6; Dyan Thompson, 3; and Sherry Ann Thompson, 4 months.

The father of the children, Spec. 5 Wakefield Thompson, is serving with the U.S. Army in Germany. Their mother had left the children with their grandmother overnight, police said.

(Editor's Note: This fourth article of Relman Morin's five-part series on the Cuban crisis tells how the United States pieced together evidence of the Soviet military buildup.)

By RELMAN MORIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Imagine a strip of photographic film, 20 to 30 feet wide, some six miles long.

Cut in sections, it is stretched across the floor. Photo analysts on hands and knees, crawl around on the pictures, peering at them through stereomicroscopes, special magnifying glasses. The technicians note any detail of change in terrain. More especially, they look for objects on the sites that weren't there yesterday.

They chart the birth of a crisis, a Soviet nuclear threat to the United States swiftly taking shape on Cuban bases.

Beginning Monday, Oct. 15, says a chief of intelligence, American pilots flew six and seven photo reconnaissance missions over Cuba daily.

"We blanketed the island," he says.

The planes brought back miles of film.

Today, you look at a sequence of pictures taken above a missile site. The first shots show empty country. Then, apparently out of thin air, construction becomes visible in succeeding days—anti-aircraft, a half-completed security fence, prefabricated concrete arches, a hatch plant for making cement, launching pads, fire control bunkers, an earth-molded structure, revetments.

It was this evidence that impelled President Kennedy to declare a quarantine on shipments of offensive weapons to Cuba, and to demand the dismantling of the missile sites already built.

Republicans have attacked Kennedy on the ground that he acted too slowly.

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., says "very hard information" about the Soviet sites was available in mid-September. Sen. Kenneth Keating, R-N.Y., in a similar assertion, said last Sept. 8 that a blockade of Cuba might be necessary.

But a top intelligence agent gives this version:

Late August — Cuban refugees report the arrival of Soviet technicians in Cuba and the erection of rocket launchers. The refugees are carefully interrogated. Checks on the sites show they are surface-to-air launchers, and "cruise sites," coastal missile artillery. Their range is too short to reach the United States.

Mid-September—A U2 plane belonging to the Chinese Nationalists on Formosa is shot down over Communist China. U2 flights over Cuba are suspended "until we could learn what brought down the plane in China."

Did the Russians have some new gadget, capable of reaching and destroying a U2, flying above 70,000 feet? "If so," the officer says, "there was the possibility that we wouldn't be able to get any more high-altitude photos — which are better because they show more — out of Cuba." Low-flying planes, often coming in at altitudes of 300 to 800 feet, continue the surveillance. The officer won't disclose what brought down the U2 in China.

Late September—"We began to be uneasy because of the large numbers of Russian ships coming to Cuba. They never carried missiles on deck, always in the holds. This became apparent later."

Sept. 28—A photo of a Soviet freighter shows some large crates on deck. In the picture, they look cylindrical, like miniature Quonset huts. Evaluation indicates they are probably Ilyushin-28s, a Soviet light bomber, with a range of 750 miles. These crates are unloaded in remote ports, not Havana, and solely by the Russians, not the Cubans.

Late Sept. to Oct. 1 — Cuban refugees report heavy night-time truck traffic on the highways. The freight is covered. It appears to be larger than ordinary cargo.

Early October—bad weather and clouds over Cuba cause a second suspension of the reconnaissance flights.

Oct. 14—A photo mission reveals sites under construction. They are for medium rockets, range 1,000 miles, and for intermediates, range 2,000 miles. On the same day, pictures are taken of the cylindrical crates, seen Sept. 28 on the freighter, now at San Julian airport. Now it is confirmed that the assembly for the IL-28s was in the crates. The missiles and the bombers are offensive weapons.

Oct. 15—These photographs are evaluated in the early evening. They touch off the train of events that led to the quarantine.

"I think, but I can't prove absolutely, that the Russians started the construction work about Oct. 10 or 11," he says.

By Oct. 19, at San Diego: Los Banos, photographs showed 7 missiles, 4 erectors, 100 vehicles, and tents for 500 men. The base became operational in three days, the officer said.

"The problem was to confirm the available evidence, assess the magnitude, and determine the nature of the Soviet threat," he says. He and members of his staff worked 34 hours without sleep to accomplish this, he said.

The Soviet objective was described as "a rapid secret simultaneous deployment" of the missile bases.

"In this day and age," the officer observed, "even the rapid development of a weapons site is a casus belli." (provocation to war.)

Before the end of the week of Oct. 15, the evidence was clear. The President was preparing to present it in his statement ordering the quarantine. Kennedy was ready to make it on Sunday, Oct. 21, but Secretary of State Dean Rusk persuaded him to wait a day, saying it would be difficult to pre-notify all the ambassadors on a weekend.

On Monday, Oct. 22, an hour before the President spoke, representatives of the NATO, SEATO and CENTO alliances were invited to the State Department. Waiting for them was Roger Hillsman, director of the Bureau of Intelligence and Research.

He presented the American findings, showing photographs and slides of the Soviet rocket installations in Cuba. Later, he delivered the same briefing to representatives of the neutral nations. The general impression is that the U.S. case was wholly persuasive.

At 6 p.m., Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin, was called to Rusk's office. He emerged 25 minutes later. Rusk had told him about the arms-blockade of Cuba. The ambassador, normally a bluff cheerful-looking man, seemed shaken.

Says an agent, "We caught them with their launchers down and their rockets showing."

MURPHY, 67, a former St. Paul lawyer and assistant United States attorney, was appointed in 1955 by Gov. Freeman. In 1956 Justice Murphy was elected to his first six-year term by defeating Judge Leslie L. Anderson of Hennepin County District Court.

Opposing Justice Murphy now is WILLIAM G. DRESSEL, 40, who was a Supreme Court candidate in 1958 and 1960. In a statewide plebiscite, Minnesota lawyers have favored Murphy over Dressel, 2-089 to 270.

JUSTICE OTIS, 50, was appointed by Republican Gov. Elmer L. Andersen in 1961. Justice Otis had formerly been on the bench of the St. Paul municipal court and Ramsey County District Court.

Opposing Justice Otis is E. LUTHER MELIN, 76, who is seeking the Supreme Court post for at least the eighth time since the 1940s. Melin has also been a candidate for District Court and for mayor of Minneapolis.

Two-State Deaths

William J. Sturgis CHATFIELD, Minn. — William James Sturgis, 81, former Chatfield resident, died Saturday at Samaritan Nursing Home, Rochester, where he had been a patient for two months. He was born here Jan. 7, 1881, to Ernest and Catherine Sturgis. He married Rhoda Bernard June 2, 1909, in Chatfield. Most of his life was spent as a farmer in this area. He lived at Utica from 1947 to 1957 and had moved from there to St. Charles where he resided until two months ago. Poll Favors Brown in California

By MORRIE LANDSBERG SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—An independent poll favoring Gov. Edmund G. Brown set the stage today for a dramatic finale to Richard M. Nixon's battle for the governorship of California and a political comeback. Nixon, while "supremely confident," suddenly cancelled a series of pep-up visits to Los Angeles campaign headquarters for a no-television appearance on a statewide television network tonight. Brown said Nixon's 11th hour decision "is an admission that he is a beaten man." The setting, if nothing else, recalled Nixon's 1952 "checkers" broadcast. One of Ten Most Wanted Men Captured

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Albert Frederic Nussbaum Jr., 28, alleged bank robber and one of the FBI's 10 most wanted men, has been captured here following a reported tip to the FBI by his mother-in-law. Soon after he was seized early Sunday following a 20-minute high-speed automobile chase by the FBI and Buffalo police, Nussbaum became groggy and was rushed to a hospital, where his stomach was pumped. A physician said Nussbaum apparently had swallowed something to cause the grogginess. No shots were fired. A 22-caliber rifle, ammunition for it and two live hand grenades, were found in the car but Nussbaum surrendered without a struggle, agents said. The Buffalo Courier-Express said it had learned from an authoritative source that Nussbaum's mother-in-law, Mrs. Sylvester Majchorowicz, had telephoned the FBI Saturday night and said her daughter had spoken to Nussbaum on the telephone a short time earlier. The FBI declined to discuss how Nussbaum was located. Nussbaum and Bobby Randall Wilcoxson, 33, of Delray Beach, Fla., who still is missing, are charged with participating in four bank robberies in which a total of more than $100,000 was taken in Buffalo, Washington, D.C. and Brooklyn. Wilcoxson, another of the FBI's 10 most wanted men, allegedly shot and killed a bank guard and wounded a policeman in the Brooklyn holdup.

Child Drinks Kerosene, Dies

WABASHA, Minn. (Special) — Michael J. Sullivan, 19 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sullivan, Wabasha, died Sunday at 10 p.m. at St. Elizabeth's Hospital here after drinking kerosene. Secondary cause of death was pneumonia, according to the findings of an autopsy. The child was with his mother and three sisters at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Blew, Wabasha. Mrs. Blew had placed a pan under her kerosene stove because it dripped. The child picked up the pan and drank the kerosene. He began coughing. Some of the liquid had spilled on his clothes. The mother gave the child milk and then he was taken to the hospital, where his stomach was pumped. Survivors besides his parents are three sisters, Laurie, 3, Barbara, 2, and Susan Kay, 3 months. Funeral arrangements are being completed by Abbott-Wise Funeral Home.

RE-ELECT RAY KOHNER

For County Commissioner 2nd District, City of Winona General Election Nov. 6, 1962

Little Change in Congress Likely

By JAMES MARLOW Associated Press News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP)—The most interesting result of Tuesday's elections should be the effect—if any — on President Kennedy's handling of Congress the next two years. For three reasons: 1. It's been a dull campaign, without burning issues. Then the Cuban crisis snowed it under. 2. Kennedy will be laying the foundations for himself to run again in 1964. 3. The new Congress will probably be like the old: highly conservative, even though run by his own Democrats. Predictions run like this: The Democrats may keep their present Senate margin—64 to 36—and even pick up one or two seats; in the House—where they outnumber Republicans 263 to 174—they may lose a few seats. That's not much change. A Senate pretty much the same and a House with just a few more Republicans won't make any noticeable difference in their attitude toward Kennedy programs. The attitude has been strong support on foreign issues and, in this fairly prosperous society, defeats or melting down on many domestic ones. It was easy to get the impression from Kennedy's campaign oratory that this present Congress was one of the great ones. He glossed over his defeats. The campaign's biggest unanswered mystery, if this was such a whiz-bang Congress, was why he felt he needed even more Democrats elected. Even though the new Congress probably will be much like the old one, Kennedy will have to examine his approach to it. The way it treats his programs may affect his own chances for re-election in 1964. So far he has been an arm-twister to get Congress to go along with him, either by direct appeals or through his aides. He has deliberately avoided personal conflicts with the men thwarting him (this was former President Eisenhower's technique) and he generally refrained from broadcast appeals to get the public to pressure Congress. If he continues to use the same mild technique the results should be about the same because the men in Congress will be pretty much the same. Redistricting Issue in 13 State Elections

By LARRY OSIUS WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislative reapportionment, triggered by a U.S. Supreme Court ruling this spring, moves from the courtroom to the election booth in 13 states Tuesday. While congressional and gubernatorial races catch most of the attention, voters will be making decisions regarding the makeup of their state legislatures in these states: California, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Hawaii, Mississippi, Nebraska, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Oregon, Tennessee, Washington and West Virginia. Most of the proposals would give urban or suburban areas a bigger and sometimes commanding voice in at least one of the branches of state legislatures. But voters in Nebraska, Oregon and West Virginia are being asked to solidify or increase rural strength in the statehouse. In most cases the referendum and constitutional amendments being voted on were in the works before the Supreme Court ruled last March that legislative apportionment is a legitimate matter for federal courts to consider. That ruling touched off some 70 lawsuits across the nation, most of them aimed at breaking rural control of the legislatures. Some of the elections, like the key test in Florida, are a direct result of the ruling. A three-judge federal court in Florida found that the present apportionment violated the rights of city dwellers because urban legislators represented far more voters than their country cousins. The legislature came up with a plan which the judges approved and which Florida voters will decide on Tuesday. It increases the House from 85 to 135 and the Senate from 38 to 46 with most of the new seats going to urban areas. These are the proposals placed before the voters in other reapportionment elections around the nation: CALIFORNIA — An increase in the state Senate from 40 to 50 with most new seats going to large population centers. COLORADO — Two plans, which may require a court ruling if both are approved. One would give the Denver area four more senators and split House districts into roughly equal population areas. The other would create a three-man commission to enforce apportionment after every census, but would permit a variation of 33 per cent or more in the population of House districts. GEORGIA — The Senate reapportioned itself at the direction of a federal court, but checked to the voters an amendment that would permit all the representatives of one county to be chosen on a county-wide basis. At present they must be chosen by districts within the county, a situation which has led to the probability that a Negro will be elected to one of Atlanta's seven Senate seats. HAWAII — A constitutional amendment changing the boundaries of two legislative districts. MISSISSIPPI — Increases senate from 49 to 82, leaves House at 140, but re-draws district lines. Net effect: Stronger rural control of Senate, increased—but not majority—urban strength in House. NEBRASKA — Would make area a factor in apportioning nation's only one-house legislature, thus weakening urban representation. At present population is the guide set forth in the state constitution, though city folks protest it has not been followed. NORTH CAROLINA — Requires automatic reapportionment of the House after every census, but under the present constitutional formula which favors rural areas. OKLAHOMA — Would give a commission powers to enforce reapportionment under the present constitution, which would give urban voters a bigger voice in houses. OREGON — Like Nebraska's, the proposal would add area to the present standard of population in drawing legislative districts, giving rural elements increased relative standing. TENNESSEE — Calls for a constitutional convention in 1965 to consider present apportionment formula. WASHINGTON — Would realign districts in both houses to increase urban representation. WEST VIRGINIA — Would make constitution conform with what the state legislators have been doing since 1901—giving every county—regardless of population—a seat in the House. Present constitution, if followed, would combine smaller counties into districts, giving urban counties more relative strength.

Three Racing Events Vie For Attention

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Three championship events will compete for attention in racing this weekend when Never Bend and Smart Deb attempt to clinch the 2-year-old championships in their divisions, and Kelo, Carry Back and Beau Purple meet 10 foreign stars in the Washington D.C. International.

The star spangled weekend gets under way Saturday with the $125,000 - added Garden State Stakes featuring Cain Hoy Stable's Never Bend at Garden State Park. On the same afternoon at Laurel, Mrs. Russell Reinegan's Smart Deb will head the line-up for the $30,000-added Sellma Stakes for Juvenile Fillies.

The International, bringing together the leading older horses from nine countries, is an invitational global classic worth $125,000 to be raced next Monday on the Laurel grass course.

Never Bend proved he's far and away the best juvenile colt now in training when he humbled 13 rivals last Friday in the Garden State Trial. He won as jockey Manuel Ycaza pleased, by five lengths, and should be the shortest priced favorite in the history of the Garden State Stakes.

Carry Back was beaten a nose Saturday in the $68,800 Trenton Handicap at Garden State, but ran one of his biggest races. He was pinched back at the start, almost went down, but rallied from last place under top weight of 129 pounds. After heading Montpelier Farm's Mongo in the stretch, he lost a photo verdict right on the wire. Mongo, who packed only 118 pounds, paid $12.80.

Louis E. Wolfson's Royal Partridge ($15.10) circled her field at Aqueduct and won the $7,300 Ladies Handicap by a length from Thomas F. White's Waltz Song. Meadow Stable's Cicada, the favorite, set the early pace but tired and finished fifth.

Relaxation, Rest Support Wings' Wins

DETROIT (AP) — Coach Sid Abel's theory of extra rest and relaxation is paying off as a third period tonic for the undefeated Detroit Red Wings.

Abel went into this season with the realization hockey players are a sturdy lot who can dissipate their tremendous endurance.

"So I decided to give my boys a few more days off between games and take it a little easier on them in practice sessions," said Abel after the Red Wings rallied from behind for Sunday night's 3-1 conquest of the Chicago Black Hawks.

Abel's plan has given the Red Wings, current leaders of the National Hockey League, added stamina.

This season the Wings have made an astonishing turnaround. All three goals that beat the Black Hawks came in a 2½-minute span of the third period. The night before Detroit rallied for four goals in the final period for a 7-3 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs.

In Sunday night's other game, the fifth-place New York Rangers edged the last-place Boston Bruins 4-3.

Ragan Captures Beaumont Tourney

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—Dave Ragan put his second shot 18 inches from the pin on the 16th hole and won his second tournament in a seven-year golfing career—the $20,000 Beaumont Invitational.

It was this shot plus a hook by Lionel Hebert on the same hole that proved the turning point Sunday in a tournament that saw Ragan finish with a 2-under-par 70 for a 72-hole score of 283 and $2,800 first money.

Hebert was tied for second place by Don Massengale of Jackboro, Tex., who had a closing 67 over the 6,656-yard Tyrrell Park Municipal Course, and Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., who finished with a 73. The trio each had 286 and each won $1,500.

La Crosse Cuts Whitewater's Winning String

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A blocked conversion try in the final minute Saturday night enabled La Crosse to edge Whitewater 21-20 and hand the champion Warhawks their only Wisconsin State College Conference football loss of the season.

The game, wrapping up league competition for the campaign, gave Whitewater a final conference standing of six victories in seven starts. La Crosse finished in fifth place with a 4-3 record.

In final action, against Minnesota opposition, River Falls tied

(Ties not counted in percentages)

Winona 13-13. Stout fell before St. Cloud 21-12 and Plattville took a 41-0 pounding from Mankato, Wisconsin-Milwaukee lost to Bradley 20-6.

Superior closed Friday night with a 35-15 triumph over Bemidji of Minnesota. Other loop teams wound up action the weekend before. La Crosse and Whitewater finish this Saturday against Northern Illinois and St. Norbert, respectively.

Jim Edwards kicked three extra points for La Crosse, two of them after touchdowns by Neil Nelson. John Martinek made a touchdown and kicked two extra points but his final try was blocked.

International Set Takes over Boxing

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The international set takes over the week's boxing program with Mick Leahy, a rare Irish import, fighting the main event in New York's Madison Square Garden. Garden publicity men say Leahy is the first import from Ireland since the days of Jack Doyle, the Irish thrush of yesteryear.

Leahy, a 27-year-old middleweight with a 44-11-5 record, meets Jimmy Archer, a Bronx Irishman whose ancestors departed Eire many years ago. Their 10-round bout will be carried on network TV (ABC) at 10 p.m. (EST) Saturday. Archer, 24, has lost only one of 32 bouts.

Sugar Ray Robinson, formerly the welterweight and middleweight champ of the world, continues his efforts to turn back the clock when he boxes George Estafat of France at Lyons on Saturday. Robinson is making the grand tour, picking up loose change along the way.

Three From Bench Try to Tackle Runner

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — Even the reserves got into the act on Johnny Anderson's 84-yard scoring punt return Friday night for Covington High School against William Fleming High.

The punt hit a Fleming player's leg, and an official threw his hat to mark the spot.

While the Fleming team looked on, thinking play was dead, Anderson picked up the ball and raced all the way to score. Three Fleming players came off the bench to the aid of their teammates on the field and tried to tackle Anderson, but he eluded them.

P.S. Fleming won anyway, 7-6.

Tense Nerves Block Bowels

New laxative acts on colonic muscles... de-constipates overnight.

The muscular wall of your colon contains nerves known to medicine as Auerbach's Plexus. In regular people, these nerves tell the colon muscles to propel and expel waste from the body. But tense nerves or emotional upset can block your normal bowel habits. Your colon muscle impulses are no longer strong enough to eliminate waste—which dries and shrinks, further aggravating the condition.

Relief, doctors say, lies in the non-irritating, de-constipating principle of a new tablet called COLONOID. Of all leading laxatives, only COLONOID gives you its special 3-way overnight relief for tension-caused constipation.

(1) COLONOID stimulates your colonic nerve network, to further activate and regularize the muscular "movements." (2) COLONOID's unique re-bulking action helps re-tone tense colonic muscles. (3) COLONOID moistens for easy passage without pain or strain.

COLONOID relieves even chronic constipation overnight. It is so gentle it was hospital-proved safe even for expectant mothers. Get COLONOID today. INTRODUCTORY SIZE 43¢.
