Who'll Be Governor? Even Canvassing Board Doesn't Know

By GALE TOLLIN
MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Party chairmen argued. Citizens of the state waited and wondered. At street corners and coffee breaks, friends asked "What's the latest on governor?"

The gubernatorial election was as much in doubt today as it was before the election 13 days ago. The contest between Republican Gov. Elmer L. Andersen and his Democratic - Farmer - Labor challenger, Lt. Gov. Karl Rolvaag, was anybody's race.

With official canvasses completed in all counties but Hennepin, the vote was Rolvaag 619,707 and Andersen 619,667.

Rolvaag's 98-vote lead was pared to 40 this weekend and party chairmen haggled over legality of some of the canvassing board action accounting for the reduction. It became more and more likely the final outcome would be determined by court action for a statewide recount, and not by the state canvassing board meeting Tuesday.

In an election drawing nearly 1 1/2 million voters, it was ironic that one focal point today was Pierz, a Morrison County village with less than 1,000 population.

Mrs. Leo Weber, an election judge at Pierz, signed an affidavit saying she believes the village tabulation of Rolvaag 212, Andersen 171 was reversed. If she is correct, Andersen would have a 42-vote lead instead of a 40-vote deficit.

John Simonett, Little Falls, a member of the Morrison County GOP Committee, said he will file Mrs. Weber's affidavit today with the county canvassing board. County Auditor Leo Billstein doubts the board will take any action before the state canvassing board meets.

Billstein noted that George Farr, state DFL chairman, had charged Saturday night that changes by some canvassing boards were invalid because Rolvaag was not notified ballot boxes would be opened again.

Said Billstein: "I don't want to get into that kind of a mess."

Farr said state law requires notification when ballot boxes are opened for re-evaluation. This wasn't done, he said, in the counties of LeSueur, Grant, Blue Earth, Koochiching and Douglas.

In each of those counties, Farr said, the changes favored Andersen. This coincidence also was observed by Robert Forsythe, state GOP chairman.

"The DFL chairman didn't mention Nobles County, where Karl Rolvaag picked up 20 votes, and Stearns, where Mr. Rolvaag picked up 100 votes," Forsythe said. "Yet the same procedures were apparently followed, but under DFL initiative."

Farr also raised the question of legality in recalling a county canvassing board and submitting a new county total to the state board.

"It would seem," Forsythe said, "the DFL is in the position where they do not want the public to have as accurate a count as possible of the votes for governor when the state canvassing board meets."

In all of the instances where canvassing boards have reconvened, they have done so where an obvious error was involved in either counting or tabulating the votes. The DFL apparently would want the county and state canvassing boards to ignore obvious errors and to certify an erroneous final vote count."

Forsythe added that in all cases the GOP checked, it was found that DFL personnel were present and indicated they represented Rolvaag and the DFL.

Since the day following the election, Rolvaag and Andersen have never been more than a few hundred votes apart in unofficial and, later, official tabulations. The lead switched often from one to the other. At the middle of last week, Rolvaag held a 275-vote margin.

Then some of the canvassing boards began rechecking. Rolvaag's lead gradually dwindled. It was down to 98 Saturday.

That night, new figures came out of LeSueur and Grant counties.

The reconvened Le Sueur canvassing board reported the first ward in Le Center should be Andersen 290 and Rolvaag 229—instead of the previously reported Andersen 238, Rolvaag 230. This made a net gain of 53 votes for the Republican candidate.

The Le Sueur County auditor, A. J. McCabe, noted at the time that legality of reconvening the once adjourned canvassing board may be open to question.

In Grant County, the canvassing board turned up a change in figures from Roseville Township. The new count added five to Andersen's total and left Rolvaag's figure unchanged. Auditor C. J. Lynne said the error was found in the normal course of the canvassing board's work, and before the group adjourned.

In past elections, there were no second looks at "official" county canvassing board results. But also without precedent is the closeness of the vote. The victory margin in past elections has been in the thousands of votes.

Normally the election process is over when the state canvassing board meets and declares candidates elected. This year, the board's action will mark only the beginning of the final test. After the board meets, candidates have 10 days to begin court action.

Andersen has named Tom Swain, his onetime campaign manager, to represent the governor in the maneuvering this week. Swain took leave of absence from his position as state commissioner of business development.

Rolvaag, who left for a Mexico vacation shortly after the election returned to Minnesota Saturday and is in position to watch out for his interests.

Shakeup in Party Asked by Nikita

By REINHOLD ENSZ
MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev told the Soviet people today his planners will continue to put primary emphasis on heavy industry and presumably armaments rather than consumer goods.

But he also said fresh efforts will be made to put more food and other consumer goods in the shops.

Addressing a special meeting of the Communist party Central Committee, he asserted that both segments of the economy—heavy industry (which supplies the armament industry) and consumer goods production—must be stepped up through more effective work by local Communist party officials.

The premier called for "radical measures" to shake up the party's organization and work patterns. He said modern times demand this.

"Old organizational forms," he declared, "are, to a degree, becoming a drag on the party's guidance of production."

The meeting of the powerful, 175-member Central Committee was called for the specific task of putting more life into the economy, much of which has been hindered and stifled by excessive bureaucracy but even more by lack of investment capital.

Revealing next year's production plans, Khrushchev said there should be an 8.5 per cent increase in capital goods. For consumer goods the proposed increase is 6.3 per cent.

Khrushchev said capital investment would total more than 33 billion rubles. (One ruble is officially valued at $1.11).

As for agriculture, he called for an increase of 32 million acres under field crops.

The meeting was behind closed doors. Khrushchev's speech was reported by the Soviet news agency Tass. The session is expected to last the rest of the week.

On the eve of the meeting, the Communist party organ Pravda had defended the government's Cuban rocket withdrawal and accused Red China of siding with the imperialists. The article also made an implied attack on Red China's border war against India.

Paris (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle today emerged from the first round of the National Assembly elections with a new and resounding victory over France's old line political parties.

The Gaullist Union for a New Republic (UNR), with a one-plank platform of unswerving loyalty to De Gaulle, displaced the Communists as France's strongest political party.

The UNR won 50 of the 104 seats decided Sunday and led in 134 of the 369 districts of metropolitan France where runoffs will be held next Sunday. The party's share of the popular vote nearly doubled, from 17.5 percent in 1956 to 31.9 percent.

Although Interior Minister Roger Frey predicted the UNR would wind up with a majority in the 481-member assembly this appeared unlikely. Even if it won all the runoffs in the races in which its candidates led, it would still be about 60 short of a majority.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cool culture comes to the White House today.

A jazz concert—the first ever held in the stately old executive mansion—will be presented by a young sextet that wants President Kennedy to keep on sending U.S. jazzmen abroad in the cultural exchange program.

The jazz session is the fifth of a series of Concerts for Youth sponsored by Mrs. Kennedy.

Sons and daughters of ambassadors and chiefs of diplomatic missions here will join the children of Cabinet officials for the late afternoon concert in the East Ballroom.

Leader of the sextet is Paul Winter, 23, a saxophone player from Altoona, Pa. A 20-year-old Korean pianist, Ton Il Han, will be featured.

Winter and his buddies, college students from Chicago area universities, won an international jazz festival award in 1961. As a result, they were sent on a tour of Latin America last winter.

They were the first student jazz group sent abroad under a student exchange program and the enthusiasm with which they were received started them.

Rolvaag Asks Restraining Recount Order

ST. PAUL (AP) — The Minnesota Supreme Court held a hearing today on a restraining order sought by Lt. Gov. Karl Rolvaag preventing the Watonwan County canvassing board from rechecking the votes in one precinct.

Rolvaag, DFL candidate, is in a close battle with Republican incumbent Gov. Elmer L. Andersen for the governorship.

The court's decision is expected to affect such recounts completed in at least a half dozen counties which have sent amended totals to the State Canvassing Board.

The Watonwan board was to have met at St. James.

Rolvaag obtained the restraining order from District Judge L. J. Irvine of Fairmont.

Sydney Berde, assistant to Rolvaag, said he would go before the high court to ask confirmation of Judge Levine's action. Berde's main contention is that county canvassing boards have no legal authority to reconvene after they once adjourn.

Members of the Watonwan board had assembled for the 9 a.m. meeting when the restraining order forced a halt. The meeting had been called to look over votes cast in one St. James precinct where C. Donald Peterson won over his lieutenant governor DFL opponent, A. J. Keith, while Gov. Elmer L. Andersen finished second to Rolvaag, DFL challenger.

The gubernatorial election was as much in doubt today as it was before the election 13 days ago. With official canvasses completed in all counties but Hennepin, Rolvaag had 619,707 votes and Andersen, 619,667.

Rolvaag has asked the state canvassing board not to consider any recounts submitted on supplementary abstracts by other county canvassing boards. Le Sueur, Grant, Blue Earth, Koochiching, Douglas and Olmsted counties have conducted such recounts after certifying their original totals to the secretary of state.

Cuba Grounds Private Planes

WASHINGTON (AP) — A primary reason behind the Cuban government's grounding of domestic aviation may be radar difficulty in detecting and tracking U.S. reconnaissance planes.

The planes were grounded Sunday, following Premier Fidel Castro's warning late last week that surveillance craft flying over Cuba will be destroyed.

Low and high flying American reconnaissance planes, keeping tabs on former missile sites and other military developments, aroused Castro's ire.

Military radar for locating and tracing aircraft has been installed recently by the Russians for Cuba but there appears to be some question about its efficiency in its present form.

Military radar must be able to separate friendly or false targets from a true target. This requires considerable "sophistication" in the equipment and in the ability of crews to interpret radar signals.

There were these other developments touching on the Cuban situation:

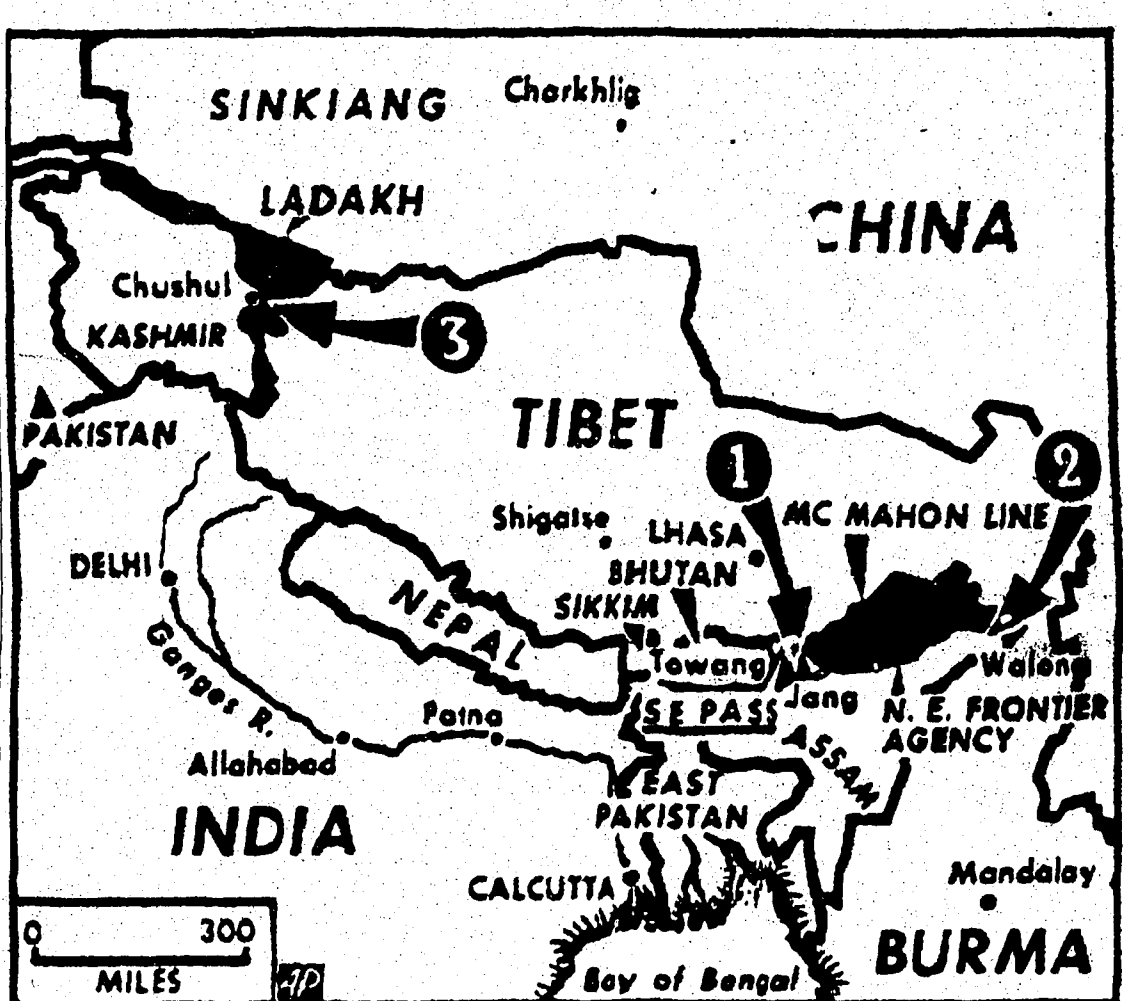

Rep. Bob Wilson of California, chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, said the U.S. must encourage Cuban refugees to invade Cuba at some future date and drive communism out of the hemisphere.

In an article in the Communist party organ, Pravda, in Moscow, the Soviet Union defended its withdrawal of missiles from Cuba and accused Red China of siding with the imperialists.

A claim that withdrawal of Soviet missiles from Cuba has saved peace was described as "pure nonsense" by Peking People's Daily. The official Chinese organ charged that the "grave threat of U.S. aggression against Cuba persists" and that the Cuban crisis "is far from being over."

John M. McCloy, chairman of President Kennedy's coordinating committee on the Cuban crisis, was the luncheon guest of Vasily V. Kuznetsov, Soviet first deputy foreign minister at the Soviet U.N. delegation's Long Island country house in Glen Cove. McCloy said it was just a social visit.

Chinese Cut Off Indians' Retreat

CHINESE RED ADVANCES... Red China's East Frontier Agency battleground. In Ladakh, Indian frontier map locates Chinese offensives as they outflanked Indian troops at Se Pass (1). Another Red spearhead advanced beyond Walong (2), some 300 miles east of Se Pass in the North Map)

Reds Moving Toward Vital Oil Deposits

By HENRY S. BRADSHAW
NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Chinese Communists have cut off Indian troops retreating from their overrun defense positions on the Se Pass and fighting is now going on 32 air miles to the southeast, in the outskirts of Bomdila, a Defense Ministry spokesman announced today.

The Indian army had planned to place its next defense line behind Se Pass at Bomdila, but the surprise Chinese sweep around the northeast end of the defenses brought the attackers Sunday night to Bomdila.

The spokesman said Bomdila is now threatened.

Indian troops from Se Pass, caught between two Chinese forces, are now trying to fight their way back to a link with the Indians around Bomdila.

Prime Minister Nehru had announced earlier the fall of the vital Himalayan Se Pass to a prong of a massive Red Chinese offensive probing toward the densely populated plains of Assam.

The Chinese outflanked Indian troops on 13,756-foot-high Se Pass, forcing them to withdraw, Nehru told Parliament.

The loss of the pass came as the Chinese Communists, attacking in waves, pressed their renewed offensive at both ends of the 1,500-mile frontier stretching from Burma to Kashmir.

At the eastern end of the battle line, the Chinese posed a separate threat to the Assam plains in an advance of 12 miles from the key defense post of Walong, which they captured Friday. Walong lies some 300 miles east of Se Pass.

In Ladakh, at the northwest end of the disputed border, the Chinese have taken an outpost guarding a vital Indian airfield at Chushul and fighting is continuing in the area, Nehru said.

His announcement of the new reverses came after a speech Sunday night in which he said the Chinese offensive is threatening Indian independence. He said other countries are now beginning to realize that this is not a border dispute but "naked, crude and shameless aggression."

A Peking broadcast quoted Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai as saying U.S. arms aid to India will enlarge the conflict "to the detriment of the Chinese and Indian people and of the Afro-Asian peoples." About $5 million worth of badly needed infantry weapons have been flown to India by the United States.

Peking radio claimed that after capturing Se Pass the Chinese pressed their advance to the southeast in the direction of the Indian army's advance headquarters on the Dhrang River.

The Indian army was reported planning to put their next defense line in this area of the northeast frontier district at 8,726-foot Bomdila, on the next ridge of an Indian-built road running to Tezpur on the Assam plains.

The fall of Walong near the Burma border came after the biggest battle since the Chinese first struck.

Western Europe Farm Policies Under Fire

PARIS (AP)—The United States West. It warned that Washington has the power to take retaliatory measures.

The American view was outlined in a talk prepared by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman for delivery to the agricultural committee of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development. Its membership is made up of Western European countries, Canada and the United States.

Freeman's talk had been approved by President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

"Not only maintenance of trade but the continued unity and strength of the Western world is at stake," Freeman told the meeting.

He said the United States was concerned particularly about farm policies being developed by the European Common Market composed of France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands, and Luxembourg. Great Britain may become a member soon.

West European producers of wheat, feed grains, rice and poultry—major U.S. exports to that area—are being given preference over American and other outside suppliers through imposition of import levies.

Steps being taken by the Common Market, Freeman said, "are going to be the largest single factor determining whether the agricultural systems of the world are mindful of the need for international harmony or whether agriculture retreats into a shell of nationalism."

The United States, he said, has a policy of promoting liberal world trade. Furthermore, he said it believes the balance of the non-Communist world should follow a similar policy.

REFUEL THE ROCKET... Only a fully-fueled rocket can do the job it's intended for. Likewise only a fully subscribed Community Chest can adequately answer the call for assistance. Today Chest leaders reported $96,320 of the $136,000 fund pledged or 73 percent of the total. Again they emphasized the danger of the drive falling short if it is permitted to lag over the Thanksgiving holiday. If pledges from cards outstanding match the contributions of those already in, the campaign will go over the top, team captains said.

BRITAIN SUPPLIES ARMS TO INDIA
LONDON (AP)—Britain is supplying arms to India "solely for the purpose of meeting Chinese aggression" and they are to be returned when this threat is ended, the Commonwealth Relations Office announced Sunday night.

The announcement noted the United States was shipping arms to India on the same basis.

7 EXECUTED IN INDONESIA
JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Indonesian authorities said Sunday the execution of seven Darul Islam rebels closes the books on the attempted assassination of President Sukarno last May 14.

The Central Army Information Service said the executions were carried out Aug. 16, Sept. 5, Sept. 7 and last Wednesday.

Six Dead in Accidents In Wisconsin

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Weekend highway accidents claimed at least six lives in Wisconsin as the state's traffic toll for the year rose to 831 compared with 791 on this date a year ago.
Dennis Burg, 19, of Route 1, Rubicon, in Dodge County, died in a Hartford hospital at 1:30 a.m. today of injuries suffered in an accident early Sunday morning on the Buchanan Road three miles southwest of Hartford. Authorities said he apparently lost control coming over the crest of the hill and was thrown out as the car rolled 110 feet.
Thomas McCabe, 30, and Mrs. Ruth Belanger, 38, both of Milwaukee, died early Sunday in a two-car collision on Highway 59 in Brookfield, Waukesha County. McCabe was alone in his vehicle while Mrs. Belanger was in a car driven by her husband, Curtis, 39.
Eastman R. Cornelius, 31, and David Minham, 32, both of rural West De Pere, were injured fatally Saturday night when a car struck a utility pole after leaving Highway 54 about a mile east of Oneida, Brown County.
Reported previously was the death of Kenneth Christenson, 19, of Black River Falls in a car-truck collision near Black River Falls Saturday morning.

The bridge is on Trempealeau County Trunk Q. The project includes grading and base course on a .212-mile section of the county trunk running south from Independence. The bid includes everything but surfacing the approaches.
The new bridge will be located near the present one, which is old and limited on weight. It is unsafe for fire trucks and other heavy vehicles. Bids on the project were opened by the state Highway Commission.

Moisture Possible For Thanksgiving

Near normal temperature but intermittent light rain or snow is the weather prediction for the Thanksgiving holiday in the Winona area.
A forecast of near normal temperatures are predicted for the Tuesday through Saturday period with .20 of an inch of light rain or snow, mostly after midnight.

VARIABLE cloudiness is expected to prevail tonight with a low temperature in the 20s. Tuesday will be partly cloudy and a little warmer, the weatherman says, with a high of 40.
Partly cloudy and mild is the outlook for Wednesday.
The weekend temperature hovered around the freezing mark with a Saturday high of 36 and a Sunday top of 33. The low Sunday morning was 30 and this morning 29. At noon the thermometer said 32.
A few snowflakes were in evidence on several occasions Sunday morning.
A year ago today the high in the city was 38 and the low 12 with three inches of snow on the ground. All-time high for Nov. 19 was 73 in 1930 and the low for the day 2 in 1914. Mean temperature for the past 24 hours was 31. Normal for the day is 32.
An inch of snow fell at International Falls this morning where the low temperature was 18. Weather was cloudy in other communities. Rochester posted a low of 24 after a high of 31 Sunday and La Crosse had readings of 30 and 30 for the same times.

Weekend Auto Crashes Raise Toll to 593

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Deaths over the weekend of a Shakopee girl and men from Kettle River, St. Paul and Sauk Rapids as a result of separate accidents raised Minnesota's 1962 traffic toll to 593, compared with 660 through this date last year.
Janice Farrell, 15, Shakopee, was killed Sunday afternoon when the car in which she was riding skidded off a Hennepin County highway north of St. Bonifacius and rolled over. The driver, Duane L. Kahmeyer, 15, Waconia, and another passenger, Sharon Dorr, 15, Shakopee, were hospitalized in fair condition.
Ralph Reinart, 29, Rt. 2, Sauk Rapids, died in University of Minnesota Hospitals of injuries received Oct. 3 in St. Cloud, when the truck he was driving was struck by a Great Northern passenger train.
Raymond T. Kwapick, 36, Kettle River, driver of one of the cars involved, died in a head-on collision 12 miles south of McGregor on Gravelly Highway 27. The accident occurred at the crest of a hill.
The Highway Patrol said the other car was driven by Dale R. Switzer, 26, Lakeview, Minn., who was hospitalized with a skull fracture and a broken leg. Leonard Micholski, 32, Sturgeon Lake, Minn., a passenger in Micholski's car, apparently escaped serious injury.

Silo to Vote On Lewiston Debt Nov. 25

LEWISTON, Minn. — Silo rural district, whose consolidation with Lewiston High School was approved by the Winona County Board of Commissioners Nov. 5, will vote Nov. 26 on whether to assume the Lewiston debt, according to County Superintendent of Schools Jesse Jestus.
Jestus said he expects this week to decide what to do with a request received last Tuesday from St. Charles school board to make a consolidation plan with 11 rural districts — Utica, Clyde, Worth, Elba, Oak View, Dublin, Saratoga, Summit, Pagel and Vowels, Winona County, and three, Olmsted County.
Previously Jestus had received a request from Lewiston school board to place it on a plan with Utica. This plan was sent to the state department Nov. 6. The department has acknowledged receipt and has 60 days in which to act on it.
Utica, meanwhile, is in process of getting a new school board, the three former members, David Christie, chairman, Alvin Schweder, clerk, and Kenneth Babcock, treasurer, resigning about the time a central area school was voted down for Lewiston and St. Charles. Everett Timm was appointed chairman and Kenneth Holm treasurer by the outgoing board. A clerk has not been appointed by the two new members.

Also up for discussion will be whether to issue beer licenses to two taverns which are to be operated by persons simultaneously engaged in other employment.

Wrong Week for Turkey Flight

"Gobble gobble," said the world's biggest turkey, a 500-pound Tom, as he limped to a landing this morning at Max Conrad Field.
His tail feathers had been shot away by jet interceptors as he winged over the Duluth Air Force Base. He was heading south from his breeding grounds at Eagle Lake, Ontario, Canada, from which he had been chased by some middle-aged bald eagles.
He swooped through the entrance of the airport administration building and plunked coins into the air trip insurance machine.
"I know I'll never make it out of the country before Thanksgiving," the turkey told an airport attendant who was leaning on a broom and reading the Air Force Times.
"You're a doubting Tom," the attendant said.
The turkey glanced nervously over his shoulder and tucked his insurance receipt among his ruffled feathers.
"I need every bit of protection I can get," the turkey said. "I'll be passing a dozen other Air Force bases between here and the Gulf of Mexico and they're all alerted. I show up as a suspicious plip on their radar."
A little boy, having a lean and hungry look, slipped into the lobby, spied the turkey and let fly with a slingshot.
Tom ducked, the boy fled and the stone struck a wall portrait of Orville Wright, shattering the glass.
"Shoddy treatment for Orville," the attendant said, sweeping up the glass. "His original plane was in service here until a few months ago."
Tom squeezed out of the building entrance, waddled to the runway and took off, ascending in a tight spiral above the airport.
Waiting at 60,000 feet was a jet interceptor, a late model Giannini equipped with rapid-firing chrome-plated weapons. As Tom flapped sluggishly southward he encountered a deadly hail of BB's fired with unerring accuracy by the jet interceptor.
Necks craned, hungry Winonans waited on the main runway of Max Conrad Field. A perforated flight insurance receipt fluttered to the runway followed by a blizzard of feathers and finally, with a thud, the plucked turkey.
Gobble gobble.

It Happened Last Night Sad Birthday for Linda Christian

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — It was a sad 39th birthday for luscious Linda Christian . . .

Summoned to Hollywood by Income Taxers demanding she pay $120,000 for '55 and '56, she told me with quivering lips that she can't raise it even selling the big Bel-Air house where her nude statue smiles openly upon the world.

"That amount's sheer nonsense!" blazed Linda. "Twisting and Bossa-Novaing with escorts George DeWitt and Robert Hadjaj — never forgetting she's married to Edmund Purdom."

"For the first time" — we were side by side at the Encore at a big soiree — "I'm trying to sell the house."

"Some rumor-mongers," I ventured, "think you're staying away from Purdom rather long." (He's in Europe, filming.)

"Oh, no, he's so loyal. He understands," Linda said. "Understands what?"

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY'S 110th annual political committee scheduled morning and afternoon meetings in an effort to reach a vote today on the two proposals.

The first resolution, sponsored by 81 countries, calls on the 18-nation disarmament committee to resume its negotiations in Geneva "expeditiously and in a spirit of constructive compromise, until agreement has been reached" on general and complete disarmament with effective controls.

The proposal asks the disarmament committee to report to the assembly on its progress not later than the second week of April. The committee, which recessed Sept. 8 to allow for the U.N. debate, is scheduled to meet again Nov. 26.

The second resolution recommends that the countries of Latin America agree to dispose of any nuclear weapons or nuclear delivery vehicles which may be in their territory and not to manufacture, receive, store or test such devices. It calls for verification procedures.

Bolivia, Brazil, Chile and Ecuador, sponsoring the proposal, were expected to confer on their future course in view of the Cuban-U.S. disagreement. There was speculation that they might withhold the resolution from a vote for the time being.

31 Arrested in South African Street Fight
JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Thirty-one persons, including four whites, were arrested in Durban Saturday night after another street demonstration against the government's practice of placing alleged subversives under house arrest for up to five years without trial.

A similar protest meeting had been dispersed earlier in the day in Capetown.

Justice Minister Balthazer Vorster, who imposed the house arrests and has published the names of hundreds of persons, to brand them publicly as subversives, says these and other, perhaps sterner, measures are needed to save South Africa's white government from white leftists and African nationalists.

was a dissent by Justice Oscar Knutson, now chief justice of the high court. In the closest thing to a table-pounding rage ever found in a court opinion, Knutson demanded that the court declare the whole idea either constitutional or unconstitutional.

"It cannot be one thing today and another tomorrow," he wrote. Then he added: "Apparently the idea is that if we have enough erroneous decisions the constitution may . . . become so completely eroded that we need pay no further attention to it."

His dissent had its wry moments: "Courts should not close their eyes to that which is generally known to everyone else."

Knutson agreed that the $250,000 deb. limit probably was unrealistic but said the court should have recognized its past errors and come to grips with the problem right then.

What now?

The 1961 building program carries major improvements slated for the University of Minnesota, state colleges, state hospitals and state parks. The legislature put in a delayed-action clause putting the whole thing on the shelf until Dec. 1 of this year, apparently on the theory that passage of Amendment No. 2 would clear things up. But Capitol sourcers say it's very possible that bond experts will still demand better proof of legality than passage of the amendment and refuse to market the certificates.

This leaves two avenues open—another trip to the Supreme Court, or a plea to the legislature to re-enact the whole package without fuss in the early weeks of the session.

The latter course would be a reasonable one "if they don't open up the whole bill," said one state official. This man said the worst outlook would be that the legislature take the bill apart and not get it put back together until late in the session, thus delaying the start of construction until well into the summer.

On the other hand, a trip to the court also might be hazardous. Some legal minds have already voiced private opinions that it was not legal for the legislature to hinge its 1961 building bill on a 1962 election possibility.

BUSINESS MIRROR

Lower Tax Rates, Fewer Loopholes

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—A whole way of life is involved in the plan to cut taxes and reform the system. And that's likely to complicate action in the next Congress far beyond the simple popular slogan of lower rates and fewer loopholes.

An entire generation of business executives and countless other individuals are addicted to what is known as half-price thinking. Many products and programs seem to cost only half of what the ticket says because of the tax saving. Or, the other way around, many seeming advantages or rewards are worth only half what they promise because of the extra tax liability.

For one example, charitable organizations know that much of the gifts from corporations is timed by the knowledge that if it wasn't given, taxes would take half of it anyway. Some charities are wondering today if their income will drop if tax rates do.

Or, the other side of the coin, many with executive skills know that a better paying job will net only a part of its face value. In the higher tax bracket a large part of the raise will melt away.

Critics of the present high tax rates argue that often it doesn't seem worth the effort to try to produce more and earn more. Or those at the top turn to other forms of compensation—stock options, company bought insurance, salary payments deferred till after retirement.

And the tax laws are now so complicated, especially at the corporate level, that perhaps 100,000 tax specialists work full time tackling others' problems.

Corporations also hire executives and countless clerks to handle the many official forms and seek out the most advantageous approach.

Avoidance of taxes is an art in itself, both for corporations and for individuals. Many business brains that might be concentrated on earning more income are occupied in trying to save on taxes. Business and individuals often find they're ahead this way in the long run.

Advocates of tax cuts and simplification say that the general economy suffers as a result.

Economists at the First National City Bank of New York put it this way: "In high brackets, extra work is no longer worthwhile. Our punitive tax rates have led to the enactment of countless special reliefs that have complicated the tax laws and made them costly and difficult to administer and obey."

Morgan Guaranty economists add that half-price thinking has played a part in the wage-price spiral of inflation since World War II, since companies have felt that half of the wage increase would go for taxes otherwise and so haven't tried, until lately, to halt the spiral.

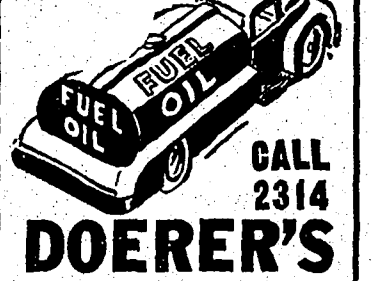

Half-price thinking also affects the manner of financing business expansion. Instead of offering new stocks many companies have relied on borrowing money. Interest payments are charged off before taxes, and thus seem half-price. Stockholders expect dividends, but these are paid out of a company's

Senator Chavez, Veteran N.M. Democrat, Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Dennis Chavez is dead of a heart attack at 74.

The veteran New Mexico Democrat died unexpectedly early Sunday in Georgetown University Hospital.

His successor will be named by Gov. Edwin L. Mechem, New Mexico's outgoing Republican chief executive. Mechem, who leaves office Jan. 1, is considered a prime prospect for the Senate term which runs until the general election in 1964.

If the post goes to Mechem or a fellow Republican, he will be the first GOP senator from New Mexico in a generation. The lineup of the new Senate had been 68 Democrats and 22 Republicans.

Mechem said at Albuquerque that the death of Chavez was a tragedy and that he would not discuss the possibility of a successor for some time.

Chavez entered the hospital on Nov. 7, the day after the general election. He had a virus infection and a high fever he is believed to have contracted while campaigning in New Mexico for Jack Campbell, who defeated Mechem in the governorship race.

Doctors said the illness, coming after 18 months of treatment for cancer of the neck, led to the heart attack. Chavez had planned to leave the hospital Sunday to recuperate at home.

Chavez was chairman of the Senate Public Works Committee and a member of the Appropriations Committee.

The body of Chavez will be flown today to Santa Fe, where it will lie in state in the New Mexico Senate chamber. It will be taken to Albuquerque Tuesday evening for services Wednesday morning at the Immaculate Conception Roman Catholic church.

Upper Midwest Gets Less Than It Gives

MINNESOTA AND Wisconsin aren't doing well in the give and take of federal cash.

Their businesses and residents give a lot of money to the federal government in taxes but the two states get back much less in return in the form of federal spending.

That's the conclusion of a recent report by the Upper Midwest Research and Development Council which is interested in fostering economic growth in this area. In 1960, Minnesota's federal tax burden was $1,474,000,000—nearly $1½ billion. In return the state got $1,335,000,000—$139 million less than the money that left the state in the form of federal taxes.

WISCONSIN DID even worse. Wisconsin's 1960 federal tax burden was $1,799,000,000—more than $1¾ billion. Federal expenditures in the state were $1,501,000,000. That means the money that left Wisconsin exceeded the federal money that came in by $298 million.

On a per capita basis, a Minnesota resident's federal tax burden was $432—$41 more than the $391 in federal expenditures per capita in Minnesota. The Wisconsin resident's federal tax burden was even higher—$455. That's $75 more than the per capita federal expenditure of $380.

These statistics are of concern to us in the Upper Midwest because the council's study shows that Uncle Sam is distributing federal money, in the form of expenditures exceeding taxes, to favored sections of the nation—the South, Southwest, Mountain States and the Pacific Coast States. These areas get more from Uncle Sam than they give him, largely because Minnesota, Wisconsin and some other states are picking up the tab.

MINNESOTA and Wisconsin are among the 15 states in the council's study that get less from Uncle Sam than they give. Minnesota gave 2.7 percent of its state income to Uncle Sam in federal taxes in 1960 while Wisconsin gave 4.1 percent.

To make matters worse, the report shows that Minnesota is one of 29 states with per capita income below the national average. Twenty-two of these states with below average per capita income get more from the government than they give in taxes. But Minnesota is one of the states with below average per capita income that gets less in federal expenditures than it gives in federal taxes.

WE BELIEVE THE Minnesota-Wisconsin area should, of course, pay its fair share of federal taxes. But the tax burden would be easier to carry if Washington gave this area a fair share of federal expenditures.

Advertising's Part in Successful Merchandising

WRITING IN the magazine Successful Grocer, John W. King observes that in every community there are retailers who have lifted themselves above the mere existence level, and these are the ones who are "leading the way in better advertising . . . Advertising . . . has two jobs to do . . . sell merchandise and sell the store."

Mr. King's article is devoted to grocery supermarket operations in a competitive system, but the points he emphasizes apply with equal force to just about every kind of store, and just about everything sold at retail to the general public. Consumers have widely varied wants and ideas—and price is just one of the elements that determine their judgments.

"Selling the store" through advertising is certainly a basic goal in any successful merchandising operation. It means creating—and justifying—faith in the integrity of the merchant. It means honest claims and representations. And it means keeping the name in question constantly before existing and potential customers.

ANOTHER THING the good merchant does is to make his full contribution, in all ways, to the welfare and development of his community. He does that in his own interest, if for no higher reason. It used to be charged that some stores had no interest in the communities in which they operated except to take money out of them. This quickly proved baseless—for a retail outlet can prosper and progress only as the community prospers and progresses. Merchandising is a purely local business. Each store must compete locally, and meet the particular wants of local people.

He who trusts in his riches will wither, but the righteous will flourish like a green leaf. Proverbs 11:28.

New Frontier Practice Hit

By SEN. BARRY GOLDWATER

Speaking in a single voice, the nation's news media over the past few weeks have carried on a sustained attack on the New Frontier's "single-voice" concept of handling the news.

The controversy is perhaps the most important of all the disputes the administration has got itself into because of an excessive preoccupation with the advantages of executive power and control.

This one grew out of the Cuban crisis and the difficulty newsmen encountered trying to get the most ordinary type of news out of the Department of Defense.

It began almost as soon as the tense situation between the United States and the Soviet Union eased after the Kennedy-Khrushchev agreement. And in presenting the administration's defense, Pentagon news boss Arthur Sylvester made the matter infinitely worse than it had been.

It should be remembered that Sylvester, Assistant Secretary of Defense, was the civilian official through whom the government channeled all of its news to the public of what our ships and planes were doing to enforce the American blockade of arms shipments to Cuba. As anyone who watched the performance on his television set will remember, many vital and some quite ordinary questions went unanswered for no apparent reason.

DURING THIS period, of course, the traditional facilities for gathering news at the Pentagon were denied, so the newsmen—and through them the public—were left entirely under the control of Mr. Sylvester and his Defense Department assistants.

But to get back to Mr. Sylvester's excuse for the elaborate control mechanism. He says the situation was "unique" and adds this astounding observation:

"I can't think of a comparable situation, but in the kind of world we live in, the generation of news by the government becomes one weapon in a strained situation. The results, in my opinion, justify the methods we used."

SINCE MR. SYLVESTER offered his opinion, of course, newsmen representing newspapers, radio, television and editorial groups from all over the nation have taken a strong dissent. But, in my opinion, none of them did it quite so well as the Washington Evening Star in a lead editorial.

This is what the Star had to say: "Mr. Sylvester is to be commended for his frankness, at least. But he has let an ugly cat out of the bag . . . Weigh those words. Their meaning is truly sinister. In an administration that is becoming quite notable in its efforts toward achieving managed control of the news, Mr. Sylvester may have overlooked one likely result of 'the methods we used.' This result is that Mr. Sylvester and his superior, from this time on, are suspect. They have, in our opinion, recklessly and thoughtlessly forfeited a confidence that in this country has been the rule rather than the exception. What they say from now on, as arbitrarily established sources of public information, may be the truth. But that truth will be accepted with a grain of salt."

"THE KIND OF world we live in" seems now to be a world in which the truth given the American people of what has happened is that part of the truth selected by officialdom to piece together a desirable image. That image may be a distortion, the inevitable result of an attempt to use the press and its news as instruments of national policy.

One may hope that having tested the fruits of a use of power more readily identified with the Soviet Union, with Hitler, Mussolini and a long string of new lesser dictators than with our own country, those in high places will now realize that this fruit is poison and discard it before an antidote becomes necessary.

I suggest that no matter what the circumstances or what kind of world we live in, the end never justifies the means if it is achieved through the suppression of freedom and the people's right to know the truth.

How do you stand, sir?

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Castro Threatens to Get Aid From Red China

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Intelligence reports from Havana regarding the talks between Fidel Castro and Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan are fragmentary and difficult to put together. However, one source, considered reliable, reports that Castro flew into a carpet-biting fury during his first session with Mikoyan.

The bearded bombast-hurler got hysterical and accused the Russians of humiliating him by agreeing to dismantle missile bases without consulting him or even giving advance notice.

Castro even complained bitterly that he had been barred from inspecting missile bases on his own soil.

He shouted and threatened. The patient Mikoyan tried to calm him, reminding him that Cuba was 80 percent dependent on the Communist bloc for its industrial needs, even buttered up the eccentric premier by promising to ship Russian factories in place of dismantled missiles. He also paid lip service to Castro's demand for the withdrawal of U.S. Naval forces from Guantanamo.

However, he was not able to budge Castro, either on U.N. inspection of the missile sites or the removal of Soviet bombers.

Mikoyan could, of course, do what the United States did to Prince Phouma in Laos when he refused to go along with the American policy of a neutral Laotian government. We cut off his aid. Russia could also cut off Castro's aid.

But Castro is reported to have warned Mikoyan that in this case he would get aid from Red China, and Red Chinese leaders, already critical of Khrushchev as a Munich appeaser in Cuba, have stated that they would supply the aid.

IF CASTRO were a disciplined Communist, the Russians would have no trouble. But he isn't. It was a surprise to the Kremlin when he was announced last year that he was a confirmed Leninist. He is anything but that. A confirmed Leninist would have bowed to Mikoyan five minutes after he arrived in Havana.

Note — One intelligence report from Moscow claims that Premier Khrushchev is more upset with Castro than Kennedy is.

Tom McIntyre, the new Democratic senator from Republican New Hampshire, paid a courtesy call on President Kennedy the other day.

McIntyre tried to think of a tactful way to tell the President that he would have to put New Hampshire's interests ahead of party loyalty.

"Sometimes I have to tell the folks I don't like Harvard," he warned gently, referring to the President's favorite university. "And I also read the New York Herald Tribune."

Kennedy chuckled appreciatively.

Note — During the same White House visit, New Hampshire's Democratic Gov.-Elect John King reported that he had defeated his Republican rival by 40,000 votes. The president scratched his head unbelievably.

PRESIDENT Kennedy didn't confine his conversations with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer last week to the momentous crises confronting the world. The President also brought up the barnyard subject of chickens and eggs, which could become a crisis of its own to poultry producers.

Earlier this year, West Germany slapped a tariff on American poultry products. If other European countries should follow suit, the American market would become glutted with so much surplus poultry that it would almost have to be given away.

This would bankrupt most poultry producers and start a depression down on the farm.

Kennedy was so alarmed that he wrote a personal letter to Chancellor Adenauer last June about the poultry problem. Secretary of State Dean Rusk raised the question again during a visit with Adenauer.

The weather-worn old German leader agreed to take up the matter with his cabinet, which decided to consult the European Common Market's top policy commission.

Result: The poultry tariff was reduced, but only until the end of 1962.

Now it looks as if not only West Germany but other Common Market nations are preparing to raise the tariff again.

The President spoke gravely to Adenauer about the problem, reminded him that the United States could play the same game and raise tariffs on European imports.

ONE MEMBER of Sen. Elect Birch Bayh's family is sorry the Indiana Democrat was elected to the Senate. His son, Birch Bayh III, age 6, doesn't want to leave the first grade in Indiana . . . Bayh has let it be known he will serve happily on an Senate committee to which he is assigned. But secretly, he has his eye on the Agriculture Committee . . . Sen. Tom McIntyre of New Hampshire, an admirer of Tennessee Sen. Estes Kefauver, would like to serve with Kefauver on the Senate Judiciary Committee . . . Secret service agents are wondering why whether a former job applicant, who tried to join the Secret Service in the 1940's, may now renew his application. His name is Dick Nixon . . . During Nixon's angry outburst at the press, he growled that he had never canceled a subscription to a critical newspaper as President Kennedy did. The truth is that Nixon canceled his subscription to the Washington Post twice, because of political cartoonist Herb Block's unflattering cartoons . . . Ted Kennedy may get a chilly reception in the Senate. Some senators are grumbling privately that he is throwing his weight around to get a seat on the powerful Senate Foreign Relations Committee. They also don't like the idea of having the President's brother listening to their private conversations in the Senate cloakroom.

People Not Told Of Big Deficit

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Why were the American people not told before the congressional election that the federal budget would show a deficit this fiscal year of an estimated $7.8 billion? Why did President Kennedy in his message to Congress only last January make an estimate of a surplus and lead the people to believe for the last 10 months that there would be no deficit at all in the current fiscal year?

These questions are being asked because they go to the root of democratic government in contrast with a totalitarian state where the facts are manipulated and the truth is for certain intervals concealed from the people.

Certainly the reason could not have been an ordinary error in estimating the figures for the current fiscal year, which runs from July 1, 1962, to June 30, 1963. The treasury must have known for several months that such a large discrepancy did not justify the continuing impression derived from the optimistic estimate made last January.

Could politics have been the reason? The January prediction of a federal surplus of $463 million for this fiscal year was used all through the campaign to emphasize the comparison with the big deficit of the Eisenhower administration in fiscal year 1959. This was a red figure of $12.4 billion—the largest in any peacetime year.

When, however, the $7.8 billion deficit estimated for fiscal year 1963 is added to the $6.3 billion deficit for the fiscal year 1962—both under the Kennedy administration—it amounts to $14.1 billion for the two years. Whether it was incurred in one year or two, it's still a total deficit of huge proportions. Even without the tax cut now being promised, the 1964 deficit is expected to be in excess of $10 billion, making a total of about $24 billion in only three years. No such total of deficits has been run up in any three-year period heretofore in peacetime.

But the public is entitled to know why the official figures in the current fiscal-year budget were suppressed until just after the congressional election this month.

In every year since 1956, the mid-year review has been made available much earlier than the time the estimate was given out this week. Thus, in 1956, it was published on Aug. 28. In 1957, it came out on Oct. 1. In 1958, it was issued on Sept. 11. In 1959, it was disclosed on Sept. 24.

As for 1960, the figures were released on Oct. 4. This was during the Eisenhower administration, and the people had at least a month before the election to pass judgment on the facts revealed about the fiscal policy of the administration in power. Even in 1961, when there was no election, the mid-year review was available in October.

The excuse that doubtless will be given for the delay this year is that Congress didn't adjourn until Oct. 13, but the fact is the figures could have been issued before the election if desired by the administration, particularly since this week is an abbreviated version of those of the prior six years and is much more of a summary than a detailed review.

What the public didn't know during the election campaign was that the estimated rate of spending has risen from $92.5 billion to $93.7 billion, even though the estimated receipts were declining from $93 to $95.9 billion.

The government knew that its receipts were declining, but the Democratic party, which controlled Congress, was authorizing expenditures far above the intake.

Actually, the national debt is growing year by year because of the perennial deficits. The Democratic party has been in control of Congress for nine out of the last 11 years, and the U. S. Treasury shows a total deficit of $46.5 billion in that period. Even on a cash basis, the Treasury shows a total deficit of $29.7 billion in the fiscal years 1953 through 1963.

The outstanding point is that, despite the decline in estimated income this year, the administration kept on spending and more spending for the future. A tax cut is being advocated for next year by administration economists as a means of improving the business situation. But this can be offset by the ill effects of a growing deficit which will, for instance, affect adversely the American dollar abroad.

In private business, if year after year more money is spent than is taken in and there seems no prospect of turning the tide as more and more deficits are envisaged, the usual result is bankruptcy. The federal Treasury could keep on borrowing to meet deficits but at a higher and higher rate of interest.

To Your Good Health

Learn to Live With Problems

By JOSEPH C. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband is 49 and last year began losing weight. It was found that he had diabetes. Almost at the same time he developed a cough and after X-rays and bronchoscopy we were told that he had a bronchiectasis and "some" emphysema.

The diabetes was brought under control with pills but the bronchiectasis was "spattered in both lungs" and surgery was not possible.

He lost 55 pounds of which he has gained back 10 to 15. Our doctor says it would be good if he gained back 30, as he was 25 pounds overweight.

I am concerned at his lack of energy and pep. It has been seven months since the lung diagnosis. The specialist told him he could "live to be 90" if he takes care of himself, that he must "learn to live with the coughing," and at times the chest condition will seem to be better and sometimes worse.

Are we being impatient about his weight? He breathes shorter than he used to, and any heavy lifting or pushing makes him cough, but he is able to work as usual.

Will his energy improve? Are we overly concerned about the bronchiectasis? How serious is it? Is it very common? We never heard of it before we were told he had it.—Mrs. R. B.

Yes, you're too impatient in my opinion, but I think you've had excellent medical advice and care. The diabetes is controlled. You've been assured that the lung conditions aren't a threat to life if he takes care of himself, and you have been warned that they aren't curable—that's what "learning to live with a condition" means: Can't be cured but you can get along in spite of it.

Bronchiectasis (or pouch-like places where phlegm can puddle) is far from uncommon but it isn't a "dramatic" or highly-publicized ailment so you, like many others, don't remember hearing about it until it becomes a personal matter. I've written about it numerous times because so many people, like you, skim over things that don't at the moment concern them. This is human nature!

"Well, I don't know —"

Changing Society, Hollow Tradition Clash in Play

Cruelty, frustration and the tragedy resulting when a changing society meets the unyielding force of a hollow, meaningless tradition is the theme of the "House of Bernarda Alba" by Federico Garcia Lorca which was presented at the College of Saint Teresa Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings.

In strong, undisguised, economical lines the Spanish playwright and poet lashes out against the inferiority, conformity and frustration of women in the Spanish social order. In bringing the English version of Lorca's play to the stage of the College of Saint Teresa, the 14 young women of the cast, under the direction of Miss Eileen Whalen, with superb strength and economy stripped away a facade of respectability to lay bare the evil beneath.

THE PLAY deals with the family of Bernarda Alba, whose husband has just died. Bernarda decrees an eight-year period of mourning for her husband and orders that her house be closed for that time.

Augustias, the eldest daughter by another father who has left her a small inheritance, hopes to marry Pepe el Romano. Pepe, much younger than she and the only eligible man of her social class, is in love with Adela, the youngest of the daughters. When Bernarda discovers that Pepe and Adela are having an affair, she attempts to shoot him, but misses. Thinking him dead, Adela commits suicide.

Patricia Travin in the lead role of Bernarda, the domineering mother of five daughters, portrayed the force upholding tradition opposed to change. Bernarda, sure that she is able by sheer force of her will to control the tragic situation so obviously growing about her remarks several times, "I have my eyes wide open!" Seeing only what she wants to see, blind to reality, Bernarda is unable even to accept the truth behind the tragic death of her youngest daughter which marks the climax of the play.

IN BERNARDA, in La Pencia, the servant, portrayed by Barbara O'Brien, and the five daughters, played by Sharon Naslund, Normandy Hamilton, Anne Kratch, Anne Joyce and Maureen Holly, the audience met Lorca, the playwright and social critic. In the grandmother, beautifully handled by Phoebe Yaeger, the audience met Lorca, the poet. Freed by age and insanity from the straight, hard lines which move the action of the play forward so rapidly, the grandmother in the language of the poet is Lorca's comment on the cruel conflict in which she has no immediate part.

Lorca's play might easily be called a study in black and white. His lines though rich in depth of meaning, are never shaded or disguised. In carrying out the Spanish setting of the play, Miss Whalen has also presented a study in black and white. All of the characters clad in black mourning dress moved before white succo walls made more stark by a vivid blue backdrop.

John E. Marzocco, chairman of the department of speech and drama, was the technical director of the production. Robert Oram was the house manager. Kathleen MacKrell was in charge of costumes and Anita Matkkanin was stage manager.

Looking for Sunday Diversion? Try Winona State Jazz Concert

By FRANK UHLIG

The question of where to go on a Sunday evening in Winona was answered well and forcefully last night by Director Fred Heyer and his dedicated student crew of jazz vendors at Somsen Hall Auditorium.

Concertgoers and red-eyed refugees from the Electronic Curtain of mediocre television welcomed the live and vibrant big band sound in no uncertain fashion, a fact amply demonstrated by their numbers and their response.

SOMEWHAT overloaded on the brass side, the band nevertheless maintained an acceptable balance, thanks to the efforts of Jerry Paulson, who is emerging as a good lead trumpeter, and John Urness, first trombonist. The six trumpets and five trombones phrased with clarity and restraint, reserving full power for a few dynamic and effective finales.

Heyer, man of many instruments, led the outnumbered but fully adequate reed section and conducted the concert with the happy air of a kid inviting the neighborhood in for a free afternoon at his dad's candy factory.

Reinforcement of the three-chair rhythm section could have added further authority to their admirable job of marking out an unwavering beat for the 16-horn ensemble.

In addition to some familiar Heyer arrangements, the band demonstrated cultural coexistence with North Texas State College in showcasing several originals by composer-arrangers from that Lone Star hotbed of jazz. "Alto Soliloquy" was pleasant with its haunting overtones of "Harlem Nocturne," and a serving of medium-tempo jazz was tastily done up in "Easy Side Up."

Faculty Member Jacques Reidelberger appeared as a guest artist to play a solo on a unique, 14-foot long wind instrument.

LINDA HEYER, a nine-year-old possessed of excellent rhythmic sense, sang "An Apple for the Teacher" and "I'm Sittin' on Top of the World." Her 15-year-old brother, David, illustrated the flashing technique of an accomplished percussionist in a drum solo, "Dave's Madness."

As a group, the band was particularly effective in its renditions of "Taking a Chance on Love," "No Greater Love," "I Want to Be Happy," featuring Director Heyer on baritone sax, and "Perdido."

Personnel of the band included: Trumpets—Jerry Paulson, Bob Wood, Tom Zitzak, Earl Hughes, Sandra Senness, Judy Ness. Trombones—John Urness, Miles Ostrom, Loyal Johnson, Miles Van Auker, John Edstrom. Saxophones—Fred Heyer, Lester Miwa, Bea Nyrd, Terry Cull, Renee Sossalla. Rhythm—Drums, David Heyer; bass, Rick Heyer; piano, Jan Schreiber.

CLINICS AT LAKE CITY

LAKE CITY, Minn. (Special)—Students at Jefferson, Washington and Lincoln schools here will be immunized against diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough at school clinics Tuesday. Today pupils received Mantoux tests for tuberculosis. Children at Oak Center and Zumbro Falls schools had test and inoculation last week.

By 1980, say experts in urban affairs, expanding communities of the Atlantic seaboard may be merged all the way from Bangor, Maine, to Miami.

Scranton Won't Seek Presidential Post

HOBE SOUND, Fla. (AP)—Pennsylvania's governor-elect, William W. Scranton, says he won't seek the 1964 Republican presidential nomination.

Holding his final news conference at his vacation home Sunday, Scranton commented on possibility of getting one of the two places on the national ticket.

"I have no intention of asking the nomination for either position," Scranton said.

Asked whether he would accept a draft, Scranton laughed.

"I think I have already answered that question," he said.

H. M. Bierce

H. M. Bierce, dean of Winona County attorneys who practiced law here for more than 52 years before his retirement early in 1959, died Sunday morning at Community Memorial Hospital where he'd been a patient since Oct. 12. He was 83.

A native of Ionia, Mich., who came to Winona in the fall of 1905, Mr. Bierce entered the law office of Webber and Lees for study of law and the following year was admitted to practice before the Minnesota bar. His father, O. A. Bierce, operated a real estate and loan firm in Winona, platted West End property and was responsible for the naming of Bierce Street.

FOR MORE than 50 years Mr. Bierce maintained an office in the Hirsch Building at 69 1/2 E. 3rd St. In 1958, when the building was remodeled, Mr. Bierce moved his office to the Richardson Block, 60 1/2 W. 3rd St.

Although he engaged in a general law practice, Bierce specialized in commercial law and proceedings in bankruptcy. He served as a referee in bankruptcy under appointment of the U. S. District Court more than 30 years and when he retired in 1953 ranked 10th in seniority among 163 referees throughout the United States.

He was instrumental in the organization of the National Association of Referees in Bankruptcy, for 23 years was its secretary and founded, and for a number of years edited, the association's quarterly journal. During the association's silver anniversary year in 1952 Mr. Bierce was elected its national president.

BORN SEPT. 25, 1879, at Ionia, he later lived in Detroit, Mich., and in 1902 was graduated from the Detroit College of Law before moving to Winona. He and his wife, Lucinda, lived at 701 Huff St.

Mr. Bierce was one of the organizers of the Winona County Law Library, chairman of the library's board of trustees, a member of the committee on bankruptcy of the Commercial Law League of America and a member of the special committee of the American Bar Association.

He was an organizer and first president of the Rotary Club of Winona, 57 years ago helped organize and was elected first president of the Saturday Night Club, a discussion group, and was a past supreme representative of the Knights of Pythias.

IN THE EARLY years of this century when the Winona County fairgrounds was on the present site of Westfield Golf Course, Mr. Bierce was a director of the Tri-County Fair Board, served for two years as a director of the Winona Association of Commerce (now Chamber of Commerce), was a former chairman of the board of trustees of First Congregational Church and served six years as a member of the Winona County Board of Education. He was a past president of the Winona County and 3rd Judicial District Bar associations and for nine years a member of the board of governors of the Minnesota Bar Association. In 1959 he was honored by the Minnesota Bar Association for his more than 50 years of law practice.

Mr. Bierce was a former special municipal judge here, a member of the Winona County Historical Society and was long active in the Winona County Old Settlers Association.

Surviving are his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Richard C. (Janet) Northrup, Iowa City, Iowa, and Mrs. Lyle V. (Charlotte) Mayer, Big Rapids, Mich., and three grandchildren.

NASON ON EDUCATION

Alert Parents Can Help Students

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.
Professor of Education,
University of Southern California

Parents quite rightly are concerned about what happens to their children.

Yet, at the same time, when the children reach high school age, they should take over more and more responsibility for their own lives.

How can parents help their high school youngsters solve their problems without seeming to interfere? What is the correct balance between parental control and student responsibility?

Parents of high school students should be on the alert for changes in attitude.

If your son or daughter stops talking about school or stops bringing home assignments, something is wrong. You should search promptly for the underlying cause rather than wait until drastic behavior sets in.

A student's behavior depends largely upon what he thinks his parents want for him; how capable he thinks he is; what he thinks his future may be.

Often, what the student thinks may not be the actual situation.

The direct approach to such a problem gains little. You can't convince a student that he is brighter than he thinks he is merely by telling him. The feeling of inadequacy is at the bottom of many behavior problems at the high school level.

Working with hundreds of such cases I have found that these students lack some needed study skill. It may be facility in handwriting. It may be skill in taking tests.

These students need help since they obviously have not hit upon the right techniques. If a student knows how, he will try. Few students are lazy at this age.

I have found that, in most cases, when a student has established an efficient plan of attack on his school work, other situations improve as well.

A high school student should have at least some general goal of vocation or college. Lack of such planning may be a danger signal.

A student may feel he is not capable of reaching a goal acceptable to his parents, school counselors or fellow students.

It is of little avail to tell a child he can become a good machinist or a carpenter if he lacks confidence in his ability to work with his hands. Only successful experience in training his hands for these skills will bring about a change.

A student may feel that his parents would not approve of his plans. Misunderstanding is easy in this area. Usually, it has an adverse effect on the student's school work.

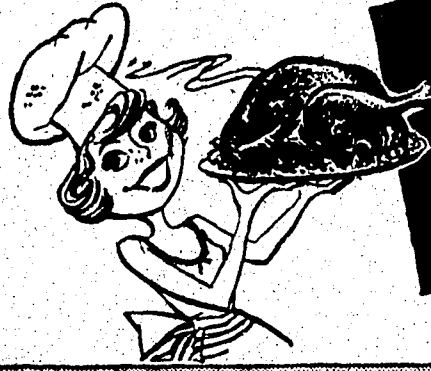

A parent may want his child to go to college. But the son or daughter may get the idea from other family discussions that there will be insufficient funds—and that his parents would resent spending the money for college.

I suggest that parents first discuss problems with the school counselor. Parents need to know something of their child's abilities before they try to help him solve his school problems.

Let's Get Growing

By A. F. SHIRA

Water, Air And Plants

Perhaps the average gardener thinks more about preparing the soil, planting, fertilizing and cultivating than any other aspect of gardening, except watering.

If watering is neglected when setting out plants, the oversight will be brought forcibly to the attention by the wilting or drying out of the plants. This is evident in all phases of gardening, whether with house plants, or those outdoors. Some varieties require more water than others. The water holding properties of the soil largely determine the amount of water necessary for best growth.

Water is the solvent by means of which plant processes take place, the medium by which substances are transported throughout the system of ducts and cells. Its use is necessary in the formation of certain compounds such as sugar. Approximately 80 percent of the entire living plant consists of water.

There are three periods during the life of plants when a good supply of water is necessary. The first of these is during the germination of the seed. Very dry conditions at such a time will not only delay, or prevent, germination, but may stunt, or even kill, the seedlings.

THE SECOND occasion when ample water is necessary is when a plant is transplanted from one location to another. This is true of all seedlings as well as perennials, shrubs and trees.

The third period is the time of maximum growth when plants are large and the rate of water evaporation is high. This is especially so during a hot and dry season. Mature plants are less apt to suffer at such a time than rapidly growing ones.

Now, let us turn to the air which is as necessary to the survival of plant life as the water. Air is not only vital to plants above ground, but is necessary in the soil as well. Water is derived by plants from the soil, except a small amount that is absorbed through the leaves. The air space within the leaves absorbs carbon dioxide direct from the air.

THE WATER with minerals in solution, together with the carbon dioxide, react in the presence of sunlight to manufacture the food elements. A plant utilizes only the hydrogen that is contained in the water and does not take any of it from the air. The oxygen in the water is liberated into the air as a gas.

Carbon plays an important part in the make-up of plants. As stated above, carbon is absorbed direct from the air in the form of carbon dioxide. It comprises about 45 percent of the dry weight of most plants. This seems remarkable when it is realized that carbon dioxide makes up only a small fraction of one percent of the air.

Water and air must be considered as food elements. Only about two percent of plant tissues are composed of minerals absorbed from the soil and these can be utilized by the plants only when in soluble form. About 98 percent of the tissues come from the water and the air.

WHEN IT IS stated that a garden soil is good, or rich, we think of it as containing ample humus, nutrients and beneficial bacteria for best plant growth. Its water holding properties should be high. Such a soil should be friable and sufficiently porous to contain the necessary underground air that is such an essential requirement of plants. The addition of a good amount of humus each year will help to maintain the garden soil in good condition. One of the best sources of such humus is the compost heap.

Blood Transfusions Can't Stop Wedding

ATLANTA (AP)—An emergency trip to a hospital couldn't keep Matilda Powell, 19, and Charles Miles, 23, from becoming Mr. and Mrs.

Matilda became ill Saturday just a few hours before her wedding. She was rushed to a hospital where her illness was diagnosed as a perforated ulcer.

After blood transfusions, the marriage was performed 15 minutes behind schedule.

Private Services Held for Vining

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Private funeral services were planned here today for Arthur Vining Davis, 85, former board chairman of the Aluminum Company of America.

Further services and burial will be at Locust Valley, Long Island, N.Y., later this week. Davis, whose wealth was variously estimated at between $350 and $500 million, started his career in 1888 as a $60-a-month clerk.

An 1852 law, passed in the reign of Napoleon II, called for regular inspection and repair within Paris.

Head of Vast Shubert Theater Chain Dead

NEW YORK (AP)—John Shubert's body has been returned to New York after his death in Florida, amid speculation today as to who will succeed him as head of the vast Shubert theater chain.

The Shubert empire includes 24 theaters of the legitimate stage, among them 17 of the 33 on Broadway. Other theaters in the Shubert enterprises are located in Philadelphia, Chicago, Cincinnati and Boston.

A family spokesman said the value of the Shubert holdings, including real estate housing movie theaters, is several hundred million dollars. But the business is so vast, the spokesman said, that even the Shuberts can't pinpoint an exact figure.

John Shubert died of an apparent heart attack Saturday at 53 while aboard a train en route to Clearwater, Fla.

A porter who had been instructed to wake him found Shubert's body in his private compartment on the Atlantic Coast Line's West Coast Champion.

J. J. Shubert's death left only two other Shuberts still active in the business. They are John's first cousin, Lawrence Shubert Lawrence (he changed his name), manager of Shubert's Forest Theater in Philadelphia, and his son, Lawrence (Larry) S. Lawrence Jr., manager of Shubert's Majestic Theater on Broadway.

Caroline Goes to Church With Parents

MIDDLEBURG, Va. (AP)—Caroline Kennedy was on her best behavior Sunday when she went to church with her parents.

She stood at the right time, sat at the right time and knelt at the right time. She fidgeted hardly at all during the 50-minute Mass.

It is the first time she is known to have gone to church with both

President and Mrs. Kennedy. She is almost 5 now, and her conduct was in sharp contrast to that of a Sunday two years ago when her father took her with him to church in Washington. Then she busied herself with such pastimes as climbing over a pew.

War Circles Cuba, World

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—This crisp and lovely autumn has been a time of death, fear, revolution, uncertainty and disillusionment for men and nations, stretching across seas and continents.

Death and disillusionment hit Asia. Swift and sudden revolution burst in the Middle East. There was uncertainty in Europe. Fear of war circled over Cuba and the world.

In India Prime Minister Nehru, who ducked reality in trying to play strewed by playing neutral talked in terms of brotherhood with the Red Chinese.

This autumn he had to watch almost helplessly as Chinese forces smashed across the Indian frontier. Killing Nehru's ill-equipped troops as they went, for reasons they haven't yet chosen to reveal.

As this is being written the bewildered prime minister doesn't know whether the Red armies will sweep down out of the mountains and across the plains of India. He needed time to build a decent society out of the colossal poverty of India. If he didn't have to spend money on arms, he could Premier Khrushchev agreed to remove the weapons. Supposedly he has carted them off on ships. But this can't be positively known unless Cuba can be inspected. Fidel Castro refuses that. Khrushchev left his bombers in Cuba. Kennedy said: Get them out, too. They wrote letters back and forth. Castro made demands of his own. So Cuba isn't settled. It could get nasty. The West doesn't seem to know at this minute whether Khrushchev will turn Berlin into a time bomb by setting a new and quick deadline for settlement on that city. This day a year ago hardly anything was happening except massacre in the Congo.

DEAR ABBY:

Hubby Who Hits Woman Is Sick

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: After 19 years of marriage, I finally hit my husband with the first thing I could get my hands on. It was a tea kettle and it caught him on the elbow. He's been using me as a human punching bag (and in front of the children) for years and I finally couldn't take it any more. If I had it coming, I wouldn't complain, but he hits me for things like rolling the car window up when he wants it down. If I do something he doesn't like, instead of telling me he just gives me a crack across the jaw. Was I wrong in throwing the kettle at him? He says a wife is not supposed to hit her husband back.

BEATEN AND BRUISED

DEAR ABBY: A man who would repeatedly give his wife a crack across the jaw is sick. And a woman who would stick around for a repeat performance is sicker than the guy who hits her. Find a psychiatrist with two couches.

DEAR ABBY: I am a bank teller and I have a special depositor who comes to my window regularly with his deposit. My last name is TUCKER, and he has asked me several times if I knew where the expression, "all tuckered out" originated. I have tried to find out and have exhausted my sources. Can you help me? A TUCKERED-OUT TUCKER

Abby

DEAR TUCKERED OUT: Now, I am also "tuckered out" trying to run down the origin. Does anyone out there know?

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were invited to the home of neighbors for dinner. In the midst of the dinner my husband remarked how delicious the "chicken" was. Our host piped up and said it wasn't chicken—it was rabbit. My husband turned green and left the table. Later he came back and offered a rather feeble apology, saying he had a pet rabbit when he was a boy, and had never eaten rabbit before. Our friends were cool to us all evening. When we got home my husband told me never to take him anywhere unless we knew the people well enough to ask what they were serving. I told him rabbit never killed anybody and if he hadn't been told it was rabbit he'd have thought it was chicken. Who was right?

SMALL BATTLE

DEAR SMALL: Many people regard rabbit meat as a real treat—others can't even digest the thought of it. Don't subject your husband to another such experience (if you can help it). It's apparent that his prejudices are stronger than his stomach.

DEAR ABBY: That letter signed "BORN TO LOSE" from the "other woman" made my blood boil. You would think she was doing a noble thing to give up what wasn't hers in the first place. About 99 out of 100 girls who go with married men are "born to lose" because the men have no intention of breaking up their families for these tramps. I don't sit around and cry when I see the danger signals. I just go over to the "other woman's" house and pull her hair out.

BORN TO WIN

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

No Pineapple Juice But Chiefs Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There'll be no surfing under moonlit skies or sipping pineapple juice under swaying palm trees, but the Long Beach Chiefs of the American Basketball League seem to be enjoying the move to the mainland from their Hawaii outpost.

The Chiefs, who called the islands home last year, won their second in two starts at their new Long Beach base Sunday night by again beating the Kansas City Steers. They did 103-74 after a 105-98 decision Saturday.

The triumph left the Chiefs with the only unblemished record in the league in the early-season going.

In other games Sunday, the Oakland Oaks won their first in three starts with Joe Gardere providing the impetus for a 119-115 overtime victory over the Chicago Majors and the Pittsburgh Pipers rolled to an easy 113-83 triumph over the Philadelphia Tapers.

The Chiefs, employing a fast break as their major weapon, raced to a 20-11 first quarter lead and were never headed. Ben Warley paced Long Beach with 20 points but scoring honors went to the Steers' Bill Bridges, who had 21.

India's Way of Life Attacked by Red China

WASHINGTON (AP)—Destruction of India's way of life is Red China's prime objective in its attack on India, says Indian Ambassador B. K. Nehru.

He says he believes this "because the Indian way of life through freedom and democracy was achieving a degree of success which if it went on would have convinced, or helped, other people to the concept that this is the way to develop."

Nehru, in a television interview—Meet the Press, NBC—said Sunday: "After all, this is a problem of the underdeveloped countries. China and India have adopted different systems of development. Ours has been a little more successful, I think. The best way to

Novel Raised '1 1/2-Story' Tops in Economy

By JULES LOH
A new idea in home design—so new there's no name yet to describe it—makes its appearance today as a House of the Week selection. Because of its logic and unquestionable economy, its popularity is all but assured.
To illustrate, this model provides a total of 2,374 square feet of living area in only 930 square feet of ground cover.

FIGURES LIKE that appear to indicate the house must be built along the lines of the Washington Monument. On the contrary, its exterior is as modern as tomorrow and as sleek as anything in suburbia today.

It provides this enormous amount of usable space in such a small basic area by combining the two most efficient forms of home construction, 1 1/2-story and bi-level, and until someone coins a better name for the new design we'll call it a "raised 1 1/2-story." The imaginative architect who conceived of the idea is Rudolph A. Matern. He said it dawned on him while he was pondering how to accommodate today's increasingly large families faced with increasingly small lots on which to build.

"THE STORY-and-a-half uses a steeply pitched roof to make the attic habitable," Matern explained. "The bi-level does the same by raising the basement slightly out of the ground."

"I decided both of these techniques could be used in the same house, without sacrificing exterior looks or, to a large degree, interior convenience."
The house, design J-48 in the House of the Week series, has a mid-level main entry foyer (like a bi-level) and the housekeeping area is six steps up from the front door.

Architect Matern calls it the intermediate level, and it contains the living room, dining room, lavatory, and kitchen-breakfast area.

ABOVE, on the upper level, are three bedrooms and a bathroom; below, on the lower level, two more bedrooms, bathroom, recreation room and utility room.

Its basic dimensions are 25 feet 8 inches deep by 32 feet 6 inches wide. The overall dimensions, including the projection of the attached two-car garage on the side and front, are 32 feet 9 inches deep by 57 feet 1 inch wide.

Architect Matern has blended brick, vertical boards, hardboard panels and pierced masonry block into an extremely fetching exterior.

(Incidentally, you can get a 35 millimeter color slide of the original artist's drawing of this house free for the asking. Details are on the J-48 study plan.)

THE BLEND on the inside is that of an architect's ingenuity and a large family's needs.

"Ideally," said architect Matern, "all the bedrooms should be on the same level. On the other hand, some people prefer a master bedroom on a separate level, and in some cases a nursery also. That's what this house provides." Matern appears more concerned with the "ideal" than are most heads of large families who mainly want more stress on function than on aesthetics. This model provides the function—and doesn't ignore the aesthetics.

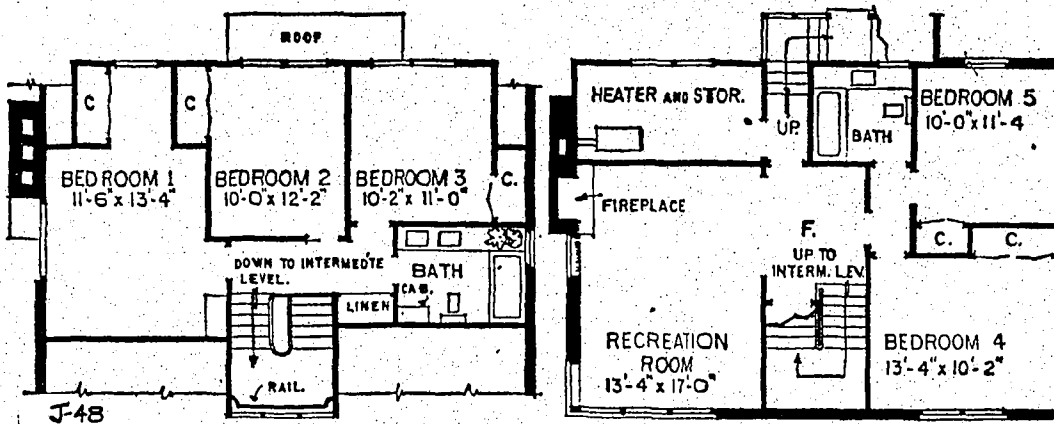

FOR EXAMPLE, look at the interesting breakfast balcony, the stair bay and the covered balcony porch; all examples of glamor with utility.

Another dramatic design feature is the U-shaped stair with its floating platform a half flight above the intermediate level. The platform edge is 18 inches away from the front window wall which has a rail across. Viewed from both above and below, the platform appears to "float" at this level.

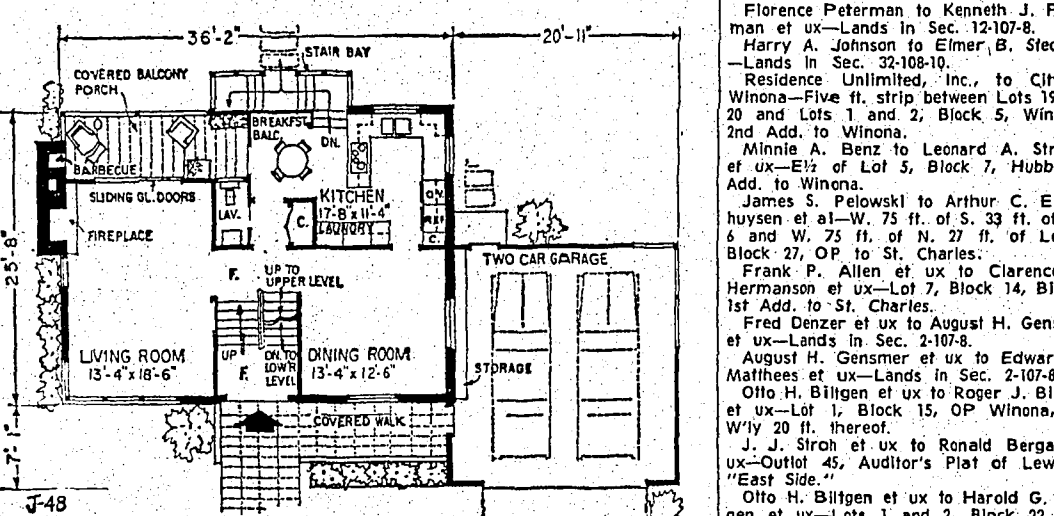

THE PROBLEM of traffic circulation, which becomes more acute

NEW CONCEPT: This house can be termed a "raised 1 1/2-story," since it combines a bi-level (with its mid-level entry and basement) with a story and a half (which has a steep roof pitch to make the attic habitable). The house contains five bedrooms plus all the other rooms a large family requires, yet covers only 930 square feet of ground area.

FLOOR PLANS: The lower level, excluding the heater room, contains 831 square feet; the intermediate level, excluding the garage and covered porch, has 825 square feet; and the upper level contains 718 square feet—a total of 2,374 square feet of living area in a ground cover of only 930 square feet.

as a family grows in size, is greatly eased by having staircases in both front and rear between the lower and intermediate levels.

Traffic to the recreation room, utility room and the lower bedrooms needn't cross through the intermediate level at all.

SCAFFOLD'S BETTER
One advantage of using a scaffold instead of a ladder when you paint the outside of your house is that you are able to paint straight across and thus avoid the possibility of lapmarks which sometimes occur when a strip only a few feet wide is painted.

J-48 Statistics

A "raised 1 1/2-story," with five bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths, living room, dining room, kitchen, breakfast area, recreation room, utility room and two-car garage.

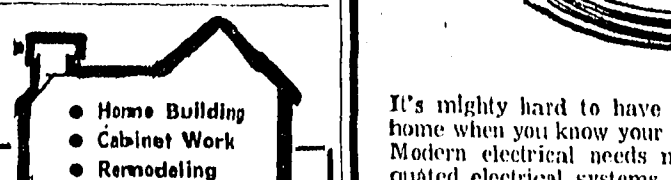

Lower level, excluding utility room, contains 831 square feet intermediate level, excluding porch, contains 825 square feet; upper level contains 718 square feet—total of 2,374 square feet in ground cover of 930 square feet. Overall dimensions are 32 feet 9 inches deep by 57 feet 1 inch wide.

'Iron Curtain' Protects Trees

As winter turns on its most frigid blasts, you may have to choose between your trees and rabbits and ground squirrels. These creatures, plus meadow mice, will eat the bark of trees and buds and twigs of shrubs, even if other food is available. You might say they are compulsive wood eaters.

If your trees or shrubs are endangered, build "iron curtains" around the trunks with wire screening or other hardware. Animal repellents are another deterrent.

PRIME FIRST
Prime any bare metal attached to your home, with anticorrosive primer before starting to paint the siding. In this way you can paint the entire surface at one time instead of stopping to prime and then having to place the ladder against the newly painted siding when you return to coat the metal.

2nd Stringer Fires Detroit Past Vikings

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—If the Minnesota Vikings' defense can be faulted for close losses to Pittsburgh and Chicago, it was the turn of the offense to accept some blame in Sunday's 17-6 defeat by the Detroit Lions in Metropolitan Stadium.

The Viking defenders throttled the Lion ground game to yield only 11 yards rushing the first half as Minnesota took a 6-3 lead into the halftime dressing room.

Then reserve quarterback Earl Morrall, an all but forgotten man this season after the Lions acquired Milt Plum from the Cleveland Browns, came off the bench in the second half to fire Detroit to the two touchdowns that won it.

Still the Viking defense never cracked like it did in those disheartening losses to the Steelers and Bears.

The Minnesota offense, averaging 30 points a game in the previous five outings, managed only two field goals and never could get much of a sustained attack going.

Coach Norm Van Brocklin made no effort to hide his disappointment in the Viking attacking unit.

"Some of us didn't play football today," he said. "We certainly didn't play football in the third quarter when we went out there with a lead. I'm disappointed about that."

There is no question the Vikings were backing one of the National Football League's toughest defensive lines—if not the toughest. But the Vikings had the makings of a good passing day if receivers—most notably flanker Charley Ferguson—had been able to hang onto perfect passes.

Ferguson dropped two from quarterback Fran Tarkenton when the receiver was wide open the first time Minnesota got the ball and this killed the Vikings' early momentum.

Of the powerful Lion defensive forwards, center Mick Tingelhoff offered only this: "We moved them some in the first half, but we didn't move them much after that."

The Vikings had two slim leads before Morrall came on to crush the Minnesota upset hopes against the Western Conference's No. 2 team.

Kicker Jim Christopherson got a 3-0 Viking lead with 5:01 left in the first quarter with a 16-yard field goal. Billy Butler's interception at the Detroit 32 had set that up.

The Lions tied it on Plum's 32-yard fielder midway of the second quarter.

The Vikings then unleashed their best drive of the day to gain the 6-3 edge by halftime. Moving from their own 22, they swept downfield on Tarkenton's passes and runs to put the ball on the Detroit 3-yard line.

Two Tarkenton passes got 33 yards in the march and Fran ran for 24 more.

But from the 8, a pass to Jerry Reichow lost 4, another pass fell incomplete and on fourth down Christopherson booted his second fielder from the 14 with 3:05 left before the half.

Morrall came on to direct the Lion offense for the second half. He had thrown only 10 passes before this year, but that didn't affect his accuracy on this cold, cloudy afternoon. He hit his first four aerials in a row and wound up with 11 of 18 for 137 yards.

A 60-yard bolt by Tom Watkins brought the Detroit attack to life on the third play of the second half. He was finally hauled down from behind by Jim Marshall but the damage was done. On the next play, Morrall hit Jim Gibbons with a 5-yard scoring pass and the Lions never trailed again.

The next time Detroit got the ball it scored again. Morrall hit five of seven passes for 72 yards in a 11-play, 76-yard march—getting the touchdown on a pitch to Gibbons from the two.

Green Bay Survives Colt Offense

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—The most popular question in pro football today is: Just how good are the Green Bay Packers? One good answer: Good enough to win even when outplayed decisively.

The Packers survived a sputtering offense and a rugged Baltimore defense in struggling to a 17-13 decision over the Colts Sunday for their 10th straight victory in defense of the National Football League title.

Another sellout crowd of 38,669 packed City Stadium, expecting Green Bay to have an easier time than in a 17-6 triumph over the Colts in Baltimore two weeks ago. Instead, the Packers had a much tougher task.

The Colts manhandled the local favorites most of the way, but the Packers managed to pull out the victory on a 103-yard kickoff return by Herb Adderley, one 24-yard field goal by Jerry Kramer and a decisive 23-yard touchdown romp by Tom Moore early in the fourth period.

The partisan crowd heartily applauded the scores but the loudest cheers were saved for Green Bay's stout defense, which seemed to be in action all day as the Colts ran off 79 plays from scrimmage to 49 for the Packers.

The defense turned in two tremendous goal-line stands, including one with three minutes to play when the Packers appeared doomed to their first defeat in 19 overall games since the 1961 season.

After a fumble recovery on the Green Bay 48, Baltimore moved behind the passing and running of quarterback Johnny Unitas to a first down on the 7 as the minutes ticked away.

Speedster Lenny Moore went wide to his right for five yards on the 2, but the Green Bay defense stiffened for the second time in the game. Fullback Mark Smpolinski bulldozed to the 1, but then lost the yard on another crack at the line. Unitas then attempted a pass to Jimmy Orr in the end zone, but Adderley knocked the ball away with a lunging effort.

The Colts marched on their 30 to set up a 42-yard field goal by Dick Bielski at 8:36 of the opening period, but the Packers promptly went ahead on Adderley's long dash with the ensuing kickoff.

Adderley, a sophomore halfback or defense, took the kick three yards deep in his end zone and raced straight up the middle. Key blocks by Tom Moore and Ken Iman wiped out the last defenders at the Green Bay 44, enabling Adderley to cut to his right and go untouched the rest of the way.

Adderley, Green Bay's No. 1 draft choice after starring for Michigan State in 1960, intercepted a pass some five minutes later, setting up a 24-yard field goal by Jerry Kramer. It was Adderley's seventh pass theft of the season.

Baltimore went from its 41 to a first down on the Green Bay 1 late in the second period. The Packers then stopped three straight running plays for no gain, before taking possession of the ball as Bill Forester broke through and dropped Unitas for a 13-yard loss on fourth down.

Bielski booted an 18-yard field goal after 6:28 of the second half before the Packers got their attack in gear. Green Bay moved from its 16 to the Baltimore 33 before Boyd Dowler hoisted a punt down on the 2.

The Colts were forced to punt out and Willie Wood returned 21 yards to the Baltimore 51 as the third period ended. Jimmy Taylor raced to the 26 and Bart Starr, rushed heavily, got away a pass for three yards to Ken Kramer. Then Moore broke through tackle on a trap play and sped 23 yards for his touchdown.

The Packers had another fine scoring chance before receiving the late score. Unitas fumbled when hit by Nelson Toburen and Ray Nitschke recovered for the Packers on the Colts' 45. I was Nitschke's second recovery of a Colt fumble.

The Packers, the top offensive unit in the NFL, earned only eight first downs, including one by penalty, and netted a mere 87 yards running and 29 passing. The Colts gained 187 yards overall and piled up a net of 193 in the air.

Taylor, who entered the game as the league's leading scorer and ground gainer, failed to pickup a point and netted just 46 yards in 19 tries.

Moore, playing full-time as halfback Paul Hornung remained on the bench, gained 30 in seven carries. Hornung still is bothered by a twisted knee suffered against Minnesota Oct. 14.

Iman is expected to start Thanksgiving Day when the Packers meet the Lions in Detroit. Green Bay holds a two-game lead over the Lions, who defeated Minnesota 17-6 Sunday and are in danger of finishing second to the Packers in the Western Division race for the third straight year.

The Cleveland Indians of 1962 won 24 games by a one-run margin and lost 21.

Efforts Renewed To Televis Title Contest

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The University of Minnesota renewed efforts today to get permission to televise the Gopher-Wisconsin game Saturday at Madison, Wis.

Minnesota Athletic Director Ike Armstrong said Sunday he is seeking clearance for televising the game, assuming that it will be a sellout.

Fewer than 500 tickets were reported left at Madison Sunday. All 8,500 of the Gopher allotment of tickets has been exhausted. Under NCAA regulations, the game must be sold out before it can be televised regionally.

Big Ten Commissioner Bill Reed had ruled last week that the game could not be televised because of NCAA television scheduling and agreements. But Armstrong said he anticipates favorable action if the game is a sellout.

The partisan crowd heartily applauded the scores but the loudest cheers were saved for Green Bay's stout defense, which seemed to be in action all day as the Colts ran off 79 plays from scrimmage to 49 for the Packers.

The defense turned in two tremendous goal-line stands, including one with three minutes to play when the Packers appeared doomed to their first defeat in 19 overall games since the 1961 season.

After a fumble recovery on the Green Bay 48, Baltimore moved behind the passing and running of quarterback Johnny Unitas to a first down on the 7 as the minutes ticked away.

Speedster Lenny Moore went wide to his right for five yards on the 2, but the Green Bay defense stiffened for the second time in the game. Fullback Mark Smpolinski bulldozed to the 1, but then lost the yard on another crack at the line. Unitas then attempted a pass to Jimmy Orr in the end zone, but Adderley knocked the ball away with a lunging effort.

The Colts marched on their 30 to set up a 42-yard field goal by Dick Bielski at 8:36 of the opening period, but the Packers promptly went ahead on Adderley's long dash with the ensuing kickoff.

Adderley, a sophomore halfback or defense, took the kick three yards deep in his end zone and raced straight up the middle. Key blocks by Tom Moore and Ken Iman wiped out the last defenders at the Green Bay 44, enabling Adderley to cut to his right and go untouched the rest of the way.

Adderley, Green Bay's No. 1 draft choice after starring for Michigan State in 1960, intercepted a pass some five minutes later, setting up a 24-yard field goal by Jerry Kramer. It was Adderley's seventh pass theft of the season.

Baltimore went from its 41 to a first down on the Green Bay 1 late in the second period. The Packers then stopped three straight running plays for no gain, before taking possession of the ball as Bill Forester broke through and dropped Unitas for a 13-yard loss on fourth down.

Bielski booted an 18-yard field goal after 6:28 of the second half before the Packers got their attack in gear. Green Bay moved from its 16 to the Baltimore 33 before Boyd Dowler hoisted a punt down on the 2.

The Colts were forced to punt out and Willie Wood returned 21 yards to the Baltimore 51 as the third period ended. Jimmy Taylor raced to the 26 and Bart Starr, rushed heavily, got away a pass for three yards to Ken Kramer. Then Moore broke through tackle on a trap play and sped 23 yards for his touchdown.

Packers Win 10th Straight

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—The most popular question in pro football today is: Just how good are the Green Bay Packers? One good answer: Good enough to win even when outplayed decisively.

The Packers survived a sputtering offense and a rugged Baltimore defense in struggling to a 17-13 decision over the Colts Sunday for their 10th straight victory in defense of the National Football League title.

BADGERS SLIGHT FAVORITES

Defense vs Offense in Title Clash

By JOE MOOSHL Associated Press Sports Writer.

What the big football race settles down to when Wisconsin and Minnesota clash at Madison Saturday for the Big Ten Conference football championship.

Wisconsin, the nation's scoring leader with an average of 34½ points a game, sealed a bid to the Rose Bowl with a 35-4 rout of Illinois Saturday.

Minnesota, one of the year's outstanding defensive teams, came from behind and defeated Purdue 7-5. The Gophers, who are not eligible to appear in the Rose Bowl this season, held the Boilermakers to two field goals, marking the sixth time in eight games they have kept the opposition from scoring a touchdown.

Neither team will be lacking incentive. Needing only the formality of an athletic directors vote to become the official Rose Bowl representative, Wisconsin also has a chance to win the national championship.

The Badgers were ranked fourth in The Associated Press poll last week and should climb at least one notch this week following top-ranked Alabama's loss to Georgia Tech.

Minnesota, the Rose Bowl representative of the past two seasons on the strength of a title tie in 1960 and a second-place finish last year, has not won the undisputed Big Ten championship since 1941.

Minnesota's victory over Purdue and Northwestern's 31-7 loss brought about the title match between the Badgers and the Gophers. In other games Saturday, Iowa defeated Michigan 23-14 and Ohio State slugged Oregon 35-7.

Wisconsin probably will be a slight favorite Saturday if for no other reason than the Badgers will be at home. Also, in comparison against common foes, Wisconsin has been far more impressive as might be expected of a high-scoring team.

10 MEN CHARGED

Basketball Bribers Slated for Court

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—The case of 10 men charged with 99 bribery counts in alleged attempts to fix 10 North Carolina State college basketball games was scheduled to start in Superior Court here today.

Defendants are Joseph Hacken, Aaron Wagman, Joseph Greene, Charles Tucker, Dave Budin, Michael Siegal, Lou Barshak and Paul Walker, all of New York City, and Dave Goldberg and Steve Lekometros, both of St. Louis.

Solicitor (prosecutor) Lester Chalmers said Walker already has pleaded guilty to seven bribery counts, and Chalmers added, "I expect that several other pleas will be entered."

The Wake County Grand Jury returned a 99-count indictment Jan. 9. It accused the defendants of rigging the outcome of several college basketball games in Raleigh, including one contest each in the Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament and the Dixie Classic.

Expected to testify for the state are four former North Carolina State players—Stan Niewierowski, Anton Muellbauer, Terry Litchfield and Don Gallagher—and former University of North Carolina player Lou Brown.

The indictment listed 10 games involving North Carolina State between Dec. 5, 1959 and Jan. 7, 1961, as being fixed. It said gamblers offered money to players who would perform so as to affect the outcome of the game, either by playing to lose or to shave the victory margin.

Several men charged in the indictment were not on hand. Some were being tried elsewhere, some were fighting extradition and one was still eluding law enforcement officers.

U.S. Better Count Blessings

NEW YORK — The Cuban "crisis" — that formerly precise word has now dug into the language abrasively as an expected way of life like "hurricane" — has more or less petered out, as so many of the brave-sounding New Frontier projects do wind up lamely in what Henry J. Taylor calls "downhill diplomacy."

We have been taken into camp again by the antics in the Kremlin, in this instance "cutie" being used in the prize-ring sense. A cutie is a fighter who scuffles and clutches and hangs on in order to tie up his opponent — so that, even in winning, the punching opponent looks bad. A cutie won't stand and slug; he wrestles his man into what the bureau boys now call a poor "posture." He "escalates" — where in the name of God do they dig up these clichés? — into impotence, at least apparently.

Right now we have been out-cutied in the crisis, and escalated backward instead of forward by the Russians, the Cubans and the water-knead United Nations into a very poor posture in the matter of nuclear arms inspection.

The withdrawal of the Ilyushin bombers and the position of Cuba itself as a nation which is able to become a bully because it's too little to hit. By "we," I don't mean you and me. I mean the government of the United States.

I think we can be pretty damn' proud of you and me, as a matter of fact. In the recent business when the President called and raised the Russian bluff in Cuba — with nuclear war as an alternative if the Russians recalled and raised again — the American people measured up just fine.

PERHAPS they shaped up as better than fine when you consider that the American population has not been directly involved in any sort of war in more than 100 years.

Of course mothers yielded sons; wives gave husbands; families cracked up. But this war has been fought overseas on other people's real estate; no bombers have flown over American cities, and apart from some mild deprivations the American civil populace suffered not at all since the Civil War.

I do declare there was more beefing over meat coupons and Cuban gin and gas rationing and cigarette shortages in World War I than I heard a couple of weeks ago, when there was a better than fair chance that the North American continent might resolve itself into a radioactive rubble-heap before cockroach if the Russians decided to cut up nasty.

AT THE time of greatest stress I was in Washington, certainly a city with high priority on the bombing list if the Russians decided to activate their atomic armament in Cuba. There was a little panic buying, but not much. There was some revived interest in bomb shelters, but nothing really frenetic in the way of burrowing underground. So far as I know, there was no mass exodus to the hills.

This calmness seems to have

5 Survivors of Ship Fire Land

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Five survivors of the Greek freighter Captain George unloaded a touching and ironical story today of how they risked great odds in abandoning the burning ship while fellow crewmen took a safer lifeboat but were lost in the stormy Atlantic Ocean.

The five men, all from the Aegean area of Greece, arrived here late Sunday night aboard the Liberian-flag tanker, the Trinity Navigator. The Trinity picked them up from the Atlantic more than 200 miles northeast of Bermuda after they abandoned the Captain George in a storm Thursday.

The five men were Antonios Arapis, 47, Costas Veletzas, 20, Themis Patsatzis, 36, George Anthis, 24, and Stelios Paschalides, 55.

Veletzas and Paschalides, speaking through an interpreter, explained that there was one lifeboat on the right side of the Captain George and another on the left side. The right side was the windward side facing into heavy gales.

When the master ordered the crew to abandon ship after the men stayed with it 18 hours trying to extinguish the fire and jettisoning the cargo of ammunition from the holds, the five were unable to get to the left-side lifeboat because of a heavy screen of sulphur fumes.

They decided to go over the windward side. The other crew members preferred to wait and go on the boat which was safer — on the leeward side.

As it turned out, the five were rescued after being in the water about an hour. Twenty crewmen piled into the other lifeboat, but only two of them were rescued by another Liberian-flag tanker, the Virginia which headed for Montreal.

The men were examined by a doctor who said none of them suffered any serious injuries. They left for New York where they will undergo further examination and interrogation.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market turned mixed in fairly active trading early this afternoon, slicing some gains made at the session's start.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down .25 to 232.9 with industrials off .5, rails up .1, and utilities unchanged.

Gains and losses of most pivotal issues were fractional, but a few went to a point or so.

The leading steels were narrowly mixed. Some of the top rails space section was thoroughly scrambled, with some recent big gainers taking sharp losses.

General Dynamics led a point and Grumman fell over a point. Boeing was unchanged. Douglas Aircraft spurred more than a point.

Chrysler up more than a point was the outstanding strong point in the motor section. General Motors dropped a fraction. American Motors and Ford eased.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 2.81 at 628.17. Corporate bonds were irregularly higher. U.S. government bonds edged lower.
