World Prepares to Receive New Year

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The end of an internationally tense 1962 and the start of an uncertain 1963 arrive tonight for countless millions around the troubled world.

For many, the midnight transition from the old to the new will bring joyful reflections. For others, it will spark sad recollections. Millions will flock to churches to raise their voices in song and prayer — thanking God for the blessings of the old year and asking His guidance through the year to come.

Others will sing out the old and shout in the new at entertainment spots ranging from cozy corner taverns and tiny dance halls to big city auditoriums and night clubs.

To get to their parties, some will trudge through inches of snow. Others will walk along palm-lined boulevards under balmy summer-like skies.

Many will be oblivious to the magic instant. They are the very sick, the very young, the very tired.

The moment will go virtually unnoticed by those assigned to the task of keeping the vital services of a complex society rolling.

Some will die around the stroke of twelve. Others will be sparked into life.

Particular emphasis has been put on highway safety with hotels, coffee shops, expensive restaurants and churches offering free lodging, coffee and a moment of rest for those whose celebrating might leave them incapable of safe driving.

The Pennsylvania and New Jersey turnpike commissions will offer free hot coffee to any person traveling the super highways.

The Travelers Hotel near La Guardia Airport in New York has offered free overnight lodging to any celebrant who feels the need of it.

Members of the Adaman group will usher in the New Year by an assault on the 14,110-foot Pike's Peak in Colorado. From the summit, the groups hopes to set off a fireworks display at midnight.

An estimated 12,000 men, women and children will go through last-minute dress rehearsals for the annual Mummies' parade in Philadelphia on New Year's Day.

The 73,000 temple bells that echo across Japan New Year's Eve will include for the first time in 20 years an old favorite reclaimed from Iowa.

The bell, the Chōai-in Gankōji temple bell, had rung for three centuries in Japan before it was silenced and disappeared during World War II. It turned up on the Iowa State University campus and was brought back this year to Japan.

Youth Killed As Car Burns At La Crosse

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Six persons have died in Wisconsin traffic accidents since the start of the new year's holiday period.

The state's toll for the year is 949, compared with 904 on the final day of 1961 and the record of 955 in 1956.

Michael Bina, 19, of La Crosse was killed Sunday night when a car hit a curb on the West Channel Bridge on the outskirts of the city, went out of control and burst into flames. A companion was injured seriously. Authorities said the car was not equipped with seat belts.

Duane G. Frosch, 25, and his brother, Roger, 18, both of Sauk City, were killed Saturday night when their car skidded on icy Dane County Highway Y near Mazomanie, left the road and hit a tree stump.

Stanley Frosch, 22, also of Sauk City, a brother of the dead men, was injured and in serious condition in a Madison hospital. He said the three had been hunting near Mazomanie.

William Reick, 66, Milwaukee, was killed Saturday night when struck by a car at an intersection on the city's South Side.

A one-car crash in the city of Greendale in Milwaukee County took the life of Bernard S. Chmielewski Sunday night.

Robert Piper, 40, of Merton, died Saturday night when he tumbled from a car which failed to make a curve on Waukesha County Highway F near Merton.

The holiday period began at 6 p.m. Friday and will end at midnight Tuesday.

20 Reported Injured in West Montana

SUPERIOR, Mont. (AP) — A predawn collision between a grain truck and an eastbound bus sent the bus hurtling into an ice-choked river today and killed six persons.

The victims included four bus passengers, bus driver and one of the men aboard the truck.

About 20 other persons were injured, Sheriff Francis Tamietta estimated, and some of them hospitalized at Superior, a western Montana community about 70 miles west of Missoula.

Rescue workers at the crash scene were reported using blow torches to free some of the passengers.

Emergency hospital facilities were prepared at Missoula to receive injured who could not be cared for at Superior.

The sheriff said the Greyhound bus, a Sencircruiser, swerved off U.S. Highway 10 about 17 miles west of Superior and plunged into the St. Regis River, a small tributary of the Clark's Fork River.

At Spokane a bus company spokesman said 41 passengers were aboard the bus when it left Spokane at 2:15 a.m.

The bus dispatcher at Spokane identified the bus driver as J. B. Mayer, Spokane.

Traffic Deaths Work Up to 178

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Traffic	178
Fires	42
Miscellaneous	48
Total	268

The nation's traffic death toll in the first half of the long New Year weekend appeared running below pre-holiday estimates by safety experts despite a spurt in fatalities Sunday.

A survey of accidental deaths since 6 p.m. (local time) Friday showed 178 killed in traffic; 42 in fires and 48 in miscellaneous mishaps. The over-all total was 268. The holiday ends at midnight Tuesday.

Snowy, windy and cold weather made driving conditions hazardous in broad areas in the Northeast and sections of the Midwest. The National Safety Council has estimated that 420 to 480 persons may be killed in traffic accidents during the 102-hour New Year holiday period. The record traffic toll for a four-day New Year period was 409 in the 1956-57 observance.

The traffic death toll in the first half of the current holiday was far less than for the comparable period during the extended Christmas weekend when more than 300 fatalities were reported. The final Christmas tally showed 646 traffic deaths.

Last year's New Year holiday covered three days and the final tabulation showed 337 traffic fatalities, 83 fire deaths and 59 killed in miscellaneous accidents, for a total of 479.

Europe Awaits Relief in Worst Blizzard in Years

LONDON (AP) — Prospects of a thaw in southern England brought hope of relief today after a week-end of the worst blizzards in memory.

The big freeze spread over much of continental Europe. Rising temperatures in Austria and France brought the danger of avalanches around the crowded ski centers.

Deep snowdrifts brought traffic almost to a standstill in most of southern England. The weather man predicted that a belt of rain moving across the area later today might bring milder weather.

At least five deaths in Britain were attributed to the weather. A man and his wife froze to death in their car buried under a 15-foot snowdrift in a rural spot in Dorset County. The couple's daughter, grandson and another man were rescued unconscious and in critical condition.

Helicopters rescued a number of stranded travelers. Traffic in and out of main cities was halted completely. Snow lay so deep on some highways that attempts to clear it were abandoned.

Roads linking London with the channel ports of Dover and Folkestone were impassable Sunday. Snowplows worked all night at London Airport to keep one runway clear.

The blizzards also swept across Ireland, immobilizing road traffic and closing Dublin airport. Several automobile accidents were reported from northern and eastern France, where temperatures remained below freezing and the roads were covered with ice.

$100,000 Paint Fire in Sheboygan

SHEBOYGAN, Wis. (AP) — An explosion ripped a paint manufacturing plant Sunday, touching off a fire and causing damage estimated at $100,000. There were no injuries.

Earlier, fire swept a downtown retail store, resulting in a loss of $13,000. Both buildings were unoccupied.

The blast occurred in the boiler room of the D. J. Peterson Co., Inc., on the West Side. The room's eight-inch thick concrete ceiling was crumbled by the explosion. Cause of the blast was not known immediately.

The resulting fire was not brought under control until a utility company employe arrived and turned off gas which was feeding the fire from a ruptured line.

Chesapeake Merger OKed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission set up one of the nation's biggest railroad mergers today by authorizing the Chesapeake & Ohio to gain control of the Baltimore & Ohio.

Approval of the control plan came as two other big Eastern railroad unification plans were being processed by the commission.

These would unite the New York Central with the Pennsylvania and the Nickel Plate with the Norfolk & Western.

The commission emphasized that the C&O-B&O case involves only an acquisition of control by an exchange of stock. But the C&O had made quite clear that this was intended as a preliminary step to merger of its operations and those of the B&O.

The ICC said the stock-exchange deal between the C&O and B&O would strengthen the financial condition of the B&O and both carriers will continue to operate as separate railroads.

"Approval of the application will not foreclose our opportunity to consider the lawfulness of any future merger application," the commission added, "nor will it prevent interested parties from raising objections to proposals of that application when it is presented to the commission for its approval."

But railroad industry observers had acknowledged beforehand that approval of the C&O-B&O control plan would be a major step toward the proposed development of three major rail systems in the East through merger.

Trains in Crash At Chippewa Falls

CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis. (AP) — A Soo Line passenger train and a freight collided head-on at slow speed at Boyd, Wis., about midnight Sunday. One woman passenger was taken to a Chippewa Falls hospital.

Extent of injury to Mrs. Rocco Valentino, Fondulac the passenger, was not immediately known.

Involved in the collision were passenger train No. 6, traveling from St. Paul to Owen, Wis., and west bound freight No. 28. Boyd is about 17 miles east of Chippewa Falls.

Railroad officials said both trains were able to proceed after a delay of about two hours. None of the cars derailed.

The passenger train locomotive was taken out of service because of damage, but the freight continued. One baggage car was also taken out of service because of a broken coupling, rail officials said.

Jan. 1 Estimated Population Will Be 188,045,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — New Year's Day will dawn on 188,045,000 men, women and children in the United States.

That's the Jan. 1 population as estimated by the Census Bureau. Such an auld lang syne chorus has 2,755,000 voices more than the one that welcomed the New Year 1962.

Norstad Retires After 32 Years

A sketch by Milton Caniff, creator of Steve Canyon, may see a similarity in Col. Canyon of story strip fame, with Gen. Norstad.

WASHINGTON—Gen. Lauris Norstad, NATO's Supreme Allied Commander Europe, retires from active duty today, after more than 32 years distinguished service in the United States Air Force.

Following simple ceremonies at SHAPE Headquarters in Paris, the general will depart for Canada, en route home. He is expected to make a final farewell call on the Minister of Defense in Ottawa and will stop over briefly in Minneapolis before proceeding to Washington.

Gen. and Mrs. Norstad will be honored in Washington, Jan. 8 at a dinner co-hosted by Secretary of the Air Force and Mrs. Eugene M. Zuckert and Air Force Chief of Staff and Mrs. Curtis E. LeMay. More than 200 guests from Washington's highest governmental and military circles are expected to attend.

GEN. NORSTAD was born in Minneapolis, Minnesota, March 24, 1907, the son of a hard-working Lutheran minister. After finishing high school in Red Wing, Minn., "Larry" was graduated from West Point in 1930 and went on to flight training.

He became a brigadier general at 36. When he was promoted to four-star rank in 1952, he was the youngest full general in the United States Air Force.

Winter Assails Eastern States

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Winter unleashed its fury on the Eastern section of the nation in the last hours of the year.

Below-zero temperatures were reported today in many spots. High velocity winds tore down power lines, may have swept a youth off a ferryboat to apparent death, and overturned a motorboat whose operator drowned.

The powerful gusts also ripped off a movie house roof, toppled a huge construction crane and literally blew a river from its bed, stranding numerous boats.

The wintry blast also brought fresh accumulations of snow in some places.

Bangor, Maine, had at least 21 inches of new snow on top of the 15 inches previously fallen. Howling winds piled up drifts as high as 20 feet. The state's third largest city, population 50,000, was "just about paralyzed," according to one newsman.

The Bangor Daily News failed to publish its morning paper today, for the first time since 1899.

The Maine blizzard, termed the worst in a decade, also forced closing of Bangor movie houses for the first time in memory and stranded some 2,000 persons in buses and cars throughout the state.

Maine's Gov. John H. Reed appealed to citizens to take in the refugees.

The 4,500 persons in Lincoln, Maine, some 40 miles north of Bangor, were reported isolated with no power and all roads blocked.

Maryland recorded three deaths in sledding accidents—a boy and a girl whose sleds were struck by cars and a boy whose sled careened into a tree.

Six Boy Scouts were trapped several hours in a car stuck in a snow drift in Washington County, Pa., before highway crews freed them.

No Paper Tuesday

In order that Winona Daily News employes may observe the New Year's Day holiday, this newspaper will not publish a paper on Tuesday, Jan. 1.

We ask all of our friends to observe the day safely and urge you to look for the Daily News as usual Wednesday.

Happy New Year.

Tugboat With 9 Aboard Lost

NEW YORK (AP)—A tugboat with nine men aboard was presumed lost today in wild and frigid waters of Long Island Sound.

The Coast Guard said the 100-foot vessel, the Gwendolyn Steers, apparently went down in the vicinity of Target Rock and Eaton's Neck Point, about 40 miles east of New York.

A lifeboat from the vessel was washed ashore with one body in it. The victim, not immediately identified, apparently had died of exposure. There was no indication of survivors.

The tug disappeared after radiating late Sunday that she was taking on water. A storm was raging at the time, with winds churning up 15-foot waves.

The Casual Observer

By GRETCHEN L. LAMBERTON

GLORY, glory hallelujah, and cheers, cheers, cheers! Last Thursday and Friday there appeared in my mailbox the first garden catalogs of the year, and that means winter's practically over. Not only that but the days are getting longer, believe it or not. For instance, today the length of daylight is three minutes greater than it has been during that ten-day period of solstice, Dec. 17-27, when there were only nine hours and six minutes of daylight. From now on there will be about two minutes of extra daylight each day, so you see spring is on the way.

But what am I saying? Every time I make an enthusiastic statement like that it brings on the prize blizzard of the year, so maybe that last paragraph about spring had better be modified. Let's just say cautiously that the 1963 seed catalogs are being distributed and that the days have ceased getting shorter. It might also be permissible to add that some of Winona's stores are showing sleeveless pastel silk or cotton dresses and flowery hats in their windows, and that some pussy willow twigs I picked on my hill on Christmas day are popping out into furry kittens.

This final week of 1962 it's customary for newspapers and magazines to take stock of the year's happenings, so we might as well get into the act too. In contrast to 1961, which was pretty much of a flop as far as we were concerned, 1962 was rose-hued. In February the cast that had weighed down my arm for three months was taken off, and I headed for Arizona, my first trip out there, to get some sun. There wasn't much sun but, contrary to my expectations, I was fascinated with the strange and different desert country and had a marvelous time with old friends. Back home in Minnesota the spring and summer weather were exactly the way I like it — cool with some rain. Having suffered in the sultry Minnesota summer heat for years I decided to do something about it and put in an air conditioner — which I only had to use for a few hours one unbearable afternoon. My daughter and I divided up the young Lambertons who arrived eight strong from New York to spend a month, and we had a wonderful time visiting. During this month a block-long stretch of West Broadway was blocked off; consequently the middle of the street in the middle of the little New Yorkers, the three Winona cousins and crowds of neighborhood youngsters. It was a wonderful sight.

As most Minnesota autumns are, the fall was beautiful. I spent an exciting November in New York visiting my New York son's family and poking around town with friends, then experienced the windup of the harvest season on my other son's Indiana farm. Home in time for hectic Christmas preparations — I still haven't gotten around to sending out my Christmas cards.

A melancholy note for the family in December: my mother fell and broke a shoulder bone and six days later my sister broke her wrist. Greatest disappointment of the year: when instead of using one of Winona's slightly old "slum business blocks" to build our sprawling new post office our serene old Central Park was destroyed and used as a location. Greatest thrill of the year: when we all suffered through the awful suspense of the Cuban crisis and wondered if our President knew what on earth he was doing, then realized that he knew exactly what he was doing.

Happy New Year to all readers, and a fine 1963!

More Russian Atomic Subs Than Realized

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—A senior admiral said Saturday that while this country has a long headstart on building atomic-powered submarines, the Soviets "now have a greater number than most people realize."

Vice Adm. John W. Thach, the Pacific fleet's antisubmarine warfare chief, did not mention any numbers. There have been reliable reports that 10 Soviet nuclear-powered subs are in commission or nearly so, and that the Soviet atomic sub fleet may double by the end of 1963.

The United States has 27 nuclear-powered submarines, nine of them Polaris missile-firing craft. Within the next year, the U.S. atomic sub force is due to grow to 41 boats, including 18 Polaris. It has 115 conventional submarines for a total of 142.

This country commissioned its first nuclear sub, the Nautilus, eight years ago.

As late as six years ago, the Soviets put on a massive sub building campaign—turning out about 85 new vessels in 1956 alone. But they were diesel-powered boats and this was a "serious strategic blunder," said Vice Adm. Elton W. Grenfell, submarine force commander with the Atlantic Fleet.

The Soviets evidently realized this, because they stopped building conventional subs and began gearing up for production of nuclear submarines armed with missiles, Thach said.

The Soviet navy's nuclear sub building program is doing "better than expected," he said, and "I know of no reason to doubt" claims that they have fired ballistic missiles from submerged craft. It appears likely, Thach said, that the Soviets gradually will replace their 400 or more conventional submarines with nuclear-powered craft—"if not boat for boat, then on a ratio of perhaps two of the new for three of the old."

This ratio would mean about 245 Soviet nuclear-powered submarines eventually.

Under present plans, the American nuclear submarine force will total 81 boats—41 of them carrying 456 nuclear-tipped missiles.

able to reach 2,800 miles to hit targets deep inside the Soviet Union.

Thach and Grenfell discussed the submarine situation in the U.S. Naval Institute Proceedings, a semi-official professional journal.

Badger Legislators Meet Again Jan. 9

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The lame-duck 1961 legislature killed 21 measures, upheld 11 vetoes by Gov. Gaylord Nelson and deferred action on 14 of the governor's appointments Friday.

The Republican-controlled legislature adjourned until Jan. 9, the day the new legislature convenes, in a move to insure GOP control during the change of Democratic governors.

The Senate voted to override five vetoes, but the Assembly did not follow suit. The legislature approved a resolution paying tribute to the late Assembly Speaker David Blanchard, 41, of Edgerton, who died last week.

Wayzata Judge Cleared On Court Fees Account

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Hennepin County Grand Jury has cleared Wayzata Municipal Judge Earle H. Johnson Jr. of any wrongdoing in connection with court fees while serving as judge and court clerk. County Attorney George M.

Scott said a grand jury held there was only misrepresentation of the law, and that Johnson had acted under a 1957 statute which was vague.

A report of the Minnesota public examiner's office to the Wayzata

City Council stated it was illegal for a judge to serve as clerk, and said that fees collected by Johnson should have been turned over to the city treasurer. Johnson later turned in some $3,428.50 in fees to the treasurer.

Retraining Course Offered Officially

The federal government is willing to finance a course in stenography for unemployed and underemployed persons in this area but the questions of when, where and by whom the class will be organized won't be answered at least until next week.

The Minnesota Department of Employment Security and the state Department of Education in a joint announcement revealed that authorization has been granted for organization of seven special training classes in Winona and the Twin Cities under provisions of the federal Manpower Development and Training Act.

WINONA WAS authorized to train 20 persons in stenographic work; the other classes in machine shop, auto body repair, clerk-typing and keypunch operation would be offered in Minneapolis and St. Paul.

The Winona Board of Education, however, earlier this month deferred action on a proposal that the retraining class—if authorized by the state—be organized within the Winona Area Vocational-Technical School.

The school board has been contacted by the Winona office of the state Employment Service after a survey here had indicated that there were unemployed and underemployed persons in this area eligible for training under provisions of the federal act.

If such a class were to be offered by the vocational-technical school the school district would be reimbursed for the cost of training, including instructors' salaries, building rental, equipment purchases and miscellaneous expenses. It's been estimated that this would amount to approximately $500 a student.

WHEN A VOTE was taken on the question of whether the school board should enter into any agreement for sponsorship of the class there were questions as to whether such instruction was available here through other agencies and one director expressed general opposition to the federally-aided program as it would be administered.

The board asked Superintendent of Schools A. L. Nelson to obtain additional information to answer these questions and tabled action on the proposal until next Monday's meeting.

The courses authorized for Winona and the Twin Cities are announced by the two state agencies, would start in January. The stenography course here would be for 20 students and would run for 32 weeks. Length of the Twin Cities courses range from 11 to 26 weeks. A total of 113 unemployed persons would be trained in the seven special classes.

PERSONS SELECTED for training may be eligible for a "training allowance" based on average unemployment compensation payments paid by the state during the most recent calendar quarter for which data is available.

Students over 19 but under 22 may be eligible for a "youth training allowance" not to exceed $20 a week.

Baumann Files For Re-election

Howard Baumann

All incumbent City Council members whose terms expire in April now have filed for re-election.

The list was completed today as Howard Baumann, veteran 3rd Ward alderman, filed for a fifth term. There have been no other filings for the 3rd Ward post to date.

BAUMANN, 58, has served more years consecutively than any other member of the Council. He has been a member of the finance committee since he was first elected in 1947 and has been its chairman the last 14 years. Other committee assignments include: Streets, parking and safety, sanitary and engineering, health and welfare, licenses, lighting, insurance and civil defense.

He is a lifelong resident of the city and lives at 263 Kansas St. He is married and has a married daughter living at Endicott, N.Y., and a son attending Winona State College.

Baumann joined Watkins Products full time after graduating from high school in 1923. He is now raw materials control manager for the firm.

He is a member of St. Martin's Lutheran Church, the Winona Athletic Club and the Winona County Old Settlers' Association.

"A NUMBER of friends have contacted me to ask if I would file for the Council again from the 3rd Ward, and this has prompted me to become a candidate for a fifth term.

"I do this not only because I wish to represent the 3rd Ward, but because I have always had the best interests of the whole city at heart. If elected, I hope to continue to provide good representation for the 3rd Ward while keeping the problems of the city as a whole foremost in mind.

"I have often been called 'The Watchdog of the Council' and it has always been my policy to keep a very close check on city financial affairs. It is my intention to continue keeping a close watch on these things in the interest of good government and efficient administration."

Kathryn M. Lester, 22, 453 Macemon St., escaped injury when her car was forced off Goodview Road at 1:15 p.m. Sunday.

She was driving west on the road, going up to the crest of a hill, when she met another car that did not allow her enough room on the road, she told sheriff's deputies.

Her car swerved onto the right snow-packed shoulder, along it for 120 feet, then skidded 45 feet across the road into the left or south ditch. The car struck the far bank of the ditch nearly head-on, then swung end-for-end 60 feet and stopped facing southwest, said the deputies.

Damage to the car was about $250. The driver of the other car is unknown, according to the deputies. Goodview Road is a black-top road that starts near St. Mary's College and goes toward Goodview.

NEAR MELTING

1963 to Start On Warm Note

The new year is expected to arrive tonight on a mild note with variable cloudiness and warmer weather forecast for tonight and New Year's Day.

A low tonight of between 10 and 20 and a high Tuesday of around 25-30 are expected. However, Wednesday will be colder with snow flurries.

PRECIPITATION is expected to average 1.0 of an inch or less in light snow, most likely the latter part of the week.

The Winona area had a fairly chilly weekend with the temperature dropping to 3 Sunday morning and 6 this morning. High Saturday afternoon was 12 and Sunday afternoon 11. At noon today it was 21. Snow coverage had been cut to two inches or less.

A YEAR AGO today the city had a high of 21 and a low of 7 with 7 inches of snow on the ground. All-time high for Dec. 31 was 54 in 1875 and the low -24 in 1916. Mean temperature for the past 24 hours was 9. Normal for this day is 17.

Minnesota and Wisconsin highway department officials reported main highways in good winter driving condition with the exception of some slippery spots.

A couple of below zero readings appeared on the Minnesota weather map today with International Falls having -5 and Bemidji -3. It was also -3 at Duluth.

Elsewhere regular reporting stations had figures above the zero mark. Rochester posted a morning reading of 3 after a Sunday high of 11 and La Crosse had 9 and 11 for the same times.

Slightly warmer weather is predicted for WISCONSIN as residents prepare to ring in the New Year.

Snow was falling in the Milwaukee area this morning and some light snow is predicted for the north tonight, but the weatherman says there won't be enough of it to interfere with the New Year's celebrations.

A low of 14 below was reported at Wausau early today. Park Falls had 10 below, Green Bay 9 below, Superior 3 below, Madison 3 above, Racine and Beloit 5, Milwaukee and Eau Claire 6.

IN SUNDAY'S frigid weather, the mercury reached a high of only 12 at Lone Rock and Racine. Other maximums ranged down to Park Falls 4.

Pellston, Mich., set the national low mark of 19 below zero early today, compared with the high of 76 Sunday at West Palm Beach, Fla.

Richard J. Harwood, 19, 270 E. 5th St., this morning pleaded guilty in District Court here to a charge of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. Judge Leo E. Murphy ordered a pre-sentence investigation.

Police Chief Frank Ramon, who takes his orders from Clinton, says a 30-man squad will start a four-day crackdown on New Year's morning. He says anyone caught operating or participating in a game of chance will be hauled off to jail, booked and allowed to post bond ranging from $250 to $300. Not even church and fraternity bingo games will be exempt.

Meanwhile, the city continues to issue licenses, in accordance with the council's decision. Most tavern operators contacted in a spot check said they planned to renew their pinball licenses in the hope they would be permitted to continue operating the machines.

Theoretically, the pinball machines are for amusement only, with the player getting additional games free if he wins. The practice, however, is to pay off in cash.

Money limits are prescribed for card rooms, but critics of the tolerance policy say they are not observed.

Ramon says any machines on which payouts are being made will be seized when the crackdown goes into effect.

Seattle Mayor Out to End Legal Gambling

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Policy under which Seattle tolerates Gordon Clinton has his way. The City Council has other ideas.

Under the policy, initiated in 1947, the city licenses pinball machines, punchboards, card games and other such devices. But state law makes gambling a felony and the state Constitution outlaws lotteries, which the courts gambling devices and reaps $900,000 a year in license fees will end on New Year's day if Mayor have held to include all gambling.

Clinton, an ex-FBI agent and long-time scoutmaster, contends the city should comply with the law, and has ordered all gambling stopped at 8 a.m. New Year's Day.

The City Council has voted 6-2 to keep the tolerance policy in force until March 15 in the hope the legislature will have done something by then to get the city off the hook. The legislature convenes Jan. 14.

Police Chief Frank Ramon, who takes his orders from Clinton, says a 30-man squad will start a four-day crackdown on New Year's morning. He says anyone caught operating or participating in a game of chance will be hauled off to jail, booked and allowed to post bond ranging from $250 to $300. The City Council's ordinance ending tolerance on March 15 also provides for an end to pinball payoffs. Noting that the pinballs aren't supposed to pay off anyway, one letter-to-the-editor writer suggested this title:

"An ordinance for amusement only, providing for the operation of pinball machines for amusement only."

A break-in was attempted at the Dominic Jercezek residence at 474 Chatfield St. between 3 and 6 p.m. Saturday, according to police. Jercezek called police later that night to report the break-in. Nothing was taken, according to police.

A reporter wandered into the infirmary, found a tongue depressor and used it to stir the martini he was holding.

"Are you a replacement for a replacement in the city room?" the reporter asked.

"I'm from the MEA," the visitor said. Since the reporter blinked and continued to stir his martini, the visitor added: "The Martini Expeditionary Association. We make trips here and there. And I've been sent to study Winona New Year's Eve parties."

"You look like any other Winoman to me," the reporter said, with the skepticism of his trade. "Show me your space ship."

Police Say Man Ran Into Same Barricade Twice

Police said that a motorist hit the same street barricade twice Sunday afternoon.

According to police Nigel Stoneburg, 34, 615 Lafayette St., was driving his 1957 Imperial north on Center Street at 3:35 p.m. and ran into the dead end barricade at the intersection of Center and Bellevue streets. He backed away, said police, drove around the block and then ran into the barricade again.

This time he knocked the barricade down, according to police, who were called, but Stoneburg had left. Police said they matched up parts from his car left at the scene and found his car early today and arrested him.

He has been charged with injury to miscellaneous property, driving with no driver's license and leaving the scene of an accident. Damage to his car is more than $50. He is to appear in court Wednesday.

Grace Brethren Purchases Land

The congregation of Grace Brethren Church can look forward to the future with the possibility of having a new church.

The congregation, affiliated with the Brethren Home Mission Council, Inc., has purchased five lots in block two of H. M. Dunn's subdivision in Goodview near 7th Street and 45th Avenue.

Pastor Quinten Matthees said the land was purchased with the idea of constructing a church building in the future. Presently the congregation meets in the community room of the Arthur Thurler Homes.

Veum, 70, 716 W. Broadway, pleaded guilty to a charge of drunken driving, and paid the $100 fine. He was arrested by police on Mankato Avenue dike at 4:37 p.m. Saturday.

Last of Mink Pelts Found Near Chatfield

RUSHFORD, Minn. (Special)—The third box of mink pelts which fell from a truck on Highway 30 between Stewartville and Chatfield Friday afternoon was found in the roadside ditch this morning by Margaret Nelson, according to Elmer Schueler, owner.

Three boxes that were tied together apparently were blown over the rack of the truck by the wind as Schueler was taking them to the airport at noon.

The contents of the three cardboard boxes about two by four feet were valued at $27,000. Fox, Fox received a $125 reward for the two boxes he recovered. Schueler picked them up at Hanska Saturday. A call came at 11:30 a.m. today that the missing pelts had been found intact near Chatfield.

A member of the Mutation Mink Breeders Association, Schueler was shipping the pelts to the New York Auction Co. to be sold to furriers.

Schueler operates Rush Arbor Mink Ranch about four miles northwest of Rushford.

The requested grants from the 35 communities on the priority list total $2,243,987.

On his return to the mission field he had completed a round-the-world trip, having traveled to Rome via India.

Pope Is Time's Man of the Year

NEW YORK—Pope John XXIII, 81-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church who launched a historic revolution for Christian unity and embodied the longings of the entire human race for peace, was named Man of the Year today by the editors of Time. He is the first man of religion to be so designated since Time established the tradition in 1927.

In selecting for the 36th year the man who "left an indelible mark—for good or ill—on history," Time says that peasant-born Angelo Giuseppe Roncalli "created history in a way that few other men were able to do in 1962."

THE PAST year, Time says, "was a year of American resolution. Russian exploration, European unification, and Chinese aggression. In a tense yet hope-filled time, these were the events that held the headlines and caused a stir. But in the long eye of history, 1962 may be better recalled for an event that took place physically in the world's most sacred cathedral but that had been gestating in the hearts and minds of men for decades. That was the beginning of the revolution in Christianity, in the ancient faces whose 900 million adherents make it the world's largest religion. That beginning was the work of the Man of the Year Pope John XXIII who, by convening the Ecumenical Council called Vatican II, set in motion ideas and forces that will affect not only Roman Catholics, not only Christians, but the whole world's ever-expanding population long after Cuba is once again libre and India is free of attack."

Traditionally, since 1927, the editors have chosen the man or woman of the year. Selections over the years:

- CHARLES A. LINDBERGH, 1927; Walter P. Chrysler, 1928; Owen D. Young, 1929; Mohandas K. Gandhi, 1930; Pierre Laval, 1931; Franklin D. Roosevelt, 1932-1934; Hugh S. Johnson, 1935; Haile Selassie, 1935; Wallis Warfield Simpson, 1936; General and Mme. Chiang Kai-shek, 1937; Adolph Hitler, 1938; Joseph Stalin, 1939 and 1942; Winston Churchill, 1940 and 1949 (as Man of the Half Century); General George C. Marshall, 1943 and 1947; General Dwight D. Eisenhower, 1944; President Harry S. Truman, 1945 and 1948; James B. Byrnes, 1946; the "U.S. Fighting Man," 1950; Iran's Mohammed Mossadeq, 1951; Queen Elizabeth II, 1952; Konrad Adenauer, 1953; John Foster Dulles, 1954; Harlow Curtice, 1955; Hungarian Freedom Fighter, 1956; Nikita Khrushchev, 1957; Charles de Gaulle, 1958; President Dwight D. FORESTER SAYS:

Those Unused Yule Trees Aren't Wasted

OSHKOSH, Wis.—Unused Christmas trees are not wasted, the State Conservation Department says, because they have to be cut off tree-cultivation acreages anyway.

A growing tree crop has to be thinned out regularly like a carrot patch, says T. W. Blomquist, forest management supervisor. This thinning produces the annual crop of salvable trees, Blomquist says, and even if unsold they are not wasted because their removal allows other trees to grow.

About 1,200 trees are planted for each acre of forest land in the state. Planted densely, the trees are forced to grow straight and tall rather than in a spreading fashion. If trees are not thinned when necessary, Blomquist said, they will eventually die for lack of space and the growth of survivors will be stunted.

The best time to thin is when there is a chance to sell the trees. Such chances arise when there are demands for Christmas trees, pulpwood, telephone poles or lumber.

By the time trees are 60 years old, Blomquist said, only 200 of the original 1,200 will fit on an acre. Therefore, during the entire 60 years, 1,000 surplus trees must be trimmed off each acre to make room for the 200 fully grown ones.

Only about one tree in every 40 planted in Wisconsin is harvested as a Christmas tree, Blomquist estimated. Most of the trees are thinned out for use as pulpwood and poles.

Harvesting trees for Christmas use is generally good conservation, the forester said, because it would be a much greater waste if trees remained on the land to die or be badly stunted by overcrowding.

Secret Hangover Cure Announced

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — I'm hereby giving the world a precious present for New Year's... a hangover cure.

It's cheap and it's simple and it works. It's merely one of the cola drinks... a Coke or a Pepsi, or perhaps any somewhat similar soft drink. The Jet Set has been discovering for some years now that this is exactly what's needed to put out the fire and return one to the living the morning after.

The quantity of hangover medicine taken depends on the size of the hangover. Mrs. Toots Short tells me that when she asks her husband what he had for breakfast and he says, "Three Cokes," it was a New Year's Eveish night. So here's wishing you a happy hangoverless New Year's Day!

Lovely Ann-Margret—rumored a few months ago to be contemplating becoming the next Mrs. Eddie Fisher—instead will marry Jack Gelardi, one of the young geniuses with Gen. Artists Corp. talent agency... "Pretty Perky" Peggy King and her husband Sam Rudofker (head of "After Six" format) are having their second child come May in Philly. Peggy got her son, Jonathan, 9 months old his first tux for Christmas... how tie, cummerbund and rubber pants... Liz Taylor's been losing packets of money gambling in the London private clubs... Gladys Glad's husband, Arthur Gottlieb, died in Canada—by a coincidence, on the same date that her previous husband, Mark Hellinger, passed away.

LONDON TV has now picked up our "Knock-knock" jokes: "Knock-knock. Who's there? Fritz. Fritz who? Fritz always fair weather when good fellows get together." "Knock-knock. Who's there? Gorilla. Gorilla who? Gorilla my dreams I love you." Puns are also very active on British TV and one is asked to remember, "A bun is the lowest form of wheat." Are pictures really worth a

Who Will Be Next Governor?

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The tangled course of the vote recount is making it possible for two men each to hear, "Happy New Year, governor" greetings Tuesday, depending upon their well-wishers party affiliations.

Although Republican incumbent Gov. Elmer L. Andersen still is in office—and drawing the salary—DFLers could point to Saturday night recount totals which showed Lt. Gov. Karl Rolvaag the holder of a 99-vote lead toward the executive chair.

That was with 2,957 of the state's 3,785 precincts rechecked—and with a whopping 68,430 ballots called under challenge. Republicans, on the other hand, displayed tallies from 3,021 precincts which they claimed showed Andersen out front by 82 votes. The GOP was, however, close to the DFL on questioned ballots, with their tab showing 67,742.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: The salesgirls have looked back on those last-minute, eleventh-hour shoppers and have changed that poem around to "Twas the night before Christmas."—Bob Orben.

EARL'S PEARLS: "The boys in town are calling that new girl 'Mirage.' They can see her—but they can't lay their hands on her."—Bertha Shore.

Comedian Mark Russell, the satirist, claims that while doing a show at the Village Vanguard, he happened to say, "Barry Goldwater," and a customer yelled, "That's a great idea... That's earl, brother."

South Dakota Insurance Commissioner Resigns

PIERRE, S.D. (AP)—Robert A. Hurlbut announced Sunday he is resigning as South Dakota insurance commissioner, effective next March 31, because of ill health.

Hurlbut, 47, and a Republican from Miller, said he had prepared a letter of resignation, to be submitted today to Gov. Archie Gubbrud, who had appointed him to the berth in January 1961.

Amateur Robbers Lock Empty Safe in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—"Rankest amateurs I've seen in years," said one city detective.

He was talking about the burglars who used a screwdriver, a sledgehammer, a chisel and an electric drill over the weekend in a bungled attempt to open a 70-year-old safe in a doughnut factory.

Police said the safe was unlocked, until the burglars inadvertently locked it, had the combination written on top, and was empty.

Algiers Sets $140 Million Budget

ALGIERS (AP)—The Algerian National Assembly unanimously approved Sunday night a $140-million budget for the first three months of 1963, Algeria's first full year of independence.

The approved budget anticipates income of $360 million for the full year.

Scranton's Wife Rescued From Ski Lift

FOREST CITY, Pa. (AP)—Mrs. William W. Scranton, wife of Pennsylvania's governor-elect, was rescued with the aid of ladders Sunday when a chair lift at a ski slope jammed, suspending her 25 feet in the air.

One of Scranton's aides said she spent about 20 minutes in the chair. The temperature was near zero.

Scranton and his three sons were skiing nearby at the time, but were not aware of her predicament.

Others on the lift at the Elk Mountain slope in eastern Pennsylvania were also rescued with ladders, although some were close enough to the ground to drop off by themselves.

Outlook Seems Brighter in Dock Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz has reported more understanding on both sides in the eight-day-old longshoremen's strike. But the chief union negotiator said the negotiations were still "stymied."

Wirtz, who is chief mediator in the dispute which has tied up shipping from Maine to Texas, said talks on money and fringe issues would continue today.

A few hours before Wirtz spoke Sunday night of "more understanding" he said at a news conference that he believed a basis had been worked out for solving the question of a two-year study of the size of work gangs.

"I think that problem, if not behind us, at least can be handled," he added.

The shipping industry's desire to cut the size of work gangs from 20 to 17 men is a chief issue in the contract dispute involving 60,000 members of the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association.

Man Pleads Guilty In Check Case

A pre-sentence investigation is being made in the case of James Rudnick, 27, 309 Adams St., charged with cashing a $20 check with no funds.

Rudnick, arrested after cashing the check at Holden Drug & Dept., pleaded guilty during an appearance before Judge Leo F. Murphy in District Court here Thursday.

Rudnick was represented by John D. McGill, his court-appointed attorney, and the state was represented by County Attorney S. A. Sawyer.

Israeli Government Expects TV Offer

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP)—The Israeli government has accepted the "no strings attached" offer of the Rothschild Foundation to establish in Israel a pilot station for educational television.

Final approval of the scheme depends on Parliament, which will debate the matter Tuesday and Wednesday, a government spokesman said, adding that in addition to setting up the station, the Rothschild Foundation had undertaken to keep up operations for a trial period of two or three years.

2 Minnesotans Dead in Fires

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fires brought death to two Minnesotans over the weekend and a third, a blind man, was severely burned fleeing another blaze.

Kenneth Keene, about 50, a welder who lived alone in a small Rochester house, died Saturday when it was razed by an explosion and fire.

Wayne Smith, 15, died in a Minneapolis hospital Sunday of burns and smoke inhalation suffered three days earlier when a Christmas tree blaze set the family's Albertville home afire.

Three younger children of the Wright County couple, Mr. and Mrs. David Smith, escaped safely. But a fifth, Joyce, 12, remained in critical condition at the hospital where her brother died.

At Grand Rapids, Benjamin Hill, who is blind, was treated for second degree burns on face and hands after groping his way from the burning home of his son, Alfred.

The family was away visiting friends when the blaze destroyed the modest dwelling, 11 miles southwest of Grand Rapids.

New Year's Resolutions

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D.
Professor of Education,
University of Southern California

Do you avoid making good resolutions about school work because you think you'll never keep them anyway? Then you may have been making resolutions the wrong way. With the semester ending in another month, many students realize their need for a spurt in learning. But the resolution: "I am going to study more," brings little results. In fact, trying to force yourself to study probably will have a negative effect.

Students often say to me: "I want to succeed, I know I should study more. But I just can't seem to settle down to it."

These students often are subject to pressures and tensions because there is a conflict in their minds as to whether they are taking the right courses and the right major.

FRED, A COLLEGE sophomore, was registered as a physics major. He was making a C in physics. Statement of his own problem: "Even though I try to make myself study, I neglect it. Maybe I'm in the wrong line—I'm not quite sure what major I want."

The plan that solved Fred's problem can solve yours, too.

Having already signed up for the course, he made a new kind of resolution. Instead of just saying he would study harder, he resolved to start at the beginning of the semester's work and review the ideas and principles, leaving until later any decision on fresh goals.

He would review each principle thoroughly and work at least one problem related to it before turning his attention to the next.

He would start each study period with a basic plan. He would check his progress to date, and review his plan of attack.

FRED WAS able to carry out this new type of resolution. The old conflicting thoughts were driven into the background by the action plan that now filled his mind.

Occasionally he faltered. His mind drifted back to the old worry over the selection of life goals. Each time this happened he stopped work, took a short walk, and re-established his plan of action in his mind. He reminded himself that the easiest way to complete his commitment to this course was to understand it and that the best way to understand was to go through it step by step from the beginning.

Once through with the course, he found he liked it better than he had expected, and decided after all to go ahead in physics.

Conflicts within a student's mind occur more often than conflicts with teachers or parents—and they are more damaging to study habits.

Make a resolution to drive out those conflicts—and include a plan for carrying out the resolution. Then it is likely to be kept.

Funeral Services Set For Dr. Guy S. Ford

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Funeral services will be held in Washington, D.C., and at Lakewood Cemetery here for Dr. Guy Stanton Ford, former president of the University of Minnesota.

Dr. Ford, who headed the university from 1938 to 1941, died in Washington Saturday at the age of 89 after a long illness.

Memorial services are to be held at a funeral home in Washington this afternoon. The body will be flown to Minneapolis Tuesday.

Services will be held at Lakewood Cemetery Chapel here at 1:30 p.m. Thursday with interment to follow.

Prior to serving in the presidency, Dr. Ford was professor of history and dean of the graduate school at the university. He also had served as acting president.

Traffic Deaths Breaking Records

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's traffic deaths during 1962 continue at a record-breaking pace.

The National Safety Council reported today that traffic accidents during the first 11 months of this year took 37,140 lives, the highest ever for January-November.

The worst previous 11-month period was in 1941, when 35,829 persons died.

The council records showed November was the 13th straight month in which there was an increase over the number killed in the corresponding month the year before.

If the trend continues, 1962 will be recorded as the deadliest ever on the highways—exceeding 1941, when 39,969 persons died.

The council said Chicago, for the 11th consecutive month, remained the safest city with a population of 1 million or more.

Based on death rates of 2.4 fatalities per 10,000 registered vehicles and 6.7 deaths per 100,000 population, Chicago was followed in its class by Detroit, Los Angeles, Philadelphia and New York.

It Is More Blessed To Give Than Receive

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Airline pilot Jack Adams of nearby Walls Miss., has arranged a New Year's Day treat for 30 New Orleans orphan boys.

Adams will furnish 30 tickets to the Sugar Bowl football game involving Mississippi and Arkansas, pay for transportation and box lunches and supply each boy $3 spending money.

Originally, Adams planned to take his wife to the game. While checking about tickets, he discovered he could buy a block of 30 seats at $5 each.

"My wife agreed that we can go to the game a lot of other years," said Adams. "We decided to let some children go in a group—children who otherwise would not be able to go."

Casserole Suspected in Illness of 126

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A chicken casserole believed to have made six newlyweds and 120 of their guests ill was to be tested today by Minneapolis and St. Paul health officials.

"We suspect it was the casserole which made them ill," J. J. Handy of the Minneapolis Health Department, said Sunday.

He added that tests would be made to determine if a bacteria known as staphylococcus was present in the food. This is commonly associated with cases like this, said Handy, who is director of the bureau of environmental hygiene.

The chicken, along with cake, cookies, punch and nuts were served at three separate wedding receptions Saturday, one in St. Paul and two in Minneapolis. The same caterer furnished the food for all receptions.

About 120 persons and the couples in the weddings were stricken within three or four hours of the time they ate.

Mrs. Mary Louise Nelson, who operates the catering service, said she and her staff had sampled some of the food and she did not know why it would have been at fault.

"We have never had any trouble of this kind," she said.

Those stricken were treated at hospitals or by private physicians.

Hamel Boy Dies After Farm Accident

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Fritz Baer, 3, Hamel, who was injured on his father's farm last Thursday, died in a hospital Saturday.

Authorities said the boy was playing near a machine when a wire he was holding got caught in the machine and hurled him against a building. Fritz was the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Baer.

HOW DO YOU STAND, SIR?

Foreign Aid Battle Rages

By SEN. BARRY GOLDWATER

Every time Congress decides to cut down on the amount of American foreign aid, as it did in the last session, the administration in office always claims that a blow has been struck at this country's effort to combat communism.

This reaction from the President and his advisers has become almost a reflex action. It doesn't seem to make any difference whether funds already appropriated for the purpose haven't yet been spent. The argument is always to the effect that congressional prudence, in the matter of foreign aid, will create an overseas picture of growing United States parsimony that may alarm potential allies.

On this basis, of course, any cut at any time in any proposed foreign-aid budget—no matter how ridiculous that budget might be—could be interpreted by government officials as detrimental to their idea of the way to fight communism.

All of this, however, has not diminished the heavy and increasing criticism both in and out of Congress over a program which has cost this country nearly $100 billion and produced only negligible results.

The cut of over $1 billion in the last foreign-aid appropriation seemed only to whet the appetite of those who believe that our adverse international balance of payments and our dangerous gold position require further economizing in the field of overseas largesse.

AND, SIGNIFICANTLY, the Kennedy administration has now taken official notice of this attitude on the part of the lawmakers as well as of a majority of the American people. Of course, it is too much to hope that this recognition will prompt the New Frontier to slash its demands for new foreign-aid money. This is not the objective. The goal now is to either apply a bipartisan coat of white-wash to the present foreign-aid program or to change it in some minor details that will make it more palatable to Congress and the people.

How do we know that the President is fully aware of the growing criticism? We know it because he recently created a committee to take a new look at the foreign-aid program and make recommendations. As the White House announcement explained it:

"AT THE PRESIDENT'S request, the committee will undertake an immediate review of our military and economic assistance to determine whether the level and distribution of these programs is contributing materially to the security of the United States and is directed to specific and attainable goals of economic and political stability in the free world."

The committee, which is called The Committee to Strengthen the Security of the Free World, will be headed by Gen. Lucius D. Clay, until recently President Kennedy's personal representative in Berlin. Other members of the study group include Robert A. Lovett, former Secretary of Defense; George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO; Prof. Edward S. Mason of Harvard; Eugene R. Black, retiring president of the World Bank; Robert B. Anderson, former Secretary of the Treasury; L. F. THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Kennedy Not Sincere in Plugging Tax Loopholes

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Before President Kennedy summoned his tax advisers to Palm Beach, an entirely different and highly secret tax session was held in the $400,000 ranch house of Sen. Bob Kerr, the Oklahoma gusher.

Two ambassadors of the Kennedy administration scurried down to Oklahoma to soothe the wrath of the wealthiest member of the Senate and to confide that the administration is preparing not a double-cross of Kerr, but a double-cross of the American people on tax reform.

The two tax ambassadors were Secretary of the Treasury Doug Dillon and House Ways and Means Chairman Wilbur Mills of Arkansas. And what brought them scurrying to Oklahoma was Kerr's ire after he read a secret summary of the administration's forthcoming tax proposals and saw its recommendation to reduce the 27 1/2 percent oil-depletion allowance.

This happens to be the most gaping loophole in the tax laws, one that has permitted the big oil companies to take tax deductions far in excess of their operating costs. As a result, some multimillion-dollar oil companies are taxed at a lower rate than a family man with $4,000 taxable income.

The senator's own Kerr-McGee company paid less than 5 percent tax for 10 out of 13 years, at a time when firms not in the oil business were paying a 52 percent rate. In 1958, Kerr-McGee paid no taxes at all on a whopping $5,378,973 net profit.

Kerr has built up political power in the same way that he built up his $35,000,000 personal fortune, is now considered the most powerful man in the Senate. So, when he saw the oil-depletion recommendation, he started burning the wires to Washington.

"I have been double-crossed!" he roared in a voice rivaling one of his prize black Angus bulls.

The administration, he claimed, had promised not to tamper with oil tax loopholes in return for his support of last year's revenue bill. But in the privacy of Kerr's 350-foot ranch house, looking down on his 55,000 acres where graze 4,500 prize black Angus, Secretary Dillon assured the Oklahoma gusher that the oil-depletion recommendation was mere window dressing. The administration could hardly publicly ask for tax reforms without mentioning the worst abuse of them all, he pleaded. But, Dillon insisted, the administration wasn't really serious about plugging the oil loophole and even brought Mills along to assure Kerr that the oil-depletion proposal would be safely sidetracked inside the House Ways and Means Committee.

Kerr calmed down. He realized it was not he who was being double-crossed but the American public.

Note: The excitement over oil taxes probably contributed to a mild strike which sent the Oklahoma senator to the hospital.

President Kennedy faces a significant but unpublicized tug-of-war between State Department career diplomats and political loyalists regarding the American ambassadorship to Italy. The tug-of-war involves one of his most political supporters—Gov. Mike di Salle of Ohio.

The President is considering appointing Di Salle as ambassador to Italy, where he would replace Frederick Reinhardt, a career diplomat appointed to a top post usually reserved for political appointees.

Reinhardt holds a degree from the University of Milan, speaks Italian, and should have been a spectacular success. However, he made the mistake of listening to Outbridge Horsey, career counselor of the embassy, who, when handling Spanish affairs, was a great admirer of Dictator Franco.

In Rome, Horsey has been a staunch believer in the right wing of the Christian Democratic party, which opposed the present alliance between Premier Fanfani and the Nenni Socialists. Fanfani, a great friend of the United States and a student of American political methods, bucked both the right wing of his party and the frowns of the American embassy by patching up an alliance between the Catholic party and the Socialists. He could not have done this without the tacit support of a liberal in the Vatican—Pope John. The alliance has been a spectacular success, and the Italian communists have taken their worst setback.

Ambassador Reinhardt, who got taken in by the bad advice of Counselor Horsey, has been trying to make up for the error—with some success. However, what the United States needs in Rome is a forthright envoy who represents President Kennedy personally and his liberal views politically.

Di Salle, a liberal governor of Ohio, and the first national leader to come out for Kennedy for president, will probably be the man.

It's important to note that the death of Warren Austin, the much-loved ex-senator from Vermont, removed one of the few recent senators who has invoked rule 12 against himself. Austin, a Republican, refrained from voting on a tax bill because he had investments in talc.

Unfortunately, things have changed in the Senate since then. To such men as Democrat Bob Kerr of Oklahoma, rule 12 doesn't exist. Rule 12 provides that a senator should not vote on legislation in which he has a financial interest. But, despite the tremendous personal investments of Sen. Kerr in oil and gas, he was the man who authored the first natural gas bill which President Truman finally blocked.

When Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., challenged Kerr to invoke rule 12 against himself during the vote on the subsequent Fulbright-Harris gas bill in 1956, Kerr brushed the idea aside as a joke.

Simultaneously, senators sit in judgment against members of the executive branch of the government who have conflicts of interests. Their protests against Sherman Adams and his Vienna coat from Bernard Goldfine and against Harold Talbot and his conflict of interest as secretary of the Air Force, forced their resignations.

Classes Dismissed At Mud College

LOUDONVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Mud College still stands, but it's privately owned now and the building is used for storage.

A century ago, a teacher of a one-room log school remarked that the school was a college. "A mud college," someone suggested.

When the log school was torn down in the 1870s, and the present white frame structure built, the new school officially was named Mud College. The last classes were held in the building 25 years ago.

Treasury May Lose Millions

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The U.S. treasury may rue the day it ever mentioned the idea of keeping an "expense-account diary." For, judging by the talk that's being heard nowadays, the treasury may actually lose hundreds of millions of dollars or revenue that it has been collecting heretofore, because the taxpayer now will avail himself of every tax deduction to which he is entitled.

The revenue derived from the carelessness of the citizen in failing to claim legally specified deductions is probably far larger than the amounts that have been lost annually to the treasury by improper expense-account claims.

Thus, government officials said this week that the treasury is hoping to collect only about $100 million a year more in revenue than before by being strict on expense accounts. But if the citizens start claiming every legal deduction and start keeping records of the amount they pay out in sales taxes alone, it could cost the treasury many millions of dollars.

Some idea of the huge amounts involved can be inferred from the fact that, in 1960, the states collected $18 billion and the counties and cities $18.1 billion in taxes of all kinds. This totals $36.1 billion in taxes which are generally deductible on federal tax returns. Yet all the deductions claimed by individuals for these taxes added up to only $10.5 billion.

Now, there are no comparable figures as to what corporations or businesses claimed as deductions just for state and local tax payments, but their deductions for all taxes, including some federal and foreign taxes, added up to $19.2 billion in 1960. The discrepancy, it would seem, could therefore amount to several billions of dollars which could be legally deducted by both individuals and businesses.

It also seems probable that, while businesses are claiming deductions for sales taxes, individuals are not. Many taxpayers are not aware that they have a right to deduct on their federal income taxes every penny of state or local sales tax that they pay at the stores in their communities. They are unaware also of the fact that state income taxes, real-estate taxes, state taxes on gasoline and cigarettes, automobile licenses, municipal utility taxes, and a number of other taxes are deductible.

SIMILARLY, in the field of medical and dental expenses and interest on installment loans and other debts, the public seems unaware that tax deductions are permissible. It is not generally realized, either, that donations to all charitable and religious organizations—including what is put in the collection plate in church on Sunday—may be deducted in figuring the federal income tax. Few people know that losses due to theft or accident and any accidental damage to property—such as damage caused by storms, floods or freezes—are deductible items for the taxpayer to the extent that they are not covered entirely by insurance.

Many citizens do a good job of itemizing their deductions, but some persons take the easy way by lumping everything in a "standard deduction" just because they don't want to take the trouble to make itemized returns.

There is a trend, however, toward itemization on income tax returns. In 1960, approximately 45 percent of the taxpayers listed their deductions, whereas in 1950 only 23 percent did.

WITH THE treasury publicizing the idea of an expense-account diary to be kept in one's pocket, however, there will be a handy way every moment of the day to keep a record of legitimate expenses that are deductible on federal income taxes.

Maybe when all the tax deductions are added up, the treasury will wish it had never made such a fuss about expense accounts and had centered its attention instead on ferreting out those who were really cheating. Checking expense-account items is likely to be a big headache and may easily cost the government more than it takes in as a result of the new check-up.

One thing is clear—millions of citizens do not know that, by reason of their carelessness in keeping track of deductible expenses, they are depriving themselves of tax deductions and are, in effect, donating big sums to the federal government.

Epileptics Have Good Job Records

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

The old belief that adults with epilepsy are more accident-prone or miss work more frequently has been proved to be wrong, according to recent surveys.

"One study," Dr. Harry E. Carnes writes in a publication, Therapeutic Notes, has shown that their safety and attendance records, as well as job attitudes, are better than average.

It's doubtless wise (as he points out) for epileptics not to work at heights or around moving machinery. However with medications now in use, 80 percent of epileptics can eliminate or control seizures to such an extent that there is no interference with normal jobs.

It is significant that there are enough epileptic workers to make possible comparative surveys, because for a long time such people had great difficulty in getting jobs, or when they did find employment, they kept their epilepsy a secret.

Today great progress has been made in the old habit of hiding epilepsy. Except in extreme cases, this ailment is no excuse for depriving a person of a chance to earn a living and pursue a normal life.

THE CHANGE HAS been long in coming. I remember easily when a few communities started special schools for epileptics. These schools denoted progress because, in many places victims of epilepsy weren't even allowed to attend classes.

But now we've gone a step further. These special institutions have been converted to other uses, and the former pupils there now attend regular schools. We're making headway!

Dr. Carnes brings out another valuable point. When epilepsy appears in adult life, prompt and careful diagnosis is urgent. From the age of 18 or 20 up to about 35, its most frequent cause is brain injury; next is the presence of a brain tumor. From 25 to 45 percent of brain tumor patients will have epileptic seizures.

The fourth, a boy was reported in critical condition today.

Luxury Living With Budget in Mind

EARLY AMERICAN ELEGANCE: This four-bedroom split level is in the form of a T, with the main living level elongated to resemble a streamlined ranch. Because all the daylight activities are on the same elevation, there is no need of an expensive basement.

FLOOR PLAN: Note the separate hall from the front service entry to the rear porch, completely eliminating traffic through the living area of the house. House is basically a split level, but incorporates many characteristics of a ranch.

By JULES LOH
When some architects set out to design a truly luxurious home they take the position of "never mind the budget, full speed ahead."
Samuel Paul isn't that kind of architect.

"ONE OF THE biggest cost factors in a house is the cellar," said Paul. "I've eliminated the traditional basement in this house by eliminating its need. The garage, laundry and work shop all are on the main level, as well as the indoor recreation areas. Not only is it less expensive this way, but more convenient."

The house, design J-54 in the House of the Week series, is an elegant four-bedroom split level with an early American flavor. But it isn't an ordinary split level in which each level is of approximately the same dimensions.

Architect Paul has, in effect, stretched out the main living level so virtually all the daytime activities are on the same elevation with no stairs to climb. In this respect the design is more like that of a sleek ranch.

PLACED AT one end of this "ranch" rectangle, like the cross bar of a T, is the upstairs bedroom wing with a 1,025-square-foot area beneath it containing a recreation room, hobby room and heater-storage room. Only six steps separate each of these levels from the main living level.

The main level and bedroom level total 1,997 square feet not counting the 605-square-foot garage and adjoining workshop, the 135-square-foot screened porch, and the 227-square-foot covered portico.

Overall dimensions are 85 feet wide by 41 feet deep and architect Paul suggests a 100 foot by 100 foot plot.

TO TAKE full advantage of the colonial tone architect Paul suggests an interesting color scheme. The vertical boards should be white, he said, with gray battens; the stone a golden fieldstone; the roof an earthy brown shingle. For accents, the shutters and main entrance door should be red.

Mark Twain once built a house in Connecticut and specified that the kitchen should be in the front, facing the street, so he wouldn't always have to be rushing the breath of the house to see who was passing by.

It wasn't neighborhood curiosity that prompted Paul to put the kitchen in front, however.

The plan makes good sense for a variety of reasons, the most notable of which is that it measurably increases the ease with which traffic can flow through and within the house.

A SEPARATE hall goes from the front service entrance to the rear porch, completely eliminating traffic through the living area of the house; and these are only two of a half-dozen exterior entrances. If you don't think this makes a difference, just check the condition of the floor or carpet in a well-traveled passage of your own house, not to mention the plain convenience this layout affords.

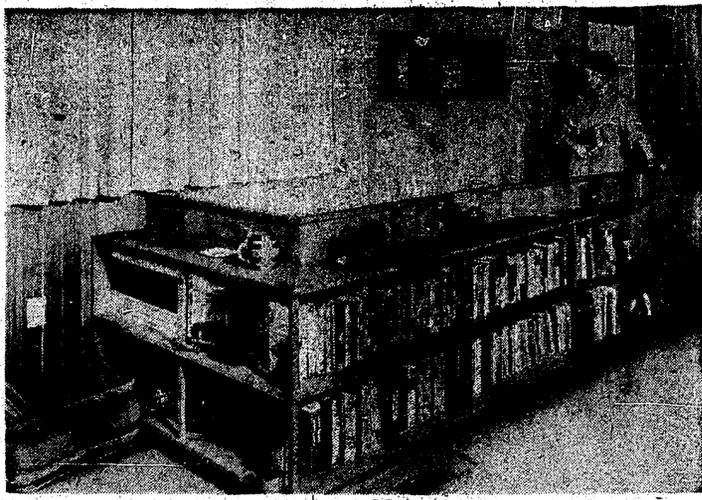

The kitchen-laundry-dinette ensemble would be the pride of any housewife. It's double window over the double-bowl sink, abundance of counter space, cabinets and huge storage closets and pantry, adjoining lavatory and direct garage access all add up to housekeeping ease.

THE FORMAL living room-dining room arrangement also is planned for up-to-date living. The rooms are joined by doors which can slide into the wall, if desired, and create an expanse of 33 feet. Sliding glass doors lead from the dining room to the screened porch, for outdoor dining under cover. The living room, whose main attraction is a fireplace wall built of the same stone used on the exterior, also has an 8 foot pair of sliding glass doors leading to the rear patio.

Upstairs, all four corner bedrooms are of good size, have plenty of closet space (more than 33 linear feet total) and are served by two full baths. There are no less than four closets, plus a dressing room, in the master suite.

BELOW, the recreation room features a 14 foot slide wall, and sliding glass doors leading to a lower terrace. The third room on the lower level makes an excellent out-of-the-way den or hobby room.

J-54 Statistics
A four-bedroom split level containing 1,997 square feet on living and sleeping levels, 1,025 square feet on lower level, 405 square feet in garage and workshop, 135 square feet on screened porch and 227 square feet on covered portico. Overall dimensions are 85 feet wide by 41 feet deep.

BOOK SHELVES FOR STAIRWALL: Here's a way to make the railing around the top of a stairwell an important, useful item. Low wall of tongue-and-groove western red cedar panels replaces usual open rail. Added bookshelves take little space, contribute function and beauty.

New Year's Resolutions For Handyman

By AP NEWSFEATURES

Planning on some New Year's resolutions? Why not include a few concerning your do-it-yourself activities around the house? The following list will give you some ideas:

1. I will never use a product without reading the instructions in detail, realizing that the manufacturer has made extensive tests to determine how to get the best result.

2. I will constantly keep in mind that haste is the great enemy of the home handyman, ruining more projects than lack of skill.

3. I will remember that, while certain plumbing and electrical jobs can be tackled, many of them are forbidden by local or state codes.

4. I will make a periodic inspection of the house to determine where there are openings that can be caulked quickly and easily while they are small, but which can prove expensive headaches if neglected.

5. I will make it a point to close all paint cans very tightly after use, knowing that more than 10 percent of all paint purchased by households is discarded eventually because air was permitted to enter the containers.

6. I will not use power tools while engaged in conversation with a friend or relative, realizing that many accidents occur while the operators are not giving their projects full attention.

7. I will prevent trouble by providing sufficient ventilation when using finish materials and by placing paint and oil rags in a container if they can not be disposed of at once.

8. I will remember that, whether using paint or one of the clear finishes, a vital part of the job is surface preparation and that skipping it will only bring a poor result.

9. I will recognize, if I decide to buy a house, that shopping around for a suitable mortgage, rather than taking the first one offered, can save me thousands of dollars over a period of years.

10. I will try to treat a home project, even when it is a necessity, as a hobby activity and not drive myself to distraction completing it.

District Building Gains Slightly

A slight increase in the dollar volume of new construction, reflected in building permits, in the 169 reporting cities of the Minneapolis Federal Reserve Bank's district in the first 11 months of 1962 is seen in the bank's monthly report on building data in the district.

The valuation of new building permits issued in the district through November this year totaled $468,319,142, compared with $451,921,466 for the same period in 1961.

The total for November this year was $37,978,849, almost identical to the previous November's $37,707,425.

Eleven-month totals for Winona and several other Minnesota and Wisconsin cities were:

Here's the Answer

QUESTION: There are some large cracks in the plaster walls of an old house we recently purchased. Can you tell us how to go about patching them?

ANSWER: Before you start, be sure all loose plaster is removed from the areas to be repaired. Undercut the edges of the plaster so that the new material will take hold securely. Wet the opening thoroughly. This is to prevent the new plaster from drying out too quickly.

Flowers for The Sick

By A. F. SHIRA
The Daisy Family

As we were looking over pictures of some brilliantly colored hardy chrysanthemums one evening last week, our thoughts turned to the family of plants to which they belong. It seems fitting that these popular fall flowers in their many colors and hues belong to the largest family of plants in the world, the Compositae.

This big family comprises about 12,000 species of plants distributed over the entire world. Some plant authorities state that plants have reached their highest stage of development in this huge group.

It is sometimes called the aster family, or even the goldenrod family. It is sometimes referred to as the daisy family and we prefer this name. This large group not only consists of many varieties of plants, but a large number of weeds as well. The typical flowers are all alike as they are borne in heads the individual florets of which are small, in the form of a disk, or cone, surrounded by ray petals or flowers as in the daisy.

One of our principal insecticides, pyrethrum, is derived from the flower heads of a member of this family, the pyrethrum often known by the name of painted daisy.

IT MIGHT be stated here that daisies are chrysanthemums and, in turn, that mums are but glorified daisies although often far removed from them in size, color and form. Thus we find that two of our favorite garden flowers are very closely related, in fact belong to the same genus.

As might be expected in such a huge group of plants, nearly all types are presented within its confines, trees, shrubs, vines, perennials, biennials, annuals and, of course, weeds. The trees, shrubs and vines are natives of tropical regions and are of no concern to us here.

In addition to the mums and daisies, some of the other popular garden flowers contained in this family include the calendula, ageratum, cosmos, coreopsis, zinnia, gallardia, marigold, dahlia and some others. Thus, it can be seen that this big family provides us with a large number of beautiful flowering plants without which our gardens would seem to be rather bleak, indeed.

ON CONSIDERING some of these plants, we can see resemblances that go far beyond the construction of the flower heads, some of which have been greatly modified, enlarged and doubled through the work of the hybridizers. This has been exemplified in the newest forms of zinnias and dahlias.

In the manner growth, also, some of the members of the family very closely resemble each other. Take the cosmos for example. In their branching habits they are like the dahlias and this resemblance is still further seen in the thin brown seeds of each.

Although noted primarily for its many beautiful flowers, this family can boast, also, of a few food plants, or types that are useful for the making of salads. These include the various kinds of lettuce and endive.

WEEDS THAT make up a fairly large section of this family are some of our most common forms, one of which is the dandelion. Although it is a weed that is much maligned, the bright golden blossoms add a cheery note to the cool days of early spring. It is of considerable value, also, in the drug industry, since the juice of

End of Romanoff's Last of an Era

NEW YORK — I was saddened, a little, to note the intended closing of Mike Romanoff's Hollywood plush deadfall as one more indication of the end of the era of wonderful American nonsense.

It is quite possible that the younger members of the Twist Set and the followers of Bobby Darin and Sandra Dee never heard of Romanoff's, but they never knew anything about the true Hollywood, either. At least they never knew Hollywood when its name was synonymous with the motion-picture industry, in the days when there were actual stars in the business.

For those who know Hollywood only as a factory for second-to-fifth-rate television programs, Romanoff's was one of the greatest status symbols the country ever permitted — and that was before the phrase "staple status symbol" crept into the national vocabulary.

Unless you were "somebody" you couldn't get in, and to be on easy insulting terms with the proprietor marked you high on the list of the worthwhiles in the snob center of the universe — old-fashioned Hollywood.

THE FACT that the proprietor, who called himself Prince Michael Alexandrovich Dmitri Obolensky Romanoff, was an erstwhile con man named Harry Gerguson, origin New York, made no difference at all to the gilded rating of his clientele. Hollywood created stars from people named Gumm and Leach; if they could make Judy Garland out of Frances Gumm and Cary Grant out of Archie Leach they could take Harry Gerguson seriously as Mike Romanoff. And the food was excellent, although the proprietor felt free to call his customers louts.

It was quite a wonderful world, the old Hollywood of inflexible caste system, where Louis B. Mayer reigned supreme as emperor, Zanuck played polo, Gable was called "The King," and two brothers named Mopowitz bid high against each other for properties in the names of M-G-M and 20th Century-Fox. Those were the days when a position in relation to the salt, either on the lot lunch table or in Romanoff's, was an active index to the rise or fall of a star, an executive, or a writer.

IN THOSE dreamy old days, when the big studios controlled the actors as literal slaves, and no television showered free entertainment on the land, the System was really something. The queens were really monarchs — Garbo and Harlow and Lombard, Davis and Gerson and Crawford. As mentioned, there was only one king, Gable, but his court was amply staffed by the dukes — Bogart and Grant and big Coop and Bing. The names on a marquee invariably sold out the house, even when such a commodity of utter mud such as "San Francisco" included Jeanette McDonald together with Gable and Tracy.

Fireworks Banned on East German Wall BERLIN (AP) — Police on both sides of the Communist wall are trying to discourage the old German custom of blazing away with fireworks on New Year's Eve.

Explosive firecrackers sound like gunfire and could be mistaken for the flareup of a border incident; rocket bursts look like flames that the East Germans fire when escape attempts are made.

So the East Germans have banned fireworks anywhere within about 100 yards of the wall.

Loss $5,000 In Rushford Farm Blaze

RUSHFORD, Minn. (Special) — Fire destroyed a machine shed and contents on the LaVerne Hegland farm four miles southwest of here Saturday afternoon.

Destroyed with the building on the Olga ridge farm were two tractors, corn picker, hay mower, grain drill, power lawnmower, cultivator and small tools.

A STRONG northwest wind saved the granary about 15 feet away from the shed. It wasn't in the path of the wind, but firemen drenched it as a precaution.

However, a brooder house directly southeast of the burning building was damaged. It contained 30 fattened roosters.

Damage, estimated at about $5,000, was only partly covered by insurance, the owner said.

The fire, discovered by Mrs. Hegland at 3:30 p.m. when she saw it from an upstairs window, started a string of events that are not unusual at such times.

Mr. Hegland was in the woods cutting trees. He had taken the family car, and other means of transportation was on fire. Mrs. Hegland called the Rushford fire department and started on foot to get her husband. The older children weren't at home. One son was in the woods with his father and others were in Winona playing basketball.

Six-year-old Donna couldn't keep up with her mother but wouldn't stay home, so Mrs. Hegland returned to the house with her. Diane, a bit older, then ran to the woods to get her father.

Mrs. Hegland attempted to hook up the pumpjack after calling the fire department so there'd be water, but just as she reached down to do so a barrel of gasoline exploded. She had to run in the opposite direction.

DURING the two-hour stay by the Rushford fire department, one fireman, Arnold Peterson, was called home. He received word that his father, J. A. Peterson, had suffered a fatal heart attack at Chippewa Falls, Wis.

The fire continued to flare up during the night, Hegland dousing the flames with water.

Anoka Lad Killed On Squirrel Hunt ANOKA, Minn. (AP) — Gary L. Mattson, 18, Fridley, was shot and killed Sunday when a rifle accidentally discharged as he and two companions were getting out of a car 12 miles north of here for a squirrel hunt.

The sheriff's office said the offending weapon had been held by Ronald Platzer, 20, Minneapolis. Mattson died while en route to a hospital. Third member of the party was Hal R. Shore, 20 and also from Minneapolis.

DEAR ABBY:

Middle-Aged Man Is Pawing Girls By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN DEAR ABBY: The wife who wrote that her 55-year-old husband wanted to paw all the young girls struck a familiar chord with me. I agree that some men who act like this are "sick."

But I think there is another side. Don't you think if mothers taught their daughters not to encourage older men by flirting with them and sitting on their laps (all in fun, of course), we wouldn't have so much trouble of this kind? FORT WORTH FAN

DEAR FAN: Not always. Sometimes you aren't even aware of the connection until you get the shock!

DEAR ABBY: Last night, while I was fixing supper, my husband came into the kitchen, put his arms around me and hugged and kissed me. I said, "What brought that on?" He replied, "I love you." Later, when the children were out, he said, "Honey, haven't I been treating you right?" I said, "You always treat me right — what is the matter?"

His reply: "Well, when I came home this evening I wanted to type up my speech for the Chamber of Commerce and found the typewriter out and a letter in it. It started, 'DEAR ABBY.' I explained that I only wanted to write and tell you that I was one of those women who got up in the morning to make her husband's breakfast. Thanks, Abby. It gave me a thrill to know he loved me as much as I loved him.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a mother who sleeps with her 13-year-old daughter when she could just as easily sleep with her own husband? The reason she sleeps with me is because my father snores. Well, Abby, SHE snores and keeps me awake. If I don't get my sleep at night, I can't keep my head up in school. What should I do? ALWAYS TIRED

DEAR ALWAYS: If there is a couch in the living room, sleep on it. Or fix up a "bed" anywhere in the house, far away from both snoring parents. Good luck, and pleasant dreams.

DEAR ABBY: I work in a large office and every year have allowed the boys in our office to kiss me "movie style" on New Year's. There is a snob who came to work with us, who lets the boys kiss her on the cheek only. She contends that it is unedical and unsanitary otherwise. Who is right? GEORGINA

DEAR GEORGINA: I'm with the "snob." A kiss on the cheek is adequate for a co-worker. If he comes back for "seconds" — turn the other cheek.

CONFIDENTIAL TO YOU: May you and yours have a happy, healthy and prosperous New Year. ABBY

McKay: Trojans in 'Worst Physical Shape' of Year

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Southern California, the national collegiate football champion, and Wisconsin, a team determined to wipe out the stigma of past failures, marked time today before the Rose Bowl New Year's Day.

Southern Cal Coach John McKay and the Trojans boarded a couple of buses and traveled from their hotel headquarters in Los Angeles for a visit to the sprawling stadium here with its seating capacity of some 100,000.

Wisconsin Coach Milt Bruhn scheduled a light loosening up drill on a practice field a few hundred yards from the Rose Bowl, but otherwise the Badgers remained in seclusion at a monastery retreat in neighboring San Marino.

The Trojans, who rolled up 10 straight victories en route to the Nation's No. 1 ranking and the post-season classic, appeared relaxed amidst a quiet air of optimism despite what McKay calls "probably our worst physical shape of the year."

McKay, disturbed earlier by the anticipated loss of Ron Heller, a speedy halfback who injured his knee in practice last Thursday, said Heller was able to run Sunday and indications were that he would be able to play Tuesday.

The Badgers moved from their

Pasadena Hotel headquarters to the monastery Sunday with all hands in sound physical shape.

However, they will be hurt by the loss of guards Dion Kempthorn and Jon Hohmann, who were left behind in Wisconsin because of ailments when the squad flew to California.

Bruhn and his players are bent on atoning for Wisconsin's 7-0 loss to Southern Cal in the 1953 Rose Bowl game and the 44-8 humiliation by Washington on the 1960 Pasadena trip.

The kickoff is set for 4 p.m. CST. The game will be telecast and broadcast nationally (NBC).

"We're ready to play," Bruhn said. "The kids know there's a job to be done and they're anxious to get to it. They're a little bored knocking each other around and want to get in there against some one else."

"We've worked hard and now we just have to wait and see. The most important thing is the mental approach — and that's something that can't be determined fully until the morning of the game."

With some 5,500 fans from Wisconsin checked into Pasadena and Los Angeles hotels, the Badgers have plenty of rooters.

The Badgers watched the telecast of the Green Bay Packers' 16-7 victory over the New York Giants for the National Football League championship.

Bruhn, a close friend of Green Bay Coach Vince Lombardi and the Packers, viewed the game with a handful of sportswriters.

"They played a tremendous game," Bruhn said, "now if we only play a little like that against Southern Cal, things will be interesting."

Packers Retain Crown On 16-7 Win Over N.Y.

Nitschke Is Most Valuable

NEW YORK (AP)—Green Bay did it again. Only this time it was closer.

Vince Lombardi's Packers did not humiliate the New York Giants Sunday in their 16-7 victory at frigid Yankee Stadium as they had done in their 37-0 rout last New Year's Eve in Green Bay. The net result was the same, though. The Packers still are champions of the National Football League.

The story of the game is told best by the voting for the most valuable player. No Jim Taylor. No Paul Hornung. No Y. A. Tittle. The award went to Ray Nitschke, the Packers' 6-foot-3, 220-pound ball-hawk who may be the middle linebacker of all-star teams for the next 10 years.

Nitschke recovered a Phil King fumbled on the Giants' 28 late in the second period, with the Packers holding a perilous 3-0 lead. Two plays later, after a 21-yard pass from Hornung to Boyd Dowler, Taylor charged headlong into the end zone on a 7-yard burst for Green Bay's only touchdown. Earlier Nitschke deflected a Tittle pass that was intercepted by Dan Currie.

Shortly after the Giants scored their only touchdown when Eric Barnes blocked Max McGee's punt and rookie Jim Collier of Arkansas recovered in the end zone, Nitschke swung into action again in the third period. He pounced on the ball on the Giants' 42 when Sam Horner fumbled a punt. Five plays later, Jerry Kramer kicked the second of his three field goals. The kicks traveled 26, 29 and 30 yards.

"You couldn't throw the long one on a day like this," said Coach Allie Sherman of the Giants whose club won the Eastern Conference title on the passing of Tittle. "Of course, it was the same for them."

It was 20 degrees at game time. The weather soon turned for the worse, dropping down to 17 with a 20-mile-an-hour wind blowing passes, punts, hats, dust and even the Packers' bench (unoccupied) across the frozen turf.

The only points the Giants scored were turned in by the defense on the blocked punt by Barnes and the recovery by Collier.

The Giants stopped the first Packer drive in the first quarter and forced Lombardi to settle for a field goal. Then New York started to move with Tittle hitting Del Shofner twice and then King until Currie broke it up with an interception on the 10 and ran it back to the 40.

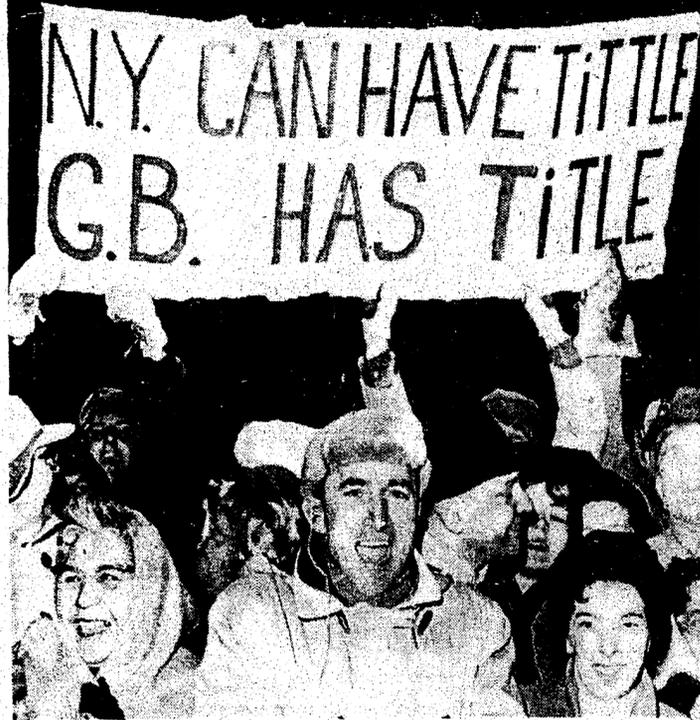

Although the Packers led the way, ranging from 3-0 to 10-0, 10-7, 13-7 and finally 16-7, the Giants were in the ball game until Kramer kicked his third field goal with only 1:50 to play.

Willie Wood, the Packers' all-star safety man, was thrown out of the game for striking an official, back judge Tom Kelleher, after he was called for pass interference in the third period. The official said it was an overt act that called for a disqualification. Wood gets an automatic $50 fine.

The championship was the eighth for the Packers and their fifth victory in seven playoffs. They won three in 1929, 1939 and 1942 before the league was split into two divisions. The Giants now have lost four playoffs in a row and have a sad 3-10 record.

Each Packer gets $5,888.57 and each Giant $4,166.85 from the gross gate of $1,243,110, all records.

State Tumbles to St. Olaf; Tech Plays Here Saturday

Winona State College, loser of two games in two nights in the La Crosse Invitational holiday basketball tournament, takes a two-day layoff before resuming drills Wednesday in preparation for a duel with Michigan Tech here Saturday night.

Here's Bowl Lineup for New Year's

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Many people have troubles of one type or another on New Year's day. But pay the poor football fan.

While some of his fellows have to contend only with the flickering that is produced by twitching, aching eyeballs, the football fan must coordinate that flicker with a flickering television screen.

He must get the two flickers in unison. Then he can not only watch but see the Big Four of the college bowl games.

Eight of the nation's Top Ten teams will be in action in the Rose, Cotton, Sugar and Orange bowl games and each of them is scheduled for national television coverage.

Here's the lineup:

ROSE BOWL at Pasadena, Calif. — Top-ranked Southern California, 10-0, vs. No. 2 Wisconsin, 9-1, to be televised by NBC at 5 p.m., EST.

SUGAR BOWL at New Orleans — Third-ranked Mississippi, 9-0, vs. No. 6 Arkansas, 9-1, to be televised by NBC at 2 p.m., EST.

COTTON BOWL at Dallas — Fourth-ranked Texas, 9-0-1, vs. No. 7 Louisiana State, 8-1-1, to be televised over ABC at 2 p.m., EST.

ORANGE BOWL at Miami — Fifth-ranked Alabama, 9-1, vs. No. 8 Oklahoma, 8-2, to be televised over ABC at 2 p.m., EST.

The long windup weekend started with four games Saturday — featuring Florida's 17-7 upset of Penn State in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., and continues today with the Sun Bowl in El Paso, Tex., West Texas State and Ohio University, each 8-2, are slated for that one. There is no national television of the Sun Bowl.

Looking back on a 74-73 loss to St. Olaf Saturday night at Mary E. Sawyer Auditorium, Dr. Robert Campbell, WSC coach said:

"WE PLAYED better ball, but we missed a chance to win it by blowing 1-and-1 free throws in the last minutes."

St. Olaf, which had lost in overtime to Luther Friday night, thus won consolation honors. Host La Crosse captured its own title by smothering Luther Saturday 82-60.

Tom Malchow, a 6-5 reserve center, was the most dominant player in a game against Winona. He hit Dr. Papefuss for 30 points, 17 in the first half, and walked off as "most valuable player" in the two-day holiday affair.

"WE HAD no one who could stop him," said Campbell. "We did the best we could and found that a zone was the most effective."

Malchow hit nine baskets and meshed 12 of 12 from the free throw lane.

For State, the Papefuss brothers combined for 45 points, 24 of them by forward Dick who had 15 in the Warriors' second half drive. Mark Dilley collected 13 points. Lyle Papefuss got 13 of his 21 in the first half.

State faltered just before the halftime gun and went off 38-33 in arrears at the intermission. But led by Dick Papefuss, the Warriors outscored St. Olaf 24-16 in the first 10 minutes of the second half and forged ahead 57-54.

FROM THERE, Malchow and Mark Aamot carried the Oles in the final 10 minutes. State stayed within three-point range going into the final two minutes. But L. Papefuss blew a 1-1 free throw and after the two teams traded baskets, Dilley blew another.

Dilley connected on a lay-up with 75 seconds left but the Oles stalled out the remaining time.

Winona outshot St. Olaf from the field by one basket and hit 38 percent for the night. The Oles had 33 percent.

At the free throw line, State made 17 of 23, St. Olaf 20 of 27.

Cotter Wins for Fifth Straight

Winona Cotter won its second game in the Cochrane-Fountain City Holiday doubleheader Saturday night 64-45 over Cochrane-Fountain City.

The victory was Cotter's fifth in a row and pushed its season record to 6-2.

RAMBLER Coach John Nett was pleased with the showing of guard Gene Schultz. Schultz has come on strong in the last three games and now seems to be established as one of Cotter's strong scorers.

With the score tied 3-3 early in the first quarter Loran Koprow-ski, Sam Czaplowski, Bob Judge, and Schultz combined for eight straight points. Six points (15-9) was as close as Cochrane-Fountain City could come for the rest of the game.

Road Cleared For Liston, Floyd Rematch

NEW YORK (AP)—At least one major roadblock — money — was cleared today for a possible Sonny Liston-Floyd Patterson rematch for the heavyweight boxing championship.

But the method used to clear it may hurt Patterson almost as much as the first fight did.

Promoter Tom Bolan said the government had approved a settlement of tax claims against the last fight Sept. 25 in Chicago, in which Liston knocked out the then champion in the first round.

Bolan said this was a major factor in a rematch, and he expected to make an announcement in a few days. He said either Las Vegas or Baltimore is the likely site, with Miami an outside possibility.

Under the settlement by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, all but $400,000 of the more than $2 million impounded the night of the fight will be released, Bolan said.

A plan to pay Patterson his estimated purse of more than $1 million over a 17-year period had to be junked, Bolan said. The government agreed on a two-year pay period, which will up Patterson's tax payments a great deal.

Chicago Takes Undisputed NHL Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It took 51 minutes of frustrated effort to do it, but the Chicago Black Hawks finally broke through Boston rookie Ed Johnston.

The Hawks, blanketed for the first 51 minutes and trailing the lowly Bruins 2-0, bunched all their scoring in the last nine minutes and beat Boston 4-2 Sunday night, moving into sole control of first place in the National Hockey League.

The victory lifted the Hawks out of a first place tie and gave them a two-point lead over idle Toronto. New York, working under new coach George Red Sullivan, came from behind a three goal deficit and tied Montreal 4-4 in the only other Sunday game scheduled.

Rookie Johnston turned in 38 saves in a brilliant effort against Chicago and had the Hawks blanketed until Eric Nesterenko jammed the puck behind him at 11:24 of the final period. Nesterenko tied it four minutes later when he tipped in Bob Turner's long shot, and goals by Red Hay and Murray Balfour 23 seconds apart nailed it down.

Montreal beat Detroit 5-1 and Chicago and Toronto tied 1-1 in Saturday games.

New York is at Detroit in the only game scheduled tonight.

Wisconsin Tips Marquette 70-56 Behind Seibel

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—The University of Wisconsin basketball team is seeking new worlds to conquer after beating Marquette for the second time to take the title in the first Milwaukee Classic Tournament Saturday night.

The Badgers had too much shooting from the floor and the free throw line, too much speed and too much versatility for the Warriors in rolling to a 70-56 victory. Wisconsin won their first meeting 76-58.

A crowd of 10,846 gathered to watch the Badgers and Warriors after Navy had taken third place by beating Utah 73-58 in the consolation game. Marquette beat Navy on Friday night when Wisconsin topped Utah.

Ken Siebel, who had teamed with Jack Brens to lead Wisconsin against Utah, was once more the director of the Badger attack in the game with Marquette. The Badgers' most valuable player, Siebel, back in his starting role once more after injuries, was picked as the tournament's most valuable player.

He scored the Badgers' first basket and finished the first half with 12 points, six of them late in the period as Wisconsin pulled away to a 32-19 lead at the intermission. When the Warriors drew within a dozen points in the second half, Siebel, who led the scoring with 20 points, sparked the offensive drive that sent the Badgers racing away.

The Badgers, who put in 16 of 21 free throw attempts in the second half, hit 50 percent of their 48 shots from the floor in the entire game.

The Badgers make their next start Jan. 5, meeting Big Ten foe Purdue.

SHERMAN: VINDICATED THEMSELVES

NEW YORK (AP)—It was a game both teams were proud of—the losers as well as the winners—a close, savagely-fought game. "They couldn't have been better," said coach Vince Lombardi of his Green Bay Packers, who had just won their second straight National Football League championship Sunday with a 16-7 triumph over the New York Giants.

"They vindicated themselves. There was no humiliation today."

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—End Pat Richter of Wisconsin, already a member of The Associated Press All-America first team, was included on the All-America academic football team announced Saturday by college sports information directors.
