Ban Junk Yards, Billboards Along Highways, LBJ Urges

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked Congress today to ban billboards and unsightly junkyards along busy highways. And he sought funds for highway beautification.

In a letter to officials of the Senate and House, Johnson put forth these sweeping and controversial proposals one day after the close of a White House conference on natural beauty.

The most controversial of the presidential recommendations was his plan to control outdoor advertising.

"In general," he told Congress, "such controls would require that no advertising signs be erected in areas within 1,000 feet of the pavement and visible to the passing motorists. Existing signs would have to be removed by July 1, 1970."

Johnson said that, if Congress agrees, no states could receive federal highway aid after Jan. 1, 1968 unless they control billboards along interstate and primary roads — the most heavily traveled highways. Billboards still would be permitted, however, along routes zoned or used primarily for commercial or industrial purposes.

In proposing controls over junkyards, Johnson said: "I recommend that as a condition of receiving federal aid, states must exercise control along the entire interstate and primary systems. No new junkyards could be established within 1,000 feet of the pavement and visible to the motorist. Existing junkyards would have to be effectively screened or removed by July 1, 1970."

The President said some states might lack adequate police powers to control outdoor advertising and junkyards.

"Where this is the case," he said, "the federal government would be authorized to pay its share of the cost of purchase or condemnation."

In submitting a package of four bills Johnson was doing just what the 1,000 delegates to the natural beauty conference wanted.

Johnson, who called the two-day conference, wound it up with a big reception at the White House and a lengthy speech pronouncing his own dedication to the cause of natural beauty.

Chairman Laurance Rockefeller and four panelists had reported to the President some of the scores of recommendations for expansion of scenic highways, protection of waters, reclaiming lands and wildlife and a need to educate Americans on nature's beauties.

Johnson said he wants governors to follow up with similar conferences in every state. Two are scheduled in California and Massachusetts. The President said he aimed "to keep the fruits of this enormous effort from being dissipated."

"I intend to make full use of your work," he told the delegates at the White House, "and I hope local officials in every state will do the same."

Johnson told about his bills, saying: "We have not been idle while you were working." He said he was determined that the government be "a model and a pacesetter in this field."

Mrs. Johnson opened the conference Monday and attended some panel sessions.

Two of the President's bills would require the use of $200 million in highway funds for landscaping, beautification, scenic roads and recreation along the nation's road system.

Johnson hopes to eliminate existing billboards by 1970 on the network of 230,000 miles of federal-aid primary roads and the completed 20,000 miles of the planned 41,000-mile interstate superhighways.

Administration sources gave this rundown of the four-bill package Johnson prepared to send along with a special beauty message to Congress.

1. In order to claim federal highway aid for interstate and primary roads — the most heavily traveled highways — states would have to ban billboards within 1,000 feet of these roads, except in areas zoned for commercial and industrial use.

2. All junkyards within sight of interstate and primary roads would either be effectively screened from view or eliminated. If states were forced into condemnation proceedings, the federal government would pay 50 per cent of the cost of condemnation-acquired property along interstate highways and 50 per cent along primary roads.

3. States would be required to spend 3 per cent of federal highway aid under the interstate program on landscaping and beautification projects. Outlays of $120 million a year are involved. In special cases where beautification is considered operating, the secretary of commerce could grant an exception to this requirement.

4. One-third of all federal aid for secondary roads — about $100 million — would be set aside for roadside beautification, recreation areas and scenic roads.

It was understood Johnson decided to recommend the stringent billboard controls because he thinks a voluntary program that went into effect in 1958 has virtually failed.

When that proposal was passed, Johnson, then the Senate Democratic leader, was on the opposing side. The late Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., had offered a floor amendment to strike out the billboard incentive provision in the Interstate Highway Act. It failed 47 to 41, with Johnson on the losing side.

U.S. Begins Dominican Troop Pullout

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The United States today began withdrawing 600 of the 21,000 troops it has stationed in the Dominican Republic. Their place is being filled by Latin-American soldiers arriving for the new peace force of the Organization of American States.

Within a week the Latin Americans in the Inter-American Force will total about 1,700 men. An equal number of Americans are expected to leave the divided country.

Fighting in Santo Domingo between troops of the military-civilian junta and rebel forces has come to a halt. But U.S. officials admitted that a political solution was not in sight due to the junta's insistence that the rebels surrender and that it become the country's only government.

McGeorge Bundy, President Johnson's special envoy, was returning to Washington today after 10 days of intensive but futile efforts to bring the rival factions together.

About all the two sides have agreed on is that any new government should be strongly anti-Communist and should not be a right-wing dictatorship.

U.S. officials said OAS Secretary-General Jose A. Mora would now have charge of negotiations. Deputy U.S. Defense Secretary Cyrus Vance, who came here with Bundy, is remaining to help Mora.

Bundy and his team of negotiators have been trying to promote a coalition government headed by Antonio Guzman, agriculture minister in the government of exiled President Juan Bosch. The rebels have welcomed the idea, but the junta has rebuffed it.

The junta president, Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera, assailed the coalition formula Tuesday as a "frank intervention in the internal affairs" of the Dominican Republic because it originated abroad.

Instead, Imbert proposed creation of a provisional legislative council to serve, apparently in an advisory capacity, under the present junta. The council members would be appointed by professional, industrial, agricultural and labor organizations. The armed forces would publicly pledge allegiance to civil authority.

Imbert made no mention of elections or the proposed life span of the council and the junta.

Bundy and Vance visited the rebel sector in downtown Santo Domingo Tuesday for a four-hour talk with the rebel chief, Col. Francisco Caamaño Deno. A U.S. Embassy spokesman said the exchange was "useful and serious" but disclosed no details.

Queen Visits British Troops In Germany

SOFST, Germany (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II took a day off today from her tour of German cities and states to visit some of her troops stationed in West Germany.

Her day began with a visit to Canadian forces at Nearby Fort York. The local German population turned out in large numbers to cheer the queen as she and her husband, Prince Philip, arrived.

American Dies In Viet Attack

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — One American was killed, another was wounded and a third was missing today following a Viet Cong ambush 60 miles northwest of Saigon.

In the air war, U.S. warplanes battered military installations and transport facilities in North Viet Nam on a round-the-clock basis.

The Americans were ambushed Tuesday as they were traveling in a jeep from the Special Forces camp at Ben Soi to Tay Ninh.

An irregular South Vietnamese strike force made contact with the Viet Cong, and a regional company accompanied by two American advisers was sent into the area.

In the firefight that followed 11 Viet Cong were reported killed. South Vietnamese losses were four killed and four wounded.

The American who was killed, an enlisted man, was the 386th American combat death in South Viet Nam since December 1961. This is one more than the American battle dead in the Spanish-American war.

Twenty F105 Thunderchiefs hit a radar site at Hon Matt Island and a petroleum storage area at Vinh, 130 miles south of Hanoi, a U.S. spokesman said. Pilots reported they damaged four buildings at the radar site and destroyed four buildings at Vinh.

Four U.S. Navy Skyraiders and two F8 Crusaders from the carrier Midway damaged or destroyed 16 buildings at the Phu Van supply depot, 150 miles south of Hanoi, the spokesman said.

An undisclosed number of F105s hit two North Vietnamese river boats, three barracks and eight bridges near Vinh, according to initial reports.

A U.S. spokesman said all planes returned safely despite heavy anti-aircraft fire over Vinh.

Navy planes made raids during the night.

Twelve planes from the carrier Midway bombed a barracks area at Quan Lan, 150 miles south of Hanoi. Pilots reported barracks buildings and supply and storage structures were 70 per cent destroyed.

Ten planes from the carrier Coral Sea dropped flares to illuminate targets in three separate sorties. Pilots of two A1 Skyraiders reported they hit two trucks on Route 7 and another on Route 116, about 125 miles south of Hanoi.

Despite anti-aircraft fire, all planes returned safely to the carriers, spokesman said.

U.S. authorities in Saigon said investigations were still going on to identify four planes that attacked a South Vietnamese army post just south of the border with North Viet Nam Tuesday.

U.S. military spokesmen and the Vietnamese commander at Da Nang had said the planes were Communist MIGs. But American military authorities in Saigon said they were U.S. jets that had gotten off course.

Five Vietnamese were wounded in the raid.

On the political front, a dispute developed over the appointment of two new ministers to Premier Phan Huy Quat's three-month-old government. Reliable sources said Chief of State Phan Khac Suu refused to approve the appointment of Nguyen Trung Trinh to take over the Economic Ministry from Nguyen Van Vinh and Tran Van Thuan to replace Nguyen Hoa Hiep as interior minister.

The Viet Nam Press Agency reported that U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor has informed Suu he will go to Washington around May 29 to report to President Johnson on the situation in Viet Nam. Taylor expects to be away for a week, the report said.

Johnson signed a bill in Washington Tuesday authorizing $1 million for construction of a new U.S. Embassy building in Saigon. The present embassy was damaged March 30 by a Viet Cong terrorist explosion in which two Americans and 19 Vietnamese were killed.

The new embassy will be built on a site owned by the United States about a mile north of the present building. It is expected to be completed in 14 to 16 months.

Russ Missile Equipment in North Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today there may be a second Soviet missile installation in the vicinity of Hanoi, North Viet Nam, armed with what he termed missile-associated equipment.

He told a news conference this represents a deepening of the Soviet involvement in support of Communist North Viet Nam.

The State Department acknowledged earlier this month that a missile site was under preparation in the Hanoi area.

Rusk said that "we understand in one that there is present missile-associated equipment."

Rusk also said the Communist threat in the Dominican Republic has been "very substantially reduced." He also forecast a further pullout of U.S. forces from Santo Domingo soon.

Senate Ready On Voting Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate was poised today for passage of a bill to make sure no American is denied his constitutional right to vote.

President Johnson's No. 1 priority measure, the legislation is certain of overwhelming approval. When that approval comes — probably before nightfall — it is expected to be along the lines of the 70-30 vote Tuesday by the Senate to limit further debate.

With a long Memorial Day weekend approaching and Congress eager to get out of town, leaders called the Senate in three hours early today, figuring the headstart would take care of whatever fight and talk Southern opponents may have left.

The cloture vote, three over the required two-thirds, pretty much took the starch out of opponents of the civil rights measure.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., a former judge who has questioned the legislation's constitutionality and has been trying — and failing — to tack on amendments, told reporters: "The way things are, I don't think I could even get a denunciation of the Crucifixion in the bill."

The measure is designed primarily to sweep obstacles from the path of Negro voters in the Deep South. Negro leaders, liberal organizations and labor chiefs are united in echoing the administration's call for approval.

Senate passage will send the bill to the House where a similar measure has been approved by the House Judiciary Committee.

Johnson went before a joint session of Congress March 15 — during the Selma, Ala., demonstrations — to urge swift action to prevent Negroes from being denied the right to register and vote. The bill reached the Senate floor April 22 and debate on it was generally languorous.

The bill provides for suspension of literacy and similar voter qualification tests and the appointment of federal registrars in Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina and parts of North Carolina and Virginia.

Thunderstorms Rumble Across Middle West

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorms continued to rumble across wide areas in the Midwest and Plains states today after another rash of tornadoes from Minnesota to Texas.

Twisters struck sections of Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska and Minnesota causing extensive property damage. A truck driver was injured when his semi-trailer truck was knocked from the road and overturned several times near Colorado City, Texas.

The Weather Bureau reported that at least eight tornadoes were sighted in Kansas, mostly in rural areas. However, one struck Iuka, a town of 221 and ripped gas lines. Another hit the nearby Pratt Municipal Airport damaging hangars and scattered about 50 oil storage tanks. The airport also is operated as an industrial complex. One firm estimated damage at $200,000.

Several farm houses were destroyed near Kirwin Dam, Kan., and Kearney, Neb.

Rochester Sunday Closing Law Illegal

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) — This city's Sunday closing ordinance has been ruled unconstitutional in a test case heard in the Olmsted County District Court.

Judge Arnold Hatfield held Tuesday that the ordinance violates equality in that it limits application of the Sunday closing to business places employing six or more persons and exempts smaller businesses.

It was not immediately known whether the city would appeal the ruling.

A similar test case from Richfield is before the Minnesota Supreme Court. The Richfield ordinance was upheld in the Hennepin County District Court.

The Rochester test case involves the sale of a jacket by a service station attendant on Sunday.

THE COURT test leading to today's decision started in District Court here last year. It was brought by attorneys for the Tempo Discount Store and the owner of two city filling stations. The two firms said they were losing some $5,000 a week because of the selling ban.

But the court in December twice turned down bids by the two for temporary injunctions against the ordinance. Final arguments in the matter were presented to the court in February.

Today's decision places a permanent injunction against the Rochester ordinance effective immediately. Stores, therefore, can be open beginning this Sunday.

Judge Hatfield, in striking down the Rochester ordinance, ruled that Sunday closing regulations in the state are still in force as the result of a state law. The ordinance, he ruled, conflicts with this law.

THE STATE LAW predates the turn of the century and has not been strictly enforced. One of its provisions places a ban on the sale of uncooked meats and groceries.

While one section of the Rochester ordinance places a similar ban on the Sunday sales of uncooked meats and groceries, this provision only applies to those firms employing more than five workers. So-called "ma and pa" grocery stores, employing five or less workers, are exempt.

JUDGE HATFIELD'S decision hits hard at that section. "The only logical purpose for such a distinction," he said, "is to give a preference to the small establishment."

This, in turn, he ruled, "violates the equality provisions of both the State and Federal Constitutions."

The same section, the judge notes, also provides that the ordinance is not to be construed as permitting any act which otherwise is prohibited by law. This, too, he said, he could not uphold, calling it "a trap."

"A PERSON intending to operate a business in Rochester should be able to read a city ordinance and determine from it whether he may lawfully pursue a line of conduct in his business, and he should not be misled by affirmative statements that he may do a thing which is forbidden by state law."

The Rochester Council adopted the ordinance in February 1964 after three months of sometimes stormy debate over the matter, largely on religious grounds.

SENATE SHOWDOWN NEXT

House Votes Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — House passage of a one-year, $3.37-billion foreign aid authorization bill has set the stage for a showdown with the Senate over the future course of the program.

Senate leaders said they will push for early passage of a different version — one which extends the program for two years, at $3.35 billion a year — and calls for termination of foreign aid in its present form after that.

The House passed its one-year measure — with no provision for termination — by a vote of 249 to 148 Tuesday. It did so after rejecting, 219 to 177, a Republican attempt to cut $131 million from the development loan section.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told news- men he thinks the Senate will go along with the committee's recommendation for a two-year authorization and a two-year deadline for the administration to come up with a new program.

The differences would have to be ironed out in a Senate-House conference committee.

Fulbright said he still has not decided if he will manage the Senate bill on the floor when it comes up for debate.

Fulbright served notice on the administration last fall he would not steer the measure in the Senate if it submitted an omnibus bill. He lost a motion in his own committee to split military and economic aid into two separate bills.

In the end, however, the committee accepted his recommendation for a two-year authorization, coupled with an amendment by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., to terminate the whole program in its present form after that.

The Morse amendment would establish a 12-member planning committee, including four senators and four House members, to examine foreign aid and make recommendations to the President for submission of an entirely different formal with light new criteria for aid for the fiscal year that starts July 1, 1967. It would limit future aid to 50 countries.

Both Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen told a reporter they would support the two-year extension and the termination provision.

Autos Bring Changes

The automobile has brought us many changes. For instance, where we once measured distances in miles, now we measure them by exits. Nowadays you have to be an optimist just to open your eyes in the morning. Not only is the horse becoming extinct, but so are the people who worked like one.

A local character recalls that he had to bring his mother to school so often when he was a kid that she was voted class president.

U.S. to Send Man Outside Spaceship

By HAROLD R. WILLIAMS

AP Aerospace Writer HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Strolling through space at 17,500 miles per hour about 100 miles above the earth could be hard work for any astronaut.

The man who is scheduled to take such a walk June 3 is ready for it.

Edward H. White II officially got the assignment Tuesday from Dr. Robert R. Gilruth, Manned Spacecraft Center director.

The 34-year-old Air Force major will climb out of his Gemini-4 spacecraft over Guaymas, Mexico, during the second orbit, and cavort through space for about 10 to 12 minutes before he climbs back into the cabin over the Florida coast.

venture into space.

Soviet cosmonaut Alexei Leonov was the first human to leave his spaceship. He somersaulted before European television cameras March 18.

No television cameras will watch White. His flight partner, command pilot James A. McDivitt, 35, will take pictures through the spacecraft's windows. The entire exercise will take about 22 minutes.

White is in superb physical condition. "He could run the mile, fight a 10-round boxing match, swim 20 miles and do about anything that would require physical endurance," said Dr. Charles Berry, physician in charge of astronautics health.

A friend asked White why he wanted to leave the spacecraft. "That's what I get paid for."

The San Antonio, Tex., native who is six feet tall and weighs 171 pounds, has practiced leaving and re-entering the spacecraft 110 times in pressure chambers and during weightless flying in a KC13T airplane at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio.

Special equipment developed for the stroll has been qualified to withstand micrometeorites and the harsh rays of the sun, Gilruth said.

Former Wife Of FDR Jr. Hangs Self

GROSSE POINTE FARMS, Mich. (AP) — An inquest was to be held today into the death of Mrs. Ethel du Pont Roosevelt Warren, heiress and former wife of Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr.

Mrs. Warren, 49, a member of the wealthy Du Pont chemical and industrial family and one-time Eastern society beauty, was found dead in a bathroom of her home in this Detroit suburb Tuesday.

Police said Mrs. Warren apparently hanged herself.

Friends said Mrs. Warren, mother of two sons by Roosevelt and a third in her second marriage, had been ill recently.

Her body was found hanging by a braided belt of her dressing gown from a rod in the locked bathroom after a maid had become alarmed over her whereabouts.

Police broke through the bathroom door. The maid, Martha Weeber, said Mrs. Warren had appeared disconsolate when she was served breakfast in bed about 9 a.m.

Mrs. Warren was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Eugene I. du Pont of the du Pont chemical manufacturing dynasty.

A brother, Eugene, is a board member of the family-founded E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. of Wilmington, Del.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Thursday from Christ Episcopal church in neighboring Grosse Pointe. Burial is to be at Wilmington.

How Presidents Use Armed Forces

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman didn't, President Eisenhower did and President Johnson did and didn't.

That's the mixed-up picture of how presidents down through American history used the armed forces, sometimes with and sometimes without congressional approval, even when it meant war.

The Constitution gives Congress alone the power to declare war but it says the president is commander in chief of Army and Navy. It neglects to say whether he needs a go-ahead from Congress before using them.

So the presidents, depending on the man and the circumstances, have suited themselves.

Presidents Jefferson, McKinley and Wilson are three examples of men who didn't ask the blessing of Congress when they thought it necessary to act.

Jefferson sent the Navy into action in the undeclared war against the Barbary pirates in 1801.

In 1900, McKinley sent 2,500 U.S. troops, along with about 16,000 from European countries, into China against fanatical Chinese, principally a group called the "Boxers," who were slaughtering foreigners and wanted to drive out the rest.

Wilson in 1914 sent the armed forces to capture Vera Cruz in Mexico.

When the North Korean Communists attacked South Korea in 1950, Truman sent in the armed forces without ever asking or getting specific congressional approval. Yet, this was a real war.

Actually, half an hour before he announced his action he called congressional leaders to the White House, told them the decision he had made and got their hearty endorsement.

For all practical purposes Congress did give him official approval for the war in the various measures it voted, like money, extending the draft and so on.

Nevertheless, as the fighting went on and the 1952 presidential campaign drew near, Republicans called it "Truman's war," a charge he might have avoided if he had pinned Congress down to specific approval.

Eisenhower, not faced with the same kind of emergency as Truman, made use of the time to get ready and in January 1955, asked and got from Congress approval for whatever action he might take to defend Formosa from Red Chinese attack.

But in 1957 he was looking ahead a year when he asked Congress for authority to use the armed forces to protect the Middle East from Communist aggression.

(Like other presidents before him Eisenhower could have used the forces when the time came, without this authorization, but by doing it this way he had a national endorsement for what he might do later.)

It took Eisenhower three months to get approval from both houses of Congress but, once he had it, it became known as the Eisenhower "doctrine" although he didn't have to use it until 1958.

Then, when Lebanon, friendly to the West, seemed in danger from communism or Egypt, Eisenhower sent the fleet there and put troops ashore.

Johnson sought congressional endorsement for the action he has taken in Viet Nam but not in the Dominican Republic.

Last August, when North Vietnamese PT boats attacked U.S. destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin, he asked and got from Congress a blank check to do what he thought necessary. At that time he didn't do much.

He ordered the bombing of some North Vietnamese naval bases. But he used the blank check in full when Viet Cong guerrillas in South Viet Nam last February blasted a U.S. air base with mortar fire.

Johnson ordered the bombing of North Viet Nam and that has been going on since, with a pause of only six days to see if the Communists wanted to talk peace. When they didn't, the bombing was resumed. Meanwhile, Johnson sent in Marines.

The congressional approval he got beforehand was very broad. It authorized "all necessary measures" to "prevent further aggression."

But when Johnson sent Marines into the Dominican Republic last month — explaining first it was to save American lives and then to stop a Communist takeover — he sought no formal nod from Congress.

He simply called some key members of Congress to the White House to explain his action before announcing it to the nation.

City Gets $1,267,125 Check for Flood Work

A federal government check for $1,267,125 was received today by city officials to help pay costs of this year's flood fight.

The amount is an advance portion of the $1,680,000 requested by the city in its preliminary application to the Office of Emergency Planning. City officials said it will fall far short of meeting all costs of the defense effort and flood-related damages.

CITY TREASURER Alfred Berndt said the check will go into a specially-created emergency flood control fund. Subsequent grants also will be received and disbursed through this fund, as required by the OEP.

The preliminary grant will be devoted largely to bills incurred by construction of emergency dikes. Supplementary applications will be filed as appraisals of city facilities reconstruction costs are developed. Still to be determined, for example, is the amount of damage inflicted on city sewer systems. An engineering consultant firm has been working on this problem for more than a week. Street repairs and other city property damages will be incorporated in supplementary requests for OEP funds.

SOME OF the new fund's first disbursements will be made for repayment of $300,000 borrowed from three city banks on short-term notes. In addition, said the city treasurer, Alfred Berndt, certificates of deposit totaling $75,000 were cashed to meet interim expenses and these will be re-established. The certificates covered temporary general fund surpluses earmarked for later use under the current city operating budget.

City officials said today they expect to file several supplementary applications. Deadline for all applications is July 10.

The amount was paid the city through the state agency by the federal Office of Emergency Planning as an advance on flood disaster relief funds. The check is for an amount nearly as large as the $1,608,000 to be levied for city government operations in the 1965-66 fiscal year. (Daily News photo)

Lewiston Board Asks $150,000 In Bond Issue

LEWISTON, Minn. — Out of fear that construction costs may go up again, Lewiston school board on June 8 will ask electors to bond the district for another $150,000 for construction of a high school.

The new building was estimated at $1,154,000 in 1963. Apparently construction costs have increased since that time, because low apparent base bids opened last week totalled $1,206,645.

The original bond issue approved and sold was $1,100,000. The board expected to pay the balance with funds on hand.

The board was advised by the architect at a special meeting Friday night that if the building should be redesigned and new bids taken, costs might rise during the several months necessary to a point where any savings anticipated would be wiped out.

Several items were dropped from the proposals but the board, not wishing to drastically strip the plans, decided to ask the voters to decide. If they agree, construction contracts will be let immediately and work will commence on the new building at once.

Osmon R. Springsted, bonding consultant, estimated a $150,000 bond issue will cost 3.50 mills and said first taxes for it would not have to be until 1967.

Voting will be from 6 to 9:30 p.m. at the Lewiston and Altura schools. People in districts and areas attached to Lewiston effective July 1 may vote.

Schools Asking $2,000 Aid for Flood Expenses

An application for reimbursement of funds spent in this spring's city flood fight by the public school system was authorized Tuesday by the Board of Education.

The application will be sent by the board's clerk and business manager, Paul W. Sanders, to the Office of Emergency Planning.

Sanders told board members at a special meeting Tuesday that the school district will seek reimbursement for expenditures totaling about $2,000.

Most of this was paid members of the custodial staff for overtime while assigned to pumping duty along the city's dike system and for hours put in while the Senior High School was designated as an official evacuation center.

Rochester Man Returns Check For Flood Work

A former resident, with pleasant memories of his home city, wrote city officials that he could not accept pay for his work in the recent flood emergency.

Ervin Schmidt, Rochester, returned a check for $11.25 and wrote a letter of explanation. Its text:

"Enclosed you will find the check for my labors during your recent flood emergency. I am returning the check because I would feel guilty for taking pay for my efforts in trying to save your city from flooding.

"I was born and raised in Winona and still have sentimental ties to the city, the lake and, most of all, the Mississippi River. I feel, therefore, that I have been amply repaid many times the amount of money involved.

"You may use the check in any way you feel necessary.

"I wish to thank you once again for what I feel was an honor in helping where I could during the flood emergency."

3.26 PERCENT LOW

School Interest Rate Higher Than Expected

By C. GORDON HOLTE
Daily News Staff Writer

A $5.78 million bond issue to finance construction of a new Senior High School and a building to house the Winona Area Vocational - Technical School Tuesday was sold to a bidding syndicate on its offer of a 3.26 percent interest rate — a rate that is slightly lower than that on which estimated total cost of the school building program was predicted and a little higher than the Winona Board of Education and its bonding consultants had hoped for.

The issue was purchased by Northern Trust Co., Chicago, and 13 other associated firms on a low net interest rate that figured out exactly to 3.2625 percent and will yield $2,988,962 in interest over the 25-year life of the issue.

THERE WERE seven proposals opened at Tuesday's special meeting of the school board with rates ranging up to 3.31639 percent, the latter representing a dollar interest cost of $2,936,965.

A total of 82 firms from throughout the United States participated in the bidding, a number that representatives of the board's bond consultants, Springsted, Inc., St. Paul, described as an unusually large number and one which indicated active interest in the Winona bond offer. Osmon R. Springsted, president, and G. T. Ewalt of the bond consultant firm said that a number of the institutions participating in the bidding hadn't been seen on any municipal bond proposals they could recall in Minnesota.

THE TOTAL net interest to be paid over the retirement period is around $80,000 below the estimate on possible interest rates to be expected presented to the board earlier this year when overall cost of the school building project was under consideration.

After the bids had been opened, Springsted acknowledged that "we had hoped, frankly, for a somewhat better rate," adding, however, that at this time the lowest rates that could probably have been expected would have been around 3.2 percent.

Board members were told that due to several factors — among them a recent decision in an investment tax case and the fact that many firms now had large inventories of bonds on hand—the bond index in recent weeks has shown an upward trend.

IT WAS the recommendation of the consultants that, considering the Winona offer a "good one" in light of present circumstances, it should be accepted rather than re-advertising for bids at a later date in the hope that a somewhat lower interest rate might be realized.

The recommendation, which was followed by the board in authorizing the sale of the bonds to Northern Trust, was based in part on the fact that the earlier the bonds are sold, the longer period the board can realize revenues from reinvestment.

It's planned now for the sale to be finalized July 1 with the $5.78 million proceeds of the issue to be reinvested immediately—the following day.

Contemplating an interest rate on the reinvested funds of about 3.9 percent, the board found that it might anticipate an interest yield of something like $220,000 in a year. The amount of interest saved on a lower interest rate which might result from a later advertisement for bids would be more than offset, consultants felt, by the loss in reinvestment revenues during the interim period.

The school board already has begun making outlays on the building project with payments of architects fees which have been drawn from the existing school building sinking fund.

Also to be paid this year will be cost of acquisition of a site south of Gilmore Avenue and west of an extension of Wilsie Street for which preparations now are being made for condemnation proceedings.

Improvement of site is planned for later in the fall.

ALTHOUGH the interest rate on the bonds is slightly less than the figure on which estimated project costs had been predicted, it won't make any appreciable difference in the tax levy over the next 25 years required to finance construction of the two schools.

When the building program and bond issue had been put to a referendum of voters this spring, school officials estimated that the cost to local taxpayers of the building program would come to around 17.2 mills, an increase of 7.2 mills over that currently in effect for school improvement purposes.

A bond retirement fund will be established and a levy for bond interest and principal payments will be made beginning with the next budget to be adopted this summer.

The first principal payment will be $75,000 maturing in 1968 and successive payments will be made annually in amounts ranging up to $340,000.

NORTHERN Trust's successful bid showed interest computed on a sliding scale. Rates for maturity years 1968-76 will be 3 percent; 1977-79, 3.10 percent; 1980-83, 3.20 percent; 1984-86, 3.25 percent, and 1987-90, 3.30 percent.

Other bids, including rates and total net dollar interest costs, were received from: American National Bank, St. Paul (Winona National & Savings Bank was one of the associated firms), 3.3150 percent, $2,030,311; First National Bank

Independence Man Dies Under Pinned Tractor

GALESVILLE, Wis. (Special) — A 42-year-old Independence man died Tuesday when he was pinned under a tractor on the Donald Veto farm in Norway Coulee, eight miles northeast of Centerville.

The victim, Leonard A. Bautch, had crossed a dry ditch left by washing this spring, according to Trempealeau County Sheriff Eugene Bifold. When the back wheels of the tractor went into the ditch, the machine tipped backward, pinning him.

VETO FOUND Mrs. later. He couldn't lift the tractor but did so with the help of a neighbor.

According to James E. Garaghan, coroner, the left rib cavity of his body was pinned. He assumed Bautch was pinned so long that circulation was cut off, causing his death.

The sheriff said the accident happened about 7 p.m. He was called at 8 p.m.

Mr. Bautch was born Nov. 5, 1911, to Frank S. and Elizabeth Jonietz Bautch, Independence, and was a lifelong resident of the area. He never married. He was a member of St. Peter and Paul's Catholic Church.

Survivors are: Five brothers, Thomas, John C., Robert, Andrew and Ignatz, and three sisters, Mrs. John (Frances) Gierok Mrs. Frank (Julia) Marsolek and Mrs. Paul (Agnes) Killian, all of Independence. His parents, one brother and one sister have died.

FUNERAL services will be Friday at 10 a.m. at St. Peter and Paul's Church, the Very Rev. Edmund Klimek officiating. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Friends may call at Kern Funeral Home from 5 p.m. today. Rosaries will be said today and Thursday at 8:30 p.m.

Thern Clean-up Delayed for Loss Estimate

Clean-up work at the fire-damaged Thern Machine Co., 3780 4th St., Goodview, was halted today while evaluation of the loss continues, an employe said.

However, work on a temporary roof to make the plant portion of the company's building usable will go on uninterrupted, the employe said.

The manufacturing area of the 1½-story, concrete block Thern building was almost completely destroyed in a fire early Sunday morning. The front office, which was not seriously affected, remains on a full schedule today.

Royal G. Thern, 1351 Glen View Road, was still attempting today to assess his loss. He called a halt to clean-up operations while he completed the damage estimate, according to the employe.

Goodview Fire Chief Joseph Trochta said today that the cause of the fire would probably be listed as "unknown." The state fire marshal's investigation is ended, and no likely cause has been discovered, Trochta said. It is known that the fire began at the rear of the building, inside.

It Happened Last Night

Where Pooches Put on the Dog

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — My Beautiful Wife's always hinting that if I had any class I'd take Same Spade, our Schnauzer, for his morning walks, and let her get some sleep . . . because, you know, woman's work is never done. (So why don't women do their work, then it'd be done . . . right?)

"Come along, Sammy," I said to him the other morning, in a generous mood . . . and with his nose leading me down W. 57th St. I wound up at Canine Castle, Ltd., where an attractive blonde, Anne Leone, kissed my dog but not me, and then called out to one of her partners: "Oh, here's Sammy's father!" "I am not his father!" I started to say . . . then I saw that the idea of Sam Spade being an orphan would be more than she could bear.

So I just smiled at the compliment. Miss Leone, not long ago part of the magic and acrobatic act, the Fontaines, probably spoils more dogs than any human. The dogs have their own telephones. They often arrive for their beauty treatments in limousines, prancing out under a gold-and-white awning, into a lush, mirrored, tiled dogs' drawing room overhung by the scent of Chanel No. 5, or Joy, or some expensive perfume, so elegant that no dog would dare to misbehave within miles.

AN ANIMAL not quite as large as a deer loped through the dogs' drawing room. "That's my Afghan," the blonde known as Anne volunteered. "I haven't named him yet."

"What do you call him till you name him?" I asked. "Samson. Just like Sam!" She bent down and picked Sam Spade up in her arms and kissed Sam Spade but not his father who was waiting there expectantly.

When a dog is boarded at Canine Castle, it's not like the old boarding house I knew in Ohio.

The dog has a mosaic tiled salon to himself, with or without stereo music, according to his taste, and with such "accommodations" and "conveniences" as he requires.

A DOG GOING to Canine Castle meets a nice class of dog. He meets Paul Anka's, Leslie Uggams', Durward Kirby's, Carol Lawrence's and the fabled Duke of Westchester's canines, and he can also study art by chasing his tail around some Greek fountains that Anne thoughtfully provided for the dog that wishes to improve itself.

"When Sammy goes to Canine Castle for one night, he gets petted so much by the dog nut girls there, that he doesn't want to come home," My B. W. lamented the other day.

Sammy's father hopes it works the same for him. TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: If you tell a B-way character that he has great humility, he'll brag about that, too.

Ask Assault on President Be Made U. S. Crime

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two congressional members of the commission that investigated the assassination of President John F. Kennedy testify today in favor of legislation to make such an offense a federal crime.

Reps. Hale Boggs of Louisiana, assistant House Democratic leader, and Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, House GOP leader, were the leadoff witnesses before a House Judiciary subcommittee. They served on the seven-man presidential commission headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren.

The bill would allow federal jurisdiction to be asserted immediately in the case of killing, assaulting or kidnapping the president, vice president or any official in the line of presidential succession. The penalty for killing or kidnapping any of the officials would be life imprisonment or death, while for assault it would be a jail term of up to 15 years.

Boggs said in prepared testimony "one of the principal reasons for urging the enactment of this legislation is in order to end, once and for all, any dispute which might occur in the future between local, state and federal police authorities as to the exercise of full federal investigation jurisdiction in the case of the killing, or attempts on the life of, the president, vice president, or any of their immediate successors."

Boggs referred to the brief dispute that occurred in the hospital at Dallas when a local official sought to prevent the removal of Kennedy's body until an autopsy could be performed as required by local law.

The Louisiana Democrat cited the laws of Canada and various Western European countries, under which national authorities can take charge in case of the murder or an assault on the head of state.

Ford has said that he thinks justice would have been served if Kennedy's assassin could have been taken promptly into federal custody.

Year's Eve party and saves the cork. REMEMBERED QUOTE: "The longer a man is wrong, the surer he is that he is right."

EARL'S PEARLS: Statistics prove that it takes the average housewife about five checkbooks to fill one stamp book. — Art Muger, Boston.

State Fish

This picture of a jumping walleye will hang in the Minnesota governor's office, the official painting of Minnesota's state fish. It was done by Roger Preuss, Minneapolis, (left) famous Minnesota outdoor life artist and active conservationist. Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag (center) is receiving it on behalf of the state Rep. Keith Hinman, who introduced the legislation making the walleye Minnesota's state fish is on the right.

The walleye is unquestionably a popular choice among fishermen as the state fish. It is caught in every section of the state. It is the predominating fish that visitors come to Minnesota to catch, and will fit in with Minnesota advertising extremely well. The Hiawatha Valley and its Mississippi River fit well into the advertising feature since the largest walleye caught anywhere in the state came out of the Big River.

Cloquet Man Dead In Fire at Duluth

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — Riley Thompson, 24, Cloquet, died of suffocation and second degree burns early today in the fourth floor room of a rooming house.

Coroner Cyril Smith, who gave the cause of death, said the blaze apparently started in an overstuffed chair.

Donald F. Clark, 28, Duluth, collapsed after kicking at doors and rousing tenants. He was in fair condition at St. Mary's Hospital. He was known to have a heart condition, authorities said.

Big Earth Mover Taken for Ride

Sheriff George L. Fort was investigating reports that someone had tampered with a No-dine man's earthmover and that a group of men had stolen bread and gasoline from a rural Winona man.

The sheriff reported footprints around the Euclid owned by Duane Zenke, Nodine, which had been driven around near the Country Club at the new housing project in Pleasant Valley, according to Zenke. The earthmover had been abandoned when the transmission locked in reverse, the sheriff found.

Henry Kramer, rural Winona, reported a loaf of bread and eight gallons of gasoline missing from his home Monday night. He told Sheriff Fort that three men had been seen at his house Sunday between 2 and 4 p.m. when he was gone.

Human Rights Commission in Wisconsin Split

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Split by those who would settle for "half a loaf" and those who insisted on "all or nothing," the Governor's Commission on Human Rights has failed to reach any agreement on what stand to take on a bipartisan open housing bill introduced in the Assembly.

But the commission did reaffirm its support of the efforts of Sen. Fred Rissler, D-Madison, to enact a stronger bill prohibiting discrimination in housing. The vote Tuesday endorsing an amendment to Rissler's original bill was approved 6-5.

Rissler had drafted the substitute after a Senate committee recommended rejection of the first bill 5-0.

Both the bipartisan proposal and Rissler's would outlaw discrimination in the selling, buying, renting, leasing, financing and construction of housing, but the bipartisan proposal had more exceptions.

J. Richard Long of Beloit, vice chairman of the commission, said the bipartisan bill does not take "adequate and sufficient steps to solve the problem."

"If we go down to defeat with the Rissler bill, I would gladly do so," Long said. "I don't think we should compromise what is right and just."

"If you say you want it all or nothing and would smile at defeat, you'd be smiling for a 100 years," replied Chairman Robert Levine of Madison.

Cuban Refugee Center Planned For Jamaica

Young Kennedy Attending Nursery School Classes

NEW YORK (AP) — John F. Kennedy Jr., 4, son of the late president, has been attending nursery classes at a private Catholic laymen just off Fifth Avenue, it was disclosed today.

"He's a great kid and likes school very much," a source at St. David's School said. "Sometimes in February, his mother enrolled him in the nursery school for 4-year-olds."

Asked if John-John would continue into kindergarten next year, the source said: "I presume so, unless Mrs. Kennedy changes her mind."

The nursery classes are from 9 a.m. to noon Monday through Friday. There are about 20 other 4-year-olds in John's class, including five or six girls. The class has two teachers.

John has been out of school since May 12, when his mother took him and his sister, Caroline, 7, who is in the second grade at the Convent of the Sacred Heart, to London for the dedication of an acre of Runnymede meadowland in memory of their father.

The Kennedys are due back in New York today. St. David's has an enrollment of about 300 from nursery through kindergarten and the first eight grades. Girls are accepted only in the nursery school.

Litterbug Effort A private organization to focus public attention on Minnesota's litterbug problem was set up Monday in St. Paul. It will be statewide in scope and will seek public cooperation for the law enforcement agencies responsible for the tenth in the law. It will also act as a sort of public watchdog over the agencies to see that they do the job assigned to them by the legislature and that violators are introduced to the courts.

Litterbugging is expensive to the state. It costs the highway department thousands of dollars each month and parks and recreation areas an equal amount. It can be prevented by public cooperation such as "Don't throw that away — take it home and burn it."

High Rise Shopping Centers Coming?

WINONA TODAY is opening a new enclosed shopping center — as modern as any in the nation, and it is a privilege for this newspaper to welcome Miracle Mall to our business community.

But imagine, if you can, a shopping center four or five stories high with a cluster of stores and the outward appearance of a downtown department store. This, according to the International Council of Shopping Centers, may be what the future holds in store.

At a recent meeting of the council, some leading developers discussed the future of the shopping center and came up with these possibilities:

Forget about walking long distances from the parking to the shopping area — since your auto will probably be parked below or on top of the store.

The sometimes agonizing problem of shopping with the small fry will disappear — thanks to a baby-sitting service the center will provide in the playground facilities.

Chances are you will have a single charge plate for all stores and pick up your purchases at a centralized point. It won't matter very much if it's freezing or boiling hot outside — since the center will have controlled heat.

THE SHORTAGE OF land in shopping centers practically dictates the building of multi-level units, metropolitan developers said.

Such a development is believed essential to permit the addition of more stores and to maintain a proper parking ratio for existing units. The end result of such construction will see considerably more parking facilities above the store.

Several developers said they look for greater emergence of theaters in shopping centers — a proven performer in a number of areas.

A number of real estate men predict that future shopping centers would move in two directions — neighborhood branches under 100,000 square feet consisting of convenience stores (supermarkets, laundromats, drug stores, etc.) and powerhouse centers of more than 350,000 square feet with two, possible three, department stores as the major attractions.

IN THE LATTER, there are more co-operative ventures anticipated among the retail giants — with greater analysis of the type of competitor and its traffic-producing potential.

Theodore Schlesinger, president and chief executive officer of Allied Stores Corp., recently called on shopping centers to realize how intertwined their futures are with the continuance of a strong downtown — even to the extent of joining in over-all efforts to help such areas.

"The department store which is your major tenant, whose name and credit frequently enables you to put a center together, can usually only fulfill that function by virtue of the fact that his major investment at the central point stays healthy," Schlesinger said.

Schlesinger said he didn't expect shopping center operators and the suburbs to shed crocodile tears for downtown, or even to assume its civic and tax obligations to the community.

He noted, though, that others may be forced subsequently "to look to you for that help."

More than 800 new center openings are slated for 1965 — or about 100 more than were opened during the previous year. This would bring the total number of centers in operation at the start of 1966 to more than 8,600.

48,000 Died on Highways in 1964

DEATH HAD A FIELD day in 1964 on American highways.

Last year 48,000 lives were lost on the highways and 3,840,000 persons suffered injuries.

And a look to the future is even more disconcerting. More cars are being added to already congested highways. More miles are travelled each year in automobiles. With this in mind, it is a frightening likelihood that even more persons will be killed or injured in highway accidents.

The American highway system is being enlarged daily, but construction can't keep up with the number of cars being produced. Cars are made to last longer, the post war baby boom has skyrocketed the number of young drivers on the roads, and the young driver is blamed for a greater proportion of the accidents than other age groups.

DRIVER ERROR, lack of judgment and excessive speed all are major factors in the accident statistics. Fog, rain and snow are becoming less incident to the figures. In 1962, for example, less than 85 percent of the death and injury producing accidents occurred in clear weather. In 1963 the figure climbed to more than 86 percent, and in 1964 to about 90 percent.

This indicates that the driver is beginning to take it easy in bad weather, but at the same time is becoming more reckless in clear weather.

Perhaps the safety messages concerning fog, rain and snow have gotten across to the motorist. At the same time, however, he has developed a false sense of security in good weather. This false sense of security can kill him.

AND IT COULD kill you!

U.S. Can't Give Right to Vote

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Contrary to a general impression which prevails both inside and outside Congress, there is no such thing as a right to vote that can be granted to a citizen by the federal government. It has no authority to control or supervise or in any other way to interfere with the right of the states to establish the qualifications of a voter — except to remove discrimination as between citizens who are really qualified to vote and should be registered.

What Congress can and cannot do to prevent or punish such discrimination has been made crystal-clear by the Supreme court of the United States in many decisions during the last 90 years.

The Supreme Court at various times has defined the scope of the 15th amendment, which prohibits denial or abridgement of the right to vote on the basis of race or color. The following quotation from one of the court's rulings is pertinent today:

"The 15th amendment does not confer the right of suffrage upon anyone. It prevents the states, or the United States, however, from giving preference, in this particular, to one citizen of the United States over another, on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude."

IN ANOTHER CASE, the Supreme Court in 1959 specifically upheld the literacy test as a qualification for voters and quoted the following from a previous case:

"No time need be spent on the question of the validity of the literacy test, considered alone, since, as we have seen its establishment was but the exercise by the state or a lawful power vested in it not subject to our supervision, and indeed, its validity is admitted."

The Department of Justice today agrees with the foregoing interpretations by the court, and when Attorney General Katzenbach appeared before the Senate Committee on the Judiciary on March 23, he said:

"Some of the early (civil rights) laws were voided as too broad and others were later repealed. But the Supreme Court has never voided a statute limited to enforcement of the 15th amendment's prohibition against discrimination in voting."

MR. KATZENBACH then added that the court had "expressly pointed to the power of Congress to protect the right to exemption from discrimination in the exercise of the elective franchise on account of race, color, previous condition of servitude."

The big question now is how far Congress can go in preventing discrimination by the states when persons are being registered who wish to vote. Certainly a literacy or other test which applies equally to persons of every color or race is not in itself an abridgement of the right to vote.

To abolish poll taxes, for example, as a qualification for registering voters — as has just been approved by a vote in a House committee of Congress handling the voting-rights bill — is plainly an action in disregard of Supreme Court decisions. A poll tax could, of course, be used wrongfully to limit a citizen's right to vote, but unless it can be found that white men are permitted to vote when they have failed to pay such a tax, while the same neglect by Negroes has lost them the right to vote, no discrimination in a constitutional sense has occurred.

"THEY'RE NOT KIDDING."

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Johnson 'Nice' To Mrs. Kennedy

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Reason why the White House was so anxious to retrieve the Jackie Kennedy letter to Lady Bird Johnson from a New York auction was because Jackie has been rather aloof with the Johnsons, and the White House didn't want to increase the appearance of aloofness.

Some people got the impression that Mrs. Johnson failed to answer Jackie's letter and attached no importance to her invitation to view the Nixon-Kennedy debate in October, 1960.

What actually happened was that Lucianne Cummings, one of the Democratic paid workers, brought Mrs. Johnson a sheaf of mail to the airport, including the invitation from Jackie. En route to the Capitol, Lady Bird instructed Miss Cummings to reply by telephone that she would have to be in Baltimore with LBJ that evening, therefore could not attend the view-in.

The viewing of the Nixon-Kennedy debate was to be held at Democratic headquarters on Connecticut Avenue that evening, not in the Kennedy home.

Miss Cummings made the phone call but kept the letter, and later sold it without permission to Charles Hamilton, the New York collector.

REAL FACT is that the Johnsons have gone out of their way to invite Jackie to the White House and do everything possible for her. She continues to be aloof. Her first cold shoulder came on Dec. 22, 1963, when she declined to attend the final memorial services for her husband at which President Johnson paid him tribute.

Latest and unkindest cut was when she declined to come to Washington for the dedication of the "Mrs. John F. Kennedy Rose Garden." Jackie was in New York, one hour's flight away, was accepting various social engagements, but would not come to Washington to participate in the dedication of the White House garden named in her honor.

Despite the snub, the President placed a special White House jet at her disposal when she flew to England last month.

MOST VIGOROUS election race in the country will be decided next week in Florida where FDR's son, Elliott, is running for mayor of that glittering stretch of sand and famous hotels called Miami Beach.

It's a race reminiscent of those hell-bent political days of his late father, and the family is very much an issue, even to the stamp commemorating Elliott's late mother and the assassination attempt on his father in Miami in 1933 when Zangara fired at FDR's car and killed Mayor Cermak of Chicago.

Afterward an editor of the University of Florida "Alligator" wrote an editorial urging lenient treatment for Zangara. That editor, Melvin Richard, is now mayor of Miami Beach and the man Elliott Roosevelt is running against. Elliott's cohorts claim Richard is now trying to reverse 1933, and politically assassinate the son of the late FDR.

WHETHER the charge is justified or not, it certainly is true that Richard is using plenty of invective against Elliott, his many marriages, his present wife and even the Roosevelt family.

"Some people think they were great," says the annoyed mayor of Miami Beach. "Let 'em think so." What has especially got under Richard's skin is the fact that Elliott uses commemorative stamps of his mother on his campaign mailings, plus a little sticker of his own which reads "in a great tradition, elect Elliott Roosevelt."

"The Richard forces can bellyache all they want," commented columnist Rolfe Neil in the Miami Beach Sun, "but if I had a mother with a postage stamp issued in her honor I'd use it on all my mail too." Mayor Richard has tried to dig into Elliott's war record only to end up in a blaze of battle ribbons. He made much of the fact that Elliott was five times married, but only ignited the ire of the most devoted wife, Elliott ever married.

PATRICIA Roosevelt new has her dander up and is determined to win. She has set up a mimeograph machine in her basement where she and the children roll off campaign literature every night. She rings doorbells, brews coffee, works 20 hours a day.

"Not having enough money to hire our own photographer, I am going around to all the meetings with my little Minox," says Pat. "We have no paid workers and it is incredible to see the number of people who come into our offices every day to volunteer their services and cars."

It looks as if a lot of people remembered Franklin Roosevelt down in Miami Beach and were attracted to Elliott's slogan "A man with a name Miami can be proud of." In any event it's certain that Mayor Melvin Richard made a bad error when he attacked Elliott's wives. His present wife is determined to have the voters make him eat his words.

SOME YEARS ago a small cult of yoga devotees on Capitol Hill exercised during the lunch hour by standing on their heads in the basement of the Library of Congress.

Astonished at Legislators' Pay Raise Action

In weekend newspaper, the following appeared: "Legislators' Pay. Pension Bills OKed."

If this pension for lawmakers becomes a law, it will put the lawmaker into the same class as the soldier now in the Far East, be he either a volunteer or a draftee.

What man running for the Legislature staked his life for a cause?

I was astonished when I noted the vote in favor of the bonus was 95 to 22. I do not know what to think of such a bill, I would like to see the names of those who were among the 22.

I am the last person to want or expect a man to not be able to become a member of the Legislature and suffer a financial loss. I do not know of a single case, although there may be some where a man's neighbors and friends circulated a petition for him to run.

I would never again vote for any one of the 95 that voted for this bonus, be he Democrat or Republican. I am sure there are many, many taxpayers in the state who feel as I do.

Explains Views on Council of Churches

Permit me to thank you for the fine coverage given to my lecture before the Winona Zone of the Lutheran Laymen's League on May 16 at Stockton. The article was very complete and informative; however, there was one paragraph that perhaps was an inadvertent misemphasis that should be corrected. This paragraph in question dealt with the National Council of Christian Churches, please print this correction, if possible.

The National Council of Churches is not "a strong force which is constantly fighting against communism." In fact, the NCC has been criticized by informed authorities as an organization that has a suspiciously high number of the same aims as the Communist Party in the USA. Dan Smool, a former FBI agent, devoted one of his reports to the NCC and showed that it was cited by the Bureau of Naval Intelligence as a subversive organization back in 1935, when it was then the Federal Council of Churches.

In the celebrated Air Force Reserve Training Manual controversy of a few years ago, the evidence was given to the congressional committee by the Secretary of the Air Force that the section that dealt with Communist infiltration in the NCC was withdrawn, not because of any factual error, but because it was felt that the Air Force did not have to go quite that far in getting the point across to its non-commissioned officers that there was Communist infiltration in the American churches.

Just recently, the fine anti-communist publication, "Through to Victory," edited by a Missouri Synod Lutheran pastor, the Rev. Paul Neipp of Ridgecrest, Calif., published a list of objectives of the Communist Party in the United States and the NCC. These objectives were the same. Communists realize that they must destroy a strong, Christ-exalting church, if they are to prevail.

History proves that a strong frontal attack on the church is doomed to failure, for it drives the Christians back to God's word. The other alternative is to infiltrate the church and emasculate the doctrine, substitute the social gospel for the Gospel of Christ, remove the Christian basis for morality and a nation will collapse itself from internal demoralization.

TIL IT STOPS TICKING

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The woman had looked over just about all of the clocks in Earl Cramer's furniture store.

Finally, he held up a small model and explained: "This clock is the latest thing. It will run a week without winding."

"How long will it run?" the lady asked, "if you wind it?"

SHORT END OF THE LAW

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Police found a new weapon to frustrate a purse snatcher.

Two small boys told officers the suspected thief was empty handed when he passed them in an alley. Police sent the boys crawling through a hole in a nearby garage where they found a purse and $45 belonging to Mrs. Emma Crady.

Young Americans Denied Right to Vote

To the Editor:

The Congress of the United States shall soon enact into law the historic voting rights bill which would go far to advance the cause of Negro suffrage in the deep South. Yet, when this rightful deed has been accomplished there will remain a large minority bloc of American citizens who are denied the right to vote.

I am referring to the thousands upon thousands of young Americans, 18 or older, who must now wait until they are 21 before government will grant them the dignity and the privilege of the elective ballot.

Many adults, not including some national leaders like Lyndon Johnson and Barry Goldwater, express the attitude that young people are totally without the understanding or the knowledge of political matters so they cannot possibly cast an informed ballot based upon intelligent reason. But who can dare claim that after at least 12 years of education (with the exception of drop-outs) an 18-year-old is far less informed as to the meaning and the purpose of our elective system than his or her elders? I believe and will go so far to say that as a peer group, young people would vote more intelligently than would many, if not most adult voters.

Several states of the union have already made the ballot available to Americans 18 years of age. Why, then, cannot Wisconsin and Minnesota do the same? After all, in our states many of these young people work to support themselves and in the process pay taxes from their incomes to support local and state units of government as well. It does not seem fair that this group of responsible citizens should be kept from voting because they have not reached their 21st birthdays.

We must give these young Americans the right to help determine how their money is spent, who spends it, and for what programs.

If the "elder statesmen" expect to continue to call upon the young of America to represent the nation in the Peace Corps, foreign and domestic, or to sacrifice their lives in foreign lands (South Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic), then they must grant the young of America the use of the ballot so that they might, too, have a voice in the affairs of their state and nation.

"You Did It Again" Say Chairmen

To the Editor:

The benefit show "Paint the Town Pink" is a thing of the past and we are very grateful to know that financially it has been a success. This enables all who contributed to our new rehabilitation and convalescent unit to our Community Memorial Hospital, to be proud of their efforts. This addition to Winona's medical facilities is important to every one of us.

We feel there are other aspects to this community effort that we wish to emphasize. Literally hundreds of people in Winona in some way had a part in this project starting from the teachers and students in the art departments of our public and parochial schools on down to the gracious people who attended the performances.

There is a great amount of work connected with a show that is far from glamorous. The people in the cast gave their time so willingly and worked very hard as did all the people on committees behind the scene. Our businessmen and women were most generous and cooperative and so to all of these people must go the credit for whatever contribution the hospital auxiliary can make.

Best of all many new friendships were formed and we hope that these will grow and possibly in the future we may all work together again for an equally worthy cause which will help make Winona an even better place to live.

Our heartfelt thanks to all of you Winonans — you did it again!

NASON-ON EDUCATION

School System Has Advantages

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D. University of S. Calif.

We are so concerned with the weaknesses in our educational system that we often lose sight of the good points of our schools.

We view with alarm the high school dropout — but today our high schools graduate the largest percentage in the history of any country.

We measure against perfection; consequently, we emphasize our failures. For example, we complain bitterly that not all primary students master reading and this is true. Yet we are concerned enough to spend millions to provide special programs for the less fortunate.

We attack the problem at the pre-school level with nursery schools — and at the primary level with smaller non-graded classes and specialized instruction.

THERE'S NO doubt that we have some sub-standard schools. Migrant children leaving schools with low standards too often are suddenly faced with what to them, is an impossible task. But for these we provide after-school programs, special counseling and summer catch-up classes; in fact, more than they are willing or able to absorb, and this is good.

At the same time, efforts are being made to gain cooperation between states. The problem is on our conscience and eventually will be solved at its source. All schools will be adequate, and families can then move from state to state without fear of injury to their children's education.

As one type of school loses its efficiency in our changing world, we substitute new ones. For the old manual training with its racks and foot-stools, we have technical high schools and junior colleges with modern machinery.

OUR COLLEGES are accepting a growing percentage of the ever-increasing number of high school graduates. It is no longer considered a sign of excellence for a college to fail a large percentage of its entering freshmen. The present measure of excellence is the percentage of freshmen who remain to graduate, and the number who go on to graduate study.

This is not brought about entirely through higher admissions standards. Colleges, recognizing that the quality of their entering freshmen is higher than ever before, are taking the responsibility for the counseling that will keep dropouts at a minimum.

Free education for every child is a relatively new idea in the history of man. This includes the handicapped, the retarded and the disadvantaged as well as the average and the gifted.

ALTHOUGH PROGRAMS for the exceptional are new and somewhat experimental, provisions for individual differences are being made in more and more schools.

Minimum standards for teachers are rising. Not too many years ago, a high school diploma qualified a person to teach in the elementary schools and only two years of college work was required for high school teachers.

There is evidence on every hand that many of our school systems are striving for the ideal of democracy — that every individual may have the opportunity to develop his talents to the maximum of his ability. Progress is being made in this direction.

Some Youths, 21, Face Call for Army in State

ST. PAUL — Some 21-year-old Minnesota men will be drafted next month because of a sharp increase in the national draft quota, Col. Robert P. Knight, director of the state selective service system, said Tuesday.

The state's June quota will be 302 men, Knight said, with a national quota of 17,000. In February, when the national call was only 3,000, Minnesota's quota was 70.

The increase was ordered because voluntary enlistments "have fallen off drastically in recent months," Knight said, and because of lower re-enlistment rates.

Knight said the selective system would continue its policy of inducting the oldest men first, but added that as the size of the calls increased inductees necessarily would be drafted at an earlier age.

Some men who received estimated call-up dates based on the smaller draft quotas should now expect to receive induction notices from six to eight months earlier than they expected, Knight said.

Say, are you a square? Well now, before you make any attempt at changing your ways, hold pat and think a bit. Being a square may indicate you're going places.

Writing about being a square isn't my own idea. I picked it up from a high school student who gave quite a speech on the subject. It's the high school crowd that seems to use the term "square" the most, and I suspect they might prove the best qualified on the subject of what a square is.

I have the feeling the term is quite loosely used, and many times reflects the attitude of one youngun' toward another person, rather than a way of a particular person's life. On the other hand, certain types of individuals are dubbed "square" and the term seems to stick.

LET'S GLANCE at the term "square" itself. At one time this term carried respect and dignity as a person would reflect his delight in a good dinner by saying, "Now that's what I call a square meal." A person of good report was expected to give a square deal, and if faced with a problem, it was a thing of honor to face it squarely. But times have changed.

Today if you're different from the run of the mill person and refuse to conform in a given category, you're dubbed a "square." The fellow or gal that still believes it's wrong to cheat and refuses to do so or aid those that want to, is a "square." If you're an avid fan of "Old Glory" and do a bit of flag-waving, you guessed it — you're a "square." The question is, will the "squares" have the courage to square with complacency, mediocrity, and conformity by remaining and excelling as a "square"?

I suggest that what this old world needs is more squares in the sense of developing people who believe honesty is the best policy, and that fully developing one's talents and abilities is a basic purpose in life.

FOR THE MOST part, people set aside as "squares" seem to possess good quality, and to set them aside as "squares" is to express a trend that could be our downfall. This old nation was built on freedom of thought, permitting people of conviction true expression, and out of it comes a better place for the masses, thanks to the persons of individuality that dared to excel in a host of fields and endeavors. But let us not forget it. Many of these that have helped lift our standards, would in the society of our day, be considered by many to be "squares."

So, if you're a "square," before you make any attempt to change your ways, hold pat and think a bit. Being a "square" may indicate you're going places.

Kentucky Vote Really Close

RICHMOND, Ky. (AP) — Election officials in Madison County checked Democratic primary election results, then checked them again and came up with the same answer.

Robert Turley, received 3,300 votes to 3,297 for Robert Combs in the race for county judge Tuesday.

Kenton Moberly had 3,086 to 3,084 for Willie Green for sheriff.

Bemidji Rejects Community Center

BEMIDJI, Minn. (AP) — Voters overwhelmingly defeated Tuesday a $290,000 bond issue that would have been used for the construction of a community center.

The vote was 1,420 no, and 469 yes.

In February, the electorate approved a $995,000 bond issue.

Betsy Stars At Harlingen

SAN BENITO, Tex. (AP) — Betsy is homely and fat and she has a big mouth. But that just seems to make her more desirable to the men who are fighting over her.

They don't even mind when she eats like a 4,000-pound hippopotamus, because that's what she is.

Betsy came from the Prospect Park Zoo in Brooklyn to star in a zoo on land owned by Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 2410 in Harlingen, six miles from this lower Rio Grande Valley town.

Now the VFW and zoo curator Wilson Fry are going to court to battle for control of Betsy and about 50 smaller animals.

The Brooklyn zoo sold Betsy for $400, or 10 cents a pound, to three Smith College girls because she was too big and mean. The girls quickly decided the zoo knew what it was doing. They sold Betsy to Fry for the same price.

It took three weeks, several broken crates and another $3,000 to get Betsy to Harlingen, where Fry promptly fell for her. "She's become a lot more gentle since we've had her," he said.

Then Fry decided to move Betsy away from the zoo — too much beer drinking going on around there, he claimed. VFW Commander Paul Darden said that was wrong and filed suit to keep Betsy and other animals.

Just before a process server showed up with a restraining order, Fry loaded Betsy back into her traveling crate and took her home with him.

Along with Betsy, into Fry's front yard went bears, Mexican ant eaters, monkeys and other animals.

A court is to hear the case June 11.

HE MENTIONED the many mechanical devices used, such as listening tables, tape recorders, speakaphones, and television.

Some school systems are beginning to bring people from the community into the schools to speak to the students on their particular fields, he said. A mother, who is a beautician, may speak on grooming or a dietitian may talk to the children on nutrition.

Dr. Tillman stressed the importance of the teacher-student relationship at the elementary level. He added that while some systems are using specially trained guidance people at this level the basic guidance function rests with the classroom teacher.

Lie Detectors Fail Sometimes

WASHINGTON (AP) — An FBI official said Tuesday lie detectors actually don't detect all lies. John P. Mohr, assistant to FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, said: "The FBI feels that the polygraph technique is not sufficiently precise to permit absolute judgments of guilt or nonguilt without qualifications." Mohr told a House subcommittee evaluating the use of polygraphs—lie detectors—that the device "is used as an investigative aid and the results are considered within the context of a complete investigation."

Illinois Youth Bound Over on Burglary Count

An 18-year-old Illinois youth was bound over to District Court on a burglary charge after his attorney waived a preliminary hearing today in municipal court. Robert E. Johnson, Lansing, Ill., (a former resident of St. Mary's Hall here) is free on $1,000 bail pending his arraignment in District Court on the charge which arises from the alleged burglary early Friday at B & B Electric Co., 155 E. 3rd St.

ATTORNEY Roger P. Bronnahan, appearing with Johnson, waived the defendant's right to have a preliminary hearing in municipal court. Johnson could not plead to the felony charge in the lower court. County Attorney S. A. Sawyer appeared for the state. Judge John D. McGill bound the former St. Mary's College student over to District Court under $1,000 bond. Johnson's father posted $1,000 in cash for his son's freedom.

The complaint against Johnson was sworn out by Detective Captain Marlowe L. Brown. Brown said today that Johnson and a 17-year-old accomplice broke the front window of the B & B store early Friday morning and took an 11-inch television set. The youths hid the set under a freight ramp in the Milwaukee Road Railroad yards, according to Brown. They covered it with a jacket and threw dirt over the jacket for camouflage, Brown said.

THE STUDENTS led Brown to the set after their apprehension Friday afternoon. The pair denied knowledge of an electric mixer also missing from the window of the B & B shop, Chief James W. McCabe said today. The 17-year-old accomplice has been turned over to juvenile authorities, Chief McCabe added. His name can not be revealed under a state law protecting juveniles from publicity.

Program Ready For Steamboat Days July 8-11

Plans for Steamboat Days are developing fast, according to Francis Whalen, chairman for the celebration July 8-11.

Announcement of the entertainment program is awaiting confirmation of the talent contract.

Whalen said the committee has been working on program details since December and promised an improved program over 1964 when "name" talent was introduced on the levee stage for the first time. The Mills Brothers drew a record crowd. The committee hopes to offer two full evenings of name entertainment, with a completely different program on both nights.

The program will be presented at the foot of Johnson Street again with the carnival midway occupying the Levee parking lot. Many new members were appointed to the committee last January following Whalen's appointment as chairman. Whalen served as vice chairman in 1964 to T. Charles Green. Neal Baudhuin is vice chairman this year. Other committee members: Donald Aehling, Allen Baker Jr., Philip Baumann, Dr. D. T. Burt, Howard W. Clark, R. K. Ellings, G. M. Grabow, Green, Herbert Hakes, S. J. Kryzsko, Lavern Lawrenz, William F. Walter and John McQuire. Jaycees will have complete charge of button sales and the annual queen pageant and coronation.

Mall Ball 1, this is Mall Ball 2. I heard your message loud and clear about the conveyer at the new Albrecht's Super Fair in the new Miracle Mall. Sounds great! But you should see what's in the part of the building I'm in now! Did you ever see a drug store with CARPETING? That's right. Ted Maier's new drug store in the Miracle Mall is carpeted in a beautiful olive beige, and is it ever soft. I've been rolling over and over on it. I'll bet the people all over the Winona trade area just can't wait till June 3 when Ted Maier's and all the other wonderful stores and shops in the Miracle Mall will open to the public. I'll come over for a conveyer ride, if you'll join me for a carpet roll.

Gov. Knowles Asks Talks on State Budget

DODGEVILLE, Wis. (AP) — Gov. Warren P. Knowles said Tuesday night he hoped that "as practical men, the leaders of both parties and I can sit down and discuss the budget and revenue problem."

In a speech to the Iowa County Republican dinner, Knowles said he refused to be drawn into the legislative debate on the budget and tax bills and intends "to avoid the kind of partisan bickering that will produce nothing but a costly stalemate."

"Wisconsin will begin losing some $132,000 every day that goes by after July 1 until a tax bill is enacted," he said.

"Some state employees will face the loss of jobs; school aids to local units of government may be cut; the University of Wisconsin and the state university will be unable to recruit new faculty members and dozens of state agencies may be forced to reduce basic services unless a responsible budget is adopted by the Legislature before the end of the fiscal year."

Boy Drowns at Burlington, 3 Companions Safe

BURLINGTON, Wis. (AP) — A 14-year-old boy who couldn't swim drowned Tuesday when a homemade boat filled with water and sank in Long Lake near Burlington.

A teen-aged girl rescued the victim's brother and two cousins. Skindivers from the Racine County sheriff's department were searching the lake today for the body of Roger Iverson of rural Waterford.

A deputy said Roger was rowing the boat, built by the boys last year, across the lake while his brother, Robert R., 12, and cousins, Edward O. Iverson, 15, and Michael D., 13, also of rural Waterford, were swimming along side. The report said the victim was forced to abandon the boat when it began sinking. It said he tried while treading water and grabbed Edward in panic, but disappeared before the other cousin could reach them.

The three boys shouted for help to Karen Morgan, 16, on the shore. The girl got a boat and three lifejackets to Michael and Robert while Edward swam to the craft. Authorities dragged the lake before darkness forced a halt last night.

Some Apple Damage Possible in Dakota Area

DAKOTA, Minn. (Special) — Hail which fell for about 10 minutes in this area shortly before 9 p.m. Tuesday may have done some damage to apple trees but it's too early to tell, orchard growers said this morning. The hailstones, ranging from the size of dimes to hickory nuts, were driven by high wind and followed by heavy rainfall that continued intermittently through the night.

A gauge at South Wind orchard here measured four inches of rain. A gauge at Hillcrest Gold Star Orchard, Rose Valley, measured five inches. Hail hit Morning Star and South Wind orchards, Dakota, Hillcrest orchard, and fell in Dresbach and Nodine. Pickwick Valley had hail, hitting the Elmer Walter fruit farm. Heavy rain on Richmond Ridge washed cornfields and lodged the lush growth of hay in the area. Some corn will have to be replanted.

A brief but vicious storm lashed into a trailer court in Reedsburg early this morning, overturning five trailers and injuring five persons, none seriously. Two required hospitalization.

High winds smashed a garage, uprooted trees and broke windows on the Robert Brunkow farm near Fayette in Lafayette County. No one was injured.

The French government is certain that the foreign intervention now in course at Santo Domingo in political and military domains can, if it continues, lead only to the extension there as well as throughout that region of the world of disquieting troubles for international peace.

From almost the start of the Dominican crisis, De Gaulle has publicly deplored military intervention in the Dominican Republic. The government also underscored its support for the U.N. Security Council resolution of Saturday calling for a permanent cease-fire by both sides in the Dominican fighting.

Reported Car Theft Result Of Confusion

A reported car theft turned out to be an innocent misunderstanding, Police Chief James W. McCabe said today.

Larry Horman, Winona Rt. 2, had reported his car stolen from Wabasha Street between Washington and Winona streets shortly after 10 a.m. Friday. The car was found returned to nearly the same spot that afternoon at 2:45 o'clock by Patrolman Paul Kapustik.

Police had been investigating the "theft." Then the man who had driven the car away, a friend of Horman's, reminded him that Horman had given permission to the friend to use the car. Horman had not expected his friend to use the car Friday and had not been reminded of the promise when he found his car missing Friday morning. The case is now closed, Chief McCabe said.

Did Champion Cassius Throw Fast One?

Sonny: 'Where Right Come From?'

LEWISTON, Maine (AP) — "Where did that right hand come from?" asked Sonny Liston of the knockout blow. "I only partly saw it."
"Where's Floyd Patterson?" screamed still heavyweight champion Cassius Clay. "Where's Floyd Patterson?"

"Why did thousands of people work nine months and spend so much money for a fight which lasted only 60 seconds and stunk?" asked an onlooker.

That was the night that was at the Central Maine Youth Center Tuesday. It produced a surprise finish to a rematch of a fight that ended with Liston on his stool in Miami 15 months ago and which since was postponed by a hernia operation, banned in Boston and frequently maligned.

"It was a sneak punch — a right hand I only partly saw," said an unruffled Liston. "I didn't want to jump right up. The referee never started the count. I didn't know when to get up."

"When I did get up I thought the fight was still on. Didn't you see us start to fight again? When Walcott stepped in I thought the bell had rung."

"No, I didn't quit," Liston said, barely audible. "The blow landed on my left cheekbone. Yes, it was a fair punch.

"It made me groggy. But I have been hit harder."
"The lead right surprised me. I've never been knocked down before. I got up to my knees but fell the second time because I was off balance."
"I will fight again. I'm in a position now where I can't squawk. I have to fight anybody."

Clay has been mentioning Patterson, two-time former champion, as his next opponent since the fight was rescheduled last winter. He shouted it all over the closed-circuit television the night Patterson beat George Chuvalo.

The moment the knockout was official Tuesday night Clay came to the ring apron and began to ask for Floyd, the man he calls "The Rabbit."

Afterward in the dressing-room interview Clay said: "Just as soon as we sign the contracts I'll give The Rabbit a chance."

Clay called the knockout blow his anchor punch, something he had worked out in secret with a camp follower, former movie comedian Step'n Fetchit, who borrowed it from former champion Jack Johnson.

Clay actually had brought up the anchor punch in his pre-hernia rantings last October between workouts at the Boston Arena.

"It's a punch you can't see," Clay said. "Liston hit me with punches that would have knocked out Patterson."
"I never saw the punch," admitted retired former heavy king Rocky Marciano. "I kept my eyes on Liston and didn't see what hit him."
"Sonny went down a half a minute sooner than I expected," said Clay. "I warned all you people I had a surprise but that if I made a prediction it would drive all the people off."
"But Liston is a good loser. He'll be poor now. I'll try to comfort him. I'm going to take him aside and give him some lessons."

GET UP!! . . . Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay stands shouting and gesturing shortly after he felled challenger Sonny Liston with a short hard right to the jaw. Clay was declared the winner. The bout lasted only one minute. (AP Photofax)

Or Did Liston Pull Fast One?

LEWISTON, Maine (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay, knockout conqueror of Sonny Liston in the record time of one minute for a heavyweight title fight, hollered for "the rabbit" — Floyd Patterson — today while the boxing world buzzed with talk over another fiasco.

A short right hand to the jaw knocked out the aging, former champion for a "12 count" in a confused and controversial finish that had many of the 4,280 fans in the heavily police-guarded Central Maine Youth Center yelling "fake" and "fix."

But the undefeated Clay, unperturbed over reported threats on his life, shouted, "That was my secret — it was a phantom punch. It was lightning and thunder — fast as lightning and booming as thunder from the heavens."

"It was a good, right-hand punch," said the unmarked, 31-year-old Liston. "No, I didn't quit. The blow landed on my left cheekbone. I've never been knocked down before. It made me groggy. I got to my knees but fell the second time because I was off balance."

"There was nothing suspicious about it as far as I'm concerned," said George Russo, chairman of the Maine State Boxing Commission. "The only thing is that it ended too soon. The people didn't get their money's worth."

Nothing much had happened in the early moments as Clay, hands down, danced and circled from the plodding former champion, out to nail Clay with one punch. Then the 23-year-old Clay caught Liston with the right.

The stocky, heavy-set Liston fell on his back in a delayed fall. Sonny rolled over, got to his right knee and then fell on his back again.

In the meantime, referee Jersey Joe Walcott, the former heavyweight champion, never counted once. First he tried to steer Clay to a neutral corner. When he got back and peered to

Downes Says Wife Better Than Liston

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
"The American public must be getting fed up. Horizontal British heavyweights can do better than that."

That was the comment from Henry Cooper, British heavyweight champion, after watching the Cassius Clay-Sonny Liston title fight, beamed to London via Early Bird satellite.

The first big sporting event ever featured live to Europe from the United States started at 3:30 a.m. — London time — and drew wry comments from two other British champions.

Tommy Farr, who lost a 15-round decision to then-champion Joe Louis, said:
"This is the blackest night in boxing — and I missed my beauty sleep to see this shocker."

Terry Downes, former middleweight champion, said:
"My wife Barbara can take a bigger punch than Liston."
The cries of "fix," "fraud," "fake" were sounded in many theaters showing the closed-circuit television of the fight but there were no serious incidents.

A few people asked for their money back but Clay's mouth may have prevented further disturbances.

Holmen Trips Bears by 1-0

TREMPEALEAU, Wis. — Although out hit 8-5, Holmen managed a 1-0 victory over Trempealeau in the district tournament here Tuesday.

Al Knudson went the distance for the shutout win. He got all the support he needed in the second inning when Ron Anderson singled, went to second on a passed ball, to third on a pickoff attempt and scored on a two-out hunt single by Rod Newman.

Gary Meunier took the loss for Trempealeau, which wound up its season with a 7-2 mark. Holmen will meet the winner of the Black River tourney.

Paul Tollefson of Mabel took the high and low hurdles with Mel Homuth of Spring Grove winning the 100- and 440-yard dashes and Jim Hatlevig of Peterson the mile and high jump.

When Drysdale got through with the Cardinals, they hadn't been in a fairy tale but in a nightmare. He stymied them on one hit — a scratch single — and ignited the rally that gave Los Angeles a 2-0 victory Tuesday night.

The loss knocked the Cardinals out of their wonderland existence. They had won seven straight games and 11 of their last 12 and hadn't been shut out this season.

The only hit off Drysdale came at the start of the game. Lendoff batter Curt Flood bounced a grounder off the big right-hander's bare hand and beat second-baseman Jim LeFebvre's throw to first. Only one other Cardinal reached base the rest of the way.

Explaining his tardiness for the adventure, Drysdale said: "I was so interested in listening to the Clay-Liston fight that I was two or three minutes late going out to warm up. I had to get ready in a hurry. I considered this an important game. We had to stop the Cards somewhere."

St. Louis never got started. After Flood's hit, the 28-year-old veteran retired 14 consecutive batters. Then Dick Groat reached first in the fifth inning when shortstop Dick Tracy's leg let Groat's grounder go through his legs for an error. The final 13 Cardinals went down in order.

In other National League games, Pittsburgh edged Chicago 7-6 in 12 innings. Cincinnati defeated Houston 7-4. Milwaukee trounced San Francisco 14-1 and Philadelphia whipped New York 10-3.

Venturi Has No Trouble

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ken Venturi didn't have any trouble with his hands as he shot a practice round at the 1965 U.S. Open Saturday but he had plenty of trouble with the Bellevue Country Club course.

"I never saw anything like it," said the defending U.S. Open champion who has been out of competition for six weeks because of a circulatory ailment which limited the use of his hands.

"It's the toughest course I ever played," he continued.

Venturi, the San Francisco golfer who won the Open last year at the Congressional Country Club in Washington, D.C., in a comeback bid, was satisfied with his game at this stage though.

"This is the first round since the Masters Tournament at Augusta in April that I have tried to do something with the ball," he said. "My game is beginning to jell."

Nothing Right for Hawks, Tumble to Tigers in Nine

By GARY EVANS
Daily News Sports Editor

When fate hooks its finger against you there is little one can do to change the outlook. It happened to Winona Jefferson School's baseball team at Jefferson Field Tuesday afternoon as frustration heaped upon frustration.

The result was a 2-1 victory for Albert Lea, a victory that cheated the Hawks of any possible chance for an outright Big Nine title.

IN FACT, it will take a Winona win at Rochester Friday afternoon to give the Hawks a share of the laurels.

Should Winona beat Rochester Friday, the results will be the same as 1961 when Austin, the Hawks and the Rockets tied. Austin has finished at 6-2, Winona is 5-2 and Rochester 6-1.

The afternoon... Tuesday — a nine-inning fling — was tied around three unearned runs and many more bizarre happenings. Albert Lea scored in the second and ninth. In the second, Larry Peterson was safe on an error with one out and scored on back-to-back singles by Dick Wayne and Jim Bratvold with two outs. In the ninth, with one man out, Bill Sutherland lofted a soft single to right field. It went through Wayne Morris and Sutherland went home.

WINONA got a run-scoring break in the seventh when Morris led off with a walk. Dave Bauer struck out, but Gary Curran rapped a sharp shot at the third baseman. He couldn't find the handle and wound up (throwing wildly) past first.

Morris went all the way home and Curran stopped at third. Then Winona missed a break. Jim Doyle hit for Bob Urness. Curran broke for home and Doyle bunted the ball into the first baseman's glove for an easy double play.

It didn't stop there. In the eighth, Gary Addington poked a one-out single and stole second. Mike Rose went in to run. Todd Spencer struck out, but Loren Benz singled. Rose rounded third too wide and was tagged out.

In the sixth, Winona got runners to third and second with one out and saw hopes die with a ground out and strike out.

And it was that way all day as Tiger hurler John Hegland spent an enjoyable afternoon working smoothly and easily for the win.

A post-game passerby consoled Coach Ed Spencer with the thought that a win over Rochester will still clinch a share of the title.

"But we didn't want it that way," he shot back and moved on.

"Hegland just hasn't been getting by until today," said Albert Lea Coach Bill Christoperson, a Winona State grad. "He works easily, but they hit him. I hated to do it to Winona, but it was a nice one to win."

SPENCER took the loss. He struck out 16 and walked four. He gave up five hits compared to seven for Winona.

The loss leaves Winona, which must face St. Charles in a District Three semifinal Thursday at Jefferson at 4 p.m., with an 8-6 record.

It truly was one of those days; one of those days when nothing went corre y.

Jones Breaks Braves Loose

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves buried the San Francisco Giants 14-1, their highest run total of the year, Tuesday night as Mack Jones drove in four runs with a pair of homers and Wade Blasingame hurled a five-hitter to make his record 4-4.

Eddie Mathews hit his 10th homer in the first inning and Joe Torre singled. Jones then unlimbered a two-run blast over the right field fence and the game was in the bag. They were the only runs in the two innings worked by Ron Herbel, the starter and loser.

Jones' second homer started his mates on their way to five runs in the sixth inning off Masanori Nishikawa, the third moundmen. Bob Bolin replaced Blasingame at the start of the ninth and yielded the losers' only run on Ken Henderson's single with two out.

Willie Mays, San Francisco's great outfielder, was injured in the sixth and was replaced by Henderson in the seventh. Jones began that inning with his second homer, his fifth of the season. Gene Oliver singled, Frank Bol-

WHO IS HE? STU MILLER!

Who floats like a butterfly and stings like a bee?
Stu Miller. Who else?
Miller. Baltimore's soft-throwing reliever, danced through the Kansas City batting order for two innings Tuesday night, protecting the Orioles' 6-3 victory over the Athletics and running his own scoreless string through 11 consecutive appearances.

The victory, fourth straight for the Orioles, moved them within three games of the American League lead. First-place Chicago dropped a 7-5 decision to Detroit. Minnesota blasted Sox' in 17-5 and Washington swep a 7-3, 6-5 doubleheader from the Los Angeles Angels in other AL night action.

Vic Davallo drove in four runs with a pair of homers as Cleveland downed the New York Yankees 5-1 in an afternoon game.

Miller, who has been waiting his off-speed pitches, past big league hitters since 1962, saved fellow reliever Harvey Haddix' first 1965 victory with his two inning stint against the Athletics.

Starting pitcher Milt Pappas had smacked a bases-loaded triple in the second inning and scored on Jerry Adair's single, giving the Orioles a 4-0 bulge. Pappas, however, failed to survive the Athletics' three-run fifth. Haddix came on and checked the A's for 2-13 innings, before giving way to Miller.

Stu has allowed seven hits in his last 23 1/3 innings while saving three games and picking up two victories.

Al Kaline clubbed two triples and capped a three-run rally in the fifth inning with a run-scoring single as the Tigers handed the White Sox their fifth setback in six games. Successive doubles by Jim Northrup and George Thomas broke a 4-4 tie in the sixth.

TOMAH (AP) — Whitewater defeated River Falls 9-7 and 6-2 Tuesday and won the State University Conference baseball championship and the NAIA District 14 playoffs.

the knockdown timekeeper across the ring. Liston had fallen back on the canvas.

When Liston arose, Walcott rubbed Liston's glove, and looked towards the timekeeper again. Then he left the fighters, to go over to the timekeeper. With the referee gone, Clay and Liston started slugging away.

By then Walcott had been informed by the timekeeper, Francis McDonough, that he had counted to 12 before Liston got up and that Clay had won on a knockout. Walcott rushed back, separated the fighters, and declared Clay the winner on a knockout.

It was then the fans let loose with a chorus of boans. "It would have been different, no confusion if the timekeeper had a microphone so he could be heard," said Walcott.

"Walcott was looking at the crowd, not at me," said McDonough. "What was wrong with him?"

"Clay hit Liston a right hand," said Walcott. "I was trying to keep the fighter (Clay) away and move him into a neutral corner. I let the timekeeper start the count while I was busy. By the time I got the champion inside I couldn't hear the count. I could see someone trying to shout at me."

"It was really a 12-count," said McDonough. "When it got to 12 I clicked the stop-watch. Walcott was supposed to pick up the count when I did. There is no question in my mind that Liston was knocked out."

Russo verified that the knock-out time was one minute.

Thus Clay, now calling himself "king of the ring" as well as "the greatest," broke one of the oldest records in the book.

So Now Twins Are Back to Normalcy, Smash Boston 17-5

BOSTON, Mass. (AP) — The second-place Minnesota Twins, displaying powerful midseason form, overwhelmed the Boston Red Sox Tuesday night, 17 to 5, under a 20-hit barrage.

The Twins picked up a game on the American League leading Chicago White Sox, who lost to Detroit, 7-5, and are one game out of first.

Every one of the Twins starting players got at least two hits — except pitcher Jim (Mudcat) Grant, who connected for one — a triple.

The Twins got five home runs and Boston, four.

Minnesota homers were hit by Earl Battey, who drove in five runs on two hits, Bob Allison, Jerry Kindall, Zolfo Versalles and Tony Oliva.

Harmon Killebrew, Jimmie Hall and Allison got three hits each.

The Twins scored two runs in the first inning, taking a lead which they never gave up. Versalles doubled and scored on Oliva's single. After Killebrew singled Oliva to third, Hall forced Killebrew while Oliva scored.

In the fourth, the Twins put across four runs. Hall doubled and scored on Allison's home run. Kindall followed, with his round-tripper, and Grant tripled then scored on Versalles' long fly to center.

Boston scored its first run in the fourth when Carl Yastrzemski doubled and scored on Felix Mantilla's single.

But the Twins came back with a five-run fifth. Hall walked and went to second when Allison singled. Both scored on Battey's home run. Grant then walked and Versalles blasted his fourth home run of the season into the left-center screen.

A sharp attempt by Boston to get back into the game produced two runs in the fifth. Ed Bressoud hit his fourth home run of the season into the left field screen a few minutes later, rookie Jerry Moses, called in to pinch hit for Bob Hefner, hit a home run over the left field screen. It was only the second time Moses had been at bat in the majors.

The Twins put across a single run in the sixth. Killebrew and Hall singled and Battey sent Killebrew home on a sharp single to left.

Then in the seventh after two were out, the Twins piled in five more runs. Grant walked but was forced at second by Versalles. Oliva hit his seventh home run, scoring behind Versalles. Killebrew singled again. Hall doubled and Allison walked, to fill the bases. Battey walked, forcing in Killebrew, and Kindall singled, scoring two runs.

A home run by Boston's Gary Geiger in the seventh completed the scoring.

Camillo Pascual, now 5-0, goes tonight against Earl Wilson. Grant was Tuesday's winner and now is 5-0. The loser was Bill Monbouquette, now 5-4.

VIKING TRADE

ST. PAUL, MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings announced today they have traded offensive lineman Dave O'Brien to the New York Giants for Bob Taylor, a defensive end.

Warriors Off for NAIA Regional

STORM LAKE, Iowa — With one problem solved and another still present, Winona State College's baseball team set out today for this hamlet of 6,954 people in northwestern Iowa.

The Warriors are to meet William Jule College of Independence, Mo., in the double-elimination Midwest Regional NAIA tournament Thursday at 12:30 p.m.

Colliding in the morning will be Buena Vista College (the host school) and Wisconsin representative Whitewater.

early, but apparently they are going to make funds available for both the baseball and golf teams to compete in NAIA tournaments," said athletic director Dr. Robert Campbell.

Now the problem facing Dr. L. A. McCown, baseball coach, was personnel.

"Right now who goes depends on who can get free from class schedules," he said. "Because of the lateness, this is on an individual basis with each boy taking care of his own assignments."

While McCown was still not positive who could make the trip at present time, he had selected Jack Benedict to start against William Jule, providing the rawboned redhead was able to go.

BENEDICT's statistics show a 3-4 record with a 2.97 earned run average, best on the team. Winona will have to play two games Thursday. J. D. Barnett (3-1 with a 3.33 ERA) is the choice in the second.

Rounding out the mound staff will be Rog Roepke (1-2, 6.09 ERA), Jerry Kohn (1-2, 7.81 ERA) and Dick Peters (0-0, 0.00 ERA).

Leading the hitters is second baseman Dennis Morgan at .358. He is followed by Davis Usgaard .356, Ed Kelly .333 and Larry Anderson .324.

McCown's choice for receiving duty is Mark Houghton. George Benedict will be at first, Morgan at second, Al Connor at short and Usgaard at third with Anderson, Lerry Senrick and Dean Bailey in the outfield.

EVERYTHING, of course hinges on who goes.

How does McCown compare this team to the teams he took to 2-2 records in NAIA tournament competition in 1962 and '63?

"This team isn't as sound although it is coming on fast," he said. "We're spotty. First our hitting was good and our pitching bad. Now we are getting good pitching and our hitting is sour. We have trouble combining the two."

Should the Warriors lose against William Jule, they meet the Buena Vista - Whitewater loser immediately following. If they win, they play later in the day.

Pacelli Knocks Cotter From Tournament Spot

AUSTIN, Minn. — The Cotter High School baseball team will not be back at the state Catholic baseball tournament this year.

Austin Pacelli saw to it that the Ramblers, who finished second a year ago, would get no opportunity for a trip by taking a 10-2 victory in the playoff between Regions Five and Six at Marcusen Park here Tuesday.

In reality, Cotter helped the Shamrocks, who won the state baseball title with a victory over the Ramblers, as much as the Shamrocks helped themselves.

THE WINONA school's fielding fell completely apart. The Ramblers were guilty of eight errors afield, and because of it Pacelli scored only one earned run.

Dave Lobb, the big dealing senior who handicapped Cotter in the basketball tournament, was as much at fault Tuesday. He took the mound and gave up only three hits and no earned runs while striking out nine and walking two.

While Pacelli is off to the state tournament, Rambler Coach Jim Mullen isn't ready to make the Shamrocks odds-on favorites.

"LOBB is a good pitcher and they have good hitting," he informed. "But they're weak defensively. One thing Lobb doesn't have is the curve ball. He's slow, big and obvious."

Cotter got behind 2-0 in the first inning on two errors — a walk, wild pitch and double by Quenow, who had three runs batted in for the day.

Although starter Steve Slyba held Pacelli at bay through the second, before giving way to Tom Angst in the third. Shortly the score was 7-2. Featured in Austin's five-run inning were a home run by Mike Lobb and singles by Clennon, Von Feldt and Quenow.

Austin added two more in the fourth and one in the sixth before the game was called by a rain squall.

"WE PLAYED in the rain from the third on," said Mullen. "Neither our pitching, fielding or hitting was up to standard."

Cotter got two runs in the third behind Bob Allaire's single, two errors, a balk and a stolen base by Don Kukowski.

John Nett led the Cotter attack with a 2-for-2 performance including a double. Von Feldt and Quenow each had two hits for Pacelli.

Cotter finished its season with a 5-3 record.

Alma Wins District in Baseball

PEPIN, Wis. — Alma, West Central Conference baseball champion, annexed another honor here Tuesday by winning the district baseball tournament and earning the right to advance to a district playoff with the Elmwood winner.

Greg Green's Rivermen clipped Gilmanston 24-6 in a battle shortened to five innings because of the score and then came back later in championship to defeat Mondovi 10-3.

Mondovi had beaten Pepin 12-3 in the first round.

In Alma's first game, Curt Youngbauer went the route for the win, Lonnie Benson was 3-for-4 and Tom Baucht walloped a 360-foot home run. Dickman and Anderson each had two hits for Gilmanston.

In Mondovi's win, Bib Hehl was 2-for-4 including a home run.

The championship game found Brian Kreibich going 2-for-4 for Alma and Benson and Larry Fluickiger, the winning pitcher, 3-for-4. Fluickiger doubled.

Lang's, 390 Win Again

Lang's and Bakers' Local 390 remain atop the American League softball pack with 4-0 records, but one near miss was recorded during Tuesday action.

Lang's walloped Hof-Brau 16-6 behind a four-hitter from Tom Kulas and Bakers' just survived a severe scare from Fibrerite by winning 7-6. The other game found Biesanz Stone and Oasis hitting 7-7 after eight when the game was halted.

Three hits off Kulas went to Dyk Keen. Hank Gerth was 4-for-5 for Lang's with a double and Rich Brown hit two home runs. Hof-Brau registered a protest in the sixth inning, Kiki Williamson took the defeat, Jerry Wineski and Brown each had three hits and Bill Myer two for Lang's.

Winning pitcher Bob Larson and battery mate John Kauphusman each smashed home runs for Local 390, which won the game with a run in the last of the sixth. Roger Schulz had 2-for-4 for Fibrerite. Don Schmanski took the Fibrerite loss.

of St. Paul (Merchants National Bank of Winona was named in the list of participants), 3-28289 percent, $2,907,005.

Continental Illinois National Bank & Trust Co., Chicago, 3-21639 percent, $2,936,665; Harris Nuveen & Co., Chicago, 3-2841 percent, $2,908,095, and First National Bank, Chicago, 3-300239 percent, $2,922,362.

AFTER THE BIDS had been opened, Board President Lawrence Santelman asked Springsted for his opinion on the bidding. He replied, "I think you have seen a good cross-section of the market here today. Some of those participating have been seldom seen in Minnesota and as you saw, firms ranged all the way from New York to Texas."

"If you compare your rate with those of other issues, I think you'll agree you have received a very fine rate."

When board members scanned a list of sales of various municipalities in Minnesota since the first of the year and noted that there were some lower rates listed. Springsted agreed that the market "might be a little softer today than it was a few weeks ago" but added that many factors should be taken into consideration in comparing interest rates.

THE SIZE of the issue, its term of retirement and other factors affect the interest rate quotations, he emphasized. He said that while the present market condition might be only a temporary one and that more favorable interest rates might be realized later, this was problematical and any delay in accepting an offer would mean the board would be losing money in reinvestment revenues.

Santelman commented, "Our chances of getting a better rate seem to me no better than getting a poorer one. It seems to me we should take the low bid and invest the proceeds as soon as possible."

A motion to accept Northern Trust's bid was presented and approved by all members attending the meeting; Santelman, 1st Ward Director Ray Gorsuch; Dr. C. L. Kolfkois, 3rd Ward; Frank A. Tillman, 4th Ward, and a Director-at-Large David F. Wynne.

BOARD MEMBERS later agreed that Springsted should be consulted on reinvestment of the bond proceeds which will probably be made in certificates of deposits or federal bills.

Directors expressed an interest in investing the funds in local banks if it was economically advisable.

ALTHOUGH it wasn't mentioned at Tuesday's meeting, some school districts in the past have resorted to refunding to realize savings on bond issues if a substantially more favorable market trend develops some year later.

In such cases bonds are sold at a lower interest rate and the proceeds of the sale used to retire the original issue. Winona's contract provides that bonds of its issue maturing between 1968 and 1985 are not subject to redemption before maturity, but those maturing between 1986 and 1990 are subject to redemption at the option of the board at a price of par plus accrued interest and a premium equal to three-quarters of one percent on the principal amount of each bond.

Three Killed in Collision of Car And School Bus

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — The collision of a car and a school bus in Washington County Tuesday afternoon took the lives of two little girls and their brother.

The triple fatality increased Wisconsin's 1965 highway toll to 319, compared with 366 on this date a year ago. Victims of the accident on mile east of Fillmore, Wis., were Rene Boesl, 6; her brother, Jay, 3; and their 18-month-old sister, Judy.

They and a brother, James, 4, were in the car driven by their mother, Mrs. David Boesl of rural West Bend. James suffered cuts but was not injured seriously. Mrs. Boesl was treated at a West Bend hospital and released.

Rene and Jay were killed in the crash and Judy died at the hospital several hours later. The four students in the bus and their driver escaped in jury.

The sheriff's department said the bus, driven by Walter Bill kelman, 39, of Kewaskum, was taking the students home from Kewaskum High School when the accident occurred at 4:24 p.m. at the intersection of Town Line Road and County Line Road, which separates Washington and Ozaukee counties. Deputies said the intersection had no stop signs. The bus is owned by William Bauman of Campbellport, the sheriff's office said.

Table with 3 columns: Stock Name, Price, Change. Includes Alk Chl, Amrda, Am Cn, etc.

NEW YORK (AP) — A recovery drive continued in the stock market early this afternoon but trading was slower than Tuesday.

In a follow-through to the sharp rebound of the previous session, stock prices produced more gains than losses, although there were plenty of soft spots. The main support to the averages came from a handful of blue chips which produced solid gains.

New car sales in the latest reporting period continued at a record level but the daily rate of sales was lower than earlier this year. All Big Three motors showed thin gains.

Steels, rubbers, aerospace issues, oils and rails were mixed. Electrical equipments, airlines and nonferrous metals were a little higher on balance. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 2.1 at 338.5 with industrials up 2.1, rails unchanged and utilities unchanged.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.96 at 923.96. AT&T was up about a point and actively traded, apparently stimulated by prospects of a bullish report which Wall Street assumed will be made to a scheduled meeting of the New York security analysts next Wednesday by a company spokesman.

Prices were generally higher in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. Treasury bonds were stronger.

U.S. Decides Not to Issue Silver Dollars

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has reversed itself and decided against issuing 45 million silver dollars.

The decision announced Monday night came just as the first silver dollars in more than 30 years were set to roll from the Denver Mint.

The Treasury is reluctant to mint silver dollars because both silver and minting facilities are needed to meet a continuing shortage of other coins and because government supplies of silver are running short.

President Johnson announced May 15 that substantial progress had been made in reducing the coin shortage and that he therefore was ordering minting of the cartwheels authorized last year by Congress.

In reversing this decision, the Treasury said the go-ahead order was given on the assumption that it was the intent of Congress. Since May 15, the Treasury said, members of key congressional committees have asked that the order be held up.

Robert A. Wallace, assistant secretary of the Treasury, said seven members of a House Appropriations subcommittee agreed that the coins should not be produced.

A Treasury report due shortly is expected to recommend reduction or even elimination of the silver content of dimes, quarters and half dollars to conserve the government's dwindling stocks.

Hundreds of millions of silver dollars have been issued over the years, but most have disappeared from circulation. They are popular in some Western states, but the great majority is in the hands of dealers, collectors and speculators.

Three Trapped On Rock After Boat Capsizes

FORT FRANCES, Ont. (AP) — Two men and a woman from Minneapolis spent 12 hours of their Victoria Day weekend standing on a rock in Rainy Lake waters up to their thighs.

A boat in which James Malling and his wife, and his brother, Ralph, were returning from a summer cottage on Partridge Island apparently struck a submerged rock Sunday night, then turned over. They crawled onto the rock and stood on it through the night, in rain, 45 degree temperature and strong wind.

An airplane pilot, Cliff Stowe sighted them Monday morning, landed his plane nearby and took them to the air base at Fort Frances.

Red China Moving Toward War Footing

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China announced Tuesday it is taking all visible marks of rank off the members of its armed forces, police and militia.

Elimination of insignia of rank would permit the Chinese to merge less conspicuously with the Communist Viet Cong in Viet Nam. The latter wear no badges of rank.

The announcement was taken in Tokyo as a further step to put Red China on a war footing because of the war in Viet Nam.

Baccalaureate Set At Holy Trinity For Sunday Morning

ROLLINGSTONE, Minn. (Special) — Baccalaureate ceremonies will be Sunday at 10 a.m. at Holy Trinity Church.

The Rev. Stephan Majerus will deliver the address to 20 seniors. Following Mass, breakfast will be served to teachers, seniors and juniors. Mrs. Leo Theis is in charge of arrangements.

At 8 p.m. students will march in a May procession. Kenneth Lindeman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lindeman, will crown the Blessed Virgin Mary. Donald Dittrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Dittrick, will be crown bearer.

Russ Launch 67th Unmanned Satellite

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union Tuesday launched the 67th unmanned satellite in its Cosmos series. Tass news agency said the satellite was in an orbit and is continuing the exploration of outer space.

SAVED THE MILL . . . Miss Geneva Tweten looks over the old Phelps Mill site at Maine Township on the Otter Tail River near Fergus Falls, Minn., which she helped to save. Miss Tweten was instrumental in convincing the County Board of Commissioners to buy the site, which includes 18 acres. The flour mill, going back nearly 75 years, will be a historical and tourist site, if plans go through. (AP Photofax)

Morse Urges Long Look at Viet Nam War

MOORHEAD, Minn. (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., said Monday because the United States is in the Vietnamese war "we are violating the United Nations charter and the Geneva Accord 24 hours a day."

Morse told a news conference the U.S. should "take a long, hard look" at the war in Viet Nam because it may lead to a war with Red China.

He suggested that the United Nations set a trusteeship over Viet Nam and that U.N. troops be used to quell the disturbance.

Morse came to Moorhead to address a Founder's Day banquet at Concordia College. He told the banquet guests that "if we price the small college out of being in contact with the average student from the average American family, we lose as a nation." He added that high school graduates should not be "priced out of a college opportunity."

DEAR ABBY:

Every Wife Should Know the Score

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I've been married to a successful attorney for 30 years. Our children are grown and gone. My husband is a wonderful, generous man. He's been very good to me, but I have never known where we stood financially. He always gave me a generous allowance to run the house, and I never asked any questions.

DEAR CURIOUS: As an attorney your husband surely knows the many complications wives face when they suddenly become involved with no knowledge of their husbands' financial affairs. You should be aware of what he owns and what he owes. It's only common sense for a wife to know the score. Ask your husband to fill you in NOW instead of filling out his income tax form "later."

DEAR ABBY: I am getting married soon and we plan to take a cabin on a lake for our honeymoon. I was thinking of taking my 12-year-old sister with us so she could take pictures of my husband and me together. If we were to go alone, we would have to settle for pictures of ourselves taken by each other.

DEAR MAKING: A picture is supposed to be worth 10,000 words, but I doubt if it's worth taking your 12-year-old sister along on your honeymoon. Leave her home and ask a friendly tourist to assist you.

DEAR ABBY: I wonder if other women have had this stunt pulled on them, and how they handled it? I have been invited to luncheons and even dinner parties where there are three and sometimes four "hostesses" who have gone in together to give the party. Now, I always decline when I have accepted an invitation. But at some of these affairs I have known only one hostess — the one who invited me. Am I indebted to ALL the hostesses, or just the one who invited me? Please print the answer. Either I have a lesson to learn, or some of my friends have.

DEAR SHIRLEY: You are indebted only to the hostess who invited you.

DEAR ABBY: What do you do with a man who tells his wife she should be able to do all her housework in a few hours and then sit down for the rest of the day? I am 27 and have 5 children. The youngest is eight months old and the eldest is seven. My husband never offers one bit of help, which is all right, if he just wouldn't voice his opinion on how things could be done easier and better. If the kids are sick, he says it's my fault for not taking better care of them. If I am sick, he has a fit. I had infections here last year. The doctor said all I could do was "rest" and my husband said I was just plain lazy. I would leave him in a minute — but where can a woman with an 8th grade education go with five kids?

DEAR OLD: Your mate is hardly a gem. But what you saw in him eight years ago has probably been obscured by the steam of boiling diapers. Think back. And then ask a Family Service counselor to help you back into each other's arms and off each other's backs.

Two Men Plan Crawfish Eating Contest May 31

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — The senator from the Cajun country leaned across the aisle in Louisiana's legislature state Capitol and demanded satisfaction from the gentleman from New Orleans.

Sen. Adrian Duplantier, a champion of the tradition, accepted the challenge from Sen. Garland Bonin.

The two senators, both Democrats, will face each other May 31 in a crawfish eating duel. Their seconds are to work out the rules.

Bonin, touted as the Senate's champion crawfish eater, took offense — during arguments over the state's billion-dollar budget — when Duplantier questioned his right to the title. The challenge followed.

Rain Ends Party on White House Lawn

WASHINGTON (AP) — After two days of proclaiming the beauties of nature, the 1,000 delegates to the White House conference on natural beauty were ready to celebrate on the South Lawn.

So, it rained. The gala lawn party, given by President and Mrs. Johnson, was moved indoors.

Minnesota Politics

Duxbury Sounds Like Candidate

By ADOLPH JOHNSON
ST. PAUL, Minn. — The closing days of 1965 Minnesota Legislature was much more than that — it also sounded the opening day of a couple of campaigns for governor.
While Rep. Lloyd Duxbury of Caledonia, speaker of the House, didn't say he planned to seek the governorship, some of the things he said at a session — end news conference and the way he said them bolstered reports current for some time that he would be a candidate.
He began by criticizing Gov. Karl Rolvaag's veto of the re-apportionment bill as "irresponsible" and went on to express his doubts that the governor would or should seek re-election because his veto "inwarded the will of the people."

In two sessions as speaker, Duxbury has shown considerable skill in handling the demanding duties that go with that post.
If, as now seems indicated, he chooses to go after the Republican nomination for governor, he could be a strong candidate, especially with the help of Conservative members of the House scattered all over the state.
Back in March, on the second anniversary of his inaugural Gov. Rolvaag indicated that, when the time came, he might consider seeking another term.
Monday, appearing before the windup session of the Senate where he presided for several days, Duxbury said he would be glad to accept a nomination for lieutenant governor, but he would not be a candidate for re-election.
In some state legislatures, committees are required to report back to the floor every bill or resolution referred to them. There is no such requirement in Minnesota and the time permitted it probably would be impossible to hear and consider all bills.
The general rule is that bills are given hearings only at the request of their sponsors.
Most committees meet but once a week and then only for an hour. Some controversial bills may take up several sessions.
An example of the results came in a report from Rep. George French of Minneapolis, chairman of the House Civil Administration Committee.
His unit, being one of the key House committees, meets twice a week.
The session a total of 364 bills were sent to the committee. Of this total, 143 were processed.

BUSINESS MIRROR

Public Buying Key to Future

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — What people might do is still the big question and the best deterrent in laying out guidelines for orderly economic change and growth.
Congress would like to cut or scuttle excise taxes on autos now, some at varying dates in the future.
But what consumers will do while waiting first for Congress to set the terms, and then for the cuts to become effective, is unsettling the planning of retailers and producers alike. All kinds of inducements to keep customers from going on a temporary strike are being tried.
What car buyers will do about keeping the auto makers' long boom going also grows more complicated. The forecasters, in and out of the industry, are saying the shortage earlier because of last fall's auto strikes. But that's long past, and today the auto makers are bragging that car sales are setting highs for any May.

Stock Market Has Attack of Spring Fever

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market has been indulging in what looks like an attack of spring fever. And the question is whether that's all it is, or whether an authentic period of caution has set in for stock traders.
After climbing to highs in the first two weeks of May, stock prices slid in the third week with trading slackening off as the sun warmed up.
Brokers are watching to see if the market stays lackluster until the long Memorial Day weekend. For many this will mark the start of a new season, whatever the solar time table may say.
Cautionary signs are clearly visible.
The international news has been disturbing on several fronts — increased fighting in Viet Nam and the Dominican revolt on this nation's doorstep has led many to wonder what may be ahead; more orders for defense firms? Less emphasis on domestic programs?
Tin, copper and other commodities are involved in political and labor troubles abroad. Steel and aluminum are tangled in labor-management hard bargaining at home, with the results carrying the possibility of effects well-beyond the field of metals.
The big boost in auto sales and in buying of steel in the first quarter has aided the economy to set highs. And corporate profits have taken a big jump as a result. So have personal incomes.
Much of the drop in the third week of May could have been traced to disappointment that stocks weren't split. If dividends weren't raised, or at least not as high as rumored, that profits of some firms looked good but not brilliant.
The market as a whole has had a long uphill climb. Spring fever could be just a natural reaction.

Another Big Uncertainty Is What Steel Consumers — The makers of cars and appliances, the construction industry and all the rest — will do about the inventories they were trying to build up earlier this year when there was talk of a possible steel strike May 1.

The strike deadline now is Sept. 1 and a strike looks less likely than it did earlier this year. But steel users aren't giving up. They are taking orders, the steel mills says, not asking for shipment delays.
Steel output has turned up again after a three-week dip from the record set late in April. Steelmen insist that most of the slowdown in production has been due to repairing facilities rather than any easing in demand. Their shipment schedules are full for many weeks ahead with only the usual summer lull for plant shutdowns for vacations.

From a 1962 low of 535.76, the Dow-Jones industrial average rose to a record 909.62 May 14. By Friday May 21 it had slipped to 820.1. This index of 30 leading stocks, heavily weighted to give effect to the many splits over the years, is only an indicator at best of the course of the general market, but it is closely followed by the public.
The climb of 403.86 points from the low point after the 1962 market crash is a whopper. The slip of 17.01 points in the third week of May is hardly catastrophic.

But what will steel users do if a steel labor-management settlement begins to look like a sure thing? Will they hold on to any auto stocks they've managed to build up? If so, will it be as a hedge against possible price increases? Will they cut back on their own products? Keep their orders shiftable?
Rumors play a big role in the stock market, sending prices up or down, often without justification. Rumors, or what people think might happen, also can play a big role in the world of retailing and manufacturing.

Geodetic Survey In New Merger

WASHINGTON (AP)—In 1807 the lot of a ship captain approaching the shores of the infant United States was not a happy one.

He might have only the foggiest notion of where the shoreline was, how deep the water, how strong the currents. In fact he might have to guide himself chiefly by the hulks of wrecked ships that had preceded him.

So in 1807, President Thomas Jefferson put pen to paper on an act of Congress, and thus was born the earliest scientific agency of the government.

It is now known as the Coast and Geodetic Survey—and it is in the news now because President Johnson is planning to merge it with the Weather Bureau.

The reorganization plan, submitted May 13, becomes effective 60 days thereafter unless either the House or Senate vetoes it. So far there is no sign of such a veto.

As is natural, there is some queasiness among rank-and-filers of the Coast and Geodetic Survey as to how they will fare under the merger. But the top echelons are enthusiastic.

The first task of the survey, of course, was to chart the coasts to help shipping. But it has come a long way since it published its first nautical chart, an engraving on stone of Newark, N.J., Bay.

It would take a book now to do faint justice to the survey's far-flung operations—work on which millions of people rely for safety of their lives and property.

Jefferson would have been amazed, and gratified, at the survey's work. If you photograph a satellite, such as Echo I or II, simultaneously from three or more points on the earth's surface, you go far to determine the earth's precise size and shape.

Road builders, city planners, pipeline and aqueduct builders, tunnel diggers, searchers for oil, all depend heavily on survey maps, millions of which are poured forth from high-speed presses.

The survey operates a "white fleet" of vessels crammed with the latest gear, and service aboard these ships is not cozy and safe because they might find themselves in hurricanes, or venturing close to rocky, uncharted coasts. These vessels can detect whether there is a giant mountain down under the almost bottomless seas.

The survey has 217 commissioned officers and 2,855 Civil Service employees, many of them top-rank scientists. The commissioned officers wear uniforms something like that of the Navy, but they are not fighting men, not connected with the military services.

The Coast and Geodetic Survey is headed by Rear Adm. H. Arnold Karo, director. He is a real government veteran at the age of 61. He joined the survey as an ensign 41 years ago.

Pros Keep War Going In Viet Nam

By HAL BOYLE

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP)—What this war needs is a little amateur hating.

It is, as has been pointed out by a number of observers, a different kind of war for us. Our men over here are mostly professionals.

We are used to winning our wars with masses of civilians in uniform led by cadres of professional warriors. But in this war in Viet Nam the whole show is mainly by the professionals. That makes for a different kind of war.

The civilian soldier is usually an angry soldier. He has to have someone to hate, such as Adolf Hitler in World War II.

The professional soldier, on the other hand, rarely is fueled by emotion. War is more to him like a boxing match in which the payoff goes to long training and skill.

That seems to be the situation over here. Our people don't seem to be particularly angry at anybody. They regard their assignment rather as if it were merely a kind of unpleasant duty post, but one which will help their careers and therefore to be taken in stride.

As the result of the present rotation policy, this seems less like a war to a finish than an extended training exercise under combat conditions. An Army captain comes for a year, a fighter pilot for 90 days.

Then they go home, their places are taken by new men who have to learn from scratch, and the war goes on and on and on. None of this is meant to criticize the morale of the American professional fighting men here, which is high, or their performance which is excellent.

But one has the feeling it is a war fought in an emotionless vacuum, and that it might go a little better for us if we could work up more real old-fashioned hatred of the enemy.

One of the psychological hurdles is the fact that our side lacks a love object even more than it lacks a focal hate figure. The only really national hero among the Vietnamese, North and South, is Ho Chi Minh, still admired by all factions for his feat in defeating the French army in 1954.

"If we had a father figure like him our job would be a lot easier," said an officer. "It helps when you've got a leader the people can really cuddle up to."

English Dog Loves to Fish

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—Queenie, a water-logged English Shepherd with a Friday appetite, is by far the best angler of the nearby Joseph Lovey farm.

She takes all the fish she wants from Lovey's well-stocked ponds, especially bass and catfish which she savors.

Lovey says his furbearing Nimrod took to water-wading on her own and quickly mastered the art of submerged fish-snapping.

Queenie doesn't always eat her catch. Sometimes she fishes for fun, dropping her slippery prey back in for some future dinner.

Front Porch Stolen Off Vacant House

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—When people stoop to theft, it's surprising how far they'll go.

Police report that someone stole the front porch from a vacant house over the weekend.

He is ROYAL E. THERN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Royal G. Thern, 1351 Glenview Rd., who had taken part in a physics department study of magnetic films while at St. Olaf.

Thern, a 1954 graduate of St. Olaf, is now a National Science Foundation fellow in physics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The article, "Spin-Wave Spectra in Thin Magnetic Films," was prepared by Dr. Thomas Rossing, chairman of the St. Olaf physics department, as well as Thern and the other two students.

JOHN A. VAN WINKLE JR., whose parents live at 824 W. Wabasha St., has been elected treasurer of the Macalester College Scots' Club. Students at the St. Paul college become members of the club by outstanding achievement in the Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Association.

Redistricting Veto Political, Forsythe Says

ST. PAUL (AP) — Robert Forsythe, Republican state chairman, said Tuesday that Gov. Karl Rolvaag "vetoed the reapportionment plan for political reasons."

Reapportionment was one of five priority items listed by Forsythe before the session opened. He said all had been acted upon by the legislature and that in addition the Conservative legislature had "made great strides" in other areas, particularly in the welfare field and in the area of programs for the mentally retarded.

Other items on the Forsythe priority list were restoration of school aids cut by the governor, re-establishment of the unemployment compensation fund on a sound basis, updating benefits in the workmen's compensation law and balancing state needs with state revenue.

The GOP leader said the governor "apparently made up his mind to veto reapportionment no matter what the legislature passed and now, having done so, needs to try to justify his action with charges of 'politics' and 'gerrymandering.'"

Lifejackets on 3 Victims Inadequate

KENORA, Ont. (AP)—Police say that life jackets worn by three St. Paul, Minn., men who drowned near Kenora Friday were inadequate.

A spokesman for the Police Department said Monday tests were made on the jackets after the three bodies were found. He said the tests showed the jackets would not support a man on the surface of the lake.

The bodies of Harold D. Peterson, 50; Walter J. Feidt, 45; and John P. Urbanski, 48, were found in Favel Lake, 40 miles
