MAYOR RULES SELF OUT AS LINDSAY'S OPPONENT . . . Mayor Robert F. Wagner, left, puts a finger to his nose as he announces in New York Thursday that he will not seek a fourth term. His decision sparked a scramble for the Democratic nomination to oppose Rep. John V. Lindsay, the Republican mayoralty candidate, who mops his brow as he comments on Wagner's move. (AP Photofax)

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE
SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — The battle for Dong Xoai ended today with heavy casualties on both sides. The routed Viet Cong left district headquarters in ruins, strewn with bodies of men, women and children. U.S. military authorities said the latest count of American casualties in the battle were 3 dead, 15 wounded and 15 missing. Eight of the missing were crewmen on two helicopters destroyed by enemy fire. A newsman who visited the town 60 miles north of Saigon said several American bodies were found in the ruins. An 11-man U.S. Army special forces team and a nine-man U.S. Navy Seabee squad engaged in building an airstrip were at the district headquarters when the Viet Cong attacked

Wednesday night. The number of U.S. casualties in Viet Nam jumped again when a two-engine C123 transport ferrying ammunition and supplies crashed in flames in central Viet Nam, killing at least eight Americans.

A U.S. spokesman said a ground party recovered the bodies of two Air Force men and six Army men. He did not know how many had been aboard. Military sources were uncertain of the cause of the crash. The three confirmed deaths at Dong Xoai brought the toll of American dead in Vietnamese combat since December 1961 to 409. The dead in the C123 crash would not be added to the com-

FDR, Jr. May Be Party's N.Y. Choice

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor Robert F. Wagner's decision not to seek a fourth term touched off a scramble for the Democratic mayoral nomination today and promised to have national political repercussions in both parties. The decision Thursday, which the three-term mayor said was based on family considerations, could produce some political pressure on the national level for the selection and financing of a powerful Democratic opponent to Republican Rep. John V. Lindsay in the Nov. 2 election.

Lindsay, 43, a proven vote getter in this nation's largest city where registered Democrats outnumber Republicans by more than 3-to-1, has been mentioned as potential presidential material. A victory in the mayoral race would boost both him and the GOP. President Johnson reportedly is anxious to see him defeated.

A new name cropped up on the Democratic side shortly after Wagner made his announcement. In Washington, Harlem Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., boosted Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., son of the late president, for the nomination. Roosevelt, 50, recently switched by President Johnson from under-secretary of commerce to chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, said he had received telephone calls from public officials and "important Democrats." He declined to identify them.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., who now appears on his way to uncontested control of the Democratic party in New York with the withdrawal of Wagner, said the fate of the party in the city depends "on how well we do in selecting a candidate." Kennedy said Roosevelt is "one of a number of possible candidates." He declined to name any others.

Three Youths Drown in State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Drowning took the lives of three high school boys in Minnesota Thursday and early today.

A St. Paul youth drowned early today in Lake Calhoun in Minneapolis. Police identified the victim as Philip Eades, 16, of St. Paul. Police said Eades was in a group of St. Paul teenagers who went for a swim in the lake about 4 a.m.

Two 15-year-old Minneapolis boys drowned Thursday in Lake Hawatha in Minneapolis where they were attending a graduation class picnic. They were Ronald Holvett and James Hatcher who were in a group of 25 students from Sanford Junior High School. Other youths said the two were wading when one of them stepped into a dropoff and pulled the other in with him.

Several students attempted to rescue the boys but were unable to hold on to them. The body of a bathing suit-clad woman, believed to be that of Fay A. Norwood, 32, Anoka, was recovered from the Mississippi River in Minneapolis Thursday night. She had been missing since Saturday. An autopsy was to be performed today.

Spacemen Unfold Story for World

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Astronaut Edward White described today how he got the superb photographs of his space walk during his Gemini 4 flight with James McDivitt. White narrated the film as it was shown during a press conference at the space center here. Earlier, McDivitt described his unsuccessful rendezvous attempt with the Titan rocket booster which launched them into orbit June 3.

White said he and McDivitt agreed they were too pressed for time to try the space walk on the second orbit, as planned, and decided to postpone it one orbit.

White said he had some difficulty mounting the camera outside the spacecraft. "Jim had the spacecra steady as a rock," he said. Any jiggling in the early frames of the film were due to his own slightly shaking hands, White said.

He said McDivitt noted his exertions in mounting the camera and told him, "Hey, you're starting to breathe pretty hard." White said he replied there was nothing to worry about, that he wasn't tiring too much.

"I tried to fly with the (space) gun right out the spacecraft," he said. "There was no pushoff—the gun provided the impulse to leave the spacecraft."

He said the golden tether, with which he was attached to the spacecraft, caused him to propel himself slightly off course.

"The tether always tended to pivot me in the area I didn't want to be in," he added.

Finally, he said, he ran out of fuel for his space gun and had to use the tether to maneuver.

"This was the time," White remarked, "that I said I sure wished I had a little more fuel for my gun."

White said he walked two or three steps on the spacecraft itself by pulling himself along with the tether.

"I was actually able to walk right up the spacecraft," he added.

"The view from up there is just spectacular," White said. He told how he could see the whole state of Florida and islands in the Caribbean.

White said the walk in space was completely successful. "Yes," he said, "a man can operate in space." But he added, "he needs a little more fuel."

McDivitt said the launch was entirely what he had expected and described the Titan rocket booster as "fantastic."

He said he had hoped to be able to get close to the booster rocket but that it was tumbling at the rate of 40 to 50 degrees per second, "much faster than anyone had anticipated."

He also said the booster fell away rather rapidly.

Three Dead in New Jersey Hotel Blaze

PLAINFIELD, N.J. (AP) — Three persons were reported dead and at least 10 others missing today in the aftermath of a fire which destroyed the century-old Victoria Hotel and Boarding House.

Police said three unidentified bodies were removed from the charred remains of the sprawling three-story building located near the business district in this central New Jersey community.

More than 100 permanent and transient guests escaped the burning building located across the street from the main Fire Department headquarters.

A telephone dispatcher at the fire house spotted flames shooting from the second floor of the building and turned in the first alarm at 2:30 a.m. The blaze was brought under control at 5 a.m.

Police said 12 persons were injured, including a policeman who suffered deep smoke inhalation in an attempt to rescue a 93-year-old woman trapped in the building.

The officer, patrolman Robert Miller, was placed in an intensive-care unit at Muhlenberg Hospital and reported responding to treatment.

The woman, Frances Van Horn, was listed in good condition at the hospital.

Police said Miller collapsed after rescuing 10 or 12 persons inside the building.

Michael Kerpan, Jr. With Spelling Trophy

Tulsa Boy Wins Spelling Championship

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michael Kerpan Jr. was listed last on the program and was the last speller to compete in each round of the 38th annual National Spelling Bee.

But today the 12-year-old son of a Tulsa, Okla., police sergeant comes first — he reigns as the champion.

Wearing a large card with a 70 written on it, Michael defeated the 69 other youngsters in two days of competition which ended Thursday when his chief rival — lily, brown-haired Judy Marie Guarr, 12, of Topeka, Kan., stumbled on the word "Sarghetto," a musical term. She spelled it without the H.

No Reason for Gloom or Doom

Johnson Expects Gains To Be Moderate, Solid

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has muffled speculation over a governmental split on his economic policy by giving assurances that there are "no cross-currents, divisions or conflicts" within the administration.

The president told reporters, after a meeting with Chairman William Martin of the Federal Reserve Board and other top economic officials Thursday, that moderate but solid gains are foreseeable through 1965. "There is no reason for gloom or doom," he said.

This was an apparent reference to the stock market slump and public furor which followed Martin's June 1 speech at Columbia University.

That was the speech in which Martin spoke of "disquieting similarities between our present prosperity and the fabulous '20s," and emphasized the role of monetary policy — management of the money and credit supply — in preventing possible inflationary excesses.

Martin's resignation was demanded Thursday by Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., chairman of the House Banking Committee. Patman charged that Martin had challenged Johnson's economic policy and was calling for what Patman described as a disastrous policy of light money.

"This country cannot afford, even as prosperous as it is, a man at the helm of our monetary system who is so afraid of prosperity that he has to end it," Patman said on the House floor.

But Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler, in an interview given before the White House meeting, helped Johnson to quash the talk of a policy split on the issue of tight money-versus-expansionism.

Fowler said he and Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor agreed completely with what he regarded as Martin's basic theme, that of maintaining and strengthening the soundness of the dollar.

15 Americans Missing

Viet Town in Shambles, Hundreds Dead in Battle of this little jungle town, the bodies of some 150 civilians lie strewn among the military dead this morning. Many are women and children.

Much of what is left of the little community is in flames. Government troops are still fighting desperate small hand-to-hand engagements with the Viet Cong in the sprawling outskirts of the town. All during the night the Viet Cong hurled probes at the government positions in the west end of the town.

Of some 200 government troops who landed as reinforcements early Thursday morning, only three are left. These three lone Vietnamese survivors staggered out of the jungle early this morning.

The rest, including three American advisers, are gone somewhere in the hell of Dong Xoai.

Two Americans also staggered out of the jungle, both wounded in the leg, clothed in rags and chattering incoherently in shock. They had been at the special forces camp a mile from Dong Xoai that was smashed in the initial attack. Somehow they survived in the jungle. One of them, Lt. (j.g.) Frank Peterlin of Oglesby, Ill., had been in charge of a Navy Seabee detachment doing construction work at the camp.

He ran out of the jungle just as wounded Vietnamese were being loaded on an evacuation helicopter. The second man ran out shortly after. They embraced hysterically when they spotted one another.

The other Americans in the camp had not been so lucky. The exact casualty toll still is not known, but the charred and mangled bodies of several Americans were found in the awful debris this morning.

Vietnamese rangers who were flown in Thursday afternoon fought their way into a landing zone to rescue wounded, exhausted government troops making a last-ditch stand around a tank and an armored personnel carrier.

The troops abandoned the vehicles. During the night government planes destroyed at least one of them, preventing the Viet Cong from using its guns against the government troops.

Government planes during the night rained napalm and bombs on most of the town, leveling a small Catholic church, the former government headquarters and other enemy strong-points.

Civilian casualties were enormous. In addition to the 150 or so killed, hundreds were wounded.

School Strict

Skirts Lengthened

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) — Skirts don't stay short for long at Del Vallejo Junior High School.

Nancy B. Goforth, dean of girls, no longer just hems and haws about the length of skirts girls wear to school. The girls now do the hemming.

So far Mrs. Goforth has invited 35 girls into her office, given them needle and thread, and required them to sew a crepe-paper extension on their skirts to lower the hem to at least the top of the knee.

"The girls have been very cooperative about wearing the ruffles," said Mrs. Goforth. "At first they were somewhat shy but, unfortunately, they are beginning to like it."

"We have no set requirement for dress here," she said. "We just expect the children to dress so they don't distract from learning processes in the classroom. Long hair on boys and short skirts on girls do distract."

"We ask that girls not wear skirts above the top of the knee

—that's halfway between fashionable and old-fashioned.

"The practice wasn't started to embarrass any girl. I made sure not to start it until more than one offender showed up at school. Then I called several of them into my office and told them what we were going to do. "I wanted it to be something they didn't want to do. But I'm beginning to think it's something they do want to do. It's a way for them to get out of class for a while so I'm getting a few repeats."

U of M Gets Grant to Build Space Center

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The University of Minnesota has been awarded a $4 million grant by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to build a space center and carry on research work, it was learned today.

The state's congressional delegation in Washington said NASA had approved the project, which calls for a new 80,000 square foot research building. This will be erected near the present aeronautics engineering building on the Minneapolis campus.

A university spokesman said the space science center will cover many fields, such as electrical and aeronautical engineering and biological areas. In addition to the institutional research programs, the center will establish close liaison with business and industry in space-related sciences.

President O. Meredith Wilson of the university said he believes the space center promises a great deal to scientists in this area and nationally.

Heading the center will be Prof. Warren B. Cheston, 39, former associate chairman of the school of physics faculty. He has been on leave since 1963, serving as attache to the American embassy in London. He is expected to return to the university next fall.

Interim control of the project is being carried out by Frank Verbrugge, associate dean of the institute of technology, and Robert J. Collins, head of the department of electrical engineering.

Dissolutions of School Districts 606, 608, 609, 610 and 640 were granted effective July 1. Effective July 1, the board adopted an agreement to contribute to the Hiawatha Valley Mental Health Center at Winona.

BURNELL AND Hollis Oas-gard, representing the Spring Grove Village Council, appeared urging employment of a night radio operator for police protection in the county, which they were informed the county board approved in March. The collateral of Onsgard State Bank for deposits of county funds was approved.

The sheriff's report on delinquent personal property taxes was continued until the regular two-day semi-annual meeting July 12 to give persons time to pay them.

Negro Gets Most Votes in Minneapolis

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — John Warder, 38, a Negro appointed to the school board in 1964, was the leading vote-getter in a city election Tuesday.

Warder, vice-president of Litho Supply Depot, Inc., won a new four-year term on the board by drawing 60,808 votes to only 19,205 for his opponent, Mrs. De Ette Genung.

River Tract Ownership Case Heard

Legal briefs in support of their opposing theories of ownership will end the trial of a land case involving nearly a mile of riverfront at Dakota, Judge Arnold Hatfield said today in District Court.

Judge Hatfield gave plaintiff's attorney Roger P. Brosnahan till June 25 to file a brief in support of the Village of Dakota's claim of adverse possession. Attorneys Richard H. Darby and Robert Skemp, La Crosse, have three additional weeks to file an answering brief in support of their client Wilford E. Leach, La Crosse.

The judge must decide from the evidence brought forward in District Court Thursday and this morning and from the arguments in the lawyers' briefs whether or not the village owns the disputed riverfront land.

DEFENDANT LEACH closed the testimony in support of his case. He identified pictures introduced by Darby from the Winona Sunday News for Aug. 30, 1964, showing various views of the "gooseneck" peninsula he claims to own.

Under cross-examination, Leach said he intends to develop the land as a marina and park. He would charge a fee for use of the slips and docks he hopes to build, Leach said; and he has already built a concession stand.

His claim to ownership would not be "in any way" adverse to the land's use by the people of Dakota, Leach testified. In fact, it was his work which made the land usable, Leach said.

He added that he had no intention of making several Dakotas with docks on "his" property remove the structures. He admitted placing "No Trespassing" signs in the area and identified one of the signs introduced in evidence by Brosnahan.

ATTORNEY GEORGE Robertson Jr. opened today's testimony with an account of his efforts to locate the heirs to Nathan Brown, owner of the property up to 1874, at least. He located these heirs, Robertson testified; and they are the same individuals from whom Leach obtained quit-claim deeds for the riverfront land.

Robertson was not allowed to give his opinion as to the present ownership of the land, Judge Hatfield sustaining Brosnahan's objection. The judge said that he must decide this question, and Robertson could only offer relevant facts.

Brosnahan called one rebuttal witness, Harold C. Brown, Dakota. The 71-year-old Brown told the court that he could remember when the land Leach now claims first began to build up from silt out of Dakota Creek.

The silting process began between 1903 and 1908 after the government built wing dams above and below the creek preventing the river current from carrying the creek's discharge downstream.

On cross-examination, Brown admitted that there had been land about 75 to 100 feet away from the railroad tracks at a point four blocks above Dakota Creek called Brown's Landing. (The railroad has title to strips extending 50 feet from either side of the tracks.)

HOWEVER, BROWN testified that this riverfront strip narrowed to just over 30 feet near the creek.

Judge Hatfield instructed the attorneys to address their briefs to, among other questions, the problem whether groups of citizens at large can establish ownership by adverse possession of a tract of land for public purposes.

ownership to certain riverfront strips of land and to all additional land built up over the years by Dakota Creek, according to Darby.

Since his client, Leach, had obtained quit-claim deeds from Brown's heirs, the La Crosse man is rightful owner of the disputed riverfront property at Dakota, Darby concluded.

Brosnahan called a host of witnesses from Dakota, to back up his claim of adverse possession by the village.

Roy E. Sweet, testified that he is a 12-year member of the Dakota Village Council and has lived all his 46 years in the area. Sweet said that he could remember in 1933 when there was no land above water where Leach's claimed land now is.

The area first began to fill in about 1939 after the Dressbach dam was built by the federal government and the river's main channel was moved further out from the Minnesota shore. Silt from Dakota Creek began to build up in a "gooseneck" peninsula instead of being swept away by the river current, Sweet said.

About 1948, a group of Dakota men put electric lighting in at this area to light it for ice skating during the winter. Snow has been cleared off this skating area by villagers working as volunteers every winter since then at least, Sweet said.

PEOPLE FROM Dakota have always pitched in to help clear brush and clean up the area around the gooseneck, Sweet testified. Since the village budget is only $1,200, the work could not be paid for out of village funds, he said. Sifted repairs, for instance, are made in the same way, Sweet added.

Leach was first noticed as someone doing the same sort of work to improve the area that Dakotans had done, Sweet said. Then it was noticed that he was putting up cement-block piers for some sort of building.

He was told he would need a building permit, and his subsequent application for a permit was denied by the village council (It was about this time that the village discovered Leach's claim to ownership of the land.) Brosnahan called Leach to the stand for cross-examination as part of the village's case. The La Crosse man testified that he had taken an interest in the land about the time he heard the old highway through Dakota was being abandoned for a new four-lane U.S. 61-14.

He tried to find out who owned the land, and a man in the county abstract office told him that the heirs of Nathan Brown held title. He obtained quit-claim deeds from eight Brown heirs for $5 apiece, Leach said.

IN THE SPRING and summer of 1963, immediately after obtaining the deeds, Leach told the court that he began to clear the land and make improvements. He noticed five or six other boats using the area, one sunken boat and two docks, one abandoned, Leach testified.

There were some tie steps leading down to the waterfront from the village but no signs of general use of the area by the villagers, according to Leach.

He sent a bill to Mayor LeRoy Witt as a sort of retaliation for what he considered the village's harassment, Leach said.

New Rise Now Moving Down River

A new rise is moving down the Upper Mississippi River valley and is expected to bring increases of nearly a foot at some points, Weather Bureau forecasters announced today.

The stage at St. Paul today was 10.1 with a predicted rise to 12.6 in five days. Red Wing had a reading of 10.3 today and was slated to rise to 11.2 next week.

AT WINONA the increase was slower with a reading of 10.1 today and the following predicted rises for the next three days: Saturday 10.1, Sunday 10.2 and Monday 10.3. Although additional rises may be expected next week, Weather Bureau officials did not expect them to be as large as at either St. Paul or Red Wing. With tributary streams along the river falling, the same amount of water that would bring nearly a foot rise at St. Paul would not be as much in this area, forecasters said.

Variable cloudiness with scattered thundershowers is the weather prediction for Winona and vicinity tonight and Saturday.

A LOW of 55-70 is expected tonight and a high near 80 Saturday, Sunday, said the weatherman, will see additional scattered showers and not much change in temperature.

The temperature rose to 79 at Winona Thursday, dropped to 53 overnight and was 77 at noon.

Lewiston Votes $150,000 Bond Issue for School

LEWISTON, Minn. (Special)—Lewiston School District electors passed an additional $150,000 bond issue at the special election Thursday. The vote was 335 yes and 246 no.

The additional borrowing power given the school board will bring the total to $1,250,000 for building the new high school. The district voted for a $1,100,000 bond issue in August.

Adding $147,000 which the district has on hand in its treasury, funds of approximately $1,400,000 now will be available for construction of the 66,000 sq. ft. structure that will house all facilities necessary for a modern junior-senior high school.

Apparent low bids opened May 19 totaled $1,206,645. Because they were higher than expected, the new election was called.

The board will meet tonight to study the bids. Contracts probably will be awarded.

Custodian Employed for County Jail

The Winona County Board of Commissioners wound up its June meeting Thursday by hiring a custodian, asking the state to let contracts for road work and giving a group $2,500.

Gay Wendt, 166 Kansas St., a former county highway department foreman, was hired as jail custodian at $320 a month. He replaces Arthur Kauphusman, who died recently.

The board adopted a resolution asking the state to let contracts for repair projects on County State Aid Highway 23 and CSAH 25.

Both projects, involving replacement of washed-out culverts, have already been completed. The board's action is a formality designed to obtain 50 percent of the cost of the work from the state.

Gordon M. Pay, county highway engineer, said the county has not gone ahead with other repair work on county and township roads because it has not yet obtained approval from the Office of Emergency Planning.

As soon as this approval is forthcoming, he said, the work will begin.

The board voted to give $2,500 to the Winona County Historical Society — less than half of the $5,858.70 for which the organization had asked Tuesday. Of the total, $1,500 is to be used to pay the salary of the receptionist in the society's museum, while the other $1,000 may be used in any way.

Last year, the board gave the society the same amount, again setting $1,500 aside for the receptionist. The other $1,000 was used for renovation of the society-operated Bunnell House at Homer.

The board approved routine monthly bills Thursday.

Sheriff Checks Theft Reports

Theft of a boat, discovery of a boat reported stolen Monday, theft of some merchandise and a group of children reportedly damaging the crop in a Witoka field were among matters brought to Sheriff George L. Fort Thursday.

Vernon Stinocher, 1845 W. 5th St., reported a 12 to 14-foot boat with a five-horsepower outboard motor stolen from Prairie Island about the Isaac Walton League cabin sometime Wednesday.

Stinocher made the report for the boat's owner, Edgar Aances, same address, who was recently hospitalized. Stinocher reported motor scooter tracks leading down to the mooring place, and sheriff's deputies are investigating.

T. J. Stanke, 71 Johnson St., told the sheriff Thursday afternoon that he bought a number of articles at the Miracle Mall, then left them on the grass outside while he went for his truck.

When he returned about 10:45 a.m., Stanke said, the following articles were missing: Two box end wrenches, two tubes and a can of linseed oil. The sheriff is investigating.

Gust E. Forstrom, 1069 W. Howard St., was informed Wednesday night that the boat he reported missing from Airport Lake Monday had been found anchored in the northwest part of Bartlett's Lake. The boat was found by a Winona who reported it to city police.

Finally, Fred Reifspeck, Witoka, told the sheriff Wednesday night that a nearby family has been allowing its children to run loose in his field. Their play is damaging his crop, Reifspeck said. He asked the sheriff to issue a warning.

Town of Alma Youth Drowns In Beef River

ALMA, Wis. (Special) — A 13-year-old Town of Alma boy died of suffocation from drowning in Beef River about seven miles north and east of Alma City in the Tell area Thursday afternoon, according to Dr. E. A. Mell, Buffalo County coroner.

William Alfred Scott, Jr., went wading in the river about 150 feet from the home of his parents shortly after dinner. Neil Clark, about 15, stood on the bank, saw him go down, and heard him call for help twice. Neil ran back to the farm home, shouting that William was drowning.

The Scotts and Neil's father, Clarence Clark, who was with him, called for help from Alma. Sheriff Myron Hoch received the call at 1:08 p.m.

WITHIN MINUTES, Deputy Clem Breen, Traffic Officers Robert Sing and Henry Zeichert, and others, were there. County Agent Archie Brovold brought a boat. Alfred Herrmann, Alma fire chief, arrived to help and Eddie Maule, manager of Buffalo Electric, brought a rescuator.

The men began searching the river. Brovold and Sing found the body at 1:40 p.m. in 15 feet downstream after searching a half-hour. The rescuator failed to revive the boy.

Reportedly the boy had been forbidden to go swimming in the morning and his parents refused him permission to go fishing in the afternoon, so he went wading. Sheriff Hoch said the stream was 3-5 feet deep.

Clark, who owns the farm on which the Scotts live, is an electrician and was there to do some repair work, and he and his son having dinner there.

William was born May 7, 1953, at Durand.

Survivors are: His parents, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Scott, Sr.; two sisters, Joanne, 11, and Susie, 2; one brother, Charles, 5, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Scott, Sr., Alma, and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Eastman, Menomonie.

The funeral will be Saturday at 2 p.m. at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Alma. The Rev. Gene Krueger, St. Paul's and St. Luke's United Church of Christ, officiating. Burial will be in Nelson Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home tonight and Saturday until time of service.

Truck Hits Bridge; Driver, 19, Hurt

ALMA, Wis. (Special) — The 19-year-old driver of a half-ton truck was injured in an accident on a Highway 35 bridge on the dike road between Nelson and Pepin early today.

Larry Paulson, hauling Allis-Chalmers supplies for Kinnic Co., River Falls, was reported by officers to have hit the guard rail on the left side of the bridge and tipped onto the bridge.

Buffalo County Sheriff Myron Hoch was called at 6 a.m. He and Henry Zeichert, county traffic officer, got to the scene after Paulson had been taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Wabasha. He was reported to have severe chest injuries and broken bones.

The accident happened about three miles north of Nelson and one mile south of the Chipewa River bridge. Paulson was proceeding south.

Man-of-Year Jessel Busy

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — They worked a switch on Toastmaster General George Jessel at the Americana the other night. He got ribbed as Broadway March of Dimes Man of the Year in responding, he said. "Recipients of such awards generally say, 'I have no words.'"

"But," George said, "I have words. I could speak till Judge Crater comes home."

"I've made more speeches than anybody in our time... I'm not so close to but if the good Moslems were to call upon me in the middle of the night to say Kaddish for Nasser, I'd only be too happy to oblige."

Toastmaster Joey Adams led the ribbing of George beautifully. Soupy Sales said, "George is the oldest Boy Scout — he helps women across the street if there's a hotel on the other side." Tony Martin said, "George is slowly approaching middle age — for the third time." Producer Joseph E. Levine, described as a physical phenomenon ("when he sits down and when he stands up, he's the same size") was alleged to be doing Jessel's life story under the title, "Divorce. Any Style."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Tuffy Tuttle heard that a philanthropic foundation was passing out grants — so she wrote and asked for a Cary.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: If the designers of women's bathing suits aren't careful, they're gonna put themselves right out of a job. — Ray Fine.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Etc." is an abbreviation used to make people believe you know more than you do. — Quite.

EARL'S PEARLS: The Little Club's Billy Reed has a candidate for the Nobel Peace Prize: Sonny Liston.

Larry Mathews reports he was dining in a Manhattan restaurant — and while he was watching his hat and coat, someone stole his glass of water. That's earl, brother.

BASEBALL TRIP
FOUNTAIN CITY, Wis. (Special) — The Men's Catholic Order of Foresters will sponsor their first Knothole trip to the Twin Cities June 26. Boys and girls in the area wishing to go should contact Armin Piel. The first 45 youngsters signing up will take the first trip. Others will go on the second trip, the date to be announced later. Adults wishing to be chaperones also should contact Piel. Twins baseball game tickets will be furnished free to chaperones. This is an annual Foresters project.

Blair Nursing Home Site Tests Made

BLAIR, Wis. (Special) — Blair Common Council discussed nursing home and water utility financing, package insurance, and policing Riverside Memorial Park Monday night. A representative of a financial consulting firm retained to sell bonds said he is waiting for the architect's final estimate. Soil borings were made at the site Monday.

Council approved borrowing $135,000 from Farmers Home Administration for improving the city water system.

Thursday is the deadline for receiving proposals for packaging all insurance protection with one firm, avoiding duplication of coverage fees. It is expected a contract will be awarded that night.

THE PARK policing problem will be solved by placing signs in the area closing it to the public after 11 p.m. except to authorized campers and organized activities. Violators will be subject to a fine.

W. E. Schroeder, owner of Super Fair Grocery, inquired if he could avoid a large sewer charge because the water from his refrigeration units enters the sewers perfectly clean and not in need of treatment. He was told he could pipe refrigeration water into the storm sewer system at his own expense.

Cost estimates for repair of rest rooms in the city hall were turned over to the public building committee for recommendations.

Aldermen agreed that Blair should be represented in the Trempealeau County Fair queen contest. Candidates must be 17 by April 1, not over 21, and have lived in the county at least one year prior to April 1. They will be judged on poise, personality and photogenic qualities. They will be judged and interviewed June 22.

GIRLS WISHING to be candidates must contact their municipal government by June 14. James R. Davis, member of the council, is in charge here.

A meeting will be held in the near future with Preston Co-operative Creamery board to discuss ridge and furrow disposal for its wastes. Alcoholic beverage licenses were granted to six taverns.

Voice of the Outdoors

"Good Old Summertime" Although the Lake Winona beach is not officially open, Winona mothers and tots are taking advantage of the sun and sand. The above view shows the fun a group of tots and two boys with a mother are having between the barriers.

The diving board and other facilities are being put in place for the official opening Saturday of the beach for the 1965 season.

Turtle Loss As the water drops, new destruction wrought by the flood and winter of 1964-65 with its extreme cold becomes apparent. For instance, there was a heavy winter kill of turtles, and turtle fishermen and river life observers tell us that the turtles died from the deep freezing and heavy ice.

Anyway, a lot of dead turtles are being observed floating in the river and as the water declines, along the river banks. There is a definite lack of turtle tracks on exposed sandbars. Indications of turtle nesting. Of course, a lot of sandbars are still covered with water and nesting areas are not generally exposed.

As the water retreats, vast areas of bottomlands are exposed as tracts of dead vegetation. The usual green of summer is missing. It looks like late fall. Everything is dead, even some of the trees lack leaves. We wonder if this vegetation has been killed for the season by the long period of being submerged.

On a normal year, such conditions prevail after the spring flood, Bill Green, refuge biologist, tells us, but the vegetation returns as soon as the water leaves. This apparently is not happening this year. Has the flood rooted the dormant seed which produces bottom land vegetation that usually comes to life as the water leaves?

"We may have to wait a year or until another growing season," Green said, "but Nature will correct this in time." Right now it's not a very attractive background for the river.

Bass Camp Fill Ann Rolbiecki, Bass Camp, just below Whitman dam, is angry with us. She said we did her wrong in the few paragraphs in the Voice the other day. We are sorry for not giving her credit for the development that has taken place there. She paid for the fill and contends that the swamp areas covered were not sloughs. It was all her land, she says.

Anyway, it is being developed into an important recreation asset for this area, with 12 modern cottages, and shore fishing, next to the Whitman dam similar to that enjoyed off the barges, for half the price. Her son Dick is manager of the camp. It would be worth your while to drive up and see the improvements created by the new fill.

Fishing Reports The overall fishing prospects for the weekend fishing are good. The river, still five feet above normal, has cleared from the recent rains. There is still a powerful current in the main channel, especially below the dams where it has been narrowed. The water is on the clear side in the backwaters. Fishing has been "spotty" during the past week. Fish seemed to have slowed down and don't hit the lures with vigor. Here is what the Wisconsin river wardens have to say about fishing conditions:

Buffalo County — Wardens Stanley Apel and Elliot Peterson: Northerns and sunfish hitting very good at Merrick Park. Walleyes and northerns good in the Alma area. Some white bass catches at Nelson, worms and minnows best bait. Trout fair. Trout streams normal, Mississippi River high.

Trempealeau County — Wardens Frederick Gardner and Harold Kubisiak: Panfish excellent in the Trempealeau County lakes on all bait. Northerns and bass in the backwaters of the Mississippi River are being taken with shallow running lures. Walleyes slow. Trout fair. Rivers high and cloudy.

Pepin County — Warden Marion Kinnannon: Walleyes and sand pike fair on Lake Pepin, willow cats and artificial best bait. White bass are hitting spinners and jigs. Catfish being taken on Chippewa River on worms and night crawlers. Chippewa River and Lake Pepin were cloudy from recent rains, but have cleared, are still high.

La Crosse County — Wardens Carl Frick and David Hummes: Panfishing still fair with good catches of sunfish, crappies and bullheads in most areas. Bass and northerns were taking weedless lures in the Goose Island and Stoddard area. A few catches of walleyes were reported below the Onalaska dam by fishermen using willow cats. Water high and clearing.

Pierce County — Warden Maurice Black: A few nice catches of walleyes being caught in the Bay City area on minnows. Fishing in general slow, due to high and muddy water.

Crawford County — Warden William Heibing: Some crappies, bluegills and perch taken on bait in flooded areas. Some action on northerns in flooded bottoms on spoons. Walleyes slow, but some action by low Lynxville dam on bait and jigs. Bass fishing slow. Trout fishing good and catfish fair on Wisconsin River. Fishing slow in most Mississippi River areas because of water conditions. Mississippi and Wisconsin rivers well above normal and rising.

Vernon County — Warden Homer Moe: Northerns still being taken on live bait and spoons. Walleyes hitting on jigs, streamers and willow cats. Panfish activity is increasing in slough areas with several nice catches of bluegills reported. Trout fishing action is spotty. Mississippi River high and cloudy trout streams about normal.

Jackson County — Wardens William Barton and Werner Radke: Walleye fishing good on Lake Arbuthus and Black River. Musky action showing promise. Panfishing good, trout fair. Waters above normal.

DEAR ABBY:

Too Much, Too Easily

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: When I think of how many boys would give anything for the opportunity our son had and threw away, I could cry. He is 19 and has had one year of college, but he washed out. Both his father and I are college graduates and over the years we have stressed the importance of a college education. Our son was an average high school student, but he was active in sports so we thought if he concentrated on his studies in college he would do better. Abby, we gave this boy a beautiful wardrobe, a car of his own and a liberal allowance, and he didn't even make grades good enough to keep him in school. We later learned he didn't bother to go to half his classes. He has a good mind, is good-looking and has never had any trouble making friends. Where have we gone wrong?

DEAR HEARTBROKEN: Don't assume that because He failed, YOU did. Your mistake was in giving him too much. A boy who has never had to work for anything has difficulty disciplining himself to work for grades. You can lead a lad to college, but you can't make him think. Take heart in the knowledge that some people mature later than others. Perhaps one day your son will realize his foolishness and resume his schooling. I hope so.

DEAR ABBY: I read somewhere that a girl can get cancer from kissing a boy who smokes a lot if he has an open cut on his lip. Is this true?

"FOURTEEN AND WORRYING"

DEAR WORRYING: This is not true. But other diseases are easily transmitted in this way. While you may be old enough to read, you are obviously not old enough to kiss anyone on the lips. So if you want to quit worrying, I advise you to kiss less and read more.

DEAR ABBY: After eight years of marriage my husband suddenly quit wearing his wedding ring. I asked him whom he was trying to deceive into thinking that he was not a married man. He denied that it was intentional. He is an executive so his job has nothing to do with it. I wanted to give him a taste of his own medicine so I refused to wear my wedding ring unless he started wearing his again. He put it on, but a week later I noticed that he was without it. This time it was under the pretense that he had removed it to wash his hands and "forgot" to put it back on his finger. The ring lay in front of his face in the soap dish for over a week. I know that he has no objections to wearing a wedding ring because when he first met me he was wearing one, and his wife had been dead for over a year. Please advise me as I am CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: Don't jump to conclusions. Perhaps his forgetfulness IS accidental. Don't attempt to give him a taste of his own medicine. An overdose could be fatal. (To your marriage.)

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SERIOUS" IN PHILADELPHIA: If you permit your wife to talk you into piercing your ears so that you can wear earrings just to please her, go ahead and pierce them. What's another couple of holes in your head?

Arcadia Skyline Drive on State Travel Routing

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special) — Highway 93 over the Arcadia ridge, also known as Skyline Drive, is on the state Highway Department's list for development for tourist travel, Gordon Meistad, member of the development committee, told the Arcadia Chamber of Commerce meeting Monday night.

Gerald Myers of the publicity committee reported he obtained permission from the City Council to erect camping and trailer facilities along the ball park. His committee is working on signs which will be placed along highways some distance from Arcadia calling attention to Skyline Drive and the city.

Members approved organizing a Community Chest before the fall campaign season. An ordinance governing out-of-town solicitors is being investigated.

Two new members were admitted, Harry Trowbridge and Melvin Nelson. The club voted to retain officers and directors elected before the organization affiliated with the state Chamber of Commerce last month. They are: Stanley Wiersgalla, president; Edwin Howard, vice president; Daryl Schultz, secretary and treasurer, and Le Roy Woychik, Gerald Myers, Gile Herick and Harold Blaschko, directors. Twenty attended the meeting, which was the last until September.

How Our Legislators Voted on Pay Raise

ON THE LAST DAY of the recent sorry legislative session in Minnesota, legislators voted to increase their salaries from $40 to $80 a day for a 120-day session. In addition, they instituted a pension system for themselves and increased their expense allowance to $21 a day while in session. If they work on committees between sessions, they will get $25 a day and 7½ cents per mile for travel.

This makes our lawmakers among the highest paid legislators in the 50 states of the union.

Before this session, they were paid $4,800 for a 120-day session. ($2,400 each year for the two years in office.) Then at the beginning of the session they increased their expense allowance from $18 to $21 a day — which is not too unreasonable considering the high cost of hotel rooms in the Twin Cities metropolitan area. Finally, at the tailend of the session, they increased their pay from $2,400 to $4,800 a year or $9,600 for the two-year period. The lawmakers meet for a 120-day period once every two years.

Also on the last day they voted a pension program in which they and the state both will contribute 7 percent of their pay and after they have served ten years minimum and have reached 65 years they will be entitled to a pension of $100 a month. Altogether our legislators will receive on the average of $11,280 and $12,120 for the two years they serve.

HERE IS A LIST of Senate members in the Winona area who voted for the pay raise:

Lew W. Larson of Mabel, representing Fillmore and Houston counties.

Roger Laufenburger of Lewiston — Winona County.

Harold G. Krieger of Rochester — Olmsted County.

(Robert R. Dunlap of Plainview and Rochester, representing Wabasha and Olmsted counties did not vote on the measure.)

Here is the list of House members in this area who voted "yes" for the pay increase:

Clinton J. Hall, Rushford — Fillmore County.

Donald McLeod, Lewiston — Rural Winona County.

Lester A. Howatt, Lake City — Wabasha County.

Alfred Schumann, Eyota — Olmsted County.

E. W. (Bill) Quirin, Rochester — Olmsted County.

(Speaker of the House, L. L. Duxbury Jr., Caledonia, representing Houston County, did not vote on the bill.)

ONLY AREA representative to vote "No" was Frank Theis of Winona, representing the city in the legislature.

Some M.D.'s Would Keep Medicare Out of State

IF NEWS REPORTS are correct, doctors of Brown, Renville and Redwood counties in the western part of Minnesota wanted the state Medical Association to go on record as refusing to participate in federal medicare. They didn't plan to strike; they would continue to care for all patients. They simply didn't want to be under the control of the federal government, as far as paying for their services was concerned.

Unhappily, they didn't get any place with the rest of the state association, the members of which seemed to hide behind their president, who said "if the law is passed, we have no good choice but to provide the best service we can."

The dissenting doctors didn't say anything about downgrading their service. They didn't propose to refuse medical care. They just wanted to settle their bills on a free enterprise basis. It is difficult to see how anyone could ask for more.

ONE OF THE problems we're facing in the United States is the steadily growing disinclination to speak up for ourselves. The brain-washing to which we have been subjected, wherein we're told we might as well join the welfare state, rather than oppose it, already has made jellyfish out of too many Americans.

Any time a doctor, or anyone else, tells us that he will give us his best services, settle with us on a face-to-face basis, and tell Big Brother to jump in the lake, we ought to praise, rather than castigate, him.

EVERY DAY WE have ridiculous instances of what's going on. The case of the North Mankato couple on welfare, whom nobody dared to help because it would disturb the public assistance program, is one of the most recent. Now you can't even be kind to your neighbor without asking Big Brother's permission!

It would have been great fun to have the Minnesota Medical Association tell medicare to keep out of the state, and that nobody was going to be denied a doctor's services, under any circumstances. But, apparently, there aren't enough rugged individualists around to put up that kind of fight on behalf of freedom. — Mankato Free Press.

Court Ruling on Communists Hit

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court of the United States, by a 5-4 vote, has just ruled, in effect, that members of the Communist party cannot be prevented from holding office in labor unions and causing political strikes in national emergencies. The law which Congress passed has been declared invalid.

This means that, although the Communist party in the United States is dedicated to the objective of bringing about the overthrow of the American government, its members cannot be prevented from carrying out their purpose by subtle methods of intrigue and control over labor unions.

Many countries are today suffering from Communist control of labor organizations and in the last several years Congress has attempted by statute to prevent such control from being achieved in this country. In fact, a governmental agency, known as the Subversive Activities Control Board, has found that the Communist party's "principal leaders and a substantial number of its members are subject to and recognize the disciplinary power of the Soviet Union and its representatives," and that there is evidence of the domination and control of the Communist party here by the Soviet Union for the purpose of advancing "the objectives of the world Communist movement."

THE SUPREME COURT did uphold the findings of the subversive activities control board in several cases nearly 10 years ago, but now the new ruling of the Supreme Court raises the question of whether even the subversive activities control act will become taboo by a future Supreme Court ruling. Justice White, who was joined in his dissenting opinion in the case this week by Justices Clark, Harlan and Stewart, said that the reasons given by the court for invalidating the law that prohibits Communists from holding office in labor unions can also be applied throughout the government. He said:

"By the same token, a statute disqualifying Communists, or authorizing the executive branch to do so, from holding sensitive positions in the government would be automatically infirm, as would a requirement that employees of the Central Intelligence Agency or the National Security Agency disclaim membership in the Communist party, unless in each case it is proved by evidence other than membership in the Communist party, the nature of which has already been adjudicated, that the individual would commit acts of disloyalty or subordinate his official undertakings to the interests of the party."

WHAT THIS means is that in the future it will have to be demonstrated to the satisfaction of the court in each instance that a Communist has the intention of actually doing something to overthrow the government.

The four dissenting members of the court ask how it is possible to prove that a person intends to become disloyal.

'WELL, ANYHOW, THE TOP PART LOOKS GOOD'

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Air Force General Asks More Pay for Servicemen

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — President Johnson doesn't know it, but last week Lt. Gen. John P. McConnell, Air Force chief of staff, dropped word at an Air Force staff meeting that there would be some new chiefs of staff around the Pentagon soon.

Since it's the President's job to appoint new chiefs of staff, Gen. McConnell's remark may come as a surprise to LBJ.

However, McConnell went on to say that he was going to fight for a bigger military pay increase than the 5 percent Johnson had recommended, that the chiefs of staff of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps were all with him, and would maintain a united front when called before the House and Senate Armed Services Committees to testify. They planned to blast the administration for proposing such a meager pay increase.

If he failed, Gen. McConnell told his staff, he didn't plan to be around Washington any longer.

Shortly after Gen. McConnell's private remarks, Rep. Mendel Rivers, who comes from Charleston-S.C., the city where the South first fired on the North, staged his own rebellion against the Johnson administration. He proposed a 10 percent pay increase for the military instead of 5 percent.

THE administration pay increase is nothing short of scandalous," Rep. Rivers told congressmen.

Rivers, who is chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, listened scornfully as Secretary of Defense McNamara explained to congressmen that a 5 percent increase would bring the total earnings of the average military officer up to or "exceed those of an average college graduate — even one in engineering or science for the first 22 years, and exceed such earnings by 20 percent thereafter."

The McNamara increase would cost the taxpayers $369 million annually. The pay raise proposed by the congressman from South Carolina would cost the taxpayers $825 million annually.

Not many who watched the by-play between McNamara and Rivers knew that almost every weekend the Air Force has trundled out an airplane at the MATS terminal in Washington for Congressman Rivers to fly back to Charleston, S.C., with another plane returning him to Washington Monday morning.

The Navy has been equally kind to the courtly South Carolinian. When he has suffered from one of his benders, the Navy has sent an ambulance to take him up to Bethesda Naval Hospital to dry out.

RIVERS IS A charming, delightful person when sober. He was one of the few southern sons to welcome Lady Bird Johnson on her southern political trip last October. However, as previously reported in this column in detail, he has disgraced himself on foreign junkets. And for proven periods he has had to hide out in private quarters while friends and doctors worked to sober him up.

Despite this, "seniority," which automatically promotes congressmen if they remain in office long enough, has elevated Rivers to the powerful position of chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

Note: Lyndon Johnson when in Congress was a member of the House Naval Affairs Committee, serving with Rivers; later ranked high on the Senate Armed Services Committee and on the Military Appropriations Subcommittee. In these positions he was a great champion of the armed services. Some critics today claim this is why he has followed a vigorous military policy in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic. As President, however, he has to balance pay increases for both the military and civilians.

clear strike against the Chinese mainland, first to knock out the Chinese nuclear laboratories, later Chinese industrial cities.

2. That we bomb Russian Ilyushin bombers recently spotted in North Viet Nam. The Air Force believes Russia sent them to test American reaction, therefore has recommended that they be blasted immediately.

Pentagon sources leaked the presence of the Ilyushin bombers to Pentagon-oriented newsmen when the President did not act immediately on the Air Force recommendation.

ILYUSHIN bombers have been present in Cuba for two years, but the United States has taken the position under both Kennedy and Johnson that they are defensive weapons, actually considered obsolete.

3. The Pentagon has recommended to LBJ that we bomb SAM anti-aircraft missile sites now being installed around Hanoi. We have not bombed similar SAM sites in Cuba, have considered them defensive and not dangerous.

President Johnson has asked for an intelligence estimate as to the Russian reaction if we bombed their missile sites around Hanoi. The estimate came back that the Russians would protest bitterly but would not retaliate militarily. The President is not sure, however, that this is correct.

These are some of the difficult, dangerous decisions the President is weighing at a time when anti-American leader Mikhail Suslov is becoming more powerful inside the Kremlin.

THE JOINT CHIEFS of Staff have been making secret recommendations to President Johnson regarding Viet Nam. Their recommendations worry the President regarding the possibility of all-out war.

WASHINGTON — At one time the direction of the Johnson administration seemed clear but it is complex now and the question can fairly be asked: Where are we going? Retardation In Children From PKU

By J. G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Will you explain the PKU disease?—B.G.W.

Gladly. "PKU" stands for phenylketonuria, or the presence of phenylalanine in the urine.

The danger lies in the fact that this means that the body is not using up the phenylalanine derived from food.

In about 1930 a Norwegian chemist discovered that some retarded children had this excess of phenylalanine. This discovery was one of the important steps in preventing retardation.

HERE IS THE picture. Phenylalanine is one of the amino acids, or "building blocks of the body," which we get from protein. It is essential. We have to have some. Yet when we do not properly use up this amino acid, and it accumulates in the body, it can do harm. Serious harm. It can damage the brain. And hence cause retardation.

This accumulation is the result of what is referred to as an "inborn error of metabolism." Some individuals are born with a defect in an enzyme which is vital in making use of that particular amino acid.

THE CHILD is born with normal intelligence, but as the phenylalanine builds up, the damage occurs. Once this has happened, it cannot be undone. (Even quite late in life, however, some improvement, but limited, can be brought about so far as simple activities are concerned, but such things as reasoning power and the more subtle mental processes cannot be restored.)

What, then, can be done? If the condition is discovered early in life, the child can be given a special diet which will include only small amounts of phenylalanine. The child then grows up without impairment of mental ability. It is, in short, one of the few types of mental retardation which we definitely know how to prevent!

THE BASIC point is to feed protein from which most of the phenylalanine has been removed. This can be done, and this type of protein food is available as a special preparation for such children.

Low-protein foods (fruits and vegetables) can be eaten in normal quantities, along with generous amounts of carbohydrates and modest amounts of cereals. Vitamins and iron are added.

The diet must be continued indefinitely. If it is stopped, then the phenylalanine will build up again, and can damage the brain.

Obviously, the important point is to discover this PKU condition very early in life, certainly in the first few months. How do you know when a baby has PKU?

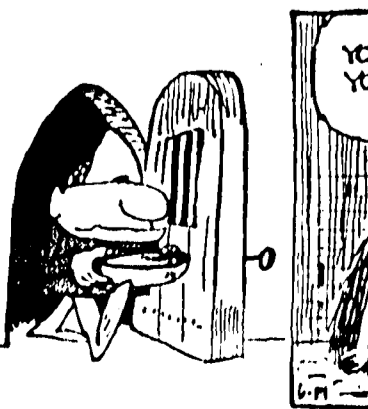

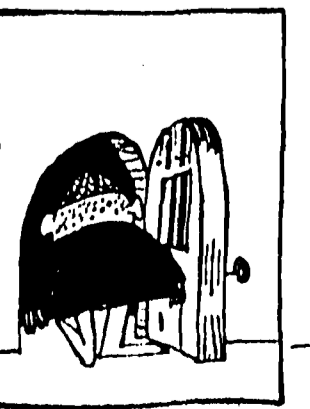

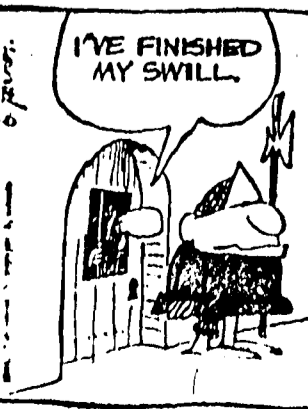

I'll discuss this tomorrow.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is there any way of removing the color from a brown mole, like a freckle cream? — MISS F. B.

No. But removal of the mole is only an office procedure.

The Way Grows Much Brighter

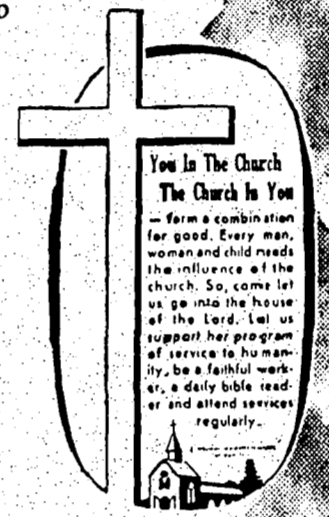

When God Gives Us Our Marching Orders

King of Kings

And there is no finer name for the Great Teacher. He speaks and His words come with authority. There is no court to refer His words for judgement... for He is the judgement. He has blessed mankind so richly that we have sought other words to do Him honor; the Great Physician, Shepherd of Souls and Lord of Life. But Handel's Messiah keeps ringing in our ears... "King of Kings and Lord of Lords. And He shall reign forever and ever." Isaiah looked forward to the coming of this "Wonderful Counselor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace."

The artist has done us a service in the picture. Christ is destined to reign over His people, over His church, over His world. His throne was a cross spelling sacrifice. His vehicle is the church and His army a company of devout followers. His dominion is within the hearts of men and His forces are Truth, and Goodness and Love. He will triumph through our loyalty and devotion. They stop where you are! Is He reigning in your heart? He is looking to His church, imperfect as it may be, to bring in His Kingdom and to save the world. Won't you join His army, His church today... for He is the King of Kings.

Early Trinity Records Missing

By P. N. NARVESON

SPRING GROVE, Minn. — Trinity Lutheran Congregation of Spring Grove was organized in 1855.

While no official records are available previous to 1857, it is believed the congregation was organized June 20, 1855, at the home of Knud Knudson Kieland and its charter members were settlers from Spring Grove, Wilmington, Black Hammer and Newburn townships.

THE HISTORY OF the congregation begins soon after the arrival of the first settlers in 1852 when the spiritual needs of the settlers were ministered to by occasional visits of traveling and exploring missionaries, lay preachers, colporteurs for the American Bible Society and circuit riders of the Methodist church.

As early as 1851 the Spring Grove area was included in the missionary field of the Rev. Bils Brandt, who had been appointed by the Norwegian Synod to visit all the Norwegian settlements west of the Mississippi, but as his missionary field was so large it was not before 1855 that he was able to conduct meetings in Spring Grove Township.

The first ordained pastor of the Norwegian Synod to conduct meetings in Spring Grove was the Rev. V. Koren, who in 1853, had been called to serve the Little Iowa congregation, later Washington Prairie southeast of Decorah. His missionary field was six counties in Iowa and two in Minnesota. As Spring Grove was in this area, his register shows he conducted his first meeting near Spring Grove Feb. 9, 1854.

As most of the settlers around Spring Grove were Norwegians, the settlement was referred to as Norwegian Ridge. When the congregation was organized it was given the name of "Norwegian Evangelical Church of Norwegian Ridge."

AT A CONVENTION of the Norwegian Synod held at Spring Prairie, Wis., in October 1855, the Norwegian Ridge congregation was accepted as a member of that church body.

Although a pastor had as yet not been secured, the congregation purchased 60 acres of land about a mile west of the village as a "praestea gaard" (parsonage). On this they built a log house, which was ready for occupancy when the first pastor, the Rev. F. C. Clausen, arrived in the fall of 1857.

That year the congregation went into parish relationship with the Big Canoe congregation on this side of Decorah and jointly issued a call to Fritz Christian Clausen, a theological candidate from Norway. He accepted the call, was ordained, came to America, and began his duties Nov. 28, 1857.

Rev. Clausen's field of labor went far beyond the congregations he was called to serve. From his day register we find that his labors took him north of the Root River and into Winona County, east of the Mississippi to Coon Valley, Wis., south into Wineshiek County, to western Fillmore County. The partnership with Big Canoe was dissolved in 1861.

Rev. Clausen's health was never robust. By 1868 it began to fail and he died on Oct. 23, 1870.

PLANS TO BUILD a house of worship had been discussed ever since the congregation had been organized but no definite action was taken until Sept. 21, 1858, when the resolution to build was passed at a meeting held at the parsonage. The question of where to locate the church, a matter of much controversy, was left to be decided later.

There seems to have been two main obstacles that delayed the building of the church. The first was the question of raising money, due to the money panic of 1857, with the hard times which followed.

This problem was solved when Hans Nielsen Myrah, one of the charter members of the congregation, took the lead in locating and building, doing most of the work, furnishing the material, and afterwards getting his money back in installments as the congregation was able to pay.

The second problem was selection of a site. Land for a cemetery had been donated in Section 10 by Haakon Narveson, who also offered land for the church. The offer was rejected by many of the members who favored a site within the village.

AS CHURCH records fail to show that any official action was ever taken to acquire a site, it appears that actual construction was started on land belonging to Gulbrand Myrah by a few who wanted the church within the village. Actual work was started in 1860. By Sept. 27, 1862, work had progressed so a meeting was held in the new building. It was not completed until 1868. It was dedicated Nov. 4 that year. The building was constructed of stone and was described in church papers at that time as the most beautiful church in the Norwegian Synod.

An incident that occurred in the stone church, which was not soon forgotten by those present, was the panic of June 6, 1875. Soon after the building was completed a flaw developed in one of the walls. It had been found necessary to support the sagging wall with heavy timbers. This naturally caused much uneasiness and apprehension among the worshippers on the probability that the wall would at some time topple over and the whole church collapse.

On June 6, 1875, a large crowd gathered for a confirmation service and the building was filled to the last pew. To provide more seating, planks had been set up in both the gallery and aisles.

A few minutes before the service was to begin one of the planks broke with a loud ripping sound. The people, fearing that the sagging wall was beginning to crumble, started in wild disorder for the door.

Panic followed. People were trampled under foot. Others were cut by splintered glass as they scrambled out through the windows. Some who had managed to get out were gazing skyward, at the steeple and shouting, "It is falling!" In their excitement, the familiar illusion of a high object appearing to move when viewed against a swiftly moving cloud made them believe that the steeple was actually coming down.

Several people were injured and required medical attention. Two women from Riceford were seriously hurt, one of whom never fully recovered from her injuries.

THE PANIC ALSO had its humorous side. The "Klokker," the person who in earlier years led the singing and in other ways assisted the pastor in the services, in his excitement tried to save as many hats as possible by throwing them out through the windows. Several suffering from shock had to be sent to a shot of whiskey. It has also been told that a few men who had suffered extreme shock did not fully recover until they had spent the afternoon in a tavern in a neighboring village.

As the membership in the congregation was steadily growing, it soon became evident that a larger church would have to be built. By 1870 the old church could not house the crowds that gathered on festive occasions. By 1875 plans for a new church had progressed so that a building committee had been elected to take charge of quarrying stone and burning of lime and bricks. The contract for building was let March 6, 1876. By the end of the year the basement had been completed and work on the main building started.

IT WAS OF Gothic design and built in the conventional "Cross Church" style. It had a seating capacity of 950 and an imposing spire 145 feet high. After this building was completed the old stone church was razed. The new church was dedicated on June 11, 1877, but was not destined to stand long for on April 3, 1883, it was burned.

The congregation took immediate steps to restore the church. The new one varied little from the old. The same foundation and parts of the old brick walls were utilized. The new church had a smaller seating capacity as the side galleries were left out and it had a lower steeple. It was dedicated Dec. 7, 1883.

After the death of Rev. Clausen, a call was sent to Rev. Stryk Reque, then serving as pastor at Roche a Cre, Wis. He accepted and was installed Sept. 28, 1871, and remained in charge until his death in 1910. During his pastorate the congregation increased from 200 families to 500. When Rev. Reque took charge the Spring Grove congregation extended over the greater part of southwestern Houston County and a part of Fillmore County, including many communities that later organized parishes of their own.

By the middle of the 1870s it became apparent that the charge was too large for one man to serve. In 1876 Rev. Reier Larson of Red Wing was called as assistant pastor. His service was short, for two years later he succumbed to tuberculosis.

AFTER HIS DEATH, the Rev. Eskild Jensen from Halby Jylland, Denmark, was called as assistant. He served until 1885, when the Spring Grove charge was divided and he went to a regular pastorate, including Newburg, Riceford and Black Hammer, originally part of the Spring Grove congregation.

Next to serve as assistant during Rev. Reque's pastorate was Rev. Hans Wein. He remained until 1908, when the Caledonia and Wilmington area was set off from the Spring Grove charge and he became regular pastor for these new congregations.

After the death of Rev. Reque, the Rev. A. O. Johnson was called. He accepted and was installed Dec. 10, 1910. Of the many important events during his pastorate was the opening of a parochial school in 1924. He was also influential in starting a church auxiliary for the young folks in the community, Women's Missionary Federation, choir and concert band. In 1932 his health began to fail and he died March 7, 1933.

During Rev. Johnson's illness the need for an assistant was seen and a resolution was passed by the congregation to hire parochial teachers qualified to carry on pastoral duties as necessary and time permitted. In 1932 the Rev. Oscar Mikkelsen was named assistant and placed in charge of the religious training department. After the death of Rev. Johnson Rev. Mikkelsen accepted a call to serve as pastor and was installed Aug. 6, 1933.

IN 1942 REV. Mikkelsen was given a leave of absence to serve as chaplain in the U. S. Army, where he stayed to the end of the war. During his absence the Rev. Henry Solym was called and remained until his death Jan. 5, 1946.

After Rev. Mikkelsen was installed as regular pastor, Leander Brekke, a graduate from the seminary, came to take up work in the religious training department, the position left vacant when Rev. Mikkelsen became pastor. To perform such pastoral duties as he might be called to do, Mr. Brekke was, in 1934, ordained and installed as assistant to Rev. Mikkelsen, a position he held until 1936.

From 1949 to 1954 the Rev. Einar Borg-Breen, former missionary to Chengyang, Honan Province, China, and later pastor at Black Hammer, Riceford and Newburg served as an assistant to Rev. Mikkelsen until 1954, when he was succeeded by the Rev. Walter Amoth who remained until 1958.

IN 1952 REV. Mikkelsen resigned and the Rev. Oscar Ingebretson, then serving at Washington Prairie, accepted the call, but as he had been chosen as one of the delegates of the Evangelical Lutheran Church to the meeting of the Lutheran World Federation in Hanover, Germany, during the summer of 1952, it was not possible for him to come until October. The congregation, therefore, called Pastor G. E. Mundt, who served as interim until Rev. Ingebretson was installed Oct. 5, 1952.

The present pastor is Rev. Rolf G. Hanson. He was called to Spring Grove when Rev. Ingebretson resigned in 1957 to become an evangelist in the American Lutheran Church. Rev. Hanson was born in Stephen and attended school in Stephen, Bemidji, St. Paul and the State College at Brookings, S. D. He then entered Luther Theological Seminary, St. Paul. After graduation he was ordained and served congregations at Grand Marais and Hawre, Mont., before his call to Spring Grove. Here he was installed Feb. 17, 1958.

THE PRESENT assistant at Spring Grove is Almore Matheson, who is also at the head of the religious training department and directs the choir.

Trinity Lutheran is one of the oldest congregations in the state. It now has a membership of about 2,200, of which about 1,600 are confirmed, and it is one of the largest Lutheran parishes in Southeastern Minnesota.

FARM

Elderly May Be Eligible for Building Loans

ROCHESTER, Minn. — Elderly people who live in rural areas need not give up the idea of building, buying or repairing their homes on credit, said A. G. Groen, Farmers Home Administration county supervisor, serving Olmsted and Winona counties.

Mr. Groen said that citizens who are 62-years-old and over living in a rural community of 2,500 or less, may be eligible for a 33-year loan bearing 4 percent interest, to buy an older home or build a new one.

THE FIA supervisor said elderly residents also may be eligible for smaller loans for home repairs.

He pointed out the increasing demand in small towns for rental units designed to meet the housing needs of older folks.

The Farmers Home Administration can loan direct funds to nonprofit organizations for construction of senior citizen rental housing units designed for independent living. Funds also may be provided by private investors with the FIA guaranteeing repayment.

The Farmers Home Administration has advanced $5,586,876 to senior citizens for construction, buying and repairing of individual homes in this fiscal year, through April 30. The total loaned is up 17 percent over a similar period the last fiscal year.

“THE FARMERS Home Administration’s senior citizen housing loan program offers citizens, 62-years-old and older, an opportunity to have housing suited to their needs in the community in which they have spent their working years,” Mr. Groen said. “This program also stimulates the local economy by providing jobs for workers engaged in the construction industry and customers for local trades and services.”

In 1962 Congress authorized the Farmers Home Administration to make direct loans and insured loans to individuals and corporations to finance rental housing for the elderly.

FHA direct loans for senior citizens rental housing in rural communities bear 3.75 percent interest, with up to 50 years for repayment. But loans insured by the agency for rental housing currently bear 5.75 percent interest. Borrowers have up to 40 years to repay.

Additional information about the senior citizen rural housing loan program is available at the Farmers Home Administration office, 1220-4th Ave., S.W., Rochester.

Houston County Water Samplings Top Safe Margin

CALEDONIA, Minn. — Forty-three Houston County residents had samplings of well water analyzed last year and it was found that about every fourth sample was high in nitrates and even a greater number of samples exceeded the “safe” bacteria count, according to a report from the county extension agents.

“Because of the high percentage of well water samplings showing high nitrate and bacteria counts, the county extension service will set up a water testing program to assist county people interested in having their well water analyzed,” Russ Krech, Houston County agent, said.

Sterilized water sample bottles and instructions on how to secure a representative true sample from the well are available at the Houston County Extension Office, located in the post office building here.

The agents pointed out that this is a voluntary program and individual sampling reports will not be published.

“A private laboratory will analyze samples and a $5 fee, per sample, is to be paid for a nitrate-bacteria analysis. There are other chemical tests available, too, on well water samples and a complete fee schedule is available,” Krech said.

Persons noticing unusual color, odor or taste in their well water are urged to consider this opportunity to get their wells checked at this reduced rate.

Variety of Plant Materials Failed To Survive Winter

MADISON, Wis. — Many Wisconsin home owners are faced this spring with the task of replacing a great variety of plant materials that failed to survive the winter. This situation is due to a variety of conditions, none of them the fault of the nurseryman who may have sold the plants to them, the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture’s plant industry division suggests.

Particularly hard hit were ornamental shrubs and perennials that under ordinary circumstances come through Wisconsin winters without trouble.

Winterkilling, as it is commonly referred to, may result from a combination of factors. These include a prolonged drought during the previous season, failure of plants to harden off before going into the winter, extremes of temperatures, ice sheets and alternate freezing and thawing. The winter of 1964 and the months preceding it had all of these elements.

Home owners who are considering the possibility of making claims on their nurseryman for replacement of damaged stock should consider these factors, the department states.

Nurserymen will replace stock that is injured under ordinary circumstances but the extreme winter is not their liability.

The department said that among the many kinds of plants injured as the result of weather conditions were alfalfa, strawberries, roses, mums, Norway maple and honey locust trees, many evergreens and such shrubs as red osier dogwood, ordinarily a hardy plant.

Facts on Soil Districts Given By Caledonian

CALEDONIA, Minn. — Clarence Eikens, district supervisor of the Soil Conservation Service here, gives some facts about soil conservation districts.

A soil conservation district is for the agriculture land within its boundaries. The local conservation district is composed of all land in Houston County, including all villages and tracts of land under three acres in size.

The district supervisors, of which there are five, all farmers and neighbors, have the responsibility of getting good sound conservation on the land. This responsibility was assigned to districts by an enactment of a state law passed in 1967.

Supervisors set policies within the district and set up priorities of work for the SCS technicians assisting the district. The supervisors also must see that there are education activities to inform the public of ways to do conservation work and to let persons know what the district has done.

Regular public monthly meetings of the district board are held each fourth Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the SCS office here.

Other district supervisors are: Edward Albrecht, La Crescent; Arnold Onstad, Spring Grove; F. Kenneth Olson, Rushford; and Adolph Heimerdinger, Caledonia.

Blair FFA Fishing Party Returns Home

BLAIR, Wis. (Special) — Twenty-one members of the Blair, Future Farmers of America’s fishing party returned Saturday from Canada with 128 walleyed pike and 50 Northern pike.

David Schaefer, vocational agriculture instructor, reported that the weather was ideal during most of their stay on Pickereel Lake in the Quetico Provincial Park, Ontario.

Other adults accompanying the group were Donald Jacobson, supervisor of the district, Rudolph Anderson, Norman Anderson, Clifford Melby, Carroll Thorpe and Ray Nering, all of Blair, and Ben Erickson, Pierson Falls, Wis.

Aerial Photocopies Required in Feed Grain Compliance

LEWISTON, Minn. — Farmers who are coming to the ASCS office to certify compliance in the Feed Grain program and who have not had measurement service, are reminded that they are to bring their aerial photocopies of their farms with them when they come to the office, John F. Papefuss, chairman of the Winona ASCS County Committee, said.

These photocopies are letter sized and were mailed out to all farms not having measurement service earlier this spring. On these photocopies, the farmer writes his estimate of acreage in each field devoted to feed grains and diverted acres, or wheat, if he is in the wheat program. Time will not permit the measuring of fields from the aerial photograph when the farmer comes to the county office to certify, Papefuss said.

When the farmer is prepared, certification can be done quite quickly and he can again be on his way without much waiting.

Certification is also necessary for the farmers who have measurement service. They need sign only the application and the acreage report.

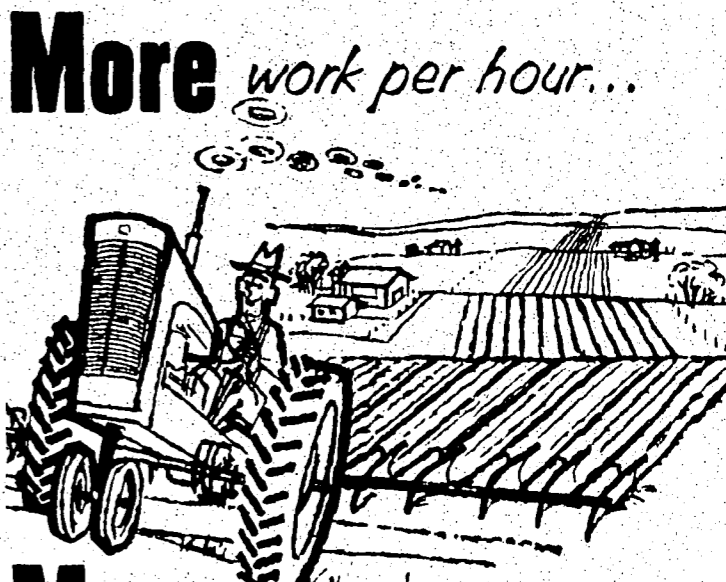

The final dates for certification was June 9, for those in the wheat program who are growing wheat this year, and for those in the feed grain program who are growing barley. For the rest, the final date is July 9. Later in the summer spot checks will be made on a percentage of all farms in the programs, the chairman said.

Specialization In Dairying Poses Problems

WABASHA, Minn. — Although Minnesota dairying is shifting to fewer and larger herds, dairying specialization on a one-man farm may have some real limitations, according to a recent study at the University of Minnesota.

This study indicates that specialization, increasing the percent of gross income from the dairy enterprise, can reduce both the maximum level of gross income potential and the returns to the operators labor and management, said Matt Metz, county agricultural agent.

The predictable effects of specialization were analyzed using a representative one-man dairying farm equipped with a milking parlor and loose housing.

Two levels of specialization were well studied, where the dairy enterprise produces 60 percent and where it produces 85 percent of total gross income. Increasing this proportion also means increasing the dairy herd size in relationship to the total farm organization. Costs and returns under both situations were compared.

It was found that costs per $1 of gross income are higher for all levels of gross income on the specialized dairy farm than on the less specialized one. For example, with gross income at $22,000 per year, the cost is about 88 cents on the less specialized farm and about 93 cents on the more specialized farm.

With the labor supply limited, the potential level of gross income is lower for the more specialized dairy farm — $22,000, as compared with a possible $30,000 gross on the less specialized farm.

About 700 4-H members from Minnesota will attend workshops, get acquainted with 4-H'ers from other counties and participate in numerous other activities.

970 Acres of Fillmore Contour Stripping Set

PRESTON, Minn. — Thirty-one Fillmore County soil conservation district cooperators established 970 acres of contour strip cropping this spring that will keep at least 5,000 tons of top soil on the land and will not be a part of clogging streams and rivers, reports Arnold G. Aakre, Fillmore County conservationist.

A number of "up and down hill" farmers this spring lost seven to 15 tons and more of topsoil per acre from spring rains that would have been saved by contour strips and terraces. Filling in the ditches will not bring back the lost soil, says Aakre.

Ole Anderson, Whalan, completed his terraces this spring in time for planting soybeans. He also established waterway outlets to carry the runoff from the terraces.

Roger Bacon, Mabel, installed a stock watering pond with plastic lining. Sealing with plastic is required on all stock ponds where soil types are not favorable for holding water.

Richard McCabe, Harmony, has completed a 5,900 cubic yard fill detention type dam. This type of structure protects land below, gully control above and also can be used for water.

Two large waterways involving 6,100 cubic yards of earth moving has been established this spring on the Dale Sikkink farm, Preston, and Harold Osland farm, LeRoy. Waterways are designed to a size and shape that will carry the surface runoff safely from any given drainage area. Where erosion is a problem, waterways will silt in and cause ditches. Contour strip cropping or terraces protect these slopes and hold the soil in place.

Nails in Board In New Painting

CLAREMONT, Calif. (AP) — When artist Adolph A. Garza decided upon a new style he really hit the nail on the head.

Hammering various nails into a board, he created a base relief portrait without using oils.

"It took me a long time to locate nails with the right kind of heads," said Garza, 28. "Interesting nails are just hard to find."

It took him a week to pound out the portrait, using finishing nails for detail, roofing nails to fill areas of shadow, and aluminum nails to build up highlights of brilliance.

Garza said he got the idea when he noticed the setting sun glinting on rusty nails in a weatherbeaten board.

Some Notes on the Peony and Iris Show

A flower show is not only a display of Nature's most lavish gifts at the shrine of beauty, but, also, has an educational appeal that is intriguing in itself.

This was evident at the tenth annual Peony and Iris Show staged by the Winona Flower and Garden Club under the sponsorship of the Merchants National Bank last Saturday. The lobby was replete with many outstanding specimen blooms of both peonies and irises, together with varied floral arrangements of artistic design and pleasing symmetry stressing many garden flowers in their composition.

As we watched the large number of visitors pass through the show to view the exhibits, it was pleasing to see how they lingered before the displays admiring the specimen blooms, or absorbed in the artistry and attractiveness of the compositions. Favorable comments on the beauty of the show were heard on every hand.

Regardless of the lateness of the spring season and unfavorable weather conditions, the show was very outstanding from the large list of entries, numbering 228 exhibits. Only in 1964 when the entries totaled 250 has this number been exceeded.

THE CONDITION of some of the specimen blooms did not appear to be in as good condition as in some former years. This was probably due to the unfavorable weather conditions and to the fact that some of the specimens were necessarily cut during the last stages of their flowering period. It has been very noticeable at previous shows that the exhibitors are becoming more proficient in the conditioning of their entries.

The irises outnumbered the peonies considerably more than two to one. The largest number of entries in any one iris class was in the bi-colors where 14 specimen stalks were displayed. The violet, or purple, class was a close second with 13 entries. The exhibits in the class for the orchid pinks numbered 10, for the shell pinks 4, and for the light blues 7. This would seem to indicate that the irises in the darker colors are the favorites of the growers of these beautiful flowers. Yet, in the 1963 show there were a total of 26 specimens exhibited in the orchid and shell pink classes.

Of course, the weather conditions have a lot to do with the blooming period of the various varieties.

THE WHITE irises seem to be coming to the front more and more each year and there were 7 beautiful specimens at the show. The hybridizers are now producing more excellent whites of good substance and this is probably one reason for their increased popularity.

The plicatas seem to be appearing in greater numbers and 8 specimens of various varieties were on display. Prior to 1963, the only plicatas usually seen on the show tables were a few specimens of the old varieties.

Among the peonies, the doubles outnumbered the singles as usual. As to color, the pinks were much more in evidence than the whites and reds. This was due, of course, to the fact that the later varieties were still in tight bud.

Weather Hinders Spring Seeding

ST. PAUL, Minn. — Wet weather continued to hinder seeding operations and field work in most areas during last week, reported the U.S. Department of Agriculture, cooperating with the Agricultural Extension Service at the University of Minnesota.

Reasonably good progress was made in the southwestern quarter of the state during midweek. Scattered rains later in the week halted field work in most all areas. Seeding of spring grains in the Red River Valley continues behind schedule and seeding is apt to continue in this area for several weeks. Crops that have been planted are growing well except in low places where water is standing.

Frost which occurred in late May damaged emerged corn, soybeans and sweet corn in some of the southern counties but damage to crops in the Red River Valley was reported as negligible. Warm sunny weather is needed in all areas to encourage healthy growth and permit cultivation. Weeds are getting a good start in many corn and soybean fields. Erosion has been heavy in some freshly plowed fields. Moisture supply is adequate to surplus in all areas.

Planting of corn and soybeans continues to lag behind schedule. As of Saturday only 75 percent of the corn and 45 percent of the soybeans had been planted. Normally on this date about 86 percent of the corn and 68 percent of the soybeans is planted.

Humphrey Pledges End to Jobs Discrimination

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey says the federal government is pledged to put an end to job discrimination.

"We'll walk that extra mile to achieve voluntary compliance," Humphrey told more than 800 business leaders at the Northwest Regional Plans for Progress Conference Thursday night. "But let everyone be assured of one thing: We intend for these standards to be observed and we intend to expand the opportunities for individuals in this country."

Humphrey said strides have been made and cited statistics from 100 companies. He said 27.9 per cent of the total increase in employment from 1963 to 1964 went to non-whites.

Powell's $41,014 Income Tax Penalty Settled for $27,834

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service says the government has agreed to settle its tax case against Rep. Adam C. Powell Jr., D-N.Y., for $27,834.

The IRS had demanded that he pay $41,014 for back income taxes, penalties and interest covering the years 1949 through 1955.

The reduction, the IRS said Wednesday, was because negligence penalties, which are 5 per cent of the tax owed, were substituted for fraud penalties,

Man Getting Degree After 25-Year Study

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A 56-year-old federal employe who attended the University of Minnesota for 25 years because he liked the courses and the students, "graduates Saturday with a degree in business."

John R. Schlaeppi of St. Paul attended night classes through the years because "at first, I took courses to help me with my work." He is an internal revenue bureau employe.

"It helped me in management, accounting, economics and statistics," Schlaeppi recalled. "Then, when the credits started piling up I saw I was close to getting a degree and I really went to work. Sometimes I took two courses at a time and I went two or three nights a week."

Schlaeppi's wife, Florence, became a teacher after attending Winona State College.

They have three sons. Richard, 17, will be graduated from high school tonight; James, 28, is a graduate of Harvard University and now is working on a master's degree; Gerald, 27, is a graduate of Macalester College, St. Paul.

which are 50 per cent, after a federal court in New York threw out tax evasion charges against Powell.

Here's Tips for Cutting Red Oak

CALEDONIA, Minn. — "With advances in forest management, it is being found that red oak, the main timber species in Houston County, should be clear cut when it is merchantable," reports Philip Vieth, Houston County district forester.

"Red oak must have direct sunlight to help it grow in order to reproduce thick enough to make a good stand of timber. If it does not have enough sunlight, the other less desirable trees will take over and crowd it out. The tract of land will be relatively valueless when this happens. Why let a stand of timber be valueless when red oak can be grown in place of hickory, aspen and birch by proper timber cutting?" asks Vieth.

"White oak and red oak seedlings are always present below an oak stand of timber. These seedlings die yearly because of a lack of direct sunlight. When the old stand is only partially cut, as is being practiced now, the valuable oaks do not get enough sunlight to grow but the undesirable trees do. The timber in Houston County is decreasing as a result.

"If two cuttings of merchantable trees are made, the first could be for the poorer trees and the small trees down to 2 to 4 inches in diameter. This cutting helps the remaining big trees yet will not open the stand to let the reproduction start growing. In the second cutting all trees are cut down whether they are used or not. Enough light then hits the ground to grow the oak trees in competition with the undesirables.

"If clear cutting practice is insisted upon and used in Houston, there will be more valuable timber in the future and as a result more returns will be realized."

Letter Writing Improves 3 Skills

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D. University of S. Calif.

Intermediate grade students talk better than they write, and tell stories better than they can read them!

That's fine, but school grades are based primarily on how well students read and express themselves in writing—not on how much they know or how fast they can talk.

Take, for example, the writing of stories. All at the same time, a child must come up with the necessary ideas, spell the words and carry on the process of writing them on paper.

Thus, schoolwork often demands a three-way concentration.

Until he gains sufficient skill, each of these three processes takes a child's complete attention. Only after much practice can he carry on with all at the same time as is demanded for success in school.

SUMMER IS an ideal time for the improvement of these skills. During vacation, mother has a wonderful opportunity to help her children catch up on them and, in fact, get a head start for the coming school year. She can provide practice not possible in a crowded classroom.

Injured Workman Leaving Hospital

ARKANSAW, Wis. (Special)—The Plum City contractor who fell off the top of a barn addition he was building Wednesday was to be discharged from St. Benedict's Community Hospital, Durand, this morning.

Coleman Black reported to have fallen 40 feet, was unconscious for about half an hour following the accident and received multiple contusions and bruises but no broken bones, according to X-rays. His six employees fell about 30 feet from the framework of the roof and are reportedly recovering satisfactorily from bruises and sprains at their home, including Charles Heath who received burns when becoming entangled in electrical wiring.

The men were building a 40-foot addition to the Kenneth Stafford barn about five miles south of Arkansaw. Two whirling winds struck the building and collapsed the framework.

North Central Wants To Bypass Appleton

MINNEAPOLIS — North Central Airlines announced Thursday it had asked to bypass Appleton until settlement of a court suit over where to land.

Bernard Sweet, airlines vice president, said North Central asked the Civil Aeronautics Board for permission to suspend Appleton service until a decision is made by the U.S. 7th Circuit Court of Appeals at Chicago.

Couple Caring For Baby Wins Court Hearing

ST. PAUL (AP) — A couple who care for a baby girl in their home for 18 months in expectation they could adopt her have a right to be heard in court before the child is taken from them.

The Minnesota Supreme Court made that ruling today in a case involving the efforts of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Fleming of Good Thunder to adopt the child, Barbara.

The girl was placed in their home March 12, 1963, by the State Department of Public Welfare under an agreement that they would be permitted to adopt her after a supervisory period. The child was a ward of the state.

On Nov. 15, 1964, the Flemings were informed by her guardian, Morris Hursh, state commissioner of public welfare, that the child was to be removed from their home.

"There is nothing in the record to show why she was to be removed," said the supreme court in a decision written by Commissioner Frank Gallagher.

On Nov. 17 the Flemings filed a petition in Blue Earth County Juvenile Court to adopt the child. Hursh said he would refuse his consent and asked that the petition be dismissed. The case was referred to the supreme court, which held that the juvenile court has "jurisdiction to consider the question in the best interests of the child."

The court added that the Flemings "should have at least the right to be heard in court on the matter of whether the commissioner's proposed removal and his refusal to consent to her adoption was really in the best interests of the child."

State Wants To Take Over Insurance Co.

ST. PAUL — The Minnesota insurance commissioner has asked the courts for permission to take over American Allied Insurance Co., of St. Paul on the grounds that the company is "insolvent and cannot be rehabilitated."

Cyrus E. Magnusson alleged in a petition filed in Ramsey County District Court Thursday the company has a deficit of nearly $12.5 million. He said it is "in such condition that further transaction of its business will be hazardous to its policy holders, its creditors and to the public."

The petition, filed by the state attorney general's office in Magnusson's behalf, asked an injunction restraining the insurer of high-risk drivers from proceeding in business in Minnesota.

It also asked that the court appoint a receiver and "to take such action as is necessary to liquidate" the company.

The court ordered representatives of American Allied to appear, Monday, to answer Magnusson's allegations or show cause why the injunction should be granted.

Monday also was set for hearing of a motion American Allied filed Wednesday, asking that Magnusson's examiners be ordered to stop their investigation of the company. American Allied contended that it was "being oppressed" and that the investigation has resulted in a financial loss.

The state insurance department's investigation of American Allied was started about two months ago.

American Allied's principal officers were listed as Phillip Kitzer Sr., Phillip Kitzer Jr., and Joseph Kitzer. The company was organized in Minnesota June 3, 1963 and started business three weeks later.

Gripes on Pipes Pelt Commissioners

By FRANK R. UHLIG Daily News Staff Writer

It was a day for reviewing troubles at Thursday's meeting of the Board of Municipal Works.

Slings and arrows were hurled in from all directions for a whole clutch of reasons.

Rate housewives in the eastern half of the city are demanding that something be done about rusty water, said board chairman C. J. Borzyskowski.

An organized telephone campaign seems to be under way, he said. True enough, agreed Chester Lukaszewski, who said he had even been called out of church to listen to a complaint.

New Trial Ordered in Traffic Death

The Minnesota Supreme Court today ordered a new trial in a case involving a fatal traffic accident, ruling that the trial judge in Olmsted County District Court had erred in his instructions to the jury.

The verdict jury brought in a $15,000 trial verdict against Carol Belas, Minneapolis, the driver of a car which struck and killed Rosalind Staloch, 16, Eyota, near her home Nov. 8, 1959. This verdict was overturned, and a new trial ordered.

THE COURT specifically held that the trial judge erred in instructing the jury that it could consider a Minnesota statute requiring motorists to yield the right of way to pedestrians in crosswalks. The evidence did not establish that the dead girl had been in a crosswalk at the time of the accident, according to the Supreme Court.

Miss Staloch was killed as she walked across a highway near its intersection with a county road after being discharged from a school bus. The bus was headed west on the highway and had stopped at its north edge.

The girl had nearly crossed to the south side of the road when struck by an eastbound car driven by Miss Belas.

THE SUPREME Court further held that the jury had exhibited obvious confusion as to the legal meaning of the term "proximate cause" even after several explanations by the trial judge.

The trial judge should not have allowed this possible misleading of the jury as to the meaning of that important legal term, the high court ruled.

Big Highways Much Safer

CHICAGO (AP) — "Now this is a long trip so play it safe: drive on divided highways where the traffic is heavy."

As odd as this advice may seem, it is sound. Statistics show that despite heavy travel, divided highways, such as turnpikes, parkways and interstate highways, have a much lower fatality rate than older highways.

During the three-day Memorial Day holiday period this year, in which a record 474 persons died in traffic crashes, divided highways were the safest auto routes.

An Associated Press survey indicated today that 12 deaths occurred on such roads in this period. And year-long traffic records show the same results.

National Safety Council records show the fatality rate on turnpikes and interstate highways is less than half the national average and less than one-third the rural mileage death rate.

One key reason is that head-on collisions are extremely rare on divided highways, separated by land or by ditches, earthen mounds or tough steel or concrete barriers.

Head-on collisions took 7,361 lives in the United States last year, accounting for 15.4 per cent of the 47,800 traffic fatalities.

A motorist in Kansas and another in Michigan were killed during the Memorial Day holiday period after their cars crossed a grass median of the divided highways and collided with oncoming vehicles.

Steel barriers between divided highways are designed to prevent such accidents, but the barriers figured in two of the holiday deaths.

An Ohio woman was killed near Harrisburg, Pa., as the car in which she was riding struck the steel median barrier on the Pennsylvania Turnpike. An Ohio man was killed on Interstate 71 in Columbus when his car hit a steel-tender guard rail and careened into a utility pole.

The other causes of deaths on divided highways during the holiday included striking a bridge rail, ramming into a parked car, skidding into a ditch, hitting a light pole and running off the road.

Early turnpike operations in the United States were marred by head-on collisions caused by cars crossing into oncoming lanes. However, remedial steps are paying off.

During the first seven years of the New Jersey Turnpike, from 1952 to 1958, 48 of the 158 fatal accidents were caused by cars crossing over the unprotected median strip.

There has been one cross-median fatality since installation of a steel guard rail in 1961.

The Pennsylvania Turnpike is installing a steel divider along its entire 470-mile, four-lane length.

Numerous other expressways are installing or have installed steel dividers.

Rain in Dry Areas Boosts Wheat Outlook

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Agriculture Department reports that rains during the month of May in critically dry Great Plains areas boosted the 1965 wheat crop prospects to within 1 per cent of last year's above average production.

The department's June 1 estimate, released Thursday, was 1,283 billion bushels, or about 7 million less than last year.

The figures indicate that production is 8 per cent above the 1959-63 average of 1.190 billion bushels. A crop of this size would be about 50 million bushels under expected domestic and export demands. However, reserve and surplus supplies of about 900 million bushels are on hand.

The estimate was the first of the year for the full crop. Winter wheat was put at 1,017 billion bushels, compared with 978 million forecast a month ago and with last year's harvest of 1,025 billion.

The spring wheat estimate of 266 million bushels compared with a rough forecast of 261 million made previously on the basis of a March survey of farmers' planting intentions. Spring wheat last year totaled 266 million, compared with 223 million for the average crop.

Wheat was the only major crop for which a production estimate was made. The department said spring farm work would continue to lag in the northern Plains area or where cool weather and wet soils prevail.

But May weather permitted farmers to catch up on crop work in most other parts of the nation. The department said hay and pasture crops improved in the North Central States but declined in dry areas along the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts. The acreage of winter wheat harvested and production, respectively, includes: South Dakota 476,000 acres, 19 bushels per acre and 9,044,000 bushels for harvest.

Spring wheat: Minnesota 22,558,000 bushels for harvest; North Dakota 151,966,000; South Dakota 266,288,000.

Young Banker Whips Robber

GRAND SALINE, Tex. (AP) — A quick young banker soundly whipped a husky, gun-waving ex-convict Thursday during an attempt to rob Grand Saline's First National Bank. One wild shot was fired.

"When I heard the gun drop to the floor," said W. L. Garland III, "I was able to hit him. I hit him several times. I really got in one good one. It took the hide off his nose."

It also put William Pippin, 33, whose police record dates to 1955 in Rawlins, Wyo., back behind bars.

Garland, 28, held Pippin until police arrived at this East Texas salt mining town's only bank, and the downcast gunman said: "Well, fellows, I'm sorry—but it's all over now."

With drawn pistol, Pippin shoved past Garland, a vice president of the bank, at a side door after closing time. Also present were W. L. Garland Jr., president of the bank and father of the young executive; four women employees and three tellers. Directors of the bank were due to meet shortly.

"I don't see how the shot missed all of us," said the elder Garland.

His son had answered a knock and cracked the door to hear Pippin inquire if the bank held a telegraphed money order for him. The younger Garland turned to relay the question to a teller and the intruder crowded inside.

"That gun looked like it might weigh 25 pounds," the vice president related. "But I caught his gun arm, we wrestled around and the gun went off."

As they struggled for the weapon, a man named by officers as an accomplice of Pippin fled in a white station wagon. He was arrested later near Dallas, where Sheriff Bill Decker identified him as Richard Rusk, 24, a parolee.

Change in Cattle Selling Trend Noted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Department livestock experts said today some cattlemen may be "getting greedy" in efforts to capitalize on this year's recovery in beef prices.

What many feeders are doing, these officials said, is to feed slaughter animals to higher weights — a development which adds tonnage without increasing the number of animals killed.

Maintenance of the present favorable market margin situation depends, they said, on continuing the marketing of slaughter animals at the lighter weights that marked sales during the first four months of the year.

Last week the average slaughter weight of cattle was 1,050 pounds. The April average was 1,007 pounds and the average for the first four months of the year was 1,016.

A year ago, when cattle prices were very low, slaughter weights were running above 1,050 pounds. This heavy average weight contributed to a big meat supply which, accompanied by big imports, cut domestic cattle prices.

No serious price difficulties are foreseen by the department if slaughter weights level off at the present average. But once weights tend to go higher in response to improved prices, it is not long until the beef supply is increased to a point where prices tend to reverse themselves.

The committee has heard testimony that the company got its servicemen customers to sign blank powers of attorney, added charges the borrowers did not know about and otherwise took advantage of service personnel.

Nixon said the "changed characters" of the partners in the European alliance made a reorganization of NATO essential "in terms of relatively equal partners."

"We need to set up new machinery which recognizes the new status of the partners," he added.

Nixon told his news conference that some sort of congressional declaration in support of President Johnson's policies in Viet Nam "might be useful" but he didn't think a declaration of war would serve any good purpose at this time.

Republicans are more united in their support of our policies in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic than are Democrats, Nixon told the GOP dinner audience of more than 2,200 partygoers. But he said the party lacks the strength in Congress to provide the kind of opposition to bring out the best in the administration.

"Today, we have in effect a one-party government," Nixon said. "America needs a strong second party, and if we become a strong second party in 1966 we can become the strong first party in 1968."

Boston-to-Milwaukee-to-Atlanta Double Play Thwarted

MILWAUKEE — The Boston-to-Milwaukee-to-Atlanta Braves have met another rebuff in efforts for early completion of baseball's longest double play.

County Executive John Doyle, highest elected official in Milwaukee County, answered a cash-laden appeal by the Braves management to move south for the rest of the summer by wiring hopes that the club would still be here in October for the World Series.

Doyle did not expressly refuse the $500,000 cash offer dangled by Braves board chairman William Bartholomay; but told him in a telegram Thursday that he agreed the club was an aggressive, exciting pennant contender and added: "I speaking for myself alone, as county executive of the county of Milwaukee, and for many loyal baseball fans in Milwaukee and Wisconsin, am looking forward to seeing the 1965 World Series played here in Milwaukee County Stadium."

Doyle has veto power over any action by the Milwaukee County Board, which is slated to consider the action next Wednesday. County Board Chairman Eugene Grobbschmidt offered his reaction to the Braves' request earlier: "To hell with 'em."

The ball club, which sought to move to Atlanta this season, was ordered by the courts and the National League to fulfill its contract to play all 1965 home games in County Stadium.

Bartholomay's wired Doyle, Grobbschmidt and Teams, Inc., with his $500,000 offer Wednesday for permission to move after July 10 instead of waiting until next year.

Teams, Inc., a group of businessmen seeking another baseball franchise, was offered $100,000 and the county $400,000. The organization said Thursday, "We fail to see how the acceptance of this offer would contribute to the achievement of Teams, Inc.'s primary objective of permanently retaining major league baseball in Milwaukee."

King and His Court Challenge Winona All-Stars Next Friday

Phenomenal softball pitcher Eddie Feigner, by his own admission the greatest in the world (and he has the records to prove it), will bring his four-man softball team to Winona next Friday for a game against the Winona All-Stars.

The King and His Court will appear at Gabrych Park at 7:30 p.m. to play a regular nine-member team composed of local players.

In the past 19 years the fabulous Feigner has pitched in more than 3,000 games. By the end of last season he had won 2,855, lost 251 and tied 42, striking out 47,730 batters on the way.

He has pitched 461 no-hit games and 138 perfect games. Pitching blindfolded, he has struck out 6,103 of the 6,851 batters he has faced.

Supporting Feigner aimed to keep the opposition from "walking us both if I just used my catcher," are the King's three-man outfield: Catcher Jim Herrik first baseman Al Jackson and shortstop Mark Bailey.

Sloppy fielding play left neither team looking especially like a title contender. Rollingstone committed six errors. Dakota had three.

Molock: Athletics Should Give Fans Some Fast Action

By DAVE HARRIS
Daily News Sports Writer
What kind of a team can Winona fans expect Sunday as the Athletics re-enter the Southern Minnesota League after a lapse of several years?

JUST HOW WELL his ball players can back him up can be judged Sunday at 7 p.m. when the Athletics host the Rochester Travelers at Gabrych Park.

Molock expressed the hope that the fans will turn out in support of the team to maintain the reputation Winona earned in the past as one of the best baseball towns in the country.

All Sunday home games will be played at 7 p.m. to make them more convenient for people who must arise early Monday mornings. Week night games will be at 8.

Molock said these decisions had been reached Wednesday night at a meeting of the league. Player contracts also were approved. Other members of the Southern Minny are Owatonna, Austin and Albert Lea.

“OVER-ALL, THE team looks pretty good,” Molock said after the 12-3 victory over Spring Grove Tuesday in an exhibition tuneup.

“The pitchers” — Dick Paperfuss who picked up the win Tuesday. Wayne Storsveen and Jon Kosidowski — “look good,” observed Molock.

“Paperfuss apparently has recovered from his sore arm. He'll be a big asset. He can pitch and play almost any other position.

“Paperfuss and Kosidowski will probably pitch Sunday,” Molock indicated. “Roger Roeske also will be available.”

Pitcher Mark Dille is also expected to join the Athletics soon.

“IT LOOKS LIKE WE have some speed and hitting,” continued Molock. “We have power hitters in Gary Grob, Kosidowski, Bob Lietzau and Gary Grabow. Pat Boland and Dave Heise look like good hitters.

“Roger Leonhardt should be one of the fastest men in the league. He'll become a very fine catcher as he matures behind the plate.”

Molock indicated the Athletics are still looking for good young ballplayers. He invited anyone interested to show up at a practice.

Prices to the Athletics games will be geared low enough, Molock pointed out, so that it will be relatively inexpensive for an entire family to attend the games.

The team will hold a practice Saturday at 5:45 p.m. at Gabrych Park.

Superior Tops La Crosse in WIAA Baseball

WISCONSIN RAPIDS (AP)—Beloit eliminated the only former titlist in the field, stopping Watertown 5-3 Thursday night, to assure a new WIAA prep baseball champion.

Waukegan edged Menomonie 5-4 in nine innings, Manitowoc stopped Wausau 5-4 in the regular seven-inning route, and Superior Central sidelined La Crosse Central 6-2 in other first round games.

Beloit, unbeaten against Wisconsin foes and with the best record in the final field at 16-1, exploded for five runs in the fourth inning to oust Watertown, the 1955 winner.

The semifinal games will be played tonight, with the championship decided Saturday afternoon.

Superior Central second baseman Gary Arsenau rapped three singles in four appearances and drove in three runs to lead his teammates past La Crosse Central. Shortstop Fred Bell had two singles and scored twice.

Superior broke a 2-2 tie by scoring twice in each of the last two innings.

WBA Should Drop Floyd, Chualo, Claims Wisconsin

MILWAUKEE — Floyd Patterson and George Chualo should be dropped from the World Boxing Association ratings because both have refused to meet WBA heavyweight champion Ernie Terrell, the Wisconsin State Athletic Commission said Thursday.

Commission Chairman Frank Falduto, with the support of two fellow commissioners, wrote the WBA, “If these men display no respect for our association, why recognize them in our ratings?”

The WBA lists Patterson the No. 1 contender and Chualo No. 3. The association recognizes Terrell, rather than Cassius Clay, as world champion.

Crothers Beats Snell in 880

TORONTO (AP)—Bill Crothers tried for three years and finally beat Peter Snell, New Zealand's double Olympic champion, in the 880-yard run, the highlight of Toronto's international track meet Thursday night.

A crowd of 19,633 saw the 24-year-old Markham, Ont., pharmacist beat Snell by about two yards in the meet record time of 1:46.4. It was the Canadian's first victory over the New Zealander in five races.

Pirates Unbeaten in 20

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Now, if the Pirates only had the Mets' number the way Juan Marichal does.

Pittsburgh is the hottest team in the major leagues with 18 victories in the last 20 games after a 4-2 victory over Houston Thursday night.

The Pirates' victory stretched their latest winning streak to six games while the Mets' loss was their sixth in a row. The last time New York won, Pittsburgh lost. In fact the Pirates' only two setbacks in the last three weeks have come at the hands of the cellar-dwelling New Yorkers.

Bob Veale won his fifth straight complete game against the Astros with home runs by Willie Stargell and Donn Clemons the key blows for the Pirates.

League-leading Los Angeles was blanked by Philadelphia's Ray Herbert, who pitched his first National League shutout 4-0. In afternoon games, Milwaukee moved within 2½ games of the lead with a 2½ victory over Chicago and Cincinnati edged St. Louis 8-7.

Veale had his string of scoreless innings snapped at 28 when Houston pushed a run across in the fifth, but the tall left-hander went on to his seventh victory in nine decisions.

Marichal shut out the Mets for the third time this season and has allowed them just one run in the last 52 innings dating back to May 31, 1964. The victory ran his career mark to 12-0 against New York.

Richie Allen and Dick Stuart supported Herbert with back-to-back homers in the sixth inning as the Phillie right-hander evened his record at 3-3.

Frank Robinson ripped his 300th career homer and Tommy Harper had four hits for the Reds. Leo Cardenas, who had three safeties, tagged a bases loaded triple as Cincinnati built an early lead.

But St. Louis came back on two homers by Bill White before Pete Rose singled in Harper with the winning run in the sixth.

Cleveland Open Leaders Sick, Scores Healthy

CLEVELAND (AP) — The first-round leaders in the $135,000 Cleveland Open Golf Tournament are nursing a variety of ailments, but their scores are healthy enough.

Billy Casper, the veteran Californian, said he didn't think he would even play Thursday after surgery the night before to remove a hemorrhoid.

But the 33-year-old Casper showed up anyway and posted a strong four-under-par 67 over Highland Park's 6,821-yard course.

"It didn't bother me a bit," Casper said of his minor operation after he moved into a first-place deadlock with defending titlist Tony Lema.

Champagne Tony, who rang up five birdies and a bogey in registering his 67, said he felt "lousy" because of a heavy cold.

"A few more birdies and I would have forgotten I had a cold," Lema joked after his impressive round.

And Tommy Aaron, one of five pros chasing the leaders only a stroke behind at 68, said he has been taking penicillin for a strep throat he picked up last weekend at the Buick Open.

Another pro fighting a nagging cold, Arnold Palmer, started slowly but finished with an even par 71.

VFW Buddies At St. Charles Saturday

The VFW Buddies, undefeated state champs last year with an 18-0 record, open a new season Saturday afternoon at St. Charles.

Brian Hassinger is scheduled to pitch the opener for coach Earl Brugger and the relatively inexperienced Buddies, who have only four players returning from last year's squad.

McDowell, Camilo Carreon, Leon Wagner and Vic Davallito were the flies in the Twins' ointment Thursday.

McDowell struck out nine Twins batters to get the win, with relief help from Bell in the ninth, and boosted his record to 6-3. He now has won three straight, striking out 37 over that span, and has notched 108 strikeouts this season. He whiffed Harmon Killebrew three times.

McDowell ran into trouble in the ninth when Jerry Kindall and pinch hitter Joe Nosske lashed successive singles. How-

Twins' Homer Total Only Matches Opponents

ST. PAUL — The question was academic, but Sam Mele answered it anyway.

Since the opposition has hit as many home runs this season as the Twins, 57, is Minnesota not hitting its usual quota or are the Twins pitchers giving up too many?

Lang's Avalanche Sweeps Through American League

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Lang's continued its avalanche-like sweep through the American Softball League Thursday night, sweeping Oasis before it 11-7 as it opened a three-game lead.

Biesanz defeated Local 390 by a 15-8 score, and Fieberite topped winless Hof-Brau 17-9. Lang's picked up its eighth straight win as Tom Kulas pitched a nine hitter against Oasis. Gene Garrison was the loser.

Kulas received the support he needed from his teammates to defeat a much improved Oasis club. Bill Meyer slammed a bases-loaded home run and a double. Rich Brown and Henry Gerth collected two hits for Lang's.

LeRoy Kanz went three-for-three, including a single, triple and home run for Oasis. George Muth also added two hits.

Biesanz' 12-hit attack was led by George Lanik's triple and single, good for five runs-batted-in. Sullivan, Biesanz and Rivers added two hits to aid winning pitcher Frank Drazkowski.

Denny Landers lost it. Fieberite's Mike Deep gained the win over Hof-Brau, yielding seven hits and striking out five. Deep had a triple and double. Roger Schultz added two singles. Wayne King and Norm Johnson homered.

Singer was the loser for Hof-Brau. He was relieved by Revoir in the fourth. Prudochi came in during the fifth. J. Nelson blasted a home run and two singles for Hof-Brau.

In a Tuesday game previously unreported, Biesanz defeated Hof-Brau 22-3.

Stock Cars Finish In Dead Heat

Thrill followed thrill Wednesday night for 1,350 racing fans at the St. Charles fairgrounds speedway as each of nine car races ended in a draw.

Closest race of the evening was the modified feature race where Bob Saterdalen, Rochester, drove lap after lap on the left rear fender of Dave Noble, Blooming Prairie.

Even so, Saterdalen lost out by a wider margin in that race than in the first modified heat where the two drivers battled side by side across the finish line. The officials gave the flag to Noble by a bumper guard.

Lone Yank in British Amateur On Last Legs

PORTRICAWL, Wales (AP) — Bill Hyndman of Philadelphia carried Uncle Sam's banner into the quarter-finals of the British Amateur Golf Championship today but even at 49 he said it was not his legs he was worried about.

"It's Mike's legs," said Hyndman. "If they give out we're lost. Otherwise I am very confident."

The sole survivor of 34 Americans originally entered in the 65-year-old caddy, Mike McCormack, who is just about the last of a dying breed.

Said Mike: "Mr. Hyndman can worry about his own legs. I'll take care of mine."

Ohio Hurler Goes 15 at NCAA Meet

OMAHA (AP) — Steve Arlin's courageous 15-inning job for Ohio State, a three-hitter with 20 strikeouts, overshadowed Arizona State's relentless drive to its first College World Series Championship.

THE EVENING started with last week's feature race which had been rained out. Paul Fitzpatrick, Rochester, won that but blew a piston after he finished and failed to enter the rest of the night's program.

Harold Bakken, Rochester, won his heat and the semi-modified feature. In the heat he led by half a lap but Tom Helm, St. Charles, and Jim Hawk, Medford, finished side by side on his bumper.

Arlin pitched a four-hit victory over Florida State Monday, had one day of rest, started Wednesday against Arizona State and was knocked out in the first inning by four solid hits and four Ohio State errors. Then he came back Thursday with possibly the top game in Series history.

His 1-0 shutout eliminated Washington State. Then Arizona ousted St. Louis 6-2, making it a two-team race.

Jerry Dick, Rochester, absent from racing for two years, made up for lost time and already threatens the more experienced drivers.

CARYL MOYER, Rochester won his first race of the season in the semi-modified semi-feature.

Stock Prices Snap Back in Active Trade

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market snapped back today from four steep daily losses. Trading was fairly active early this afternoon.

The Dow Jones Industrial average at noon was up 4.36 at 880.85.

The market showed signs of firmness from the opening and the upward trend was established within the first half-hour. The list reached a peak in late morning then traders skimmed some of the profits.

To analysts it looked like just another technical move, with some of the price gains attributed to preweekend short covering. This is a kind of profit taking by short sellers, those who have sold borrowed stock with the intention of replacing it with stock bought at a lower price.

The trend was generally higher among steels, motors, rails, aerospace issues, electrical equipments, drugs and building materials. Chemicals and airlines were mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.5 at 320.7 with industrials up 2.7, rails up .6 and utilities up 5. DuPont erased a 2-point gain.

IBM plans a joint venture on an office copying machine with American Photocopy which was very active and up more than a point. IBM gained 5.

Korvette sank nearly 3 points following news that its president had resigned.

All Big Three autos were higher, General Motors rising about a point, Ford a shade less and Chrysler a good fraction.

Prices rose in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. Treasury bonds were unchanged.

CAMPER MEAL . . . Chili, sausages in buns, Texas style, and cheese-filled burgers are two sure winners in outdoor summer cooking. Easy to prepare in your back yard, they're dishes that can be whipped up just as easily on a picnic or camping trip because the ingredients are all ready to go.

Everyone Can Be an Expert

Barbecuing: Hottest Thing in Town

By C. GORDON HOLTE
Sunday Editor

IF every outdoor barbecue outfit in the city of Winona were to be placed side to side and fired up the smoke probably would be sufficient to obscure Sugar Loaf Mountain and, with favorable winds, maybe Indian Head Bluff thrown in for good measure. Outdoor grills have sprung up in backyards and patios like television antennas blossomed on rooftops a few years ago. Outdoor cooking has weathered the cries of "fad" to become a well-established part of family summer living and it's meant big business for the suppliers of outdoor cookers and broilers, charcoal and the numerous accessories that are picked up along the way by the outdoor chef.

Authorities disagree on the origin of the word "barbecue" but the most colorful legend attributes the term to the 17th Century French "de barbe a cue," meaning cooked from beard to tail.

However, there are others who hold that "barbecue" is an offshoot of the Spanish "barbecoa" for a grill supported by wooden framework.

Whatever the origin of the name, barbecuing can be a lot of fun whether you cook simply over a pile of coals on a sandbar, trundle out an inexpensive broiler to the backyard or enjoy the advantages of a deluxe outfit with special gauges, controls and convenience features.

Every barbecue fan has his own idea about how deep the coals should be piled, how far from the coals the food should be placed and how long or in what way the cooking should be done. A little experimenting is all that it takes to make anyone an expert in these areas of outdoor cooking.

Your first undertaking on your grill probably was, or will be, hamburgers . . . easy to cook and almost impossible to fail on.

If you're thinking about a little variety from this fare, though, you might try a camper style dinner that features a variety of offerings including cheese-filled double decker hamburgers and chili and sausages in buns — a meal that's no harder to prepare than the ordinary hamburger but will get you off to a good start as an acknowledged master of an advanced stage in charcoal cookery.

The nice thing about this menu is that your chilli and sausages come in cans, the buns in a package and that leaves only the hamburger for your own personal touch. You just heat the canned Vienna sausages (or use wieners if you wish) on the grill, pop them into warm buns and cover with piping hot canned chili. Hamburgers, meanwhile, take on an extra flavor from Cheddar cheese topping and chopped onion.

Chili 'N Sausages, Texas-Style

2 cans (4 ounces each) canned Vienna sausages (about 14 sausages)	Wiener buns
1 can (15 ounces) chili con carne (about 2 cups)	Shredded Cheddar cheese, optional
	Chopped onion, optional

Heat Vienna sausages over glowing coals, turning as needed to heat and brown. Heat chili in saucepan over coals. Place 2 or 3 sausages in a long wiener bun; spoon 1/4 to 1/2 cup heated chili over sausages. Top with shredded cheese or chopped onion, if desired. Close bun. Yield: 6 to 7 sandwiches.

Cheese-Filled Double-Decker Burgers

- | | |
|-----------------------|-------------------------------|
| 2 pounds ground beef* | 1 tablespoon prepared mustard |
| 1 cup shredded cheese | 1/2 cup chopped celery |
| 1/4 cup catsup | 1/4 cup sliced green onion |

Shape ground beef into 16 thin patties (2 ounces each) 3 to 3 1/2 inches in diameter. Combine remaining ingredients; mix well. Broil burgers over low, glowing coals until brown on under side; turn. Top 1/2 of the patties with cheese mixture. Brown patties on under side. Cover cheese-topped burger with a plain patty. Serve in hamburger buns or alone as a meat entree. Makes 8 burgers.

* or 16 (2 ounce) frozen beef patties.

Franks With Spicy Sour Cream Sauce

Easy as it is to barbecue, the frankfurter is hardly ever served or eaten just plain. It's usually accompanied by sauces or relishes and really lends itself to this glamor treatment.

There's a sour cream sauce that goes especially well with hot dogs prepared on an outdoor grill. The recipe combines onions and seasonings that form a spicy sauce that can be enjoyed either hot or cold. If you choose to serve the sauce hot, be sure to heat it slowly over low heat for dairy sour cream is allergic to hot temperatures. A few minutes on the grill, away from the hot coals, will be sufficient to heat the sauce.

Spicy Sour Cream Sauce

- | | |
|------------------------------------|------------------------------------|
| 1 cup dairy sour cream (1/2 pint) | 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce |
| 2 tablespoons prepared mustard | 1/4 teaspoon salt |
| 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion | Dash pepper |
| 1 tablespoon lemon juice | 4 drops hot pepper sauce, optional |

Combine all ingredients; mix thoroughly. Serve hot or cold with franks, wieners or hamburgers. Makes 1 1/4 cups sauce.

As soon as the barbecuer has mastered the hamburger and hot dog routine he usually starts planning for his first outdoor steak fry.

Steak can be barbecued in the most simple manner with salt and pepper as seasonings or it can be given the royal treatment with marinades and sauces. On today's Sunday Magazine cover is seen a party barbecued steak — a thick sirloin basted with a tomato barbecue sauce and served with potato and vegetable kabobs. Canned tomato sauce is the basis for the well-seasoned barbecue sauce.

The time it takes to charcoal grill steak depends on the temperature of the steak, coals and air, as well as the strength of breezes, in addition to the thickness of the meat.

As a guide, a 2 1/2-inch steak at room temperature placed about six inches above medium hot coals should be rare in 12 to 15 minutes on each side, medium at 18 to 23 minutes and well done at 25 minutes or more. The surest test for doneness, of course, is to cut the meat near the center and judge the color.

Basting the steak with a tomato barbecue sauce toward the end of the grilling helps give the meat a rich, brown surface. Here, then, is the recipe for the steak on today's cover:

Party Barbecued Steak

- (4-5 servings)
2 lb. sirloin steak, 2 1/2 inches thick
Salt and pepper

SAUCE

- | | |
|----------------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| 1 medium onion, chopped | 1 tablespoon prepared mustard |
| 1/2 cup finely chopped celery | 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce |
| 2 tablespoons pure vegetable oil | 1/2 teaspoon Tabasco sauce |
| 1 (8-oz.) can tomato sauce | 1/2 cup water |
| 1 tablespoon brown sugar | |

Combine sauce ingredients and simmer 15 minutes. Trim excess fat from steak. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Place over coals and cook first side 20 minutes. Turn and cook other side 20 minutes or until desired doneness is reached. Baste with sauce during last 20 minutes. Slice diagonally and serve extra sauce with slices.

Charcoal Broiled Turkey

A good many amateur outdoor chefs confine their offerings pretty much to such smaller items and probably have passed up one of the easiest products of the grill — a roast turkey — simply because of the size of the bird.

If your broiler has a rotisserie spit a charcoal broiled turkey can be done with less work than almost any other dish and the aroma of a turkey roasting over a open fire is unmatched.

Choose a six- to twelve-pound turkey, allowing about a pound per serving. After it's on the rotisserie and basted with butter or margarine all you have to do is sit back and enjoy friends, family, a tall cool drink or a combination of all three. The turkey requires no further attention until carving time although, for an extra flavor treat, during the last half hour of cooking you may want to baste the bird with a special herb basting sauce.

This is how the sauce is prepared:

Herb Basting Sauce

- | | |
|------------------------------------|-----------------------|
| 1/2 cup melted butter or margarine | 1/2 teaspoon thyme |
| 1/2 cup white wine | 1/4 teaspoon marjoram |
| 1 teaspoon salt | 1/4 teaspoon pepper |

Combine all ingredients and let stand at room temperature at least one hour before using. This allows the flavors to blend. Make enough basting sauce for a 6- to 12-pound turkey or turkey roast.

In preparing the turkey for the grill, remove giblets and neck from body and neck cavities. Wash, drain and pat dry. Sprinkle the body cavity lightly with salt.

Push drumsticks under band of skin at tail, if present, or tie drumsticks securely to tail. Fasten neck skin to back with skewer. Flatten wings over breast, then tie cord around breast to hold wings securely. Do not stuff a rotisserie-cooked bird.

Insert spit rod through center of bird from tail end toward front. Insert skewers firmly in place in bird and fasten screws tightly. Test the balance. It is important that the turkey balances on the spit so it will rotate smoothly throughout the cooking period.

After he gets into barbecuing the amateur outdoor chef starts thinking about fancy dishes.

Arrange hot charcoal briquets at back of fire box. Place a foil drip pan in front of briquets. Place spit in rotisserie and start motor as barbecue manufacturer directs.

Brush turkey with melted butter or margarine at beginning of cooking. When using a barbecue sauce, brush on bird the last 30 to 40 minutes of cooking only. To test doneness, a roast meat thermometer placed in center of inside thigh muscle or thickest part of breast should register approximately 185 degrees F. Turkey is done when thickest part of drumstick feels very soft when pressed between protected fingers.

APPROXIMATE TIMETABLE FOR WHOLE TURKEY

Purchased Ready-to-Cook Weight	Internal Temperature	Guide to Total Roasting Time
6 to 8 lbs.	185° F.	2½ to 3 hours
8 to 12 lbs.	185° F.	3 to 4½ hours
12 to 13 lbs.	185° F.	4 to 5 hours.

WITH his first successes under his belt — literally — the average barbecue enthusiast begins stoking up the coals for more ambitious and dramatic projects and when it comes to outdoor cooking this category knows virtually no limits.

You can do some pretty fancy things on your outdoor grill and it's surprising to find that a good many of them don't seem nearly as difficult doing outside as in indoor preparation.

For example, if you're planning an outdoor patio party a concoction known as Hawaiian Shrimp Maui is a dish that looks spectacular, tastes fine and is extremely quick and easy to prepare. This one, incidentally, was developed by a Chicago man and involves preparation of a sauce and just 20 minutes of grilling time. The shrimp to be used should be big ones, large enough so that only four are needed for each portion. They're grilled in a sauce, then two of them placed atop slices of heated pineapple and served island style with steamed rice.

Aluminum foil comes in handy in preparation. Two large, shallow foil containers can be fashioned — one for the shrimp, the other for the pineapple slices. Raw peeled shrimp are dipped in the sauce, then placed in the foil pan. Ten minutes are allowed for cooking and basting on each side. The other foil pan holds the slices of pineapple which heat without embellishment or attention on the back of the grill until time to assemble the dish.

Hawaiian Shrimp Maui

☆ ☆ ☆ ☆
Hawaiian Shrimp Maui

(Makes About 6 Servings)

- | | |
|-------------------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| 24 jumbo shrimp, uncooked | 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce |
| 1 clove garlic | 1 teaspoon curry powder |
| 2 medium onions, chopped | 1 teaspoon chili powder |
| 2 tablespoons salad oil | 1 teaspoon ground ginger |
| 1 cup catsup | 1 teaspoon paprika |
| 1/2 cup unsweetened pineapple juice | Pinch nutmeg |
| 1/4 cup lemon juice | Dash hot pepper sauce |
| 1 tablespoon dry mustard | 12 pineapple slices |
| 1 tablespoon brown sugar | 1/2 cup chopped parsley |
| 1 tablespoon soy sauce | Quilted heavy-duty foil |

Line firebox with quilted foil; let coals burn down until covered with gray ashes.

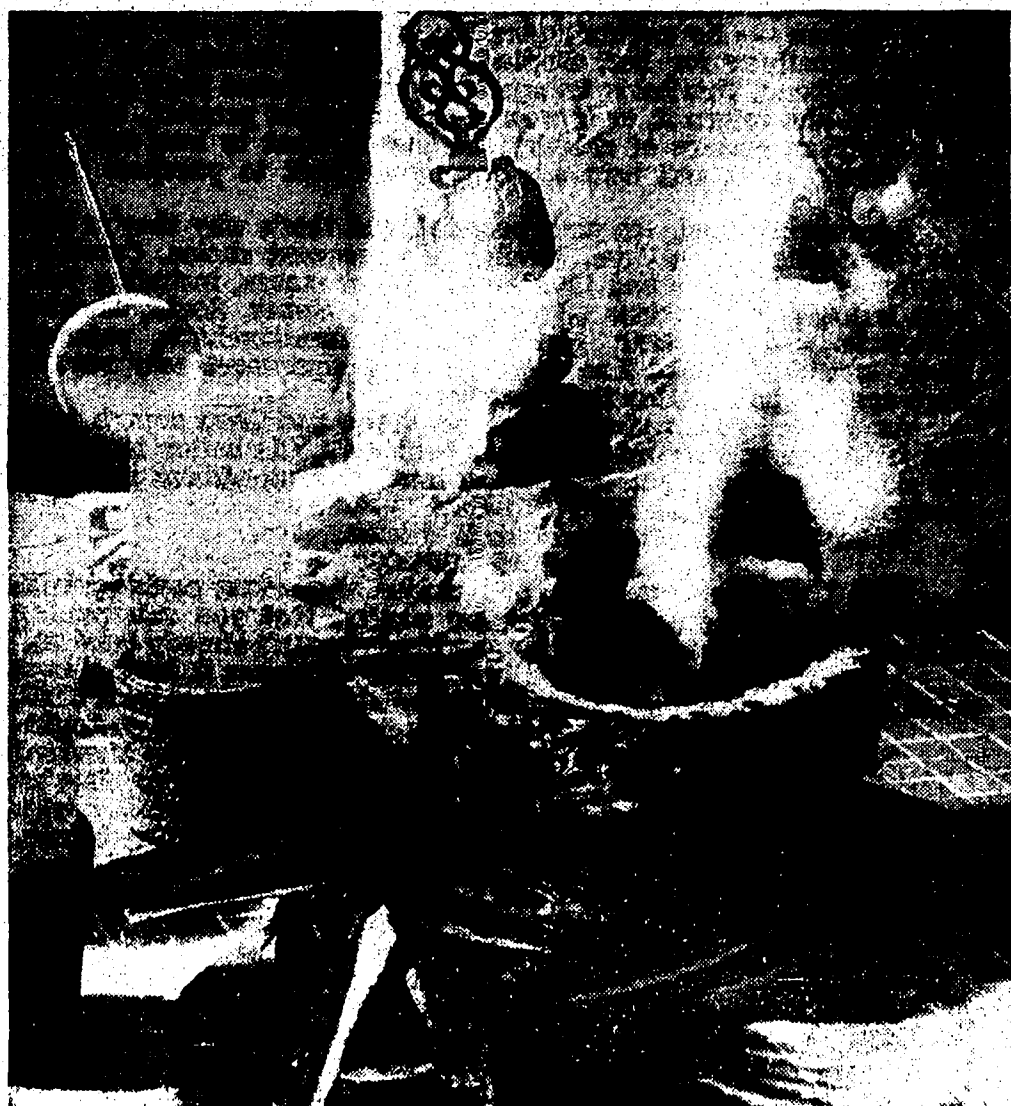

Peel, devein and clean shrimp, leaving tails attached.

For Maui Sauce, squeeze garlic through press. Saute garlic and onion in oil until soft but not browned. Add catsup, pineapple juice, lemon juice, dry mustard, brown sugar, Soy sauce, Worcestershire sauce, curry powder, chili powder, ginger, paprika, nutmeg and hot pepper sauce. Simmer for 15 to 20 minutes, until sauce is medium thick. (Sauce may be made ahead and stored for later use.)

Form a pan of quilted foil on top of grill. Dip shrimp in Maui Sauce and place in rows in foil pan. Grill about 10 minutes on each side, generously spooning sauce over shrimp. Heat pineapple slices in foil pan or grill.

Remove pineapple slices to warm serving platter; top each slice with 2 shrimp. Spoon hot Maui Sauce over all and garnish with chopped parsley. Serve with hot buttered rice, if desired.

Flaming Shish Kabobs

At least once every summer you probably will want to try your hand at shish kabobs and when they're flaming you'll be serving something to be talked about for a long time after.

Possibilities for shish kabobs are endless since you can make almost any combination of seafoods, meats, vegetables and fruits work on the skewers although care should be taken to choose items that will cook uniformly in the same time.

If you want a bonus treatment of drama for your shish kabobs stand the skewers upright in a pineapple shell and blaze them with warmed liquor. To prepare the pineapple to hold to the skewers, choose a large fruit with good, uniform color and a handsome green frond. Cut a small slice from one side to form a flat base. Cut a larger slice from the other side and scoop out the flesh, leaving a hollow shell. You can cut the meat thus removed into uniform pieces and reserve for another use. Sprinkle it with sugar and a little bourbon or rum and chill for dessert to serve with picks. Or dip the fruit in a marinade used for the skewers and add the pieces to the skewers for variety.

And now for the shish kabobs.

Flaming Beef and Lobster Kabobs

- | | |
|--|----------------------------------|
| 1 pound, boneless sirloin steak,
1 1/2 inches thick | 2 tablespoons lemon juice |
| 4 uncooked rock lobster tails,
thawed | 1 teaspoon salt |
| 2 tablespoons dry vermouth | 1/2 teaspoon thyme |
| 1/4 cup salad oil | 1/8 teaspoon ground black pepper |
| | 8 cherry tomatoes |

Cut the steak into 1 1/2 inch cubes. Remove lobster meat from shells, cut into similar chunks. Combine 1/4 cup vodka, vermouth, oil, lemon juice and seasoning in a large bowl. Add meat and lobster, marinate several hours or overnight in the refrigerator. Thread steak, lobster and tomatoes alternately on skewers. Broil 15 minutes, basting with marinade; turn occasionally. Stand skewers upright in a pineapple prepared as above. Warm remaining vodka, ignite, pour flaming over skewers into pineapple. Serve when flame dies. Makes 4 servings.

Flaming Shish Kabobs

- | | |
|---|----------------------------------|
| 2 pounds sirloin steak,
1 1/2 inches thick | 2 tablespoons lemon juice |
| 1/2 cup Scotch or bourbon | 1 teaspoon salt |
| 1/4 cup soy sauce | 1/4 teaspoon pepper |
| 1/4 cup salad oil | 1 can (1 pound) white onions |
| | 2 green peppers, cut in quarters |

Cut steak into 1 1/2 inch cubes. Combine 1/4 cup Scotch or bourbon, soy sauce, oil, lemon juice and seasonings in a bowl. Add beef, marinate several hours or overnight. Skewer meat, onions and peppers. Broil 15 minutes, turning occasionally and basting with the marinade. Stand skewers upright in pineapple prepared as above. Warm remaining liquor. Ignite and pour flaming over skewers into pineapple. Makes 4 servings.

*Vinyl Scores
 A Fashion Hit*

A slippery character has oiled its way up the fashion ladder until it really has made it big. It's vinyl. It's camp. It's in.

Despite its plebian beginning the material is now so well polished it is socially acceptable to, indeed in great demand by, all chic women.

Ironically, vinyl had to be recognized abroad before it could be appreciated at home. So vinyl went to Paris, charmed the French couturiers and eventually the world's fashion press. Then it was ready to return home again, a fashion celebrity.

In all fairness American snobbery had nothing to do with vinyl's early lack of acceptance. It simply wasn't ready yet for its place in the sun, wind, and rain.

During its humble beginning, it was praised as practical, hardy, and a good worker. But it lacked class. It served well as a scrubbable kitchen table cloth but it was not aesthetic enough for the dining room.

It tried hard to substitute for leather, it got hot and sticky in summer and clammy cold in winter. In the fashion industry, despite its water-shedding qualities, vinyl was strictly back closet.

Then it got around to improving itself. It learned to unbend. Today vinyl is soft and flexible. Its personality shines in bright reds, yellows, greens and oranges.

It has gotten culture. Zebra stripes, dalmation spots, bold color panels — all op art stuff — has become a part of its make up.

Moreover, the new vinyl has become daring (in its transparent form), fun and young. American manufacturers, like the French, are completely won over by its new charm.

You will find vinyl taxi cab yellow rain coats with giant zipper closings. Vinyl is high fashion as fireman red slickers, or as sleek, black, James Bondish trench coats.

The new vinyl has expanded beyond the bounds of rain coats to be slick shimmering dresses, suits, even slacks and evening dresses. You name it and you will find it made of vinyl — that is the new, highly-successful-at-social-climbing vinyl.

TRANSPARENT... A vinyl pants suit banded with black is worn over a jumpsuit, left, while at the right a transparent coat and vinyl boots are over a black pants suit.

Use Taste in Buying Gifts

Mother Knows Best on Father's Day

IT'S here again. The time of year when children bring home outrageous items that they really expect Dad to wear. Yes, it will soon be Father's Day.

Actually, I think Father's Day should be called Mother's Day, in honor of all the money she spends on him. Did you know that women purchase between 37 and 51 percent (depending on which manufacturer you talk to) of all men's furnishings? That includes accessories such as shirts, ties, belts and socks. The statistics also include the tokens of love that children give their fathers.

If you have children, Father's Day may inspire them to bring home presents that Father couldn't possibly wear. You may begin to wonder if your child is totally tasteless, or afflicted with a bizarre sense of humor.

Remember, though, that taste is a learning process in which you are the principal teacher. If you're helpful and patient, the child will absorb the basic tenets of good taste (you'll notice I'm assuming you've absorbed them) and will one day bring home a gift that truly does delight.

Sun Can Be Your Best Beauty Friend In Summer . . .
Or Your Worst Enemy.

Dear Abby:

Motherhood Isn't A Part-Time Job

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A currently successful woman author seems to be harping on the theory that in order for a woman to be "fulfilled" even though she is a wife and mother, she needs a profession or a job outside her home. You are a "pro," Abby. How do you feel about that? STAY-AT-HOME MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I am one "pro" who is "con" on that theory. Motherhood (at least until the children are in school all day) is a full-time job. And if it is done properly, it more than "fulfills" a woman. There is no greater responsibility than guiding a life. And no greater reward than the knowledge that you have done it well.

DEAR ABBY: My skin crawled when I read that letter from "Heartbroken Mother," pleading with all mothers to keep electric extension cords "unplugged" when not in use because of the tragic accident her child had when she put a "live" cord in her mouth. I want you and that mother to know that that letter has helped at least one thoughtless mother. I used to keep an extension cord for my vacuum cleaner plugged into the wall behind my couch. That way I didn't have to pull out the couch each time I vacuumed. My ten-month-old daughter has just started to crawl, and when I think of how easy it would have been for her to get hold of that cord and put it in her mouth, my blood runs cold. I immediately disconnected that cord and it is now hanging in the broom closet. My thanks to you, Abby, for printing that letter. I lost one son to a congenital heart defect last year, and would hate to lose the only child I have left to electrocution because of my carelessness. Sincerely,

Abby
MRS. H.

—And because today is Children's Day:
A PARENT'S PRAYER

Oh, heavenly Father, make me a better parent. Teach me to understand my children, to listen patiently to what they have to say, and to answer all their questions kindly. Keep me from interrupting them or contradicting them. Make me as courteous to them as I would have them be to me. Forbid that I should ever laugh at their mistakes, or resort to shame or ridicule when they displease me. May I never punish them for my own selfish satisfaction or to show my power.

Let me not tempt my child to lie or steal. And guide me hour by hour that I may demonstrate by all I say and do that honesty produces happiness.

Reduce, I pray, the meanness in me. And when I am out of sorts, help me, Oh Lord, to hold my tongue.

May I ever be mindful that my children are children and I should not expect of them the judgment of adults.

Let me not rob them of the opportunity to wait on themselves and to make decisions.

Bless me with the bigness to grant them all their reasonable requests, and the courage to deny them privileges I know will do them harm.

Make me fair and just and kind. And fit me, Oh Lord, to be loved and respected and imitated by my children, Amen.

Until then, try to discuss their intended gifts while they're still intended. Perhaps you can show them the kind of tie their father likes, or suggest something easy, like a wallet. If they're tolerant enough to let you actually accompany them, by all means grab the opportunity.

The best tip I can offer your children — and you — is this:

By and large the same fashion rules apply to men's clothing as to women's. For instance, it would not be tasteful to combine a plaid suit and busily-patterned tie. Quiet ties, muted or dark, are usually your safest bet. Dark, solid-colored socks are also in order.

If he's not what you'd call slim (and you'd be the last one to give up), avoid garments with large patterns. Leave those bold print sports shirts for the very slim chap who can stand the widening effect.

There are, of course, some items that one sex cannot intelligently purchase for the other. No sensible man would attempt to buy a dress for a woman — he couldn't possibly know what would have that certain something for her. Similarly, no woman should buy a suit for her husband. This holds for sport jackets too, unless she's prepared to a) have him return it, or b) wear a not-quite-right garment, because, in a mistaken gesture of chivalry, he doesn't want to hurt her feelings. Shoes, coats and hats are equally difficult to purchase yourself.

Accessories, then, are your best bet, and that's why they're runaway best-sellers each June. Jewelry is a frequent choice. Currently popular are cuff links and tie clasps made of stones, including jade, lapis lazuli, and imitations of more precious stones. Socks, smoking accessories, belts, wallets, gloves, scarves, handkerchiefs, pajamas, robes, and shirts make fine gifts. Sporting equipment may require more specific information than you have.

As a quick rule, unless you're very sure you have superb taste that is in absolute accord with your husband's, 'tis better to err on the side of conservatism. But if you must buy an offbeat item, for goodness sake, be sure it's returnable!

When in doubt, take Dad out to dinner.

FASHION MIRROR

With the summer upon us, and visions of glorious poolside dalliances filling your daydreams, let me suggest that you enterprising women consider the subject of wigs — if you haven't already done so.

A wig today is not necessarily a luxury, because it isn't always a full head of human hair. That would probably cost you at least $125, if custom matched, and could go frighteningly higher. Some wigs in standard colors can be purchased for as little as $40 or $50. But for many women, a wiglet is a sufficient aid to an ailing hairdo, and it needn't be of real hair, although there is quite a difference between real hair and synthetic fibers.

Readily available among the synthetics are custom-blended nylon switches that are assembled for you as you watch. These can cost as little as $15. And newest of all are dynel wigs — an entire short bob — for just under $5.00. Incredible! These might be worth the investment just for fun. They won't fool a soul, but they'll probably look better than a waterlogged hairdo. If you're very frivolous, you might try changing colors and styles, just as if they were hats.

So, enjoy yourself this summer. Don't let ocean waves or chlorine pools dampen your romantic spirit or your coiffure. Get in the swim — just don't forget that ready-made hairdo.

FASHION TIP

As long as we're in a romantic summer mood at the side of the pool, you can keep it romantic by being sensible about your exposure. I don't mean the scantiness of your swimsuit. I mean the way you protect your skin from the strong burning rays of the sun. Almost everyone looks well in a tan, but remember that nothing looks worse than a shapely leg so dry that it resembles alligator skin, or a peeling shoulder right under a man's nose when you're dancing cheek to cheek.

There are countless lotions, oils and creams available to lubricate the skin and prevent burning. Some are greaseless and pleasantly scented. Some, too, have a coloring agent in them — although personally I think half the fun of summer is gone if the tan comes directly from the tube. But whatever your preference, don't forget to keep your summer complexion at its lovely best, in order to keep the man in your life looking at you.

PLAYING PERCENTAGES... Actor-comedian Terry Thomas, standing at the left, host and narrator of "Everybody's Got a System" next Friday night on ABC,

Entertainment, Not Lesson in Morals

Special TV Program Takes A Tour of Gambling Places

By HARVEY PACK

Gambling, a disease with which many of us are personally and painfully conversant, is the subject of a one hour special next Friday night on ABC.

According to non-gambler Warren Wallace, the show's director, the program is designed primarily to entertain and not as an in-depth documentary nor as a moral lesson. The title is "Everybody's Got a System" and it will undoubtedly put the torch to the rallying cry of the astronauts... "all systems go," since in games of chance systems invariably go right out of the window and lead their creators to the poor house.

At one point Warren intended to include students of the Wall Street form charts in his show but after spending some time down there filming and interviewing he decided that they are a different breed and do not readily fall into the category of gamblers.

Since the director does not gamble he was able to approach the subject matter objectively and his conclusion after many months of active research is that he has an even lower opinion of gambling today than when he started.

This reporter, an inveterate horse-player, immediately began a defense of his own fellow sufferers and Warren interrupted to say, "Horse racing I can understand. In fact as a group I found horse players most scholarly."

I WAS PLEASED since somebody had obviously told him I never go to the track without my miniature set of the Great Books. Besides, where else in the world can a human being evaluate circumstances, make a major decision and know whether he is correct in a minute and a half?

For this tour among the inhabitants of the world of chance director Wallace was delighted to secure as host British actor-comedian Terry Thomas. A great deal of the program was filmed in England since that civilized tight little island has been able to legalize most forms of gambling without upsetting the equilibrium of either the economy or the populace, a challenge which thankfully has not been tried here.

"We set Terry up as a man willing to gamble on anything," said Warren. "And he goes around betting on far out propositions such as whether the next man to enter a room will be bearded. You'd be surprised how many people in England will bet on anything."

Terry, according to the director, does not gamble too much in public primarily because his face is so familiar to most Britons that he would never be permitted to enjoy the game. But Wallace is convinced that if the actor could disguise his face he'd be a semi-regular at some of London's more popular gaming clubs.

GIVE AN AMERICAN a word association test and it's a safe bet that Las Vegas and gambling would be a pair. Warren and his crew went to Nevada's oasis of dreams where they photograph-

FIRST AFFAIR . . . Kim Novak becomes romantically involved with Daniel Massey in MOLL FLANDERS, starting Wednesday at the State.

'Moll Flanders' Due This Week at State

Moll Flanders, one of the lustiest ladies in English history, is brought to the screen in THE AMOROUS ADVENTURES OF MOLL FLANDERS, arriving Wednesday at the State Theatre. Kim Novak portrays the easily led and merry lass created in the early part of the 18th Century by novelist Daniel Defoe. Richard Johnson is cast as Jemmy, a highwayman and Moll's lover who, after traveling a zestful road of ruinous adventures in a bawdy era of wild pleasures, is reunited with the strong-willed girl as they sail together for their homeland. Angela Lansbury appears as Lady Blystone and Vittoria DeSica as the Count.

Elvis Presley and a bevy of bikini-clad beauties cavort in GIRL HAPPY, featured through Tuesday at the State. The action takes place at the Fort Lauderdale, Fla., playgrounds where collegians converge for Easter vacations and Presley is the leader of a musical combo who is hired by a Chicago nightclub owner to keep on eye on his daughter, Shelley Fabares, while she's at the fun spot.

There are a dozen tunes in the movie in which Presley and Miss Fabares dance "The Clam."

Comedy, Suspense Mix In Spy Thriller Film

MASQUERADE, a spy thriller with comic overtones, plays through Tuesday at the Winona Theatre with Cliff Robertson, Jack Hawkins and Marisa Mell in starring roles.

Set against a Spanish background, the plot revolves around the kidnaping of a 14-year-old Arabian prince for "strategic reasons." The kidnaping is carried off successfully but everyone starts double-crossing everyone else, the fun—and the suspense—begins to build up.

Opening Wednesday for four days is a double-feature horror program that pairs DR. TERROR'S HOUSE OF HORRORS and THE MAN WHO COULD CHEAT DEATH.

Peter Cushing stars in the title role of "Dr. Terror" who holds a deck of cards that can probe into the future of any man and predict his fate. He changes the life of every man he meets as his predictions of torture and death unbelievably come true. Among those caught up in the story are a scoffer who meets a horrifying death as punishment for his crimes against humanity; a young architect who dies in the shape of a werewolf, an American doctor who discovers his wife is a vampire and a man who finds a strange and powerful weed growing in his house.

CAGED . . . Marisa Mell and Cliff Robertson share a lion's cage in the comedy, MASQUERADE, at the Winona.

Two Disney Features At Sky Vu

Three double-features are in this week's lineup at the Sky Vu Theatre.

Two Walt Disney productions, SO DEAR TO MY HEART and SUMMER MAGIC, will be seen through Tuesday. Bobby Driscoll, Burl Ives and Luana Patten head the cast of "So Dear to My Heart," the story about a boy and a small, very black sheep he protects. Burl Ives teams with Hayley Mills and Dorothy McGuire in "Summer Magic." This is about a mother and her two children and how they stay together, after losing the head of the household, with the help of a good-hearted Maine postmaster.

ISLAND OF THE BLUE DOLPHINS and McHALE'S NAVY will be seen Wednesday through Friday. The first is based on a true-life experience of a girl Robinson Crusoe, portrayed by Celia Kaye, who lived alone for 18 years on an island off Santa Barbara, Calif.

Ernest Borgnine, Joe Flynn and Tim Conway make up the kookie outfit of naval rejects figuring in "McHale's Navy," drawn from the popular television series.

Winding up the week will be DAYS OF WINE AND ROSES and FBI CODE 98.

In "Days of Wine and Roses," Jack Lemmon and Lee Remick are a bright, sophisticated young couple who experience a harrowing battle against the threat posed to their marriage by alcoholism.

Filed with the permission of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, FBI CODE 98 tells of an attempt to murder three top executives of an electronics firm as they fly to Cape Kennedy, Fla., to observe tests of a guided missile they have developed. The FBI steps in to solve the attempted sabotage, giving movie viewers a first-hand glimpse of FBI operational techniques.

LANDMARK IN ARCHITECTURE . . . Frank Lloyd Wright's
Unity Church in Oak Park, Ill.

Experiments Recalled

Museum Photographs Look at Architecture

This is the appropriate time to have a look at "Modern Architecture, U. S. A.," and the New York Museum of Modern Art's current show on that theme does just that. It is full of yesterday's innovations and today's innovators.

It has many facets. That is because it covers two-thirds of a century, in a way that will communicate with many parts of America and Europe, which the exhibit eventually will reach.

Cosponsored by the Graham Foundation for Advanced Studies in the Fine Arts, it will be on view in New York through Sept. 6 and then start its travels.

Presented in large photographic transparencies in color, it records both history and the vibrant experimentalism of recent years, through 71 examples by 38 architects. If it seems to emphasize the great diversity of recent years, that is only natural.

IT HAS TO start, of course, with Frank Lloyd Wright. There are nine examples of this great giant's work, from his Unity Church built in 1906 in Oak Park, Ill., right down to his Guggenheim Museum in New York in 1959.

As Arthur Drexler, the museum's architectural expert, remarks in his catalog notes, Wright's work has been a "sustained explosion" in this field.

Through the so-called International School — Ludwig Mies van der Rohe, Walter Gropius — and the famous names of the California School — Richard Schindler, Richard Neutra — it proceeds to Philip Johnson, Marcel Breuer and such later figures as Minoru Yamasaki and the late Eero Saarinen, as well as the firm of Skidmore, Owings and Merrill.

Edward Durell Stone is here, and he is in the news as the creator of the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington, which still is to be built. In this exhibit Stone is represented by a house on Long Island and his famous embassy building in New Delhi.

HE HAS made some interesting personal statements in a day when glass-box architecture has seemed to dominate the scene, as in the case of the up-ended, green honeycomb of the United Nations Secretariat of 1950, designed by Wallace K. Harrison.

The New York scene is full of other examples, from the Museum of Modern Art's original building (by Stone and Philip L. Goodwin) to the hovering, flight-suggesting Trans World Airlines terminal at Kennedy International Airport, by Saarinen, a sort of "sculpture to walk in." But a good many of these examples are from university campuses, where freedom of architectural expression seems to have caught hold.

IN ALL this survey, one of the most striking themes is the personal one. For their own use, as habitation, office, studio, or a combination of these functions, our modern architects really have let themselves go.

From 1933 there is William Lescaze's New York town house. Alden Dow, a pupil of Wright, created his own office and house (1934-41) in Midland, Mich., and there is Wright's own home and studio, "Taliesin West," in Scottsdale, Ariz., dating from 1938.

Also dating from 1938 there is Gropius' own house in Massachusetts, where the Bauhaus master accommodated himself to New England.

Coming down to 1949 we find Johnson's famous wide-open, glass-walled pavilion in New Canaan, Conn., as well as Charles Eames' own house of the same year, a light structure in Santa Monica, Calif., which has an Oriental delicacy.

Closer to our day is architect Herb Greene's house in Norman, Okla. (1961), an unorthodox hutch of shingles on a wood frame, with a sort of sculptural presence.

In all these personal works, our architects have allowed themselves a noncommercial expression of their own ideas and aspirations, and these uninhibited designs are a pleasant part of the show.

World's Figures, Folkways Targets of Buchwald Barbs

"... AND THEN I TOLD THE PRESIDENT," the secret papers of Art Buchwald. Putnam, 241 pages. $4.95.

By JOHN R. BREITLOW

About three years ago, syndicated columnist Art Buchwald came home after a 12-year hitch in Paris, about the last laugh we've had from France. Columnist Buchwald settled in Washington and deserves at least part of the credit for his paper, the New York Herald Tribune, being banned from the White House.

Art Buchwald is alternately described as the Thinking Man's Drew Pearson or the Sophisticate's Harry Golden. He has a definite flair for topical humor. The best of his Washington writings have been compiled into an easily readable, often hilarious collection characteristically entitled "... AND THEN I TOLD THE PRESIDENT."

The book has seven short sections on various topics mentioned later, plus a longer opening bit on "Politics." Perhaps the funniest thing in the book is its introduction, which will serve the uninitiate as a perfect introduction to the style and person of Art Buchwald. He recalls a conversation from his youth, when he and Lyndon were fishing in a rural stream.

DURING THE conversation, Lyndon reveals to young Buchwald his desire to be President of the United States, forecasting a war on poverty, a plan for medical care, and the building of a new canal in Central America. It sounds not only familiar but convincing with its talk of congressional manipulation and overwhelming pluralities. Art Buchwald declined Lyndon's offer to "take you with me the whole way," and now realizes that was a wise decision. Otherwise today he'd be in the garment business with Lyndon Schwartz.

This is the last we hear of Lyndon Schwartz, but the first portion of "Politics" is devoted to the other Lyndon and his quest to realize the dreams of young Lyndon Schwartz. There is a dialog between the French ambassador and General de Gaulle where in the latter is visibly moved by a description of a "Visit to the Ranch" — moved to stay home. Also up for needling are President Johnson's press relations, his love of dancing, and his passion for greeting tourists thru the White House fence — all good clean fun.

The rest of "Politics" is also fun providing you voted with the majority last fall. While Buchwald's liberal leanings never get out of hand, they are more than obvious in the mileage he gets from the Senator from Arizona and his ill-starred campaign. Some of this material will be recognized by angry fans of the late, lamented TW3, especially the post-election reunion of those old Senate buddies Barry, Hubert and Lyndon. The scene involves a good deal of yukking it up over various barbs of campaign issues and ending with the ironic toast, "Here's to you, Barry. They don't make many like you anymore." "The Voter" rounds off the opening section. It does not seem quite so funny, perhaps because it is making fun of us rather than some one politician we just read about, but there are some good moments. Perhaps best of this lot is brother-in-law Stephen Smith clueing candidate Bobby Kennedy on the folkways of New York. The effect is to doubt the sincerity of a Senator from New York who has trouble discerning baked beans from bagels. Time will tell.

THE "ON THE Brink of Peace" section is understandably short and obviously written before 1965. It pokes fun at Pentagon generals, the CIA, and other of the hawk set. Its best selection deals with a new top-secret airplane made by Spad Aircraft Co. It is a deadly vehicle with a hand-operated machinegun synchronized to the revolutions of its wooden propeller. The plane is so slow that modern anti-aircraft installations and supersonic jets are helpless against it.

The section called "F.I.N.K." deals with random annoyances of modern life. The heading refers to a sinister organization operating along the lines of the late Ian Fleming's SPECTRE on SMERSH and that bane of Illya Kuryakin and Napoleon Solo — THRUSH (One of Buchwald's few errors appears when he confuses the good guys with the bad, comparing F.I.N.K. to U.N.C.L.E. . . . It's enough to make Mr. Waverly bite (thru a pipestem and articulate). At any rate, the fiendish mission of the F.I.N.K. agents is to prevent anyone, but mainly Art Buchwald, from getting any sleep.

Modern morality — almost a contradiction in terms nowadays — gets some caustic examination. The topless bathing suit, Christine Keeler, and "hard-core" pornography are all spoofed with varying degrees of mirth. Buchwald's plan for more humane treatment of unwed fathers will be amusing to anyone who doesn't take social reform too seriously.

Art Buchwald's thrusts in the civil rights area are less than successful, perhaps because the problem isn't funny, but more likely because the columnist isn't personally involved. Successful integration humor seems limited to those on the scene like Harry Golden or more especially George Wallace, who gets laughs every time he speaks on the issue.

SUNDRY BUT WORTHY items from the "Secret Papers of Art Buchwald" also include what sounds like an acceptable plan to stamp out Beatlemania acceptance by parents. (What self-respecting kid would dig anything his elders endorsed?) There is a vision of Cassius Clay drafted into the Army, demoralizing the rest of the recruits who feel unneeded with M. Ali in ranks. Airlines get their share when the shipping container used to smuggle that Egyptian out of Italy is revealed to be more comfortable and roomier than a tourist class seat.

THE CONCLUDING portions of "... AND THEN I TOLD THE PRESIDENT" try to have some fun with various non-escalating aspects of America foreign policy, a thing the State Department has been unsuccessfully attempting for years. Art Buchwald does not achieve much more entertainment from the situation than the boys from Foggy Bottom. Reality is again probably the villain; the amount of nonsense the U.S. tolerates around the globe is already so ridiculous by itself that even a satirist of Buchwald's considerable talent cannot enlarge upon it.

13. No entry which has a letter that has been erased or written over will be considered for judging.

Our Prizewords account is rounded off at a fat, even $300 today with the addition of another $10 to the puzzle jackpot.

The bonus goes in as a result of failure of Prizewords fans last week in their attempts to solve clues to a puzzle for which a perfect entry would have been worth $290.

That amount stays in the pot, then, and we boost the total prize for a winning effort this week to $300.

HONORABLE mention was shared by three puzzle players in last week's game.

Mrs. Joe Jackman, 819 W. Broadway; Mrs. Mable Rose, Taylor, Wis., and Myron A. Traaen, Spring Grove, Minn., each submitted cards on which there were only three errors.

All of today's prize money will go to the one person who comes up with the answers to all of today's 16 puzzle clues.

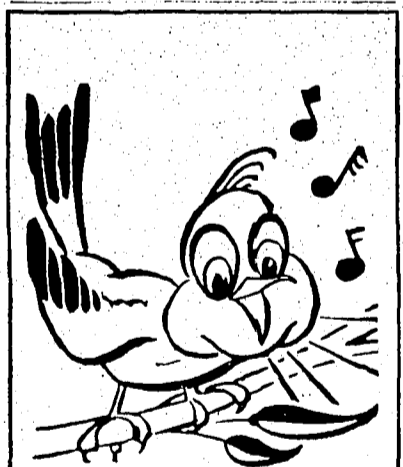

If there are two or more winners this week the prize money will be divided equally.

ON THE OTHER hand, if there isn't a winner this week another $10 will be added next week to swell the prize to $310.

Remember that to be eligible for a prize your entry must be attached to a postcard with four cents postage.

Our judges have been instructed to disregard all entries received in envelopes.

Last Week's Correct Prizewords Solution

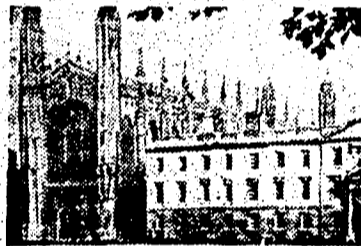

ACROSS

1. It's often very hard for a parent to CURE conceit in a young child. (Curb). Note often and very. To curb the conceit isn't so very hard. CURE indicates the problem is resolved — a much harder task.
3. Women are often very critical of a woman who is DULL (Doll). When the woman is a Doll she's a real cutie, and a natural target for the gals. Her being DULL isn't such a provocation to other women.
5. We might well sympathize with parents whose child is particularly difficult to READ (Rear). READ, in the sense of to understand, makes a reasonable answer. Rear, to bring up, covers a very wide field, even including "read," and calls for an outright statement.
6. A clever woman usually finds it easy to RULE a man (Rile). RULE is better with the emphasis on clever. So far as Rile is concerned, a clever woman avoids Riling anyone.
10. PAIN sometimes causes a youngster's treat to be postponed (Rain). PAIN fits well with sometimes; his pain need not be a great or serious one. The likelihood is much greater that the treat will be postponed if there's Rain.
12. Fond parents are apt to be up in arms against neighbor's children who TAIN'T theirs! (Taunt). The flippancy implied in the clue is better with TAIN'T, the implication being that their own children are little angels! Taunt is very mild in comparison.
13. Even those who SEEK to be independent sometimes ask for help from others (Seem). Seem is less to the point. Though they might Seem to be independent, the impression could be wrong. SEEK fits well with sometimes; they try to be independent.
14. It often happens that one JEST reminds us of another. (Pest). JEST, yes; hearing one joke often does remind us of another joke. This is scarcely so true of Pest. There are many types of Pests.

SPOT OF FAME —
GUESS THE NAME

One of the most perfect buildings in the world, today's spot of fame stands out as a jewel, even amidst the architectural beauty surrounding it.

In keeping with the intentions of its pious founder, King Henry VI, it dominates all the buildings around it. It was built between 1446 and 1515, though not completely finished inside until 1538, and represents the highest achievement of the late medieval phase of Gothic architecture in England. The choir with its trumpeting angels, the exquisite fan vaulting, the stained glass windows, and the lofty spires all contribute to its transcendent beauty.

At one time it was the real center of the Reformation in England, counting Bilney, Barnes, Tyndale, Cranmer and Bucer among its alumni. During the protectorate of Cromwell, it was one of the hotbeds of Puritanism in 17th century England.

By Bonnie
and Reba Churchill

ARE you a slim-suit beauty? If not, here are three measurement-trimming exercises designed to keep you in the glamour swim. As actress Davey Davison illustrates, to streamline the torso, kneel on left leg, extending right limb to the side. Arch left arm overhead, and slowly stretch right hand toward pointed toes. Feel the lateral stretch along the entire left side? The workout is doubly beneficial if the shoulders are kept back, lifted arm remains directly overhead, and right leg is straight. Perform four invigorating times; alternate sides.

TO "IRON-OUT" bulges around the midriff and waist, kneel on floor, and bend right arm so hand rests on left shoulder. Again, arch left arm, and bend as far to the right as possible. Do not overdo action. If right side has a "krinkle" of flesh, you've bent far enough. Davey, seen in the Warner Brothers film, "Marriage On The Rocks," rehearsed routine six times on each side.

ANOTHER "INCH melting" workout that makes itself felt at the waist and limbs begins by kneeling on one leg, extending the other. Raise both hands toward the ceiling, then gradually lower them towards outstretched leg. Try to imitate the grace and rhythm of a ballerina as you practice this exercise. Overlap hands and, with each repetition, gently push closer to the ankle. Start with four stretches; increase to seven. Alternate sides.

Susan B. Cieminski

Susan B. Cieminski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al Cieminski, 422 E. 4th St., a June graduate of Cotter High School, was an officer of the Catholic Students Mission Crusade for four years — secretary as a freshman and treasurer the next three years.

She also was a member of the Red Cross, Pep Club, the National Honor Society for two years and on the B honor roll.

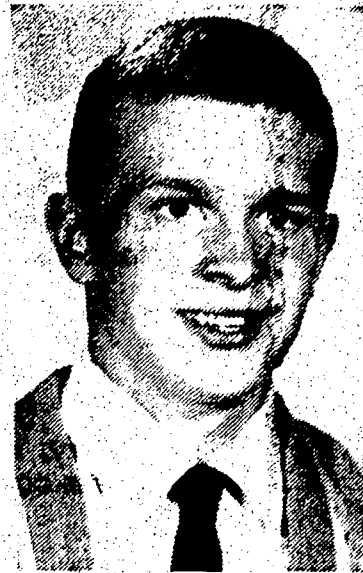

Susan was awarded the National Business Education Association Honor Certificate at graduation for excellence in business education subjects and practical applications in office work. Her favorite subject in high school was English and she has an interest in creative writing.

A member of the homecoming committee in her sophomore year, she was on the prom committee in her junior year.

She plans to enroll at Winona State College and will major in elementary education.

Susan is a member of St. Stanislaus parish and its Youth Club. She's also a member of the Young Democrats Club and her hobbies are water sports, swimming and boating.

She says one of her more memorable experiences was a vacation trip through northern Minnesota.

William Browne

Recognized as Cotter High School's "Student of the Year" at spring commencement exercises, William Browne, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Browne Jr., 77 E. Howard St., was president of his senior class at Cotter and president of the Catholic Students Mission Crusade in his final year.

Browne was a letter winner in basketball and track, in his junior year received the John Srnee Memorial Award for scholastic achievement, courtesy and character and was a member of this year's All-Regional Catholic High School basketball team. He was a member of the National Honor Society and was on the B honor roll. He has been a sportswriter for the school publication, "The Rampart."

Browne lists as his most memorable high school experiences attendance at the National Students Mission Crusade last year — when he was a panelist on the work of the laymen's apostolate — and participation in state Catholic high school basketball tournaments. His favorite subject in high school was advanced literature and he plans to attend St. Mary's College, for which he has been awarded a scholarship.

He's a member of Cathedral of the Sacred Heart where he is a Mass server and member of the men's choir and has taught religion in the CCD program at Cathedral Grade School. His hobbies are listening to classical music, reading and folk songs.

TV Special on Gambling

ed and interviewed both dealers and players in an attempt to get some idea of why gambling, legal and illegal, is one of our major industries.

Many of these talks with system players are on the show but one interview with a dealer which did not make the final program does say a lot for casino gambling. "I asked the dealer whether anybody can win in a casino," said Warren, "and he said that the owners of casinos are gamblers same as the players.

"After all, he explained, they can lose even though the percentages are stacked on their side. Then, concluded this dealer, the only way a system can work is for the players to know more than the operators. He's been in Las Vegas for 15 years and he's never seen that miracle."

Although Warren is not a gambler he does enjoy an occasional game of poker and, as if to further illustrate the dealer's story, he recalled a wartime experience. It seems Warren was an officer stationed in Okinawa and poker was a popular time killer after the island was secure.

"The same group gathered in the tent every night to play," explained Warren, "and they were always asking a certain Commander to join them but he said he couldn't make it since he was writing to his wife. Every night while they played he wrote to his wife.

"Finally, after ten days he agreed to join the game and took them for everything they had. After breaking them, he laughingly tore up their IOUs and pointed out that he hadn't been writing to his wife but simply making notes on their mannerisms which made winning from them a cinch. I never forgot that lesson and it's one of the reasons I do not gamble."

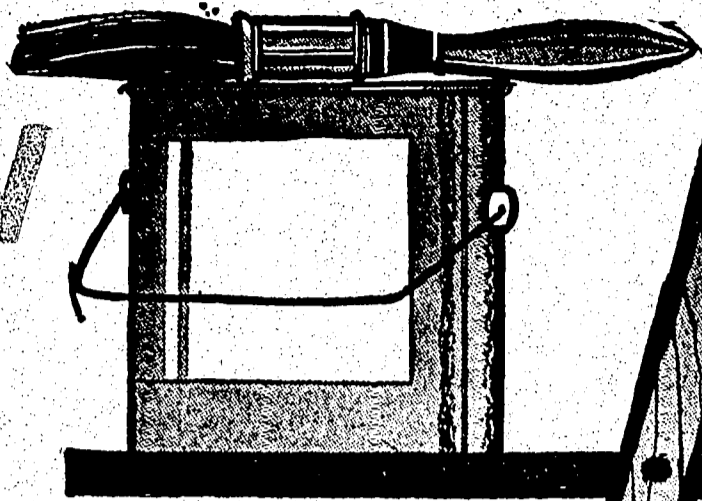

But the TV audience is advised to take a chance and watch "Everybody's Got a System," next Friday night on ABC.
