Floods Move Into Kansas, Nebraska

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The worst flood ever known along the Arkansas River swept into western Kansas Saturday — the most severe of a series of death-dealing inundations which tore through the Great Plains country from Montana to New Mexico.

Eighteen persons are known to have died, either by drowning or from causes directly associated with the high water. Fears were expressed the toll will mount higher as rescue workers get into isolated areas.

The toll by states, included Colorado 10, Kansas 1, Wyoming 3, New Mexico 2, and Montana 2.

Reports already were trickling in. A child died, knocked from its mother's arm by floating debris near Deertrail, Colo. A man died a few miles away attempting to free his dog from a pen.

Property damage has been enormous. Gov. John A. Love said Colorado losses alone are $102 million. Wyoming Civil Defense officials also reported losses as tremendous.

President Johnson telephoned Love, expressing concern, the Colorado governor's office reported.

Some 200 miles north of the Arkansas River, the South Platte — flowing a mile wide but slowing down — crept into Nebraska near Big Springs, scene of a recent bank robbery and triple killing.

Elsewhere, with danger past, cleanup operations moved forward.

Denver, where the cloud-burst-flooded South Platte swept out of the foothills Wednesday night, had 1,000 men on the job — many of them clearing debris threatening the 11 of 24 bridges still standing. The city also swung into action as the hub of relief efforts for communities downstream.

Thousands of persons were driven from their homes in western Kansas, even before the Arkansas crest arrived, with 300 evacuated at Garden C / alone.

Police Chief Greco Gigante said almost all residents of Springer, N.M., who were routed from their homes are back and "there is just a lot of mud and filth to clean up." Similar conditions existed at Raton, Cimmaron and Maxwell, N.M.

Wyoming escaped much damage it otherwise would have suffered, because big storage reservoirs at Guernsey and Glendo stopped the flood waters. Without them losses would have been devastating, state officials were told.

OVERTHROWN . . . Algerian President Ahmed Ben Bella was overthrown Saturday. The report came as tanks and troops took up positions at strategic points in Algiers. (AP Photofax)

Ben Bella Upset by Algerian Army Coup

ALGIERS (AP) — An army-backed coup carried off before dawn Saturday ousted President Ahmed Ben Bella as a "diabolical dictator." By nightfall a revolutionary council that took over power was reported to be preparing charges of high treason against him.

Emerging as the strong man of the council, and signing its first declaration, was Col. Hou-ari Boumediene, 40, vice premier and defense minister.

The declaration said Ben Bella would "meet the fate of all despots." Besides treason, it accused him of abuse of personal power.

Most tanks which moved into position before dawn had been withdrawn, although a few stood sentry outside some buildings. Troops armed with submachine guns patrolled the streets.

The city was quiet and Algerians sat at sidewalk bistros sipping drinks. A few muttered dislike for Boumediene and some said he had engineered the coup because of disagreement with Ben Bella on domestic matters.

There was no official information as to Ben Bella's whereabouts, but rumor had it that he is being held in an army barracks somewhere in the city.

There was no indication what direction the new regime would take. Ben Bella maintained close ties with both the Soviet Union and Red China in a leftist government that never got off the ground.

Boumediene, 40, was said by the French to have received military training in Moscow and Peking. French officials with inside knowledge say he definitely is not pro-Chinese, but is first an Arab nationalist who wants to see socialism work in Algeria.

Apparently, Boumediene's patience with Ben Bella, 48, was exhausted by the president's "government by whim," as Radio Algiers put it. The two had been close associates since 1954, the first year of the Algerian rebellion against France.

The council's statement was broadcast over Radio Algiers hours after tanks and troops had been posted about the city and around Ben Bella's residence, Villa Joly.

Reports of angry shouting mingled with the shattering of window glass in Ben Bella's home preceded the announcement and he may have been forcibly taken by the military under direction of the council.

First outward signs of the coup occurred just as dawn broke over the port city. Tanks rumbled through the streets and troops took up posts at public buildings and residences of Algerian government officials.

There were some reports of sporadic shots in a suburban area but an evening broadcast said there was no bloodshed.

Then Algiers radio began playing patriotic music in place of regular programs and cau-

General Ky New Premier Of Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The reins of government in South Viet Nam passed Saturday to Brig. Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky, who accepted the premiership saying he hoped civilian government can be restored in a few months.

Ky, 34, colorful combat pilot and commander of the Vietnamese air force, took over from Premier Pha Huy Quat in the eighth change of government in South Viet Nam in 20 months.

Quat quit a week ago after a dispute with Phan Khac Suu, chief of state, over reshuffling of the Cabinet and as a result of opposition from religious elements. Suu also resigned.

Ky took office in a ceremony at Dien Hong conference hall on the banks of the Saigon River. In his acceptance speech he said South Viet Nam faced a critical period and called for austerity on the part of the people.

"I hope in a few months to be able to return power to a civilian government at which time I will go back to the air force," Ky added.

"I am just a pilot. As a pilot I don't like politics. But the generals have picked me because they have confidence in me. They picked me more to risk my life than as an honor."

Close American military associates reportedly are fond of Ky.

Ky has been commander of the steadily growing Vietnamese air force since a month after the coup on Nov. 1, 1963, against President Ngo Dinh Diem. He has frequently flown missions against the Communists and participated in one of the first raids against North Viet Nam, last February.

Ky usually wears a tailored black flying suit with a lavender Ascot for combat missions. He wears a pistol belt slung around the hips cowboy style.

The armed forces assumed all power in the new government although 14 of the 16 Cabinet posts are held by civilians.

The Congress of the Armed Forces of Viet Nam, made up of 20 top military officers, is the highest governmental authority. Under it is a 10-man military directory, which in turn is over an executive committee of generals. Ky is chairman of this committee.

In their public appearance Saturday the civilian Cabinet members wore white shirts and no ties — a kind of uniform symbolizing their status as a war Cabinet.

France Hails Humphrey and U.S. Spacemen

PARIS (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and the Gemini astronauts, James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II, captured the spotlight from the Russians at the International Air Show near Paris Saturday.

But a scheduled formal meeting between the astronauts and Soviet spaceman Yuri Gagarin fell through when the Russians announced Gagarin would be "too busy."

Humphrey, White and McDivitt won cheers and applause from visitors to the show during their daylong tour of exhibits.

The Russians previously had dominated the show through the presence of Gagarin and the introduction of a 250-ton transport plane they claim can carry up to 720 passengers.

The visit of the vice president, the U.S. space pilots and their wives went a long way to restore the luster of U.S. representation at the show, marred last week by the crash of a U.S. Air Force B58 bomber on landing. Its pilot was killed.

Despite the collapse of hope at the show for a meeting between Gagarin and the U.S. astronauts, Humphrey led White, McDivitt and their wives on a quick tour of the Soviet Pavilion where the meeting was to have taken place.

The vice-presidential party inspected the Vostok 2 space capsule on display, then quickly departed as visitors to the show jammed the pavilion.

U.S. Embassy officials said no formal reason had been received for the apparent Soviet snub of the visiting astronauts.

"We were just advised that Gagarin would be too busy," the official said.

Gagarin and White shook hands briefly, however, at a luncheon for 4,275 guests held later in a hangar at Le Bourget Airport.

White sat only three tables away from the Soviet Cosmonaut and Gagarin shook hands with him as he passed.

Humphrey earlier met with French space and air show officials as White and McDivitt demonstrated equipment used in the Gemini flight.

Rodeo Clown Wounds 24

GLADEWATER, Tex. (AP) — A rodeo clown firing what was supposed to be a blank charge peppered spectators with bird shot Friday night, wounding 24 persons and creating pandemonium.

Investigators said it obviously was an accident but they had not determined early today how a live shell got into the shotgun.

Of the wounded, 11 adults remained in hospitals overnight but attendants said none suffered serious injury. The others were dismissed after emergency treatment.

Police said the clown, Ken Arthur Boen, 41, of Fort Smith, Ark., told questioners he noticed before the performance that his box of blank shells was nearly empty, and he would need to buy more.

Sheriff Doyle Johnson of nearby Gilmer filed a charge of assault with a prohibited weapon against Boen.

The clown was not in custody. The sheriff said investigators had no idea how the live charge got into the shotgun.

Gladewater is a town of 6,000 in the middle of the east Texas oil area.

Boen rode a Shetland pony into the arena, firing a cap pistol as eight small boys hired for his act gave chase. He stopped and they asked to ride the pony.

At that point the pony reared and the clown fired his shotgun, making no attempt to aim.

Shotgun pellets sprayed amid men, women and children in the stands.

They were among nearly 5,000 witnessing one of the performances staged annually by the Gladewater Roundup Rodeo Association. Its profits finance a $1,000 college scholarship award each year.

George Thiss New Minnesota GOP Chairman

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — George Thiss, Minneapolis, was elected Minnesota Republican Chairman at the GOP state central committee here Saturday succeeding outgoing chairman Robert Forsythe. Forsythe resigned the post.

Thiss was unopposed.

Mrs. Mark G. Brataas, Rochester, was re-elected state chairwoman.

Others elected included John Moony, Edina, first vice chairman; Mrs. John G. Freeman, St. Paul, first vice chairman; Roy Lenhardt, St. Cloud, second vice chairman; Mrs. Frank O. Jones, Fairmont, second vice chairman; J. Robert Stassen, South St. Paul, third vice chairman; Mrs. Roy C. Nelson, Duluth, third vice chairman; Mrs. Norman Hauger, Park Rapids, secretary, and David Lilly, St. Paul, treasurer.

The central committee meeting concluded with a noon luncheon.

Committee members voted to hold the 1965 Republican state convention at Rochester, Oct. 15 and 16.

The central committee paid tribute to Forsythe at a dinner last night.

Included in the activities was the appearance of a mystery guest who turned out to be George Farr, state Democratic-Farmer-Labor party chairman. Farr presented Forsythe with a gift certificate for 92 votes and a lifetime pass for Highway 35.

Committee members also were informed that Minnesota Young Republicans were named the outstanding state unit in the nation for the second straight year, at the young Republican national convention in Miami Friday.

Col. Boumedienne New Algerian Leader

tioned Algerians to stay by their sets for an important announcement.

Shortly before noon rumors that Ben Bella had been overthrown were confirmed by the revolutionary council's statement.

The city remained calm, and by nightfall tanks were withdrawn from in front of public buildings.

Ben Bella, former French army sergeant and one of the heroes of Algeria's seven-year rebellion against France, was in disgrace.

The council said Ben Bella frittered away the country's economy in government by personal whim. It charged him with being a charlatan, adventurer, oppressing the people, a man who had committed high treason and of ruling by menace and blackmail.

The council's statement indicated that the final blow was Ben Bella's activity concerning the African-Asian summit conference scheduled to open in Algiers June 29.

The statement charged that Ben Bella had planned to profit personally by the conference and "not to reaffirm our common ideals of solidarity, liberty and peace, but to extend his personal power."

There was no clear indication whether the conference is still on. The council's declaration paid tribute to it as a matter of great prestige for Algeria but there was no statement that it would be held on schedule.

Pictures Touch Heart of America

NEW YORK (AP) — Poignant pictures of two war-orphaned Vietnamese youngsters — one a wounded, weeping girl and the other a defiant, suspicious boy, both about 5 — have touched the hearts of Americans from Ontario, Calif., to Proctor, Vt.

The photos were taken by Horst Faas, a Pulitzer prize-winning Associated Press photographer, in the aftermath of fierce battles between Vietnamese soldiers and Viet Cong guerrillas.

The girl, barefoot and clad only in dark pantaloons, her left arm and hand swathed in bandages, is shown limping through the rubble of Dong Xoai. Her parents were killed in the battle that raged through the town.

"We want this little girl to love and take care of with our four children," wrote a couple from Ontario, Calif., to The Associated Press. "We don't have much money . . . but we do have a lot of love and a little ranch-like home here. Could be (Faas) help us get her over here to adopt?"

A Proctor, Vt., man also wanted to be put in touch with Faas "to find out if it is possible to adopt her if she has no other place," and a man in Issaquah, Wash., wrote to the Seattle Times: "Our family talked about it. We would like to see about adopting her."

The boy, the only survivor found by Vietnamese rangers when they entered the demolished rubber plantation town of Thuan Loi, touched a farm woman in Newark, Ohio.

"He reached right out to me last night in a pitiful plea for care," she wrote. "I will not rest until I can somehow find out about this little one (and) the possibility of getting him and giving him a loving home."

The possibilities of finding either youngster again are slim. In the confusion that followed the fighting, neither was identified. But Faas and The Associated Press promised to try.

Edwin Luberts Elected by VFW

GRAND RAPIDS, Minn. (AP) Sixth district commander Edwin Luberts of Long Prairie was named commander of the year in Minnesota, as the state Veterans of Foreign Wars convention concluded here Saturday.

Elected state commander as expected was Ron Konitz, Minneapolis. Robert Pierce, Pine City, was elected senior vice commander.

Mrs. Louis Anderson, Elbow Lake, was elected president of the auxiliary.

Almost 2,000 delegates attended the convention, believed to be the best attendance in its history.

Italian Plane Crashes Into Parking Lot

PARIS (AP) — An Italian two-seat jet plane, performing at the Paris international air show, crashed into the parking lot at Le Bourget field Saturday. Show officials and a newsman at the scene said at least seven persons were killed.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and the U.S. Gemini space twins, Edward H. White II and James A. McDivitt, had left the field a short time before the crash.

The plane spun crazily out of the sky and slammed into a number of cars in the lot. Spectators were watching the air show from their cars.

Johnson Signs Big Flood Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill authorizing an additional $944 million worth of navigation and flood-control work in 33 river basins was signed Saturday by President Johnson.

The House had approved construction work totaling $263 million in 10 basins during the fiscal year which begins July 1. The Senate then added three basins, increased the authorization, and extended the authority an additional fiscal year. The House later accepted the Senate amendments.

Money for the projects will be subject to separate action by Congress. The bill signed Saturday merely fixes a ceiling on the amount of federal spending in each basin.

The Senate added enough spending authority to complete work on New York's Great Lakes-Hudson River waterway, $5 million. The Senate version raised the ceiling on federal spending to $33 million for the Great Lakes-Hudson River waterway.

The additional funds for the two-year period in other basins included Missouri $116 million and Upper Mississippi $27 million.

Johnson Signs Duluth Man Shoots Out Two Windows

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — A Duluth man shot out two windows, damaged the window castings, splintered a door and put bullet holes in his garage wall early Saturday as he fired at a bear in his garage.

The bear escaped, apparently without a scratch.

Bernard Benninghoff told Earl Lhotka, Duluth area game warden superintendent, that he fired five shots from a .30 caliber pistol at the bear as the animal raided the garage to get at garbage cans Benninghoff keeps there.

Benninghoff was aroused about 4 a.m. by noise and stood in his breezeway as he laid down his barrage from about 20 feet away. Lhotka said there were no indications the bear was struck by any of the bullets. Scratches indicated the bear had pushed the garage open to enter.

Economic Trend Expected to Continue Upward

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's top economic adviser says the nation's economy is advancing during the current quarter at an annual rate of 5 per cent and should continue to rise in the months ahead.

Gardner Ackley, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors, issued the latest in a series of White House reports stressing the soundness of the economy following Friday's Cabinet meeting.

Lewiston Ready for Bowery Days Celebration

LEWISTON, Minn. (Special) — Bowery Days, a three-day event, begins here Friday with a professional wrestling show at the school grounds beginning at 8 p.m.

From Friday through Sunday the celebration schedule calls for a round of queen contests, parades and similar events. Following the wrestling show will be a teen-age dance at 9 p.m. at the Lewiston pavilion.

SATURDAY EVENTS will begin at 10:30 a.m. with a kiddie parade, followed by a home talent show at 12:30 p.m. Mrs. Raymond Nussloch and Mrs. Roland Olmstead are in charge of both.

A tractor-pulling contest, with $300 in prizes offered, begins at 1 p.m. at the school athletic field. Rules require entrants to hold valid drivers licenses, to operate tractors safely and slowly on penalty of disqualification, and to use only tractors with two-wheel drive, tires filled to 12 pounds of pressure. Speed of pull must be 3 1/2 to 5 miles per hour, no down-shifting is permitted and drawbars may not be more than 20 inches high. Women and homemade tractors are allowed, subject to judges' discretion.

Four judges will regulate all phases of each contestant's pull and will rule on safety and other factors. Tractors are to be impounded after weighing in and guarded until warmup time.

Firemen from Altura, Rollingstone and Lewiston will stage a water fight at 3:30 p.m.

Coronation of the festival queen will be Saturday at 10 p.m. at the bowery dance which begins at 9.

Woman Injured In Pleasant Valley Crash

A missed curve on a county road followed by a bucking, flipping ride in the ditch led to Community Memorial Hospital for a 27-year-old driver Saturday afternoon.

Sheriff George L. Fort reported that Miss Donniss N. Groth, 320 Lafayette St., was driving alone south on County 17 at about 1:40 p.m. when her car left the road 5 miles south of Winona in Pleasant Valley.

A hospital official said that Miss Groth was in satisfactory condition but had been admitted to the hospital for observation. A cut on Miss Groth's head was sutured in the emergency room.

The Winona woman was rounding a curve to the left when her car went off the road onto the right shoulder for 144 feet. The Groth vehicle struck a culvert with its right wheel and sailed through the air for 45 more feet before coming down on its front bumper, according to the sheriff's report.

Miss Groth's 1951 model compact sedan flipped onto its top and skidded another 57 feet before coming to rest upside down in the ditch facing south. The two-door sedan was totally demolished, according to Deputy Vernon Spitzer.

Rushford VFW Planning New Remodeling

RUSHFORD, Minn. (Special) — The Rushford Veterans of Foreign Wars post is discussing further remodeling of its club.

The discussion was held at a meeting last week, when new officers were in charge. Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Johnson are commander and president of the post and auxiliary.

Other new post officers are: Kenneth Hegland, senior vice commander; Charles Halvorson, junior vice commander; Marvin Baker, adjutant; Norman Ebner, quartermaster; Joseph Rislove, patriotic instructor; Lawrence Westby, officer of the day; James Humble, historian; Luther Myhro, service officer; Carl Gann Jr., legislative officer and Robert Betz, public relations officer.

A new member, Richard Brozman, just home from Viet Nam, was officially welcomed. His father, Basil Brozman, also is a member and the two form the first father-son combination to be enrolled by the post.

Commander Johnson, Halvorson and Hegland were to be delegates to the state convention this weekend at Park Rapids.

The post will sponsor a queen candidate at the Rushford Homecoming celebration, July 16-19.

Lake Citian Now In Satisfactory Condition Here

Charles T. Murphy, 42, Lake City, Minn., was described by an official as in satisfactory condition with a back strain Saturday afternoon at Community Memorial Hospital.

Murphy was injured in the sacroiliac region of his spine Wednesday morning when a Chicago & North Western freight struck the rear of his pickup truck after the Lake City man had brought the vehicle swerving to a stop partially on the tracks south of Lewiston.

Murphy's doctor said that impact of the collision had shoved the truck's seat against Murphy's back "with a bang," producing the back strain. No evidence of bone fractures has been found, the doctor added.

Legion at Lake City To Sponsor Carnival

LAKE CITY, Minn. — Louis McCabill American Legion Post will sponsor a summer festival street carnival Friday through Sunday.

Boy Happy When Train Ride Ends

An 11-year-old Winona boy got an unexpected and unwelcome — train ride early Friday evening.

Greg Whitten, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Whitten, 162 Whitten St., was playing on railroad cars stopped on a track near Westfield Golf Course when he slipped and fell into a gondola car with sides about 10 feet high.

Almost immediately, the train began to move, and the boy's cries were not heard.

The train stopped again near the intersection of Walnut and Bellevue streets, however, and a resident heard his calls for help. She notified police at 6:43 p.m.

Investigating patrolmen found the boy, and railroad workers got him out of the car. The patrolmen took him to police headquarters, cleaned him up, then returned him to his home.

Stalled Auto Figures In Four-Car Collision

A stalled car on the Mankato Avenue dike Friday night caused four cars to become involved in a "chain-reaction" accident.

Miss Judith C. Meier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meier, 480 Collegeview St., was driving northward at about 11:25 p.m. when — at a point about 150 feet north of Trunk Highway 14-61 — the car ahead of hers stalled in the traffic lane.

The stalled car was driven by Miss Kela Seitz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Seitz, 108 E. Wabasha St., Miss Meier said.

Another car — this one driven by Barbara Barth, 322 McBride St. — stopped behind the vehicle Miss Meier was driving.

A THIRD CAR, driven by Thomas A. Kohner, 252 Liberty St., came up behind the Barth vehicle, but was unable to stop. It hit the rear of the Barth car, pushing it, in turn, into the rear of the Meier car.

Along came a fourth car, with Kenneth R. Duellman, 460 E. Sanborn St., at the wheel.

It, too, hit the last of the string of cars, pushing them into one another.

Miss Seitz, apparently unaware of the mishap, had driven away, and her car was not damaged. She later returned, however.

No injuries resulted from the pile-up, but property damage totaled $450. It was distributed this way: $100 to the rear of the Meier car, $150 to the front of the Barth car, $150 to the front and rear of the Kohner car and $50 to the front of the Duellman car.

Miss Meier's parents are the owners of the car she was driving. Thomas Barth is the owner of the second car, while Alvin Kohner is the owner of the car Thomas Kohner was driving. Their addresses are the same as the drivers'.

A total of $465 resulted from a collision involving two out-of-town cars at 12:10 p.m. Friday at the intersection of TH 14-61 and Huff Street.

A CAR DRIVEN by Robert A. Murphy, 16, Conroe Texas, and owned by Harvey Murphy, Conroe, began to turn left from Huff Street into the eastbound lane of TH 14-61.

Murphy told police he did not see the approach of a car driven by Florence Malone, San Diego, Calif., and owned by John F. Malone, San Diego, which was in the westbound lane of the four-lane highway.

Patrol Studies Circumstances Of Accident

The Minnesota Highway Patrol is continuing to investigate an accident that occurred at 9:45 p.m. Friday on Trunk Highway 61 at 44th Avenue in Goodview.

David W. Gepner, 21, 1302 Parkview Ave., who was driving southward on the highway, pulled into the left lane of the two-lane southbound roadway, preparatory to making a left turn onto 44th Avenue.

A car driven by Patrick E. Vaughn, 18, Rollingstone, also southbound, struck the Gepner car in the rear.

Both cars were total losses. Patrolman Mike Eckhart, St. Charles, who is investigating, said both drivers and their two passengers — 19-year-old Jeff Gepner, who was riding in his brother's car, and Miss Donna Wilkens, Winona, who was with Vaughn — complained of pain. All refused treatment at the accident scene, however, he said.

Winonan at International Air Show

A Winona man, J. Michael Platteler, is in Paris, France, this week as an Air Force representative for Travis AFB, Calif., at the International Air Show, Le Bourget Field.

Platteler, 27, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Platteler, 111 1/2 W. 3rd St. He is an airline supervisor for the Military Air Transport Service.

The air show, which began June 10 and will end Monday, features aircraft from all over the world. Platteler and other members of his crew will display the Lockheed C-141 jet Starlifter commercial air freight plane.

Platteler's overseas assignments have included duty in Formosa, Guam, Newfoundland, Hawaii, Okinawa and Spain, where he married the former Maria-Victoria Ortega.

His wife's parents own and operate a prominent shoe firm in Seville. The company manufactures shoes and boots for the widely-known flamenco dance troupe headed by Jose Greco.

Platteler is a 1955 graduate of Colter High School. He lives with his wife and daughter in California.

Winonan at International Air Show

A car driven by Loren H. Paetzel, 723 E. 2nd St., struck a parked car owned by Mickey G. Colbenson, 723 1/2 E. 2nd St., in front of both men's house at about 11:24 p.m. Friday.

Damage to the right front of the Murphy car was set at $165, while that to the Malone car was estimated at $300. There were no injuries to drivers or passengers.

Hokah Couple Marks Their 65th Anniversary

HOKAH, Minn. (Special) — A man who once was cooper for the old Cargill flour mill here and his wife have celebrated their 65th wedding anniversary.

The remarkable thing about Julius Wittenberg, 88, and his wife, the former Mary Radtke, 83, is that in their long lives neither ever has been hospitalized.

BUT ON A hot June afternoon recently in their comfortable little home in Hokah, Jule told about a three-year bout he had with typhoid fever and winter cholera when he was a teenager. He contracted the typhoid from drinking contaminated water.

He was born Nov. 27, 1876, on South Ridge between La Crescent and Winona. His parents, Karl Wittenberg and Albertine Kienz, came to the U.S. from Pommern, Germany, with a large party of immigrants. Because they knew the Butcher family living on South Ridge, settling on what is known as the McDonald farm on German Ridge.

When Jule was a small boy, his father worked at the Milwaukee Railroad shops in Hokah. His job was painting coaches. When the shops were moved to Austin, Karl got a job as a cooper with the flour mill.

At 13, Jule started working at the cooper shop, too. Each employe's quota was 12 100-pound barrels a day, except when the mill had larger orders. Then they made more. Young and agile, Jule would do his own, then help his father. Jule also worked as oiler in the mill.

While still a youngster, Jule moved on to La Crosse to work in a cooper shop. One day when he was thirsty, he took a drink of water. One of the other employes said, "Don't drink that water." But it was too late; he contracted typhoid and lay abed in his home six weeks.

Soon after the fever broke he felt so good he walked to the other end of Hokah to see his sister; the fever returned. That is when he contracted cholera, too, and he was laid up three years. He tried helping a crew that was laying waterworks in town, but was too weak.

DURING THIS time the mill closed down and his father resumed the painting trade. Jule joined him, and was engaged in painting and paper hanging until in 1953; he was 76 then and retired.

"I felt I wasn't doing a day's work for the people who hired me," he said. "It wasn't fair to them to pay for a day's work they didn't get, so I quit." Now he tends his garden and daily makes a trip downtown, winter or summer.

Mrs. Wittenberg's parents, August and Mina Radtke, also came from Germany. They first stopped in La Crosse and then moved to a farm in the Hokah area. He worked at the Milwaukee freight depot at Hokah.

THE WITTENBERGS were married June 15, 1900, at his parents' home by a German Lutheran minister.

They have four sons: Raymond, Three Rivers, Mich.; Kenneth, Gary, Ind.; Clarence, Madison, Wis.; and Carl, La Crescent, and three daughters, Mrs. Grant (Charlotte) Karlstad, Rochester; Mrs. Peter (Marcie) Neuburg, San Diego, Calif.; and Mrs. Lawrence (Mildred) Coleman, Regan, N.D. One daughter, Margaret, has died.

County Gets $8,788 From Housing Units

A check for $8,788 will be paid to the city treasurer this month as payment in lieu of taxes for property comprising the Arthur C. Thurley Homes low-income housing projects.

The amount is distributed to state, county, city and school units in proportion to the respective tax levies.

The amount represents 10 percent of net rentals collected for the fiscal year which ended March 31. Total rentals for the year were $125,906.61, according to Arthur A. Gallien, executive director for the Winona Housing and Redevelopment Authority, which administers the projects. The net shelter rent of $87,887 is determined by subtracting $38,020 in utilities expenses from the gross rental income.

HAD THE 13-acre area paid regular tax rates based on its current developed value, taxes would have been $70,719, according to Gallien's annual report now being reviewed by Public Housing Administration auditors.

On the other hand, said Gallien, if the land were in its original condition, prior to construction of the Thurley project in 1954, the tax bill would have been about $265. The area was formerly unimproved acreage and was used as farm land.

Since its development 11 years ago, the project area has returned $66,652 in the form of in-lieu payments, including this year's remittance. Yearly payments, since the project's inception, are:

1955	4,150.86
1957	4,023.17
1958	4,998.13
1959	5,613.63
1960	6,065.00
1961	6,279.09
1962	6,628.10
1963	7,739.03

$66,652.15
Gallien said the drop in tax es' this year from the 1964 high of $9,059 was caused by higher utilities costs which are included in the fixed rents paid by tenants. In the Thurley Homes section, rentals include gas for space heat, cooking and water heating, plus a fixed amount of electric power. Tenants who use more electricity than the regular minimum are charged for the overages.

In the Schaffner homes for elderly persons, rentals include gas for heat, cooking and water but tenants pay their own electric bills.

The long winter put heavy demands on space heaters, thus reducing the net amount of income to the project, even though occupancy remains about the same at all times, Gallien said. The Thurley section has 160 units and the Schaffner section has 39. Occupancy is consistently near the 100 percent level.

RESIDUAL RECEIPTS, the difference between net rentals collected and expenses of operation, as adjusted by auditors, are returned to the housing authority's fiscal agent to reduce the annual federal government contribution which guarantees payment to bondholders and holders of temporary notes issued by the housing authority.

The maximum federal government contribution to the authority here is $88,991 a year, Gallien said. This year, the government's contribution was $56,742, since the project was able to turn over $32,248 of residual receipts. According to the authority's contract with the government, the annual federal contributions will be made for a period of 40 years.

CHATFIELD, Minn. — The Olmsted County health department will not reissue a license for the Chatfield city dump unless something is done to improve operations.

This decision was announced at a city council meeting earlier this week in a letter stating that the dump is badly located, and refuse is not covered at regular enough intervals.

The result is that there is a smoke nuisance for much of the north end of town — and the dump is overrun by rats.

The health department said that it would go along with the present situation this year if the dump is taken care of. But it will issue no more licenses for its operation until improvements are made.

Singer Denied Admission To St. Cloud

Sheriff George L. Fort thought he had seen the last of Donald Singer, 20, Minnesota City, Friday morning when he waved Singer and a deputy goodbye.

Singer — a frequent resident of county jail in recent months — was being taken to St. Cloud Reformatory to begin serving a one-year term for burglary, less the roughly 90 days he had spent in county jail since his arrest on the burglary charge.

Judge Arnold Hatfield had sentenced the Minnesota City youth in District Court Monday after studying a pre-sentence investigation made by an employee of the state commissioner of corrections.

Sheriff Fort was surprised to find, Friday afternoon, that his deputy had returned with a passenger — Donald Singer.

It seems that it is the policy of the commissioner of corrections not to admit anyone at the reformatory unless his sentence is one year or more.

Singer's one-year sentence did not qualify him for admittance because of the 90 days he had already served.

County Attorney S. A. Sawyer now must bring Singer before Judge Hatfield again for a modification of the judge's sentencing order. Sheriff Fort thought this might be done Monday.

Three Hit-Runs, Theft Reported

Winona police are reporting three hit-and-run incidents and a report of a petty theft.

The first report of a hit-and-run came at 12:25 p.m. Friday from G. M. Grabow, 1336 Parkview Ave., president of Merchants National Bank. Grabow told police about $75 damage was done to his car's right rear.

At 6:15 p.m. Friday, Mrs. William Heise reported that her car had been struck by a hit-and-run driver while it was parked in the National Tea lot at 5th and Main streets. She estimates that $20 damage had been done to the car's left front.

Mrs. Alice Maier, 274 E. Sanborn St., told police sometime Friday that her car had been struck by an unknown driver while it was parked on Sanborn Street, about 75 feet west of Kansas Street. She set damage to its left side at $25.

The alleged theft was reported Friday morning by James Anderson, YMCA director, who said an undetermined amount of money was taken from a vending machine at the YMCA.

Applicants for Rollingstone Post Down to 3

Gary Ruppert, 522 Gould St., said today his name was erroneously included on a list of applicants for the Rollingstone postmaster's examination published by the Civil Service Commission.

The commission had listed Ruppert, along with Richard Reiland, Mrs. Richard Reiland and Joseph Ries, as applicants for the examination. The Reilands and Ries are Rollingstone residents.

Ruppert, who is automatically ineligible because of residence, said his name was on the list by mistake, apparently as the result of an inquiry he had made previously to the commission. He will not take the June 26 examination, he said.

In a further complication, Ruppert's name was transposed in a news story Monday and the name of Gerhard Ruppert, Rollingstone area farmer, was used. Ruppert said he has no intention of applying for the position.

Ruppert, a postal employee, works on the highway post-office bus assigned to the Winona-Austin run.

Osseo Clerk Gets OK to Issue Some Licenses

OSSEO, Wis. (Special) — The city council voted to give the city clerk permission to issue cigarette and coin machine licenses without a council vote.

A resolution was passed to approve plans and grades of street or highway improvements undertaken by the Wisconsin Highway Commission, beginning at a point 163 feet east of the North Western Railway tracks and extending easterly to the east corporate city limits.

Building permits were issued to Ernest Bidney, Garry Christiansen and Harry Hageness. Trailer permits were issued to Ernest Bidney, Warren Bratland and Edgar Colvin.

Bartender licenses were issued to Arnold McCune, James McCune, Gene McCune, Merle Andrus, Maynard F. Schwelke, Wayne Erickson, Harlow E. Backus, LeRoy G. Hagen, Myron Larson, Charles A. Sunday, Clayton Skoug and Larry E. Gomsrud.

Reassessment of personal property is to start about July 1.

Sparrow Thwarts Best Film Brains

By EARL WILSON

LONDON — It was out at Shepperton Studios. "Tweep, tweep!" shrieked an English sparrow perched unseen among the rafters of a movie set.

Some of the greatest brains of motion pictures were completely baffled by this elusive bird which was fouling up the sound track of a dramatic scene.

Stanley Baker and Cy Endfield, co-producers, had gone through hell and heat for weeks in Southwest Africa shooting "Sands of Kalahari" — now they were in civilization where all should be easy.

"Tweep, tweep!" spake the sparrow.

"You'll have to get rid of your bird!" Baker called out to Endfield, while Stuart Whitman, Susannah York, Theo Bikel and others sighed or groaned.

"Hey, Jack!" Director Endfield wagged a thumb at a prop man who signaled to an assistant who went out with a large gun pointed at the ceiling toward where the sparrow could be hiding out. We held our ears.

"BOOM! BOOM!" roared the gun. "BOOM! BOOM!"

"Those blanks probably scared him away," Cy Endfield said happily. "Shall we resume?"

THE ACTORS gathered before the camera for the dramatic scene in which Stuart Whitman is telling the victims of a plane crash that they may have to eat monkeys to survive.

"Tweep, tweep!" said the sparrow.

"He's still there, Jack!" shouted Endfield. The man with the big gun roared menacingly among the catwalks up above us, peering for the traitorous sparrow.

"Hold your ears again," advised Stanley Baker. He rubbed his long hair and his beard nervously. The man with the gun raised the blunderbuss.

"Imagine... 100 people after one little bird," somebody said.

"BOOM! BOOM! BOOM! BOOM!" roared the gun. "BOOM! BOOM!"

"Thanks, Jack," said Cy Endfield. The actors went back to their marks.

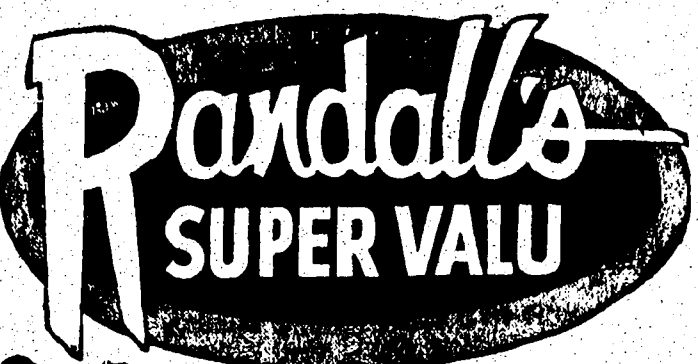

"Tweep, tweep!" shrieked the sparrow. Everybody sat down again.

"Why do they worry?" Stuart Whitman asked. "There were sparrows in Kalahari."

Foreign Aid Delays Probe In Dominicans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The congressional controversy over foreign aid legislation has forced delay of a Senate Foreign Relations Committee inquiry into the Dominican conflict.

The Dominican hearings may be discussed at a closed meeting Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., has set for Monday, but other members said they are not likely to get under way until after the July 4 recess.

The committee also will be asked to consider Monday a proposal by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., that it send a bipartisan subcommittee to South Viet Nam for an on-the-spot study of the situation there.

This proposal has drawn mixed reaction from the committee as has another by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., that the committee conduct South Vietnamese and Dominican inquiries at the same time, dividing into subcommittees for that purpose.

Senate and House conferees met for the first time Friday to discuss major differences in Senate and House foreign aid bills, but put off further conferences until Tuesday after their two-hour meeting failed to make any progress.

The principal points in controversy center around the Senate's two-year, $3.2-billion-a-year measure calling for a cut-off of foreign aid in its present form June 30, 1967.

House conferees are fighting for their one-year, $3.37-billion version with no provision for termination. A compromise bill may require many prolonged meetings. In view of that, Fulbright decided to postpone earlier plans to start the Dominican hearing next week.

Still pending before the committee is the controversial consular treaty with Moscow.

This treaty was pigeonholed last year in the face of opposition from the Senate-House Republican leadership.

Under it, the United States would permit the opening of Soviet consular offices in cities like New York, San Francisco and Chicago in exchange for permission to open U.S. consular offices in similar cities within the Soviet Union.

Republican leaders voiced vigorous opposition last year to ratification of this agreement. They argued its grant of diplomatic immunity to consular employees would free them to engage in espionage.

They have threatened to insist on exhaustive testimony once hearings are scheduled and Fulbright has made no attempt so far to set a date.

Harmony Firm Makes 1,000th Camper

HECO CAMPER . . . Mrs. Dale Turner, Harmony, puts the final stitches on the 1,000th folding camper tent made in her home town factory. (Sunday News photo)

HARMONY, Minn. (Special) — HECO, Inc., of Harmony turned out its 1000th folding camper tent Wednesday morning in an order being filled for an Elkhart, Ind., manufacturer.

Some 50 women employed by the Harmony company, which developed the camper tent and its steel components, are employed at cutting the fabric and sewing it. The steel components include the special HECO hinge. The folding units, complete with canvas top to ward off sun and rain, fits onto a trailer that vacationers and other travelers draw behind their cars.

Wilbur Peterson, Harmony, is busy at the drawing board in HECO's new building constructed last year by a local development organization. He is designing the 1966 model folding camper tent which will go into production in the fall, according to Al Cremer, manager of the factory and president of HECO. The $150,000 corporation is locally owned.

The company also makes patio screens, HECO dressers for bathing beaches and Bikini walking canes in aluminum, black and red colors. These canes can be converted into seats for watching ball games, etc.

HECO has been manufacturing products designed by Merlin Hoiness and Peterson since October 1963.

Mrs. Dale Turner of Harmony put the final stitches on the folding camper tent, but in the assembly line others also had a hand in the 1000th product.

The business provides employment for 58. All machinery used in factory, except the sewing machines, was designed and built in Harmony.

3 From Edina Killed in Crash On Wet Highway

MOUNT JOY, Pa. (AP) — Three members of a vacationing Minnesota family were killed and three others critically injured Thursday when a tractor-trailer jackknifed on a rain-slick highway, overturned and crushed their rented automobile.

State Police said the dead were Clark S. Peterson, 44, of Edina, and his daughters, Betsy, 14, and Holly, 5.

Listed in critical condition at St. Joseph's Hospital in Lancaster are Peterson's wife, Bettye, 42, and their sons, Gary, 16, and Scott, 9. All are suffering from severe head injuries and multiple fractures.

The tractor-trailer, headed toward Lancaster, was loaded with 10 tons of rock salt when it upset on the highway and overturned on the Petersons' car, state Police said.

Gerald P. Racey, 30, of Muncy, Pa., the truck driver, told State Police that he had started to slow the truck on the highway, which was wet from a slight rain at the time, but when he stepped on his brakes, the truck jackknifed. The Peterson car, going in the opposite direction, ran under the trailer and the truck toppled on it.

NASON ON EDUCATION

Baby Talk Can Be a Handicap

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D. University of Southern Calif.

The baby-talker starts with a handicap in kindergarten.

Summer, before school starts, is a chance for a last ditch effort to remedy speech problems and get your child off with a head start.

Not just for kindergarten alone. A large percentage of speech problems in all children are merely carry-overs of "cute" lisps and other baby-talk habits. Sometimes without thinking parents and other adults encourage them.

There is a temptation to talk to a child in his own language. Unfortunately, speech patterns which may be charming in a small child lose their charm and become problems as the child grows older.

WHILE SERIOUS problems need the attention of experts, most are matters of articulation and many can be solved by the child with a little help from his parents.

A child learns to speak by hearing himself and hearing others imitate him, as well as by imitating others. If he makes a funny error and adults repeat it, the child has a good chance of learning the error as correct.

Soon the sounds are lost in the words and the child does not even hear his own errors. Parents can help their children substitute correct speech for baby talk if they help them hear the sounds they are making and identify the errors. When a child hears and recognizes the errors he makes it becomes easier for him to relearn the correct sounds.

HELPING A child hear an error the first time may require patient repeated effort.

Once the correct sound is heard and understood by the child much repetition will be required to make the new sound seem comfortable and correct so that he produces it automatically.

A tape recorder or portable dictating machine may make it possible for a child to listen to his own speech and recognize the difference between correct and incorrect enunciation, but no equipment is necessary.

Have the child memorize a poem or a few sentences containing the questionable word. He should repeat the passage until the content is completely memorized and then begin to pay full attention to how he says the words. By this conscious effort he can learn to use the correct sounds.

THESE ARE problems that call for the cooperation of the whole family. Furthermore, these problems are better solved in the family where the child is less embarrassed by his errors. He can get individual attention in what is always a time-consuming endeavor.

Remember, YOU have learned to understand what your child is saying. In the classroom no one, including the teacher, may completely understand him and this can be frustrating to all concerned.

Youth Corpsmen Do Cleanup At Lake City

LAKE CITY, Minn. (Special) — A Neighborhood Youth Corps project here is employing 10 Lake City boys in flood cleanup work. Foreman for the crew is Bernard Schlundt.

Payment for the work, at $1.25 an hour, is by federal government funds from the office of Economic Opportunity. The city must furnish equipment and materials. Boys work 40 hours a week on the projects.

Ohufa Park, completely inundated in the flood, has been reseeded and rolled by the crew. The grounds are now being moistened in order to encourage quick germination of grass seed.

Boys working are: Mike Henke, Ralph Heins, William, Neil and Dean Brunkow, David Oliver, Lowell Hessler, Michael Glynn, Peter Martin and Robert Fresno.

Four other Lake City boys are working on a cleanup project at a new park near Frontenac. They are Philip Brunhorst, Steve Sitt, Michael Coogan and Joel Brinkman.

Civil Defense To Compile Roster of Nurses

BLAIR, Wis. (Special) — Dr. O. M. Schneider, medical director of the Trempealeau County Civil Defense here, is asking for an active roster of nurses in his county.

All active and inactive nurses, professional, graduate, trained practical, experience practical, attendants, Red Cross volunteers and nurses aides are asked to enroll.

The purpose is to make available to nursing techniques and to brief them in the Civil Defense protection program. Also, to make available to the area director of Civil Defense health services, names and addresses of available persons in his area if the need arises to service casualty stations.

All drugstores in the county are cooperating and will have the enrollment cards, which the nurse can pick up, fill in and drop in the mail box. For those towns without drugstores, the cards can be picked up at the following business places: Amundson's Gable Store, Eleva; Kern Furniture Store, Independence; Citizens State Bank, Trempealeau, and Harvey's Country Store, Eltrick.

Dr. Schneider would like to complete the enrollment by July 15.

Foreign Aid Changes Seen

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some senators and representatives will now knock their heads together over foreign aid. Out of this may come something more imaginative and practical than this country has seen in years.

Except for its part in World War I, and some spurts afterwards, this country stuck to its ancient isolationism until, for sheer survival, early in 1941 it began helping the foes of fascism with lend-lease.

This truly got it involved in World War II and before the year was out the United States was all the way in.

President Harry S. Truman ended lend-lease right after the war but this was a mistake. It deprived Europe and Asia of much-needed help when nations there were flat on their backs.

THE UNITED STATES extended various kinds of help but in 1948 set forth on a worldwide program of help. Altogether since the war this country has handed out over $100 billion in foreign economic and military aid.

Undoubtedly this blood transfusion, plus American military might, stopped the march of communism to which chaos and poverty are a "come on in" sign. But as the years passed there was growing American discontent about this aid.

It wasn't always successful, as Viet Nam shows. Starting there more than 15 years ago, when the French were fighting the Vietnamese Communists, this country has put about $5 billion in economic and military aid into the country. And the result isn't pretty.

The guerrillas and Communists there are stronger than ever.

OUT OF ALL this foreign aid, unmatched in the history of the world, the United States threw off its isolation and at once became the leader of the non-Communist part of the earth.

But the United States is a newcomer on the international scene with perhaps no more than 25 years of experience in deep involvement with countries everywhere.

In short, it still has a lot to learn when compared with the British and French who were up to their international necks for centuries.

So, because it is just a beginner with no more than a quarter of a century in distributing aid, it would seem time for a good, stiff look on how it has been doing and where it is going in this field.

The Senate thinks so. When it passed the foreign aid authorization bill this week it proposed ending the program in its present form in two years, with a 16-member special commission created to investigate the program and make recommendations on future aid.

THIS IS A combination of self-examination and inventory. But the House, which passed its own version of the foreign aid bill earlier, didn't go for the soul-searching the Senate suggests.

Before that can happen the House will have to agree to the Senate idea. It may not. The two houses have some other differences which they must compromise before the foreign aid bill gets final approval.

One thing which seems necessary, even if the commission proposal is abandoned, is more certainty that U.S. aid will be spread among the people of backward countries to improve their lives and give them a reason for being non-Communist rather than the other way around.

IF THE United States had taken a lot tougher policy with its aid to Viet Nam — insisting long ago upon broad programs of help to the masses of Vietnamese villagers whose life expectancies are only half that of Americans — the Communists would have made less progress in Viet Nam than they did.

Sooner or later the foreign aid program is going to have to be re-examined. A number of senators feel that way, particularly the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

To Your Good Health

A Form of Seborrheic Dermatitis

By J. G. Molner, M. D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My 7-month-old grandson has a very severe case of cradle-cap.

He has scratched his head until it bleeds. What causes this, and what do you suggest as a cure? — MRS. E. B.

Cradle cap is a skin disorder (note that I do not call it a "disease") which is a form of seborrheic dermatitis.

Seborrheic dermatitis is a very common disorder among young people and it even affects older ones, up to 30 years or so.

Let me spell it out. Dermatitis merely means some condition involving the skin. Seborrheic refers to the thousands of tiny glands in the skin which excrete a sort of oily or waxy substance which keeps it lubricated and supple. Too little, and skin is dry and crackly. Too much, and the skin has other troubles. Maybe it becomes too oily. Or some of the tiny little glands become clogged and we have that frequent problem of young folks, acne or blackheads.

IF, AS sometimes happens, a baby or very small child has skin glands which produce more than the required amount of this oily-waxy substance, it tends to be harder and create what seems to be a sort of scab. This can be irritating. It also creates a convenient place in which germs can congregate and multiply. They may not be particularly dangerous germs. Usually they aren't. But all the same they grow and multiply and become irritating.

So then the baby, because he itches, begins to scratch. And he may, as you say, scratch until he bleeds. THAT'S cradle cap. It may not be (probably won't be) the same germ or germs in each case, but you see the general idea. The scabs of cradle cap should be gently removed. Don't damage the skin! If a patch of the scaly stuff won't come off, leave it and take it off later, after it has become looser.

Keep the scalp scrupulously clean. Some of the oily-waxy material will wash away, instead of forming a scab. Don't try to scrub it; just wash and rinse. The fact is that some skins, because of overly active glands, need a lot more washing and rinsing than others, but it should be gentle.

A good deal of the time, because of some quite technical reasons which I won't go into, your doctor will prescribe medication of one sort or another. Use the medication, if any. Do plenty of washing and rinsing. Be gentle — because all you really want to do is get rid of the excess oily-waxy scab without damaging the skin. The scalp, that is.

Lee, J. W. Fulbright, an Arkansas Democrat. For instance, several months ago he said, "Where we have given the most aid, we have inspired the most antagonism." He named France as one example and Egypt as another.

Families Uneasy Over Viet Conflict

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — There was an art festival at the White House on Monday. It took the time and attention of the President of the United States. The occasion had a praiseworthy purpose. But there is something far more important which needs the time and attention of the nation's chief executive right now. It's the wavering morale of the parents and relatives of the more than 50,000 American boys who are fighting the war in Viet Nam.

These families cannot know what is going on in the jungles of Viet Nam just by reading the newspapers, and naturally little mention of individuals is made unless there are casualties. Meanwhile, what the critics are saying, both here and abroad, is widely publicized. The impression is given that it is a useless war and that the lives of the American boys are being sacrificed in vain.

The real truth, however, is that the Americans in Viet Nam are performing a service not only for the 190 million people in the United States, but also for the hundreds of millions of human beings in other countries who are being protected against a nuclear war because of the steadfastness and resoluteness of America's armed forces.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON is conscious of the worries and anxieties of the families of the Americans who are in Viet Nam. But he admitted on Tuesday that he had a difficult time replying to a letter from a mother whose son was en route to Viet Nam. He said he told her the nation's liberty and freedom are so precious that her son's service is needed in Viet Nam. But there has not yet been a definitive declaration telling the parents and relatives of the members of the armed forces of the United States why the mission in Southeast Asia is so vitally important.

President Johnson could readily dramatize at a ceremony in the White House the reasons why American troops are in Viet Nam. A delegation of parents of soldiers, airmen and sailors in Southeast Asia could be brought to the White House at government expense so that the President personally could explain the war and what it means not only to the American people but to the world as a whole. Such an occasion would serve also to remind the parents of many boys who have not yet gone to Viet Nam that if a crisis comes, they, too, must be prepared for the great sacrifices that are necessary to prevent a nuclear war.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON did make a generalized speech on April 7 at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, but what he said then about Viet Nam needs reiteration. Mr. Johnson declared:

"Tonight Americans and Asians are dying for a world where each people may choose its own path to change.

"This is the principle for which our ancestors fought in the valleys of Pennsylvania. It is a principle for which our sons fight tonight in the jungles of Viet Nam.

"Viet Nam is far away from this quiet campus. We have no territory there, nor do we seek any. The war is dirty and brutal and difficult. And some 400 young men, born into an America that is bursting with opportunity and promise, have ended their lives on Viet Nam's steaming soil."

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Good to Look Back On School Exercises

By DREW PEARSON

Washington, D.C.
June 17, 1965
Dear Grandson:

Congratulations on your graduation from high school today. Not only is it a great day today, but it will be an even greater day as you look back on it and rejoice that, despite all the headaches and heartaches and the hard work, you stuck with it and made the grade. Thousands of other boys all over the country who dropped out of high school are now working and getting special government training to make up for the fact that they got discouraged and quit.

I know you will look back on this day because that's what I've been doing lately. I went up to New Hampshire where I was graduated from Phillips Exeter Academy a long time ago, and took in a class reunion. Class reunions make you feel quite old. But they also bring back a flood of memories.

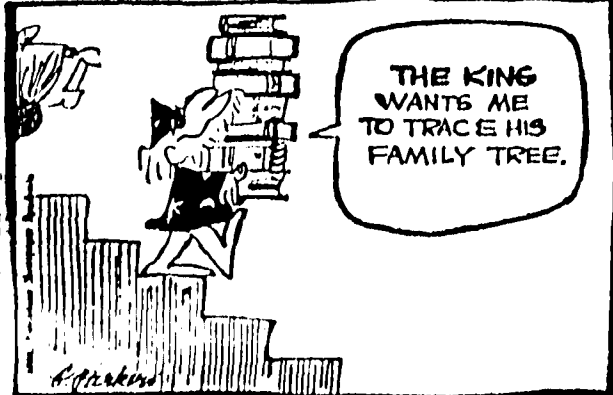

I REMEMBERED how my mother came up to Exeter to see me graduate and how proud she was; and how I hired a horse and buggy for half a day and drove her around the beautiful New Hampshire countryside, with its elm trees and its spire and span white clapboard houses with piles of firewood neatly stacked in the rear, unused for the winter and ready for the next winter.

I drove her down to the pine woods along the sluggish Swampscott River where I used to walk and canoe when I got too tired poring over the books.

Boys never spend as much time with their mothers as they should, and always remember — after their mothers are gone and it is too late — the occasions when just a little thoughtfulness made their mothers so happy.

Well, that was one of the things I remembered at my class reunion. I also remembered how the Lusitania was sunk when I was in school and how we debated what the United States should do about it. It was sunk by a German submarine.

THE WIZARD OF ID

rine, after the German government had warned, by ads in New York newspapers, that it would be sunk and that no Americans should sail on it.

WILLIAM Jennings Bryan resigned as secretary of state in disagreement with Woodrow Wilson when Wilson insisted on taking a tough stand against Germany. And this incident, which we debated as school boys, was the beginning of gradual American involvement in World War I.

Most of my classmates and I got into that war before it was over, and I couldn't help thinking about it at my class reunion and wondering whether the events in Viet Nam, now going from bad to worse, might suck us into another war.

None of my old classmates, however, seemed to worry much about it. They were interested in the stock market and bridge and business.

But I have found that the youngsters in school and the colleges do worry. This is a healthy sign. Some of my classmates criticized them for picketing the White House and protesting our policies in Viet Nam, and for going down to Mississippi to crusade for Negro voting rights.

But if the young people of today don't have convictions that they are willing to stand up for, they and the nation will sink into the paunchy, baldheaded, dull-as-dishwater complacency of the old grads of my day.

ANOTHER thing I thought about at my class reunion was teachers. Teachers have a tough time, I know because I once was one. But, as I look back, they do more to mold the youth of the nation than anyone else in the nation.

I had the benefit of some great teachers — Lewis Perky, principal of Exeter; Billy Fiske, my faculty adviser; Mike Crosby, a great English teacher; Victor Spooner, a great French teacher.

I guess most of them are dead now. But I shall never forget how they wrestled with us, worked with us, inspired us. And at Swarthmore College where I went later, there were Maude Basset Gore and Dr. Harold Goddard, two wonderful English teachers. I guess a lot of congressmen and bureaucrats are sorry they ever taught me anything.

Later, at Columbia, I worked under an inspiring geography teacher, J. Russell Smith, now 95 years old with more self-written geography books on his shelf than any man in America.

This week I went up to Haverford, Pa., to help pay tribute to another teacher, Leslie Severinghaus, who is retiring as headmaster of Haverford school. Thousands of boys have been molded, polished, disciplined, inspired and guided by Les Severinghaus. Probably they weren't very grateful for his guidance when they got it. Probably they chafed and rebelled — as I did — and as you probably have at times.

BUT WHEN they get out, they will look back to his guidance and be grateful for those patient hours and days of understanding which molded their lives.

When I spoke in tribute to Les Severinghaus I called him a builder of men — the finest tribute I could pay anyone.

I am glad President Johnson, a former school teacher, has put across an old-to-education bill and new appropriations for colleges. And I predict that historians will record that Lyndon Johnson's greatest contribution to his country was as a builder of teachers.

So congratulations on getting through your first bout with the teachers and here's hoping you go on to be guided and molded by other teachers until the day may come when you yourself may be a builder of men.

With much love,
Your Grandfather.

Teresan Summer Theater Group In Art Festival

A group from the College of Saint Teresa's summer theater will take part in the Rochester Festival of the Arts, which begins Friday.

Actors, musicians and artists from a number of communities in southern Minnesota will participate in the three-day festival.

The Winona group will present Act I of "Charley's Aunt" at 1:45 p.m. Saturday in the Rochester Civic Theater.

The entire play will open here June 24.

Featured at the festival will be composer Meredith Willson, who wrote the music for "The Music Man," "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," "Here's Love" and other Broadway and motion picture productions.

Willson will appear during Friday night's program, and the following morning, he will lead a parade through downtown Rochester, then conduct massed area bands in a program of his music.

Other entertainment will be arranged by the Rochester Art Center, the civic theater and musical groups.

LIBRARY EXHIBIT . . . "Carousel," a large painting by Dennis Johnson, Winona Senior High School art teacher, is hung in the Bell art room of the Winona Public Library. Johnson's show of 12 works will be there through June.

Arcadia Knights Elect Berzinski

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special) — Willis Berzinski was elected grand knight and Joseph Snow, deputy grand knight, at the June meeting of the Arcadia Knights of Columbus Tuesday night.

Also elected were Franklin Sobotta, chancellor; Edmund Suchla, warden, and Clarence Pronschinske, outside guard.

Re-elected were Edmund Kott, recorder; Joseph Haines, advocate, and John Klimek, inside guard.

Vernon Schwertel is financial secretary.

Saigon is one of the most crowded cities on earth. Two million persons squeeze themselves into 20 square miles, an area less than one-third the size of the District of Columbia.

Art Show Set At Durand Today

DURAND, Wis. — An art exhibit on the courthouse lawn here will be part of Durand's annual Funfest today.

Sponsored by the Durand Community Arts Club, the exhibit will include works in three categories — those by professionals, those by "Sunday painters" and those by students.

Included will be oils, water colors, ceramics, pastels, pencil and ink sketches, paper and metal sculpture and craftwork.

Artists from Eau Claire, Chippewa Falls, Rice Lake, River Falls, Nelson, Humbird and Durand, Wis., as well as from Winona and Wabasha, Minn., have registered for the show.

Participants may enter their works in competition if they wish, and awards will be given in each category. Judges will be the Rev. Lyndon Viel, Gillett, Wis., a former Arcadia resident, and Cal Holland, art teacher at Durand High School.

A feature of the show will be a "future artists corral," where parents may leave children to do paintings of their own while their elders view those in the exhibit. All equipment — including smocks for the children to wear — will be furnished.

Man to Try 21-Mile Jump

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — A New Jersey parachute jumper plans a jump of more than 21 miles for a world record next September, according to an Air Force announcement.

The Duluth Air Force base said the jump from a balloon gondola will be tried between Sept. 10 and 16 by Nicholas J. Plantarica, 32, of Brick Township, N.Y. The attempt from 115,000 feet will be attempted near Minneapolis-St. Paul.

The leap would break the current world record held by Air Force Capt. Joseph Kittinger Jr., a 102,000-foot jump five years ago.

Duluth Harbor Pollution Cited

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The State Water Pollution Control Commission heard conflicting testimony Friday on whether foreign vessels are cluttering up the Duluth harbor with their garbage.

The commission took no action but the chairman observed that some prodding may be in order for the Duluth City Council.

Glen Berg, Duluth, president of the Arrowhead Civic Club, asked the commission to hold public hearings on the matter.

However, at the conclusion of the session at the University of Minnesota, Dr. Malcolm M. Hargraves of Rochester, chairman of the commission, said:

"It seems like a local control matter to me. We'll probably try to jack up the city council and other officials up there first. If that doesn't work, we'll have to decide on a hearing up there later."

Berg said the Arrowhead Club has been investigating the matter of pollution of the harbor by foreign vessels coming into the port.

"We feel that it goes beyond the matter of public health," Berg said. "It affects the tourist business, the morale of the community and real estate values."

"We have evidence that garbage is being dumped by the ships that use the harbor. And here is a breakdown in law enforcement. The law is clear, but there is a matter of who is supposed to enforce the law. We think it should be done by somebody."

Berg's contentions were disputed by several others, including M. D. Lubratovich, director of water, gas and sewage treatment for the City of Duluth; Robert H. Smith of the Duluth Port Authority; Clarence Madciv, administrative assistant for the City of Duluth; Dr. Donald M. Coe of the state Department of Agriculture; K. A. Hauser Jr. of the U.S. Corps of Army Engineers, St. Paul; and Leslie Harkins of Frazier Shipyards in Superior, Wis.

They all took the position that the situation is not nearly as bad as outlined by Berg.

Said Smith: "We by no means condone pollution of the water. But as far as the foreign ships are concerned, I believe they're policed as well as is possible. The foreign ship is not the basic problem, if there is a problem."

HOSPITAL PATIENTS

Harrison Immell, who suffered a hip fracture and was transferred from Tri-County Memorial Hospital, Whitehall, to St. Francis Hospital, La Crosse for surgery, has been transferred to Whitehall again. Selmer Johnson, who has been at Tri-County Memorial Hospital, since early spring following a stroke, spent the weekend at his home here.

Inventory compared to only 21 million a year ago.

Production facilities formerly used to mint pennies have been used to turn out nickels since pressure on the penny has been eased. The inventory of pennies numbers 814 million compared to only 65 million 12 months ago.

Production of the silverless quarter will begin in the fall and a huge number — perhaps 100 million — will be turned out before they are released in early 1966.

Merchants can make change if they have enough pennies, nickels and quarters even if there is a short supply of dimes and half-dollars.

Mint production can be geared up to an annual rate of 14 billion coins — and perhaps as high as 18 billion if necessary.

There are about 12 billion silver coins in circulation.

Collectors, dealers and speculators have been aware of the silver situation for months, or years, and it seems likely that those who wanted to hoard silver coins have already acquired them.

Nickel May Lead Public To New Coins

WASHINGTON (AP) — The lowly nickel may play a key role at the cash register next year during the transition to silverless coins.

Some administration officials are concerned about public acceptance of coins made of cheaper metal, regardless of their shiny appearance — although they are reluctant to admit it.

"There are bound to be some rough spots in a change of this magnitude," a Treasury official said today. He quickly added that he was optimistic about the public's attitude.

The nickel frequently is cited as a shiny example.

The silver was taken out of it years ago but hard-headed businessmen and thrifty housewives still have a full five cents worth of faith in it.

Congress is expected to approve the administration's program for eliminating silver from dimes and quarters because of a potential world shortage of the metal. The only major point in doubt is whether the silver content of the half-dollar will be reduced from 90 to 40 per cent or to zero.

The value of the metal in a quarter will be reduced from about 23 cents to 1.5 cents; for the dime, the reduction will be from about 9 cents to half a cent.

Coins have been in short supply for several years and the situation could be aggravated if speculators decided to hoard the silver coins.

There will be no incentive to speculators to nurse nickels. Also, two nickels can readily be substituted for a dime in most situations, and, in a pinch, they can be used in place of coins of higher denominations.

The mint is turning out 200 million nickels a month to make sure there will be plenty of them on hand when the other new coins are introduced next year.

There are now some 268 million nickels in the government's

WINONA APPOINTED TEST CITY

Because of Winona's size, industry potential and distance from the Twin Cities area, it has been appointed as "Test Market City" by Mr. J. J. White of the Speed Queen Laundry Co. "What we need is 30 homemakers" said Mr. White, "who will put into their home an automatic washer, clothes dryer or wringer for test purposes." The Homemaker will be asked to fill out a questionnaire after using the machine (s) for 10 days.

Mr. White further stated that the local Speed Queen dealer, Tempo, will deliver the new machine in the crate and install them in your home. At the end of the test period, Tempo will pick up the machine from the home.

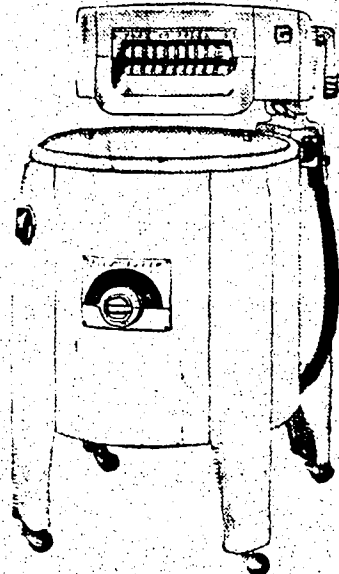

"Most important," said Mr. White, "the homemaker after testing one or two machines, must give her comments on it. She is under no obligation to Speed Queen or to Tempo in any way except to take reasonable care of the machines while in her home. This is because these test machines will later be sold as used demonstration machines in the Winona area and also in the Twin City area."

Women who would like to test these machines may call Tempo—Phone 8-1526 or cut out and mail in the coupon on Page 1 of this newspaper.

Mr. White of Speed Queen stated he will be at Tempo the balance of this week to qualify each potential test Homemaker.

WWI Vet Finds His Buddy

STOCKTON, Minn. — Two World War I veterans are having a reunion after 47 years.

Ted Boone traveled all the way from Rocky Mount, N.C., to visit Walter Huntman, Stockton, with whom he served overseas although he didn't know him at that time. Boone and Huntman were guests of honor at the Thursday evening meeting of Winona Barracks 1082, Veterans of World War I, at the VFW Club.

BOONE FOUND out about Huntman in an issue of The Torch, WWI national publication. In it was a letter Huntman had written in March 1964 expressing his desire to locate persons who had served during WWI in the Army's 30th Division, called Old Hickory, when a large number of Germans were captured at the Hindenburg Line.

This outfit was successful in breaking through the Hindenburg Line at Bellicourt, France. It had been known as the strongest defense on the Western Front.

The two men have corresponded since early 1964 and recently Boone decided he and his wife would drive here to visit the Huntmans.

Now these two veterans are having a great time talking over that great victory, looking at newspaper clippings, letters, division history manuals, diaries and medals and exchanging remembrances.

Huntman was in Company D, 117th Infantry, and Boone in Company A, 119th Infantry. Both were buck privates.

REVIEWING the events of nearly half a century ago they came up with the following: The Hindenburg Line curved in front of the Tunnel of St. Quentin at the point of attack. This line was considered impregnable by the Germans for the following reasons: The section which curved west of the tunnel consisted of three main trench systems protected by vast fields of heavily barbed wire entanglements skillfully placed. This wire was heavy and had been damaged very little by artillery fire. The dominating ground enabled them to bring devastating machine gun fire on all approaches.

The lines had been strengthened with concrete machine gun emplacements. It contained at this point a large number of dugouts lined with mining timbers, with wooden steps leading down to a depth of about 30 feet with small rooms capable of holding from four to six men each. In many cases these dugouts were wired for electric lights. Power was obtained from man-powered two-seated bicycles fitted with generators. American prisoners were forced to pedal the bicycles.

THE large electrically lighted tunnel through which the canal ran was of sufficient capacity to shelter a division and was filled with barges. Connecting it with the Hindenburg trench system were numerous tunnels. In one case a direct tunnel ran from the main tunnel to the basement of a large stone building, which the enemy used for headquarters. Other tunnels ran from the main tunnel eastward to the city of Bellicourt and other places. This complete subterranean system with its hidden exits and entrances, unknown to the Americas formed a complete and safe subterranean method of communication and reinforcement for the German sector.

OLD HICKORY landed at the port of Calais, France, May 24, 1918. On Sept. 29 this division, with the 27th American Division on the left and the 46th British Division on the right, assaulted the Hindenburg Line on a front of 3,000 yards.

"Our orders were to advance a few minutes after the heavy artillery barrage," recalls Huntman. "The advance was slow from shell hole to shell hole. I was reciting German prayers I had learned as a child as I inched along. Suddenly a human form appeared in the thick battle smoke. I cried out 'Kamerad.' The form was a German soldier, who turned out to be a traitor to his country."

"We talked things over in his native tongue. He told me our exact location, where all the German soldiers were located and also the location of four mines on the bridge.

"Just then five American soldiers appeared in the smoke screen. Boone was one of them. One of them stayed with me at the trench while the other four went with the German. Making several trips they brought 47 enlisted men and three officers. I thought the line would never end. The Germans were surprised that they were captured in the trench warfare since no Americans had been seen in that particular sector."

THE GERMAN told Huntman to hurry up and get everyone out of the trench because the Germans had the range of the trench and intended to shell it.

"God was with me—everything clicked just right. I took the German at his word, never dreaming that I should not," Huntman said.

The entire Hindenburg system of that sector was captured. They then advanced farther and captured the tunnel system along with the German troops.

All the tunnels were then set on fire. Several towns were conquered and 47 officers and 1,434 men were taken prisoners.

The three-mile expanse of land between the American and German defenses had been a no-man's land. No one dared venture there to bury the dead because of snipers.

WALTER, who also served in England and Belgium, has three battle bars on his Victory Medal: Aisne, France; Somme, France, offensive; and Ypres-Lys, Belgium; and one defensive bar for the defensive sector in Belgium. He also was awarded the Purple Heart.

Boone also was in the battle of Ypres-Lys, Belgium. Both men received honorable discharges and citations for being wounded in action signed by President Woodrow Wilson.

Both men were drafted into the Army and served less than two months in the states before they received orders to go overseas.

"I did not even know how to roll a pack according to regulations, but bless their hearts, those older fellows were wonderful help to me. They would help me re-roll it and we'd try again," said Boone in his southern draw.

"They hadn't even issued me a permanent gun when I received overseas orders. In fact I didn't even know how to shoot the particular rifle we had."

"I had such little training that I was scared enough to do anything I was told to do. The officers would tell me to do something and I'd say, 'Why, I don't know how to do that.' They would answer, 'Well, you're supposed to.'"

HUNTMAN was the hero. He was very calm when he was in command.

"This experience has been with me ever since it happened. I didn't know who to tell it to. A lot of people are inclined not to believe what they are told about the war. I often wondered what happened to the men I served with."

"When I saw the article in The Torch, I knew I had been there. The Huntmans extended an invitation to us and my wife and I were brave enough to make the trip. "People who weren't in the war would not understand. Now I have found someone who does understand. He is the kind of buddy that I thought he would be after having corresponded with him for a year.

"This meeting is the highlight of my life as far as the war is concerned. Every minute has been just as enjoyable as it can be," said Boone.

Pool at Osseo May Open Today

OSSEO, Wis. (Special)—Osseo swimming pool in Stoddard Park is scheduled to open today, conditioned on completion of repairs.

If not open today the pool will be open Monday or as soon thereafter as possible.

Red Cross swim classes will be available this year, with Mrs. Arnie Rongstad as instructor. All children age 6 and over and area adults interested in participating, whether as beginners or as advanced swimmers, are to sign up at the pool. The courses will last eight weeks.

Tentative plans call for swimming instruction periods for beginners and younger children in the forenoons and possibly late afternoons. If sufficient interest is shown, there will be swim classes for teen-agers from 12:30 to 2 p.m. and an evening class for adults only.

There will be no charge for recreational swimming. The pool will be available to children and adults each afternoon and evening except during inclement weather or during draining.

With the addition of the new city well, there will be an ample supply of water available this year. Recreation swimming will be under the supervision of Ray Kondrasek of Gilmanton as lifeguard.

Grade School Director to Serve 4 Communities

BLAIR, Wis. (Special) — The Blair board of education has joined with four other schools in a proposal to hire an elementary supervisor to assume duties formerly assigned to the county superintendent of schools.

Other schools are Arcadia, Independence, Trempealeau and Taylor. The position will carry a salary of $7,200 plus $50 a month travel expenses for 10 months. The supervisor would spend nearly equal amounts of time at the schools.

AT A JOINT meeting of boards of education Thursday night in Arcadia applicants for the position were interviewed. Officials expect to settle on a choice within a week or 10 days.

Also decided by the Blair board at recent meetings was the addition of another bus to the transportation system. Ray Nereng, bus operator, has been asked to add a bus to be used in the Carpenter-Larkin area.

Board members agreed that an architect should be present at the meeting June 24. He will be asked to give costs of sketches in connection with the contemplated new construction to relieve the crowded conditions of the physical plant.

The school has purchased about 5 1/2 acres from Julius Erickson for playground and possible building expansion. Bulldozing and grading is under way. The ridge of earth adjacent to the school drive has been removed and the creek bank has been sloped. Some fill has been added to the area.

IT WAS voted to hire non-professional employes for the coming year for the same salary.

Jacobson was instructed to bring recommendations to future meetings relative to the strengthening of the summer program.

Gerald J. Davis has been hired to teach English. Originally from Arcadia, Wis., he has taught several years at Three Lakes, Wis. He is married and the father of one child.

Gary Player Holds Open Lead After 3 Rounds

THE "CROW" GETS A GROUND EYE VIEW... May Be First Foreign Victor In 45 Years

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Gary Player, the black knight from Johannesburg, stood off his challengers with a third-round 71 for a two-stroke lead at 211 Saturday and threatened to become the first foreigner in 45 years to win the U.S. Open Golf Championship.

The little South African goes into Sunday's climactic round with a two-stroke edge over Kel Nagle, the Australian prototype of Sam Snead, and Frank Beard, a 26-year-old dark horse from Louisville.

The 44-year-old Nagle got a favorable ruling on the 12th hole, changing a bogey to a par, and closed with a 72 for 213. At that same figure was young Beard, who had to sink a 10-foot birdie putt on the final hole for a 70.

Arnold Palmer was on the sidelines and the pre-tournament favorite, Jack Nicklaus, was just another man in the field as the 65th of the blue ribbon events entered the show-down phase.

SAM, YOU FORGOT YOUR PUTTER!... Sam Snead shows how he feels after he bogied second hole in Saturday's third round play of the U.S. Open golf championship over BelleVue Country Club course at St. Louis. Yanks Make It 2 in Row Over Minnesota

NEW YORK (AP) — Whitey Ford got relief help from Pete Ramos and pitched the New York Yankees to a 5-3 victory over the Minnesota Twins Saturday.

The Twins held first place in the American League by one-half game despite the setback as second-place Chicago bowed 2-1 to Boston.

Tom Tresh scored two runs and drove in another, while Joe Pepitone slammed his seventh homer as New York scored its second straight victory over the Twins.

The Yanks grabbed the lead in the first inning with Bobby Richardson doubling and coming around on Tresh's hit. Elston Howard hit into a double play, scoring Tresh with the second run.

Pepitone homered in the next inning and then hits by Tresh and Howard and an error by Minnesota second baseman Frank Kostro made it 4-0 in the third.

Minnesota scored its first run in the fourth when Zoilo Versalles reached second on Cleve Boyer's two-base error and Rich Rollins singled. The Twins knocked Ford out in the eighth after Mickey Mantle's double had produced another Yankee run in the seventh.

With two out in the eighth, Rollins doubled down the left field line. After Tony Oliva walked, Harmon Killebrew tripled to deep right center, scoring Rollins and Oliva. Ramos relieved Ford and got pinch hitter Don Mincher on a pop fly, leaving Killebrew at third.

Ramos then retired the Twins in the ninth for his ninth save of the season.

The victory was Ford's seventh against six setbacks. Minnesota starter Jim (Mudcat) Grant lost his second in eight decisions.

Ford retired the first seven Twins batters in order before Jerry Kindall slapped a one-out single to left. However, Kindall pulled a leg muscle and was out trying to stretch the hit into a double. Kostro replaced Kindall at second.

The Twins had a mild threat going in the fifth as Joe Nosssek beat out a bunt single and Kostro singled behind him. But rookie pinch hitter John Seveck struck out and Zoilo Versalles popped out.

Shortstop Phil Linz made a brilliant defensive play in the ninth to thwart a Minnesota threat. Nosssek singled with one out and Kostro followed with a drive into the hole between third and shortstop. Linz backhanded the ball and got his throw to Richardson in time to force Nosssek at second. Jim Kaat then pinch hit and grounded out to end the game.

After Mincher pinch hit in the eighth, Twins Manager Sam Mele shuffled his defense to keep the big first baseman and Killebrew in the lineup. He put Mincher on first, shifted Killebrew to third, Rollins to second and Kostro to left field in place of Allison.

The teams wind up their series today with a doubleheader. Right-handers Camilo Pascual (8-1) and Dave Boswell (3-3) will pitch for the Twins against right-hander Mel Stottlemyre (7-3) and southpaw Al Downing (5-6).

Palmer failed to make the cut Friday and Nicklaus, always expecting a miracle surge, never got it and soared out of sight.

The last outsider to win the National Open was a giant, mustachioed Britisher, Ted Ray, who took the title in 1920 at the Inverness Club in Cleveland.

The last foreigner to pace the championship at the three-quarter point was an idol of Player, Bobby Locke of South Africa, who was ahead at Oakland Hills in Birmingham, Mich., until Ben Hogan stole it away in 1951.

Indians Tip Angels, 1-0

CLEVELAND (AP) — Fred Whitfield's bases-loaded single in the ninth inning drove in Vic Davalillo and gave the Cleveland Indians their seventh straight victory Saturday, a 1-0 decision over the Los Angeles Angels behind the three-hit pitching of Ralph Terry.

Extra Hits Power Braves Past Cards

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves unleashed a barrage of extra base hits, including homers by Hank Aaron and Mack Jones, and edged St. Louis 6-5 Saturday.

Backed by the two homers, a pair of triples and three doubles, Tony Cloninger picked up his 10th victory in 14 decisions with relief help from Dan Osinski.

Osinski was summoned from the bullpen in the eighth inning after the Cardinals closed to within one run on an infield single by Dick Groat and Lou Brock's fifth homer. After Bill White singled, Osinski replaced Cloninger and got Ken Boyer to hit into a double play.

Aaron's two-run homer off St. Louis starter Ray Sadecki in the fifth inning snapped a 2-2 deadlock. The homer was Aaron's 11th and Milwaukee's 70th in 58 games.

GREEN'S HOMERS HELP Chicago Tips Red Sox 2-1

CHICAGO (AP) — Lenny Green's two solo homers shattered an eight-game Boston losing streak and gave the Red Sox a 2-1 triumph over the Chicago White Sox Saturday.

Green's blasts — one off starter Bruce Edward and the other off reliever Hoyt Wilhelm — backed Bill Monbouquette's seven-hit pitching.

Green gave Boston a 1-0 lead with his homer off Howard in the third.

After Chicago tied it 1-1 in the seventh, Green pumped his second homer off Wilhelm in the eighth.

Giants Trip Mets, 2-1

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Juan Marichal won his 13th consecutive game over New York Saturday, pitching a five-hit victory in San Francisco's 2-1 victory over the Mets.

Marichal, now 11-5, had a string of 32 scoreless innings against the Mets when Chris Cannizzaro singled home Roy McMillan in the second inning.

The Giants scored a run in the first inning without getting the ball out of the infield. Matty Alou walked, moved around to third on infield singles by Willie McCovey and Willie Mays and came home as Jesus Alou grounded out.

The Giants snapped a 1-1 tie in the fourth on a walk to Mays, a single by Jesus Alou and a double play.

AT EAU CLAIRE FOR DOUBLE-HEADER Will LeJetz Get Answers Today?

EAU CLAIRE, Wis. — Winona's Le Jetz still seeking the answer to several problems, set out for Eau Claire, Wis., at 11:15 a.m. today.

The Le Jetz, 2-0 on the season after a pair of routs, tangle with Eau Claire's American Legion team in double seven-inning games.

The contests, no doubt, will answer many of the questions that evolve around pitching and hitting.

Bill Allaire has seen his team take 14-0 and 20-7 victories, the latter a Tri-State League affair against Mabel at Gabryh Park Thursday night.

"But we still haven't learned enough," assessed Allaire. "After we're through playing Eau Claire we should, though."

Eau Claire this season possessed two fine high school baseball teams in North and Memorial. When the two combine forces, it should add up to the toughest opposition Winona will face in pre-tournament festivities.

"We look for strong opposition today," said Allaire. The implication is that right now it is what everyone needs.

Allaire has named John Ahrens to work the opener, with Todd Spencer pitching the second game. Both pitch for Winona High during the spring and both will be seniors next school term. In addition, both are right-handers.

With Ahrens on the mound, Spencer will move to short with R.D. Boschulte going to second and either Mike Lee or George Hoepner in the outfield.

The remainder of the lineup will stand with Bob Allaire catching, Gary Addington at first, John Nett Jr. at third and Chuck Kulas and Loren Benz going to the outfield.

When Spencer goes to the mound, Boschulte will move back to short with Ahrens going to center.

In the second game, there is always the possibility that Nett could catch with Kulas taking over third.

Following today's double-header it appears that the large-post unit will get a rest Monday as the small-post Le Jetz trek to Spring Grove to play a Tri-State game with the Gravers. At least that was the plan Saturday.

"We've got a rugged schedule and we want the younger boys to get some action, too," said Allaire.

The small-post unit, which is being handled by Roger Leonhardt, holds a 1-0 record after a 6-2 beating of St. Charles.

Winona VFW Beats Austin

Winona scored its winning run in the bottom of the eighth inning off Austin starter Brian Wallerbrunn Helgeson walked, went to third on Patterson's single and scored on an error by Austin's right fielder, Rick Hennish.

Austin scored its unearned run in the seventh inning when Jon Wagner came home on an error and a fielder's choice. Winona's first run came in the fourth when Holmway reached on an error, went to second on Herzberg's sacrifice and scored on a Wittgen single.

Both starters went all the way in the eight-inning contest. Winona shortstop Tim Browne turned in a good defensive performance.

McAuliffe Drives In Five Runs, Tigers Win 8-2

DETROIT (AP) — Dick McAuliffe drove in five runs with a pair of home runs in leading the Detroit Tigers to their seventh straight victory, an 8-2 triumph over the Kansas City Athletics, Saturday.

McAuliffe hit a three-run homer in the fourth inning and added a two-run homer in the eighth accounted for in the sixth.

Gates Brown put the Tigers in front in the first inning with a home run.

Denny McLain, who struck out 14 batters in a relief role earlier in the week, gave up six hits bringing his record to 3-3.

Larry Stahl's two run homer in the eighth accounted for in the sixth.

Reds Wallop Cubs, 9 to 4

CINCINNATI (AP) — Jim Maloney, who pitched a 10-inning no-hitter his last time out, stopped Chicago on two hits for six innings Saturday but needed help from Joe Nuxhall before Cincinnati defeated the Cubs 9-4.

Maloney, who dropped a two-hit 1-0 decision to the New York Mets in 11 innings last Monday night, was battered from the mound in the seventh when the Cubs erupted for three runs. Nuxhall ended the rally and preserved Maloney's sixth victory against three defeats.

The Reds jumped off to a 4-0 lead in the first inning.

Leahy: 'Thanks from Bottom of My Heart'

By GARY EVANS
Sunday News Sports Writer

The man stood before the 300 plus crowd at the Oaks Friday night and spoke with sincerity. His voice cracked as he addressed the crowd.

"There are about two times I can remember that I've been at a loss for words," said Ralph Leahy at the night that had been set aside in appreciation for 27 dedicated years at first Cochrane High School and later at Cochrane-Fountain City. "The first was when the C-FC kids presented me with a plaque. The second is tonight. Thank you all from the bottom of my heart."

Thus the spirited Irishman put aside 27 years of service to a community and headed for a new job. Leahy has accepted the position as superintendent of Pepin, Wis., schools.

It is not easy to pull up stakes after a tenure in excess of a "silver anniversary" in one spot. Leahy said as much, and he wouldn't have had to say it to make it known.

"We've enjoyed it very much," he said. "Thank you all again."

Active in athletic services throughout his career, Leahy put records on the shelf that very likely will never be rivaled. Added to many glorious moments were 88 straight Bi-County Conference basketball victories and 114 straight league baseball wins.

There were other jobs in which the spritely student of sports and education served his people — jobs such as an all-out campaign to consolidate the Cochrane and Fountain City districts.

O. J. Sohrweide spoke on the subject saying: "We feel that without Ralph the job could not have been accomplished as smoothly."

The people who turned out to bid him adieu and wish him the best in his new position, came from miles around, letters from still farther.

On hand to help him celebrate were his wife Audrey, eldest son, Pat, and his wife Ruth, No. 2 son Mike and wife Judy and daughter Mary. Tim was away at camp and Kevin, 11, remained home.

Then there were members of the "old guard" that Leahy knew and officiated with C. A. Mundt of Taylor spoke for men such as Bill Cashen of Arcadia and Len Ellison of Whitehall.

And last, but certainly not least in the mind of the man they served under, were students and athletes that Leahy had directed.

Speaking for the students was Marilyn Spieth, a graduate of the 1958 Cochrane High School class. Her's was the last class to graduate there before the move to C-FC.

Emceeding the event was La Croix Johnson of Cochrane. In addition to the aforementioned, he called on Dr. E. A. Meili of Cochrane, the Rev. Thomas Ash of St. Lawrence Catholic Church of Alma, Mrs. B. H. Schlossstein (a former board member), present board members Kermit Spieth and Kenneth Kafer and Gary Evans of the Winona Daily and Sunday News.

Introduced were instructors who taught under Leahy. They were: Arlie Everson, Mrs. John Rohrer, Willis Johnson, Jim Carlson, Glen Thoeny, Robert Guse, Mrs. Juanita Sherman and Ray Scholl.

Letters from John Roberts (WIAA executive secretary), Archie Buchmiller, Mr. and Mrs. John Hendrickson, Cecella Peiper and Mr. and Mrs. Vic Carlson were read.

Johnson also introduced the banquet committee, which was made up of Frances Kannel, Robert Kooz, Vernon Florin and Mrs. Ray Scholl.

Johnson wound up the program by presenting Leahy with an inscribed pewter mug. A cash gift will follow.

AL Batters Find Hank Is Tough

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

As cheerleaders go, Hank Aguirre lacks youth, curves and a short skirt.

When it comes to pitching, though, it's the American League batters who are missing Aguirre's curves.

The Detroit left-hander, whose enthusiasm has earned him the label of team cheerleader, made the Kansas City Athletics his latest victim, stopping them on three hits in the Tigers' 3-1 victory Friday night.

The triumph was Aguirre's eighth against two defeats and tied him with Minnesota's Camillo Pascual as the league's winningest pitchers. The victory also was the Tigers' sixth straight and boosted them to within three games of the first-place Twins.

Elsewhere in the American League, New York edged Boston 10-2, Chicago edged Boston 4-3, Cleveland nipped Los Angeles 3-2 and Washington stopped Baltimore's seven-game winning streak 2-0.

Bill Skowron's home run in the Chicago sixth broke a 3-3 deadlock and sent the Red Sox to their eighth straight loss. Eddie Fisher pitched the final four innings, earning his seventh victory in eight decisions. Bob Tillman smacked a two-run homer for Boston off starter Juan Pizarro.

Cleveland edged Los Angeles on Rocky Colavito's 14th homer in the seventh inning. The Angels had tied the contest 2-2 in the third on pitcher Rudy May's double, singles by Abbie Pearson and Jim Fregosi and an infield out.

Pete Richert held Baltimore to four hits in eight innings before leaving for a pinch hitter in the ninth. Washington scored in the second when Don Lock doubled and eventually raced home from third on catcher John Orsino's passed ball.

LET'S TALK SPORTS

with Gary Evans

LA CROSSE STATE football and baseball coach E. V. Vickroy takes us to task today concerning an item that appeared in an earlier column.

Says Vickroy:

"A friend recently sent me a copy of your column of May 23 in which you accuse La Crosse State University of a lack of courtesy and poor sportsmanship.

"I think you were misinformed concerning 'case in point,' and I'd like to set the record straight.

"First, I would like to emphasize that Coach L. A. McCoun and I are very good friends, and have a mutually high regard for the relationship and qualities of our two universities.

"At the same time, I realize that many of the varied problems of scheduling that occur for baseball coaches may not be understood by everyone. Rescheduling rain-out games and attempting to carry out conference schedules, meet non-conference schedules, and still keep the ball player in classes, provide problems for every college involved in spring sports.

"The necessity for rescheduling a conference double-header with River Falls on the same date as the Winona game was a last-minute change. The game had to be played that week, and because La Crosse was heading into final exams, Tuesday seemed the best possible date. Thus we asked, late Monday afternoon, for a rescheduling of the Winona game.

"The change was not a mandatory concession, but was made with the agreement of Winona, and you can confirm this with Coach McCoun.

"The plan was to reschedule our game on Thursday, but Winona found it had problems due to class schedules and examinations, and finally we agreed to cancel the game, instead of postponing it.

"This is not the first time something of this nature has occurred. In fact, two or three years ago Winona asked to cancel a game because it was involved in a conference championship. I would guess that we will occasionally run into problems of this nature in the future, and the best way to work it out seems to be through a friendly arrangement between the competing schools to accommodate championship schedules as conveniently as possible in the respective leagues.

"I hope this explanation clears up the question of sportsmanship. Winona and La Crosse have, I think, always practiced the highest ethics in athletics, and I would hope we would continue along this line.

"As a recent president of the Wisconsin State University Athletic Conference, it would seem proper for me to indicate that we are interested in promoting good athletics in all conferences. I have not been aware of any shortcomings in the scheduling practices of others of the state universities, as your article indicated.

"We were a bit unhappy with the black eye you gave us for sportsmanship, for we don't think we deserve it. I hope this letter will give you a different slant on the situation."

We are happy that Mr. Vickroy chose to write us, but the questions still linger. If Winona refused to play Mankato because of a commitment to La Crosse (and, yes, a championship was very much involved at Winona), why then should La Crosse not have honored its commitment?

Also while Mr. Vickroy smooths the matter over, does he know that a letter disputing Winona's right to the NIC baseball championship is before the conference board of control? Because Winona couldn't find a suitable date (and Mankato wanted to play on the date in question) for a double-header makeup with Mankato, the Indians want the games forfeited. This definitely could cost Winona its outright title.

Then, too, it is common knowledge that Winona officials have long been miffed over Badger schools' failure to regard a schedule as a binding contract.

NOW FOR "A GOOD SPORT" who wants to know the names of the big league baseball managers. This was the way they stood Friday. The list is subject to change due to the whimsy of general managers.

Player: 'Anyone Who Likes Lead Is Fibber'

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Gary Player, a muscular little man who wears sombre black clothes and a pixie grin, is closing in on a lifelong ambition — the U.S. Open golf championship.

And he doesn't like it one bit. "I'm not particularly keen on leading," the "chipper" little

South African said in his broad British accent after his second, straight par 70 had put him in front of the pack with a 140 at the tournament halfway point Friday.

"Anyone who says he likes to lead is a fibber. The pressure is all here and there's still a long way to go."

There wasn't anywhere to go but home for Arnold Palmer, the slumping four-time Masters champion who failed to make the Open cut for the first time in eight years.

The crestfallen master declined to come to the press tent after a second straight 76 that gave him 152 and not a birdie in 36 holes.

Jack Nicklaus, the other member of golf's Big Three, 7,191-yard Bellverie Country Club course, longest ever for an Open, also whiffed down first-round leader Kel Nagle and his cut that trimmed the starting field of 150 to the low 50. It took a score of 150 to make it.

Defending champion Ken Venturi was another casualty. The gritty San Franciscan, playing with an ailing right hand, took a 79 to go with his first round 81 and announced he wouldn't play again until the circulatory disorder is cured.

The sprawling, par 35-35-70, 7,191-yard Bellverie Country Club course, longest ever for an Open, also whiffed down first-round leader Kel Nagle and his 44-year-old lags. Nagle shot a 73 to go with his first round 68 and was tied for second with Mason Rudolph, one stroke back of Player.

One more stroke behind was Deane Beman, a Baltimore insurance executive who is bidding to become the first amateur in 42 years to win the title.

Frank Beard, a half brother of former basketball All-American Ralph, was alone in fifth place at 143. Gene Littler and Raymond Floyd had 148.

Stuart Using A Strange Bat

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dick (Dr. Strangelove) Stuart has added a new wrinkle to his act — a strange bat.

His arsenal muffled by the rest of the league, Stuart continued to explode against Los Angeles pitching Friday night as he smashed a homer and a key two-run single while leading Philadelphia to a 4-2 victory over the National League-leading Dodgers.

Stuart, who acquired the Dr. Strange-glove tag because of the way he murders ground balls, may find his bat similarly dubbed if he continues to hammer away at the most formidable pitching staff in the majors while running into considerable difficulty elsewhere.

His latest outburst gave him a .308 average with five homers and 14 runs batted in for 11 games against Dodger pitching.

In 42 games against the rest of the league, he has managed only four homers and 18 RBI while hitting a meek .243.

The loss kept the Dodgers from adding to their 3½-game lead over the Milwaukee Braves, who dropped a 5-4 decision to St. Louis on Bill White's 10th inning homer.

Elsewhere, Cincinnati edged the Chicago Cubs 3-1, San Francisco blanked the New York Mets 3-0 and Houston belted Pittsburgh 5-1.

Stuart got the Phillies off to a 1-0 lead with his homer in the second inning off Johnny Podres, then stroked a two-run single in the eighth that built Philadelphia's lead to 4-1 and proved decisive when the Dodgers came back to score a run in their half.

The Phillies had snapped a 1-1 tie in the fifth on Tony Taylor's triple and a two-out hunt single by Richie Allen.

Tommy Harper hit a two-run homer in the third inning for the Reds, following a triple by Leo Cardenas, and Vada Pinson doubled in the other Cincinnati run in the sixth inning.

Joey Jay and Bill McCool, meanwhile, held the Cubs to four hits with McCool finishing up with three innings of no-hit, six-strikeout relief work.

WSC's Benedict, Kelly, Usgaard Named to Loop All-NIC Baseball Team

St. Cloud State College, led by all-American outfielder Larry Miller, dominated the Northern Intercollegiate all-conference baseball team announced today.

ALL-NIC BASEBALL

1965 NORTHERN INTERCOLLEGIATE CONFERENCE TEAM

Table listing All-NIC Baseball Team members with columns for Name, School, Position, B, T, Year, and Hometown.

Four players are all-conference veterans. Named to the team a year ago were Corcoran, Miller, Pallansch and Hegna.

THE CRISPEST race for berths on the team in several seasons left the squad stocked almost exclusively with right-handed talent.

The pitching staff combined for a 16-3 league record with Harmala the leader at 5-1. Burns was 4-1, Benedict 3-1 and Corcoran 4-2. Corcoran showed a 2.27 earned run average.

Anchor by Miller, among 14 small college players selected to the 1964 NIA team and nominated again this year, the outfield shows a wealth of power.

IN ADDITION to the .409 average compiled by the St. Cloud ace, Hegna hit at a .383 clip for Moorhead with 16 RBIs, one home run, one triple and three doubles.

Usgaard, elected unanimously (coaches may not vote for their own players) along with Miller, showed a .463 conference batting average. He drove in 16 runs, homered twice, tripled once and doubled six times.

Pallansch, one of three sophomores named, hit .285, Whitcher .243 and Jacobson .250.

UNDERCLASSMEN on the team along with Pallansch are sophomores Benedict and Burns and juniors, Whitcher and Usgaard.

Voting were coaches John Kasper of St. Cloud, Bob Montebello of Bemidji, Loel Ferrelson of Moorhead, Jean McCarthy of Mankato and L. A. McCown of Winona.

Richfield is Gopher Prep Diamond King

ST. PAUL (AP) —Richfield, unbeaten in 25 games this spring made the clutch hits and defensive plays Friday night and capped its brilliant baseball season by winning the Minnesota high school championship.

The Spartans clipped St. Paul Humboldt 2-1 in eight innings in a tense showdown at Midway Stadium to annex their second state title in four years.

Outfielder Barry Bishop stroked the deciding blow — a single bounced into center field, barely out of reach of the shortstop in Humboldt's drawn-in infield.

It came with the bases loaded and none out in the extra eighth inning. Richfield had loaded the sacks on a walk, a throwing error on a sacrifice bunt and an intentional walk.

The championship game had been scoreless since the first inning, in which each team counted one unearned run.

Five Richfield defensive plays cut down three Humboldt runners at home. One was out on an infield grounder, another on a short single and the third came when Ray Haas tripled in the sixth and tried to make it home for an inside-the-park homer.

In consolation play, Virginia captured third place by beating St. James 4-1, while Norwood-Young America took fifth with a 2-0 victory over Northfield.

day, will try to avenge that one defeat by traveling to Dakota.

Winnabago Valley, the Fillmore-Houston League leader with a 3-0 record, is expected to be involved in a thriller when it plays at Caledonia in a night game.

Caledonia, the defending champion, shows a 2-0 record in the circuit.

Other Hiawatha Valley games send Kellogg to Galesville for a twin bill that is scheduled to begin at 1 p.m., Trempaleau to Alma and Cochrane-Fountain City to Lewiston.

In the Fillmore-Houston, Waukon will play at Spring Grove in a night game and Rushford at Elitzen in an afternoon encounter.

Rollingstone will rely on the veteran left arm of Dewey Clinkscales to keep it in first place. The leaders will be without the services of one of their stars, however, as catcher John Nett Jr. will compete with the Winona Le Jetz in a double-header at Eau Claire.

Dakota, a budding power this season before its two-game slump, will pitch either curve-balling Larry Papenfuss or Walter Bartz.

In the last meeting between the two teams, Dakota took a 7-5 decision from the defending champions. Although Papenfuss gave up just seven hits and Clinkscales eight, the contest was marred by nine errors, six by Rollingstone.

In the double-header at Galesville, Vilas Smith and Bob Wittig or Ken Truax are expected to split duties in the double seven-inning affairs. For Kellogg, Jerry Leisen and Bob Noll are the expected choices. Kellogg is 3-2, Galesville 3-3.

Trempaleau will send Gary Meunier in search of his third victory at Alma. The Bears are 2-3 while Alma currently occupies the league cellar spot with a 1-5 record. Jim Hartman will be the starting pitcher for the Rivermen.

Cochrane-Fountain City (2-4) will send either Wayne Valentine or Bill Werner against either Jerry Braithwaite or Bernie Kennedy. Lewiston stands 2-3 in the league.

Spring Grove stands in third place in the Fillmore-Houston League at 2-2. Waukon is fifth with a 1-2 record. Rushford has split in two games, while Elitzen brings up the tailend with an 0-3 record.

Expected to pitch tonight for Caledonia is veteran Gordie Bauer, named the state's top amateur performer a year ago when he took Caledonia to second place in the state Class "B" amateur tournament.

MINNESOTA ADDS ALLEN

Yanks' Power Tumbles Twins

NEW YORK (AP) — With four American League teams bunched within three games of their top spot, the Minnesota Twins added Bernie Allen Saturday to the infield juggling act.

Manager Sam Mele probably wishes Allen were a pitcher, a good one.

Dipping beyond his Big Three for another starter, Mele tried lefty Mel Nelson Friday night against the Yankees and got bombed.

The Yankees won 10-2, with hobbling Mickey Mantle socking a grand slam homer to more than atone for painful slowness in the field. Phil Linz, Roger Maris and rookie Ross Moschitto also banged homers.

Allen was expected to see action Saturday following his recall from Denver where he tested his injured knee ("I'm ready") and practiced up at third base.

Rich Rollins, trying to stay in the lineup at either third or second, streaked home with an inside-the-park homer that Mantle had to chase to the fence.

NEW YORK (AP) — "That's more like it. Now for a few more like this one."

It sounded more like a prayer than a prophecy the way Johnny Kene said it.

Prayer is about the only thing left for the distraught manager of the New York Yankees. He has tried everything else to stir the Yankee hitters. And, until Friday night, nothing helped.

They had dropped four in a row and had scored only three runs in their last 35 innings. Just when it seemed the bottom had dropped out, the Yankees suddenly came to life.

Bill Stafford, who hadn't been getting any hitting support to speak of, was the winner. For the first time in weeks, they resembled the old Yankees, nine of their runs coming as a result of homers.

MILWAUKEE DROPS 5-4 10-INNING GAME TO CARDS

Bragan Sees His Moves Fizzle

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee Manager Bobby Bragan should have tried flipping a coin Friday night. Virtually every move went wrong as the Braves dropped a 5-4, 10-inning decision to the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Braves employed 17 players, two fewer than the Cards, in disappointing a paid crowd of 10,002, the fourth largest turnout at County Stadium this season.

Despite the defeat, Milwaukee didn't lose any ground in the National League race. The runner-up Braves remained 3½ games behind Los Angeles, which dropped a 4-2 decision to Philadelphia.

Southpaw Wade Blasingame hurled hitless ball for four innings and deserved a better fate against the Cards in the opener of a three-game series.

St. Louis scored three unearned runs in the sixth on singles by Phil Gagliano and Curt Flood, an error by third baseman Mike de la Hoz, an infield out and Jerry Buchek's single. De la Hoz, the goat of the inning, started as Bragan benched slugger Eddie Mathews with southpaw Curt Simmons on the mound for the Cards.

The Braves picked up a run in the second when Joe Torre doubled, took third on a wild pitch and scored

THIS ISN'T 'UDDER' FOLLY FOR GRIFFITH

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Charles Finley, owner of the Kansas City Athletics, has challenged Minnesota Twins owner Calvin Griffith to a cow milking contest in the A's park July 3.

Griffith, never having manned the business end of a cow, said he'd need some training before declaring it "in the bag."

Finley urged him to take it seriously and not dismiss it as "udder nonsense."

If the contest (?) comes off, it'll be part of a Farmers' Night promotion before the Twins-A game.

Milwaukee wants major league baseball here throughout the full 1965 season," Grobschmidt wrote Braves board chairman William Bartholomay.

"We want it here in 1966 and beyond," he added. "We are going to do everything we can to attain that objective, despite the destructive efforts which you and your associates have had on 1965 fan enthusiasm and attendance."

Teams, Inc., a businessmen's group seeking another franchise, blasted the Braves on charges of discouraging attendance. But it held open the possibility of discussions on a mid-summer move in return for talks on a "concrete plan" for a major league team for Milwaukee next season.

Bartholomay, who watched the Braves lose 5-4 to St. Louis in 10 innings here Friday night, said of Teams' hint, "I haven't seen the statement yet, but I imagine it's one of those things I wouldn't want to comment on now."

Bartholomay had offered Teams and Milwaukee County a $500,000 ransom package for permission to make the move to Atlanta next month instead of waiting next year. The county board unanimously turned down the request Wednesday and Grobschmidt wrote Friday:

"We are not interested in the least in your offer to buy your way out of a situation which is of your own making."

He continued, "I believe it would be well if you and your associates would finally come to the realization that Milwaukee is interested in baseball, not money."

While the Braves management is under court and league order to fulfill its contract to play 1965 home games in the county-owned stadium, Teams Inc., told Bartholomay through its president, Edmund B. Fitzgerald:

Don't Leave Town, Braves' Bosses Told

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Don't leave town, Milwaukee told the Braves again Friday.

Almost as soon as speculation cropped up that the city might permit an early flight south for the Braves in turn for assurance of a 1966 National League franchise, Milwaukee County Board Chairman Eugene H. Grobschmidt bluntly knocked down the idea.

"Milwaukee wants major league baseball here throughout the full 1965 season," Grobschmidt wrote Braves board chairman William Bartholomay.

"We want it here in 1966 and beyond," he added. "We are going to do everything we can to attain that objective, despite the destructive efforts which you and your associates have had on 1965 fan enthusiasm and attendance."

Venturi to Enter Hospital

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ken Venturi, defending U.S. Open golf champion who failed to make the 36-hole cutoff in the 1965 event Friday because of circulatory trouble, said he will enter the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn.

Venturi, gamely striving to defend his crown despite sharp pains in his shoulder, could muster rounds of no better than 81 and 79.

Immediately after the second round, he announced he will not play again until the circulatory disorder is cured.

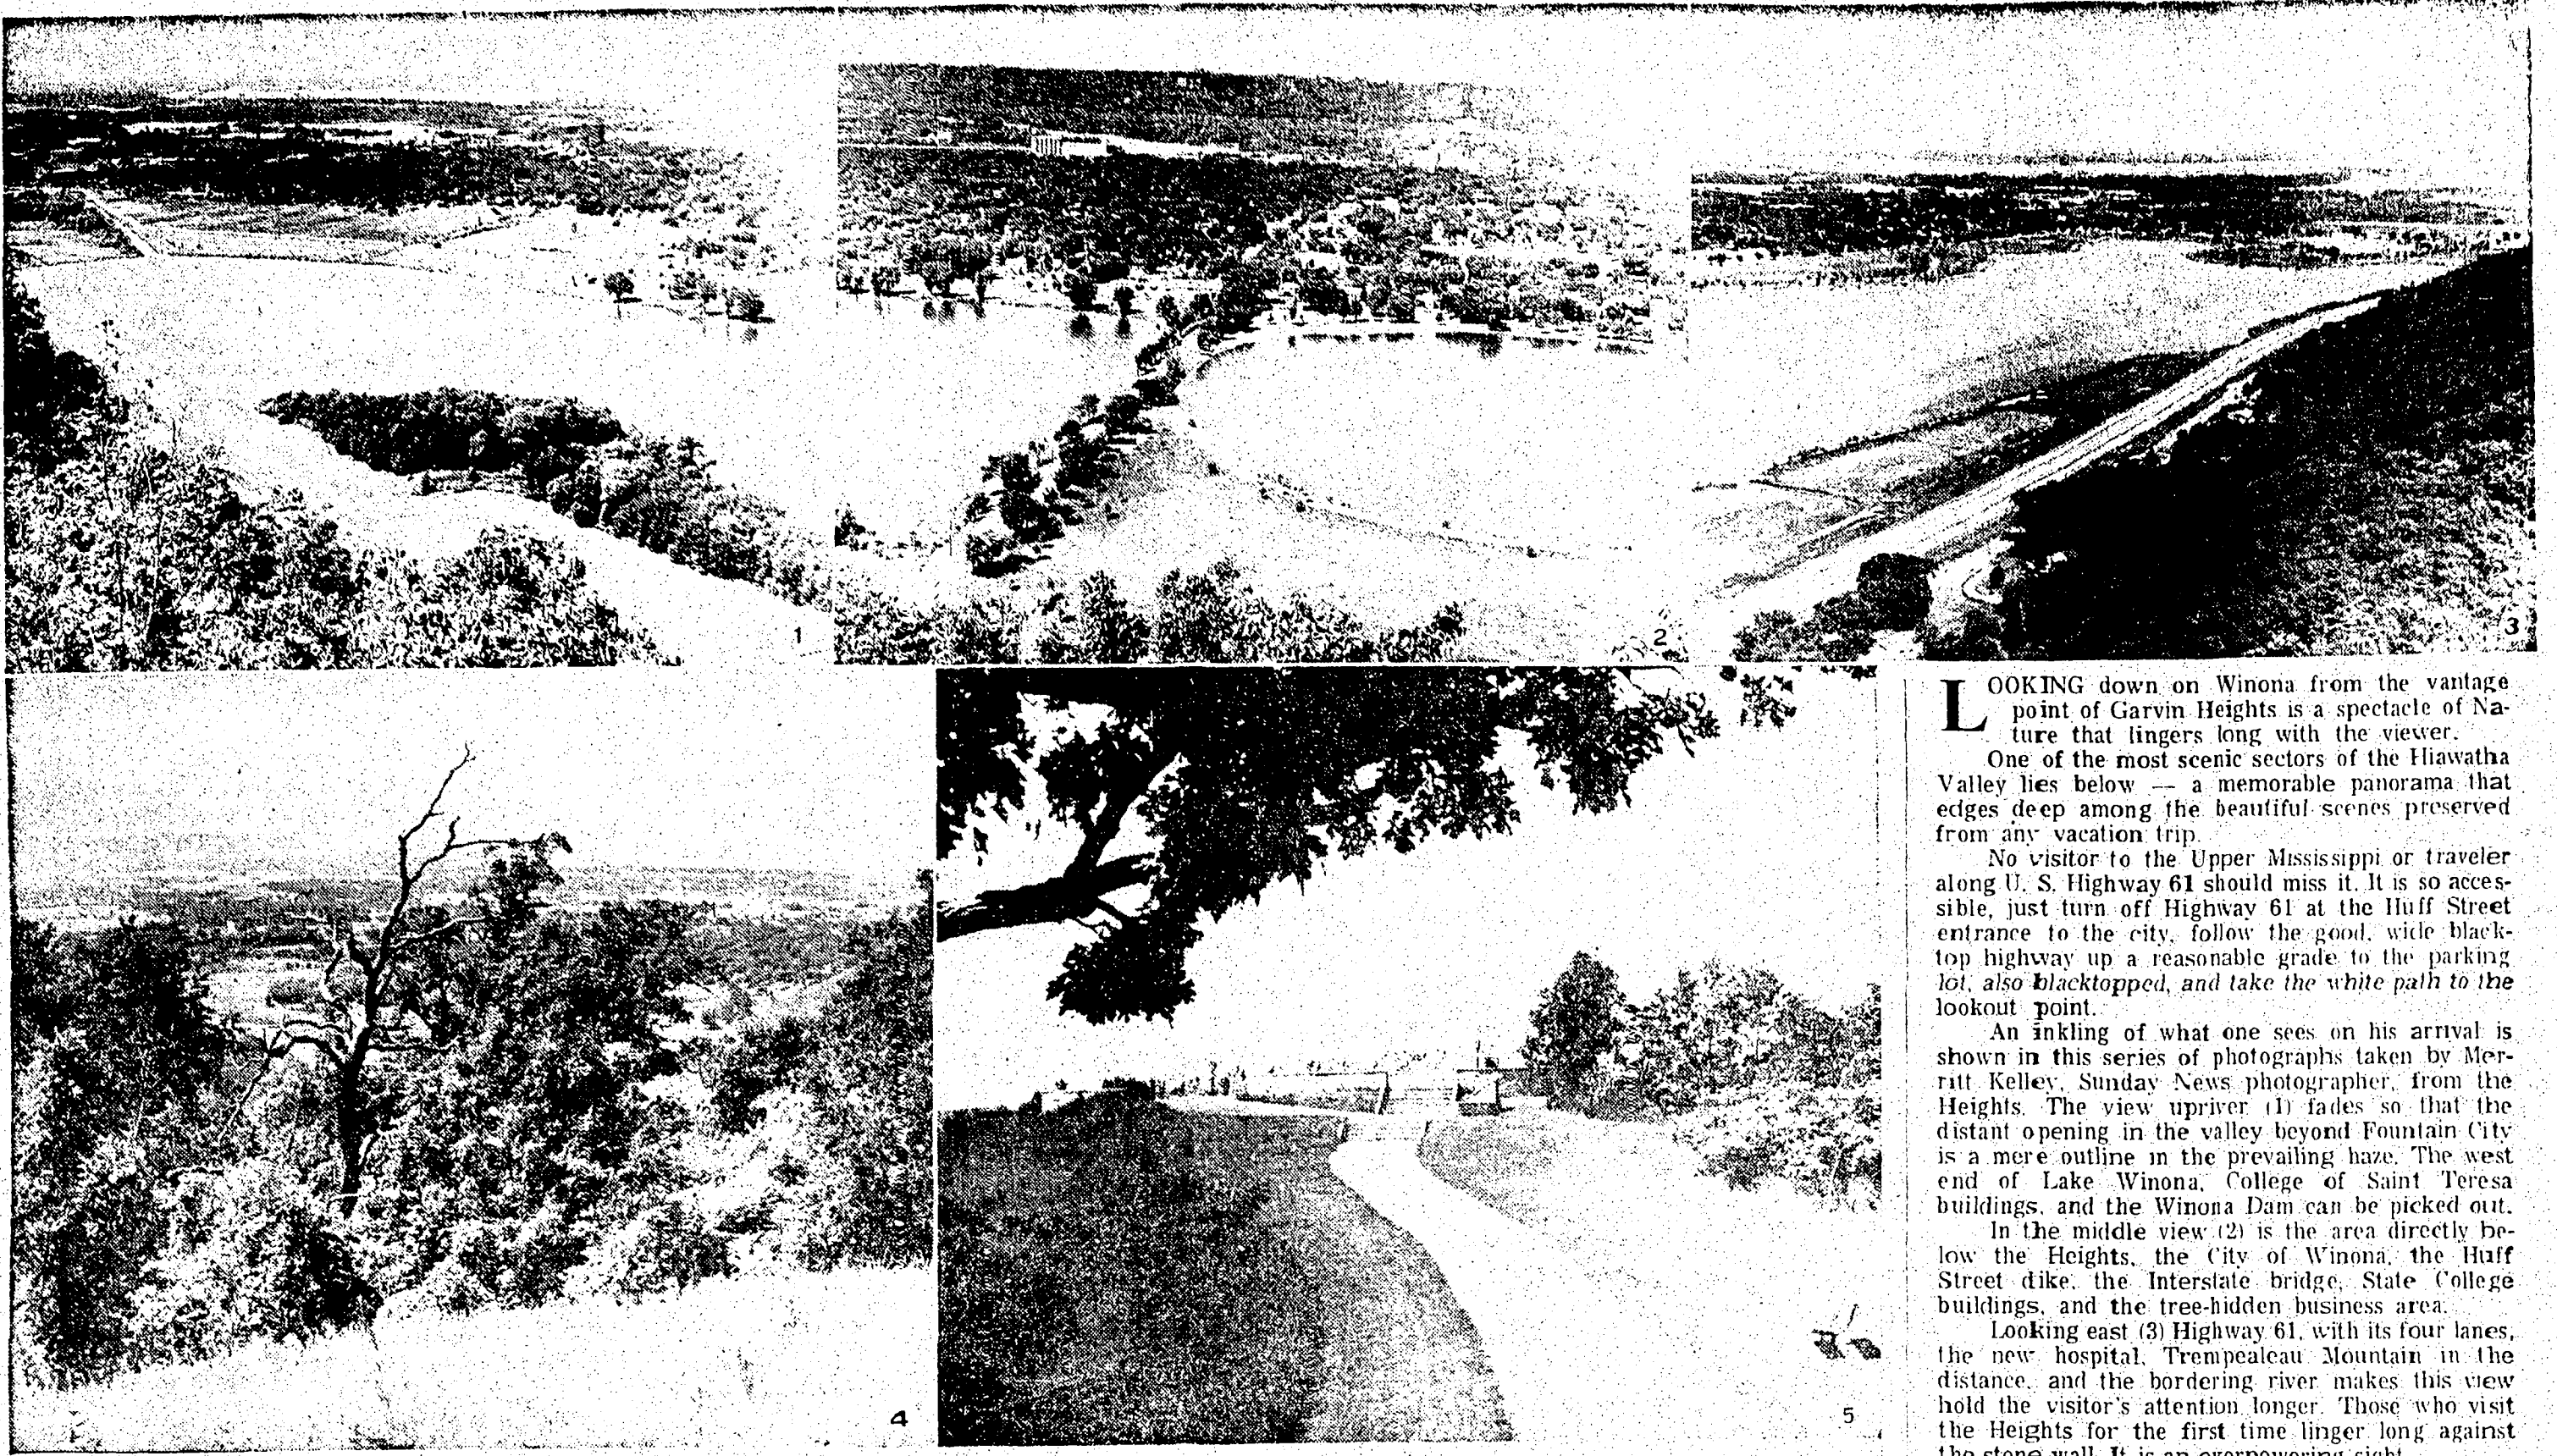

"I'm mulling my clubs to the wall," he said, adding that he would enter Mayo Clinic for tests, treatment and a possible operation.

He is ready to discuss a concrete plan for a major league baseball team in Milwaukee in 1966. In such an event, we would be anxious to discuss whatever arrangement might be necessary to facilitate that end."

View From Bluff Impresses Tourist Visitors

LOOKING down on Winona from the vantage point of Garvin Heights is a spectacle of Nature that lingers long with the viewer.

One of the most scenic sectors of the Hiawatha Valley lies below — a memorable panorama that edges deep among the beautiful scenes preserved from any vacation trip.

No visitor to the Upper Mississippi or traveler along U. S. Highway 61 should miss it. It is so accessible, just turn off Highway 61 at the Huff Street entrance to the city, follow the good, wide blacktop highway up a reasonable grade to the parking lot, also blacktopped, and take the white path to the lookout point.

An inkling of what one sees on his arrival is shown in this series of photographs taken by Merritt Kelley, Sunday News photographer, from the Heights. The view upriver (1) fades so that the distant opening in the valley beyond Fountain City is a mere outline in the prevailing haze. The west end of Lake Winona, College of Saint Teresa buildings, and the Winona Dam can be picked out.

In the middle view (2) is the area directly below the Heights, the City of Winona, the Huff Street dike, the Interstate bridge, State College buildings, and the tree-hidden business area.

Looking east (3) Highway 61, with its four lanes, the new hospital, Trempealeau Mountain in the distance, and the bordering river makes this view hold the visitor's attention longer. Those who visit the Heights for the first time linger long against the stone wall. It is an overpowering sight.

A hint of the wilderness nature of the area, eventually the center of a hardwood forest is provided in this view as one walks (4) the Heights (4). The lightning killed tree is a landmark from the air. The sloping path leading to the lookout (5) is a well-kept park with waste benches and attractive stone steps of famous Winona stone.

Look Down on Winona From Garvin Heights

By LEFTY HYMES
Sunday News Outdoor Writer

The sweeping scenic panorama of the Mississippi Valley viewed from the height of the aged rocky border bluffs is a picture that lingers long with the tourist visitors after they have returned to their homes.

Thus "Looking down" on Winona from Garvin Heights should be a must for Winona tourist visitors aiming to enjoy the beauty of the Hiawatha Valley. It should be promoted in every manner possible by our citizens who have a contact with the vast moving flow of pleasure seekers traveling the highways.

For the first time in ten years, no major highway construction interferes with traffic this vacation period. U. S. Highway 61 is a perfect road of four ribbons of white concrete through the most scenic sector of historical Hiawatha Valley.

Standing on the point of the Heights behind the breast-high stone wall gives a three-way view of this ever changing work of Nature. Even the pictorial city with its church steeples, miles of tree-lined streets, its schools, factories and lake, dwarf under the magnitude of mingling sky, land and water.

THE ROAD to Garvin Heights is good, in the best shape, it has been in several years. The city has done an excellent job of keeping the parking area below the heights and the walk to it clean. It is an inviting shady walk to the lookout area.

Visitors that one directs to this lookout area will rate their trip there well worth their effort and rewarding for the time taken out of their rush to some place else. Garvin Heights and Winona will be remembered as a high point of their vacation. Of course, Garvin Heights is not the only lookout point along the Great River. There are at least a dozen more between Red Wing and Lansing, Iowa, but most of them are not as accessible. It is easy to get to the blufftop here.

THE DEVELOPMENT of Garvin Heights has taken place over the years. Records show, that even after the white man came to Winona, Chief Wabasha and his tribe had a lookout posted there. Early white settlers climbed to watch for approaching steamboats. Later it became a popular picnic area and stone steps, several hundred, formed a stairway leading to the Heights.

H. C. Garvin, whose hobby was parks, acquired the property and gave it as a gift to Winona State College after he built a road to it and made several improvements, even drilling a well there.

Eventually, the college passed the Heights to the division of parks of the State Conservation Department. The legislature allotted funds for its development, followed by an agreement between the Conservation Department and the city park board under which the city became owner and caretaker of the park, and incorporated it into its regular park system.

THE NUMBER of visitors to the park has gradually increased with the improved road. M. J. Bambenek, Winona park director, estimates that through the vacation period between 500 to 600 cars come to the Heights each week. The peak day is in the mid-week period. The three binoculars that are mounted on the wall take in more than 7,000 times a season.

Park Rules Emphasized

ST. PAUL — Persons intending to visit any of Minnesota's 65 state parks this summer were reminded today of some of the rules and regulations concerning use of these areas. These rules and regulations are intended to provide for the greatest enjoyment of park visitors and for the protection of the natural values inherent to a park.

Consumption of intoxicating liquors is prohibited. Fires are allowed only in fireplaces or at authorized picnic and camp sites.

In campgrounds, use of trees as guy posts and digging into the camp site is prohibited. All campers must register and children under 19 must be accompanied by an adult who is responsible for them.

Rafts, floats, pontoon type watercraft and inboard driven boats are not allowed. Outboard motors are restricted to 25 horsepower and boats may not be driven at speeds in excess of 10 m.p.h.

Aquaplaning and aircraft landings are not permitted. Swimming is restricted to established beaches. Motor vehicle travel is limited to improved roads and horseback riding is confined to designated trails designed for this use.

Domestic pets are prohibited from all park areas except when on a leash not more than six feet in length, and may not be taken into buildings.

All firearms, explosives, air guns, slingshots, traps, snares, nets, bows and arrows and other weapons must be registered with the park manager who may retain them while the owner is in the park.

Picnic Time
Father's Day should be a day when the old man could pick up his tackle and go fishing but it isn't. For many families, it is a picnic day when all the family gathers around a long picnic table and pay homage to dad — our guess is that he likes it.

So, an answer to where to go is probably timely. State parks in Minnesota and Wisconsin, with the exception of a few small low areas of these parks along the Big River, are open and ready. The parks that were flooded have pretty well been cleaned up. There may be some mud in low spots where the water remains.

One thing to remember about state parks is that there is a sticker fee of $2 for the season, or 50 cents a day. This applies in both Minnesota and Wisconsin. There is no charge at county, city or village-owned parks. Prairie Island and Farner's Community come in this class. There are many small picnic areas available also. However, we suggest getting a sticker and forget it for the remainder of the season.

Activities in the parks are now at top speed. At White-water for example there is golfing, bathing, camping, baseball diamonds, fishing, and some glorious hiking trails. In fact, every park has some entertainment features.

Last week we climbed to Buena Vista Park, above Alma, Wis., with its marvelous river view and fried a steak. Facilities were good and one can watch the river scene below for hours. Incidentally, if you should go there, be sure to see the masses of wild roses along the park road. You don't see them along roads often nowadays. Roadside spraying has killed them with a lot of other wild flowers we once enjoyed.

Lake Pepin Catfish
Jack Skrypek, state fish biologist stationed on Lake Pepin, has issued a rather interesting report on the catfish oddity that has occurred in Lake Pepin the past two or three years. It will be recalled that we used several articles pertaining to it. He reports:

"During the past three winters, thousands of catfish have been taken by fishermen from two small areas in Lake Pepin, indicating a very unusual concentration of these fish. First report of the catfish concentration came in the winter of 1962-63. An ice fisherman cut a hole in the ice in lower Lake Pepin near Camp Lacopolis and began jigging.

"Soon he caught a cat fish and then another and another. Word soon got around and other fishermen moved in for their share. That winter fishermen took 7,346 catfish weighing 9,300 pounds from a small area.

"It was obvious to fishermen that catfish must be stacked up on the bottom of the lake like cord wood. The next winter catfish and fishermen returned and another 4,663 fish weighing a total of 4,943 pounds were taken from the same hole.

"Fishing dropped off at the Camp Lacopolis spot last winter but another catfish concentration was discovered about two miles up river. During the winter 2,268 catfish weighing 4,604 pounds were taken from this area."

"He said that more catfish have been caught from these small areas than were taken by all of the commercial fishermen on the Minnesota side of Lake Pepin. In 1962-63 about seven-eighths of all the catfish caught by sport fishing in Poul A came from these concentrations.

Fly-in Fishing
Winonians have taken to the air to go fishing. A party of four returned with Larry Conway in his plane from a jaunt to the Florida Keys. They flew to Miami from where they took off for the Keys and where Jack Walz had arranged for a chartered boat. They had excellent fishing, mainly dolphins. They saw some snails but did not catch any. The other members of the party were Harold Streater and Warren Weigel.

Another fishing party of Winonians flew with Vern Jones out of Ft. Francis Tuesday to a lake deep in the Canadian wilderness. In the party were Dr. F. J. Vollmer, Ray Bambenek and Loren W. Torgerson.

Pheasant Losses Not As Severe as Feared

DES MOINES, Iowa — Pheasant losses caused by the severe March blizzards were not as bad as was first feared, according to Gene Klomglan, biologist for the Iowa Conservation Commission.

"Recently completed crowing and road-side counts indicate a 20 to 25 percent decline in the state's cock population; the hen population is down about 30 percent compared to last year," Klomglan said.

The greatest pheasant losses occurred in northwest Iowa, the area hardest hit by the storms. Counts show a decline of about 50 percent of the pheasant population in this area, according to the biologist. Ordinarily, it was feared that the loss of pheasants in extreme northern Iowa was much more severe.

More Grouse Reported Counted

ST. PAUL — The annual drumming count to determine the spring population of ruffed grouse shows that nearly twice as many grouse were available for nesting in the north this spring as there were one year ago.

Regional game manager, Mill Sterlund, reports that the 1964-65 winter was the best for grouse since the 1956-57 winter eight years ago. Sufficient snow fell and remained so that birds were able to roost in the snow from the middle of December through March.

Research has revealed that when grouse are denied access to snow roasts, they become easy victims for predators or die from exposure during prolonged periods of cold. It has been found that temperatures below the surface of the snow are often as much as 40 degrees higher than on the surface.

In the central hardwoods area there was a 66 percent increase in drumming noted over 1964 with five of the 16 routes surveyed averaging a 100 percent increase.

Firearms Industry Backs LBJ Plan

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The firearms industry today supported President Johnson's recommendation to Congress to retain the excise tax on sporting firearms and ammunition.

In a recent tax message to Congress, the President specifically asked that the 11 percent tax not be included in his program to remove excise taxes from a long list of consumer goods.

According to the National Shooting Sport Foundation, the firearms industry and the nation's sportsmen requested the tax in 1937 as a much-needed means to finance conservation programs. Since then, more than $255.7 million has been allocated to the states to buy wild life land and to finance research and conservation programs.

More Funds for Fish and Wildlife

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Distribution of $15,000,000 in Federal Aid funds for fish and wildlife restoration projects will be made to the 50 States July 1, Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall announced today. This is an increase of $800,000 over a similar distribution a year ago.

Of the $15,000,000 just allocated, $12,000,000 is for wildlife restoration and $3,000,000 is for sport fishery projects. Under the distribution Minnesota will receive for fish $139,933 and for wildlife $311,566 and Wisconsin for fish $112,417 and for wildlife $296,626.

Deer Kill Estimated

MADISON, Wis. — The Conservation Department estimates the 1964-65 winter deer starvation loss in Wisconsin at 22,000 to 30,000 animals. The figures are based on surveys made on sample plots in seriously affected management units north of Highway 64. They compare to a regular gun season harvest last fall of 43,000 in the same area.

There was no evidence of loss caused by malnutrition in the central part of the state or in eastern counties of the north-east area.

Osseo Juniors Hold Meeting

OSSEO, Wis. (Special) — The Junior Golf Club held its first meeting of the season, June 7. Committees were selected to set up handicaps and plan various events. Marcia Otfedahl was named to take charge of the handicap chart. All Junior golfers must have eight rounds in to be eligible for tournament play.

At the election of officers Dave Klatt was named president, Marcia Otfedahl, vice president, and Patty Jo Olson, secretary-treasurer. The planning committee is composed of Patty Jo Olson, Donna Quinn, Dave Klatt, and Diane Johnson.

Girl Huck Finn Adventurers Sleep Under Stars on Sandbar

GATHERING WOOD . . . Miss Peggy Van Drasek, left, 152½ W. Howard St., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Van Drasek, Minneapolis; Miss Sheila Homola, center, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Benicke, Stockton, and Miss Laurie Lucas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laird Lucas, 227 W. Wabasha St., are gathering wood for a fire so they can cook their evening meal on their overnight camp-out on a sandbar. (Sunday News photos)

PREPARING FOR BED . . . Sheila, left, Laurie, center, and Peggy are unrolling their sleeping bags to prepare for a night of sleeping under the stars in the wilderness of a remote sandbar.

HOW DO YOU DO . . . Miss Sheila Homola, right, is shaking hands with Jacques Louis, the Lucases' French poodle, who spent the day with them. Miss Peggy Van Drasek is holding the poodle.

THREE modern female Huckleberry Finns filled with adventurous spirits traveled by motorboat one night last week to a remote sandbar surrounded by wilderness and the beckoning water of the Mississippi River for an overnight camp-out.

They were Miss Laurie Lucas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laird Lucas, 227 W. Wabasha St.; Miss Sheila Homola, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Benicke, Stockton, and Miss Peggy Van Drasek, 152½ W. Howard St., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Van Drasek, Minneapolis. Jacques Louis, the Lucases' French poodle, spent the day with them.

Using Lucases' houseboat, which is docked at the Winona Municipal Boat Harbor as headquarters, the girls loaded their supplies and sleeping bags into a 15-foot runabout and started on their sojourn. Laurie was at the wheel and dexterously guided them up the main channel of the river. They investigated all the sloughs until they found a desirable sandbar near Straight Slough in the vicinity of Prairie Island.

THEY DECIDED ON ONE which was new to them. The girls had not seen it before because the water is usually too shallow to operate a boat in that particular area.

At supper time, these three young scavengers went into the woods and gathered broken tree branches for a fire. The jackknives they had brought for protection were used for whittling sticks to roast hot dogs. A large can of beans was placed over the flames. The rest of the meal consisted of potato chips, soft drinks and samores. Samores are dessert sandwiches comprised of toasted marshmallows and chocolate bars placed between two graham crackers. The girls learned of this "yummy" dessert when they were Girl Scouts.

As dusk approached, they were startled to hear plopping sounds in the peaceful stillness. Laurie quickly grabbed her binoculars. She spotted fish jumping out of the water and a gliding beaver making rippling sounds.

THEY LISTENED TO HIT tunes on the portable radio and played rummy in the moonlight with the aid of flashlights.

Sand on a sandbar tends to absorb and hold the heat of the sun. Although the temperature went down to 52 degrees, the girls were as snug as bugs in their warm sleeping bags. The moonlight was so bright they had to cover their faces so they could sleep. Laurie came prepared for mosquitoes with camouflage mosquito netting which she placed around her head. Insect repellent was used to ward off the unwanted creatures.

Peggy was up at 6 a.m. and prepared her breakfast which consisted of fried eggs, bacon, juice and doughnuts. She managed to rouse the other girls two hours later. Their sleeping gear was quite damp from the morning dew.

The morning was spent water skiing, sun bathing and exploring. They found various stones and residue washed up on the beach, including agates, fossils, arrowheads, dead fish and the small jawbone skeleton of some unknown animal complete with teeth and fangs.

Laurie, who recently completed her freshman year at Colorado Women's College, Denver, Colo., and Sheila and Peggy, who have completed their freshmen years at Winona State College, were homeward bound the next day. They were tired but happy from their night of sleeping under the stars in the tranquil wilderness of God's country.

Winona Girl Scouts Day Camp Starts on Monday

The 80 girls planning to attend the five-day Girl Scout Day Camp at Wi-Gi-Sco-Ca near Trempealeau, Wis., are to meet at the Cathedral parking lot Monday morning at 9 where busses will transport them to camp.

Each girl is to bring a sack lunch. Milk will be furnished. Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Bambenek will be the directors. Other staff members will be the Mmes. Leonard Albrecht, Arnold Smith and John Bell Jr., and the Misses Sandra Burt, Mary Kay Glubka, Rebecca Schuh and Kathy Shira.

THE GIRLS will engage in some advanced skills. They will practice rowing in a row boat which will be embedded in a sea of sand. Indian scenes of animal and bird life of the area will be depicted by the Girls by painting with Indian colored sand. Knot tying, knife care and carving hiking sticks are planned. Nature trail hikes will be taken daily and all trees, plants, flowers, birds and animal tracks will be observed. Jimmy Yellowbank's grave will be visited. All girls will run the obstacle course.

The Cadettes will have tent pitching, axe and knife care and advanced knot tying and lashing. They also will partake in archery and in a field trip to gather wild edibles.

FOR SOME of the girls, the overnight campout will be Thursday when a huge campfire will be built. Skits, songs, storytelling and refreshments will add fun to a night under the stars.

Parents are to pick up the girls at the Cathedral parking lot at 3:30 p.m. each day.

Two Teachers Trade Vows At Houston

HOUSTON, Minn. (Special)—Miss Nancy Bonde, daughter of Mrs. Karl Bonde, Houston, and the late Karl Bonde, exchanged wedding vows with Gary Evenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Evenson, Lyle, Minn., June 12 at the Cross of Christ Lutheran Church here.

The Rev. Richard Lee performed the ceremony. Trumpet solos were presented by Richard Quast, Gaylord, Minn. Miss Barbara Anderson and the Rev. Merland Johnson were soloists and Miss Karen Kvammen, Osakis, Minn., organist.

GIVEN IN marriage by her brother, Richard Bonde, Fort Lewis, Wash., the bride wore a gown of silk organza over taffeta with a scoop neckline. The neckline and sleeves were edged with lace appliques trimmed with pearls and crystals. Her bell skirt fell into a chapel train bordered with lace. Her veil was held by a pearl and crystal queen's crown and her cascade bouquet was of stephanotis and ivy, centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Gary O'Hean, Portage, Wis., was matron of honor and Miss Sue Schwager, Blue Earth, Minn., and Miss Kay Iverson, Lyle, Minn., bridesmaids. Their gowns were spring green whipped cream crepe with floor-length skirts, empire waistlines and panel backs. They wore matching head veils and carried crescent bouquets of white pompons and lemon leaves. Miss Dianne Palmquist was the bride's personal attendant.

The mother of the bride wore an ivory sheath dress with a lace bodice and overjacket and the groom's mother, a pink lace sheath. Both had white orchids. Attending the groom were Roger Everson, Lyle, as best man and Richard Carroll, London, Minn., and Joel Thompson, Westby, Wis., groomsmen. Ushers were Larry Howard, Lyle, and Dennis Rathjen, Osseo, Wis.

MRS. MAYNARD NELSON, aunt of the bride, was hostess at the reception in Fellowship Hall. Assisting were the Mmes. Paul Tompton, P. B. Ryan, H. S. Bonde, all of Minneapolis, and Gilmer Kragness and the Mmes. Sharon Johnson, Viroqua, Wis.; Anna Marie Houge, Margo McCune, Janet Palmquist, Barbara and Karen Peterson and Karen Nilsestuen, Arcadia.

The newlyweds left for a honeymoon at Wisconsin Dells after which they will spend the summer at Lyle. In the fall, both will teach in the public school system at Hector, Minn.

She is a graduate of Houston High School and the groom, of Lyle High School. Both are graduates of Luther College, Decorah, Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Evenson were hosts at the bridal dinner at the Golfview Restaurant. A pre-nuptial shower was hosted by school friends at Decorah, friend and relatives at Lyle, and by relatives in Houston.

Osseo Women Participate in College Week

OSSEO, Wis. (Special)—Four women from Osseo were among 530 who took part in the annual College Week for Women program at the University of Wisconsin at Madison for three days last week.

Objectives of the program are to provide Wisconsin women with an opportunity for concentrated study in home economics and other areas to stimulate women's interests in continuing adult education and to stimulate thoughts and provide ideas for adult education programs in local communities.

Osseo residents taking part were the Mmes. James Smith, Warren Van Tassel, William Paulson and Sylvia Matthe.

Tena Kiekhoefer Is 97-Years-Old

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special)—A 97-year-old woman, Miss Tena Kiekhoefer, observed her 97th birthday Tuesday with a party at St. Joseph's Hospital, where she has lived for three years.

Attending the celebration were four nieces and her roommate, Miss Maggie Loretz, a longtime friend and companion. Several friends called to extend best wishes.

If not the oldest person in Trempealeau County, Miss Tena or Aunt Tena, as she is called, is one of the oldest natives since she lived here all her life.

SHE IS THE daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kiekhoefer, who came from their native Germany shortly before the Civil War and settled in the area known as Trout Run Valley, a few miles southeast of her. She was born there June 15, 1868, in a log cabin on the family homestead.

She received her education at Cortland School in the Trout Run community and has always been an avid reader and kept busy with handwork and sewing.

Aunt Tena is alert and enjoys visits from her friends and relatives. She is able to be up and about. It is only recently that her eyesight has failed, curbing her reading.

A sister, Mrs. Fredrika Ulbrech, Galesville, died in 1962 at the age of 101.

Nancy Whiting Becomes Bride Of Mr. Comer

Mrs. Alan E. Comer

Miss Nancy Carolyn Whiting, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin D. Whiting, 1260 W. Broadway, became the bride of Alan Edson Comer, Red Cedar Point, Excelsior, Minn., son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Comer, Saturday afternoon.

THE WEDDING was at St. Matthew's Lutheran Church, with the Rev. A. L. Mennicke officiating.

Miss Jane Hike was soloist and Mrs. Richard Burmeister, organist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a floor-length crepe gown with a snug bodice and slim skirt ending in a chapel train. It featured a portrait neckline and elbow-length sleeves and was trimmed in embroidered lace.

Her silk illusion veil was attached to a satin pillbox, trimmed with pearls. She carried a cluster of yellow roses with garlands of ivy, tied with white tulle. She wore an heirloom cameo necklace that had belonged to her maternal great-grandmother, Mrs. Theodore Kowalke.

MISS JEAN Meyer, Clara City, Minn., was maid of honor, and Mrs. Donald F. Whiting, Milwaukee, was bridesmaid.

They wore sheath gowns of yellow taffeta with white lace over the bodices, which had scoop necklines and elbow-length sleeves. Satin bands marked the empire waistlines. Their satin headpieces held shoulder-length veils. They carried colonial bouquets of white daisies, centered with yellow carnations.

Best man was Delroy Hayunga, Clara City, Minn., and groomsmen were Donald F. Whiting, Milwaukee, brother of the bride, Ushers were Roy Leach, Red Cedar Point, Excelsior, and Robert Will, Morton, Minn.

The bride's mother wore a willow-green sheath of peau de soie with a bodice of lace. The groom's mother was attired in a pink crepe sheath. Both had corsages of white roses.

A RECEPTION and buffet supper was held in the Gold Room at Hotel Winona. Assisting were the Misses Carol Kimball, St. Louis Park, Minn., Mary Roverud, Judith Goldberg and Jeanine Brose.

After a brief wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Minneapolis, where both will continue their studies at the University of Minnesota.

The bride is a graduate of Winona High School and attended Carleton College, Northfield, Minn., for two years. The groom is a graduate of Minnetonka High School, Excelsior, and attended Carleton College three years.

PRENUPTIAL parties honoring the bride were given by the Misses Larry Conway, John J. Hoffman and J. V. Wadden at the Hoffman home; by Mrs. Walter Skeels at her home; by Mrs. Robert Horton and Mrs. Harris Kalbrener at the former's home; and by Mrs. Berner Leach and Mrs. H. W. Leach at the former's home at Cedar Point, Excelsior.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Adamczyk (Edstrom Studio)

Adamczyk-Koeth Vows Repeated At Sacred Heart

Honeymooning in Northern Minnesota following their June 12 marriage are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Adamczyk.

The former Miss Rose Ann Koeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Koeth, 320 E. King St., and Mr. Adamczyk, son of Mrs. Dorothy Adamczyk, 631 W. King St., and the late Stanley Adamczyk, were married at the Cathedral of Sacred Heart.

The Rev. Donald J. Connelly officiated. Mrs. Joseph Orlovski was organist and the Stella Maris Choir sang.

GIVEN IN marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of nylon organza and lace over taffeta. The long-sleeved lace bodice had a scoop neckline with sequin accents and the bouffant skirt had a shepard's organza overskirt with tiers of lace ruffles. The fitted midriff was appliqued with lace. Her silk veil was held by a flower of lace and organza petals lined with pearls. She carried a cascade of red roses and stephanotis.

Miss Kathryn Koeth, the bride's sister, was maid of honor and Miss Jean Lubinski, bridesmaid. Junior bridesmaids were Miss Susanne Koeth, sister of the bride, and Miss Diane Adamczyk, sister of the groom.

The attendants wore scoop-neck dresses of pink whipped cream fabric with floor-length trains. Their bouffant veils were held by pink roses. The maid of honor carried a nosegay of pink carnations surrounded by white carnations and the bridesmaids carried nosegays of mixed pink and white carnations.

Stanley Adamczyk, Lawton, Okla., brother of the groom, was best man and David Przybylski, James Fitzgerald and James Paszkiewicz, groomsmen. Ushers were Ralph and Gerald Drwall.

THE BRIDE'S mother wore a coral and white suit dress and had a corsage of white roses. The groom's mother wore a green lace suit dress ensemble and had a corsage of pink roses.

The wedding luncheon was at the home of the bride's parents. The reception was held at the Izaak Walton Club, where music was provided by the Terminus Combo.

The bride is a graduate of Winona Senior High School and is employed at the Boland Manufacturing Co. Her husband is also a graduate of WSHS and works for Peerless Chain Co. After their wedding trip, the couple will reside here.

Mrs. Dorothy Adamczyk entertained the bridal party at Shorty's Cafe. Prenuptial showers were given by Mrs. Frank Jick and Miss Jean Lubinski; Mrs. Walter Kulas and Mrs. Edward Drwall, and Mrs. Ralph Haridke.

66 EAST THIRD STREET IN DOWNTOWN WINONA

Telephone Addition to Provide New Services

NORTHWESTERN BELL ADDITION . . . The first phase of a proposed $336,000 expansion program, the new structure is situated to the east of the telephone company exchange, 3rd and Johnson streets. It will house the company's business office beginning Monday, and exchange equipment will be added later.

Northwestern Bell Telephone Co.'s new addition here paves the way for new services for Winona subscribers, a company official said Friday.

Speaking after the dedication of the addition, built to the east of the telephone exchange at 3rd and Johnson streets, C. W. Andrews, Rochester, Bell Telephone's district manager, said new central office equipment would be installed there "in the very near future."

SERVICES it would make possible, he said, include:

- Touch-tone dialing, in which the conventional telephone dial is replaced with pushbuttons.
- Electronic tone signaling, enabling transmission of data processing information.
- Automatic dialing services, which would enable a telephone to be equipped to dial frequently-called numbers at the touch of a button.
- Direct distance dialing to 90 percent of the world's telephones.

To this list, Robert C. Olson, Bell Telephone manager here, added a service that would enable a subscriber to dial a code that would transfer incoming calls to another number.

THE TWO MEN were among speakers at a lunch at Williams Hotel for guests at the cornerstone-laying and dedication ceremony at the new addition.

Other speakers were Harold Briesath, City Council president, who said the addition has "surely upgraded our downtown area," and William Lang, president of the Winona Chamber of Commerce, who thanked telephone company officials "for the terrific investment you have made in Winona."

During the ceremony itself, these men were among persons to place items in a box that was then sealed in the cornerstone.

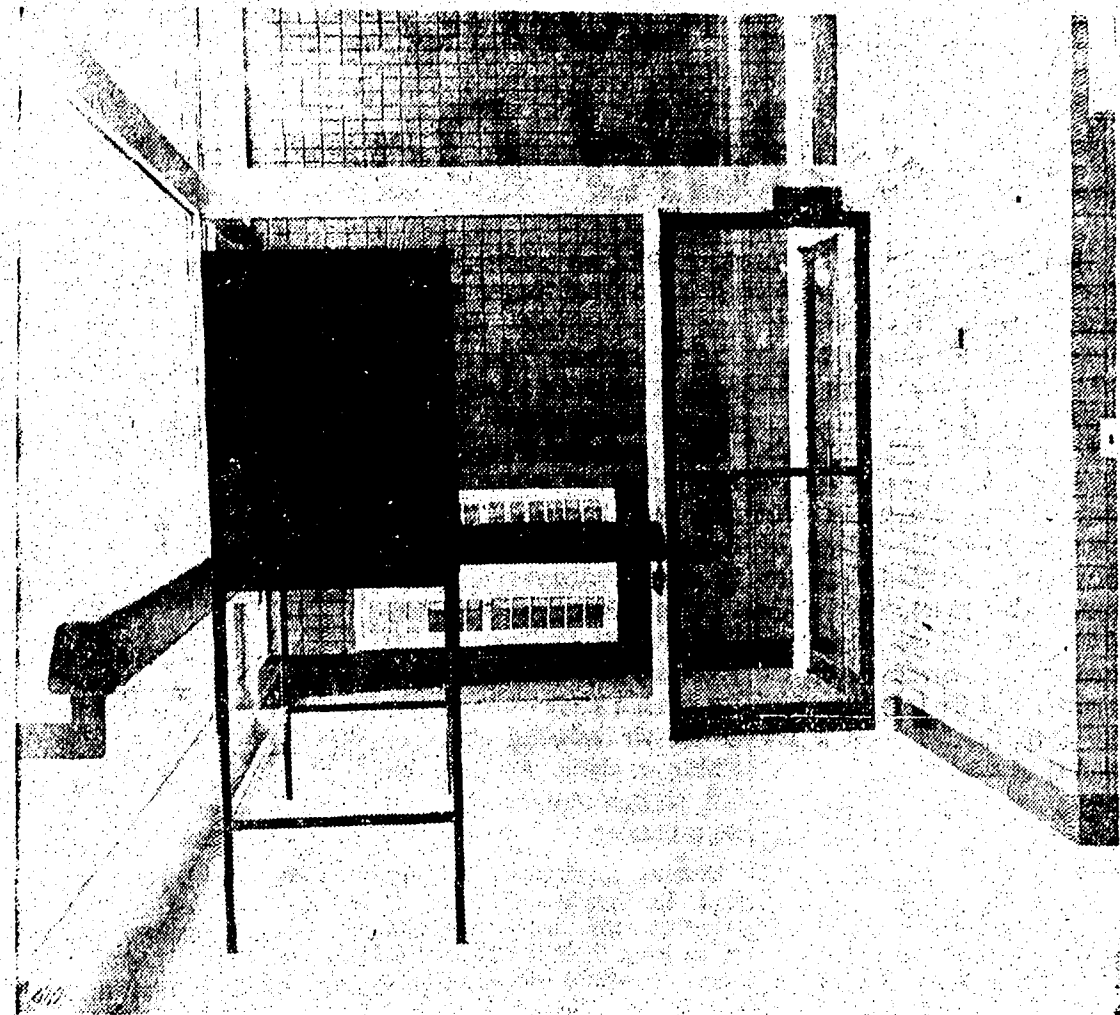

Briesath put a copy of the current city telephone directory in the box; Lang, a copy of the chamber bulletin and city statistics; William F. White, Sunday News publisher, a copy of a current newspaper and a special flood edition; Stuart B. Wigg, president of Local 7206 of the Communication Workers of America, a list of Bell Telephone employees; Keith Schwab, of P. Earl Schwab Co., general contractor for the building, a list of subcontractors and employees, and Olson, a list of persons at the ceremony.

OTHER GUESTS at the dedication included Rep. Frank Theis; Donald Stone, chamber manager; Kenneth McQueen, Winona Industrial Development Association president; W. E. Morse, WIDA executive director, and telephone company workers.

The new building is the first phase of a proposed $336,000 construction program here. Other phases include a $108,000 cable expansion in the city's west end and $50,000 in other construction, Olson said.

LOBBY . . . The exterior brick facing of the new Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. addition is carried inside the entrance lobby. After going through this part of the structure, the visitor enters the business office.

New Telephone Business Office Opens Monday

The Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. business office will be situated in the firm's new addition starting Monday.

It will occupy a room just inside the main entrance of the 80- by 90-foot structure, which was built to the east of the company's exchange, 3rd and Johnson streets.

Among its features are a public telephone booth, situated off the entryway, containing new pay-telephone equipment, and a small room off the business office itself, provided for the benefit of those who need more room to make a call . . . the salesman with a sheaf of catalogs to keep before himself as he talks, for example.

The latter room contains a built-in table, chairs and a new wall telephone, set in a panel flush with the wall.

A large room behind the business office is empty now, but it will house exchange equipment in the future. Moving the equipment into the new addition, telephone company officials point out, will provide room in the older exchange building for new direct-distance-dialing equipment.

Nightmare of Price Changing Over Tax Cut

NEW YORK (AP) — While most manufacturers and retailers dream of more sales resulting from the new excise tax cut, some of their employees must cope with the nightmare of making massive price tag changes.

The nightmare probably hit some kind of an apogee Friday when New York's Tiffany & Co. closed its doors to change 172,415 individual price tags on the jewelry it sells.

Reports from around the nation indicated that managers and employees of jewelry stores, luggage shops, appliance centers and scores of other types of retailers had scheduled this summer weekend for re-pricing their inventory.

The excise levies removed by the bill given final approval Thursday and sent to President Johnson for expected signature long have borne the label "nuisance taxes."

Even in their dying moments the excise taxes remained a nuisance.

For example, the price tag changing process was complicated by the different effective dates for ending the assorted levies. On some the tax reduction is retroactive to March. On others it is effective the day after the President signs the bill. On some the effective date is July 1, while on others the effective date is Dec. 31 or Jan. 1.

The inventory re-pricing problem was the most difficult for large retail organizations such as department stores and mail order houses which deal in thousands of separate categories of items.

Meanwhile, the governments of many states which impose sales taxes as a major form of revenue are studying the impact of the reductions on their income.

Questions, Answers On Excise Tax Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are questions and answers on consumer angles of the new excise tax reduction bill passed by Congress and awaiting President Johnson's signature.

Q. How will consumers benefit from the excise tax reduction?

A. By $4.6 billion of tax savings, a stimulus to prolong the business expansion, and quite probably, a small drop in the cost of living.

Q. How much stimulus to jobs and production is foreseen?

A. Economists say the savings, when spent and respent, will generate about $10 billion worth of new national output. That is about one-third as much as the massive 1964 income tax cut provided.

Q. What will happen to living costs?

A. A decline of 3-10 of 1 per cent in the July consumer price index is possible, and then a smaller drop in January when the second stage of cuts takes effect.

Q. Why "possible"? Why not certain?

A. Because price rises for other products may cancel out the savings. And because some firms may not pass on all the tax savings to consumers in the form of price reductions.

Q. Aren't price reductions automatic?

A. No. Manufacturers and sellers are not legally bound to pass on the savings. If some decide instead to pocket them for extra profit, the economic benefits will be lessened.

Q. What can consumers expect, then?

A. Most manufacturers, including the biggest, will cut prices. Some already have. Many retailers have announced — in the case of the 10 per cent retail taxes being abolished immediately, on furs, jewelry, luggage, handbags, toiletries and cosmetics — that the tax would simply be scratched off the price tag.

Q. How soon will retail prices reflect the repeal of the other group of excises — those levied on manufacturers, such as the 10 per cent tax on freezers and garbage disposers?

A. At once, in most cases. All major makers of radio and television sets and phonographs, for instance, already have posted new "suggested retail prices." Most of these are 6 to 8 per cent lower.

Q. Why not 10 per cent lower?

A. Because the 10 per cent excise tax is on the factory cost, before distribution and sales expenses and dealers' markups are added.

Q. What manufacturer's excises are being eliminated immediately?

A. Besides radio and television sets and phonographs, the list includes refrigerators, freezers, records, electric and gas appliances, sporting goods, cameras, film, photographic equipment, room air conditioners, business machines, musical instruments, fountain and ball-point pens, mechanical pencils, lighters, matches and playing cards. Most were taxed at 10 per cent, a few at 5.

Q. What about automobiles?

A. The 10 per cent tax on new cars is reduced to 7 per cent, retroactive to May 15. It will drop to 6 per cent next Jan. 1.

12 Houston County Delegates to 4-H Meet

CALIFORNIA, Minn.—Twelve young people will represent Houston County at the 45th State 4-H Junior Leadership Conference, this week on the state fairgrounds and the University of Minnesota's St. Paul campus.

They are: Betty Kohlen, Linda Thies, Gerald Frank, M. F. Schiefer, Tony Schiltz, Caledonia; Mary Schultz, Peggy Schumacher, Houston; John Kinneberg, Rushford; James Lehmann, La Crescent; Oswald Landon, Spring Grove, and Dean Meyer, New Albin.

Approximately 750 junior leaders from all parts of Minnesota will learn more about their roles as a junior leader, according to Earl Bergerud, assistant state 4-H club leader at the University of Minnesota. The theme of the conference is "Learn About Others, Lead Others, Love Our Neighbors."

Rising out of the dense jungles 150 miles northwest of Phnom Penh, the capital of Cambodia, are the ruins of the ancient Khmer capital, Angkor.

to 4 per cent on Jan. 1, 1967; to 2 per cent a year later; and to 1 per cent on Jan. 1, 1969.

Q. How much will I benefit in buying a new car?

A. The manufacturers are reducing prices by the full amount of the tax cuts. The first-step cut — 3 per cent of the factory price, retroactive to May 15 — represents an average saving to the buyer of $65 to $70 a car. By Jan. 1, 1969, when the tax drops to a permanent 1 per cent, the over-all saving will be about $200.

Q. Will automobile dealers pass the cuts along to consumers as the factories reduce prices?

A. The full cuts will be reflected on the "recommended retail price" sticker on the car window. However, a dealer could shave down your saving by giving you less on your trade-in.

Q. I have bought a new car since May 15; how do I get the benefit of the retroactively clause for passenger cars?

A. If your dealer hasn't already proceeded to get you the 3 per cent refund, ask him for it.

Q. Will the dealer pay me, or will the manufacturer?

A. Either one can do so, under the law. The present plan, however, is that auto manufacturers will send refunds direct to the buyers, after dealers have notified them of sales made since May 15. To get this own tax reimbursement from the government, the manufacturer must show evidence that the refund has been made to the customer.

Q. When all stages of the tax repeals are finished, will some excises remain?

A. Yes. Some important ones are not affected — those on liquor, beer, cigarettes and cigars; those whose revenues are earmarked for special uses, including gasoline, trucks, tires, and air travel; and a few more, including fishing tackle and gambling devices.

Knowles Slated To Remain in Hospital Today

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Gov. Warren P. Knowles will probably remain hospitalized over the weekend, a physician said Friday.

Knowles was listed in satisfactory condition at University Hospitals with what his personal physician, Dr. Alfred Ansfield, called a flu-like illness.

Ansfield said the ailment is "nothing serious," but added Knowles, 56, will probably remain in the hospital until Monday. The governor, who entered the hospital Thursday night, has continued to run a fever indicating the possibility of an infection.

Paul Hassett, Knowles' executive secretary, said six scheduled appearances by the governor through next Friday are being canceled.

These include the Governor's Day at Camp McCoy today; Kenosha airport dedication ceremonies and a meeting of Midwest agricultural department officials in Wisconsin Dells Sunday; a bankers association meeting in Milwaukee Wednesday; a meeting of the Independent Mutual Insurance Association in Milwaukee Thursday; and the State Veterans of Foreign Wars Convention in Appleton next Friday.

They flew there by helicopter Friday night. The White House said other persons went along, but gave no names.

Judge Retires

MOORHEAD, Minn. (AP) — District Judge Byron R. Wilson retires Saturday after 30 years on the bench. He will be 74 on Monday. Gov. Karl Rolvaag will name a successor to Wilson, a native of Royalton, Minn.

Hayward Co. Outstanding in Wisconsin Guard

CAMP MCCOY, Wis. (AP) — A Hayward company was honored Saturday as Wisconsin's outstanding National Guard unit.

The Eisenhower Trophy was presented to Company E, 724th Engineers Battalion, Hayward, at the 32nd Infantry Division's annual parade ceremonies marking the halfway point in the two-week summer encampment.

The state maintenance award was given to the headquarters and headquarters company of the 1st Battalion, 128th Infantry, at Eau Claire.

Company B, 1st Battalion, 632nd Armored, Meadford, won the armor leadership award.

The parade, as more than 6,000 guardsmen passed in review, honored Brig. Gen. Francis Schweinler of Madison, assistant division commander, who will retire in November after 41 years of service.

Maj. Gen. Ralph J. Olson, Wisconsin's adjutant general, represented the ailing Gov. Warren P. Knowles at the Governor's Day activities.

Hawthorne observed that all of New England's old dwellings are "so invariably possessed with spirits that the matter hardly seems worth alluding to."

Society Won't Harm GOP, Goldwater Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Barry Goldwater said Saturday that GOP National Chairman Ray Bliss is "just mistaken" if he believes the fledgling Free Society Association will be harmful to the Republican Party.

Goldwater, the 1964 GOP presidential nominee, said the new society, of which he will be honorary head, will have no political relationship to the national party, will not seek out candidates for office or determine policy.

"The society's aim will be to clean up all of the fuzziness about the word 'conservative,'" Goldwater said in an interview. "It will try to tell the people what's going on today with the Johnson administration in power."

Goldwater took direct issue with a statement of Bliss at the news conference Friday that as a "splinter group" the Free Society Association would be "harmful to the Republican Party." The conference was called to announce the appointment of Gen. Lucius D. Clay as new GOP finance chairman.

"Whenever you have splinter groups, they do not assist in uniting us," Bliss said. "We should present a united front to the opposition. If you believe in a free society, what better way to maintain it than through a strong, two-party system?"

Bliss, who noted that Goldwater was one of those who asked him to take on the national chairmanship, said he has to take Goldwater's word that the new organization will not point toward a third party. He added that he was hopeful Goldwater "will continue to support the Republican Party."

Goldwater has specifically disclaimed any idea of forming a third party.

Clay, who said he is proud to be designated an Eisenhower Republican, said he hopes to coordinate Republican fund-raising through his office. Asked if he was having any luck picking up left-over 1964 campaign money from various pro-Goldwater organizations, he replied that "my efforts have neither been denied or the money made available."

He said he had been asked to become a trustee of the Free Society Association but had turned down the offer because he was accepting the party finance chairmanship and did not believe anyone in that position should be connected with other organizations.

In response to questions, Clay said the Republican budget for this year is $4.6 million. But Bliss noted that Senate and House campaign committees have raised their own funds and thus the amount yet to be obtained is much smaller.

Clay said his best argument in getting donations is that the country needs a strong two-party system and the Republicans have to have funds to make a comeback.

OAS Drafting New Plan for Dominicans

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic, (AP) — The Organization of American States, hopeful of an imminent political settlement of the Dominican civil war, is drafting a plan to take temporary control of the nation's economy.

Reliable OAS and U.S. sources said the target date for the plan is at the end of this month. By that time the OAS hopes the Dominican rebels and the civilian-military junta will have accepted a peace formula the organization proposed Friday.

The OAS called on the warring factions to end the fighting, agree to the formation of a provisional government and allow OAS-supervised elections in six to nine months.

Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker of the United States, a member of a three-man OAS peacemaking team, said he was "encouraged by the reception" of the proposal by both sides. Formal replies from the rebels and junta are expected in two or three days, other OAS sources said.

According to the economic plan now in outline form, the provisional government would surrender all its revenue to the OAS, which then would make all budget expenditures until the country gets back on its feet.

Because Dominican revenues are inadequate to cover expenditures, the United States would pump at least $10 million a month into the country through the OAS, the sources said.

An OAS official said, "The result would be decisive control of the Dominican economic system. Normally, the government is the nation's biggest employer and biggest spender."

Even if the political stalemate were to continue, the sources said, the plan might be put into effect with the junta, which at least nominally controls the economy outside of the rebel stronghold in a corner of Santo Domingo.

"What we're really trying to do is keep the economy running on a permanent basis, regardless of who is running the government," an OAS official said.

Before the rebellion began April 24, government revenue totaled $12 million to $16 million a month, compared with average outlays of $16 million to $17 million monthly.

The junta of Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera now collects only an estimated $4 million to $5 million monthly, mostly in import-export duties. Imbert's opponents have accused him of using this money to maintain political support for his junta. Public services and government projects, meanwhile, are shot down.

Over the objections of both Imbert and Col. Francisco Caamaño Dero, the rebel leader, the OAS last month took control of the State Central Bank in the junta's sector. This move prevented the junta from using monetary reserves to pay salaries.

The United States, however, gave the OAS about $9 million to pay the salaries of all 75,000 government employees who were on the payroll before the rebellion began. The avowed aim was to boost the nation's economy even while most of the employees were not working. A number of such workers in the rebel sector received paychecks.

Payday for government workers this month falls on June 25 and the OAS is reportedly planning to pressure employees back to work by paying only those in both sectors who have returned to their jobs.

The new pay system may place the rebels in a quandry. Caamaño has opposed the OAS as an unwanted interventionist force. He would be compelled to submit a list of employees to the OAS if anyone is to be paid through the OAS fund.

In a press statement, Mrs. Frank Norris, 43, of Berkeley, said she apparently is the Miss Taylor to which the report referred. Mrs. Norris said she works 40 hours a month as an administrative analyst in President Kerr's office.

Mrs. Norris, a former student body president at the University of Washington, denied past membership in the youth group and said she had never been a Communist.

U of California Head Exposes Senate Report

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Clark Kerr, president of the University of California, says a state Senate report that the university employs Communists has "no substantiated claim."

Kerr, a bespectacled, soft-spoken administrator who has penetrated the area in a mop-up operation. Beside what the Pentagon called psychological effects of the raid, the damage came down to this:

— Three Viet Cong were killed, three wounded and 16 captured.

— A communications center was ruined, and 20 to 30 buildings used for barracks, training, storage and feeding were destroyed.

— South Vietnamese troops penetrating the area found several houses with small tunnels nearby and blew them up. Another team found an installation for about 450 men, and a labyrinth of tunnels with communication equipment.

fully effective, is expected to provide the basis for a court test of the legality of spending public money for transportation of private and parochial school pupils. Proposals to use public money for this purpose on a statewide basis have failed in the last two sessions of the legislature.

First of the 1965 special laws to become effective was the one authorizing establishment of a business development department in the city of Moorhead. This bill was signed by Gov. Karl Rolvaag on Feb. 10, approved by the Moorhead City Council on Feb. 23 and filed with the secretary of state's office on Feb. 25.

Commonest of the special laws are those authorizing pay raises for local officials, revising local firemen's pension laws, or authorizing several communities to get together on some such joint venture as a nursing home.

Among the 1965 special laws partly approved is the one to empower two Stearns County school districts, 1,923 and 2,065 to spend school district money to pay for transporting parochial school pupils.

District 1,923 has approved and district 2,065 has requested the necessary forms. The two districts are in the process of merging.

269 Laws Need Local Approval

By ADOLPH JOHNSON

ST. PAUL (AP) — The 1965 legislature enacted a total of 269 local or special laws, all of which require some kind of local approval before they go into effect.

Generally such laws call for approval by the governing body involved. In a few cases a vote of the people is required.

Thus far 188 of the special laws have received the necessary local assent, and a record of this has been filed, as required, in the office of Secretary of State Joseph Donovan.

Seventeen others have been approved by some of the units involved. No local action has been taken thus far with regard to 134 of the special laws.

State Guardsmen Parade at Camp

CAMP RIPLEY, Minn. (AP) — National Guardsmen of Minnesota's 47th division put on their Governor's Day review Saturday—minus the governor.

Lt. Gov. A. M. Keith was scheduled to review the troops with Gov. Karl Rolvaag unable to attend. Some 8,000 officers and men are taking part in summer drills at the camp near Little Falls.

Program highlights were to include a firing of an Honest John rocket and 90 rounds of 115mm rockets.

Claims Against Castro Will Be Registered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soon after taking control of Cuba, Fidel Castro began confiscating the property of American citizens and American corporations.

By the end of 1963, his fifth year in power, his Marxist government had seized $1.12 billion to $1.37 billion worth of U.S. property, according to State Department estimates.

This week a congressional committee is expected to take a step toward helping Americans register their claims against the Cuban government.

There are no diplomatic relations between the United States and Havana, and there apparently is no way of recovering the money now.

Two Minnesotans Killed in Crash Near Tomahawk

Plant Burns at St. Joseph, Minn.

ST. JOSEPH, Minn. (AP) — Fire Saturday destroyed the east wing of Industrial Woodworking, Inc., a plant that manufactures fancy woodwork and seats for boats.

The fire was discovered shortly after an explosion rocked the community. Fire Chief Herbert Schneider said flames leaped several hundred feet in the air.

A feed mill and nearby homes were saved by firemen from St. Joseph and St. John's University.

No estimate of the loss was made, and Schneider declined to speculate on the cause of the explosion and fire.

Two-Car Collision Causes $120 Damage

About $120 damage to one of the cars resulted from a two-car collision at 4th and Center streets Saturday at 1:15 p.m. Mrs. Sharon R. Stumpf, Minneapolis, was driving east on 4th Street. Mrs. Michael Ryan, 24, 400 E. Sarnia St., was driving south on Center Street. Mrs. Ryan was reported by police to have told Mrs. Stumpf that she did not notice the Minneapolis woman in time to avoid the collision. Damage was $120 to the left rear of the Stumpf car. There was no damage to the front of the Ryan car, according to the police report.

After Alaska's earthquakes, Seward's harbor, normally 30 to 120 feet deep, sank to levels ranging from 390 to 450 feet deep. At Valdez, the sea had to shift out into the channel, deepening the port by as much as 150 feet.

WEEK IN BUSINESS

Johnson Administration Reassures Stock Market

By JACK LEPLER NEW YORK (AP) — The Johnson administration acted this week to shore up public confidence in the economy.

Stores were alarmed and Wall Street was jittery. The worry stemmed from uncertainty about the outlook for business, the escalating war in Viet Nam, weakness of the British pound and the possibility of tighter money.

The stock market suffered one of its worst losses Monday. On Tuesday, President Johnson told congressmen that the economy is in good shape.

THE INVESTOR

No Time To Panic

By WILLIAM A. DOYLE Q. You insist that "real investors are those who buy good stocks and keep them and who don't try to make a quick dollar through hot-shot, in-and-out trading."

A man in my position should invest. I'll do that — gladly. And the answer is "slowly."

You already have a firm financial foundation in home ownership, insurance and a nice cushion of savings. If you have accomplished all that on your salary alone, you have done wonders.

I am one of those who held on to Procter & Gamble common stock in the 1962 stock market break and have suffered ever since. This stock hasn't come close to hitting its '62 level.

All things considered, your family is in much better financial shape than most who write to this corner. And you're probably really on firmer financial ground than those friends who are so quick to pass out advice.

But Ackley dismissed as "fretful" any threat to the economy from inflationary overheating. "Perhaps the most serious danger" to the economic engine, he said, isn't that it will boil over but just run out of gas.

A. Certainly. I'm not going to tout an individual stock. But your letter offers a good example of a first-class investment that lived up to what you evidently expected.

Naturally, for you (and most other families) I advise my favorite investing method — dollar-averaging. That method of investing the same amount of money in the same equity security at fixed intervals remains the best way for a sensible investment program — especially for the average American family.

The number of workers on non-farm payrolls, the factory work week and factory workers' hourly and weekly pay rose to record levels in mid-May, the Labor Department reported.

LIKE MANY other well-regarded growth stocks, P&G ran way up in market price in 1961 and '62. Investors and speculators bid stock prices way, way up. The speculative fever of that time brought on the 1962 stock market break — with prices taking big dips.

Q. Most insurance stocks are very high-priced — too high for me. Now I have the opportunity to buy stock in an accident and casualty insurance company, because I have a policy with that company. I can buy it at only $12 a share. Doesn't this seem to be a good deal?

A. I don't know. I don't know the company. So, I can't tell whether the deal will be as good as it seems.

Q. I am 35, married and the father of three young children. My wife and I have a total of about $10,000 in a savings account and U.S. Savings Bonds. We have enough insurance. Our $14,000 home is paid for. As is our late-model car. My annual salary is $6,000.

What you have now protects your family against any sudden emergency, but not against inflation. Good equity investments have protected against and outpaced inflation in the past and should continue to do so in the future.

A. I don't know. I don't know the company. So, I can't tell whether the deal will be as good as it seems.

Water Checks Set For Houston County

CALEDONIA, Minn. — Houston County residents interested in having their private wells checked to be assured the water is free of contamination may do so by picking up sterile water sample bottles at the county extension office or at the drug stores in Houston and Spring Grove, says Russell Kreech, Houston County agent.

These sample bottles may be picked up any time until Wednesday. All samples must be collected and returned to either drugstore or the county extension office before 1 p.m.

People drawing water samples are urged to keep the temperature of the water below 50 degrees F. Bring sample with a bag of ice cubes enclosed is the best way to keep water temperature low to avoid the possibilities of increasing the bacteria count at higher temperatures, Kreech says.

SERVING IN THE ARMED FORCES

Navy Commander Retires

GALESVILLE, Wis. — Navy Commander Paul E. Anderson, 39, a native of Galesville, has retired after 20 years of service as a naval officer. He is the son of Mrs. Clara E. Anderson.

Cmdr. Paul Anderson

Cmdr. Anderson graduated from Galesville High School, then entered the Navy and was a student in the V-12 officer candidate program at St. Mary's College, Winona, until 1945. He was commissioned an ensign in the Naval Reserve, then assigned in 1946 to active duty as gunnery officer on a minesweeper.

In 1949 he took pilot training and later flew 40 combat missions in the Korean conflict, earning the Air Medal with one star. From 1958 to 1960 he was communications officer for the attack aircraft carrier Independence.

He was assigned to the Pentagon in 1960 and was awarded a bachelor of arts degree in social sciences through after-hours study by George Washington University. In 1963, after attending the Armed Forces Staff College, Norfolk, Va., he was assigned to Quonset Point, R. I., as operations officer of Carrier Airborne Early Warning Squadron 33, largest naval air unit on the east coast. For the past year he was personnel officer at Quonset Point.

Cmdr. Anderson will join the investment firm of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, St. Paul, as an account executive.

His wife is the former Janice Kruse, Centerville. They have two sons, Paul, 16, and Christopher, 5.

LAKE CITY, Minn. — Pvt. Dennis D. Moyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe H. Moyer, Lake City Rt. 1, has completed a personal administration specialist course under the reserve enlistment program at the Army Armor Center, Ft. Knox, Ky.

Before going on active duty, Moyer was employed by Battelle Memorial Institute, Columbus, Ohio. He was graduated from Lincoln High School in 1959, Rochester Junior College in 1961 and the University of Minnesota in 1964.

DODGE, Wis. (Special)—Army Pvt. Richard Kujak, who came from Ft. Jackson, S. C., to spend a two-week furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kujak, is now stationed at Ft. Ord, Calif.

DRESBACH, Minn. (Special)—David Moore is taking a two-week course at Fitzsimons Army Hospital, Denver, Colo. He is in the Army medical corps.

ETTRICK, Wis. (Special)—Lt. Col. and Mrs. George Stecka, Bolger City, La., with their four children, are at the home of Mrs. Stecka's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bahnb, who came to attend the Powell-Ostrom wedding Saturday at Zion Lutheran Church, Galesville.

John Bleken has received his discharge from the 101st Airborne Division at Ft. Campbell, Ky., and has returned to Ettrick. He is the son of Mrs. Richard Herreid, North Beaver Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Green and children are moving from Fairbanks, Alaska, to Omaha, Neb., where Green, who is with the Air Force, has been transferred. Mrs. Green is the former Irene Aaby of Ettrick. They have been in Alaska for three years.

MELROSE, Wis. (Special)—Three young men have enlisted in the Air Force: David A. Lindberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Lindberg; Daniel G. Kelsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Kelsey; and Rodney R. Ostrander, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ostrander. They are

Council OKs Repair Jobs At Whitehall

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Common council members approved repairing the cover and roof on the digester at the sewage disposal plant when they met Thursday evening. The repairs will cost approximately $4,000.

Also approved was the sum of $436 for the purchase of an electric typewriter for the city office.

City Clerk A. F. Berg announced that a total of $6,968 had been received in income tax apportionment.

Larry Susalla was hired as playground director for the summer months. The city is purchasing some bats and small equipment for the program.

Fire Chief Louis Boehm and members discussed a warning system to be used in case of natural disaster in compliance with state recommendations. It was decided that the public address system of the fire truck, plus the siren, would be sufficient.

A LETTER from the department of health, education and welfare was read regarding the public service work grant, stating that the plans and specifications for the screening facilities have been approved. Two bids were received for the screening plant and both were higher than the estimate of approximately $42,000 made by H. A. Kuusisto, St. Paul, engineer. They were from Barbarosa and Sons, Inc., Osseo, Minn., whose base bid was $63,800, and from Tart Ide Corporation, Minneapolis, with a base bid of $58,951. At the bid opening June 3, council members decided to take the full 30-day period before making their decision to accept or reject them.

A request from the WBI Farmer's Union Co-operative to erect an illuminated sign in the center of the dead-end site on Kelley St. was approved. Street work necessary in the city was discussed and it was decided that the city clerk should get estimates. The sum of $10 will be used to purchase flowers for the Frederickson Addition Park.

They also discussed the purchasing of about 40 acres of land from Mrs. Cora Anderson to be used as a dump site and approved the reports of the police, milk inspector and city librarian.

NELS ERICKSON and Mrs. Eyvind Peterson were appointed new members of the library board and Mrs. Kenneth Ber-

LA CRESCENT HIGH SCHOOL . . . Work is moving fast toward completion of the first high school at La Crescent, Minn., said Sidney Finley, Bloomington, supervisor on the job for George Madsen Construction Co., Minneapolis, general contractor. Interior work has progressed to the point of painting in some areas. The structure — for 540 students — will cost $1,153,741. The $1,400,000 bond issue voted by the village also will pay for furnishings. (Sunday News photo) dan was appointed to serve a second term. Building permits issued were to Gerald Flerning, for a home in the Sunset Addition; Whitehall Methodist Church, for a parsonage in the Sunset Addition, and Hillman Lee, for a home in Ketchum's Addition. Tentatively approved were for Stanley Christianson to build a garage on the east side of his home; John Mathson, to erect a steel storage bin adjacent to the feed building on West St., and Roy Harrisch, to erect a garage on the north side of his home.

Voyaguers Park Study Proposed

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, Minn. (AP)—In-depth studies of the merits of various alternate sites for the proposed Voyaguers National Park were urged in a resolution passed Friday by the Minnesota Outdoor Recreation Resources Commission.

The commission concluded a three-day meeting Friday at a resort on Lake Kabetogama near here. It is making a study of the proposed park, which the federal government wants to locate on the Kabetogama peninsula.

The resolution asked that the various state and federal agencies involved include the in-depth studies of the alternatives in final reports to the Interior Department.

Opponents of the Kabetogama peninsula site for the proposed park have charged the federal government with an attempted land grab, and have proposed the Lac La Croix-Crane Lake area as an alternate.

Representatives of a number of organizations appeared at the opening commission session to urge selection of the alternate site. They argued that there would be a loss of resorts, timber land and access to the land in the Kabetogama area.

Minneapolis Youth Drowns at Crystal

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Jerome Merkl, 15, of north Minneapolis, drowned in Crystal Lake in suburban Robbinsdale Friday. Companions said three persons in a nearby boat failed to heed calls for help as they tried to save the youth while swimming across the small lake.

He was a draft board member in World War I and was said to have sold hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of war bonds.

In 1940, anticipating that the National Guard would be federalized, he suggested the organization of a reserve militia in its place. The proposal was accepted by acting Illinois Gov. John Stelle, who appointed Budinger acting chief of staff with the rank of colonel.

As a member of the Illinois legislature, Col. Budinger introduced the bill establishing a Spanish War memorial which now stands in Springfield.

Skateboarding

Today's Cover

Balanced on a narrow board mounted on two pair of rollers, Jim Bell, 707 E. Broadway, takes his skateboard out for some sidewalk surfing. The turn Jim is making is accomplished by a shifting of body weight in much the same manner as in regular water surfboarding. The two major problems facing the skateboarder are getting on the board and then staying on.

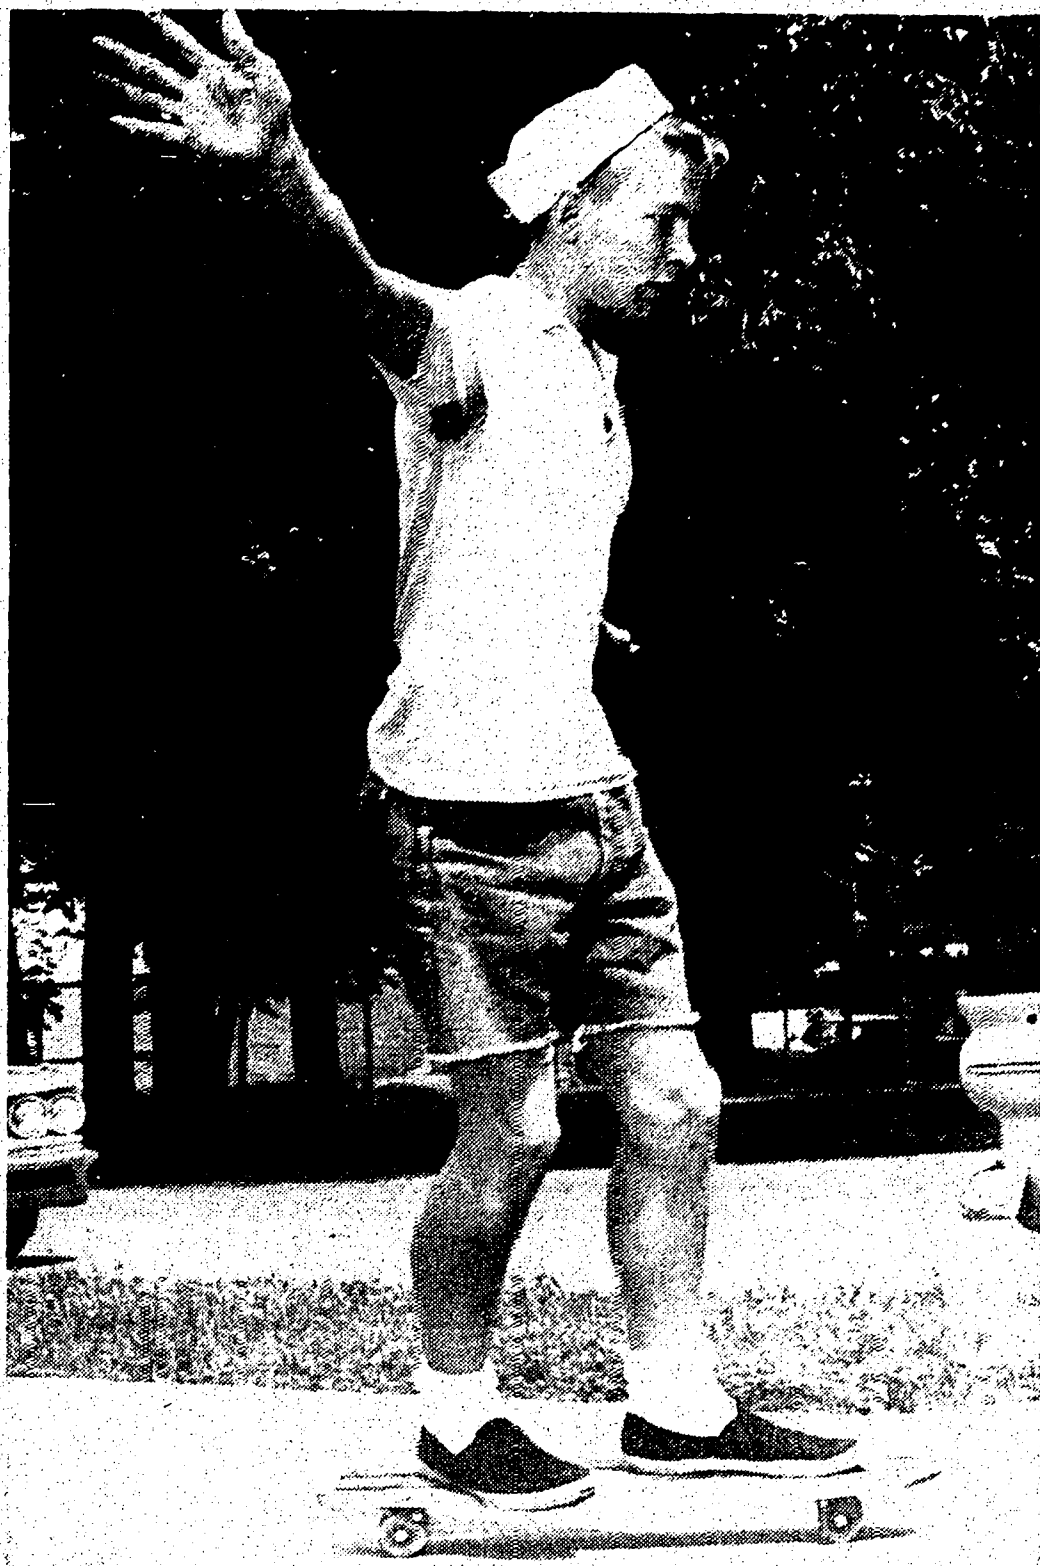

Dry-Land Surfing Hits the Crest As the Latest Fad

THIS IS IT . . . Mike Gabrych, 659 E. 5th St., shows the construction of one type of skateboard. The new models generally have plastic or fiber glass wheels and special ball bearings to allow for better rolling.

GETTING GOING . . . With one foot on the skateboard, Mike Gabrych propels himself with his other foot at the start of a run down his sidewalk. After the desired momentum is reached the sidewalk surfer places both feet on the board in such a way that he's in balance for straight runs or turns.

OFF AND ROLLING . . . Tom Bell, 707 E. Broadway, balances himself on his skateboard as he rolls along a sidewalk near his home. The board is usually between 18 and 30 inches long and the wheels are mounted in such a way as to permit maneuvering of the board by shifting body weight.

Surfing Set Moves From Beach to Boulevards

By C. GORDON HOLTE
Sunday Editor

A real hot dog won't wipe out on a quasimodo but a gremi . . . well, you'll never see him doing a hang-ten. That? It's just the jargon that's cropped up along with the newest craze to sweep across the country — the sport of skateboarding or, as it's better known around here, sidewalk surfing.

All you need to join the crowd is a board — a contrivance usually between 18 and 30 inches long on the bottomside of which two pair of rollers have been attached — a strip of concrete or other good rolling surface and a paid-up accident policy.

You start out by placing one foot on the board, using the other to gain momentum, something like using one of the oldtime scooters. When you get going, either on a flat surface or an incline, the free foot is placed on the board and from then on it's just a matter of trying to keep balanced on the narrow board and keep on course.

A "gremi" is a beginner and you can usually spot one by the abrasions on his elbows or knees or, in the case of a less fortunate gremi, a cast on a leg or arm.

A well-scarred veteran of skateboarding earns the title of "hot dog" and he's able to negotiate a "quasimodo," in which you ride in a crouching position, "a hang-ten," where you rocket along precariously balanced with toes extended over the front of the board or such more ambitious maneuvers as leaping off the board in mid-course and landing back on it to continue the ride.

Although skateboarding's been a big thing on the West Coast for several years now the sport's been with this area for only a couple, three years and didn't begin to approach craze proportions until this spring. A lot of the first sidewalk surfers in Winona simply used pieces of two-by-fours to which two pairs of wheels from roller skates were attached.

More elaborate equipment is now common on streets and driveways with boards selling all the way from under $3 to as much as $30 or more. The more sophisticated outfits have specially designed bearing wheels and wheels on the better models are usually made of fiber glass or plastic.

The gremi at first is usually satisfied just to be able to stay on his board and keep a straight course along the sidewalk. With practice, however, he'll start winging out on turns and other maneuvers accomplished by shifting the body weight in much the same manner as an ocean surfer manages his board.

As a matter of fact, the fad originated in California where surfing enthusiasts devised the wheeled boards to practice on dry land. Today the dry-landers have multiplied in such numbers that there's an international association of skateboarders and international competition in various classes.

The skateboarders in the hot dog class frequently have their special costume — surfer hats and surfer shirts — and supplying equipment and accessories for the sport nationally has developed into a nine-figure business.

The more accomplished the sidewalk surfer the more eager he becomes to accept new challenges and such places as the winding downhill drives at Woodlawn Cemetery (appropriately, say some less enthusiastic observers) or the curving streets and sidewalks of newer residential developments have become popular congregating spots for the skateboard devotees.

The same people who predicted dire results from the hula hooping of a few years ago and the bongo board craze at about the same time are even less enthralled by the latest fad.

They have some data to back them up, too, most of it gleaned from hospital accident admission records, and there have been attempts in several cities to ban skateboards from public streets and sidewalks by city ordinance.

All of this apparently has had no appreciable effect as far as dimming the enthusiasm of the skateboarders, however, and by season's end manufacturers predict that sales of the board will have tripled over last year's volume.

DIFFERENT TECHNIQUE . . . This, incidentally, isn't as easy as it looks. Gary Pankratz sits on his skateboard for a ride down the sidewalk. It takes a knack to sit on the springy, narrow board as it rolls along but the one advantage is that if you do take a spill you don't have quite as far to fall.

LOOK, MA, NO SKATEBOARD . . . Gary Pankratz suddenly finds himself in the not unfamiliar situation where he and his skateboard part company. In sidewalk surfing learning to fall correctly—if that's possible—is just about as important as learning to ride the board.

Try New Twists for Old Favorites

NEW ideas for new and different flavors for familiar and well-liked dishes are always welcomed by homemakers and today we have a few that we think you'll enjoy trying in your kitchen.

Have you tried using peanut butter to perk up chicken gravy, for example? If not, a recipe just received tells how, using a peanut butter preparation that includes smoky bits that taste like bacon, look like bacon and crunch like bacon, yet aren't really bacon at all.

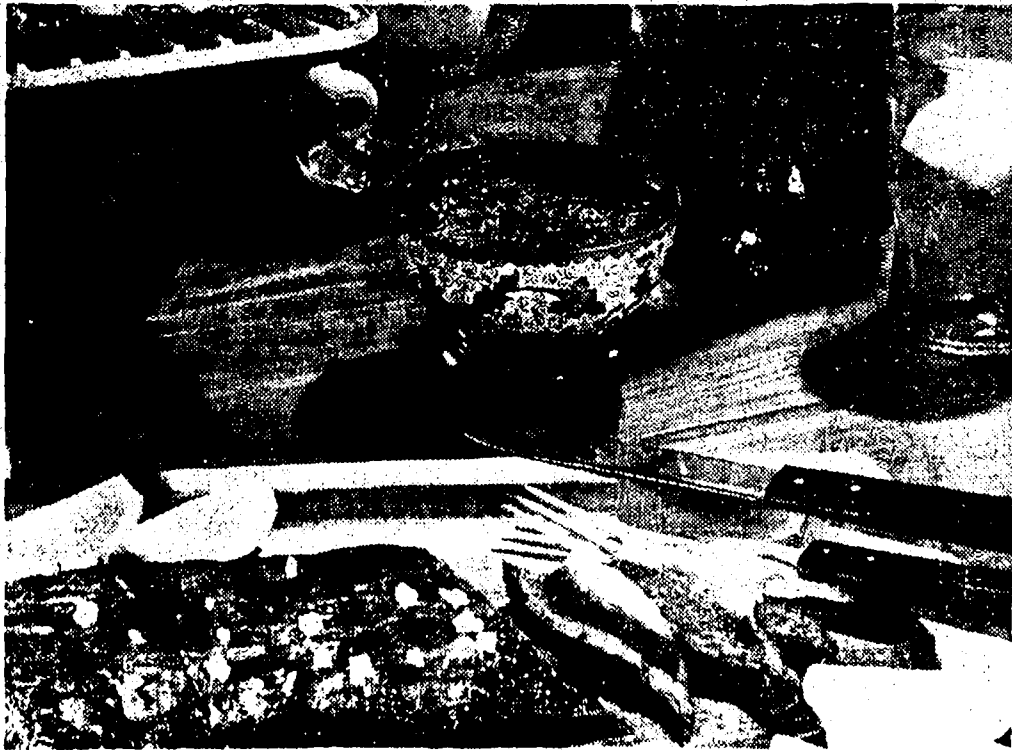

And you'll undoubtedly be interested in a budget steak that you can afford to serve often because it's economically priced, yet deliciously tender, thanks to a marinade containing fresh lemon.

We'll start off today with the recipe for Chicken With Surprise Gravy, using the peanut butter with the smoky crisps.

Chicken With Surprise Gravy

- | | |
|---|---|
| 3 tablespoons flour | 1/3 cup water |
| 1/4 teaspoon salt | 1/3 cup peanut butter with smoky crisps |
| Dash pepper | 2/3 cup dairy sour cream |
| 1 (2 1/2 to 3-pound frying chicken, cut up) | Salt |
| 2 tablespoons margarine | Pepper |

Combine flour, salt and pepper. Coat chicken pieces with mixture. Melt margarine in skillet. Add chicken pieces. Cook over medium heat until well browned on all sides and tender, about 40 minutes, turning as needed. Remove from heat. Place chicken on oven proof platter in warm oven. Stir water into drippings in skillet, blending well. Blend in bacon-y peanut butter, then sour cream, salt and pepper. Cook over low heat 2 minutes stirring constantly. (Do not boil.) Serve hot sauce with chicken. Makes 4 servings.

Flank Steak Islandia

For a budget steak that's as tender as the most expensive cut, use a well-seasoned marinade containing zesty lemon juice and peel that impart a distinctive flavor and aroma . . . and tenderize, too. Since marinading is done in advance and the cooking requires only a hibachi or barbecue grill, the hostess can look forward to the fun and good eating out.

Flank Steak Islandia (6 Servings)

- | | |
|--|--|
| 1 flank steak (about 1 1/2 pounds), unscored | 1 teaspoon grated fresh ginger or 2 teaspoons minced crystallized ginger |
| 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel | 1 clove garlic, minced |
| 1/4 cup fresh lemon juice | 1 teaspoon brown sugar |
| 1/4 cup salad oil | Lemon wedges |
| 1/4 cup soy sauce | |

Leave flank steak whole or, if desired, cut lengthwise into two strips. Trim off any fat or membrane; place in shallow nonmetallic pan. Combine lemon peel and juice with remaining ingredients and pour over steak. Marinate steak one hour or longer, turning occasionally. Drain; grill steak over glowing coals, 4 to 5 minutes on each side, basting with marinade. To serve, cut diagonally across grain, into very thin slices. Serve with lemon wedges, squeezing fresh lemon juice over meat.

Chicken With Surprise Gravy

If you like to hear that comment, "Mmmm, what smells so good?" use a pinch of rosemary to give a delightful aroma to a wide variety of dishes — fruit cups, canned chicken soup, marinated seafood, roast lamb, fancy molded salads. Rosemary leaves look like little one-inch pine needles and are available nationally only in whole form. Measure them first, then crush, using the thumb of one hand against the palm of the other. It's one of the more potent herbs, too, so when you're learning to use rosemary in some of your own recipes, try the flavor power of 1/4 teaspoon per six servings before adding more. It takes between 10 and 15 minutes of simmering to release the full aroma. Here are several recipes enhanced by the seasoning of rosemary.

Fresh Rhubarb Rosemary Parfaits

- | | |
|--|-----------------------------------|
| 3 1/2 lbs. diced fresh rhubarb | 4 pkgs. unflavored gelatin |
| 2 1/2 cups sugar | 1 cup fresh orange juice |
| 1 1/2 teaspoons rosemary leaves, crushed | 1 pint fresh strawberries, sliced |
| 1/4 teaspoon salt | 3/4 cup heavy cream, whipped |
| 1/4 cup boiling water | 1 tablespoon confectioners' sugar |
| | 12 whole fresh strawberries |

Place rhubarb in deep saucepan with next 4 ingredients. Cook, covered, over low heat, until rhubarb is tender, about 35 minutes. Transfer some to the container of an electric blender and blend until smooth. Depending on the size of blender, work small amounts at a time until it is all blended. Strain and pour back into saucepan. Sprinkle gelatin over orange juice. Stir to dissolve. Add to hot rhubarb mixture. Stir until blended. Cool until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from spoon. Fold in sliced strawberries. Spoon mixture into parfait glasses. Refrigerate. Before serving, garnish with whipped cream sweetened with confectioners' sugar and a whole strawberry. Yield: 12 servings.

Rosemary Shrimp Pastry Loaf

- | | |
|--|---------------------------------------|
| Pastry made from 2 1/2 cups flour | 2 tablespoons brandy |
| 2 1/2 lbs. shrimp, peeled and deveined | 2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice |
| 1 cup white wine | 2 teaspoons salt |
| 2 cups water | 1/2 teaspoon rosemary leaves, crushed |
| 1 tablespoon instant minced onion | 1/8 teaspoon ground black pepper |
| 2 large eggs | 1/8 teaspoon cayenne |
| 1 large egg yolk | 1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg |
| 1 cup heavy cream | 1 large egg, lightly beaten |

With part of pastry, line a 9x5x3-inch loaf pan, reserve remainder for top crust. Poach shrimp in a well seasoned court bouillon made with white wine and water. Drain and cool. Put shrimp through fine blade of grinder or mince in a blender. Combine shrimp with next 11 ingredients. Mix well. Spoon shrimp mixture into pastry-lined pan. Cover with top crust, sealing edges well. Brush top with beaten egg. For steam to escape, make 2 holes, the size of nickels, on top. To "set" crust, bake in a pre-heated very hot oven (450 degrees F.) for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees F. and continue baking for 65 minutes. Remove to rack and cool. Refrigerate overnight before removing from pan. Slice and serve cold. Yield: 12 servings.

Cassini Says . . .

Now Considered a Part of a Wardrobe

With Sunglasses . . . The Eyes Have It

ONE nice thing about summer is that those of you who wear your sunglasses all year now have a good reason to.

Of course, I can understand the popularity of year-round sunglasses. Besides filtering the sun's glare — only a seasonal discomfort — they also cover a multitude of sins, from age wrinkles, to hay fever or this morning's reaction to last night's party.

For many years, you could reliably bet that the constant sunglass wearers were attention seekers. Lots of ordinary people who wished they weren't that, wore sunglasses to achieve distinction. How well I remember a certain well-dressed, well-bred young lady who chose to wear hers indoor and out, daytime and night. I must say, she did attain some distinction — of a rather negative character.

Frequently sunglasses were the distinguishing mark of show business people — the actor, or more likely the aspiring actor, jazz man, or movie star. Celebrities relied on them to help insure anonymity — when of course they were instead calling attention to themselves.

But all that is of the past. Today many people wear sunglasses a good bit of the time without necessarily being labelled a kook. Why? Because glasses have become respectable. Gracious, dignified women like Grace Kelly made them acceptable, and suddenly gone were the associations with the not-quite starlets or the vamps on the make.

Today the evolution is complete: Sunglasses are considered a part of one's wardrobe. Designers are now paying the same attention to them that they pay to other accessories such as hats, and the result is a stunning variety of glasses created to enhance your appearance as well as protect your eyes.

When you buy sunglasses, it is wise to treat them as an accessory and take pains to select only those that flatter your face and coiffure. Avoid sunglasses fads if they don't flatter, just as you would avoid — I hope — a popular dress style that didn't suit you. Better to look pretty than current, if it comes to that choice. When buying glasses, remember the importance of total proportions. The woman with large features, for instance, would do well to avoid small, delicate frames. Small women, on the other hand, sometimes do seem able to — and prefer to — wear very large glasses. The delicate features of Audrey Hepburn, half-obscured by huge round glasses, immediately comes to mind.

As for shape, anything goes — harlequins, wrap-around (beware of distortion), circles, hexagons, squares, and modifications of each. If in doubt or insecure, avoid extreme shapes and proportions.

Color is also a variable. Frames come in every imaginable shade and texture, and even lenses are available in different colors, muted or vibrant. Remember that if you wear your sunglasses all year round, they'll be worn when you're tanned and when you're not. If you can't find a color that can flatter through all seasons, be prepared to buy more than one pair. Again, when in doubt go with black, mock turquoise, or white frames with a neutral dark lens.

In spite of the universal presence of sunglasses, remember that your eyes are your most interesting feature, so do try and let us see them sometimes.

FASHION MIRROR

Patio parties and at-homes are the perfect places to wear a Rajah coat. These tunic-length jackets, of Indian descent, are comfortable and elegantly simple in any of their variations. They may be sleeveless or have long tight sleeves. They may close down the front or at the top across one shoulder. They may have a plain jewel neck or a mandarin collar. Fabrics vary to suit any mood and fancy — from hot tropical floral prints to rich paisleys and on to vibrant solids, in textures from grainy rayon linen to lush raw silk. A solid-colored long-sleeved rajah coat worn with a large handsome pin, over good fitting stovepipe pants might well be the height of casual at-home elegance.

FASHION TIP

Few fabrics are as feminine as lace, and I am glad to report its newfound popularity. Lace has a particularly subtle, sensuous appeal because it both reveals and covers. A lace dress will improve any evening, particularly if it is black or any hue close to the skin tones, from pink through to champagne. Black lace stoles and mantillas, when handled with grace and ease, are as glamorous as candlelight and perfume, with which they blend so well.

So, make use of the distinctly feminine qualities of lace, and don't limit it to lingerie. Few other fabrics can be so many things, from light and airy to mysteriously seductive. No sensible girl can afford to ignore it.

DEAR ABBY:

This Dog Should Learn New Tricks

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My problem concerns my husband. He and his friend hunt bobcats with their dogs, and in order to train their dogs to follow the scent, they use house cats to practice on. Three months ago they went to the pound and brought back a cat. She was old and mangy, but I didn't like the idea of their letting the dogs kill her. I argued and fumed, but it didn't do me any good. Yesterday they went to the pound again and brought back two of the cutest kittens, only about a month old. They plan to keep them until they are full-grown, train the dogs with them, and then let the dogs have them as a reward. Right now these kittens are in our shed.

Abby, I can't believe my husband could feed them and watch them grow and then let the dogs kill them. He's naturally a very kind person — it's his friend who's bloodthirsty. I have a hunch my husband won't admit it, but he really doesn't want to kill domestic animals this way, but he's afraid his friend might say he's "chicken" if he doesn't go through with it. Have you any suggestions on what I might say or do to save those kittens?

MRS. P.

Abby

DEAR MRS. P.: Don't ASK your husband, TELL him that if he uses those kittens, or any other animal in this manner, you will notify your local S.P.C.A. There is nothing to prevent someone from going to a pound and adopting kittens without disclosing his plans, but animals are NEVER given out for this inhumane purpose. If you can't persuade him, report him!

DEAR ABBY: I was glad you advised "One Hat Hattie" to wear a hat in church. But I was surprised that you said, "I'm quite sure that God couldn't care less — as long as she's there." God DOES care as He tells us in the New Testament through His apostle, Paul. I quote I Corinthians, Chapter 2, Verse 5:

"But every woman who prayeth or prophesieth with her head uncovered, dishonors her head." Respectfully, R. B.

DEAR ABBY: There are several couples in our neighborhood who get together very often. We go places together or just visit. Our problem is one of the wives. She is undeniably attractive and always seems to dominate the conversation carried on by the men. They direct their remarks to her as though she were the only woman in the room. We other wives just sit there and provide an audience for this woman and all the men. Naturally the men enjoy talking to an attractive, vivacious woman so they don't find her obnoxious, but we women are getting fed up with her. Should we butt into the conversation and talk as much as she does? Or should we leave the room and carry on our own conversation? (We'd never be missed.) Don't suggest that we exclude this woman and her husband from our gatherings. Our husbands would never let us get away with it.

STUCK

DEAR STUCK: The woman whom you resent is more than "attractive and vivacious." She has something worthwhile to say, and she says it well. A plain woman who has something of value to contribute to a conversation is a welcome addition to any company. But she who "butts" in for the sake of diverting attention to herself is woefully obnoxious. Sharpen your minds, girls, and pull in your claws.

ANOTHER PROBLEM. . . A small town boy who made good, Tim Conway, left, is the man of many faces on the television series, "McHale's Navy." Here he reports to skipper Ernest Borgnine disguised as a monster.

Doesn't Want to Change

Actor Yearns for Small Town Life

By CHARLES WITBECK

In just about every other "McHale's Navy" episode, Tim Conway, the balding Ensign Parker who can never do anything right, mentions his home town, Chagrin Falls, Ohio.

With a population of 3,000, a harness shop, and a ruling that all store fronts must be of colonial design, Chagrin Falls, 18 miles out of Cleveland, is actor Conway's idea of heaven.

Other actors come to Hollywood and never go home again, but Tim returns to Chagrin every year for a vacation, and it's his hope to live there with his wife and two children, and commute to Hollywood for pictures and TV dates when the comedy Navy show goes out to sea for the last time.

Tim Conway, whose real name is Tom, is a small town man and he intends to stay that way. "Has Hollywood changed me? No, I don't think so," he says. "When I came out here from Cleveland to do the Steve Allen Show, I told myself I could take it or leave it, and I managed not to be scared.

"AND I HAVEN'T been pushed around. When I tested for Ed Montaigne ("MacHale's Navy" producer), he said, 'You do anything you think is funny.' So I had it my way, and Ed is responsible for saving me."

Lately, Conway has been sneaking in guest spots on the "Hollywood Palace," and his most recent bit as a bumbling doctor caused a good deal of reaction. He may put together more routines written with Cleveland friend, Ernie Anderson, and cut a record to widen his scope.

This summer, before returning to Hollywood to film next season's "McHale's Navy," Tim will open as Ensign Pulver in "Mr. Robert's" before home town fans in Chagrin Falls, and he figures to be a smash. The last time Chagrin booked the movie adapted from the TV series, the marquee read, "McHale's Navy" starring Tom Conway & Others."

Chagrin sounds like something Conway made up. How did this Ohio hamlet get its name, anyway?

"Well, some Indian swept down the river in a canoe, came around the bend, and one said, 'I'll be chagrined.'" That's the Conway version.

TIM CLAIMS the loyal citizens have a centennial and recreate the event. "One year the fire department put an oil slick on the river to designate the spot where the canoes should stop," Conway said. "The river current spread the oil slick, and then someone tossed a light in the oil. Suddenly, the whole river is on fire. That's when the leading Indian should say, 'Am I chagrined!'" To Tim it was a grand centennial. "We do things up right," he says.

Next Tim tells about a local parade in which all the citizens are dressed in costume including members of the volunteer fire department. Then, the fire bell rings. "I'm not going," mutter QUESTION — I saw a movie titled "The Prisoner" on TV not too long ago and was very impressed with the two leading actors, neither of whom I had ever seen before. Who are they and what other films have they made? — E. M., Decatur, Ind.

ANSWER — Two of England's finest actors, Alec Guinness and Jack Hawkins, were the stars of the 1955 film. Guinness, who played the Cardinal in the film, has starred in a number of British and American films and won an Academy Award for his brilliant performance in "The Bridge on the River Kwai." Many of his films are shown on TV and some of the titles to look for are "Great Expectations," "The Man in the White Suit," "Lavender Hill Mob," "Last Holiday," "Captain's Paradise," and "The Horse's Mouth," just to list a few. Hawkins, who played the interrogator in the film, is also the star of numerous British and American films including "Fallen Idol," "State Secret," "Next of Kin," "The Cruel Sea," "Crash of Silence," and "The Black Rose," plus others.

MIXED EMOTIONS . . . Cartoonist Al Hirschfeld depicts Bob Hope, Frankie Avalon and Tuesday Weld registering amazement, egotism and enrapture, respectively, in I'LL TAKE SWEDEN, playing through Tuesday at the State and the remainder of the week at the Winona.

Thrillers on Winona Double-Feature Bill

Two psychological thrillers, SIGNPOST TO MURDER and HYSTERIA, are paired as a double-feature at the Winona Theatre through Tuesday.

Stuart Whitman appears in "Signpost to Murder" as a man accused of having murdered his wife and who has spent five years in an asylum for the criminally insane. When efforts to obtain a new hearing for him fail he escapes and hides in a cottage occupied by Joanne Woodward whose husband is away on a business trip.

Although she's at first terrorized by the intruder, Miss Woodward gradually begins to talk with him about his past and a mutual attraction develops. Later, while Whitman is watching a turning mill wheel he sees the body of Miss Woodward's husband and he's faced with the question of whether in a moment of insanity he may have killed the man. Questions about his relationship with Miss Woodward and the role of a seemingly sympathetic psychiatrist has played in his life arise in the climax of the story.

Arriving Wednesday at the Winona will be I'LL TAKE SWEDEN, with Bob Hope and Frankie Avalon.

2 Disney Films at Sky Vu

Two Walt Disney productions, THE SWORD IN THE STONE and 20,000 LEAGUES UNDER THE SEA, play through Tuesday at the Sky Vu at the opening of a week of double-feature programs.

Based on the T. H. White book, "The Sword in the Stone" is an animated cartoon feature telling the story of the legendary King Arthur's boyhood and his adventures with Merlin, the prophet, magician and benefactor of the young king.

Kirk Douglas, James Mason and Paul Lukas star in "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea," the Jules Verne adventure epic about the submarine Nautilus, its vengeful skipper, Capt. Nemo and the bizarre voyage which finally sends him to his doom.

DEBORAH KERR and Hayley Mills say goodbye in this emotional scene from "The Chalk Garden."

Rock Hudson Doris Day and Tony Randall are in the comedy cast of SEND ME NO FLOWERS, the story of a hypochondriac who, erroneously convinced that he has only a few weeks to live, sets about finding a suitable mate for his widow-to-be.

Sharing billing on the program Wednesday through Friday will be THE CHALK GARDEN, with Deborah Kerr, Hayley Mills and John Mills. Miss Kerr is a governess who is afraid that her background may be exposed and Hayley Mills is a spoiled, highly imaginative and vicious teenager who moves without restraint to crush things she should cherish.

Showing Saturday night only at the Sky Vu will be THE MAGNIFICENT 7 and MY SON, THE HERO. "Magnificent 7" stars Yul Brynner, Eli Walach, Steve McQueen and Horst Buchholz in the story of seven gunmen hired by the residents of a small Mexican village for protection against a marauding band of outlaws.

Filmed in Rome and Pedro Armendariz and Jacqueline Sassard in starring roles, "My Son, the Hero," is based on the legend of Cadmus, King of Ancient Thebes, who got so ambitious he decided to horn in on the Theban gods, an honor the head god failed to appreciate and who got the titans to give him -- Cadmus, that is -- his lumps.

A third feature on the triple-header program Saturday night will be SHOCK TREATMENT, starring Stewart Whitman, Carol Lynley and Lauren Bacall.

Hope Comedy Plays Two Theaters

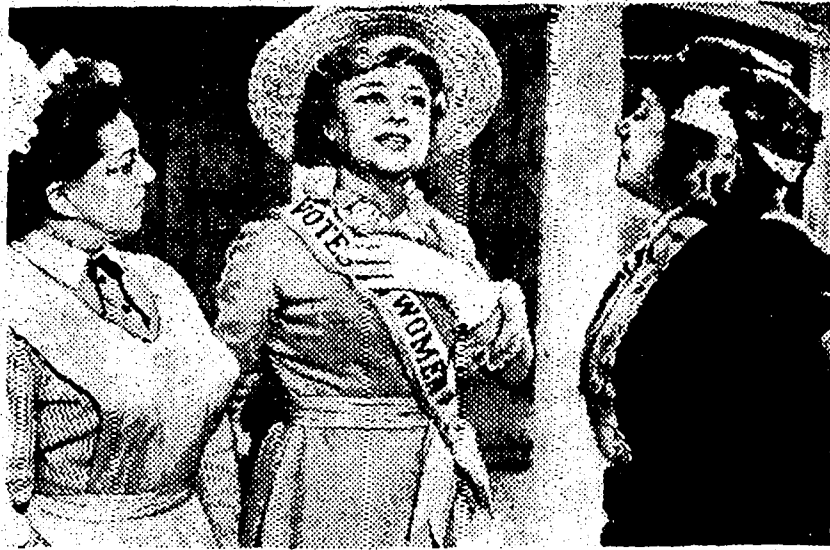

Bob Hope's comedy and the songs of Frankie Avalon provide the spice for I'LL TAKE SWEDEN which opens a split week's run at the State Theatre today.

Hope's 50th film, "I'll Take Sweden" plays through Tuesday at the State, then moves to the Winona for showing Wednesday through Saturday. MARY POPPINS, meanwhile, will arrive at the State Wednesday to show through the remainder of the week.

Hope plays the father of a teenage swinger about to embark on a trial marriage. Swedish style. He doesn't think much of the custom until he meets a sexy Scandinavian who proposes the same kind of arrangement. Avalon sings a group of new songs in the film which also stars Tuesday Weld, Dina Merrill and Jeremy Slate.

MARY POPPINS is the Walt Disney musical-fantasy starring Julie Andrews, Dick Van Dyke, David Tomlinson, Glynis Johns and Ed Wynn in a story about a banker whose fun-loving household plays second-fiddle to banking career.

Miss Johns is his pixilated wife whose suffragette activities leave little time for household and children and Wynn is cast in the role of Uncle Albert. Van Dyke, as a sidewalk artist, changes the lives of all concerned after his meeting with Julie Andrews, cast in the title role of "Mary Poppins" and her two young charges.

SISTER SUFFRAGETTE . . . Glynis Johns sings her loyalty to the cause of women's rights while less progressive household staff members register shock in MARY POPPINS, booked Wednesday through Saturday at the State.

Course in 'Rock Appreciation'

The London School of Pop Music is being formed so that youngsters may have an opportunity — at 25 guineas ($73.50) a week — to learn how best to appreciate the noise.

Two young men and an attractive young lady hope to start their institution of learning in July. They say that American enthusiasm and American belief that Britain is the center of the Pop scene prompted them to undertake their educational task.

"Someone asked how she could be 'in' on the British beat scene," explained Martin Pawley, at 27 the eldest of the trio. "We decided that the best way was to conduct a school showing people how they can appreciate Pop music — how they can grow to understand it as the cultural phenomenon of the first importance that it is."

THE OTHER two educators are Keith Payne, 22, and Anne Winchester, 24.

They're hardly the wild-haired, scruffy type sometimes associated with Pop music.

Pawley went to the Oxford School of Architecture and the Beaux Arts School of Paris. He studied architecture and is a member of the Architectural Association.

Payne is an etcher who went to the Oxford College of Art, the London School of Printing and Graphic Design, and the Chelsea School of Art. He designs exhibition stands and graphics.

Miss Winchester, a former model, went to the Oxford School of Art and studied sculpture.

veloped their close attention to the subject.

They said they will use a house or hire a school house for their London School of Pop. They want to keep classes to a maximum of 30.

"WE DON'T want screaming kids," said Pawley. "This is an intellectual approach to Pop. The school will cross class barriers. Pop is one field where different class groups can meet with mutual understanding."

"We are catering to people who recognize that Pop is a phenomenon and part of today's social and cultural scene," he continued.

The three young people said their school will present lectures by personages in the Pop world.

"They will talk on what they do and explain Pop practices, such as double tracking and the like," Payne said.

"The lecturers will include people like the Kinks, the Animals, the Dave Clark Five, the Rockin' Berries, the Pretty Things, Adam Faith and the Moody Blues."

Pawley observed that so far most of their applications have come from girls 16 to 20 years of age. "It's a peculiar thing they're all girls," he added.

THE FIRST to enroll was Miss Annabel Bartlett, 19-year-old daughter of dramatist Sir Basil Bartlett. "I decided to join as soon as I heard about it," she said. "Pop has become such a vast thing I think it is important to know what makes it tick."

So far 15 American girls have sent in applications, the educators said, without revealing names. The Americans had learned about the proposed school through a bureau which handles cultural exchanges between the two nations.

Pawley said the American students would come here during the summer vacation.

Fiction Concerns A Real Problem

THE LIBERATION OF LORD BYRON JONES. By Jesse Hill Ford. Atlantic-Little, Brown.

We have come a long way from "Uncle Tom's Cabin," a primitive sort of fiction that once stirred a great sociological and political storm.

Today, in a century-old echo, we are getting modern, realistic novels with racial and civil rights themes, and some of them achieve through fiction a far greater illumination of tense issues than a whole shelf of argumentative documents and statistics.

The point is that while Ford's novel is not the first of its kind, it certainly stands out as a searing literary interpretation of current, agonizing issues.

THE SETTING is a small, imaginary town in the swampy lands of western Tennessee. Of all the characters, two stand out.

One is L. B. Jones, a Negro undertaker who has become the wealthiest man in town. By local white standards, Negro marriages are of no consequence; so when Jones insists upon a divorce from his young slut of a wife Emma, there is a shattering uproar.

The other is the town's principal lawyer, Oman Hedgepath, an unreconstructed segregationist and Yankee-hater who still is fighting the Civil War. He has to be shoved into taking Jones as a client, by his young nephew, Steve Undine. But Oman double-crosses his client and tries to protect Emma's paramour — a brutish, corrupt, ignorant policeman — simply because he has a white skin.

THERE ARE others. Steve is a disturbed Southerner who had married a Northern girl and feebly begins to realize what a menace Hedgepath's way of life has become. Mosby is a fat and rather stupid Negro whose only idea in life is vengeance against another brutal policeman; there are a drunken mayor, a pitifully subservient old "Uncle Tom," an equally pitiful white storkeeper, a dying Negro madame, a naive youngster from Rhode Island who wants to see for himself what the South is like.

This story is far more than a gothic Southern novel. It is a bitter portrayal of racial fear within a locked enclave of ignorance and prejudice. Written by a Southerner, it will antagonize some Southern readers because it bares whispered subjects. Its events no doubt have parallels in the recorded testimony of official hearings, but here is a more deadly indictment because it carries the anguish of life. Ford is a writer whose high-voltage fiction turns a social problem into powerful drama.

Stranger Gets His Lumps in Paradise

By JOHN R. BREITLOW

Herman Wouk's new novel DON'T STOP THE CARNIVAL proves two things. First, that it is possible to be seriously stung in the Caribbean. Secondly, that although Herman Wouk is seemingly never going to write another book as good as THE CAINE MUTINY, he has retained the skill at handling ethnic dialog that he so deftly exhibited in the otherwise tedious MARJORIE MORNINGSTAR.

DON'T STOP THE CARNIVAL (a line from calypso song indicating the natives' view of Caucasian activities) tells the sorry but often hilarious tale of Norman Paperman, a Broadway agent who buys the Gull Reef Club, a hostelry on the American protectorate of King George Island ("Kinja" to its residents who seem unable to utter any term without indigenous abbreviation), with hopes of finding the good life and making a bundle in "paradise."

Norman Paperman is about as good-hearted and gullible as a New Yorker can get. "Mistah Papuh" (as he is called by his native help; the island officials use the more sophisticated "Mistuh Papuh-mon") is gouged by everyone. His supposed partner — a big, loud-mouthed wheeler-dealer also from New York — implements this painfully funny procedure by merely co-signing Norman's notes instead of actually lending the cash as Norman had planned.

LESTER ATLAS, the financier in question, is known even to the Kinja islanders since his picture was featured on the cover of TIME. They presume he and his speculative millions are involved in the Gull Reef Club deal and Norman is merely a front man. This engenders a "cost no object" attitude among the natives which assumes monumental proportions.

Between worrying about his heart condition, his wife's discovery of his occasional philanderings, and the absolute schlemiel his daughter seems determined to marry, Norman Paperman settles into his role as "mine host." He thinks his troubles are over once he has the property, but they have only begun.

Hired help proves to be a considerable problem. His fantastically competent Nordic bartender turns out to be a beached deep-water single-hander (an addict of sailing oceans alone) who is lured to the open sea again by the charms of a sloop purchased by the widowed former owner with her proceeds from selling the club. His replacement is soon revealed as a satyr of epic proportions, causing considerable trauma among both guests and parents from the island's better families.

As if people aren't enough of a problem, mechanical difficulties occur with maddening precision. A water shortage is complicated by a cracked cistern and no one but a wild character named Crazy Hippolyte knows anything about the cranky electrical system. Hippolyte is released from a mental institution in time to salvage things just as the operation is about to come unglued.

ADDING FURTHER to "mine host's" problems are a fly-by-night contractor who leaves a wall in the main dining room open to the elements when he flees to Florida, a gaggle of local regulations regarding immigration policies (much of the help is imported from another island under very rigid rules), and Caribbean politics — which are practices on a carefree irresponsible level that could set self-determination back to the 17th century. There is also the little problem of Iris Tramm.

Iris Tramm was once a famous actress under another name; now she is a charmingly well-preserved dipsomaniac who is having an affair of some years duration with the Kinja governor — a Washington NAACP appointee. She is permanent resident of the Gull Reef Club and is delightful when sober, a hoyden when otherwise. She and Norman flirt with each other through most of the book, with rather grim resolution.

DON'T STOP THE CARNIVAL has received some unkind treatment from critics who doubtless expect something deeper and better from Herman Wouk. Since I abandoned this hope forever with the publication of his long-winded YOUNGBLOOD HAWKE, I am free to enjoy what Wouk has to offer, and I did.

As mentioned, the dialog is a riot. Herman Wouk now lives in the Virgin Islands which accounts for his keen ear with regard to native speech. Dialect writing is an art all by itself. Wouk has mastered it so well he even includes a character with a lisp in his already babel-like West Indian speech.

There is a lot of George Babbitt in Norman Paperman. Herman Wouk walks a thin line in tracing Paperman's troubles so that they are at the same time pathetic and hilarious. There is no evidence the author understands the islands where he lives, but ample proof that he can recreate their casual atmosphere with inviting yet forbidding charm. But for some needless bloodshed in the final pages, DON'T STOP THE CARNIVAL is enjoyable reading, not a masterpiece by any means, but a long, long way from some of the bombs we discussed this past winter.

CONTEST RULES

- Solve the PRIZEWORDS puzzle by filling in the missing letters to make the words that you think best fit the clues. To do this read each clue carefully, for you must think them out and give each word its true meaning.
- You may submit as many entries as you wish on the official entry blank printed in this paper but no more than one exact-sized, hand-drawn facsimile of the diagram. NO MECHANICALLY PRODUCED (printed, mimeographed, etc.) copies of the diagram will be accepted.
- Anyone is eligible to enter PRIZEWORDS except employees (and members of their families) of the Sunday News.
- To submit an entry, the contestant must attach the completed puzzle on a 4-cent POSTAL CARD and mail it. The postal card must be postmarked before MIDNIGHT TUESDAY following publication of the puzzle.
- Entries with insufficient postage will be disqualified.
- All entries must be mailed and bear a postmark. Entries not attached to a postal card will not be eligible. This newspaper is not responsible for entries lost or delayed in the mail. Entries not received for judging by 6 p.m. Wednesday following the date of publication of the puzzle are not eligible. Do not enclose entries in an envelope.
- The Sunday News will award $50 to the contestant who sends in an all-correct solution. If more than one all-correct solution is received the prize money will be shared equally. If no all-correct solution is received $10 will be added to the following week's PRIZEWORDS AWARD.
- There is only one correct solution to each PRIZEWORDS puzzle and only the correct answer can win. The decision of the judges is final and all contestants agree to abide by the judges' decision. All entries become the property of the Sunday News. Only one prize will be awarded to a family unit.
- Everyone has the same opportunity to win, for EVERY ENTRY WILL BE CHECKED and the winners announced. No claiming of a prize is necessary.

The Prizewords mailbags bulged even larger than usual last week . . . and this week the puzzle jackpot is bulging even bigger with another bonus deposit.

There were more than 1,200 players who put in a claim for last week's $300 prize but the closest anyone could come to the solution was two letters away.

That means that another $10 is added to the prize money today to make the one perfect entry received in this week's contest worth $310.

LOSING OUT ON the $300 prize with two mistakes last week were Mrs. Stan Stolpa, 727 E. King St., and Mrs. Gerald McCaffrey, Independence, Wis.

Among those who sent in cards with three errors were Mrs. Maynard Benson, Peterson, Minn.; Mrs. Arthur C. Hendrickson, Independence, Wis.; Mrs. R. A. Beeman, 1265 Gilmore Ave.; Mrs. Russell Anderson, Rushford, Minn.; Franklin Meyers, 604 Grand St.; Eldon G. Hoiness, Harmony, Minn.; Mrs. Gerhard Johnson, 603 W. 4th St.; Mrs. John Swails, 72 E. Mark St.; Mrs. Hugo Haack, 223 W. 2nd St. and Mrs. Lowell Babcock, Utica, Minn.

That about sums up last week's Prizewords story so let's get going with a new puzzle and a new chance at big money today.

THE ENTIRE $310 prize will go to the one person who comes up with all of the correct answers to today's puzzle clues.

If there are two or more winners this week the prize money will be divided equally.

If no one should hit on the solution the prize will be raised to $320 next week.

Remember that to be eligible for a prize your entry must be attached to a postcard with four cents postage.

It also must bear a postmark not later than midnight Tuesday.

ACROSS:

1. You might well ridicule a PLAN that depends on improbable coincidence (Play). — Play is less apt; it might be a well-written fantasy. Such a PLAN, however, reads like a hair-brained scheme.

5. Few of us could truthfully say we've never had occasion to BORROW (Sorrow). — All of us have had occasion to Sorrow about something or someone. Exceptions are more likely with BORROW.

7. Modern students are much more likely to need HEAP of reference books to do their homework (Help). — The reference to modern students points to HEAP; today's students have a wider range of subjects. Help of reference books has always been invaluable to students.

10. Naturally, we might expect CAFES to be empty at times (Safes). — Why Safes? There might be something in Safes all the time. CAFES is more reasonable. There are always slack periods or times when they're closed.

13. You might expect a young player's nerves to be on edge when a big GATE is expected. (Game). — Before a big Game a young player's nerves would be on edge. Might indicates GATE; though a big crowd is expected, it might be an exhibition game, or a pushover.

14. In the opinion of cynics, people who love a lot YEARN a lot (Learn). — To say they YEARN a lot implies the love is not returned. A cynical remark, indeed. But love of people, pursuits, art, religion or country does bring knowledge. People in love do Learn.

15. There's often a lot of competition between one SHOP and another (Show). — To the extent that competition exists between one Show and another, there's always competition. Often is better with SHOP; the goods sold and the customers served might be different in nature.

16. It usually requires good judgment to put on a balanced program for a LONG recital (Song). — The Song recital might be a very short one. The LONG recital is more likely to require good judgment to prevent boredom.

DOWN:

2. People who LIVE simple lives are usually happier than those who don't (Like). — Those who like simple lives might be very unhappy because they are unable to LIVE such lives. LIVE is more likely; people who don't LIVE simple lives can be far from happy.

3. Handling CRATES often requires expert knowledge (Cranes). — Usually would be more appropriate with Cranes.

The restraint is better with CRATES; they could be small, light, and require no skill to handle.

4. When we know what makes a man BORE we often tend to sympathize with him (Sore). — When we know what makes a man Sore, when we know why he's angry, we might usually sympathize with him. The likelihood is much less with BORE. A BORE is hard to take, no matter the circumstances.

6. Bus CHARGES are sometimes the subject of a protest (Changes). — Changes made on a bus schedule could be for improvement. There's more likely to be a protest when bus CHARGES are involved. Such is the implication of the clue.

8. The fact that we PACE quickly often reveals that our emotions are aroused (Pale). — PACE is more likely here; we are probably agitated. So far as Pale is concerned, the condition might well be due to illness.

9. His LOSING a lot of money is apt to make a man more careful of what he has (Loving). — Apt doesn't go far enough with Loving. It's better with LOSING; he might have a great deal of money left, or he might be a spendthrift.

11. It's seldom wise to start a friendship by making CASH advances (Rash). — Rash advances are almost sure to alienate people, rather than to make friends. On occasion, the lending of money to someone truly in need could well lead to a lasting friendship.

12. Carelessness can often cause food to TURN (Burn). — TURN, in the sense of to spoil, fits well with often. With Burn, at least usually is called for. The cooking process is under your control.

HAVE you solved this summertime puzzler: How to keep your make-up flower fresh during hot or humid weather? Television make-up directors have this problem every time an actress steps before color cameras, since the lights are 25 percent stronger, and the rate of melt proportionally higher. Jeannine Riley illustrates some of their tips, which keep complexions glowing, not greasy. First, powder-set each cosmetic as soon as it is applied. This is beauty insurance against creeping eyeliner, blurry brow pencil, or smudged mascara.

volunteers. "So we hold up the parade for half an hour and race to the fire," Tom says. "And do you know what's on fire—the fire truck."

This kind of humor delights comedian Conway, and he takes character Ensign Parker down the same road of humorous situations, rather than play for jokes. "I'm not interested in trying for jokes," says Tim, who writes his own material for spots like the "Hollywood Palace."

"Now, to me, Laurel and Hardy are the Babe Ruth of comedy, and they always played for situation. You see Laurel and the fat Hardy trying to sell a housewife a mop or something, and pretty soon they have destroyed a house and car. From nothing comes this great deluge of humor. All you have to do is spill a glass of water and take it from there."

THE PEOPLE of Chagrin are big enough and close enough to treat Conway as an equal, not as a celebrity. "I wait in line with the rest of the fellows," says Tim. "That's the wonderful thing about the townspeople. Everybody knows everybody else. And the grownups are really interested in the kids."

"As a result we don't have any juvenile delinquency. Now the kids are grown up and they're coming back to live and are buying their parents' homes. In other words, we all like the town."

Conway says he was encouraged by grownups to develop his humor. In his high school days, Tom was getting laughs and the coach said, "Tom, you're a funny guy. You ought to go somewhere and make some dough out of your humor." Tom's English teacher felt Conway had a flair for writing, and hoped he would keep on with it.

"Living is important back there," says Tim. "People out here are all hanging on to an occupation. That's all they have!"

"Of course, you might say I have a childish attitude wanting to be back where I grew up. I haven't cut the chord yet. That's the other side."

Though Tim may be small town in his desire to live quietly and be one of the folks, his wit and education enable him to hold his own with the so-called city sophisticates. There are no problems here.

"I don't believe in standing on pedestals," he says. "So I don't go out and make personal appearances at supermarkets. I'd rather go over to somebody's house and eat dinner. I'm very available for dinners."

ACCORDING TO the experts, one of the "first to go" areas are the lips. Guard against feathering lines by brushing on color, then blotting and dusting with powder. Reapply color, and press a tissue across the mouth and between the lips. This imprint can be used to check if prints are evenly balanced and corners curved upward. If the tissue test reveals adjustments are necessary, make corrections with a red cosmetic pencil for "stay proof" results.

KEEP YOUR POWDER dry is easier said than done. One way to stop tale from packing is to use a shaker-top jar as a dispenser. Also, as Jeannine, co-star of the CBS-TV series, "Petticoat Junction," reminds, if luminescent face powder is selected, it doubles as a highlight, alleviating a mask-like finish. Brush it across the frontal bone, cheeks and chin for an alive, non-oily look. It provides a beauty glow that doesn't go regardless of the weather.

Whimsy

Have you ever noticed — about the only time the world finds fit to beat a path to your door is when you lie down for a quick afternoon snooze . . .

There is a goodly difference between a person with a psychosis and one with a neurosis. The person with a psychosis thinks that one plus one makes three. The person with a neurosis knows that one and one equals two, but he worries about it.

You can call a woman a kitten, but not a cat; a chicken, but not a hen; a duck, but not a goose; a vision, but heavens! not a sight . . .

No matter how low in monetary value a quarter ever becomes, you can still always use one to pry open the tin of shoe polish.

Television may yet unify the North and the South — against the Westerns.

The nicest thing about having the horse shod a few years back was that the blacksmith didn't also list thirty other things that ought to be done to it.

Perhaps the supreme test of civilization is people who can endure it.

Children can seldom be made good by making them happy, but they can often be made happy by first making them good.

One of the most serene matrons on our street confided her philosophy for a rugged world; "If you must cry over spilled milk, condense it."

Sometimes good ideas need landing gears as well as wings.

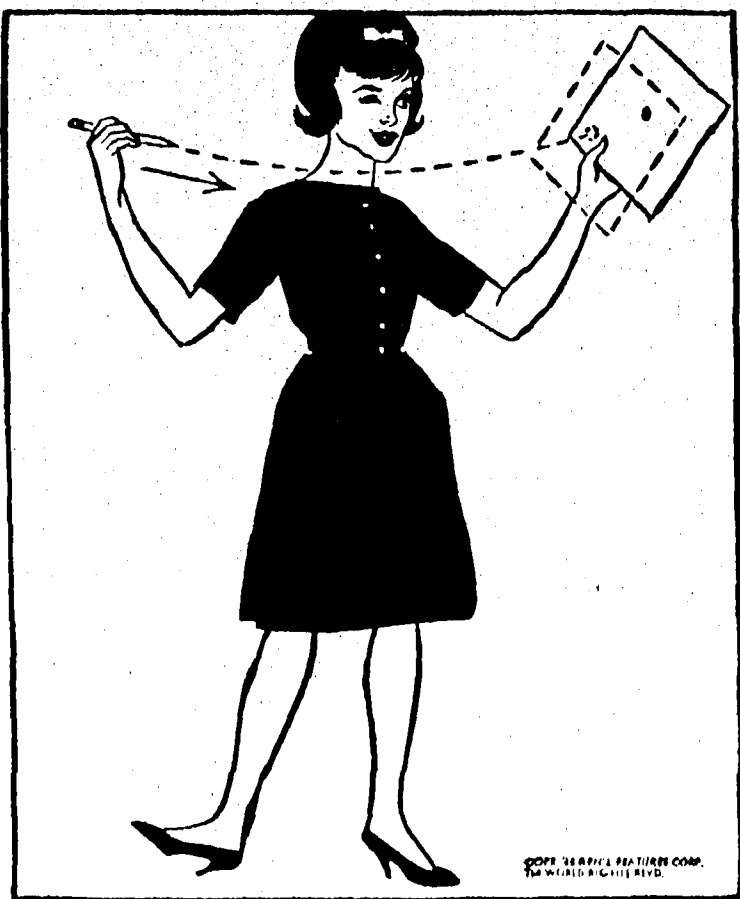

Modern mothers put in long days — usually from son-up to daughter-down.

SCIENCE FOR YOU BY BOB BROWN

Mechanics of Depth Perception Shown

PROBLEM: BAD AIM.

NEEDED: A card with a hole in the center, and a pencil.

DO THIS: Hold the card and pencil as far apart as possible, close one eye, and try to put the pencil into the hole quickly.

WHAT HAPPENS: Most people will miss the hole almost every time. We are accustomed to seeing objects with two eyes, which gives depth to our vision. Our two eyes measure distances by "triangulation" as engineers measure distances accurately by sighting from two different points through their transits. When we are deprived of this faculty our vision is not as accurate.

When observing a nearby object, the axes of the eyes are turned toward each other. We may estimate distance by the solution of the triangle whose base is the distance between the eyes. Our ability to judge which of two objects is nearer is good because the angles of the triangle are different.

are among the items in decorating which give a room that "finished" look, the decorator look of beauty and unity.

One of the more interesting developments in tables in the past few years has been the gain in popularity of the "little table," used in pairs or groups to replace the large coffee table.

There are advantages to both the big and the little table — and disadvantages. Big tables are wonderfully convenient and effective in a large area. But they also tend to accumulate clutter (such as magazines, papers, books, etc.). They are also difficult to move about for new furniture arrangements.

Small tables provide useful surfaces for coffee, cigarettes and ash trays, intriguing accessories. Yet they aren't large enough to gather in the usual clutter. They make handy TV or snack tables, and they can be easily moved and rearranged, separated or put together to create a "big table" effect.

Available space and the rest of your room plan will probably dictate your choice of small or large tables. And to help your choice, take advantage of our free home decorating service and our handsome selection of tables in a variety of sizes and styles, with the look of fine craftsmanship, at Lawrenz Furniture.

Old Themes For New Effects

Professional designers have taken themes from such diverse points as a Turkish harem, Hawaii and Alaska, Spain's Costa del Sol and a French Chateau for new furniture collections going on display this week in Chicago. One of these new designs is seen in the triple dresser at the right with its deep, dramatic carvings in the manner of the 16th Century Renaissance that reflect the boldness of ancient Spanish craftsmen. Its mellow cherry finish is handsome in contemporary surroundings. It is one piece in a collection of beds, chests and night-stands in related designs.

This handsome tray-table lamp's wood base, brass-trimmed marble tray-table and shallow metal shade are a perfect accompaniment to country French, English and Early American designs. It's 49-inch height is perfect for reading.
