LBJ Dances With Princess at Party

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was "Everything's Coming Up Roses" as President Johnson launched the dancing with Princess Margaret at a candlelit White House party honoring the royal British visitor and her husband.

The princess and her husband, Lord Snowdon, were enjoying themselves "wildly," said lady-in-waiting Elizabeth Cavendish.

only two things are necessary to keep one's wife happy. "First, let her think she is having her own way. And second, let her have it."

U.S. to Release Surplus Copper

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government plans to release at least 200,000 tons of copper from its stockpile. It says the aim is to nip the climb in copper prices and ease a world shortage of the metal. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced the decision Wednesday night, saying the world copper situation threatens a disruption which could lead to strong inflationary developments.

Plan to Make Popes John, Pius Saints Started

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI today ordered the start of the beatification process for his two predecessors, John XXIII and Pius XII. His action was a first step toward their possible canonization as saints.

Pope Paul VI today ordered the start of the beatification process for his two predecessors, John XXIII and Pius XII. His action was a first step toward their possible canonization as saints.

The announcement came one week after similar government proposals had forced a price rise in the aluminum industry.

There was no immediate comment from major copper companies as to whether they would follow the aluminum pattern and cut back prices.

McNamara said the release plus three other actions affecting the metal had been discussed with leading U.S. copper companies.

He declined to reveal which companies but said: "I think they will fully support this action."

Bomb North, Clark Urges

CHICAGO (AP) — Retired Gen. Mark W. Clark has urged bombing attacks on all military targets in North Viet Nam to force the Communists to seek a peace settlement.

Clark, who was commander in chief of U.S. fighting forces during part of the Korean War, also said at a news conference Wednesday that his country "shouldn't fight it out on a man-power basis" against the Reds in Viet Nam.

"They have more men than we have and they don't care how many they lose, while we do," he said.

Nam, Viet Cong battalions destroyed five U.S. spotter planes and inflicted moderate casualties on Vietnamese Rangers defending the Tan Hiep airfield 35 miles southwest of Saigon. A U.S. adviser said 28 Viet Cong bodies were found. There were no American casualties.

Losses Heavy in New Viet Nam Ambush

Trapped U.S. Unit Under Withering Fire

PLEIKU, South Viet Nam (AP) — American cavalrymen today claimed at least 300 North Vietnamese killed during a Communist ambush of U.S. forces in the Ia Drang Valley.

The ambush was also costly for the U.S. 1st Cavalry (Airmobile) Division, which may have suffered the highest American casualties of any single engagement of the war in Viet Nam. One company was virtually wiped out and some other units of a reinforced battalion of the cavalrymen suffered serious losses.

(A U.S. spokesman in Saigon termed American casualties in the action moderate. He said U.S. troops still held the battleground today.)

U.S. B52 bombers struck Communist positions overlooking the valley for the fifth and sixth times today to support the American troops.

After 6½ hours of hard fighting, dozens of dead Americans lay on the battlefield Wednesday night beside bodies of enemy dead. Wounded Americans crowded aid stations in Pleikum.

U.S. patrols reported they counted at least 300 dead Communists on the battlefield, and a spokesman said the enemy toll appeared certain to rise. Previously, U.S. spokesmen had reported 890 North Vietnamese killed in the fighting which has raged in the valley in the central highlands since Sunday.

No U.S. casualty figures were announced, in accordance with U.S. security policy. But before the ambush the Ia Drang battle had caused the heaviest American losses in the war.

Wallace, Former Vice President, Dead at Age of 77

DANBURY, Conn. (AP) — Former Vice President Henry A. Wallace, 77, died today in Danbury Hospital.

A hospital spokesman said he died late this morning. He had been ill several months. The cause of death was said to be arterial sclerosis.

Mrs. Wallace was with him when the former vice president died.

Wallace was taken to the hospital in Danbury this morning from his home in South Salem, N.Y.

Wallace had been hospitalized earlier at the National Institute of Health in Washington. He was released Oct. 28 and he returned to South Salem.

The tall, gray-haired Iowa native served as vice president from 1941-1945 during the third term of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Southern Democrats and big city forces blocked his renomination to the post, however, and Harry S. Truman got the bid. When Truman became president, he ousted Wallace from a Cabinet post as secretary of commerce following a row over foreign policy.

New Storm Pounds Coast Of California

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS A new storm swept in from the Pacific Ocean today as coastal areas from Santa Barbara to the Mexican border counted rain damage in the millions of dollars.

Rain continued to soak the waterlogged Los Angeles area this morning and the Weather Bureau said two to three inches of additional downpour could be expected by Friday morning.

More than five inches of rain has fallen on southern California in five days. An estimated 200 persons evacuated parts of three subdivisions in the Simi Valley and an emergency center for refugees was opened in a high school. Thousands of homes in southern California were flooded, threatened or isolated by floods and mudslides.

Hillside homes were damaged by water and flowing mud. Rocks and slides blocked mountain roads. At the Red Rock ranger station in the San Gabriel Mountains — less than 20 miles from Los Angeles — 16 inches of rain was recorded.

Mount Wilson, a peak overlooking the Los Angeles basin, measured 3.89 inches of rain this morning. That brought the total there since the storm began to nearly 16 inches.

The rains extended up the Pacific Coast as far as Puget Sound.

Snow was piled up on the ground in many widely scattered areas of the nation. International Falls, Minn., reported 10 inches on the ground and Burlington, Vt., recorded two inches of new snow in six hours. Winds up to 40 miles an hour swept snow flurries off the warmer waters of the Great Lakes to adjoining shores through New York state.

Red China Seen Forcing Way Into U.N. After 47-47 Vote

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The 47-47 split in the General Assembly on seating Red China plus waning support for U.S. demands that a two-thirds vote decide the issue, aroused speculation today that Peking cannot be barred much longer.

Supporters of the U. S. campaign to keep Red China out of the United Nations admitted privately that they may have scored their last annual victory.

Many diplomats believed the fact that the 117-nation assembly approved the call for a two-thirds majority by a margin of only 7 votes was more significant than the dramatic split over admitting Peking.

The procedural maneuver was approved 58-47 with 11 abstentions, a majority of 20 less than the last vote on the same question four years ago.

The consensus was that if Peking's supporters break the majority barrier next year, they can rally enough support to admit Red China on a straight vote.

Diplomats noted that if Indonesia had not quit the United Nations last March, Peking may have had the single vote needed to score a simple majority this time.

It was believed that Red China's backers could pick up a number of votes if they did not insist on coupling their call for admission of Peking with demands to oust Nationalist China. Ceylon tried before Wednesday's vote to delete the ouster demand, but the sponsors refused. Peking has said it will not consider U.N. membership unless the Nationalists are thrown out.

For the first time, the United States found itself the only big power opposing Red China. France switched allegiance after establishing diplomatic relations with Mao Tze-tung's regime last year. Britain supported the two-thirds demand, but voted to seat Red China which it has recognized since 1950.

The lukewarm support that the Soviet Union gave Peking this year disappointed some of Red China's backers, but it was considered doubtful it cost them any votes.

FEDERAL FORECAST WINONA AND VICINITY — Partly clearing, locally colder tonight with low of 12-20. Friday cloudy, occasional light rain or snow, little temperature change.

LOCAL WEATHER Official observations for the 24 hours ending at 12 m. today: Maximum 37; minimum 23; noon, 34; precipitation, trace of snow.

WEATHER

Other snowfall measurements — beginning Wednesday — included more than 10 inches in the Saranac Lake section, 6 inches in the Jamestown area, ranging down to a trace in the Hudson Valley and on Long Island. Many New York state roads were slippery.

Near Buffalo the gusty winds knocked down a concrete-block wall of a building under construction killing a worker. In Mount Kisco, just north of New York City in Westchester County, a tree limb felled by high wind tore down an electric power line. The power disruption started a fire that destroyed a house.

Man Dies of Burns; Dumping Area Posted

Samuel H. Kohal, 75, 520 Mankato Ave., died in a Rochester hospital Wednesday at 3 p.m. after being burned in an explosion here about 9 a.m.

Kohal apparently was trying to salvage metal barrels when the explosion occurred in a dumping area about a mile east of Mankato Avenue on Shive Road. A barrel he was burning out blew up when lingering alcohol fumes and resins ignited. Kohal was covered with flames but managed to get out of the ditch. He was found lying on the ground by Frank Budnik, 1012 E. King St.

After preliminary treatment here, he was taken to Rochester.

ACCORDING TO city officials, the area has been set aside as a disposal place for highly inflammable materials. Signs are posted to warn individuals against entering, they said. The land is owned by the federal government and lies east of the abandoned Great Western railway grade.

Under special permit issued by the city health department these materials are dumped in trenches by Miller Waste Mills, 516 W. 4th St. They include residues from resin processes, containing ethyl, and some waste paper, according to Roy Vose, city sanitary inspector.

Because these wastes are hazardous to public safety, said Vose, they cannot be dumped in areas used by the general public. Under terms of the permit the company deposits them in trenches where they are to be burned immediately, Vose said. Trenches are later covered with earth.

An investigation of the accident has been made by the city

Neighbors End Dispute Over Garage Site

Two St. Charles landowners decided on a boundary line between their lots today in District Court shortly before the dispute was scheduled to go to trial before Judge Arnold Hatfield without a jury.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney A. Pike agreed to let Lloyd Heim's garage stay where it is in return for a cash payment.

ATTORNEYS for the opponents said that the settlement did not resolve the question of where the legal boundary line between the lots should go with relation to the official survey of city blocks — which is itself in dispute.

But the settlement did resolve the dispute between the Pikes and Heim, the attorneys added.

The Pikes feel that they have been paid for five feet of their land they alleged Heim has his garage on, and Heim feels he has bought "peace" with his neighbors and the right to keep his garage where it has been, according to the attorneys.

Attorney Dennis A. Challen represented the Pikes, and Attorney Alton E. Bergh, St. Charles, represented Heim.

THE BASIS of the dispute is that one man formerly owned both lots now owned separately by the Pikes and Heim. He built a house near the middle of the combined lots and a garage squarely on the line.

The lot later purchased by Heim includes the house and garage. But the garage extends four feet, seven-inches onto the lot later purchased by the Pikes.

Lot lines are established by the city plat.

Complicating the matter, however, is the apparent fact that the platting of the city of St. Charles is five feet off. Dispute exists as to which way the five feet should be stepped off, moreover.

By the settlement obtained today, the Pikes and the Heims agreed to leave things as they are, with Heim making a money payment for land on the Pikes' lot as the lot boundaries now exist.

Contractor Wins $1,200 From Jury

Jurors deliberated 3 1/2 hours Wednesday evening in District Court before bringing in a $1,200 verdict for plaintiff Donald D. Walchak, 1741 W. Wabasha St.

Walchak had asked $1,500 after revising his original claim downwards $100 to allow for repair of a defect and payment to the defendants, Jerome J. and Jerome D. Borzyskowski, 827 E. 4th St., for an item of materials.

THE Borzyskowskis had claimed it would take $300 to repair defects in the masonry work Walchak did on a 40-by-40-foot concrete block building he contracted to build for them.

The law suit arose when the Borzyskowskis took Walchak off the job before completion, claiming that he had worked too slowly.

Judge Arnold Hatfield instructed the jurors late Wednesday afternoon that Walchak claimed he was fired for "no good reason" and that the Borzyskowskis claimed breach of the construction contract on two counts.

Walchak, the Borzyskowskis claimed, had obtained $1,700 partial payment for his work on the pretense that he would pay for materials with it. When he did not pay for the materials, Walchak was guilty of deceit and a breach of contract, the defendants alleged.

Further, Walchak — although the contract stated "no time limit" for completion of the job — had verbally promised a specific completion date. When he did not finish by that date, the Borzyskowskis had no obligation to give him notice that he would be fired if he didn't finish soon, they argued.

JUDGE HATFIELD cited a Minnesota law which holds that

2 Youths Held After Robbery In Minneapolis

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Two youths were held by police today after a robbery and gunfire exchange with officers Wednesday night.

The tipoff came from an alert city employee who heard about the robbery over the police radio in his repair truck.

Those held were identified as: John Willett, 17, Farmington, and John Betz, 16, Minneapolis.

Police said Willett admitted taking part in the street robbery and firing four shots at a pursuing patrolman.

Betz, who was serving a sentence in Red Wing Training School for assault when he ran away earlier this week, also was held for investigation.

This was the sequence, authorities reported:

Thomas C. McAuliff, 19, told police he was robbed of $18 by two young men in a car as he walked in the Lake of the Isles area.

Patrolmen Roger N. Akenson and Kenneth C. Haug saw a stolen car matching a description of the one the youths were in and chased it.

The youths abandoned the car a few blocks away. One of them turned and shot at Haug. Haug fired one shot in the air and then held his fire because it was in the populous Hennepin Avenue area near Lake Street.

Meanwhile, Merle Larson, a semaphore maintenance man, heard the events on the police radio. He and a Park Board worker riding with him, Ray Beane, spotted a fleeing youth in the Lake Street area. They kept him in sight and radioed police.

With converging police officers aiding Haug and Akenson, Willett was caught with a .22 caliber revolver in his possession. He admitted running away from the Youth Vocational Center at Rochester, Minn., last month. He also told officers he had stolen the revolver at a friend's home.

Police arrested Betz about two hours later.

Cars Damaged In Parking Lot

A Lake City, Minn., motorist took a heavy toll of two parked cars and a parking meter on Main Street Wednesday at 11:27 p.m.

Michael H. Finney was parked in one of the diagonal stalls on Main Street, 150 feet north of 3rd Street. When he backed out of the stall, he struck a second parked car and pushed it into a third, according to the police report.

Reversing his field, Finney drove back into his stall and struck a parking meter, causing $20 damage.

Damage was $50 to the front and left rear of the Finney car, $100 to the left side of the second parked car, owned by Larry Bohnen, 351 W. Sarnia St., and $50 to the left side of the third car, owned by Dwayne Poulisse, 720 E. 3rd St.

Patrolman James L. Hill investigated.

Wounded Man Returns to Home

A Rochester man, wounded in the head Nov. 6 while hunting in a heavily wooded area near Mazeppa, is making a satisfactory recovery, according to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Dingsfelder, 466 Chestnut St.

Ronald Dingsfelder, 28, was hit by a high-powered hollow end rifle bullet on his right temple behind the eye after it had ricocheted off a tree. He was taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Wabasha, by his two companions and moved to Marys Hospital, Rochester, following emergency treatment.

Surgery was performed that afternoon for removal of the bullet, which lodged between his skull and brain. He left the hospital a week ago and is recuperating at home.

The men, all employed by IBM, were looking over the Mazeppa area for deer hunting prospects and had their guns along to shoot squirrels. Robert Gould, Stewartville, shot at a squirrel in a tree. He did not see Dingsfelder standing nearby.

Dingsfelder is electronics draftsman at IBM. He is scheduled to leave with some 20 men from the plant for Baltimore, Md., to set up a new machine which the U.S. government will use on the new Medicare program. Ronald's wife is formerly from Austin. A nurse, she is employed at Olmsted Community Hospital, Rochester.

John A. McHardy, Plainview, was defense attorney.

Court isn't in session today.

The jury panel will report Monday for the trial of a $23,000 injury suit brought by Francis Drake, Byron, on behalf of his son, Wesley, 13, against the village of Kellogg and its employee, Ben Schurhammer. The boy allegedly received injuries from an explosion at the Kellogg dump June 4.

Millville Area Farmer Gets $150 for Damage

WABASHA, Minn. (Special) — A Wabasha County District Court Wednesday awarded plaintiff Ray Gilsdorf $150 in his $1,548 suit against his neighbor, Donovan Erwin, whose cattle, the plaintiff said, trespassed on his fields in February and late June. The men live in rural Millville.

The jury was out from 3:06 to 4:35 p.m.

Gilsdorf was represented by Fred W. Gerber, Plainview, and Frank Newhouse, Rochester.

Mondovi Mill Rate Unchanged

MONDOVI, Wis. (Special) — Following a public hearing Tuesday night at which there were no appearances by citizens or taxpayers, Mondovi City Council adopted a 1966 budget of $147,715 and voted a tax levy of $62,391. Anticipated revenues are $45,325.

Total taxes on real estate and personal property owners will be $279,821. State taxes are $1,664 — up $16 from last year. Buffalo County taxes are $75,118.85, down $7,724.67. The city tax is down $26. The school district tax of $140,747 is $13,640 more than last year.

Increased 1965 valuation of $179,570 absorbs the increase of $6,105 total levy so the tax remains at 34 mills.

Light Snowfall Doesn't Last

A light snowfall dusted Winona and vicinity today but by noon it was gone.

Partly clearing weather is predicted for tonight with a low of 12-20. Friday is expected to be cloudy with occasional light rain or snow and little change in temperature.

THE temperature which rose no higher than 37 Wednesday afternoon was 28 this morning when the first snowflakes began to fall about 8 a.m. No heavy accumulation is expected from the low pressure area which is following a major storm across the northern half of the state, the Weather Bureau said. The noon temperature was 34.

A year ago today the Winona high was 48 and the low 25. All-time high for Nov. 18 was 68 in 1941 and 1963 and the low for the day zero in 1872 and 1891. Mean for the past 24 hours was 32. Normal for this time of the year is 33.

Overnight the temperature dipped to 5 at International Falls and 6 at Hibbing. Beridji had a low of 14. At Rochester, where a light snow was falling this morning, the low reading was 22 after a high of 34 Wednesday.

At night, Park Falls had a low of 14. Madison, Lone Rock and Eau Claire reported 15, Green Bay and Wausau 18; Milwaukee, Beloit and Superior 19 and Racine 21.

Skies became cloudy in the western part of the state during the night as the cold air mass moved southeastward out of Wisconsin.

The gradual warming trend was expected to continue at least through Friday.

INTERNATIONAL Falls, Minn., was the coldest place in the country early today with 5 above zero. Presidio, Tex., set the high of 88 Wednesday.

2-Way Radio Asked in Water Dept. Vehicles

A proposal for two-way radio installation in service vehicles was heard Wednesday afternoon by the Board of Municipal Works. Action was deferred at least until the next meeting.

It is legal and feasible for the department to share the same frequency and transmitter with another governmental unit, said Charles Gaither, Rochester. If the water department shared facilities with the fire department, he said, the cost of equipping two trucks and the City Hall office would be $1,471.

IF THE department operates separate equipment with its own transmitter on a different frequency, the cost would be $2,206, the board was told.

Radio equipment would have considerable value for the department, said G. O. Harvey, water commissioner. The mobile service units frequently are out of contact with the office for long periods and unable to respond at some times when needed. Lack of constant communication also means less efficiency since it involves extra travel time for vehicles, Harvey said.

If a single unit is equipped with mobile two-way radio, the cost would be $1,500 or slightly below, according to Gaither. This amount would thus be just under the limit for purchases that can be made without contracting procedures.

BOARD MEMBERS indicated they preferred Motorola equipment to that of two other manufacturers because local authorized service is available for this brand. A maintenance contract, covering labor and all required repair parts, would cost $28.20 a month.

The $1,500 price is for equipment that would operate on an exclusive frequency rather than that used by the fire department. Board members said sharing the same channel might impair the communications of both departments.

Toastmasters Honor Dopke

An insurance agent and former alderman who has been a member of Hiawatha Toastmasters Club since its organization in 1947 received the plaudits of members, friends and relatives at an "old-timer's" reunion Wednesday evening.

Object of the program was Walter A. Dopke, who is the only charter member remaining active in the club.

HE WAS TO be the first speaker in the program Wednesday evening. However, when he arose to address the group, Dr. Cleve Gruler, the Toastmaster, interrupted, "Walter, you are not going to speak tonight because 'This is your life'."

From then on the evening was full of surprises for Dopke as fellow Toastmasters reminisced with him about his past life, his successful career and his experiences as a Toastmaster.

A committee — James Mullin, Victor Bertel and Dr. Gruler — had been planning the program for past two months. They wrote to members of Dopke's family and asked them to record their voices on discs. These discs then were transferred to recording tape, making it possible to play them for Dopke Wednesday evening.

MEMBERS of the family who sent recordings were: Mrs. Adelia Fager, Mrs. Florence Treutelaar and August Dopke, Walter's sisters and brother of Milwaukee; Mrs. Edith Jesse, a daughter, La Jolla Calif.; Robert Dopke, a son, Traverse, Michigan, and Mrs. Robert Mac Gregor, a daughter living in Germany with her husband, a major in the U.S. Army.

As the Toastmaster recounted individual experiences of Dopke's life, "unexpected" guests came in to share the memories. After playing a tape featuring barn dance music and recounting how Mr. and Mrs. Dopke met at a dance, Dr. Gruler introduced Mrs. Dopke, who walked in and took her place by her husband.

OTHER GUESTS were Dopke's pastor, the Rev. Harold Reksstad, of the First Congregational Church, and James Stollman who served with Dopke on the City Council. Other friends were not able to attend but sent their congratulations by letter or on tape. Among these were Adolph Bremer, second president and charter member of the club, and George M. Robertson Jr., master of the Winona Masonic lodge.

Dopke is still active in many organizations. He is secretary of the Exchange Club.

Cong. Al Quie was a guest speaker at the reunion. He discussed how Toastmasters had helped him in his career. He said, "Toastmaster training has helped me to develop my thoughts in a logical order; it has taught me to criticize others constructively and to tolerate the opinions and beliefs of others; but most of all it has broadened my interests through my association with other Toastmasters."

Swim Suits Skimpier Than Ever

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Bathing suits for next year emerge bared than ever in the California designers' preview, so bare, in fact, that they're covered by everything from carpenters' aprons to Tahitian trousers.

There was little left to the imagination in the barely-there bikinis and clinging and cut-out bathing suits displayed at the California fashion creators' showing of resort and spring wear Wednesday.

Imagination, instead, concentrated on how to cover the swim suits.

Catalina showed a denim carpenter's apron over a brief matching bikini. A cable knit overblouse topped a matching swim suit.

But most popular of all were the knee-length, ruffled trousers variously called long jammies and surf britches.

The trousers, sometimes covering bikini trunks, at other times paired only with brief bikini bras, were patterned from the surfer trousers which first became popular in Tahiti, a Catalina spokesman said.

The bare look, spurred by the topless swim suit nearly two years ago, inspired a few daring numbers in last year's swim suit collection. This year, however, a suit which was merely lacking straps, midriff or sides, is sans all three.

Ships Begin Moving Again at Welland Canal

WELLAND, Ont. (AP) — Ships began to move through the Welland Canal today, ending a delay of up to 29 hours caused by high winds.

Of 72 ships, 28 were awaiting clearance up the canal from Port Weller and 29 for downward. There were 15 ships in the canal waiting to proceed.

Twenty-one of the vessels were ocean-going ships attempting to return to Montreal before the St. Lawrence Seaway closes Dec. 3 for the winter.

Gas Conversion At Water Pump Station Delayed

Conversion to a gas heating system for the Johnson Street pumping station will be delayed until next year, the Board of Municipal Works decided Wednesday.

Only one bid was received for the planned conversion so board members voted to return it unopened to the bidder. Conversion bids will be sought again next year.

The board gave conditional approval to a bill for $17,269 covering painting and reconditioning of the Johnson Street tank. Contractor was Master Contracting Co., St. Paul. The figure includes a $48 charge for repairing two leaks.

Noting that specifications for the job called for lien waivers furnished by the contractor, the board authorized payment as soon as these are received.

A request for an 800-foot extension of 8-inch main and a fire hydrant in the vicinity of Northern States Power Co.'s Glen View gas storage plant was approved. All costs will be reimbursed to the department by the company since the extension is beyond city limits on State Highway 43.

This addition, plus arrangements by the fire department to provide its rural unit with sufficient hose length, will provide desired fire protection for the propane storage plant, said N. J. Fischer, board member and construction engineer for NSP.

If weather and supply deliveries permit, the work will be finished this fall.

Buy Arcadia Store

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special) — Mr. and Mrs. Fred Comeau have purchased the IGA food store from Gateway Grocery Co., La Crosse. The Comeaus, who took over the store Monday, plan to change the name to Fred's IGA. Mr. and Mrs. Comeau are former La Crosse residents. Fred is a graduate of Logan High School and attended La Crosse State University one year. He has been employed at Freddie's Food Market, La Crosse two years. They plan to move into the Kramer apartments on West River Street.

Greater Awareness Held as Reason for 'More' Delinquency

Juvenile delinquency is no worse now than years ago, according to James Heinlen, Winona County probation officer.

He told a Winona State College group Tuesday evening that society is more sophisticated now. More attention is paid to the problem and more formally associated with it.

He noted that even Plato had expressed his concern about the problem.

Heinlein told Gamma Tau Chapter, Kappa Delta Pi, that the basic trouble with today's juvenile delinquents is that they don't have a sound relationship with their parents. If they are loved and feel secure in their home, most children will pose no problems, said Heinlein.

Refreshments were served. Members discussed the upcoming initiation and also the conference in Houston, Tex.

Redwood Falls Banker Dead

REDWOOD FALLS, Minn. (AP) — Jess Olson, 64, president of the State Bank of Redwood Falls since it was organized in 1937, died Wednesday night.

He apparently suffered a heart attack and was found lying in a parking lot.

Olson was a past vice president of the Minnesota branch of the American Bankers Association, and had headed the Redwood Falls Chamber of Commerce and Redwood County Bankers Association.

A clarinetist, he performed with the Zurich Shrine Band and the Over 60 Band.

Survivors include his widow; a daughter, Mrs. Vern Steffens, Windom; and a son, John, of Sioux Falls, S.D.

Funeral services have not been set.

Chest Head Says Gifts Will Be Short

Community Chest campaign director A. E. Stoa announced that $120,000 has been pledged by Winonans for next year's operations of the 17 member agencies.

The figure is complete through Wednesday and compares with a goal of $144,800.

STOA SAID that 11 of the 90 "task force" business firms still have not turned in their pledges. Another 20 firms have minor incompleteness in their pledge returns, Stoa said.

Looking to completion of the Community Chest campaign, Stoa said that it appears that the final pledge total will be about $135,700—$9,100 short of the goal.

In 1964, a $139,692 goal was set, and $131,580 was pledged. The amount pledged was a record for Winona, although $8,112 less than the goal.

This year the goal was raised by about $5,000. If Stoa's projection is correct, pledges will have increased by roughly $4,000.

Stoa mentioned that the door-to-door solicitors had gone substantially over their goal, and he praised the two coordinators of that part of the campaign — Mrs. Fred W. Burnmeister, 203 W. Wabasha St., and Mrs. Robert W. Johnson, 208 W. Wabasha St.

THE DOOR-to-door solicitors collected pledges for just more than $3,200, Stoa said. Their goal was $2,900, he pointed out.

Stoa said that, if pledges are made by those still unpledged for the same amounts as in previous years, about $900 will be pledged by national firms, $10,800 by the remaining task force firms and $4,000 by the "classified" section.

Gas Conversion At Water Pump Station Delayed

Conversion to a gas heating system for the Johnson Street pumping station will be delayed until next year, the Board of Municipal Works decided Wednesday.

Only one bid was received for the planned conversion so board members voted to return it unopened to the bidder. Conversion bids will be sought again next year.

The board gave conditional approval to a bill for $17,269 covering painting and reconditioning of the Johnson Street tank. Contractor was Master Contracting Co., St. Paul. The figure includes a $48 charge for repairing two leaks.

Noting that specifications for the job called for lien waivers furnished by the contractor, the board authorized payment as soon as these are received.

A request for an 800-foot extension of 8-inch main and a fire hydrant in the vicinity of Northern States Power Co.'s Glen View gas storage plant was approved. All costs will be reimbursed to the department by the company since the extension is beyond city limits on State Highway 43.

This addition, plus arrangements by the fire department to provide its rural unit with sufficient hose length, will provide desired fire protection for the propane storage plant, said N. J. Fischer, board member and construction engineer for NSP.

If weather and supply deliveries permit, the work will be finished this fall.

Durand and Area Residents on Scouting Program

DURAND, Wis. (Special) — Local residents were on the program at the annual meeting of Silver Water Boy Scouts District here.

The district comprises several area counties and has 39 units with 703 members.

G. C. Schiefelbein, Durand, was master of ceremonies. Pepin County Judge John Bartholomew was re-elected district vice chairman. Speaker was Joel Breitung, Menomonie, formerly of Pepin, who is a state probation and parole agent.

Mrs. Audrey Hoester, Durand, received an mother's award. Robert Hulverson, Durand, and Paul Prou, Arkansasaw, were presented arrowhead awards. Robert Constantine, Durand, received a commissioner key. Hulverson was presented a roundup coffee cup award.

Pack 54, Durand, was among the groups receiving roundup awards.

Palmer Miles, Eau Galle, received a council tie clasp for his work with Troop 122, Eau Galle.

Breakthrough awards were presented by Stanley Sowerwine, Eau Claire, executive of the Chippewa Valley Council.

It Happened Last Night

Berle Steals Night From 'Mr. Abbott'

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — The next time somebody says to me, "New York has no night life any more" — POW! ... right in the whiskers.

About 11 o'clock the other night, Gordon MacRae's wife Sheila was sitting on the dais at a very dressy dinner at the Waldorf for Jack Carter given by the Tay-Sachs Ass'n. headed by Buddy Hackett's wife Sherry.

Suddenly she was handed a note that said "HELP!"

It was from Sheila Sullivan of "Golden Boy" who'd had a frenzied message from that show's producer, Hillard Elkins. On a night off, he was producing a USO benefit at Madison Square Garden for 10,000 people.

"Sammy Davis is being delayed because of a snowstorm in St. Louis," the Sheila-to-Sheila note said. "At 11:20, Hilary starts getting into trouble because of talent. HELP!"

Alan King, Tom Poston, Peter Falk and Jane Morgan got similar SOS notes. Quietly, they excused themselves from the dinner dais, rushed to the Garden and entertained, then whipped back in time to hear Jack Carter acknowledge that Milton Berle'd staged the year's greatest comeback with the magnificent insults he'd flung at Carter.

"JACK CARTER has all the charm of World War II," said Berle. "Will Rogers said, 'I never met a man I didn't like till I met Jack Carter.' Next to Lawrence Welk, Jack Carter's the funniest man I know. He's a man of rare gifts — I know; he never gave me one. Jerry Lewis sent a wire: 'I can't be with you; I got an attack of ulcers and I'm operating on myself.' Oscar Levant would have been here but he was suddenly taken well."

Carter graciously and humbly — HONEST! Graciously and humbly — thanked Berle and the others. And he said he only got mad at Berle once.

That was at a Hollywood dinner when Berle said, "We had two disappointments tonight. Jack Benny couldn't make it and Jack Carter could."

As for Sammy Davis: his wife May Britt said at Danny's Hideaway that Sammy, in St. Louis doing a show, phoned that a snowstorm was forecast, that he "is petrified of flying," and wouldn't make it back.

BUT THAT wasn't all. There was a tremendous tribute given George Abbott at the Hilton by the Stage Directors & Choreographers Workshop Foundation, Inc. where one of the big hits was a recording — by Milton Berle.

"George Abbott hasn't an enemy in the world," Berle said. "He's outlived them all. He's the world's greatest director in my opinion and I'll tell you who agrees with me: George Abbott."

Abbott was surprised by one event. Actress Margaret Hayes said, "Mr. Abbott, I want you to meet a friend of mine." It was Mary Sinclair, his wife of about 13 years ago, looking ravishing in red, and with Bernie Berns of Central Plaza.

"I was so touched by the tribute that I wept," Mary said. "But in one way, it was as though Milton Berle, who used to steal jokes, had stolen a night. I've got a great idea. Somebody ought to try him on TV."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "Today," says Sammy Kaye, "breaking a mirror is good luck. It means you'll be around another seven years."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: At one time a girl who wanted to marry a fellow set her cap for him. Today (notes Chuck McCann) she also sets her neckline.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Too many women talk on and on about things that leave them speechless." — Anon.

Comedienne Joan Rivers says marriage made her more mature: "For instance, we're married just four months — and I no longer have any desire to date." ... That's earl, brother.

Stabbed Teachers Get $6,000 Each

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Charles R. Peterson and Donald Shebasta, teachers at Milwaukee West Division High School, were awarded damages of $6,000 each Wednesday as a result of a stabbing at the school in April 1964.

The judgment was made against Daniel Darragh, 20, by Circuit Judge John A. Decker. Darragh served more than four months in Milwaukee County Jail after he was convicted of assault and battery involving the two teachers.

The teachers testified they were stabbed by Darragh as they attempted to take him to the office after they saw him backstage at a variety show at the school. Darragh was not a student.

Petterson Tells Of Orient Trip

Highlights of an Orient tour were outlined to the Rotary Club by Stanley Petterson, Northern States Power Co. manager here, at Hotel Winona Wednesday.

The party, of which the Pettersons were a part, visited the temples of Japan, the slums of Hong Kong, walked on soil controlled by Red China, and watched the royal barge of the king on the rivers of Thailand. In all they covered in excess of 25,000 miles.

Among his observations: Christianity has made little progress in the Far East. Temples are the thing in Japan, the heart of its culture.

Men go to night clubs in Japan early in the evening before they go home to their wives and children. The only physical evidence of the bomb in Hiroshima was one partly wrecked building.

Voice of the Outdoors

Deadline Deer
This 12-point monarch of the cornfields almost made it to the end of the season. It was dropped late Monday afternoon, the last day of the district season, by a pair of hunting brothers in the Rollingstone area. It dressed out at 200 pounds.

Pat Boland (left) is shown with the big buck. His brother, Mike, got the doe. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Mickey Boland, 725 47th Ave., Goodview. It was the first deer for each of the boys. The dressed weight of the doe was around 100 pounds.

Whitewater Results
The results of the biologists check in the Whitewater Refuge for the three-day season, according to George Meyer, refuge superintendent, showed a 16 percent success. The 1,581 hunters checked had 256 deer. This is slightly below the average. The average for the last six years was 20 percent. The highest ratio of success was in 1959 when it was 36 percent.

Dale Peterson, Owatonna, area supervisor, estimated that the ratio of success in Zone 6, Southeastern Minnesota's three-day zone, was about one deer to every 12 hunters. This is lower than in former years.

One of the reasons, Dale thought, was the reduction in hunting pressure. The number of hunters in all the counties was definitely down, although the license sales are up for the counties with larger populations.

"Snow in the north," Dale said, "was the reason. Instead of hunting locally, they packed up and headed for the snow zone. They are beginning to return with a lot of nice animals."

We have a lot of deer in Southeastern Minnesota, Peterson declared, but the low hunter pressure did not get them moving. The weather, he added, also was unfavorable.

Meyer verified this by declaring that he has seen more deer since the season closed than he did before it opened. They are even appearing along the roads, he said.

Two refuge hunters reported to Meyer that they saw wild turkeys. One observer reported two large adults that likely went through last winter.

There was only one fatality in the district, Peterson stated. A man was shot in the Faribault area. There were several reports of minor wounds.

To offset the story about the deer being stolen from two boy campers in the Zumbro River area, Peterson recounts the experience of his 14-year-old son, near Owatonna. He hit a deer that went over a slight ridge. When the boy caught up, an adult hunter was cleaning out a deer on the other side of the ridge.

"This is your deer," he told young Peterson. "I thought I would bleed it for you and clean it out. Now you can take over." It was young Dale's first deer.

Wisconsin Farm Bureau Asks Beer Buying Age at 21

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Delegates to the 46th annual convention of the Wisconsin Farm Bureau Federation don't want people under 21 to buy beer.

Delegates passed a resolution Wednesday urging a state law which would prohibit sale of beer to anyone under 21.

At present, local option prevails. In some communities, 18 year olds can purchase or drink beer on the premises.

The farmers' resolution said that a uniform minimum drinking age set at 21 would promote highway safety and solve some teen-age morality problems.

Delegates also went on record against use of trucks 65 feet long on state highway ways.

Other resolutions adopted urged farmers to work against water pollution and asked that the criminal trespass minimum fine be raised to $150.

Percy Hariman, 56, Hartland, was elected to his eighth consecutive term as president.

No Trace of Lost Plane

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Clouds broke Wednesday afternoon and planes again searched for a plane missing over Utah with four Minnesotans aboard.

The Civil Air Patrol planes couldn't get off the ground in the morning because of the rainy weather. Planes flew the route from Salt Lake City south to Provo, Delta, Milford, Cedar City and St. George this afternoon.

Sunday night a twin-engine Travelaire made radio contact at Milford in central Utah. It was flying from Los Angeles to Salt Lake City and has not been heard from since.

Aboard, were Herm Hemker, the 28-year-old pilot; Mrs. Jane Reeves, 52, and University of Minnesota students Mary Klesig, 26, and Nancy Delau. All are from Minneapolis and were returning home. A storm front had brought rain and wind.

Topographic Map of State Ready in 1975

ST. PAUL (AP) — One of these days, there will be a complete map of Minnesota.

Yes, we do have highway maps that admirably sketch how to get from here to there.

But Minnesota has never had a complete topographic map — a chart accurately showing the configuration of the earth's surface.

Such a map shows the hills and valleys, the river flats, swamps and lakes, rivers and ponds, plus man-made additions to the landscape.

Why is it important? The Minnesota Outdoor Recreation Resources Commission felt it important enough to allocate $940,000 in the current biennium as part of a 10-year special program to finish the mapping job.

A recent commission report called for top priority for the job and said topographic maps are needed "for planning of all aspects of land use."

Topographic maps are basic to the planning of drainage projects, flood control works, site selection for industry, parks and campgrounds, dams and reservoirs, and dozens of other uses.

Some sportsmen's group reportedly criticized the heavy outlay of commission funds for this purpose, but the Conservation Department and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service have said that topographic maps are vital to the planning of game refuges and waterfowl wetlands.

In Minnesota, the map work is done by the U.S. Geological Survey, with federal funds matching the state's financial support.

Up to 1949, Minnesota ranked last among the states in percentage of area covered by topographic maps. The job should be finished by 1975, although such maps need constant updating in heavily urban areas because of rapid changes in man-made structures.

Pillsbury Raps Leaders of Both Parties in State

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — John S. Pillsbury Jr., who has taken himself out of consideration as a Republican gubernatorial candidate, criticized top Democratic-Farmer-Labor and Republican leaders Wednesday for saying "what the people want to hear."

The president of Northwestern National Life Insurance Co., who was mentioned earlier as a possible nominee for governor, directed his attack at Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag and former Gov. Elmer L. Andersen.

Rolvaag, a DFL leader, and Andersen, a Republican, are examples of politicians "who want to get elected and thus want to say what they think people want to hear," Pillsbury declared.

"Politicians like to think of themselves as leaders. But many won't lead until they find out which way the people want to go. Then they will 'lead' them in the direction they have already decided to go."

Pillsbury made the remarks in a speech to the Minnesota Retail Federation Inc.

Pillsbury also chastised Andersen for what he termed failure to take leadership on the sales tax question.

Andersen said recently it would not be good politics for the GOP to advocate a sales tax.

"Andersen, though admitting that a sales tax must probably come, said he would not push for it for fear of losing votes," said Pillsbury. "And why? The earliest poll on the sales tax in December 1960 showed only 28 per cent in favor, and in May 1965, this percentage was still only 38 percent."

Authentic Zulu

NEW YORK (AP) — With the help of a couple of visiting seamen "The Zulu and The Zayda" will be performed on Broadway with authentic sound.

The drama, which takes place in South Africa, includes 70 words of Zulu. To make sure they would be spoken correctly, director Dore Schary had them taped by two crew members from a Capetown freighter that was visiting New York.

Age May Get China Off Belligerency Kick

AGE AND CHANGING generations in Red China are the best hope for the rest of the world that the Chinese eventually will quiet down and get off their endless belligerency kick. At best it's a hope.

It could be easily nullified if, once the Chinese have built up their own nuclear arsenal, they develop a new and fantastic sense of power, daring and impregnability.

But at least there was this same kind of hope for Russia once, and it was fulfilled to some degree.

In the Kremlin's most hostile period, the 1940s, the United States began its containment policy to hem in Russia until time could work changes in the Communist world and push it in a more peaceful direction.

U.S. OFFICIALS pointed out recently to some 800 editors and broadcasters attending a foreign policy briefing in the State Department that Red China has suffered setbacks from Indonesia to Africa.

This seemed inevitable when it is remembered that ever since they took over the mainland in 1949 the Red Chinese have preached revolution not only to their neighbors but to people too far away to get substantial Chinese help.

And Red China's break with Russia, worse now than ever in its significance and its vituperations, injured the world Communist movement.

The U.S. officials talked of diminishing Red Chinese influence in Africa as the leaders of the new African nations realize Peking's revolutionary doctrine could be used against them.

IN THE ABORTIVE Indonesian revolution Red China and pro-Peking Communists suffered a loss. And, the officials said, Red China had second thoughts when the United States cautioned it against interference in the India-Pakistan cease-fire.

For 16 years the Red Chinese have used the big mouth technique, talking and urging revolution everywhere while very carefully avoiding direct conflict with Russia and — except for China's role in the Korean conflict — the United States. This is realistic and understandable.

At this time the United States and Russia have the overwhelming nuclear power, enough to wreck Red China and its revolution, while the Chinese are still in the process of achieving similar nuclear power of their own.

THEY'RE AT A disadvantage now and, while hostile, they've played cute. With the new weapons they almost certainly will be in a position to take more risks while the United States and Russia may be more reluctant to do so.

Nevertheless, hovering over this ominous prospect, is the hope of change: Change in the leadership and therefore in the thinking of Red Chinese leaders.

The Lenins, Stalins and Trotskys were not only the children of the Russian revolution but its creators, just as Mao Tse-tung and those close around him have been in China since the 1920s.

The Lenin men were the fanatics, the revolutionaries who thought in terms of any sacrifice for the sake of the revolution. This spirit was kept alive so long as Stalin lived, and he lived until 1953.

But by then, while some of his colleagues of the early days had died, he had murdered others and many of those he had come to depend upon were of a younger generation.

WHILE THEY WERE true Bolshevik disciples they did not, and could not because they were of a slightly different time, have the same obsessions. They had to be concerned with problems of management and internal development.

As Russia grew in affluence, both in possessions and responsibilities, the new leadership after Stalin was naturally more reluctant to lose what had been gained.

Thus in time the Kremlin leadership became more and more the big proprietors, and that has a sobering, conservative influence. It's enough to cool some of the revolutionary ardor in any group.

PERHAPS THIS is what Red China is headed for. Its leadership now is made up of old men who will have to yield the reins before too long. The problems within China are enormous. Mao Tse-tung's heirs, lacking his revolutionary obsessions, may become more concerned with domestic expansion than with Communist expansion.

Civil Rights Front Boiling

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON — The whole civil rights front will be boiling in 1966.

President Johnson gave a taste of it Tuesday night when he said he will ask Congress in January for legislation "to prevent injustice to Negroes at the hands of all-white juries."

No doubt he will ask for other legislation in the civil rights field. Thus those who may have thought that things might quiet down after the congressional battles over the Civil Rights Acts of 1964 and 1965 were wrong.

In addition, in the spring there will be a civil rights conference at the White House on how to make equal rights a national reality.

TODAY CIVIL RIGHTS leaders, representing groups from conservative to radical, began a two-day session to prepare for the spring meeting.

Even before the two-day meeting could get under way the American Friends Service Committee and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People released recommendations on speeding school desegregation.

They noted that the Southern Regional Council had found "fewer than 6 percent of the Deep South Negro pupils are in desegregated situations" and that "this is not just a statistic, this is a human tragedy."

OVER THE past weekend the U.S. Civil Rights Commission asked for new federal laws and full enforcement of old ones to stop racial violence and injustice in the South.

The commission urged Johnson to send more federal officers to racial trouble spots and to authorize them to make on-the-spot arrests. The Justice Department has been very restrained in the use of federal police power.

Further, the commission wants a law making it a federal crime to threaten, intimidate or punish persons engaged in civil rights activities. This would include holding trial in federal court in an area where it is decided racial prejudice is too great to permit justice.

THE COMMISSION said that in some Southern communities officials have defied the Constitution and repudiated their oaths by denying protection of the laws to Negro citizens.

Johnson, to whom the commission sent its 188-page report, said Monday night, "We intend to make the jury box, in both state and federal courts, the sacred domain of justice under law."

He pointed out the government already has moved to join in three suits which, he said, challenge a biased system of jury selection. Johnson said, "We must do more, we will do more."

MEANWHILE, THE Justice Department is pushing a number of civil rights cases in the courts.

Johnson called attention to something else. He said he will expect immediate results from a letter just sent out by Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach calling on all agencies to ferret out discrimination in every assistance program.

The Supreme Court is fed up with delays in school desegregation. In a unanimous ruling the court said Monday, "Delays in desegregation of school systems are no longer tolerable."

Debate at LBJ Ranch Over Bombing Hanoi

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The President gets irritated if there's any publicity about it, but a highly secret debate has been taking place at the LBJ ranch over a policy which could take us to the brink of World War III.

It's a twofold debate, revolving around the following points:

1. Peace overtures from the Viet Cong and whether the United States should listen to them.

2. A recommendation by the Joint Chiefs of Staff that instead of talking peace, we bomb Hanoi, its port, Haiphong, and the Soviet ships at anchor there.

Regarding point No. 2, the Joint Chiefs of Staff have been getting impatient with the President for not acting weeks ago on their recommendation that we bomb Hanoi, and Haiphong where dozens of French, British, Soviet, Greek and Panamanian ships unload war supplies.

THE PRESIDENT knew, however, that to bomb Soviet ships could bring Russia into a war which she has carefully stayed out of; could even risk World War III.

The Joint Chiefs, however, have reminded Johnson that, if he had followed their advice, Russian anti-missile bases would not have been established and so many U.S. planes and pilots would not be lost today in raids over North Viet Nam.

Regarding point No. 1, peace overtures came three weeks ago when Nguyen Van Dong, the Viet Cong representative in Moscow, gave an interview in Finland stating that there was friction between Red China and North Viet Nam over peace, and that North Viet Nam did not insist that U.S. troops be withdrawn as a condition to holding peace talks.

THIS WAS the most conciliatory statement ever to come from the national liberation front and, though parts of it later were denied, the Czech radio picked it up immediately. A Communist government radio station does not broadcast a statement like this unless it represents government policy, and this was what caused the debate at the LBJ ranch.

The question was: Should this peace overture be taken seriously? Should the United States meet the other side halfway by stopping the bombing of North Viet Nam?

The fact that one part of the Communist world definitely wanted peace was emphasized by the fact that the Yugoslav radio picked up the Viet Cong statement and commented that the "ground is gradually being prepared for possible talks. The Vietnamese finally realize that the only way out is to negotiate."

SINCE Radio Prague had previously commented that the peace feeler was "not unexpected," it looked as if the European Communist world had prevailed upon the North Vietnamese to overrule Communist Chinese advice and negotiate for peace.

At this point the President got advice from two conflicting schools. Moderates like U.N. Ambassador Arthur Goldberg and other civilian advisers recommended that he explore the peace feelers, perhaps stop the bombing of North Viet Nam until they could be explored.

But the President's military advisers were adamant. They argued that LBJ's tough policy is now winning, that to negotiate now would be a sign of weakness, that military operations must be intensified. Then, with more victories behind it, the United States could negotiate from definite strength.

At about this time, the French foreign minister, Count Couve De Murville, came back from Moscow to inform the American embassy in Paris that the Russians were pressuring the North Vietnamese into talking peace. They had told Ho Chi Minh that he could never defeat the United States, that the American government was in the war to win and he might as well negotiate. Ho Chi Minh was talking about going into the jungles to fight indefinitely but some of the men around him were swayed by the Russian advice.

CONFIRMATION of the French foreign minister's information came only last week when the Peking radio broadcast a 30,000-word diatribe against the Russians, among other things for "faithfully obeying the orders of the U.S. imperialists and transmitting to the democratic republic of Viet Nam these preposterous demands which are aimed at forcing the Vietnamese people into unconditional surrender."

Fluttery Feeling In Heart

By J. G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 71 and for six years have occasionally experienced auricular fibrillation while playing golf.

Does swinging the golf club have anything to do with this? I never have had fibrillation from walking a long distance. I understand that fibrillation affects the young as well as the old. Is there any cure or does one have to live with it?—O.E.S.

True fibrillation means that the heart muscle contracts or flutters in hit-or-miss, rapid fashion, instead of having the series of co-ordinated contractions which cause the beat of the heart.

Now I'm not sure whether to take your diagnosis at face value. There are other and more innocent irregularities of the heart — palpitation, extra beats, and so on. There can even be transient muscle spasms of the chest wall, actually having nothing to do with the heart, but causing a fluttery feeling. But they aren't fibrillation.

FOR THAT matter, some people can go into true fibrillation and not be aware of it.

Swinging the golf club may add just enough more exertion to precipitate some heart irregularity. But it is also possible that the shoulder or chest muscles may be kicking up a bit, and not the heart.

In short, I'm in favor of having you see your doctor for an accurate diagnosis rather than jumping to the conclusion that swinging a golf club is the one thing that causes your fibrillation. There's no point in worrying over some funny feeling in the chest, but there's a great deal to be said for finding out what it is, and either taking appropriate measures to relieve it, or forgetting about it if it isn't serious.

YES, auricular fibrillation can occur in the young, especially those who have had rheumatic heart disease. There can be other causes in older folks.

There is no real cure for fibrillation, but there are medications that control it and electrical stimulation (defibrillation) that can stop it. One must adjust to limitations imposed by heart problems — if you have them.

But first make sure that such problems are real. I wouldn't want you to give up your golf unless there is a reason for doing so.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is a hiatal hernia the same as a diaphragmatic hernia?—MRS. S. P.

Yes, they are the same.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it possible for one person to be allergic to another, so as to cause asthma or croup?—MRS. R. D.

Yes, it is possible for such allergy to occur, and records of cases are in medical literature.

However, it is far more probable that the allergy involves an ingredient used by the person which seems to cause the problem: Soap, detergent, perfume, cleaning compound, some chemical used at work — almost anything such as hair spray, cosmetics, garden spray or something used in the basement workshop.

Further, some strong emotional or psychological factor may bring on the hives, wheezes or croup; that is, dislike, fear, jealousy, resentment.

Your mention of croup makes me think that a very small child must be involved here. Some careful study of the case may reveal exactly what is causing the allergy, but I want no part of an argument over which adult makes little Sussie sneeze or choke up. It can boil down to some material or cosmetic carried on clothes or skin.

Dear Dr. Molner: I seem to be susceptible to Hope Postmaster Will Not Change Boxes

To the Editor:

Upon reading Tuesday night's Daily News I was shocked to see the City Fathers were going to eliminate the one real convenience the letter mailing public has enjoyed since the new post office, i.e., the location of the mailboxes on the driver's side of the car.

I hope the postmaster refuses the council's request. If more mailboxes are needed, don't move the present ones but instead how about installing one additional at the post office parking lot entrance. There is a one stall parking space there that is little used and those who wish to slide across the front seat or get out of the car to mail a letter may do so there. Let's have progress when we make a change — not regress.

Yes, pregnancy does predispose of monilia infection. Yes, in general it can be treated during pregnancy.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can I get back to normal after having taken too many laxatives?—R.C.B.

Yes, you certainly can return to normal. Depending on how long you have been using laxatives instead of letting nature take charge, you may have to be patient for a time before your rhythm returns, but return it will.

Let Him Lie In Own Grave

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My brother, Joe, passed away last January and was buried in a plot with an empty plot beside it. I was told the other plot was for Hilda, (Hilda is his second wife.) I knew Joe had bought a double plot when his first wife, Zelda, died, and I was surprised that Joe wasn't buried next to Zelda. However, I didn't say anything.

Just yesterday my brother, Hymie, who was in charge of all the funeral arrangements, told me confidentially that in Joe's will he asked to be buried next to Zelda, but the will wasn't read until after the burial. I told Hymie that I didn't think this was right, and we should take steps to do something about it. Hymie said, "Oh, what's the difference? Joe and Zelda are both dead now, and it might hurt Hilda." What do you think?

THE SISTER

DEAR SISTER: Let the sleeping man lie. No good will come from exhuming the issue.

DEAR ABBY: Virgil and I have been married for 14 years and we have three children. Our problem is our families — on both sides. They have made nervous wrecks of my husband and me. On the advice of several doctors, we have decided to quit associating with all our relatives, but they refuse to leave us alone. They drop in all the time and irritate us by bringing up subjects they know we don't care to talk about. If they give us Christmas gifts this year, should we accept them or not? If you advise us to accept them, we'll have to give them gifts — right? I hate the thought of such hypocrisy. There is no getting along with these people. They have stirred up nothing but trouble ever since our marriage. What is your advice?

VIRGIL'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I advise you to follow your doctors' orders, and quit associating with all who irritate you. But let these people know of your intentions so they won't continue to drop in and annoy you. Once you have done this, you won't have to worry about any Christmas gifts.

DEAR ABBY: I read with interest your answer to the roomer who had noticed things missing from his room, and later found it was the nine-year-old boy who had taken them. I liked the answer you gave him, and hope for the boy's sake your advice is heeded.

If this roomer could sit down and visit with some of the 12- and 13-year-old boys in a Training School or Reform School, he'd learn that most of these boys blame their teachers and parents for letting them get away with small things until they were finally caught by the police, and then it was too late for parents to intervene.

I've worked with boys in trouble, and most of them tell me they never had a father who cared enough to punish them unless he was drunk, and then he used his fists or a club. I know of some cases where the boy continued to steal until he tried the one "big job," which cost him his life with a bullet in his head or a car wreck while fleeing the police.

Maybe if you print this letter, parents and teachers will realize they owe the young people entrusted to them the time and effort to make sure they are punished for all wrong acts before it is too late.

3 SPACE

Haake, 46, a decorated B17 pilot.

"I'm no hero," he said. "I just did what I had to do."

Haney was sitting next to Chris Kraft, who directs U. S. astronauts as they circle the globe, when Robinson sat down on the arm of the chair across the aisle.

Robinson dropped a newspaper he had wrapped around a 22-caliber automatic, terrorizing the 91 passengers aboard the Los Angeles to Miami National Airlines Flight 30.

"He pointed it at Chris," Haney said. "It was only six inches off his jaw."

"What have you got there, boy?" Kraft said.

"There was a click which I thought was a cocking action," Haney said. "It did not fire."

That's why I thought it was a cocking action.

"The kid stood up and backed toward the cockpit door and fired three shots in the floor of the lounge."

"Then he just stood there for five minutes and then he said: 'I've got a gun and I'm not afraid to use it.'"

"Then he fired three more shots in the floor."

Haake was the only other person in the lounge, Haney said. The husky 6-footer talked to Robinson calmly, pretending to go along with his wild plans about going to Cuba, even though Robinson now had a revolver in the other hand.

"He even fixed him a drink," Haney said.

"Then the kid calmed down and Haake pulled out a plastic holder full of gold coins. He asked the boy if he would like to see them. The kid said he was a coin collector."

"At some point along the way, the kid lowered his hands. I think he was going to reload the gun. When he put his hands together Haake grabbed them."

"Chris and I immediately jumped. I was the first one there. Haake held his hands and I threw him against the seat."

"And while Haake held him, both Chris and I helped subdue him."

Robinson, neatly dressed in a grey-green Ivy League suit with a striped tie, was charged "with intent to intimidate the crew and influence the captain to take the plane to Havana, Cuba." At an arraignment in New Orleans, he was held on $50,000 bond.

Dr. Charles Berry, chief physician for the Gemini program who was going with the other officials to check out the spacecraft for Gemini 6 and 7 scheduled in two weeks, said after the ordeal was over: "They could have started a pretty good Cuban space program with that plane."

Robinson held in the Orleans Parish jail will be given a preliminary hearing Friday.

Stewardess Nancy Taylor, the first to realize that Robinson might be carrying a gun after he emerged from the restroom with the wadded newspaper, said she tried to get him to put the gun down.

"We stalled for time," she said. "We told the passengers what was going on, but without using the loudspeaker so the boy wouldn't know."

One passenger called the 35-year-old Miami resident the "real hero of this story."

The boy's father, William G. Robinson, a Brownsville businessman, said his son had called him at 2 p.m. apparently from the high school and said he would be home soon.

The next he heard was a 6:15 phone call from his son at the New Orleans airport. Robinson said his son did not explain why he had gone to New Orleans, but he sounded upset.

The elder Robinson said he phoned New Orleans police asking them to intercept his son, but they refused to act without a warrant.

"I felt sorry for the boy," said Kraft, whose title is Gemini flight director. "He didn't threaten anyone."

Charles Mathews, program director for the Gemini flights, said, "He appeared to be a mentally disturbed young fellow. He appeared to be very sick."

Flight 30 had made a stop in Houston before landing at New Orleans.

"I thought at first it was a bird strike," said Capt. Dean Cooper of Hollywood, Fla. "But then I realized we were too high for birds."

The flight engineer looked through an "eye" in the cockpit door and told him what was going on. "I called Miami (the final destination) and New Orleans and told them we were returning because there was a man with a gun on board. There are a number of vital spots in the plane that could have been hit, but fortunately his shots did not strike any of them."

Haake, a husky six-foot native of Richmond, Va., is manager of the Houston office of Radiation Systems Inc. and commutes between Houston and his company's headquarters in Melbourne, Fla., where he got off the plane.

Rio Parley Starts Working Commissions

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Foreign ministers of the Western Hemisphere set up working groups today following a strong call by Brazil's president for them to update inter-American machinery to combat infiltration and subversion.

"It is urgent that we, the members of the inter-American system, rethink our concepts and preconceptions in the light of the new realities," President Humberto Castello Branco declared in formally opening the special inter-American conference Wednesday night.

The Brazilian chief chided past hemisphere parleys for "academically mulling over principles and provisions that, when a dispute comes up, we do not show any inclination to obey."

Stoutly defending the intervention in the Dominican Republic, Castello Branco said the hemisphere defense system was devised in the early postwar years to protect against direct armed aggression. Now aggression threatens more subtly "through infiltration and subversion" and "it is therefore imperative that we take a new look at the concepts of aggression and intervention," he said.

Sharif Best Sheik Since Valentino

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Omar Sharif, the most famous film sheik since Rudolph Valentino, thinks it is time the public let him down off his camel.

The young Egyptian-born actor, who won an Academy Award nomination for his portrayal several years ago of Sheik Ali in "Lawrence of Arabia," remarked:

"Many think I always wore robes and rode a camel. This is untrue. I hardly ever saw a camel before except on a cigarette box."

"It's hard to shake the image created by your first success. Most of the time one doesn't succeed in shaking it. But that is better than to have to try to shake the image of your first flop."

Slender, still in his early 30s, Omar is good-natured, somewhat shy in manner. As Michel Shalhoub, son of a Syrian lumber importer, he was reared in Cairo and graduated from an English college there. A year later he turned to acting after he found the lumber business left him with a wooden feeling.

He made a couple of dozen films in Cairo, became a star in the Arab world, and married Faten Hamama, Egypt's best-known actress. They have a son, Tarek, 8.

He picked the name Omar Sharif — which means "the honorable Omar" — because of its sound. But when he first appeared on the "Lawrence of Arabia" sets, Irish actor Peter O'Toole objected:

"Nobody could be called Omar Sharif. I'm going to call you 'Cairo Fred.'"

The nickname stuck. "Orientals are violin people," he remarked. "They are emotional and sentimental and self-indulgent."

"In Egyptian melodramas your success was judged by how much you could make the audience cry. Since then I've had to learn emotional restraint — to realize that the most moving thing is not someone actually crying, but someone who wants to cry and is fighting it." Sharif, a cultured man who speaks six languages, said that as an Oriental he had met with some difficulties in adjusting to the Western tempo.

"It is so speedy," he observed drily. "I try to sleep as long as possible because it is the slowest thing I know."

"An Oriental, as long as he has food enough for this day, neither works nor worries about tomorrow."

"But I suppose speed is necessary in the large cities of Europe and America because life there is so tough and competitive. If you don't keep at it, someone will take your place."

Speaker Must Be Interested In Topic, Toastmistresses Hear

"Choose a subject in which you are or can become vitally interested. If you are so vitally and passionately interested in the material that you can forget yourself, you are more likely to give a good speech," Sister M. Marquette, librarian of Cotter High School, told members and guests of the Winona Toastmistress Club at the Tuesday meeting at Hotel Winona.

Various sources of background material for speeches were enumerated. Included were the editorial pages of the daily newspapers and Time magazine's essays. Sister Marquette displayed and described many books, including a number which are available as paper backs.

AAUW Hears Lecture on Bill of Rights

Henry Hull, assisted Professor of history at Winona State College, presented a lecture Tuesday on "Framing of the United States Constitution" to members of the American Association of University Women. Mr. Hull delved into the formation of the Bill of Rights.

THE ACTUAL start of the formation of the Bill of Rights was traced to 1607 with the successful planting of the Virginia Colony, the speaker said. The need increased in the 1630's with the formation of the Massachusetts Colony. With the Treaty of Paris in 1783, America was established as a free country. Planning was directed from 1783-1787 as a 13-Colony government. The Constitution was finally written during the conference of 1787 with James Madison as leader, concluded Mr. Hull.

Miss Maureen Van Heerden was topic chairman. The Guest Day luncheon will be Dec. 4 at 12:30 p.m. at Lourdes Hall, College of Saint Teresa.

DR. MARGARET Boddy will discuss plays of the Tyrone Guthrie Theater Monday at 7:15 p.m. at Gildemeister Hall. "Education, An Antidote to Poverty" will be the topic of discussion Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Miss Pauline Ulinger, 220 W. 5th St.

Harold Essmann will speak on "Our Call to Hong Kong." Lunch will be served by Mrs. Harry F. Putz and Mrs. Elton Suhr. Members are reminded to bring their mite boxes.

ter Marquette displayed and described many books, including a number which are available as paper backs.

SPEAKERS have found that quotations in general are helpful in getting across whatever they are trying to say. Words of a famous person can enforce your argument," the speaker said. In this connection, she recommended several books, including "Bartlett's Familiar Quotations," "Oxford Book of Quotations," and "Best Quotations for All Occasions," by Louis Henry.

"Poetry is an appealing thing. It appeals to our intelligence and to our emotions. You almost always can find a good poem to pinpoint your subject and to give it the beauty that you want all of your speeches to have," Sister Marquette told the group.

At the close of her talk she read some selected poems, including "The Perfect Woman" by Wordsworth.

The speaker, who formerly taught English and French at Cotter, received her master's degree in library science from Catholic University.

Mrs. Bea Florin assigned table topics to six members.

They discussed a proposal made at a teachers convention of the educational association in Milwaukee to extend the school year from nine to 12 months. Speakers were the Mmes. James Mullen, Robert Collins, Ralph Kohner, F. A. Lipinski, Addison Glubka and Irvin Teasdale.

Collins, Glubka, McShane, and Teasdale and Miss Katherine Wasnoska.

Members of the Soroptimist Club will aid Mrs. Fae Griffith, club member, in her work on the annual March of Dimes campaign by addressing envelopes for the folders to be sent to Winona citizens the first part of January.

Reports were given by Miss Harriet Kelley and Mrs. Baab on meetings they attended on the vocational school and on urban renewal. Mrs. Emma Streich, chairman of distribution of the Soroptimists, reported that one was recently given to a young girl injured in an accident. Another will be delivered shortly to a youngster who is confined at home.

Mrs. Streich, who is chairman of the international goodwill and understanding committee, brought the UNICEF circular to the meeting and members placed orders for this project. Discussion was held over several money-making projects but no definite action was taken. Mrs. Baab announced that the North Central Region of the American Federation of Soroptimist Clubs sent a check for $10 to the Winona club for its community service during the recent flood.

Mrs. Griffith took the members on a tour of the new buildings and facilities available in Krysko Commons and Prentiss Hall. A social hour followed.

Retarded Persons Have Much To Give, Mrs. Jaycees Told

Guest speaker at the Tuesday meeting of Mrs. Jaycees was Mrs. J. D. Cole, teacher at the Day Activity Center at Central Elementary School, where the meeting was held.

MRS. GEORGE Joyce presided during the business session, when announcements of forthcoming events were made and Kenneth Nelson, state director for the Winona Jaycees, appeared.

WSC Graduate Included in Who's Who

A 1954 graduate of Winona State College has been named in the Who's Who of Young Women of America. She is Miss Marlene Glaus, Minneapolis.

"Winona State College and so many people in Winona have played an important factor in my work in education," said Miss Glaus.

Miss Glaus teaches third grade at Centennial school, Richfield, Minn., and has done extensive work in the creative writing Miss Glaus and minemath fields. She has taught in Richfield for 12 years.

In 1959 she had a book, "Two Very Special Times," and a magazine article, "We Heard Each Other's Worlds," published. Her newest publication, "From Thoughts to Words," was released Monday. The latter is a book of enrichment activities for teachers to use in presenting language arts to children.

She gained her recommendation to Who's Who from Winona State College.

ed to talk about an important convention scheduled for Jan. 14-16 in St. Paul, which will be attended by 1,000 Minnesota Jaycees and their wives and 4,000 Jaycees from other states.

Mrs. Cole said that at the Day Activity Center, the trainable retarded person is given a feeling of belonging. She has eight persons in her class, ranging in age from 16 to 31. Once a week, she said, she takes them to different places out in the community to give them an opportunity to develop social competence.

THE SPEAKER pointed out that the center lessens the burden of parents of the retarded, so that they are able to keep them at home, instead of sending them to an institution.

Love is a dominate characteristic of retarded persons, Mrs. Cole said. "If they are able to show all of their love, they have so much to give," she stated.

A film, "They Heed These Days," was shown, depicting a day center for pre-school children of parents who work.

It was announced that the Mrs. Jaycees will save magazines for the Wicczorek Boarding Care Home. Mrs. A. J. Hemmesch, chairman, will collect the magazines at each meeting. The group also decided to give coffee parties for the Manchester, Starzcki and Wicczorek Homes sometime next year. Mrs. Fred Naas is chairman of the project.

MRS. JAYCEES will assist with the March of Dimes Drive in January, it was decided. Announcement was made that there will be no general meeting in January, but that a Christmas party will be held Dec. 18 at Westfield Municipal Golf Club.

Guests introduced were Mrs. Hugh Barclay and Mrs. Erhard Saeffler.

Coffee and dessert were served by Mrs. Dan Trainor Jr. and Mrs. Charles G. Brown Jr.

The play is being directed by Sister M. Immaculata.

Robert Sather, financial aids counselor from Stout State University, recently spoke to the senior class at Sacred Heart High School about such topics as applying for college entrance, cost of college, loans and scholarships, and what qualities to look for in choosing a college. He also spoke to the juniors.

Lake City Actors Prepare Play for Winona Contest

LAKE CITY, Minn. (Special) — "Enter the Hero," a comedy by Theresa Helburn, is the one-act contest play selected by director Robert Libera, English teacher at Lincoln High School, to be presented at the Jan. 15 contest in Winona. It will be given for the student body some time before that date.

The play is about a girl who lies about being engaged to a man in South America. The plot thickens when he comes home, unaware of his betrothal.

Members of the cast are Mary Jo Coyle and Kathy Anderson, seniors, and Collette Augustine and Randy Nichols, juniors. They were selected from among 28 students who tried out last week.

John F. Krages Note 50th Year At EUB Church

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Krage, 762 W. Mark St., celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Nov. 7 at an open house at the Evangelical United Brethren Church where they were married Nov. 4, 1915.

The Rev. O. S. Monson spoke to the 150 friends and relatives who attended. Mrs. Franklin Krage, Circle Pines, Minn., sang a solo, accompanied by Miss Helen Flemming. There was a brief program.

In attendance were their six children: Mrs. Fay Gilje and Mrs. Elroy (Theima) Sebo, both of Winona; Ray, Clinton, Iowa; Franklin, Circle Pines; Frederick, Rollingstone, and Willard, Goodview, and 14 grandchildren.

Mrs. Krage is the former Lily Flemming.

Insurance Letters Go To Governor

ST. PAUL (AP) — A couple of letters relating to the American Allied Insurance Co. case have gone to Gov. Karl Rolvaag and the governor has indicated, in rather firm language, that he doesn't intend to make any response to one of the communications.

American Allied is the troubled St. Paul insurance firm which has been declared insolvent. A federal grand jury indicted 17 men of fraud charges, including Minnesota's insurance commissioner, Cyrus Magnusson, and Phillip Kitzer Sr., and his two sons, the Chicagoans who headed the firm.

Directors of the Minnesota State Association of Life Underwriters wrote Rolvaag that the American Allied case "has clearly demonstrated that the Minnesota Insurance Department is urgently in need of complete review."

The organization suggested the financing, staffing and functioning of the department be studied by a task force made up of representatives of the insuring public, insurance industry representative, the Insurance Department and members of the Senate Commerce Committee and the House Insurance Committee.

The second letter came from one George Thiss, and Rolvaag said he intended to ignore it. Thiss is Minnesota Republican chairman. Rolvaag is a former state chairman of the Democratic-Farmer-Labor party.

Thiss asked Rolvaag to straighten out several questions and "seeming discrepancies" in the American Allied matter.

Rolvaag said he planned no public comment on Thiss' letter. "I am not in the habit of engaging in a dialogue with the Republican state chairman," said Rolvaag.

Piggly Wiggly Manager Named

New manager at the Piggly Wiggly Store is Floyd Rasmussen, 29, an Austin native who moved here from Fairmont, Minn.

He succeeds Richard Cole, who managed the store here for three years. Cole has been promoted to a supervisory position with the food chain at St. Cloud.

Born in Austin, Rasmussen graduated from high school there and served in the Army from 1955 to Rasmussen 1958. Two years of his service were in Germany.

He worked in Piggly Wiggly stores in Austin, Fairbault and Rochester and had managed the Fairmont store for the past two years.

Rasmussen and his wife live at 1830 W. King St.

WSC Householders Asked to Meeting At Somsen Tonight

Winona householders who provide off-campus residence for Winona State College students have been invited to attend an informal coffee hour to be followed by a meeting in Somsen Auditorium today at 7:30 p.m.

Maurice L. Mariner, director of student personnel services, is chairman. Other speakers will be C. L. Keiper, Winona fire marshal, and Roy F. Vose, housing administrator of the City Health Department.

The rapid increase in the number of college students living off-campus is resulting in more cooperation between the college, the city health department and the fire department, Mariner said.

Only One Plea Remaining in Insurance Case

MINNEAPOLIS — Sixteen of the defendants in the American Allied Insurance Co. case have pleaded innocent and only one remains to enter a plea.

Chicago banker John Carroll, 62, accused of making worthless stocks and securities available to officers of American Allied, is scheduled to be arraigned Friday. The indictment returned by a federal grand jury alleged the stocks and securities worth $500,000 were represented as company assets.

Two defendants charged with fraud appeared in court Wednesday and pleaded innocent.

Frank G. Buffum, New York securities broker, and C. Nicholas Trozewski, Beloit, Wis., were arraigned before Federal District Judge Edward J. Devitt.

Buffum and Torzeski are among 17 defendants charged with one count of conspiracy and 10 of mail and wire fraud in connection with collapse of American Allied. The firm was liquidated by court order several weeks ago with some $1.2 million in debts.

A federal grand jury Oct. 29 charged that a group of Chicago-based insurance executives, headed by Phillip Kitzer Sr., had drained off about $4 million from the American Allied operations. The firm specialized in writing insurance for high-risk drivers.

At Wednesday's hearing, bond for Buffum and Torzeski was continued at $5,000.

$790,000 BOND ISSUE

Durand District School Vote Set

DURAND, Wis. (Special) — Durand Unified School District will vote on a $790,000 bond referendum Dec. 7 for a new elementary school.

If bonding is approved, a round school, as drawn by a Montello architect more than two years ago, will be constructed on a 30-acre tract of land on top of the hill to the rear of the present school. The land, which is flat, was acquired several years ago from Dr. I. L. Bloss.

FIVE POLLING places will be open to give electors of the district ample opportunity to vote. Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. at Durand High School; Eau Galle Town hall; Grandview School; Lima Town hall, and Urne Elementary School.

Because of crowded conditions, more space is necessary, and the district has three choices, school officials said: A complete new high school at twice the cost of the proposed project, which would duplicate facilities; expansion on the existing site which would limit space and keep all classes together from kindergarten through grade 12, or separate the elementary from the high school with a new elementary building.

A PREVIOUS referendum on the same question was defeated.

Included in the proposed bond issue will be funds to complete a second story for specialized classrooms over the entrance to the present school. Both elementary and high school are overcrowded. According to Supt. Gordon H. Heuer, there are 425 students in high school in space designed for less than 300.

In the grade school there are 433 students in space designed for 300.

Now in use to relieve overcrowding are three substandard basement rooms, one for elementary and two for the high school; two temporary or portable classrooms in the parking lot, and a remodeled home being used for speech therapy and special education.

Teachers don't have separate classrooms, necessitating the use of each room for more than one class.

THE PROPOSED building will provide 16 grade rooms, multi-purpose room, offices, kitchen and lunch room. Dining and kitchen facilities for both elementary and high school students now are in the basement of the elementary school.

The present building is a composite of four buildings constructed at different times — the original high school, the grade school, an addition for high school classes, and the last addition which is used for part of the seventh and eighth grades and for the high school courses.

All rural schools would continue to operate for kindergarten through sixth grade.

With the proposed expansion, the Durand system would have a total debt of $1,225,000, less than half its legal limit, officials said.

If a new building program isn't instituted, school officials say the district's accredited rating could be lost; state aids could be reduced or withdrawn because of substandard facilities; costs would remain excessive because of transportation and teaching the students in small quarters, and the curriculum offered eventually could be restricted.

Pepin County Jail Remodeling Program Started

DURAND, Wis. (Special) — Remodeling of the Pepin County jail here is in progress. It will provide Sheriff Roger D. Britton a private office for interrogation, files, police radio and other necessary equipment.

The downstairs family bathroom has been moved upstairs and a corridor removed to make room for the office. Up to this time, the sheriff's desk and radio were in part of the sheriff's family residence quarters.

The project was approved by the county board property committee which had been instructed to study replacement of the structure with a new building, construction of an addition, or remodeling.

Ecumenical Council Edicts Promulgated

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI promulgated decrees of the Vatican Ecumenical Council on the laity and on divine revelation today in a glittering public ceremony in St. Peter's Basilica.

The decree on the laity bids Roman Catholic laymen play an active role in their church and recommends creation of a Vatican secretariat for the laity.

The decree on giving revelation says both Scripture and the traditions of the Church "merge into a unity" in handing down the word of God. It encourages the preparation by Protestant and Catholic scholars, working together, of Bible translations for interdenominational use.

Rail Clerks Strike Topeka, Sante Fe Line

CHICAGO (AP) — The 9,000-member Brotherhood of Railway Clerks today struck the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Co. in a dispute involving demands for changes in work rules, pay scale adjustments and fringe benefit adjustments.

The strike began at 6 a.m. CST. The railroad announced that four hours earlier it had requested the National Mediation Board to assume jurisdiction in the strike which had been threatened.

In a prepared statement, Dennis said the union seeks "a bona fide sick leave, a wage inequity adjustment fund and a broader application of the work rules agreement to cover new modes of transportation."

In Topeka, Kan., a Santa Fe spokesman said the strike involves three unresolved demands.

He listed them as: —Demand for sick pay regardless whether work is kept up by employees or whether the company finds it necessary to hire additional help to keep the work up to date. Also involved was a request to pay employees while they were attending funerals of relatives.

Trouble With Fuel Cell May Delay Gemini 7

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Trouble with power-producing fuel cells threatens to delay the Dec. 4 launch date of Gemini 7 astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell Jr.

Sources said any postponement probably would be for two days. There was no indication when a decision would be made.

A NASA spokesman said that during a test Tuesday, pressure apparently built up and forced liquid hydrogen into the two fuel cells, which combine hydrogen and oxygen to produce electrical power. The spokesman said the cells may not have been harmed, but to be on the safe side for the intended 14-day mission, the decision was made to replace them.

COMMENTS ON PROPOSALS

Quie Says Congress Should Study More

Schoolbells rang threateningly Wednesday for members of Congress when Cong. Albert H. Quie, Republican, discussed actions of the recently adjourned first session of the 89th Congress.

He spoke at the noon luncheon of Winona Chamber of Commerce at Linahan's Inn.

Quie said that Congress passed so many bills so fast members didn't have time to really study any bill. They passed an average of one major bill every two days. And whenever Congress and the President disagreed, it was usually because Congress wanted to vote more money than LBJ asked for, Quie added.

HE SAID members of Congress should "study more and vote less" in the next session.

On other topics Quie had this to say: Right-to-Work Law — "Repeal of the controversial 14-B section of the Taft-Hartley Law depends on the effect hometown public opinion has on senators and how President Johnson feels about it." Nineteen states now have a right-to-work law.

John Dent (D-Pa.), new chairman of a subcommittee within the House Education and Labor Committee, wants three minimum wage laws (for industrial workers, service employees and agricultural employees), Quie said. Dent also wants double-time pay for overtime.

He believes the minimum wage law should be $1.50 to $1.60, at least for industrial workers.

Federal Aid to Education — Education in the future will have more influence on the nation's youth than it does now, because in a few years half the United States population will be less than 25 years old.

Local school districts rely on federal aid as a part of their operating budget, he said. These districts seldom change opinion about federal aid. "Congressmen feel this opinion, so they aren't about to repeal these (federal aid) laws."

County opinion must change, people must be heard, if the trend is to be changed," Quie said.

He added he is working on an aid-to-education idea while trying to avoid a categorical approach. The idea is closely allied with the "Heller Plan" set up by Dr. Walter Heller shortly before he (Heller) resigned from chairmanship of the council of Economic Advisers. This plan would have the federal tax money returned to school districts to be used as each district desired. Since no matching funds would be supplied, the federal government could not stipulate how the funds should be spent.

DEBBIE REYNOLDS

NOW APPEARING ON SCOPITONE AT LANG'S Bar 179 EAST THIRD

"The major problems would be deciding how much to levy and what size taxes to collect from the people," said Quie.

The congressman doesn't believe the unemployment compensation plan will be standardized in upcoming session of Congress.

Congressman Quie is chairman of the Republican Task Force on Education and a member of the NATO Unity and Economic Opportunity task forces. These are in addition to his House assignments to the Education and Labor and the Agriculture committees.

He ended a two-day stay in Winona County Wednesday evening with a talk to the county GOP committee.

Gilmanton Club Dedicates Park On Highway 121

GILMANTON, Wis. (Special) — The Happy-Go-Lucky 4-H Club celebrated its 15th anniversary with the dedication of a new roadside park in the Lookout area east of Gilmanton Sunday afternoon.

Past and present leaders attended the dedication and anniversary reception at Dover Grade School.

MEMBERS decided early in 1964 to build a wayside as a club project.

O. K. Lee donated land along Highway 121. Of two locations offered, the club decided on the plot adjacent to the Lookout store as the most suitable.

Members of the club cleared the land and Wulford Schoenwiz, a club project leader, built a picnic table.

The park hasn't been completed. Landscaping will be completed in spring and improvements will be made as time and finances permit. Another wayside is in the club's long range plans.

Special guests at the reception were Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Lee, Albert Frankenstein, Buffalo County 4-H agent, and past club leaders.

Two other clubs preceded the Happy-Go-Lucky, in the area. In 1928, the Sunnyside Sparklers were organized by Norman Nyre, with help from John Bollinger, then Buffalo County agent.

The second was the Bennett Valley Busy Bees, started in the early 1940s with Mrs. Tillier Gray as leader.

MRS. LOREN Parr was first leader of the present club when interest was renewed in 4-H in 1950. Vern Hendrickson was

In charge of the program Sunday were Fern Lovely, Diane Hovey and Sibyl Amidon, junior leaders. Mrs. Lew Amidon gave a history of the club and Frankenstein assisted in formal dedication ceremonies.

Hog Production Meeting at Blair

BLAIR, Wis. (Special)—How to produce a hog with more meat, less fat and better cuts, will be discussed at 8 p.m. Nov. 29 at the agriculture room at the Blair High School. All Trempealeau County hog producers are invited to attend the swine production and marketing meeting.

Grain Required With Corn Silage Ration for Milk

ALMA, Wis. — It's possible to feed corn silage heavily without any drop in milk production by adding supplements to the grain ration, says Archie Brovold, Buffalo County agent.

As corn silage contains only about half as much protein per pound of dry matter as hay, dairyman should feed a grain ration of 15 to 20 percent protein to make up the difference. Corn silage is also low in Vitamin A and carotene, which is a source of Vitamin D. Farmers should add supplements so that each cow will get adequate amounts of these vitamins.

The grain ration should contain one percent bone meal and one percent trace mineral salt. These ingredients also should be available on a free choice basis.

LEWISTON, Minn. — The University of Minnesota Experiment stations have released preliminary information on oat varieties included in their trials during 1965 and previous years, Oliver Strand, Winona County agent, reported.

The decision will be made soon on which varieties will be recommended in Minnesota for next spring planting.

FOUR IMPORTANT factors to consider in selecting an oat variety are yield, standability or resistance to lodging, test weight, and disease resistance. Lodi was the highest yielding oat, on the average, at the six different experiment stations, for 1963-65 yield.

Using average yield results from the stations at Crookston, Lambert, Morris, Rosemount, Waseca and Grand Rapids for 1963-65, Lodi was highest with an average of 96 bushels per acre. Brave and Carland tied for second high with 91 bushels and Portage was third with 89 bushels. Below these top yielders in descending order were Garry, Clintland-64, Rodney, Santee, Neal, Dodge, Clintford, Minhafer, Tippecanoe, Tyler, Andrew and Goodfield.

In lodging resistance, which is an important factor in this area, Tippecanoe, Clintford and Dodge tied for best standability, with Goodfield second and Minhafer and Santee third. Other varieties were rated in descending order of standability as follows: Tyler, Neal, Clintland-64, Garland, Garry, Andrew, Portage, Brave and Rodney.

IN TEST weight — Clintford rated highest (1964 data only), Goodfield was second, Dodge third and Garland fourth. Below these varieties — but still above the 32 pounds per bushel standard in descending order of test weight were Minhafer, Tippecanoe, Neal, Brave, Portage, Santee, Andrew, Lodi and Tyler. Only Rodney and Garry failed to meet the 32-pound standard using the average data for 1963-65.

In disease resistance there is considerable variation between varieties with all oats being resistant to race 6F of stem rust (which is prevalent in Minnesota), except Neal, Clintford, Andrew, Tyler, and Portage. All the oat varieties listed are susceptible to race 6AF, which is the most common race of stem rust in Minnesota.

The third race of stem rust common in Minnesota is 7-A with all the varieties showing resistance except Brave, Rodney, Clintford, Santee and Neal. Portage shows the most resistance to crown rust with Clintford-64 a close second. All other varieties range from moderately susceptible to very susceptible to crown rust. All varieties listed show at least some resistance to smut.

The new "Varietal Trials of Farm Crops" bulletin which gives the recommended varieties will be revised and will be available in January 1966.

ALMA, Wis. — A survey of farmers between 21 and 35 will be climaxed with the naming by Mondovi Jaycees of Buffalo County's outstanding young farmer of 1964-65.

This is the 10th year that the United States Jaycees have conducted the National OYF Program. This will be the first year that Buffalo County has participated.

Nominations will primarily be made by Buffalo County businesses that regularly deal with farmers. However, anyone is eligible to nominate a young farmer by filling out a nomination form available at farm businesses in their community or from the Mondovi Jaycees. The winner will be chosen by a special judging committee. The judging is on the basis of career progress, conservation practices and community service.

The winner will be announced at a farmer recognition banquet in January.

Outstanding young farmers from local communities enter the state competition and the state winner advances to the national finals in Birmingham, April 3-5.

Nominations will close Nov. 30.

Eyota President Of Olmsted 4-H Leaders Council

EYOTA, Minn. — An Eyota 4-H leader was named president of the Olmsted County 4-H Leaders Council at the group's annual meeting.

He is Richard Schmidt.

Among the directors elected is Robert Burk, Chatfield. Tom O'Neill and Patricia Bernard, both of Chatfield, reported on the citizenship short course they attended at the National 4-H Center in Washington, D.C.

Portage shows the most resistance to crown rust with Clintford-64 a close second. All other varieties range from moderately susceptible to very susceptible to crown rust. All varieties listed show at least some resistance to smut.

The new "Varietal Trials of Farm Crops" bulletin which gives the recommended varieties will be revised and will be available in January 1966.

COUNTY AGENT SAYS:

Several Reasons for Heavy Corn Lodging

LEWISTON, Minn. — Many farmers have expressed concern over the widespread lodging of corn that has occurred this fall, Oliver Strand, Winona County agent, said.

Several factors have been responsible for corn going down badly this year. The six-week period of wet rainy weather in late August and through September provided ideal conditions for growth and spread of several fungus diseases—especially the stalk and root organisms. Spores of these fungi are carried by the wind.

THESE FUNGI enter corn plants through the roots and grow up through the stalks. They also enter the stalks through buds and through wounds caused by insect tunnels.

Fungus infections of corn roots and stalks weaken stalks and cause them to be blown over easily by the wind. Another fungus disease—northern corn leaf blight—also contributed to some extent to stalk lodging, weakened ear shanks and resulting droppage of ears.

Insect problems — chiefly the northern corn rootworm—damaged some fields badly by destroying root tissue and also by providing a source of entry for fungus diseases. Northern corn rootworm adults lay their eggs mainly in corn stalk residue in the fall. Fields planted to corn the following year are susceptible to attack by the damaging beetle larvae when eggs hatch in June. Control measures used have been ro-tion of corn ground and soil treatment with insecticides.

This year some "resistant" northern rootworm beetles were found in Winona County. These beetles have developed resistance to the chlorinated hydrocarbon type of insecticides such as aldrin and heptachlor. It is recommended that next year farmers, who have used this type of insecticides for several years on the same field, consider switching to an organophosphate type of insecticide for soil treatment.

FOR CONTROL of stalk rot and lodging in corn the following things are recommended by Strand:

Plant lodging-resistant corn hybrids; do not plant excessively high plant populations (available data indicates that 18,000-20,000 plants per acre at harvest time is a good compromise between good yields and preventing excessive lodging); maintain a fertility balance and use a soil test every 2-3 years to check on nutrient deficiencies and needs; control soil insects, and harvest corn as early as possible.

For more information on corn lodging problems, ask for fact sheets on "Controlling Corn Rootworms," "Stalk Rot and Lodging of Corn" or "Helminthosporium Leaf Blight of Corn" at your county agent's office.

Farm Co-ops Urged to Keep Young Leaders

ST. PAUL (AP) — Farm co-operatives must move rapidly to tap the reservoir of young, capable and well-educated farmers for alert, aggressive leadership in the future, the Farmers Union Grain Terminal Association was told today.

Roy F. Hendrickson, executive secretary of the National Federation of Grain Cooperatives, spoke to the GTA convention in the St. Paul Auditorium. Speakers Wednesday predicted a new period of expansion in farm production and urged GTA farmer-delegates to "enlist for the duration in the war against want."

"We are now witnessing a new growth in agriculture in rural America on the most promising method open to farmers to improve farm prices, income and farm bargaining power," Hendrickson said. "This is through cooperative farm business."

"We owe a great deal for the planting of the seeds of cooperative effort, for its nourishment in the warm soil of neighborliness, to the initiative taken by sincere and thoughtful farmers who pioneered the cooperative grain movement."

Hendrickson said young people are anxious to accept a more responsible role as leaders and supporters of farm cooperatives. He called for the enlistment of the contributions of younger people, and suggested a course of enlisting great participation of younger farmers to train them for top leadership roles.

Convention speakers today were to include Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D - Minn.; Minnesota Gov. Karl Rolvaag; Sen. Milton R. Young, R - N.D., and Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D - Minn. Vice-President Hubert Humphrey speaks tonight.

Wet Season Will Assist 1966 Crop

MADISON, Wis. — What has all that rain done for us? Farmers are cursing the mud as they try to pick corn, or fall plow. Power dam operators on the Wisconsin River are smiling — power output on the river is up considerably.

Trout fishermen find the local stream looks better than it has in years. The same water that's making dams on the Wisconsin silt with power is filling trout pools with clean, cold water. Springs feeding these streams are flowing with some of the highest outputs on record, according to Art Peterson, University of Wisconsin soil conservation specialist.

Farmers aren't smiling yet. But by the end of next summer they may be, according to Peterson. The moisture that's making corn-picking and fall plowing so difficult now, will help grow next summer's crop. The subsoil is saturated to a depth of at least five feet. That's about 10 inches of rain already stored away for next summer.

Fields are beginning to look dry, but actually only the surface has dried. Plowing in these conditions is expensive, hard on machinery and harmful to soil structure, says Peterson.

Fall plowing is often more a tradition than a necessity. The work capacity of modern machinery makes it possible to do plowing in the spring. Unplowed soil will not be as likely to erode over winter, and will hold more stored rain for next summer's crop.

There are 10 inches of rain in the ground. It takes less than 20 inches to grow a good corn crop. Another five to 10 inches after planting will be enough for good yields.

RURAL ROUNDUP

By FRANK BRUESKE
Daily News Farm Editor

(Editor's note: November 19 to 25 has been named National Farm-City Week for better understanding between the city and rural people. This column is dedicated to all farmers).

What is a farmer?

A FARMER is the tiller of the soil. He lives from the soil—for the soil. Upon his shoulders rests food production for the nation and the world. Without his super production, the people of this land would not have enough food for existence. Each tiny seed planted into the ground, he tends with loving care. From the time the seed germinates, breaks through the earth and grows to a mature plant, the farmer nurses it, gives it life with fertilizer, gives it protection from weeds, insects and disease. And when the plant finally matures and is harvested, the cropland returns to a form of bare soil, ready for another season—for another crop—by the tiller of the soil.

A FARMER is a gambler—probably the biggest gambler alive today. He gambles on the weather, on the crops, on his livestock, on his market—knowing that in the end he cannot ask a selling price, but must take what the buyer offers him. There is no other business in the world where a person has so much money invested and when the "product" is ready for sale, doesn't know if he'll break even.

The farmer gambles with his life, his family's lives and with the community he lives near. He knows that in one second his entire farming venture may be ruined through no fault of his own, by wind or hail.

A FARMER is a weatherman. From morning until night, summer and winter, the farmer is aware of the weather and its consequences. He keeps a watchful eye on the weather. Should he cut the hay—or will it rain before noon? Should he bale the hay today or wait until tomorrow? Are those really rain clouds? Will the scattered showers miss his farm? Should he apply the insecticide today or will rain tonight wash it away? The farmer must use his own judgment.

THE FARMER is a work horse. Despite the rapid increase of machines to help the farmer, his day starts before sunup and his work isn't done until late at night. There are no "paid holidays" or "two weeks paid vacation" for the farmer.

The cows need to be milked every day. They don't take a holiday. The hogs must be fed and the eggs gathered from the chickens every day. The farmer must harvest the crops when they are ready, regardless if it is a holiday. There is no 40-hour week in the farmers life—just a 24-hour day-seven day a week job that is never finished.

THE FARMER is a gentleman. With loving care he handles a new born calf, or bottle nurses a new born lamb that is not accepted by its mother. The farmer participates in county events and community events, and in political affairs. He may not qualify for "one of the 10 best persons," when he comes in town to shop.

But his crops and his livestock on the farm are more important to him than his appearance if he has to make a rush trip into the city to buy a part for a hay baler that has broken down in the field. If a neighboring farmer is disabled by an accident or an illness, the farmer will leave his own crops in the field and help harvest the neighbor's so the crop will not be ruined so the neighbor will not suffer financial hardship.

A FARMER is a businessman. He must know if his farm is making money or losing money. With the help of farm management classes, today's farmer can pinpoint his expenses on each phase of his farming and he knows where he is making—or losing—money. He can belong to a testing association to determine the production of his milk cows.

He must know how to balance a ledger sheet if he is going to stay in business. With a farmer investing $50,000 or more in his land, his machinery and his livestock, he is in big business. Many communities would not exist without his trade.

THE FARMER is a religious man. He attends church regularly and his weather-scarred tanned face can be spotted immediately from his city brethren. He is a God-fearing because he knows that only his Creator has control over the elements which will decide the outcome of his crops year after year.

The farmer lives closer to God than probably any other lay person because he works with God's soil, witnesses the miracle of birth of new animals and is aware of the Creator's presence in the outdoors.

THE FARMER is always a farmer. His work may leave the farm, his body may physically leave the farm, but his soul will never leave. A farmer can never forget the long hours of labor, nor the days of relaxation, the thrill of seeing a sunrise or a sunset, or watching the bright stars on a cold autumn night. A farmer living in the city gets a feeling of regret when driving in the country as he gazes over the landscape dotted with green fields, multi-colored buildings and grazing livestock. He never will forget the memories of farm life.

And when the farmer's lifetime has ended and his gnarled-scared hands are folded for the final time, the tiller of the soil will be returned to the soil—forever.

Farmers, Businessmen To Tour Three Barns

LEWISTON, Minn. — Winona County dairy farmers and members of the Winona Chamber of Commerce's agricultural committee will have an opportunity to observe the latest in dairy operations during a tour in the county next Thursday.

The tour will begin at 10 a.m. at the Len Greden farm on Oak Ridge near Altura. Here farmers will observe a loose type of housing and dairy feeding set-up. Donald Bates, extension agriculture engineer, and William Mudge, extension dairyman, both from the University of Minnesota, will explain the setup.

The second stop will be at the Ed and Gerald Ruhoff farm three miles north of Altura. A new free stall housing barn will be inspected. The pros and cons of this type of housing will be discussed.

The third and final stop on the tour will be at the Russell Church farm near Minnesota City. The Church barn has been converted to free stall housing with a milking parlor.

The tour will travel to Winona to attend a luncheon at Hotel Winona as guests of the Winona Chamber of Commerce's agricultural committee.

After the luncheon, a short educational meeting will be presented by the specialists from the University of Minnesota.

All farmers in the county are invited on the tour. Those who wish to attend the luncheon at Winona are to contact County agent Oliver Strand by noon Saturday.

Altura Holstein Sets Minnesota Record for Junior 2-Year-Olds

ALTURA, Minn. — A new Minnesota milk production record for junior 2-year-olds in the herd testing program of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America has been established by an Altura dairy farmer.

The cow, Altura Piney Wanda Jessie 5460961, owned by Elmer Simon, set a new record of 21,130 pounds of milk and 788 pounds of butterfat on an official 350-day lactation test. The production sampling, weighing and testing operations were supervised by the University of Minnesota working in cooperation with the national Holstein organization.

Fashionable To Have A Moustache

By BILL DEAN
OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — All I want for Christmas is a moustache cup.

I've joined the bush league. After a quarter century of daily scything on my upper lip I've given the whiskers their freedom and let 'em grow.

A moustache, I've found, doesn't change your life. No more blondes flirt with you. No more dogs bark at you. Friends still come round—but one of mine had suddenly parted with his moustache.

Still, you'll never know what latent virility and man-about-town sophistication is ready to bristle until you give it a chance. When the first blond appears on a teen-age lip, the urge is to let it grow. John L. Sullivan, T. R., Albert Einstein and Clark Gable finally heeded that inner goading. Why shouldn't you?

So this summer when my neighbors were pridefully returning from vacation with big frozen fish or uncashed travelers checks, I brought back a moustache.

It's easy to let the brush flourish when you're among strangers and a thousand miles away from the brightly lighted, tell-all bathroom mirror. A camping mirror hanging from a tree doesn't reveal much.

But the day of confrontation and critical appraisal comes. Is that shabby little cluster of hair the total product of three weeks of growing in invigorating mountain air?

If you're bugged by uncertainty don't look to others for encouragement. Public reaction is mixed:

"Well, I see something new has been added."

"What are you trying to do,

Sheriffs Boys Ranch Opens

AUSTIN, Minn. (AP) — The Minnesota Sheriffs Boys Ranch — a home for dependent and neglected lads — has received its first youngsters the past few days.

The ranch is actually a remodeled home which will be able to accommodate eight to 10 boys. Plans call for the first cottage to be built next spring. The ranch is located on 50 acres abutting the Red Cedar River.

The Minnesota Sheriffs' Association launched the program, whose purpose is to "provide healthful surroundings for boys 8 to 14, many of whom are on the edge of the law."

"We're operating in the area of preventing juvenile delinquents," explains Ira B. Rogers Jr., executive director, whose office is in St. Paul. "The boys we accept are not juvenile delinquents."

The resident director of the ranch is James Faue, and the house parents are Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Earhart.

The sheriffs' association said the ranch will be financed entirely by public donations.

Applicants will be referred to sheriffs by interested citizens. Boys have recreations, educational, work and religious opportunities and attend Austin public schools.

The "fun" program includes boating, fishing, swimming, horseback riding and sandlot sports like football, basketball, and baseball.

Lande Pleads Guilty to Burglary Count

Dorvan D. Lande, 617 Lafayette St., pleaded guilty Wednesday in District Court to a charge of burglary.

Judge Arnold Hatfield ordered a pre-sentence investigation in the case.

LANDE is charged in connection with the Nov. 5 entry of the Heise Clinic, 256 E. Sarnia St., for the avowed purpose of stealing some money.

The defendant told Judge Hatfield that he had admitted his guilt to police. But they had informed him of his constitutional rights before he made the statement of guilt, Lande said.

It was a small boy who heard a window being broken at the Heise Clinic Nov. 5, according to Assistant County Attorney Richard H. Darby. His report to a neighbor quickly brought police to the scene.

They found Lande hiding beneath some boxes after a two-hour search of the building, Darby said.

Lande told Judge Hatfield that he had been drinking that day and was out walking around when, on impulse, he decided to break into the clinic.

Lande told the judge that he has not held a steady job for two years. His last steady job was firing boilers, he said.

JUDGE Hatfield read from an FBI criminal record on Lande. It included a four-year probation in Wyoming for a 1947 burglary at Torrington, Wyo., and a stretch in the St. Cloud Reformatory for a 1951 grand larceny conviction in Winona.

Lande said that he has five children by his divorced wife. He supports the children when he has work, Lande said.

Judge Hatfield placed the defendant under $2,600 bond. Lande has been confined in the county jail since shortly after his arrest.

Attorney Harold J. Libera has been appointed by the court to represent Lande. He waived making a statement at Wednesday's arraignment, telling the judge he preferred to wait until the day of sentencing.

get a head start for the centennial?"

"I tried it myself. Couldn't raise one."

"What are you trying to look like? Hitler or Charlie Chaplin?"

A silent minority eye your upper lip distastefully when they think you're not looking and never utter a word about it.

Everybody wants to know: "What does your wife think of it?"

A wife who has put up with 18 years of my odd feats obviously can tolerate one more—if it doesn't cost anything.

By now I'm beyond the point where cutting comment can clip those whiskers.

I have an inner, warming satisfaction of a man who has found he can grow something without crabgrass in it.

Tough Laws For Southern Juries Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Once again the Justice Department's civil rights machinery is gearing up to meet presidential demands for tough legislation aimed at securing the rights of Negroes.

Two years ago it was sweeping civil rights legislation. Last spring it was a law aimed at guaranteeing the ballot to Negroes.

And now the object is a bill aimed at taking racial discrimination out of the jury box at all levels of the judicial system, from county to federal.

President Johnson ordered the department this week to come up with a measure to present to Congress "clear in its purpose and specific in its aim . . . to prevent injustices to Negroes at the hands of all-white juries."

High-level department sources indicated Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach is starting from scratch in his attempt to draw up a bill that will meet the President's demand.

"It's just too early to begin discussing the possibilities," one official said. "Right now what we've got to do is study the Southern jury system as it is today. And then we're faced with a whole batch of problems in coming up with legislation that will do the job without violating the Constitution."

Under the 1964 Civil Rights Act, the government already has intervened in several suits charging officials in Alabama counties with systematic exclusion of Negroes from juries. But without further legislation that is the limit of federal action in this field.

She has been hostess to an International Farm Youth Exchange from Thailand and men and women from South and Central America. She is active in her community, school and church.

Be Prepared For Winter Emergencies

ST. PAUL, Minn. — Winter storms will cause inconvenience in the cities but could be dangerous to people living in rural areas. Clifton Halsey, rural civil defense agent at the University of Minnesota, advised farmers to prepare now for winter storms.

Fuel and livestock feed can become critical when roads are drifted over. Halsey advises that a week's supply should be kept in reserve.

Most farm families have plenty of food for emergencies. However, there may be a member of your family who needs special diet foods and there should be enough special diet items to feed that person for a week.

Every family should have at least one member skilled in first aid. All members of the family should be immunized against preventable diseases such as tetanus and diphtheria. If someone requires a certain medicine, there should be a week's supply on hand.

Auxiliary generators are insurance against electrical failure. Farmers who keep generators in good shape will not have problems with well pumps and milkers if lines go down in an ice storm.

Flashlights, spare batteries and camp stoves can be useful. Halsey urges rural people to plan ahead and store fuel, food and medicine. Halsey said that if these precautions are taken you may not enjoy winter but you won't have to worry about it. You will not have to ask someone to possibly risk his life because you did not plan for your own emergencies.

Medical Care Under Social Security Cited

By JOE HALL.
WASHINGTON (AP)—Needy elderly persons can look forward to improved medical care after the new Social Security health program starts to operate next year.

A basic reason of course, is that the program will provide a floor of health protection for indigent persons over 65 as well as the better-off segment of the elderly.

But, equally important, the 1965 Social Security Act contained far-reaching provisions requiring a much higher standard of health care in most states for the needy aged.

These provisions have been overshadowed by the new Social Security program in the bill, popularly called medicare, and by the increases in most states for the needy aged.

Benefiting from the provisions will be 2,144,000 persons on the old age assistance rolls and 264,000 who receive help under the medical assistance for the aged program known as-Kerr-Mills.

These 284,000 elderly persons have sufficient income to keep them off the welfare rolls but not enough to handle their medical expenses.

There was some expectation that the need for Kerr-Mills would diminish when the Social Security health care program gets under way.

But, to the contrary, congressional sponsors of the 1965 Social Security bill and officials of the Health, Education and Welfare — HEW — Department expect Kerr-Mills to expand considerably.

This will happen, they say, because the Social Security health benefits probably will cover only 50 to 60 per cent of the aged person's medical expenses, and because of provisions in the bill requiring greater benefits under Kerr-Mills.

One important side effect of the new program, they point out, will be to leave the states with more money to put into health care for their needy aged since the new program will provide for at least half of their medical needs.

HEW officials emphasize that Kerr-Mills so far has not come close to meeting its potential even under the original 1960 law. Seven states still do not participate; and some of those which do, offer only nominal benefits.

The two plans under the new Social Security health care program become operative July 1, 1966. They will include these benefits:

Plan A — Hospital, nursing home and home health care as well as out-patient diagnostic services.

Plan B—Doctors' services in the hospital, clinic and home, along with a variety of other benefits such as wheelchairs, braces and laboratory tests.

The needy aged, along with all other persons over 65, will be covered under Plan A as a matter of right.

Plan B is voluntary. Aged must sign up for it and pay $3 a month for it.

Government officials are planning to do everything they can to see that local welfare officials sign up the indigent aged under Plan B. The monthly charge can be included in their welfare payments.

But, even if an elderly person is under both plans, he will find that a major portion of his health costs is not covered. Principal exclusions are drugs, dental care, and eye care.

The provisions of the 1965 bill revising the Kerr-Mills program require that, by July 1, 1967, the indigent aged must receive as a minimum five types of health services.

They are hospitalization, out-patient hospital services, other laboratory and X-ray services,

Combat Copter Flying Described

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — The commander of America's training program for Viet Nam helicopter pilots, Maj. Gen. John J. Tolson III, commander of the Army aviation center at Ft. Rucker, told the Tennessee Valley chapter of the Association of the U. S. Army that combat helicopter flying is not as dangerous as it might appear.

He said that from December 1961 through August 1965, helicopters were hit by ground fire only once in every 347 combat flights; they were shot down only once in every 8,129 flights, and were lost and not recovered at the rate of one in every 15,341 flights. He did not list the casualty rate of the crews.

Boy Released After Kidney Transplant

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A Wisconsin farm boy who received a kidney from his father in a delicate transplant operation has been released from University of Minnesota Hospitals here.

Jimmy Black, 11, had been kept alive for a year through use of an artificial kidney, before the transplant.

His father, Donald Black, 41, is a dairy farmer from River Falls, Wis.

Jimmy's sister, Nancy, died of a kidney disease in 1959.

skilled nursing home care, and physicians' services in the office, home or hospital.

Many of the 43 states now in the Kerr-Mills program do not furnish all of these. But, under the new law, they will have to do so by July 1, 1967, to continue to receive federal aid. This applies both to the elderly on the public assistance rolls and those benefiting from the Kerr-Mills.

Coverage of the needy aged under Plans A and B will substantially meet the new Kerr-Mills tests.

But HEW officials point out that this should mean that the states then will be free to use the Kerr-Mills funds to round out a complete medical aid program.

The new provisions dealing with the indigent aged in the 1965 law also require that:

The states maintain a flexible income test so that there are no rigid limits which arbitrarily deny aid to persons with large medical bills;

There be no deductible or other cost-sharing device on the hospitalization which is furnished, and

The elderly needy be helped to meet the deductibles imposed under the new Social Security health program.

The new law also increases federal matching for medical assistance so that Washington will pay 55 to 83 per cent of the cost instead of 50 to 80 per cent. The lowest income states receive the highest matching percentage.

The law also establishes a 10-year goal designed to bring even better medical care to the indigent aged by 1975.

It states that federal aid shall be cut off "to any state unless the state makes a satisfactory showing that it is making efforts in the direction of broadening the scope of the care and services made available under the plan, and in the direction of liberalizing the eligibility requirements for medical assistance, with a view toward furnishing by July 1, 1975, comprehensive care and services to substantially all individuals" in need.

The states can begin to receive the increased Kerr-Mills help on Jan. 1, 1966.

HEW officials have been busy conferring with state health and welfare officials on the expanded program. They say some states will be ready to start the increased benefits in January.

Last year, Washington put about $450 million in federal funds into Kerr-Mills. It is estimated this will be increased by $200 million annually under the new provisions of the 1965 law.

Masonic Lodge At La Crescent Cited for Gift

LA CRESCENT, Minn. (Special) — Clyde E. Hegman, Edina, president of Masonic Memorial Hospital Fund, Inc., presented an award of merit to Walter Huebner, worshipful master of Morning Star Lodge 29, La Crescent, at a meeting Tuesday night.

Hegman cited James Griffin for spearheading the drive here, noting that, percentage-wise, the La Crescent lodge was the third largest in the state. He said La Crescent Masons, with a membership of 119, donated more than $2,500 in this second drive; 98 members contributed, for 83 percent participation. The amount given is three times the amount contributed in the original drive for the cancer hospital in Minneapolis.

The hospital was opened in 1958 with two stories. Two additional stories under construction will be dedicated next October. They will increase the bed capacity 50 percent.

Hegman said 5,000 of the over 6,000 patients treated have returned to their homes, able to resume a normal life in many cases. "Due to the intensive research facilities of the hospital, great strides have been made in the arrest and cure of cancer patients treated there," the speaker said.

This was Hegman's second visit to La Crescent. He was a special guest at the centennial of Morning Star lodge in 1959.

A pancake supper was served to more than 40 members and guests. Griffin was unable to be present.

Some 11,000 members of District 9 of the International Association of Machinists jammed a downtown auditorium Wednesday and overwhelmingly rejected a company contract offer. The rejection is tantamount to a strike vote. The McDonnell plant has 35,000 employees, 17,000 of them machinists.

A strike would immediately hit production of the Phantoms, used by the Navy, Air Force and Marines in Viet Nam. About 50 now are on McDonnell production lines.

The walkout also may reach to Cape Kennedy, Fla., where about 500 McDonnell employees, including some machinists, are working on the launch of Gemini 6 and 7, scheduled for Dec. 4 and 13.

Machinists at the Cape voted to accept the contract proposal, but union officials said the local is closely aligned with the St. Louis local and might be tied in with what is done in St. Louis.

William Rollins, president of the union's District 9 said in St. Louis pickets will be set up at the McDonnell plant in St. Louis and at the Cape.

A spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in Houston said the effect of a strike on the Gemini launchings could not be forecast "until we know its extent and duration."

Federal officials in Washington expressed their concern.

"The national interest requires that immediate further efforts be made to resolve the dispute," Director William Simkin of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service said in a telegram to company and union officials. He asked them to meet with him Friday in Washington.

1st Cavalry. A relief force reached the scene at nightfall, and fighting was heavy during the night.

Dozens of wounded were flown to Pleiku, 35 miles to the north. The relief force found American dead lying beside dead enemy troops and the wounded screaming in fear and pain.

The battalion was ambushed as it marched from the tiny helicopter landing zone three miles away where two air cavalry battalions had beaten back wave after wave of enemy attacks since Sunday. An estimated 1,500 enemy troops are in the area, 220 miles northeast of Saigon near the Cambodian border.

In advance of a B52 bombing attack on Communist positions on Chu Phong Mountain, the two battalions had pulled out of their position at the foot of the mountain. Helicopters flew one battalion to an artillery base about three miles to the southeast. The other battalion hiked north.

"We were walking along at the center of the battalion and we started getting fired on all of a sudden," said a survivor of the ambush. Staff Sgt. Miguel Seise of Augusta, Ga.

"It was coming from everywhere — the ground, the trees. Suddenly, everyone around me was getting hit and dying.

"I could hear screams all around me, all over the place. We fought and fought for what seemed hours. But it was no good.

"I told what was left of my men, and there weren't many, and with a view toward furnishing by July 1, 1975, comprehensive care and services to substantially all individuals" in need.

Strike May Stop Viet Nam Planes

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Machinists at McDonnell Aircraft Corp. are preparing for a strike at midnight that would halt production of Phantom jet fighter planes used in Viet Nam and could delay two Gemini space shots.

Some 11,000 members of District 9 of the International Association of Machinists jammed a downtown auditorium Wednesday and overwhelmingly rejected a company contract offer. The rejection is tantamount to a strike vote. The McDonnell plant has 35,000 employees, 17,000 of them machinists.

McNulty May Seek GOP Nomination

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minneapolis Attorney John C. McNulty said Wednesday he is "looking into" the idea of becoming a Republican candidate for the U. S. Senate.

McNulty, 40, was a University of Minnesota law school classmate of Sen. Walter F. Mondale, the man he would oppose if he won the GOP nomination.

McNulty appeared at a GOP gathering in St. James Monday night and at least one news report from that session listed him as a full-blown candidate.

"I would say that this is a little strong," McNulty said Wednesday. "A number of people have urged me to get into the race, but at this point I have not declared."

McNulty and Ramsey County Atty. William Randall, also a possible GOP nominee, appear today at a political emphasis gathering at St. John's University in Collegeville, Minn.

McNulty said he also will appear soon at meetings in Duluth and St. Peter.

hands frozen in rifle-holding positions. But the rifles were gone, taken by the Communist troops to use against other Americans.

Most of the North Vietnamese were well armed and wore neat khaki uniforms, survivors said.

In the pre-dawn Viet Cong attack at Tan Hiep, a U. S. adviser said the Vietnamese Rangers defending the base put up "a hell of a good fight" against repeated assaults between mortar and recoilless-rifle barrages.

It was not yet clear whether the Viet Cong completely overran the base. Helicopters were not permitted to land because of the danger of unexploded charges remaining on the field.

Viet Cong squads penetrated the base during the two-hour attack and hurled demolition charges to destroy the five spotter planes in sandbagged revetments. Six trucks were also destroyed.

U. S. jets plastered suspected Viet Cong escape routes with napalm and bombs.

84 Attending Two-State Church Meet

Eighty-four members of Churches of Christ in Minnesota and Wisconsin attended the opening session of the Conference on Soul Winning and Revival Wednesday at First Church of Christ.

Galen Skinner, president of Minnesota Bible College, Minneapolis, brought the opening message on "Drastic Discipleship" in which he said, "The people are 'joining up' with the church in unprecedented numbers, but they have not accessed the cost of involvement. Jesus' discipleship is drastic, demanding and difficult."

"The church must forsake legalism and reveal compassion. Present day disciples must forsake obnoxious maneuvering for status and replace it with humility."

Major speaker Wednesday evening was Richard Laue, minister of the Englewood Christian Church, Indianapolis, Ind. "Digging God's Wells" was the subject of his message. He said, "Abraham dug three important wells in his lifetime. The first was a well called Beer-lahai-roi, which means there is a God who lives and sees what we do. The second is a well called Beer-sheba, which means the promises of God, and they come through the Word of God. The third is the well of Re-hoboth, which means fruitfulness.

"Abraham dug these wells, the Philistines filled them up, and then Isaac the Son of Abraham came by and redug these wells," he said.

In our day the Philistines have filled up these same wells in our churches. The people of God must redig them in our time. They must realize that there truly is a God who lives and sees what we do, and we must live and act accordingly. The people of God must search in the Word of God to see His promises and trust in them. They must realize that a Christian has to be fruitful or they are dead. There is no such thing as a good Christian who is not fruitful. The fruit exhibited by Christians are souls saved. If we but open God's wells, he will furnish the springs of living water which will produce the fruit of souls won for Christ."

The concluding session of the conference will be held with Skinner speaking on "The Power of Love at 7:30 tonight. Also featured will be special music furnished by the "Master's Messengers" of Minnesota Bible College and Marvin B. Swartz, professor of music at that institution.

U.S. Counts on Military Success in Viet Nam

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — At this stage of the Vietnamese war the United States is counting primarily on military successes rather than diplomatic appeals to persuade North Viet Nam to enter into peace negotiations.

A fresh bid by U.N. Secretary-General U Thant for concessions from all sides in the conflict to promote the prospects for peace failed today to arouse any outward enthusiasm here.

Administration officials said the United States is ready to talk but they see no interest in talks now on the part of the Vietnamese Communist leadership.

The current visit to Moscow by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, a close associate of President Johnson, may produce some U.S. peace approach to the Soviet government. Officials here will not say what — if any — instructions Mansfield had from Johnson on this point.

But they do expect that if Mansfield urges Soviet peace pressures on North Viet Nam, which is receiving Soviet military aid, he also will stress Johnson's determination not to

There is something about this speeded up life of ours that seems to foster some strange ideas about fun and relaxation. People are working so hard at trying to have fun and diversion, they have missed some of the simpler and easier ways of taking time off.

In my grandpa's day, even in my father's day, hours were long, work hard, and vacations few and far between. Holidays were times of welcomed rest and relaxation. Diversion was had in being with the family, calling on Aunt Sarah, or having dinner at grandmothers, after which the men sat in the living room or out in the yard talking about their work-a-day world and the part they played in it. The kids took to playing together, while the women talked about this, that, and the other thing, and it all added up a day well spent. Certainly diversion was had and relaxation was felt by the very fact that routine had been broken. The cost factor for such a day was nearly nil, other than for the dinner, and grandma always assured them that it was nothing, and there was more where that came from.

NOT MUCH of a thrill, you say! Perhaps that's the difference; folks in those years gone by didn't demand many thrills, just diversion. It seems with our modern view of fun there has to be kicks of some sort. Our generation resorts to speed, chance, and skill, usually involving machines, gadgets, and special supplies. The cost factor is often high, and togetherness gives way to the action of doing something.

It occurred to me that things haven't changed so much that we can't go back to some of the simple things that used to satisfy, and for a matter of fact, the simple, less costly day of relaxation will probably prove to be just what the old system really needs.

The thing that got me started on all of this is that recently my wife and I were the guests of a young couple who had invited us in for the evening. There were no games. The television was turned off, dress was casual, and talk was plentiful. Later in the evening, we lunched and had some more chit-chat, and we were home at a decent hour. I found it refreshing, relaxing, and even invigorating. The cost factor once again — nil.

NOW I'M NOT against those thrill-type sports such as water-skiing, skin diving, deep sea fishing, and loop-the-loop flying. It's just that our younger generation is apt to pass up one of the best pastimes available to all of us — visitation and its mainstay, conversation. Turn the kids loose, let the women congregate, and the men folks will gather in the front room or outdoors, and you'll be surprised how much fun just being plain folks can be.

Just a little passing thought in closing — the individual who has not something that he values more than dollars, is poor indeed.

MORE NOISE, PLEASE
YORK, Pa. (AP) — Silence is golden in most situations, but air conditioning engineers here were asked recently to create more noise on one of their office installations.

Doctors in the Rhode Island Hospital in Providence complained that the air conditioning system was too quiet to assure conversational privacy or to muffle street noises. The manufacturer complained by altering the equipment to raise the sound level without affecting cooling.

yield South Viet Nam to Communist conquest.

The fact is, however, that U.S. policymakers are generally pessimistic about the outlook for negotiations at this time. They believe the North Vietnamese and guerrilla leaders in South Viet Nam, though their confidence of victory may be shaken, are not yet persuaded they face eventual defeat.

There is some opinion here, moreover, that the war may never end in a negotiated settlement. Those who think this is a serious possibility say that after a time the fighting may simply die down as larger areas come under control of U.S. and South Vietnamese forces. North Viet Nam, according to this theory, could just quietly give up the struggle.

American strategy is now aimed at progressively destroying or wearing down the Communist military forces on the ground in the South and wrecking their morale, while maintaining aerial bombardment of targets in the North. An important new element of this strategy apparently is to press offensive operations against the North Vietnamese regular troops in the South wherever they can be found.

The big battle this week in the Ia Drang Valley of South Viet Nam, near the Cambodian border, is said here to fit into this pattern. U.S. strategists reason that if American and South Vietnamese forces succeed in destroying crack units from North Viet Nam, they will shake the very foundations of Communist confidence and move the conflict closer to conclusion.

The United States now has 160,000 troops in South Viet Nam and is building up to 200,000 as an immediate target with no limit on increases beyond that point.

American military leaders and civilian policymakers have been persuaded for some weeks at least that the weight of American numbers and massive firepower have turned the tide of battle against the Communist forces to the extent that the United States and South Viet Nam are no longer losing the war and may be beginning to win it. Concurrent with this evident change in the military situation there has developed a greater political stability in South Viet Nam.

The situation is roughly the reverse, militarily and diplomatically, of what it was a year ago when Thant advised Washington through then Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson that North Viet Nam was willing to send an emissary to Rangoon, Burma, for a secret meeting with a U.S. representative.

That bid for talks was rejected mainly because the United States felt itself to be in a weak position.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk is reported to have decided after studying the Thant report that the North Vietnamese probably were interested in a meeting because they wanted to tell the United States directly that it had to withdraw from South Viet Nam before there could be peace negotiations.

Rusk and other officials are also said to have been concerned about the possibility that the North Vietnamese might use the fact of the talks to undermine morale in South Viet Nam by claiming that the United States was negotiating for peace behind the back of the Saigon government.

But the main consideration in the autumn of 1964 — when Vietnamese policy was involved in the presidential political campaign — is reported to have been that in many ways the United States was in a weak position to go into any kind of talks with North Viet Nam without strong evidence that the enemy was seriously interested in an actual peace settlement.

The situation began to change last February when Johnson ordered the bombing of military targets in North Viet Nam for the avowed purpose of cutting down on the flow of reinforcements and arms to the Communist forces in the South.

The change was speeded up when Johnson subsequently began the massive reinforcement of U.S. troops in South Viet Nam.

Johnson halted the bombing attacks for five days last May. Administration officials said later that word was sent to North Viet Nam that the pause was created deliberately to afford an opportunity for peace probes.

But the Vietnamese neither then nor at any other time during this year's escalation of the war showed any interest in getting into negotiations.

Red Tax Collectors Operate Near Saigon

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
LAI KHE, Viet Nam (AP)—Death caught up with Viet Cong taxes on bloody Highway 13 Wednesday night.

The 1st Infantry Division was sweeping toward the huge Michelin rubber plantation, 50 miles northeast of Saigon.

Maj. Robbie Davis, the 3rd Brigade air officer, was climbing into his helicopter for an observation flight when an old man in a coolie hat struggled into camp.

The wispy-bearded peasant had walked for more than two hours to report that a team of Viet Cong tax collectors was stopping all trucks and buses along Highway 13, near Bau Bang, where 146 communists were killed in severe fighting last Friday. He told intelligence officers the collectors were demanding 1,000 piasters (about $14) to allow vehicles through.

Dusk was just settling over the endless rows of rubber trees around brigade headquarters when Davis, from Gilliam, La., took off in his bubble-topped helicopter to have a look. Riding with him was Lt. Col. Gordon Lippman of Lemmon, S.D., the brigade's executive officer.

Davis' chopper is one of the few bubble model H13s in Viet Nam armed with machine guns.

Davis flew in low over the trees and found three local communist commissars sitting at a table by the roadside between a pair of machine guns.

"They had quite a business-like operation going on there," said Davis, "sitting right out there in uniform, with web belts on and everything, and traffic backed up for a quarter of a mile. We swooped down on them and Colonel Lippman cut loose with those guns before their machine gunners knew what happened."

"We came in so low over the trees, they never saw us coming. On the way out, we drew some small arms fire from deep among the trees, and a carbine round shot the bubble out of my chopper."

Neither Davis nor Lippman was injured when the bubble burst.

The maintenance crews had no trouble believing how low they had flown over the trees. They spent the better part of an hour picking leaves out of the gun mounts on Davis's ship before getting around to slitting up the plastic bubble.

Students Call Off Anti-Draft Drive in U.S.

CHICAGO (AP) — A student group opposing the Viet Nam war says it has called off a proposed nationwide anti-draft campaign out of concern for its image.

Paul Booth, national secretary of the Students for a Democratic Society said in an interview Wednesday night:

"The problem about the anti-draft program is that it might come across to the public that we just don't want to go to Viet Nam, and that's not the whole story."

"Our interest in Viet Nam is merely that it's a major obstacle to conservative social change in America. It puts the whole country in a military mood, makes it more conservative."

Booth said the group's members — it claims 2,500 — were polled on whether to organize a national anti-draft campaign, and replies have been running against the proposal.

He added, however, that some chapters may conduct anti-draft activities in their own localities.

Car Hits Tree, Minneapolis Youth Killed

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — One Minneapolis youth was killed and five were injured Wednesday night as a car went out of control, shot across the street, jumped the curb and hit a tree in south Minneapolis.

Killed was William A. Ditty, 17, identified by police as the driver of the car.

Injured were Julie Pompiere, 17, reported in critical condition in Minneapolis hospital; Jerome Foreman, 17, serious; Greg Gilligan, 16, serious; Kathy Feetham, 17, and Michael Burns, 17, were released after treatment for minor injuries. Foreman is the son of Minneapolis policeman Vincent Foreman, who police said owned the car.

The death raised Minnesota's 1965 traffic toll to 720, compared with 746 through this date last year.

2-Car Crash Kills Five on Texas Highway

FALFURRIAS, Tex. (AP) — A two-car collision killed five persons today and injured three others. Four of the dead and two of the injured were stationed at Kingsville Naval Air Station.

Officers said the cars collided 30 miles south of this town, which is about 65 miles southwest of Corpus Christi. The sailors were driving north, indicating they were en route to their station.

Killed were Mrs. Tennie Gale, 38, Edinburg, Tex.; John Weaver Mays Jr., 22, Navy, of Harlingen, Tex.; Glenn E. Coppage, 20, Navy, Vinita, Okla.; Mark P. Hayes, 20, Navy, Troy, N.Y.; and Darrell W. Moen, 18, Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm Moen of St. Paul, Minn.

THAT'S POLITICS
SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (AP) — A new word has been added to Lazi, the language of Barotseland.

Chief of Barotseland, Sir Mwanawina Lewanika, said the new word, now in daily use, is "Kumakmirana."

It means "To Discuss at Great Length and to Appear to get Nowhere."

Coppers Weak, Rest of Stock Market Slips

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market fell today, soured by sharp setbacks to copper stocks. Trading was fairly active.

Changes among key stocks were largely fractional but the lower tone marked a first clear pattern after three days of scrambled prices.

The government's decision to release 200,000 tons of copper from the stockpile to steady copper prices hit leading copper stocks.

Kennecott, nation's No. 1 copper producer, skidded about 4 points. Anaconda was down more than 3 and Phelps-Dodge more than 2 American smelting lost about a point.

The high fliers continued active and mostly higher, despite the generally dampened tone. Fairchild Camera advanced about 3 and Collins Radio gained more than 2 points.

Brunswick, Wednesday's active leader, was up a fraction. Transition, delayed in opening, dipped fractionally.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was off 1.3 at 354.4. Industrials were down 2.7, rails off .4 and utilities down 2. The Dow-Jones average of 30 industrials at noon dropped 4.74 to 951.83.

Motors were mostly higher. General Motors and Chrysler were up fractions, as was American Motors, despite a $13 million quarter loss and an omitted dividend.

Among aircraft companies, Boeing advanced more than 2 and United fell about 2. American Stock Exchange prices were mostly lower.

U.S. Treasury and Corporate bond prices were mostly unchanged in light trading.

$45,000 Ransom Paid, Tacoma Boy Released

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — A 13-year-old Tacoma boy, son of a wholesale grocery company executive, was kidnapped by two men Wednesday, held for nine hours and released unharmed after payment of $45,000 ransom.
Sheriff Jack Berry disclosed the kidnaping today after Charles Hyde Jr., was back safely with his family.
Berry said the boy was abducted about 7:45 a.m. Wednesday.
The ransom was paid by the father, Charles Hyde Sr., president of the West Coast Grocery Co. here.
The sheriff called a news conference to release details of the kidnaping. He said his entire force had been assigned to the search for the kidnapers with the FBI assisting.
Berry said the boy was kidnaped while waiting for a school bus to take him to Charles Wright Academy, a private school. Two men drove up in a car while the boy was standing at a bus stop near his home.
The man on the passenger side of the car got out, took the boy by the arm and told him they were going to drive him to school. Then the man led the boy into the back seat.
The sheriff said the boy was told to lie down on the floor. Then the second man got in with him and put a blanket over him. They drove around for some time and later put tape over the boy's eyes, the sheriff said.
Berry said that at 10 a.m. the elder Hyde received a telephone call from the kidnapers at his office. He was told to draw $45,000 from the bank in $5, $10, $20 and $100 bills.
The kidnapers put the boy on the telephone to say hello to his father. They told the father to be in a telephone booth in the south end of Tacoma, where they said he would receive further instructions.
Without contacting authorities, the father drew the money from the bank and drove to the telephone booth at 3 p.m. There he got a call from the kidnapers, who told him to drive immediately to an alley behind a supermarket about 30 blocks away.
He was instructed to leave the money on the seat of his car, get out and go to a phone booth in the front of the market to await a further call. He did not

Luci Wears New Ring at Party Dance

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new gold and diamond ring sparkled in Luci Johnson's third finger, left hand, as she danced cheek-to-cheek with boyfriend Pat Nugent at a White House party.
The ring drew new speculation that the President's daughter, 18, is engaged to marry Nugent, 23. But the White House again would make no comment and Luci, herself, couldn't be reached.
Luci, in a strapless white faille evening dress, her hair bouffant, had a gay time at the dinner-dance Wednesday night in honor of Britain's Princess Margaret and Lord Snowdon.
She danced some slow numbers romantically with Nugent and did some fast frugs with other partners during the evening to the blaring beat of Peter Duchin's orchestra in the East Room.

UP A CRICK

MOREHEAD, Ky. (AP) — The data processing machine at Morehead State College ground to a halt recently because one student listed his address as "two miles up Turkey Creek."
Data processors had coded every post office in Kentucky but there was no code for such an address.
receive a call and when he returned the money was gone. He had left it in a black valise on the front seat of the unlocked car.
This was about 4 p.m. at 4:05 p.m. Hyde called the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The FBI called the sheriff's office.
Sheriff's detectives and FBI agents were sent to the home to talk to the father and search efforts were begun immediately, Berry said.
About 7 p.m. the parents received a call from a Tacoma attorney, Rush Stauffer. The boy, who knew the Stauffers, had walked to their home from the Tacoma waterfront. He said the kidnapers had left him out of the car about 5 p.m., taping his hands and leaving him in a vacant building.
The kidnapers told the boy "to stay put," the sheriff said.
After young Hyde managed to free his hands from the tape he went to the nearby Stauffer home. He said the two men had not harmed him.
Tacoma was the scene of two famous kidnapings about 30 years ago.
George Weyerhaeuser Jr., grandson of the founder of the Weyerhaeuser Co., was abducted in 1935 and returned after payment of $200,000 ransom. His kidnapers were caught later.
Charles Maitson, 10, the son of a physician, was kidnaped in 1936 in what is still an unsolved case. His body was found some weeks after the abduction in a shallow grave south of Everett, Wash.

Twin-Cities Bus Drivers Accept New Contract

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Bus drivers have voted to accept a new contract with Twin City Lines, averting a threatened strike in the Twin Cities metropolitan area of more than one million people.
The agreement, approved by a 580-295 vote Wednesday night, calls for a wage increase of 7 cents an hour retroactive to Nov. 1 and 7 cents more next Nov. 1.
It also provides fringe benefits increasing health and welfare payments to employees and cuts from 13 to 12 the number of consecutive hours employees may be required to work.
When the second wage stepup is made, workers will get $3.65 an hour maximum.
Emmett J. Cushing, president and business agent for Amalgamated Transit Union 1005, announced the settlement.
S. A. Carla, executive vice president and general manager of the firm, said it would increase costs by at least $600,000.
There was no indication Twin City Lines would seek a fare hike in the near future.

STOWAWAY MAMA

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — Mrs. Boyd Odell was surprised to discover a stowaway black cat in her car when she drove to the grocery store.
She soon found three reasons why the stray cat was in her car.
A litter of three tiny kittens was snuggled under the front seat.
SNOW FOR 'CHRISTMAS'
CODY, Wyo. (AP) — In midsummer, Dick Wilder planned a "Christmas in September" sale at his drug store in Cody.

The weatherman cooperated. Eight inches of snow fell during an unseasonal late summer storm.

WALLACE

His international views, however, prompted considerable controversy.
In 1948 Wallace ran for president under the newly formed Progressive Party, campaigning for friendlier relations with Russia. Wallace accepted the Communist party's support, but as criticism developed during the campaign, he declared, "I am not a Communist or Socialist or Marxist of any description."
After his unsuccessful presidential campaign, Wallace dropped from public view to become a gentleman farmer on his 115-acre farm at South Salem, N.Y.
There he spent his remaining years privately studying and experimenting with plants—cross-breeding corn for hybrids, for example. He enjoyed gardening but his speciality was raising strawberries.

WALLACE

"If you garden you want to live and see how plants develop the next year." Wallace once said at his farm, complete with barns and windmill overlooking the green hills and blue lakes of northern Westchester County, N.Y.
Wallace also served as secretary of agriculture under Roosevelt and promulgated a controversial plan to cut surpluses by reducing crop acreage and killing young pigs.
With the outbreak of the Korean War, Wallace's view toward Russia cooled, then he became alarmed over Soviet policy. But he saw Communist China as perhaps a greater threat.
In 1962 Wallace wrote:
"Looking ahead—say 20 or 30 years—I'd say we've got to get Russia or China with us; we can't have both these countries with their huge populations against us."
Wallace predicted China might become the Mongols of the 20th Century, threatening first Russia. Then the rest of the world.

New Baseball Image Forms

CHICAGO (AP) — Baseball's new public image began forming today behind the leadership of a new commissioner — a retired three-star Air Force general who delights in being called Pvt. Spike.

He is William D. Eckert, 56, of Washington, D.C., a trim, sharp-visaged man with thinning steel-gray hair and the build of a high school football ballback, 160 pounds, 5 feet, 8½ inches.

His unanimous recommendation Wednesday to the major leagues' 20 club owners ended a six-month search by a screening committee headed by John Fetter of the Detroit Tigers and John Galbreath of the Pittsburgh Pirates. They started originally with about 20 men.

The soft-spoken Eckert, a much-decorated officer who retired from the service four years ago, was a surprise choice to become baseball's fourth commissioner. He follows a line that includes Judge K. M. Landis, who ruled with a mailed fist; A. B. (Happy) Chandler, who was ousted by owners in favor of Ford Frick, retiring at the age of 71 after serving since 1951.

Eckert's first lieutenant will be Lee MacPhail, baseball-wise 49-year-old president of the Baltimore Orioles and son of the stormy Larry MacPhail of years ago.

MacPhail was named to head a so-called cabinet as administrator in the commissioner's office. The new-image baseball government also will have departments encompassing player affairs, public information, television-radio and amateur baseball that includes Little League, American Legion, high school and college levels.

For the time being, at least, headquarters will remain in New York.

Whether directors of each of these branches will be named is yet to be decided, said MacPhail, who signed a three-year contract at $40,000 annually.

Eckert was given a seven-year pact at $65,000.

The new commissioner admits he knows little of the inner workings of baseball and that his first action will be to confer with as many club owners as possible and the presidents of the American and National leagues, Joe Cronin and Warren Giles.

Cronin was mentioned prominently as Frick's successor but eliminated himself Wednesday by accepting another seven-year contract as American League president at a salary increase.

Frick will be Eckert's conferee for the next three months and will aid in officiating at the baseball meetings in Miami next month. A year ago in Phoenix, Frick was successful in getting owners to restore the commissioner's power which had been clipped after the death of Landis.

He urged restoration of autocratic powers in order to broaden public confidence and maintain the honesty and integrity of the game, warning that baseball was in danger of losing its coveted public image.

Eckert, a native of Freeport, Ill., whose only close connection with baseball was playing first base and the outfield for Madison, Ind., High School and on West Point intramural teams, said he was a great admirer of Landis.

"But I don't intend to be a czar and, at the same time, I don't intend to live in an ivory tower," said Eckert, who admitted he knew he was being considered for several weeks.

"Each person operates differently. Landis was a great commissioner and I had the highest regard for him.

Zoilo: 'Everyone MVP'

BOSTON (AP) — Zoilo Versalles, the spectacular shortstop of the Minnesota Twins, was a near unanimous choice today for the 1965 American League Most Valuable Player Award.

Versalles, who sparked the Twins to their first American League pennant, received 19 of the 20 first place ballots cast by a special committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

The other first place vote went to teammate Tony Oliva, who won the AL batting championship for the second year in a row. Oliva finished second in the voting, being picked second on 13 ballots, and the 1964 winner, Brooks Robinson of Baltimore, finished third.

The only other player named on all 20 ballots was relief pitcher Eddie Fisher of Chicago. The knuckle ball artist became the first relief pitcher in the American League ever named on every ballot.

Fisher finished fourth in the voting with 122 points, compared to 275 for Versalles, 174 for Oliva and 150 for Robinson.

Versalles' total was 100 points higher than the runner-up because each first place vote was worth 14 points while second place votes received 9 points and third place votes 8 points, etc.

At Altoona, Wis., where he was appearing with a Minnesota baseball promotion group, Versalles seemed overjoyed at the news of his victory.

"Boy, oh, boy," he exclaimed in surprise. "I cannot believe I got 19 of the 20 first place votes. This is the best thing that can happen to any ball player."

The speedy shortstop said the award came as a surprise to him. "I didn't think about it during the season. I only thought about winning the pennant."

Versalles gave credit to his manager, Sam Mele, and his coaches, "especially Billy Martin."

He also said he was helped by each player on the team. "I think any player could have been named MVP and he'd have deserved it."

Mele, himself voted the American League manager of the year, also was pleased to hear Versalles had won.

The Twins manager, who had a preseason squabble with Versalles and fined him $300 for not hustling in an exhibition game against the New York Mets, said of the award: "That's terrific. He certainly deserved it."

Mele said Versalles "inspired us to a pennant. His play in the field, his work at bat and his leadership led us to the pennant."

He said others contributed, too, "but not as much as Versalles."

Mele verified Versalles' attitude toward the award:

"The few times when I mentioned that he should get the MVP, he said, 'All I want to do is win for this ball club.'"

To help the Twins to their first pennant, Versalles led the major league in runs scored with 126, and he led the American League in total bases with 308. Bating at the top of the order he collected 686 at bats in 160 games, a league high, and finished with a .273 average.

Versalles had 182 hits of which 45 were doubles, 13 were triples and 19 home runs. He knocked in 77 runs and stole 27 bases. His doubles tied Carl Yastrzemski of Boston for the league lead in that department.

LET'S TALK
with Gary Evans SPORTS

FUNNY, ISN'T IT, how far news sometimes travels. Take, for instance, Wednesday when we received a letter from Harold E. Steffen, 803 Jackson St., Falls Church, Va. Says Mr. Steffen:

"Your account in the Winona Daily News of checking out Winona's Legion State championship in 1931 sent me digging through my scrap book. "I found a picture of the team and the account of the game with Milwaukee. Three costly errors lost the final game. "Did you know that Winona beat Coopers-town, N.D., 25-0 in the first game of the regional playoffs? "The box score of the game with Milwaukee shows the following lineup for Winona. And, by the way, the HMRSKI you found is, of course, Lambert Hamerski, your new postmaster."

Walsh
Here is that box score, listed with name, position, runs and hits: Lipinski (3b) 0-1, Gappa (cf) 1-1, Wiecezorek (2b, cf, 1b) 0-1, Klonowski (1b, p) 0-1, Bambenek (p, 2b) 0-2, Kowalewski (lf) 1-1, Happel (rf) 0-0, Kluzik (p) 1-1, Hamerski (rf) 0-0, Glubka (ss) 0-0, Dorsch (c) 0-0.

Quoting again from the letter: "I will let the shades of time hide the identity of those who made the three errors that day. "The late Andy Lipinski was coach of that team and D. W. Lantz was manager. Others on the team, but who did not play in the final game, were: Don Michalowski, Leonard Speck, Don Janikowski and Joe Cierzan."

So there you have it, additional evidence to support Winona's state championship case.

WE KNOW THERE ARE many of you in the city and area who follow closely the fortunes of the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame.

And, of course, since Ara Parseghian has brought those Irish fighting back to national prominence, the interest has increased.

Now Notre Dame is confronted by Michigan State, the nation's No. 1 team. The two powers play Saturday at South Bend, Ind.

Because of the local interest, KWNO will carry the Notre Dame - Michigan State game and then the completion of the Minnesota-Wisconsin contest.

KAGE broadcasts the Gophers also.

NOON MOLINARI'S Winona State eleven made its mark on season statistics released by the NAIA recently.

Davis Usgaard, premier State passer for the last two years, ranked 23rd in total offense with 1,003 yards in 255 plays and also 18th in passing with 102 completions in 191 attempts for 12 touchdowns and 1,283 yards.

Buzz Walsh, in whom it is rumored the Minnesota Vikings are interested, was 20th in receiving with 38 receptions for 673 yards and seven touchdowns.

The Warriors were 24th in the nation in passing offense, racking up 1,331 yards.

Tuesday was nearly a break even night for the Swami, who hit seven of 13 for a .538 percentage.

Now for this week:

WINONA HIGH over Harmony 67-52. "The Hawks will have too many horses."

Clay Claims New Punch For Floyd

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Cassius Clay says he has a secret punch to throw at Floyd Patterson. He calls it the "linger-on."

"It don't knock him out," said the heavyweight champion, "it just makes him dizzy and linger on."

"That is until I finish him off."

So it was Wednesday as Clay and the two-time ex-champion point for their 15-round title match Nov. 22 in the Las Vegas Convention Center before an international audience.

Clay was the Clay of old at his latest press conference. He was bombastic, boastful, joking, chiding his sportswriter critics, but not in the grim Cassius—or if you prefer Muhammad Ali—of just a few days ago.

Patterson remained Patterson, disciplined in his training and intent on winning. He was also aware, but seemingly undisturbed that he is a 3-1 underdog.

Each day the fighters, after their workouts appear on center stage at their respective show-room training sites on the Las Vegas hotel strip, Clay at the Stardust and Patterson across the highway at the Thunderbird.

Billy Is Proud Of Versalles

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—"They're all most valuable." That was the reaction of Minnesota Twins' shortstop Zoilo Versalles today when he was notified he had been named the American League's Most Valuable Player.

"They" are the entire Twins' baseball team, Versalles said, but he reserved a special share of his honor for coach Billy Martin.

And the feeling was mutual. Versalles credited Martin with being the man who most helped him turn in his finest season as a Twin.

"He knows how it is," said Versalles, recalling that Martin, a former infielder, had been Johnny-on-the-spot with a pat on the back or a kindly word when he needed it most.

Martin bubbled as much enthusiasm as if he had won the award himself.

"I feel like a school teacher when one of her children graduates," Martin said.

Versalles, 24, celebrated his award Wednesday night by watching the nightclub act of teammate Jim (Mudcat) Grant at a Hudson, Wis., motel. He had learned of the award earlier in the day from American League officials.

Martin also celebrated. He had been saving a bottle of champagne since the Twins clinched the pennant. To make it a double celebration, Martin's son was a year old Wednesday.

"I'm very proud of Zoilo," Martin said. "He worked hard for it. I never had the ability to win it."

Versalles, the keystone of the Twins' infield in 160 games, said he had not thought about winning the MVP honor "until the last half of the season."

When word of Zoilo's presence and the award leaked out, he was besieged by autograph seekers. One man wrote "the best shortstop in baseball" on a card and asked Versalles to sign it. He did.

Why Defeat Badgers? There Are Reasons

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Minnesota Gophers aren't going to win the Big Ten championship this year, but they've still got a lot of reasons to try to beat the Wisconsin Badgers Saturday in the season's wind-up for both teams.

The most important reason is that the Gophers have a 4-1-1 record this season. Saturday's game makes the difference between a winning and a losing year, and the Gopher seniors on the squad would like to bow out winners.

Secondly, Gopher quarterback John Hankinson has a chance to become the Big Ten's total offense leader this year.

Hankinson is 33 yards behind Michigan State quarterback Steve Juday in Big Ten statistics, 964 to 997. But Juday has played seven conference games and completed his Big Ten season. Hankinson has Saturday to catch up.

Third, the Gophers are well aware that Wisconsin is traditionally one of Minnesota's toughest foes. The Gophers know that they should be heavily favored over a Badger team with a 2-1 record. But they realize that in such an intense rivalry, favoritism means nothing.

"The seniors are familiar with the fact that the odds never run true in a Wisconsin game," Minnesota captain Paul Faust said Wednesday.

"We expect a tough ball game, and we had better be ready."

Past history bears out Faust's expectancies.

In 1964 the Gophers were 14-point favorites over the Badgers. The Badgers had won one conference game and lost five. They beat the Gophers 14-7.

In 1962 Wisconsin cost Minnesota a Big Ten title.

In 1961, Wisconsin beat Minnesota 23-21 and deprived the Gophers of a Big Ten championship.

All of which points to a traditional hard fought Minnesota-Wisconsin game Saturday.

To remind them of what they face, a tackling dummy was dressed in a Wisconsin jersey as the Gophers were to practice for the last time Thursday.

The jersey is traditionally placed over the tackling dummy when the Gophers gather for their last practice of the season.

Two Minnesota players are still doubtful for the game. They are offensive end Kent

Harmony Views Contest as Chance to Experiment

By GARY EVANS
Daily News Sports Editor

Scientist Tom Meulemans and his traveling laboratory will make a stop in Winona Friday night.

That was the word out of the group's home — Harmony, Minn. — Wednesday.

Meulemans, veteran Cardinal basketball coach, is still, and will be Friday, experimenting with his current team.

"We've got nine guys playing a lot right now," said the coach, "and I would guess that picking five out to start is going to be a job."

"We're strictly experimental now — and very green."

You can add to his personnel problems, the fact that the Cardinals have been versed in pressing, man-to-man and zone defenses.

"We'll probably use all of them at some time or other Friday," he assesses frankly.

"It isn't that Meulemans hasn't had adequate time to evaluate his present group. The Cards have run against we were last year.

"Friday's game should be a good chance for us to find out a lot of things against a good club," he said.

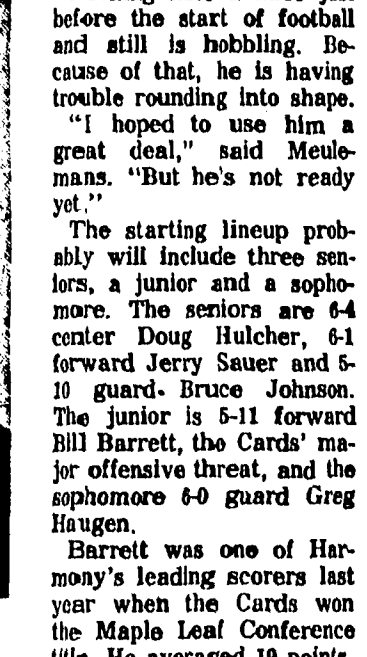

Part of the Cardinal problems surround 6-4 Les Berning, from whom much was expected. But, as they say, the best laid plans of mice and men. . .

Berning hurt a knee just before the start of football and still is hobbling. Because of that, he is having trouble rounding into shape.

"I hoped to use him a great deal," said Meulemans. "But he's not ready yet."

The starting lineup probably will include three seniors, a junior and a sophomore. The seniors are 6-4 center Doug Hulcher, 6-1 forward Jerry Sauer and 5-10 guard Bruce Johnson. The junior is 5-11 forward Bill Barrett, the Cards' major offensive threat, and the sophomore 6-0 guard Greg Haugen.

Barrett was one of Harmony's leading scorers last year when the Cards won the Maple Leaf Conference title. He averaged 19 points.

Rambler Unit Potentially Good, But Nett Sees Problems

By GARY EVANS
Daily News Sports Editor

John Nett, not given to long and eloquent dissertations, Thursday gave a two-word summation of his Cotter basketball team.

"Potentially good."

But behind that lies some problems that will have to be worked out before the Ramblers realize their ambitions.

With five lettermen returning, Nett is in the position to hope the 1965-66 club will fare as well as last year's group that computed a 17-8 record.

He is not, however, letting his imagination run wild.

"Prospects are good," he admits. "But we're going to have a long way to go. There are a couple of real keys and a couple of real problems to be solved."

At this time the most pressing need is for an adequate defense.

"That definitely will be our problem," said Nett, who indicated that the Ramblers would make a thorough study on defensive basketball before the opener at home against Minneapolis De La Salle at the Winona High Gym Nov. 27.

Cotter was left without a practice home this year when St. Stan's gym was turned into a storehouse for materials being used in the construction project at the grade school. Because of this, the Ramblers are drilling in the Cotter phy. ed. building and will divide their pre-January games between Winona High and St. Mary's.

The phy. ed. building features a compact gymnasium not best suited for Cotter's running game.

"If there is any difference, it probably is psychological," said Nett. "Of course, there isn't quite as much room. This will probably effect some of our patterns. And our conditioning might not be quite as good."

Returning lettermen are: Seniors — Chuck Kulas, 5-11 forward; Jim Holmay, 6-0 guard; Bob Allaire, 5-10 guard, and Dave Fellow-ski, 6-5 forward. The lone junior holdover is 6-6 Mike Twomey, a center.

And it is Pellow-ski and Twomey who are the keys.

"If Pellow-ski plays the way he is capable of playing and if Twomey improves only half as much as he did last year, I'd say we could be real tough," assessed Nett.

This, of course, remains to be seen.

Varsity members who return but who didn't letter last year are seniors Pete Meier (6-0 forward), Steve Waltzer (5-8 guard) and Tom Leaf (6-0 forward).

Others drilling are seniors Craig Thornton (5-8) and Mike McAndrew (6-11) and juniors Tom Wenzel (5-7), Marty Wernz

(6-4), Jim Heinlen (6-2), John Leaf (5-10), Greg Schoener (5-10) and Steve Erdmanczyk (6-3).

It is likely that all will stay with the varsity. All, however, won't be in uniform for games.

Nett was asked whether this was the best nucleus he has had to work with in some time?

"Oh," he stated, "I think we've had better groups back. We had a lot of lettermen when (Gene) Schultz, (Rick) Starzecki and that bunch and they were back for two years."

Is Twomey the best big man?

"Potentially he is the best we've had in quite a while," said Nett. "Especially since he is a junior."

Following the opening game with De La Salle, the Ramblers are at St. Paul Hill Dec. 4, at Faribault Bethlehem Academy Dec. 7 and home against St. Felix (at St. Mary's)

Dec. 10.

Nett believes those first four games could give an indication of the relative strength of his club. He does not believe the Ramblers will be playing as tough a schedule. New faces this year are Marshfield, Wis., Columbus, and Owatonna Marian.

He does have an opening for a game Feb. 3, 11 or 19 and asks that anyone interested contact him.

Another highlight on the schedule is the holiday tournament, which this year will be played at St. Mary's. Cotter will meet Regis and Aquinas will play Hill on Dec. 28. The losers meet for consolation and the winners for the championship on the 29th.

While the Ramblers have done little besides conditioning, they were to begin assembling the offense Wednesday in preparation for an inter-squad scrimmage Saturday.

Michigan State's Plan: (Toe)Nail Notre Dame '11'

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — It doesn't sound very glamorous but the year's most glamorous college football game, Michigan State vs. Notre Dame Saturday at South Bend, Ind., may be decided by a toenail.

The toenail belongs to Dick Kenney, Michigan State's bare-foot placekicker from Hawaii.

Everybody knows Kenney boots extra points and field goals with a nude right foot but few are aware of the great pains taken to see that the foot is in perfect shape.

The toenails, particularly the one on the big toe, are very important.

They can't be too long, Kenney says, and they can't be too short. They've got to be just right for the ball to go through the uprights.

"I make a practice of cutting my toenails on Monday," the 6-foot, 207-pound specialist from Aiea, Hawaii, said Wednesday. "That way they grow out just right by game time."

"If the toenail on my big toe is too long, it breaks off and I get a sore. If it's too short, I get a callous."

Kenney says the toe he must watch particularly is his third toe.

"It gets a callous about the third game of the season," he adds.

"I have to sandpaper it every day. A doctor looks at it to see if it's okay."

This year, bare footed, he has kicked 20 of 22 extra points and 11 field goals for 53 points. He also kicks off, bare footed, and punts, with shoe on.

"Coach Daugherty (Duffy Daugherty) decided I should wear a shoe in punting in the Michigan game," Kenney explains. "Give me more traction."

THAT'S JORDAN'S DEFENSIVE FORMULA

'Talk 'Em Out of TDs'

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — The fun-loving, fumble-forcing Green Bay Packer defenders are statistically tops in the National Football League and happy Henry Jordan is one big reason why.

When the 250-pound tackle isn't playing cowboys and indians with the neighborhood children, he's helping anchor a defense that has allowed a league low of 120 points in nine games.

"We talk 'em out of touchdowns," joked Jordan, a popular playmate for youngsters near his Green Bay home.

"I play football and army with them too. It's something I've always enjoyed doing, but it wears you out. They like to run for two hours without stopping. I get tired after about five minutes."

"He's a real personality," said Packer tackle Ron Kostelnik. "He enjoys his work because he considers it fun. He says if you get too serious about it and start thinking only about the things you do wrong, you won't do anything right."

"And he's got all the moves that have ever been invented and then some."

"The defense has got to be relaxed and laughing," said Jordan, a nine-year veteran. "It's the only way you can play."

And laughter can crop up at the most unexpected times. In the heat of action recently, Jordan spotted Kostelnik sprawled on the field. "Koz, what are you doing on the ground?" Jordan asked and laughter followed.

"Sometimes I'll see Koz on the bottom of the pile and we'll look at each other and start laughing," said Jordan, a man who doesn't forget that football is first of all a game.

"When you start thinking it's work, it's time to quit," said Jordan.

Jordan hates to lose and has never played on a losing team. "And I hope I never do," he said. "You get living high on the hog and it's hard to change."

One of the glories of any lineman's life is scoring a touchdown and Jordan scored one last season against Dallas, grabbing a fumble and running about 60 yards.

"My wife watched the film highlights of the game and said to me, 'What have they got it on slow motion for?' I said that isn't slow motion. That's me."

The defense has been carrying Green Bay this season, stopping opponents cold on days the offense hasn't been able to move the ball at all. "Our offense has led this league in I think six of the last seven years. This year they are letting us be the heroes for a change."

Jordan is at his happiest making hard tackles. "I enjoy hitting a guy and I even get a thrill out of getting hit hard myself. I get hit real good and I respect the guy that did it and try to hit back even harder next time."

Biltgen Keeps Hot Hand With 635 Pin Series

Rog Biltgen kept his hot hand going by bashing 635 in the Hal-Rod Retail League Wednesday night. That score paced city keggers.

Biltgen built the series around a 235 middle game, sandwiching that total between a 194 and a 206. But it wasn't quite good enough to get BTF the round championship. Sunbeam Cakes pulled that out by one point.

Vince Suchomel tied Biltgen's 235 and used that to total 574 errorless for Behren's. Sportsman's Tap took team honors of 1,012-2,906.

Walt Williams spiked 611 for Winona Milk Co. in the Red Men's Class "A" League. Don Knapik whipped 222 for Winona Boxcraft and Kalmes Tires tipped 996-2,884.

Dennis Daly clouted 177-213-217-807 for Winona Cleaning in the Westgate Men's League. Will Jochimson's 256-170-174-800 paced Koehler Auto Body to 2,809. Freddy's belted 976.

WINONA AC: Ace — With

Mike Cyert piloting, Schmidt's just missed the top ten with a 1,060 game. Cyert hit 225-599 for the unit that finished with 2,911.

Majorette — Marveen Brang dumped 161-452 for Winona Industries, while Lang's Bar picked up 835-2,417. Barb Tropic converted the 5-8-10.

HAL-ROD LANES: Commercial — Bill Gatzlaff clipped 237-587 for first-round champion Orv's Skelly. Pappy's combed 979-2,845.

Tw-Lite — Grace Brokaw's 184-340 two-game series paced Williams Annex to 514-987.

WESTGATE BOWL: Sunsetters — Mary Hengel's 191-510 pushed Boland Manufacturing to 2,496. Goltz Pharmacy recorded 884. Eleanor Kleist picked up the 6-7-10.

Mixers — Golden Brand razed 2,490 behind 185 from Pat Foster and 499 from Larry Donahue. Skelly Gals ripped 890.

Wilt Scores 46 to Take Second Place

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Come sometime in February Wilt Chamberlain probably will become the all-time career scorer in the National Basketball Association with close to 21,000 points.

The Big Dipper, as the 7-foot-1 former Kansas All-America prefers to be called, became the No. 2 all-time scorer Wednesday night when he tossed in 46 points against the Cincinnati Royals.

There was just one flaw. Wilt's team, the Philadelphia 76ers, lost the game 131-115 as the Royals won their seventh straight and replaced the 76ers as the Eastern Division leaders.

AFL Strikes At NFL for Secret Draft

NEW YORK (AP) — It was the American Football League's turn today to point its finger at the rival National League with charges of a secret draft of college players.

Stung by charges of a clandestine draft which AFL owners claimed was nothing more than an informal discussion, the younger league struck back.

Sonny Werblin, owner of the New York Jets, said the NFL had held a meeting in Chicago last week where 13 players were named as prime targets during the signing period.

"There were more than 100 NFL scouts in Chicago last week and they decided on 13 players that they wanted to have in their teams — regardless of which teams got them," Werblin charged.

There was just one flaw. Wilt's team, the Philadelphia 76ers, lost the game 131-115 as the Royals won their seventh straight and replaced the 76ers as the Eastern Division leaders.

Badgers Find 'Rebound' Part Of Football

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The Wisconsin football Badgers, who play Minnesota Saturday have every right to feel that the term "rebound" belongs to basketball.

Minnesota will be the fifth consecutive conference opponent that the Badgers have caught on the rebound from a losing effort.

Minnesota, Illinois, Purdue, Michigan and Ohio State all lost ball games before they met Wisconsin, and Wisconsin lost to the last four of those teams.

Part of the Badgers' poor showing over the four-game stretch is due to their impotent running attack. Wisconsin has averaged 1.7 yards rushing from scrimmage this season.

But the Badgers will bring a potent passing attack into Saturday's game.

Quarterback Chuck Burt, who does most of the team's throwing, has connected on 105 of 208 passes for 984 yards and four touchdowns. Halfback Dennis Lager has caught 32 passes for 314 yards and end Louis Jung has made 29 receptions for 282 yards and two touchdowns.

Then too, the Badgers have momentum on their side. They upset the Gophers 14-7 last year and Coach Mill Bruhn's teams have beaten Minnesota in six of the nine years that he has been at Wisconsin.

Bruhn is perhaps even more anxious than his players to win Saturday's game, which is a traditional season's end rivalry between the schools.

Wisconsin's 2-6-1 record this year has led to pressure for his dismissal, and Bye Bye Bruhn signs have begun to appear on the Wisconsin campus.

Five winners PAWTUCKET, R.I. (AP) — Veteran jockey Darrell Madden rode five winners at Narragansett Park Wednesday, the second time in a week he has turned the trick.

partner, Tom Holven, a sophomore, is a shade smaller. Even counting the prospects, only one man, Orin Knutson, touches 72 inches. After that come Lanny Moen and Nick Misch at 5-11 and Al Frass and Leland Tranberg at 5-10.

THE Norsemen will demand a shot at the title, but the balance hinges on attitude and speed. Tom Mattisoff leads the veteran corps as the only senior. He inches, just past the six-foot mark at 6-1. Bruce Austerud and John Everson, both juniors, come up only 5-11 and 5-10 respectively. Keith Johnson, fledgling letterman, is 5-11. Against Central, Whitehall will have its problems on the boards with that front line, but Coach Ken Stelplflug will attempt to "fast break" his squad out of the predicament.

The Beavers of Augusta are counting on a quick start to remedy their 3-11 record composed during the '63-'64 season. Dick Osborn, Tom Clark, Ron Stanek, and Chuck Reineke head the list of regulars and all are seniors. The drawback here is — as at other schools — height. Tom is 6-0, but the remaining trio drop one and two marks below that. From Tom Anderson, Jim Feldman, and Fred Hoyno will come the fifth member of the front-line five, but here again 5-11, 5-7 and 5-8 won't add to the rebounding potential. Bob Johnson, head coach, has his "fingers crossed" hoping that a fast start will instill the needed confidence in his boys.

IMPROVEMENT on a 6-17 record is the aim of Osseo Coach Harold Mulhern, who has ten returning lettermen. Lettermen are: Seniors — 6-0 guard Tim Brotzman, 6-0 forward Jim Huncher, 6-2 forward Darrel Hanson, 6-2 forward Bob Lien, 6-0 center Mike Foss and 6-3 center Lyle Sell. Juniors — Dave and Steve Nelson, identical twins and 5-8 guards, Ken Jacobsen, 5-11 forward and Jerry McVallie, 6-0 center.

At Independence, new coach Russ Knutson has seven returning lettermen. They are: Seniors — 5-6 forward Bob Edmondson, 5-10 forward Frank Hotchkiss, 5-8 guard Gary Smieja, 5-10 forward Gary Szymiec, 5-7 guard Keith Anderson and 5-8 center Bill Kampa. The lone junior is 5-9 guard Mark Marsolek.

Other help could come from top prospects Dennis Kern (6-2), Jim Bautch (5-8), Bill Baecker (5-11), Jack Baecker (5-8), Lonnie Lee (5-8), Mick Kulig (6-0) and Bill Skroch (6-0).

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS ST. PAUL—Athletic directors and coaches of the Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference have asked conference faculty members to delay a decision to abolish spring football practice.

The directors and coaches, meeting here Wednesday, passed a resolution asking the faculty members not to abandon spring football until 1947, or at least until the matter can be discussed.

NEW YORK — The Michigan State at Notre Dame football game Saturday took on added stature today with the release of the weekly major college team defense statistics by the NCAA National Collegiate Athletic Bureau. It pits the team, Michigan State, which leads in rushing defense, against the team that has scored the most in major competition.

The Big Ten champions from East Lansing, Mich., have yielded only 52 yards rushing per game or 1.52 yards per play on 307 enemy rushes. This compares to Notre Dame's rushing gains of 255.3 yards per game.

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — Jack French Kemp is having "my best year," which greatly enhances the Buffalo Bills' chances to repeat as champions of the American Football League.

Kemp said last week's Buffalo-Oakland game was a must win for the Bills. The Bills quarterback has had better statistical days than his 11-for-31 passing performance, but the Bills won 17-14.

"I was about as pleased over that game as I've ever been in my career," said Kemp. The Associated Press took note and made Kemp its AFL Offensive Player of the Week.

NEW YORK — Johnny Robinson, a Kansas City running back who found happiness and success as a safety man, is The Associated Press choice as Defensive Player of the Week in the American Football League.

NEW YORK (AP) — If you were starting a hockey club and could choose between having Bobby Hull or Stan Mikita as your first player, who would you pick? Billy Reay, who has the great good fortune of having both of them playing for his Chicago Black Hawks, grinned at the question. "I wouldn't choose between them," said Reay. "I like it just the way it is with both of them on my side."

The two superstars picked the New York Rangers to pieces Wednesday night, guiding the Hawks to a 5-3 victory and moving Chicago back into a first place tie with Montreal in the only National Hockey League game played. Hull scored his 13th and 14th goals of the season and Mikita also notched two goals and assisted on two others. The four-point spurge moved the scrappy scoring champion into third place in the NHL scoring race with 17 points, three back of Hull and one behind Montreal's Bobby Rousseau.

Lindsay Opposes Transit Strike NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor-elect John V. Lindsay, emphasizing that a New York City transit strike cannot be permitted, has called for a complete overhaul of the city's labor bargaining procedures. A possible solution, he said, might lie in the city's universities. "Professors with tenure and no ax to grind would be a better form of mediation," he said. The Transport Workers Union, AFL-CIO, has threatened to call a strike of 33,000 subway and bus workers when its contract expires Dec. 31.

SUVA, Fiji (AP) — Millions of sea worms rose to the surface off islands in the Fiji group this week. One observer reported they were so thick in some places that they could almost be walked on. The worms, called balolo by the Fijians, rise once a year — usually when the sun and moon are in certain positions — to breed.

Will Rankings Be Changed?

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS North Dakota State has a perfect regular season record, a bowl berth and the No. 1 ranking among the nation's small-college football teams.

No one can take the record or bowl berth away from the Blsons, but the ranking could change since the final Associated Press poll will not be taken until after this weekend's games.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parenthesis, season records and points on a 10-9-8 etc.
