'Roving Strikes' Against Reds Will Be Stepped Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. forces probably will use intensified "roving strikes" by helicopter-borne fighting men against a heavier inflow of Communist North Vietnamese troops. Barring a major change in national policy, it is considered highly unlikely that the United States will send troops into Laos to form a fence to cut off the movement of North Vietnamese regulars into beleaguered South Viet Nam. Also, Cambodia's professed neutrality will be respected, even though U.S. officials believe Communist troops have used that country as a sanctuary. This picture emerged from interviews with top sources familiar with the planning in the growing war in Viet Nam. There is a body of opinion in the military which favors the idea of sending U.S. troops into Laos and thus to try to sever the infiltration lines over which a growing number of North Vietnamese regulars are believed moving south. As one source put it, "It's better to put a bucket under the faucet than to try to mop up the floor." Within the present policy, sources said, the United States is basically fighting a strategic defensive in its efforts to save South Viet Nam from being overrun by the Communists. The best way to do this, experts said, is to take the tactical offensive — "to find the Communists and cut them to pieces." This is a course of action which U.S. ground combat forces have been following for months and which apparently will be amplified. Officials cite the recent bloody battle in the Ia Drang Valley as an example of what could be expected in the future. In that running fight, troopers of the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division and their South Vietnamese allies killed nearly 2,300 of the enemy. U.S. losses totaled less than 10 per cent of the Communist dead. There is every indication that the section of the infiltration network extending from North Viet Nam through Laos is in for some heavy aerial pounding. Information available here suggests that the Communists have made progressive improvements over the past year in their ability to move both northward and southward through Laos. One informant said there is "a significant amount of evidence that the roads have been

Reserve Board Action Draws Congressional Ire

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board's order boosting interest rates has drawn new congressional criticism after a meeting between President Johnson and board Chairman William McChesney Martin Jr. produced no change in their opposing stands on the increase. Some Democrats who attacked the board's Sunday decision, which raised interest rates to the highest level in 35 years, suggested the possibility of curbing the board's independent status. But indications were that critics would vent their wrath against Martin in congressional hearings next month and subsidize temporarily to see what happens with the economy before proceeding further. The board looks upon the increase as an anti-inflation move. The administration says higher rates may put a damper on the economy. "He didn't address himself to changing my mind and I didn't address myself to changing his," Johnson told a news conference after his two-hour meeting at his Texas ranch with Martin and other economic advisers. Martin said that while he was optimistic about the future of the economy, he looks on the threat of inflation as "a very real one." He said the board had moved to combat inflationary pressures. "This is a matter of judgment," the Federal Reserve Board chief said, adding that the move "was not intended in any way to defy the President or the administration. The press ought not to cast me in that role," he said. And Johnson commented to reporters: "It's your job to provoke fights and my job to prevent them." Johnson also said that "both of our positions have been cleared, fairly and accurately stated" and that he expected to continue to meet regularly with Martin. Specifically, the Federal Reserve Board authorized an increase from 4 to 4.5 per cent in the discount rate on interest charge by regional Federal Reserve banks on loans to member commercial banks, and an increase in the maximum interest banks may pay on specified time deposits of more than 30 days from 4.5 per cent to an all-time peak of 5.5 per cent. The administration had opposed the increases, which are expected to have the general effect of eventually boosting borrowing costs throughout the economy — taking in such things as homes, cars and other goods bought on the installment plan. A number of Democratic congressmen said they felt the Federal Reserve Board was trying to defy both Johnson and Congress. Sen. Russell B. Long, the Louisiana Democrat who becomes chairman of the Senate Finance Committee when Congress meets next month, said the committee should study and act on the rate boost.

More Trouble Seen Unless Los Angeles Situation Improves

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California's governor says he'll try to implement his riot commission's report, which suggests possible violence worse than last August's in Los Angeles if Negroes' "explosive" conditions aren't improved. What's more, Gov. Edmund G. Brown said as he accepted the massive, 101-page study, he'll call the commission back in six months so it can check progress. But considerable unfavorable reaction also greeted the eight civic leaders' report Monday on the deadly, destructive six days in a 46½-square-mile area including shattered Watts. "Totally inadequate," said a labor union official. "Deeply disappointed," said a civil rights leader. Tucked into the graphic, 30,000-word report, 100 days in the making at a cost of $250,000, was this paragraph: "So serious and so explosive is the situation that, unless it is checked, the August riots may seem by comparison to be only a curtain-raiser for what could blow up one day in the future." The commission proposed "expensive and burdensome" programs in job development, education and law enforcement to prevent a recurrence of the fire-bombing, gunfire and looting that left: Thirty-four persons dead, 1,032 injured, 3,952 arrested, property loss over $40 million, more than 600 buildings damaged, more than 200 of them destroyed. At the height of the Aug. 11-17 violence, the commission said, perhaps 10,000 Negroes took to the streets in marauding bands. "They looted stores, set fires, beat up white passersby whom they hauled from stopped cars, many of which were turned upside down and burned, exchanged shots with law enforcement officers and stoned and shot at firemen," the report said. Gov. Brown asked his commissioners — educators and community leaders, including a housewife, a Negro judge and a Negro pastor — to study basic causes of the violence and suggest how best to keep it from happening again. Chairman John McCone, former chief of the Atomic Energy Commission and the Central Intelligence Agency, handed the report, "Violence in the City — An End or a Beginning?" to Brown Monday.

2 Law Suits Expected on School Buses

ST. CLOUD, Minn. (AP) — Two lawsuits challenging the constitutionality of Minnesota's new law permitting the transportation of parochial school pupils in public school buses are expected to come before Stearns County District Court in January. One suit was brought by Ted K. Cornwell, a Lutheran, and Nick Bell, a Catholic, both of Cold Spring, against the Cold Spring-St. Nicholas school district and three school board members, Ignatius Lutgen, Jerome Kollmann and Victor Wilenbring. The other test suit was brought by William Schulz, 59, and Gustav Schulz, 65, both Cold Spring farmers, against the same school district and the same school board members. The two suits may be tried jointly, but the court has not ruled on this. State Sen. Gordon Rosenmeier Little Falls, is representing the school district, while another state senator, Robert Dunlap of Rochester, and Henry W. Haverstock Jr., Minneapolis, are representing the plaintiffs in the two suits. The test suits, anticipated by the 1965 Legislature when it passed the law, will be heard by a district court judge without a jury. The suits are certain to be appealed to the State Supreme Court to get a final ruling on constitutionality. Any one of four 7th Judicial District judges may hear the case, but that will not be determined until the January term opens. They are E. J. Ruegger, St. Cloud; Charles W. Kennedy, Wadena; Chester G. Rosenberg, Fergus Falls, and Norman H. Nelson, Moorhead. Both written and oral arguments are expected to be submitted.

24 YEARS AGO TODAY

Remember Pearl Harbor

PEARL HARBOR (AP) — Just before 8 o'clock on a sunny Sunday morning 24 years ago today, an aircraft skimmed low over Pearl Harbor. A 23-year-old ensign aboard the USS Oklahoma, one of eight battleships moored in the harbor that day, saw it. The young officer from Bantava, N.Y. — just 10 months out of the Naval Academy — had just gone on watch "topside." He gave the plane only a passing glance as it zoomed overhead. Low-flying planes were commonplace. Then hell broke loose. Today Capt. Sidney Sherwin was to visit the memorial straddling the sunken bulk of the battleship Arizona and pay tribute to those of his comrades who lost their lives on Dec. 7, 1941. Sherwin, 47, now holds a top job at Pearl Harbor Naval Shipyard and lives in Honolulu with his wife, the former Jane Blewitt of Newport News, Va., and their three children. He lost 10 classmates in the 1941 attack — three on the Oklahoma and seven on the Arizona. More than 1,100 U.S. Navy men remain entombed in the sunken Arizona. Another 930 were killed on other ships, 1,700 were injured, and eight battleships were sunk or disabled. One of those which capsized was Sherwin's ship, the Oklahoma. Some 400 members of the crew were killed. Sherwin, recalling the morning's events, said the plane he spotted came in so low "I could see the oil stain on the engine, and the pilot looking out over the side." But he said he didn't see the "meatball" — the Japanese

CARRIER IN VIET NAM WATERS HIT BY FIRE . . . The U.S. aircraft carrier Kitty Hawk, had a fire break out in a machinery room Monday during a refueling operation from a tanker in waters off Viet Nam. Two sailors were killed and 48 sailors and a civilian were injured before fire was brought under control after about three hours. The 76,700-ton carrier remained on station and after a short time resumed launching planes for strikes against North Viet Nam. (AP Photofax)

Series of Fires Break Out on U.S. Carrier

MANILA (AP) — A series of fires broke out on the U.S. aircraft carrier Kitty Hawk in the South China Sea Monday, but the 76,700-ton ship continued to launch planes for strikes against Communist North Viet Nam after only a brief interruption. Two sailors died of smoke inhalation and 28 others and a civilian were overcome as heavy black smoke poured through the carrier's working and living spaces below decks, the Navy said. Nine of the injured returned to duty almost immediately, and the rest were being treated aboard the ship. Hank Curth, a newsman for the National Broadcasting Co. who was aboard the Kitty Hawk, said fire broke out in a machinery room next to an ammunition magazine while the ship was refueling from a tanker alongside.

Minnesotan Dead On Kitty Hawk

BLUE EARTH, Minn. (AP) — Apprentice Seaman Billy Hooper, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hooper of Blue Earth, was one of two sailors who died of smoke inhalation Monday when fire broke out aboard the aircraft carrier Kitty Hawk off Viet Nam. Hooper's parents were informed by the Defense Department of his death. His mother said she was informed he was on duty in the carrier's engine room when the fire broke out. Billy Hooper was a 1961 graduate of the Blue Earth High School and had been in the navy about 3½ years.

McNamara, Rusk Meet With LBJ on Viet Plan

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson moves closer today to Viet Nam policy decisions he has said will become known next month. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Secretary of State Dean Rusk were called to the LBJ Ranch. Johnson announced his conference with McNamara, Rusk and national security aide McGeorge Bundy at an impromptu ranch news conference Monday. "We will discuss defense needs rather fully," Johnson said. The President emphasized that no big decisions have yet been made in the wake of McNamara's inspection trip to Saigon last week. He did not say when the decisions would be made. However, in a statement Sunday taking issue with a Federal Reserve Board move to boost interest rates, Johnson said he wished the board had waited until January "when the nature and impact of the administration's budgetary and Viet Nam decisions are known." Johnson did tell reporters that "until we do have peace, we are going to continue to help the people of South Viet Nam resist aggression, and we are going to supply whatever men will be needed in that effort."

Gemini Whirls Through Space

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Calm, confident and enjoying celestial concerts, Gemini 7 astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell Jr. hurtled in a ward in their marathon weightless whirl today as space officials considered whether to launch Gemini 6 in pursuit a day early. The Gemini 6 astronauts, Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Air Force Maj. Thomas P. Stafford, are scheduled to blast off Monday to track down and rendezvous with Gemini 7. The space agency said preparations were going so well at Cape Kennedy that a Sunday firing might be possible. A decision is expected by Wednesday. A key will be whether a simulated flight scheduled to start Wednesday midnight can be advanced to midnight tonight. Gemini 7 entered its 41st orbit at 6:23 a.m. (EST). Gemini flight director Christopher C. Kraft Jr. said the odds of going on Sunday are about 50-50 and added: "We'll have to continue scrambling if we're going to do it." "If we can be ready on the eighth day, I'd prefer to go then," Kraft said. "Every extra day you wait there is more of a chance of something going wrong."

Gemini mission director William Schneider was less optimistic. "I think," he said, "the odds are more like 50-50 for a Monday launching and less than that for Sunday."

Soviets Raise Defense Budget By 5 Percent

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union announced a 5 per cent increase in its defense budget today because of what the finance minister called "conditions of international danger." Finance Minister Vasily Garbuzov told the Supreme Soviet (parliament) that 13.4-billion rubles will be spent on defense in 1966. That is more than $14.8 billion at the official exchange rate and 600-million rubles ($866 million) more than the announced figure for 1965. Many Western experts consider that the Soviet defense budget does not give an accurate picture of Soviet military spending since it does not cover all of the items normally included in the defense budgets of Western countries.

gemini mission director William Schneider was less optimistic. "I think," he said, "the odds are more like 50-50 for a Monday launching and less than that for Sunday."

Rising Sun emblem — on the side "and I doubt whether it would have meant much at the time if I had." Then the bombs began going off. Sherwin said there was a lot of "milling around" but someone quickly got on the bullhorn to sound general quarters. "We headed forward to our battle stations and got into officers' quarters," Sherwin recalled. "I felt the first explosion, then there were a number of others. We went up a ladder through an escape hatch." Sherwin said that as he reached topside, the battleship began to roll slowly over on its side and settle in the mud. He said he neatly stacked his watch, wallet, shoes, and part of his uniform on the capsized vessel, then jumped into the oily water with two sailors.

improved and that the network of roads and trails has been extended. A key factor in weighing the impact of increased Communist infiltration is an evaluation of the capability of the Communists to sustain their forces. This is still an imponderable, U.S. sources said. U.S. authorities here estimate the North Vietnamese have about 30 battalions in South Viet Nam. Assuming they double their forces, the sources said, it is estimated it would take about 90 tons of supplies a day to maintain a force of this size. North Vietnamese battalions total about 400 or 500 men each. At this level 60 battalions would total some 30,000 men. In the light of this, U.S. authorities consider of vital importance roving strikes into areas where the Communists have built up arms and food caches. If the infiltration routes through Laos come under heavy air attack, the North Vietnamese and their Viet Cong allies would have to fall back on these stored-up stocks. Destroy these stocks, and the enemy has been dealt a serious blow, officials said. In the same context, authorities rate as of primary importance the protection of the rice crop in South Viet Nam by U.S. and South Vietnamese forces. This is intended to keep an essential food source from the Communist enemy. The 1st Cavalry, a special air mobile outfit, has 428 helicopters to lift its troopers. The Army's 1st Infantry Division, though not called air mobile, has 97 helicopters. Chopper companies are available to other U.S. ground combat forces. The expanded U.S. buildup, officials said, probably will include additional combat elements. But they said that there still is a need for support troops to round out the U.S. force. American servicemen in Viet Nam now total about 165,700, and there is speculation that the buildup will reach 300,000 and maybe even more.

Blockade of Haiphong Asked By Rep. Laird

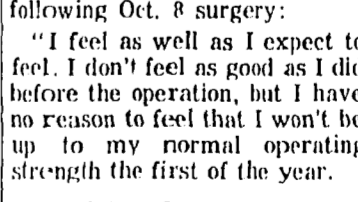

WISCONSIN RAPIDS, Wis. (AP) — Rep. Melvin Laird, R-Wis., said Monday that if the United States imposed a "Kennedy type quarantine" on the North Viet Nam port of Haiphong negotiations to end the war in Viet Nam probably would start within six months. If such a quarantine is not imposed, he said in an interview, the Viet Nam war could go on for five to ten years.

City Finally Pays Bill for Flood Bags

The City Council voted unanimously Monday night to clear up one of its largest and most disputed flood emergency bills, that of the Sam Miller Bag Co., Minneapolis.

Payment of the Miller company's original bill for $38,353 was held up by the city because the price was considered excessive. The Miller company charged 17 cents apiece for its bags, compared with the 13 cents paid to other suppliers.

The council also argued that the Miller company had employed some deception in securing the order by telephone, without identifying itself to civil defense officials or quoting a price in advance. In the heat of last spring's flood emergency the order was taken without officials having a chance to examine the details, the city had contended.

The council authorized a payment of $30,691.50 Sept. 27. The company then reduced its claim for the $7,661.50 balance by $1,500 and said it would waive interest for the overdue payments. This left a balance of $6,161.50.

By motion the council voted to pay the $6,161.50.

Funds for the payment will have to be borrowed from the general fund and placed in the 1965 Emergency Flood Control Fund, advised John Carter, city recorder. The emergency fund, created by funds supplied by the federal Office of Emergency Planning, is temporarily depleted, Carter said. A second supplementary application for OEP funds is expected to be made soon.

Two Appointed to City Planning Commission

Two new members of the City Planning Commission were appointed Monday night by Mayor R. K. Ellings to fill vacancies created by resignations. The appointments were ratified by unanimous vote of the City Council.

New commissioners are Howard Keller, 358 Collegeview, and Donald W. Gray, 785 Clark's Lane.

Keller replaces Robert Johnson, 208 W. Wabasha, whose term expires in 1967. Gray will replace Philip Baumann, Glen Mary, whose resignation has been written and received but not yet acted upon.

Also received was the resignation of James Klein, commission secretary, who will leave the city. Klein's resignation is effective Dec. 31. Mayor Ellings said he will make the appointment in the next few weeks.

GRAY, who is manager of H. Choate & Co., came to Winona from La Crosse in January 1964. He was born in Baldwin, Mich., attended the University of Wisconsin and graduated from Rider College, Trenton, N.J., with a degree in business administration.

His 30-year background in retailing includes service with R. H. Macy & Co., New York City, the Doerflinger Co., La Crosse, and Montgomery Ward & Co. He was in Ward stores in Nebraska, Minnesota, Michigan, Oklahoma, North and South Dakota, Kansas and New Mexico.

Gray and his wife have two married daughters. He is a member of the Congregational Church, Masonic lodge, Consistory and Shrine.

KELLER is a native of Askov, Minn., and was graduated from the University of Minnesota with a degree in architectural construction. He served with the Army Air Corps in 1944 and 1945 and came to Winona after being discharged from the service.

He has been in construction since coming here and started his own concern, Howard L. Keller Contracting Co., in 1963. His wife is the former Alice Stewart.

The Kellers have one son, 9, and three daughters, 8, 4 and 3.

He is a member of Central Lutheran Church, Winona Shrine Club, AF&AM Lodge 18, the Winona Contracting Construction Employers Association, YMCA, the Carpenter Apprenticeship Committee and the city's Architectural Review Board.

Watkins to Hold 1st Open House

A new first for the 97-year-old Watkins Products, Inc., here will start at 8 a.m. Friday when the firm's doors will open for a public tour of the plant.

It will mark the first public open house ever held by the firm. In 1964, more than 1,000 employees, relatives and friends toured the building during an employe open house.

Starting at 8 a.m. and continuing through 6 p.m., people will be able to view the executive offices, data processing equipment and the block-long business office.

Also included in the tour will be stops at the plant's production lines where people will see manufacturing of tablets and High Gear cologne and after shave lotion. They also will see the vanilla bottling operation and the gourmet and aerosol production lines.

At the plant on East Sanborn Street, tourists will see the manufacturing of Min-Vite, a livestock feed supplement and a bulk feed handling system. Transportation will be furnished to the mineral plant.

There will be free gifts to all people on the tours. Attendance prizes will be awarded.

Several musical groups will provide entertainment during the day.

A special invitation has been extended to retired employes of the firm.

propose and the improvements it may suggest in city bookkeeping are used widely and represent sound accounting practice, said Ald. Sawyer.

The council also formally approved the purchasing committee recommendation that it purchase a Burroughs accounting machine for $7,792.40. Bids were opened three weeks ago and held over for study. The Burroughs bid was lowest of the three.

Firm to Make Bookkeeping Suggestions

A firm of certified public accountants will make recommendations for changes in city bookkeeping methods at an informal conference with the City Council next Monday at 4 p.m.

Aldermen Monday night approved a suggestion made by Ald. Neil Sawyer that the meeting include as many council members as possible as well as city recorder and treasurer, possibly including members of the school district administration.

In approving the idea, the council held over a proposal to ask help of the state public examiner's department in changing city accounts to conform with state systems. The changeover was to be made in connection with installation of new mechanical bookkeeping and accounting methods early next year.

Ald. Sawyer said the private firm might be able to offer more extensive help in the highly complicated conversion than would the public examiner. The methods the firm will

Fee System For County Considered

The Minnesota Legislature stole some thunder from the Winona County Board of Commissioners during the 1965 legislative session, and the board was only too happy to admit the fact at its opening sessions Monday afternoon.

Early last session the board submitted a bill to the legislature calling for abandonment of the fee system for salaries of five county officers — auditor, treasurer, sheriff, register of deeds and clerk of court — and replacing it with a minimum salary of $7,500 per year for each official.

Later in its session the legislature went the board one better in abolishing the fee system for the entire state; it made the minimum salary $8,000.

The law requires that at the January meeting in which the county elections are to be held, the board shall pass a resolution stating the minimum wage to be paid; however, it must be at least $8,000.

A resolution will be drafted for the January meeting.

IN OTHER action Monday afternoon, the board:

- Approved an on-and-off sale beer license renewal for Leonard A. Morpheu, Garvin Brook Tavern and Cafe.
- Accepted the resignations of Willard Leumann, R. J. Ritter and Oscar Barum from the Winona County Sheriff's Civil Service Commission.

In the letter of resignation, the committee said they "believe it would be beneficial if the Winona County Board would authorize the hiring of a consultant, specializing in criminology and police administration, to bring about an efficient reorganization of the sheriff's department."

The Civil Service Commission committee was appointed about a year ago to examine and determine the operating procedures and structure of the county sheriff's department. Committee members are allowed mileage and other expenses, but there is no salary or per diem.

General dissatisfaction concerning the amount of work and absence of any payment above expenses resulted in the resignations, the county board believes.

County board members said the job is mainly administrative, and once all rules and regulations have been formulated, little additional time is necessary.

Council Wants Planners Included on School Site

By votes on two motions the City Council Monday night asked the Board of Education to consult the City Planning Commission before settling on a definite location for the planned vocational-technical school.

Once thought to be virtually decided, the matter was reopened as the council read a letter from the Board of Education advising it of board plans to purchase land near Siebrecht greenhouses, on the city's east side.

THREE weeks ago the council voted out a downtown site between 3rd and 5th streets in a 5-3 ballot. The Board of Education moved the same evening to acquire the Siebrecht site, which it believed to be the best alternative choice.

Council President Harold Briesath opened discussion Monday by remarking he thought the board should consult the planning commission. The commission was consulted on high school locations, he said, but had not been asked to weigh the merits of potential vocational school sites, except for the downtown area. The commission felt it was ignored, he added.

Ald. James Stoltman objected to the referral "at this time." Under ordinary circumstances, he protested, it should be done but the hour is now late for "bouncing around" the idea any further.

Ald. David Johnston said the council had asked for comparative facts and figures, including cost estimates, on other sites but the board had acted without supplying these.

WHILE HE did not dispute the choice of area, said Ald. Barry Nelson, he was concerned with positioning of the proposed school on the somewhat elongated parcel of land. The property extends from Old Highway 61 to the right of way of the new 61, he noted. If the school were on the south end, the northern part would be surplus and would, according to some conjectures, be the side of a shopping center, said Nelson. Such a center would deal a death blow to Winona's downtown business district, warned Nelson.

On the other hand, he continued, if the school were placed near the new highway, it would be large enough to rule out any such center.

Initial board plans would place the building near the south end, said Briesath, since that was higher ground. Flood protection must be provided for the entire area in any case, replied Nelson, and in an emergency this could be done in 20 hours.

Ald. Don Klage said he also believes not enough study had been given to the board's selection. The board made its decision the same night as the downtown location was defeated, he said, adding "This is a big thing; we shouldn't make a hasty decision."

Stoltman again voiced his objection to the referral "under these circumstances."

Ald. Henry Parks moved that the matter be turned over to the Planning Commission for further study, Ald. Johnson seconded.

Confronted by an obvious majority, Ald. Stoltman then asked whether the council intended to abide by the commission's recommendations.

Not necessarily, responded two or three other members, including Ald. Neil Sawyer who observed that "it depends on the reasons they give."

In the subsequent vote, Stoltman was the lone dissenter.

The subject did not stay buried, however. After some intervening business, Ald. Jerry Borzyskowski said he would like to reconsider the question, if it were not our of order. No attempt was made to object, so he moved that the council "reconsider referring the site question to the planning commission." His motion was seconded by Ald. Barry Nelson.

Ald. Stoltman asked whether he wished another vote and Ald. Borzyskowski said yes. The board has informed the council its decision was made, said Borzyskowski.

The board may want a council vote on the east side site, put in Ald. David Johnston. However, if this too were turned by the council and an alternative were found to be even less practical, it should not preclude returning to the Siebrecht area, he said.

Ald. Briesath said figures quoted by the board on the Siebrecht site development were "a little rough." More accurate estimates should be made, he said, and the theory of supporting plings should be closely examined in the light of experience gained at Community Memorial Hospital.

Asked to name alternatives, Briesath gave three: Westfield Golf Course, the Knopp farm west of St. Mary's College and Westfield.

If Westfield were chosen, he said, the city would be required to buy another golf course under terms of the Lalsch deed by which it uses the land. It also is a well field, he said, and no building is permitted within 300 feet of the wells.

MAYOR R. K. ELLINGS said the city will have to live with its decision for many years and should therefore avoid haste.

Planning Commission feelings may have been hurt, said Ald. Stoltman, but the Board of Education had been elected by the people to make such decisions and therefore should handle them. (The Planning Commission is an appointed advisory body.) He does not believe the board rushed into its decision, he said.

Ald. Borzyskowski said Westfield could be an expensive choice because of the new $90,000 clubhouse just finished.

The vote on Borzyskowski's motion to reconsider was 3 for, 6 against. Opposed were Ald. Briesath, Johnston, Thiwees, Klage, Sawyer and Parks.

The city Planning Commission, to which two new members were appointed Monday, will hold a regular meeting Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall.

Council Told to Spend More to Get More Aid

"Winona County is losing state probation reimbursement money because it isn't spending enough on probation costs," Heinen said he understood that the only requirements is that the county be paying at or above the $487 minimum before Dec. 31.

AFTER clearing this point, subsequent discussion centered around interpretation of "full-time" in the letter. Heinen said the state considered him a full-time employe because he puts in more than 40 hours a week in the probation office.

Persons in comparable positions with similar experience receive $8,000 to $9,000 per year, Heinen said; he also referred 44 juvenile cases last month, which is not part of the job contract and for which he is not paid.

"Get a probation officer full-time if we need him, give him a raise if needed, but make him quit outside jobs and work only on probation cases," declared Commissioner James Papefus.

A RECENT ruling by the State Department of Corrections provides that the state will reimburse 50 percent of all probation costs in counties with less than 200,000 population (Winona County has 43,000) if a full-time probation officer is receiving $487 or more per month salary at any time before Dec. 31, 1965. It can receive 50 percent reimbursement back to July 1, 1965.

Winona County is paying $475 per month. It is not enough to enable anyone to make a full-time job of it, and is $12 short of the state minimum, Heinen pointed out. He also teaches six hours a week.

Winona County spent slightly more than $7,000 in total probation costs last year. Under the present allotment system of 10 cents per capita in county population, Winona County is receiving $4,300 from the state department of Corrections each year. However, under the new system, based on probation expenses, the county would receive only $3,500 next year, Heinen pointed out; thus the loss in revenue.

OTHER Minnesota counties with similar populations paid about $15,000 last year in probation costs, Heinen said.

A letter from Ray Lappegaard, state corrections commissioner notifying all counties of the change, failed to explain clearly whether counties below the $487 minimum must make increases retroactive to July, 1965 to collect the full 50 percent reimbursement.

County Attorney S. A. Sawyer said the board cannot set a new

Police Check Passing Crashes; Damage $520

Two attempts to pass on the right resulted in collisions Monday on Winona streets, police reported. No injuries resulted.

A two-car collision at West Broadway and Huff Street at 6:24 p.m. resulted in $350 damages, according to the police report.

Gary A. Wellner, 21, rural Rochester, was driving north on Huff Street and attempting to make a left turn west onto Broadway when he collided with the southbound car of Nita J. Hoffman, 602 Dakota St.

According to the report, Miss Hoffman was attempting to pass a third car — facing south on Huff and signaling for a left turn east onto Broadway — on the right when the collision occurred.

Damage was $200 to the right side of the Wellner car and $150 to the right front of the Hoffman vehicle. Patrolman Glenn M. Morgan investigated.

Frank A. Konkel, Houston, Minn., and Allen D. Holland, 17, Lanesboro, Minn., were driving south on Grand Street at 2:20 p.m. when they collided 150 feet south of 2nd Street, police reported.

Konkel, driving a pickup truck, swung wide to make a right turn into a driveway, and Holland, following, thought he was going to stop. Patrolman Roy J. Nelson wrote. Holland attempted to pass on the right, and the collision followed.

Damage was $150 to the left side of the Holland car and $20 to the right front of the Konkel truck.

Six Injured In Collision At Caledonia

CALEDONIA, Minn. (Special). — A Harmony couple and four Eitzen teen-agers were injured late Monday afternoon in an intersection collision here which caused an estimated $3,000 damage to both cars, according to the Highway Patrol.

Clarence A. Hegg, 70, Harmony, accompanied by his wife, 72, was traveling south on Trunk Highway 44 in a 1965 sedan. At the intersection of temporary Trunk Highway 249 at the west end of town and the west end of Main Street, the front left corner of the Hegg car struck the car driven by Yvonne Buchholtz, 16, Eitzen, broadside.

YVONNE, driving a 1960 station wagon belonging to her father, Lester Buchholtz, Eitzen, was proceeding west. Connie Bunge, 15, who was a passenger in the front seat, was thrown at the impact. She landed on the shoulder of the highway.

The entire right side of the Buchholtz car was pushed in and the rear door torn off. Connie apparently was thrown backward from the front seat and out the opening left by the missing door.

The Hegg car apparently had the right of way, the patrol indicated. Witnesses said Yvonne stopped at the stop sign before entering the intersection. Mary Fruechte, 17, and Jessie Rae Potratz, 16, were passengers in the back seat.

THE ACCIDENT happened at 5:45 p.m. All were taken to Caledonia Community Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Hegg were moved by ambulance to Lutheran Hospital, La Crosse, and admitted there at 10 p.m.

A report from the hospital this morning said Mrs. Hegg received a fractured right heel, fractured tibia and multiple lacerations. Her condition was described as fair. Hegg received a fracture of the left wrist and possible rib fractures. His condition is good.

Connie received injuries to the spine, left side and hip, and a possible concussion. According to one of the parents, she was retained in the hospital here, and the other three girls were released after X-rays this morning. Mary, daughter of the Raymond Fruechtes, complained of back injuries.

JESSIE RAE is the daughter of Mrs. Ida Potratz and Connie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Bunge.

The patrol said both vehicles were equipped with seat belts, but none were being used.

SUPERINTENDENT REPORTS:

Many Federal Plans Available

Areas in which Winona's educational programs might be extended under provisions of new federal legislation were cited for members of the Board of Education Monday night by Superintendent of Schools A. L. Nelson.

Already under study, Nelson said, is the possible establishment of an Education Services Center here to serve school districts in a four-county area in Southeastern Minnesota.

SUCH a center could be realized under terms of the public law's program for supplementary education centers and services and, if the project were to be approved by the federal government, something like $200,000 a year might be available to finance its operation.

Nelson said that superintendents of about 30 public and parochial schools in Southeastern Minnesota met recently at Winona State College to discuss possibilities of establishing an education services center here, using some of the facilities of Winona State.

The center would employ a number of specialists that no single school district could afford to retain. Among these might be clinical psychologists, speech correctionists, remedial reading teachers, psychometrists and social workers.

These people would spend about 75 percent of their time in area school systems working with school children with special problems which might be physical, emotional or educational.

ALSO suggested for possible implementation under this section of the law is an experimental program proposed by the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, Nelson said.

Conceived as a pilot program in Southeastern Minnesota which, if successful, might be extended to include the entire state, it would involve visits to 12 community centers of members of the orchestra several times a year. Between 45 and 50 musicians would visit each of these centers for two-day programs.

The first day of the visit might consist of symphony members meeting with school musicians in the morning, concerts for various age groups in the schools in the afternoon and a public concert in the evening. On the second day the visiting musicians would meet again with students in the morning, rehearse with organized choruses in the afternoon and present a concert with the choruses in the evening.

ANOTHER possibility in this area, Nelson said, would be the organization of a Little Theater group for high school students, although this has not been explored fully as yet.

Another broad area under which a number of projects might be undertaken, the superintendent said, would be the program drafted for assistance to culturally and educationally deprived children, for which the district might be allocated some $120,000.

This could finance, among other things, the establishment of an ungraded junior high school program for the benefit of junior high school students with reading problems.

This could involve the organization of two or three groups of from 12 to 15 students with low reading ability levels, who would spend half a day receiving instruction from one teacher in English, mathematics, social studies and possibly, science. The other half a day they would attend regular classes in physical education, health, home economics, industrial arts, music, art and the like.

"The major emphasis," Nelson explained, "would be to raise their reading level so that when they reach senior high school they can compete successfully with students of normal ability."

IN THIS same general area might be a developmental reading program for elementary children. Here, children with special problems would work in small groups with special teachers in an effort to keep the children at normal grade level as they progress through school.

A number of other programs were mentioned by the superintendent, among them:

Teacher Aides — Uncertified personnel who would work with special education programs and in the lunch program to relieve regular teachers of some of their non-teaching duties.

A Work Study Program — To provide an opportunity for students, who might otherwise drop out of school to obtain employment to attend school for a part of the day and participate in a

Enforcement Of Auto Yard Rules Asked

Police, fire and health departments were instructed Monday night by the City Council to tighten up enforcement of ordinances against creation of nuisances by some auto wrecking yard operators.

Ald. Barry Nelson quoted portions of the city zoning code which he said required maintenance by such operators of certain performance standards. It appears, he said, that operators of unfenced yards could be required to put up 8-foot fences under such provisions. The code requires that new yards be fenced but that those in existence prior to code adoption (1959) need not be so enclosed.

In fairness, said Ald. Nelson, if some yards are forced to have fences others should not be exempted.

City Attorney George M. Robertson Jr. said performance standards apply to non-conforming uses. Such places are given three years by the ordinance in which to comply with standards, including erection of fences. However, said Robertson, most yards in the city are conforming uses — that is, they are in areas properly zoned for such activities.

Actual enforcement, however, is a police function, said Robertson. Police have "plenty of authority to kick operators off city land, for instance," he said. The city attorney's proper function, he added, is to prosecute cases in which police or other individuals sign complaints to initiate action.

Robertson was asked to report at later meetings on progress of the stepped-up enforcement.

It Happened Last Night Always Bull Mart At Modern Ranch

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — The goofiest trip I've ever gone on as a saloon editor — except to cover a nudist convention — was to go calling on some bulls.

These were very exclusive bulls, as you won't catch me hanging out with any other kind. I visited the bull factory of the Black Watch Farms at Wappingers Falls, N.Y. where the genius of the bull business, Jack Dick, has some Angus bulls that are worth $1,000,000 or thereabouts for breeding purposes.

I got into this strange safari because Gary Stevens, a New York publicist, was struck — or claimed to be — by a great coincidence.

That the initials of Black Watch and Beautiful Wife are both B.W. And that the Black Watch Farms twin Beachcraft plane had the initials BW on the wings.

Gary said he was so struck by this that he called me six weeks in a row asking me to have the B.W. fly up there and christen their BW plane with champagne and, incidentally, pay a visit to the bulls . . . not that there was any other connection between us and the bulls.

SO ONE NOONTIME we're in the beautiful plane flying up the Hudson over Tappan Zee, Ossining, West Point, and Bear Mountain Bridge . . . and finally we're at Black Watch Farms talking to Jack Dick who's surely a New York rancher if I ever saw one.

He's whipping us around the farm in his Cadillac and talking about "recessive characteristics" of the bulls — and "favorable rate of depreciation" — because a bull does depreciate, let's face it — and Jack Dick says right out, "Perhaps I am not the bucolic picture of a gentleman in a straw hat leaning against a tree."

He says all the bulls and the girl cows, too, are IBM-indexed, and the girl cows are factories for calves. If she isn't expecting by the time she's 18 months old, a girl cow's name comes up mud on the IBM computer and she's considered naughty, and she's advised she'd better get with it, sister.

It's a helluva life for a girl cow, if you ask me. Forty-five days after she's had a calf,

Boys' Winter Schedule Under Way at YMCA

The winter schedule of activities for boys now is fully under way, officials of the YMCA said today.

They said all facilities are operating nearly at peak capacity and several new programs have been added. Among these is a class in TUMBLING AND GYMNASTICS for member boys in grades 3 through 6. Called BUCKING BRONCOS, the group is supervised by Henry Maly, physical director.

A BASKETBALL league is now being formed for boys in grades 5 and 6. Team play begins Saturday from 9 to 10 a.m.

CRAFT classes for grade school boys are held Wednesdays from 4 to 5:30 p.m. and Saturdays from 9 to 10 a.m. The chess club meets Thursdays from 4 to 5 p.m.

"MINNOW" SWIMMING classes have been split to accommodate more boys. This is the beginning classification, which is divided into Minnow III, meeting Wednesdays from 4 to 4:45 p.m., Minnow I and II, meeting Mondays from 4 to 4:45.

Registrations now are being taken for the second 13-week session of "Guppy" swim instruction. This program is for boys 6 and 7 years old. The session is from Jan. 8 through April 2.

A small charge is made for the guppy lessons. Class size is closely limited because of the size and capabilities of these pupils. Maly is in charge of the classes. Boys may be registered by their parents.

All other grade school activities remain as scheduled earlier this fall.

Open swim schedules for junior and senior high school boys have been changed. Wednesday open swims for this group close now at 4 p.m., earlier than scheduled last fall. Two new periods have been added: Tuesdays, 6:15 to 7 p.m., and Fridays, 2:30 to 4 p.m.

Two basketball leagues are available for the junior-senior high school group. Grades 7 and 8 will have league play Saturdays from 11 a.m. to noon, beginning this week. That same day grades 9 and 10 have league play from noon to 2 p.m. Any member is eligible. Sign-ups are made with the physical director.

Open gym periods for junior and senior high school boys are Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday nights. Monday and Thursday nights are reserved for adults.

Voice of the Outdoors

Record Walleye

The biggest of the three walleyes that "Chuck" Gilbert, Wabasha's chief of police, caught and is holding in this photo made by Ray Young, Wabasha Herald, is a record fish for this sector of the Mississippi and is among the big walleyes caught this season statewide.

It tipped the butchershop scales at 12 pounds and 9 ounces. Chuck caught it in the Reads Landing-Wabasha area in late November. As far as our records go, it is the biggest for this sector of Old Man River this year. The other two he is holding weighed 7 and 4 pounds.

Despite the mild spell, which softened up some of the ice, winter fishermen were out in force in "safe" sloughs along the river Saturday and Sunday. It was almost shoulder to shoulder fishing on Spring Lake at Buffalo City. They were catching both crappies and bluegills but the fish were running small. Not too many keepers, in the opinion of a lot of the fishermen.

However, this did not cut down the fishing pressure very much. A Monday noon report said they were back in force on the ice and catching fish. Spring Lake continues to be the "hot spot."

Bait dealers are warning fishermen about ice conditions. A lot of the normally early fishing spots are dangerous. The Onalaska area had some good fishing. Conditions there are much like Spring Lake. Stoddard is reported unsafe. Bartlett's was not being fished over the weekend.

Beaver Hearing

A hearing on a possible beaver season in Wisconsin, as required by law, will be held at 8 p.m. Dec. 13 at the State Office Building in La Crosse. Whether there will be an open season on the Wild Life Refuge will probably depend on reports made at the La Crosse meeting.

Biologists of the Wild Life Refuge, who have been checking on beaver colonies on the refuge, as well as Wisconsin biologists will report at the meeting. It will be the only meeting along the river.

Minnesota has not announced any season as yet. It usually is announced at a later date if there is to be such a season. The Iowa beaver season will open Dec. 18 and run to Feb. 28. Beaver trapping pressure is normally low in Iowa. Mink and muskrat closes in Iowa Dec. 12.

Final Duck Report

Here is the final waterfowl report from Ducks Unlimited, Winnipeg, on the 1965 season:

"A cold Arctic air mass swept the last of the waterfowl out of the prairies Nov. 10-13. The movement was quite heavy through southern Alberta where the birds concentrated after the movement of Nov. 3-6. Few birds had, however, remained in eastern Saskatchewan and Manitoba and the final flight here was small.

"During the last two weeks of November there was a good fall of snow across the prairies. Precipitation for the month was normal or better at most stations. This is a much improved situation over past years. On the western prairies thawing has occurred but in eastern Saskatchewan and Manitoba the snow is still all on the ground.

"At the present time, although there are areas that will need a good runoff next spring, the water situation, and the potential for next spring, is the best it has been for many years."

Lake City Business Firms Joining in Phone Cost Hike

LAKE CITY, Minn.—Extended are a service for the Zumbro Falls telephone exchange, authorized by the Minnesota Railroad and Warehouse Commission, will give subscribers there toll-free service to one of the largest calling areas in Southeastern Minnesota according to Pioneer Telephone Co.

With the extended service, Zumbro Falls and Hammond residents may call Millville, Lake City, Frontenac and Rochester, and persons on rural lines in these areas without long distance charges. The Zumbro Falls subscribers, however, will pay a higher monthly rate.

There will be no increase in residential rates for Lake City subscribers although they may call Zumbro Falls and Hammond toll free. Lake City will continue to pay long distance rates to Millville and Rochester. Lake City businessmen will absorb the cost of the limited extended service for Lake City by paying 50 cents per month for each business telephone line used.

The action of the commission followed voting by Zumbro Falls customers. A total of 66.4 percent accepted the plan. Normally the commission takes no action unless 65 percent of the voters favor the suggested plan.

It will take months to ready the system, company officials estimated, because additional central office equipment will be required.

Mondale Hails St. Cloud Plan

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., said today that creative contribution made by local communities are among the most significant developments of the "war on poverty."

In remarks prepared for a University of Minnesota Center for Continuation Study seminar, he cited a Foster Grandparents project at the Catholic Children's Home in St. Cloud. He said older people are hired to work 20 hours a week with emotionally-disturbed teenagers on an individual basis.

Mondale also said a home-building program on the Red Lake Indian Reservation provides desperately-needed housing, temporary jobs and training for permanent employment.

Supreme Court Hears Obscene Literature Case

By BARRY SCHWEID
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court takes up today the ticklish problem of obscene literature and the delicate balance between censorship and freedom of expression.

A legal thicket that has enmeshed courts and book sellers across the land, the obscenity question comes before the court in the form of three separate appeals from lower court ban.

Book dealers and civil liberties groups will be watching to see how the court rules on the cases and whether it alters its eight-year-old standard for determining what is obscene literature.

There was no clue as to the justices began the hearings as to whether a change is in the offing. But the fact that the court agreed to hear the appeals means the standard is undergoing reexamination.

Set down in the court's 1957 Roth decision, the prevailing obscenity test is "whether to the average person, applying contemporary standards, the dominant theme of the material taken as a whole appeals to prurient interest."

Critics of this ruling claim it has left book dealers and lower courts to grope their way through darkness with the fate of free expression resting on varying interpretations of "the average person" and "prurient interest."

The court may end up restating its Roth opinion with greater clarity. Or it could scrap the standard and phrase a new one.

Two of the justices, William O. Douglas and Hugo L. Black, already are on record as finding defects in the Roth standard.

The Justice Department, on the other hand, has urged the Supreme Court not to tamper with its Roth ruling that some material falls outside the First Amendment free speech protection.

State Agrees to Some Aid On East Sarnia Street Work

Full cooperation of the state Department of Highways in storm sewer construction on East Sarnia Street was promised to the City Council Monday night.

The department will assist in engineering, installation and financing, aldermen were assured by Charles Burrill, Rochester, district engineer. Burrill declined to commit the department to participation in construction of curb and gutter, however, pending complete analysis of origins and destinations surveys made here last summer.

TARGET DATE for completion of the report is February, said Burrill. When this is finished, the department will have recommendations to make concerning permanent routing of Highway 43 through the city, he said.

The survey was made last year at city expense to identify the directions and origins of traffic patterns.

Should not curb and gutter be a "must" if storm sewers are installed? asked Council President Harold Briesath. Burrill replied:

"It's a matter of opinion to some extent. If the department spends a lot of money on Sarnia Street, then finds later that Highway 43 should be elsewhere, it will be a long time before we can again budget enough to do necessary work on the permanent route."

IN PREPARING its 1966-67 budget this year, the council budgeted $50,000 for storm sewers, curb and gutter along Sarnia Street, between Main Street and Mankato Avenue. This segment now is part of Highway 43.

Burrill also told aldermen the highway department would furnish signs for through-city marking of Highway 61 on a single route. He approves the idea of a major west entrance leading to Broadway, he told Ald. Barry Nelson, but at a location not too near other intersections. The proposal, supported by some groups, would include a major interchange on Highway 61 somewhere between King and Pelzer streets.

A through-city routing of Highway 61, beginning west of Goodview, leading all the way through to eastern Winona generally along old Highway 61 might be "too long drawn-out," Burrill told Ald. Briesath.

IT WILL BE a long time before the proposed Highway 14 short cut, from St. Mary's College to Pelzer Street, is built, Burrill told City Engineer James Baird. Nearly all traffic entering on 14 from the west continues into the city or turns eastward, he said, and thus uses the present Gilmore Avenue route. Only a small part of this traffic turns west on Highway 61, said Burrill, and this is not enough to justify construction of the new portion.

The Stockton Hill creper lane, a perennially postponed project, has been put back for several years for want of funds, said Burrill. The department's new five-year program gives 1968 as letting date for contracts.

IN RESPONSE to the traditional questions about re-routing Highway 14 over the relatively level terrain from Minnesota City to Stockton, Burrill reviewed the historic obstacles.

Only the legislature has power to designate highway routes, he said. Moreover, should the state wish to use the right of way of present CSAH 23, it would have to turn the Stockton Hill segment over to Winona County. The county, he pointed out, is less than eager to acquire this road and the state cannot maintain double routes for the same highway.

While the new Interstate 90 is expected to take some traffic from Highway 14, the latter will never be abandoned or turned back, Burrill said, because it is a necessary link between Winona and other communities to the west.

A vote of 2,309-75 accepted the decree on modern world problems.

In working sessions of the council 251 prelates had opposed the modern world schema and 249 objected to the religious liberty declaration.

The other two decrees promulgated today were on missionary activity, (approved 2,394-5), and on the priestly life, (approved 2,390-4).

The four council decrees rounded out the vast modernization plan produced by the council since Pope John XXIII opened it in St. Peter's on Oct. 11, 1962.

They brought to 16 the number of documents issued by the council. The 16 decrees provide a blueprint for the renovation of the Church.

The last four decrees deal with some of the most crucial problems of all, affecting the Roman Church's relations with non-Catholics and outlining its stand on issues ranging from birth control to nuclear war.

The religious liberty declaration repeats the traditional teaching that Catholicism is the one true faith and that whoever believes this must embrace it. But it declares, among other things, that no one must be forced to accept a faith he does not believe in, that governments are obliged to ensure religious freedom for all, that parents have a right to give their children a religious education and a right to share in whatever school subsidies governments make available.

The decree on problems of the modern world states that all forms of racial, social and religious discrimination must be crushed.

It calls for a prudent dialogue between Roman Catholicism and atheists. It does not condemn communism but makes clear that the dialogue must be with Communists as well as with other nonbelievers.

On war and peace, the document asserts that legitimate self defense cannot be denied nations. But it warns against the danger of stockpiling nuclear weapons.

It insists on progressive, controlled and guaranteed disarmament.

On birth control, the decree reminds Catholics that they must not use methods forbidden by the Church. But it opens the way to a new approach by stressing conjugal love along with procreation as an aim of marriage and stating that "further diligent study is still needed" on the question of artificial methods of contraception.

The decree on missionary activity enjoins Catholic missionaries to collaborate with non-Catholic Christians and to avoid a "senseless rivalry" in mission areas.

Last 4 Decrees of Ecumenical Council Proclaimed by Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI proclaimed the last four decrees of the Vatican Ecumenical Council today and promised the questions it did not answer—such as birth control—would not be put aside after the three-year-old council ends Wednesday.

The bishops of the Roman Catholic Church took final formal votes on each of the decrees in a public council session in St. Peter's Basilica. All were approved, and the controversial documents on religious liberty and modern world problems received even bigger majorities than in earlier work sessions.

Pope Paul then promulgated the documents. The religious liberty declaration and the 36,000-word statement on modern world problems—denouncing nuclear warfare and keeping open the question of birth control—were milestones for the Roman Catholic Church. They committed it to a more open, more accommodating relationship with the world around it.

The modern world statement did not alter Roman Catholic teaching on birth control but left the way open for future changes.

Apparently alluding to this and other questions, Pope Paul said in a discourse:

"If quite a few questions raised during the course of the council itself still await appropriate answers, this shows that its labors are now coming to a close not out of weariness but in a state of vitality."

"In the post-conciliar period this vitality will apply, God willing, its generous and well-regulated energies to the study of such questions."

The council session was also historic in another respect. Pope Paul here and Patriarch Athenagoras in Istanbul made simultaneous declarations canceling excommunications that led to the break between the Roman and Orthodox churches nine centuries ago.

The religious liberty declaration was approved by a vote of 2,308-70

No Mayor For Village Of Goodhue

GOODHUE, Minn. (AP) — The Village of Goodhue is without a mayor because neither the recently-elected mayor nor the incumbent wants the job.

Elroy Schulz, 36, who has been operating a trucking firm here, was elected mayor this fall. But he hasn't taken office and is now leaving town to return to the University of Minnesota to work on a degree in education.

The present mayor, Thomas O'Reilly, the operator of a garage who has held the post since 1953, said before the election that he didn't want the job.

O'Reilly, however, was a write-in candidate and Schulz beat him only 79-71 in the election. O'Reilly reiterated Monday that he doesn't want to remain as mayor.

The village attorney is checking the law to determine the village's next step, and will report to the village council Dec. 14. Goodhue is about 15 miles south of Red Wing.

Postmaster Says Only White Reflectors Permitted on Boxes

LA CRESCENT, Minn. (Special) — I. L. Yeiter, La Crescent postmaster, said red or amber reflectors on rural mail boxes or posts are illegal according to a representative of the Minnesota Highway Department.

A recent law prohibits any color other than a white reflector. This applies also to posts which mark a driveway, the postmaster said, and to all persons, not just rural mail patrons, he said.

Man Arrested At Nodine Held On Kidnap Count

Preliminary hearing was set for Dec. 22 at 2 p.m. in Rochester municipal court for a Chatfield, Minn., man accused of kidnaping under a state statute.

Meanwhile Ruben L. Bjortmont, 43, is free on $500 bond. He was arrested last week near Nodine by Winona County sheriff's deputies and held in Olmsted County jail pending his arraignment in Rochester and the setting of bail.

Bjortmont is accused of abducting Mrs. Janice Briggs, 22, Eyota Township, the night of Nov. 23 and holding her in his car while he drove around Olmsted County. Mrs. Briggs told authorities that Bjortmont released her early Nov. 24 after 4½ hours.

The defendant gained access to her home by claiming to be her husband.

want to talk to her husband, who was at work on a night job. Mrs. Briggs told authorities. The statute under which Bjortmont is charged carries a maximum penalty, on conviction of 20 years in prison, a $20,000 fine, or both. At the Dec. 22 preliminary hearing, the state must present sufficient evidence to show the judge that the crime was committed and that there is reasonable cause for believing the defendant committed it. Only if the state is successful will Bjortmont be bound over to Olmsted County District Court to plead to the kidnaping charge and possibly stand trial.

We Hope Chief Means What He Says

WE HOPE Chief of Police Jim McCabe means what he says when he announces that the law protecting pedestrians in crosswalks, seldom invoked, will be "dusted off and enforced" henceforth.

Why such a law has never been enforced is a mystery to us. From our picture window on Lafayette Street overlooking Broadway, we have marveled more than once that whizzing cars have not mowed down pedestrians, including the scores of Cotter High School students and faculty members who cross that dangerous intersection several times a day.

A serious accident did occur there last week — and others are bound to occur unless police enforce the pedestrian law — and enforce it stringently. With our widened highways, the danger is threefold and pedestrians, law or no law, as well as motorists must constantly be on the alert. Speed, of course, is still another factor.

THIS MIGHT be the time, too, to take another look at closing some of the Milwaukee Railroad crossings on dead end streets such as Minnesota Street, scene of another fatal crossing crash Friday.

Did you know that one of every three fatal automobile accidents in Winona in the last 15 years has been a motor vehicle-train crash on a Milwaukee Railroad crossing? This comes from police records.

Likewise, three of six fatalities in Winona so far in 1965 have been railroad crossing deaths.

Since 1950, 17 of the city's 47 motor vehicle fatalities have taken place at Milwaukee Railroad grade crossings. Three have been on crossings with signal lights flashing — claiming seven lives.

ALL OF WHICH points to one major factor — the number of these fatalities can be reduced by eliminating some of the little-needed crossings on stub streets, by forcing the railroad to install more signal lights, and by a program of overpasses and underpasses on such thoroughfares as West Broadway, Main, Franklin Street and Mankato Avenue.

Such objectives should be foremost in the thinking of members of all governmental bodies responsible for public highway and rail safety.

Perhaps a good place to start would be the elimination of the Highway 43 crossing by construction of an overpass. The Minnesota Railroad and Warehouse Commission could order such construction to be done jointly by the railroad and state Highway Department.

Many grade crossings in cities on main streets have been banished as a highway policy. Highway 61 has been relocated in several communities for grade crossing elimination.

Why not put Highway 43 under or over the railroad tracks on its route to the Interstate Bridge? This is certainly an important route.

Poor Sandy! He Worked For Wrong Firm

POOR SANDY KEITH! Our lieutenant governor is really a principled, high-type political sort who wants to serve the cause of better government. As such, his inadvertent brush with the American Allied Insurance scandal causes him obvious and extreme distress.

Lt. Gov. Sandy unveiled his whole unhappy story for a Minneapolis Tribune reporter. He all but wrung his hands in public. How, he asks, could an honorable and well-intentioned fellow have picked up so accidentally a smudge on his political escutcheon?

Bad luck, the answer seems to be. Sandy went to work for the wrong firm. But he can hardly say the warning flags weren't flying that should have given him pause. His new insurance associates piously promised not to use the lieutenant governor's name to obtain business, but why else did a Twin Cities firm seek out for its legal counsel a Rochester lawyer un-schooled in insurance law? Are Twin Cities attorneys in such short supply that the American Allied subsidiary must hire one to drive all the way from Rochester for each day of work?

And was it not unusual that Keith's not ungenerous fee should be paid to him in advance? Or that his employers were perfectly happy to keep the fee coming even when legislative duties prevented him from doing the legal work he'd promised?

SANDY WAS TAKEN in, it appears. His integrity is not in question, for Keith is an honest man. Nor should voters be upset, unless they've never made a mistake in judgment themselves. Minnesota needs the competence and understanding that Keith brings to public life. But given the rough and tumble character of politics, Keith may have to suffer some political hurt. If he wanted to accept a nice bit of business that came his way because of his office, he can hardly avoid some damage when his business associates turned out to be bad apples.

Yes, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: For thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me. — Psalm 23:4.

TODAY IN NATIONAL AFFAIRS

Record as Prophet Is a Bit Tarnished

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — President Johnson likes to make rosy forecasts about business conditions, but his record as a prophet is a bit tarnished by his prediction last January that federal budget spending would not go beyond $100 billion. Now, with only five months gone by in the current fiscal year, the White House is admitting that budget spending will rise to between $105 and $107 billion, and that the deficit will run somewhere between $7 and $8 billion and might go as high as $10 billion.

But this is not the only thing about the economic situation that is causing worry. Here are some of the other developments that are producing uneasiness:

1. The law of supply and demand has been seriously interfered with by the action of the President. The federal government has intervened to keep prices down in certain industries, but not all along the line.

2. Labor costs have been rising, and the administration has done little or nothing about this.

3. Interest rates naturally ought to go up in order to restrain the excesses in lending. But the administration has put its foot down on this proposal and has thereby interfered again with the law of supply and demand.

4. The increase in tax receipts is still $8 billion below what is needed to balance the budget. Meanwhile, state and local tax rates have been pushed upward.

5. THE EXPECTED advantages in removing excise taxes are not materializing. Many companies have added the excise tax to the price of their products, and many of the fraternal clubs and organizations around the country have merely increased dues by the amount of the excise tax. In the case of automobiles, equipment that was previously optional has been made mandatory so that the auto companies get approximately the same amount of money they received before, and the government gets much less.

6. Something has happened to the building boom. Housing starts have fallen to the lowest level in 33 months. Many of the home builders perhaps were overly impressed by the talk of "prosperity," but the demand for housing now is not what they anticipated it would be.

7. Job-creation through government stimulus is helping to decrease some of the unemployment but the total is still large. There are as many as 4 million persons out of work at any given time, while many persons are unemployed at one time but not at another. The overall jobless rate for teen-agers is more than 13 percent, and for Negroes more than 8 percent.

8. The cost-of-living index rose to a new record high in October — two points above September. The increase boosted the cost of living about 1.8 per cent above the level of a year ago, which is far above the 1.2 percent level which the president's economic advisers have been describing as non-inflationary. The net result is that it cost $11.04 to buy the same goods and services in October 1965 that were purchased for $10 in the base period of 1957 to 1959.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON has assumed full responsibility for the course of the national economy, and naturally the business world is expecting him to straighten out the situation. The tendency is to blame it all on Viet Nam, though the added expenditures for defense could readily have been obtained by cutting other projects if there had been any determination to economize.

'IT'S LATER THAN YOU THINK!'

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Johnson Aide Who Cut Chicago Aid Resigning

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Jim Quigley, assistant secretary of Hew, who cut off that $32 million of federal money to the Chicago schools and promptly got reversed, is resigning from the Johnson administration, probably to run for governor of Pennsylvania. Jim is not sure at anyone and says LBJ did not get mad either.

But behind this lies a story which may be the key to the Negro vote in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, St. Louis and other big cities in 1968. Negro leaders, meeting with two Johnson cabinet members last week, very pointedly warned that the Negro vote was not hitched to the Democratic party and might well go Republican unless federal funds are stopped from going to segregated schools.

The issue was debated with considerable vigor in a closed-door meeting between two cabinet members and 17 white and Negro civil rights leaders last week in the office of Attorney General Nicholas Katzenbach. Secretary of Hew John Gardner, who disperses federal funds to schools and hospitals, was also present.

THEIR SOMETIMES acid debate was not supposed to leak out, but this column can report that the two cabinet members were adamant that the Chicago policy of advancing money to schools even without complete civil rights compliance was to be continued. Later, if cities or states were found to disregard the law, the federal government would move to get its funds back.

Civil rights leaders told Katzenbach and Gardner that this would take months or even years. They claimed this would completely sabotage the intent of Congress in passing the civil rights act.

"Title 6 of the act is clear and explicit," said Martin Barry of SNCC. "You have the power to withhold funds. School districts will never come in line if you extend the money."

The argument got so heated that, at one point, mild-mannered Roy Wilkins, president of the powerful NAACP, warned: "The Democrats shouldn't get the idea they have the Negro vote sewed up forever. They haven't. Look what happened in New York, Cleveland and Louisville just one month ago."

WILKINS referred to the

fact that 60 per cent of the Harlem vote went for John Lindsay, Republican candidate for mayor; that Republicans kept control of Louisville thanks to the Negro vote; and that a Negro came within 2,000 votes of being elected mayor of Cleveland.

Others attending the meeting included Joseph Rauh of the CIO industrial unions; Whitney Young of the Urban League; Andy Biemiller of the AFL-CIO; Harry Wattel, representing Martin Luther King; and George Wiley of CORE.

They debated not only school integration but hospital integration and the failure of the Justice Department to send more voting registrars to the South.

In general they found Attorney General Katzenbach more receptive than newly-appointed HEW Secretary Gardner, though at one point Gardner admitted his department had not done a very good job.

Biemiller of the AFL-CIO put up a strong plea to hold back federal funds for medicare until each hospital complies with the civil rights and is integrated.

"DON'T GIVE 'em the money first then talk about revoking it afterward," Biemiller argued. "The law is quite clear that they're not entitled to federal funds until they have complied with the law."

Joe Rauh backed this up.

"Your only weapon is to hold back the money in the first place," he argued. "If you have a complaint that a school district or hospital is not following the law, they should never receive federal funds without a thorough investigation. It's a mistake to advance the money, then try to revoke it if there is noncompliance."

The two cabinet members, however, made no commitments. They didn't argue that they lacked the right to withhold the money. The law, they admitted, was quite clear that they had the right. But they seemed frozen in their positions as if they had received instructions from higher up.

"Negroes are going to consider it a white man's trick to pass this law and then not enforce it," argued Rauh.

WILEY OF CORE, and Wattel, representing Martin Luther King, made a plea for more voter registrars.

WASHINGTON CALLING

Rusk Gives No Sign of Regret

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — Just five years ago, a reserved, quiet mannered foundation president, whom not a single American in 10,000 had ever heard of, stepped from comfortable anonymity into the very eye of conflict and controversy. President-elect John F. Kennedy asked Dean Rusk to be Secretary of State in the Cabinet he was forming.

If Rusk ever regretted his decision he has given no sign of it. In the turmoil of an office that concentrates on the individual who occupies it and belted by the full force of every foreign policy crisis, he has continued to maintain a discreet personal reserve. Rusk, the man, is unfailingly subordinate to the dedicated public servant.

No office except the presidency is subject to such a glare of public interest. And the President, by reason of the eminence of his office, is often sheltered from the slings and arrows of misfortune that assail the secretary of state. As has happened to every secretary of state almost without exception, going back even to the quiet era when America's place in the world was on the periphery of power, Rusk is a figure of controversy.

ONE OF THE reasons Kennedy chose him was because he meant to be his own secretary of state and the president-elect knew this was Rusk's concept of the office. He was to be an instrument carrying out the policy of the chief executive. The president of the Rockefeller Foundation, as Rusk was, wrote in Foreign Affairs in 1960: "The President, with the aid of his secretary of state and the support of the Congress, supplies the leadership in our foreign relations."

Rusk has been scrupulous in interpreting that definition and this is one reason for the criticism directed at him publicly by historian Arthur Schlesinger Jr., and privately by others in the Kennedy wing of the Democratic establishment. He fails to come up with initiatives. He is too neutral. No one knows where he really stands. This is the main thrust of the discontent with the secretary of state.

BUT A GLANCE at presidential history shows that Rusk, with one conspicuous exception, is in the tradition of secretaries of state. Presidents have almost invariably asserted their constitutional right to direct foreign policy. And if the secretary didn't like the policy set by the president he could resign, as some have done, or he could adapt his views to those of his chief, as others have done.

The exception was John Foster Dulles. President Eisenhower, with his chain of command concept of the office, delegated to Dulles the initiative. And Dulles, with his long background in foreign affairs, his ambition, his aggressive self-confidence, was only too eager to take it.

THE OFFICE as a consequence was inflated with Dulles, a resourceful phrase-maker, a news-maker, keeping himself in the public eye. At the same time, in the view of critics of the Dulles era, he inflated the aims of American policy far beyond the means and the will to carry out those aims. Rusk's defenders believe that it is against this distortion of the office that he is compared and found wanting.

On vital foreign policy issues such as Viet Nam Rusk's almost invariable custom is to re-state positions firmly marked out by the President. In his history of the JFK years Schlesinger quoted Kennedy as saying that he meant to drop Rusk after the 1964 election. This stirred indignant defense of the secretary. Earlier while Kennedy was still in the White House a journalist with frequent access to the President quoted him as saying of Rusk:

"HE'S GOT GUTS. And his judgment is good. And in final analysis these are the qualities a secretary of state needs. I wouldn't want to make a final decision on a vital matter involving our

To Your Good Health

Answers To Your Questions

Dear Sir: I am in my late 70s and have to get up frequently at night to urinate. People my own age say it is gland trouble and that I must have an operation on the prostate. I was of the opinion that all old people had to get up at night like I do.

If the operation is not serious, how long would it take me to recover? — M.J.

Age alone doesn't cause your trouble, although conditions leading to frequency of urination are more common as we get older.

Enlargement or disease of the prostate is, to be sure, rather prevalent, but sometimes kidney disease causes frequency, too, so let your doctor decide what is wrong. Prostate surgery usually requires 10 to 14 days in the hospital.

Dear Dr. Molner: How successful is surgery for cancer of the prostate gland? My dad is in his 60s. Anything encouraging would mean a lot to him. — B.G.L.

There's a good deal that is encouraging, and for this we can be thankful, since cancer of the prostate is the commonest form of malignancy in the male.

A specific answer to your question isn't easy, because the degree of success depends on the circumstances. When the cancer is confined to the gland itself, and the entire cancer thus is removable, results are consistently excellent.

If the cancer has extended to involve other areas, complete removal may not be possible. Even then, however, there are other procedures — radiation (X-ray, radium or cobalt); hormone therapy; and castration, which by altering the hormonal activity of the body retards progress of the malignancy.

While complete removal of the malignant tissue is to be desired, when that is impossible the other methods afford very helpful measures of success.

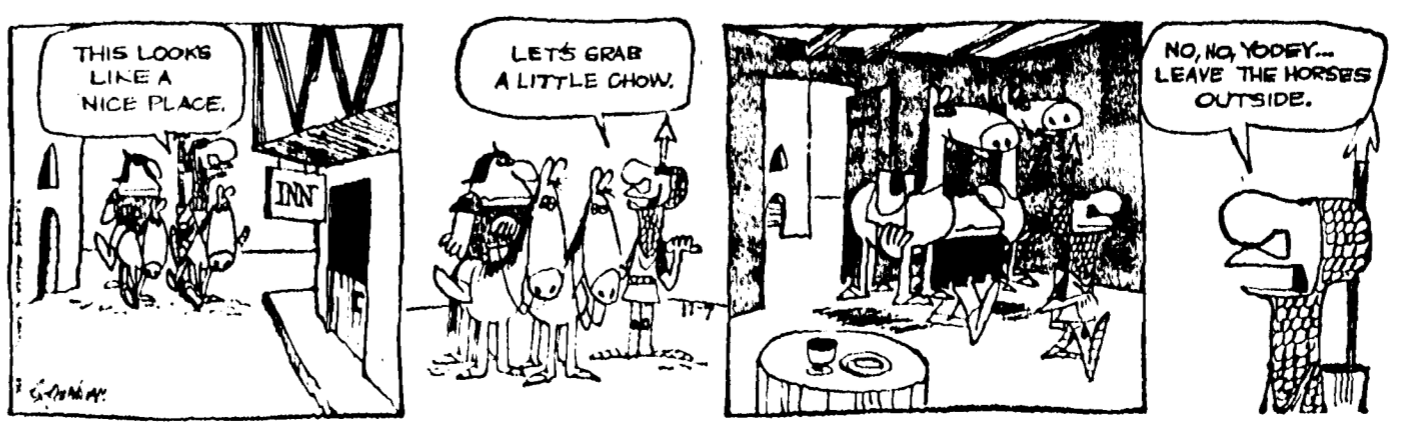

security until I'd heard his view."

If President Johnson had thought of replacing Rusk the Schlesinger attack assured his tenure so long as he cares to stay. Only recently Johnson let it be known that he considered Rusk the greatest secretary of state in this century. As he gave complete loyalty to Kennedy so Rusk gives unstinting loyalty to Johnson.

SECRETARY OF state watchers over the years have said it's an office in which you can't win. All you can hope for in a time of revolutionary troubles is to hang on, hoping for a few breaks that will even up the score. The Congo, Rhodesia, Viet Nam, Egypt, Germany, France — they are all on the secretary's doorstep, each with a demand for first priority as he parcels out his 12-hour day in carefully measured half hours.

While he has served in the State Department, Rusk can hardly have foreseen what acceptance of the Kennedy offer meant. He has had to ride herd on 9,337 employees. He has traveled nearly a half million miles. And each day's headlines bring him a new set of worries.

Farm Leader Flays Hike in Interest Rate

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—While Ninth Federal Reserve District directors today pondered the Federal Reserve Board's increase in interest rates, at least one farm leader called for presidential action against the boost.

Edwin Christianson, president of the Minnesota Farmers Union, urged President Johnson to demand that the one-half percent increase be cancelled.

"The experience of the 1850s as a result of ill-advised tightening of money should warn us against bleeding the economy again," he said, calling the increase potentially more of a threat to the national economy than steel, aluminum and copper price boosts successfully opposed by the President.

Christianson said farmers will have paid nearly $2.2 billion in interest in 1965, about $400 million more than they paid in property taxes.

Meanwhile, Ninth District directors are scheduled to decide Thursday what to do about discount rates in connection with the Federal Reserve Board's action.

The national board's order applies only to deposits made for a specified time, said Hugh D. Galusha Jr., president of the Minneapolis Federal Reserve

Quie Asks More Equitable Split Of School Aid

HASTINGS, Minn. (AP)—Congressman Albert Quie says he will work for a "more equitable" distribution of funds under the Federal Elementary - Secondary School Aid act.

The 2nd District Republican told a Hastings parent-teacher group: "Under the present aid-distribution formula, the states that can afford to spend the most on education receive the most aid, and those who can afford the least get the least help."

Jefferson Jones Dead

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP)—Service will be Wednesday for Jefferson Jones, 73, former editor and publisher of the Minneapolis Journal and owner, editor and publisher of the Bozeman, Mont., Chronicle. He died here Monday.

Bank, and discount rates are set by the district boards.

Galusha would not predict what the Ninth District Board would do, but noted that usually the districts ultimately act together.

Walter W. Heller, University of Minnesota economics professor and former chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said: "I had hoped the board would wait until January, when all the facts about the president's budget and the economic forecasts are in."

DEAR ABBY:

Don't Eat The Mistletoe

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I hope you can print this before Christmas. It might save a child's life. Last year I bought a package of fresh mistletoe to decorate my house for the holidays. My two-year-old daughter got into the package, which was sitting on my kitchen table. The mistletoe berries looked as though they would be good to eat, so she ate some. (No one saw her eat them, and even if I had seen her eat them I probably wouldn't have been alarmed because I didn't know mistletoe berries were poisonous.) Later that evening she became violently ill. We called a doctor and fortunately she hadn't eaten enough to kill her, but she was very, very ill. Please warn other mothers, Abby.

SAN BRUNO MOM

DEAR MOM: Thank you for your informative letter. I thought mistletoe was to inspire kissing. I didn't know it was the kiss of death.

DEAR ABBY: I broke up with a fellow about a month ago and now he wants to go back with me, but I don't want to date him any more. My mother is on his side and is doing everything she can think of to help him. (She coaches him on how to get a date with me. If I tell him I'm busy she tells him to ask me for the next night, or the next, until I have a free evening.) I think the only reason she likes him is because he has a car, and if he takes me some place, like to a game or a dance, SHE won't have to. I am only 15. He is 18. How can I get my Mom to let me make up my own mind about the guys I want to date?

ABBY

OLD ENOUGH

DEAR OLD ENOUGH: Since you are on to his strategy, it shouldn't be difficult to beat him at his own game. But why the minute? Tell the fellow you don't want to date him. And tell your Mom that giving aid and comfort to "the enemy" is treason.

DEAR ABBY: What do you do with a husband who is close to 50 and has not let learned to say NO to anyone? If someone calls and invites us some place we would rather not go, he says, "Thank you for the invitation, I'll ask Jane." (me) then he tells me when they call I should tell them we can't make it.

If someone asks him for a favor he is not in a position to grant, I am the one who has to turn them down and give the reason. If someone has owed him for a long time, I have to coax him to remind them because he could never bring himself to ask. I realize that kindness is a fine trait, but I wonder if that's what it is? I am tired of constantly being the "bad-y." Why can't my husband do the job?

"THE BAD-Y"

DEAR BAD-Y: Because he has a wife who not only CAN do the job, but WILL. You may grumble, but he figures you are easier to handle than the others. At age 50, you aren't apt to change him. He's sensitive, gentle, kind and — SMART.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell "BURNED UP IN ILLINOIS" not to be so sure that people don't smell like animals. In a book by an Asian, I read that non-vegetarians have a different odor than vegetarians. So, at a party for foreign students, I asked an East Indian guest if this were true. "Yes," she said, "Meat-eaters smell like meat, and it is offensive to vegetarians."

Travel articles report that the huge Asian water buffalo will allow a tiny native child to boss him around, but let the cranky beast get one whiff of a meat-eating foreign adult, and the latter may have to run for his life. Sincerely, MRS. C. G. OF FLORIDA

DEAR ABBY: I was delighted with the way you answered that young woman who wanted to know what was wrong with discussing people? You said, "Intelligent people talk about ideas, — not people." How true. And what a joy it is to be around them.

One of the loveliest qualities found in all truly great ladies is their reluctance to talk about absent parties in a manner which is uncomplimentary to them. This kind of behavior reflects good breeding and inspires trust and affection. It is something we all "know" but should be reminded of from time to time. Thank you for reminding us. CIVILIZED

'Thieves in Temple' Really So in Texas

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Two choir members at the First Methodist church surprised a youth in his late teens as he rifled a woman's purse in a choir room.

Brandishing a hammer, he crawled out a window and fled. The Rev. Gaston Foote's sermon continued without interruption. The topic: "Thieves in the temple."

Sheriffs Elect At St. Cloud

ST. CLOUD, Minn. (AP)—Hubbard County Sheriff R. J. (Bob) Potter was elected president of the Minnesota State Sheriffs' Association Monday, succeeding Vern Martinson of Chisago County. Potter had been first vice president.

Other sheriffs elected, and their counties, are Russell Broberg, Otter Tail, first vice president; Bernard J. Coufal, Steele, second vice president; Ralph (Buster) Talbot, Anoka, third vice president; Harvey Spaulding, Kandiyohi, secretary-treasurer, and Paul Knochenmus, Roseau, sergeant-at-arms.

Directors are Oscar Erickson, Marshall County; Al Wilhelm, Mille Lacs; Paul Moe, Yellow Medicine; Darrel Hurd, Stearns; Emil Meurer, Blue Earth, and Charles Carver, Rice. The sheriffs voted to seek federal funds to help operate periodic training sessions. A committee headed by Cass County Sheriff Arliss J. Schmitz reported that such funds are available.

Unions Ordered To Produce Books

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A federal grand jury has issued subpoenas for all books and records of two Twin Cities areas unions for the period from 1959 to the present, it was announced Monday.

The unions are the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America Local 653 and Food Handlers Local 653-A. The subpoena ordered the secretary-treasurer of both unions, to produce the books.

Combined membership is reported to be about 5,000, primarily workers in Twin Cities area supermarkets.

Gemini Flight True Test of 'Togetherness'

By RONALD THOMPSON AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP)—The marathon voyage of Gemini 7 is a true test of togetherness for two buddies, Frank Borman and James A. Lovell Jr. and don't be surprised, doctors say, if they exchange a few sharp words toward the end of the flight.

For two weeks, the two astronauts will sit at each other's side, eating, sleeping and working at the same time in quarters no larger than the front seats of a small foreign car.

"I would be really quite surprised frankly if we don't see some fatigue or irritability that goes with fatigue," Dr. Charles Berry, the flight's medical director said. "That's an awfully small spacecraft."

"Whether that irritability will be directed toward the ground, and sometimes each other, is hard to tell because these guys get along real well together," he added.

The two voluble astronauts like to kid about that possibility.

"We figure that by the 10th day we won't be speaking to each other," joked Borman before the flight. "It will be something like Jim calling up Mission Control Center and asking them: 'Will you please ask Borman to turn down the cabin light?'"

Borman, an Air Force lieutenant colonel, and Lovell, a Navy commander, are actually spending more of their day-to-day waking hours together than did astronauts on previous Gemini flights.

C&NW Depot Burns At Fort Atkinson

AT FORT ATKINSON, Wis. (AP)—Fire destroyed the old Chicago & North Western Railway freight depot and damaged the passenger depot here Saturday. Both structures, abandoned for a considerable time, had been scheduled for razing this winter. The cause of the fire was unexplained.

There's a reason for it. Air Force Col. L. Gordon Cooper, the command pilot on the eight-day flight of Gemini 5, and Navy Cmdr. Charles Conrad Jr., the pilot, complained that when one crewman tried to sleep, the slightest bit of noise from the other would be disturbing.

"We also found that to go to sleep at 2 o'clock or 3 o'clock in the afternoon just didn't work out as well as just going to sleep at your normal nighttime," Cooper said.

Officials want Borman and Lovell to maintain a work-rest cycle as near as possible to the one they keep on earth. The flight plan calls for a normal quitting time for the crew of about 9 p.m. (EST), when they go into a 10-hour rest and sleep period.

Voice contact from earth is kept on an emergency basis only during the night, unless the space crew wants to talk.

Berry said general habitability — merely getting along for extended periods in the cramped quarters of a spacecraft — is "one thing that concerns all of us."

"I think how these guys are going to be able to respond and get along with each other is going to be very important," he added. "But if I was going to put my money on somebody to do this, I'd certainly put it on this crew."

NSP Begins Work On $35 Million Transmission Line

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Northern States Power Co. has begun construction of a $35 million, 348,000-volt transmission line from the Twin Cities to St. Louis, described by the firm as a major link in the Midwest power network.

First step in the project is the clearing of right-of-way along a 103-mile route from the Twin Cities to Adams, Minn., and grading of the substation site near Adams.

NSP is responsible for the 103-mile segment of the 510-mile line, with NSP expected to spend $5,370,000 on this portion of the line. NSP's initial cost on the substation will be about $700,000.

Interstate Power Co., Dubuque, Iowa, will build the next segment of the line south from Adams as well as part of the substation.

"This network of large power lines," said NSP president Earl Ewald, "will help in keeping power costs down and assist in providing better service. It will help prevent major outages such as occurred in northeastern United States recently."

Tokyo Jugged by Minor Earthquake

TOKYO (AP)—A minor earthquake jugged Tokyo and vicinity Monday night. The meteorological agency located the epicenter about 50 miles southeast of Tokyo on the Boso Peninsula.

Atty. General Rules on Liquor Store Problem

ST. PAUL (AP)—Atty. Gen. Robert Mattson said today a city may not operate a municipal off-sale liquor store and issue private licenses for on-sale stores.

The opinion replied to a question from officials of Thief River Falls. That city now operates a municipal liquor store with both on and off-sale operations.

In another opinion, Cottonwood County officials were advised that a township is responsible for repair of a township road washed out when a culvert in a county ditch system overflowed.

Students Fight Order to Get Long Hair Cut

FARGO, N.D. (AP) — Parents of seven boys suspended Monday from North High School in Fargo for unconventional haircuts have responded almost at once with charges of discrimination. The students were told not to re-enter classes until their haircuts met school standards. Principal J.R. McElhinney refused to comment on the suspension. "In other words," he added, "I do not want to contribute to adverse publicity for these students."

Parents of the seven said they were concerned about their sons missing classes, but added they felt the school administration was exhibiting discrimination by arbitrarily enforcing one school rule while ignoring others. North High's personal appearance code states, "neither boys nor girls will affect freakish or bizarre hair styles."

A suspicion of caramel syrup (made by melting and browning granulated sugar) is fine to use in gravies.

NO PROBLEMS

Thompson Settles Down to Prison

STILLWATER, Minn. (AP) — Two years ago today dapper T. Eugene Thompson, a successful and respected St. Paul attorney, was found guilty of first degree murder in the slaying of his pretty wife. Today Thompson, awaiting a Minnesota Supreme Court decision on his appeal, is just another inmate at Stillwater Prison. Thompson, 37, is "getting along well," says Warden Ralph Tahash. "We're not aware of any problems."

The man who used to sport well-tailored business suits and trim bow ties now wears the baggy garb of a convict. The man who used to head the State Bar Association's criminal law committee now labors in a prison commissary.

Accused of masterminding the Bludgeon - knife slaying of his wife, Carol 34, Thompson was convicted in Minneapolis Dec. 6, 1963. He entered prison the following day.

The state claimed Thompson, who had an affair with another woman, sought to have his wife slain so he could collect a million dollars life insurance.

Two others charged in the killing also were sent to prison. Dick W. C. Anderson, a former Marine, admitted he was the actual killer. The state said Norman Mastrian, a onetime boxer, was Thompson's intermediary in the murder - for-hire negotiations.

Thompson still hopes for freedom, but prison officials say he has adjusted to the drab prison existence. His first job as an inmate was operating a machine that winds twine into balls. He was a good worker. About two months ago, Thompson was transferred to the commissary department where his duties are both general labor and clerical.

"The new position is recognition of good work," Warden Tahash says. Thompson's attorney, C. Paul Jones of Minneapolis, says Thompson finds prison life "not a very pleasant existence." "Anyone who believes he shouldn't be there, won't find it very comfortable," Jones says.

Thompson is "confident he was right" in contending he was improperly convicted, Jones says. "There's no question about that," Jones says. "There is every reason to believe Thompson will carry his appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court if the state tribunal doesn't grant him a new trial. Jones argued before the state Supreme Court Oct. 4 that there was not enough evidence to link Thompson to a conspiracy to kill his wife.

Thompson always has visitors during the two hours allotted monthly, Tahash said, but the visitors have not included Thompson's four children or his dead wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Swoboda of St. Paul.

The children, 9 to 16, are residing with a housekeeper. Mrs. Swoboda says Thompson has asked that the youngsters visit him.

"I think they are adjusting very well," the grandmother said. "everyone is trying to help them live as normal a life as possible"

Mount Vernon Hearing Set

The Winona County Board of Commissioners Monday scheduled a public hearing for Jan. 4 at 2 p.m. on the proposed dissolution of District 2608 (Mount Vernon School).

The district, situated on the ridge just above Minneiska, is operating a one-room school with 10 pupils. Four high school students are attending Winona.

County Board

The district, if dissolved would have to be annexed by an adjacent operating district which would be either Lewiston or Minnesota City. Valuation of the district is $90,385.

At a district meeting Nov. 23, members of the district voted 30-2 in favor of dissolving. In another vote, they tallied 20-12 in favor of annexing to Minnesota City.

At the January hearing, commissioners will listen to reasons for and objections to dissolving the district and individual reasons for preferring Minnesota City or Lewiston, before making a final decision.

Bird Keeps Customers Amused

ETTRICK, Wis. (Special) — There's a rare bird living in a large cage at the Strand service station at Frenchville. It's a mynah bird won by the late Oscar Strand more than a year ago for milking machine salesmanship. While he isn't exactly a linguist, he does talk. For a time the Strands thought he was a girl but now the family has about decided he's a boy. The mynah is about 1 1/2 years old. He's large as a good-sized crow and mostly shiny black with some yellow about the head, a little white at the edge of the wings and has a large orange beak. He's a native of Southeast Asia. Customers are sometimes startled when they enter the service station and are ordered by the mynah to "Shut the door!" He also says "Hello" and "Buy a Surge." He calls the Strand police dog Lady. He'll say "Come here, Lady," but Lady pays no attention. When a pretty girl comes into the station, the mynah will give a long, low, wolf whistle. Mrs. Strand has continued to operate the service station, since the death of her husband, with the aid of her two sons, Theodore and Robert. Theodore now has the agency for the national School. Both boys commute each day. When not in tends Winona State College, school they assist their mother Robert is at La Crosse Vocational School. Both boys commute each day. Good Will Ambassadors at St. Anne Hospice Smoker

The Good Will Ambassadors, newly organized men's division of the St. Anne Hospice Auxiliary, were entertained Sunday afternoon at a smoker at the hospice. The hospice staff hosted the affair, which included a short meeting, slides of the activities at the hospice, and a social hour.

GEORGE KELLY, who with Al Smith and Mrs. Everett Kern were responsible for developing the new organization, welcomed the guests and introduced the staff of the hospice. Mr. Kelley presented Sister Mary Jude, administrator, who spoke briefly to the group concerning the reasons for adding a men's unit to the auxiliary and told what its purposes would be.

"It is necessary to know the whole truth and to know something of its history and background to understand a happening," Sister remarked. With this in mind, she explained the trend toward organizing men's divisions to hospital auxiliaries, saying that their efforts would primarily be developed in the field of public relations. "It takes people of many talents to make up a team to make a success in this work possible. It is, for instance, important that the guests living at the hospice be kept in contact with the community." Here Sister Mary Jude listed a number of opportunities to achieve this goal.

THE NURSERY school enrolls 60 children and conducts classes in the Sunday School rooms of Central Methodist Church. Mrs. Gunderson is teaching director. She is assisted by Mrs. Kenneth Sheets, Mrs. David Mertes and 26 members of Future Teachers of America groups from Cotter and Winona Senior High School and Winona State College. Mrs. Schwab, the new board member, is a member of the Central Methodist committee for education and a past superintendent of the church children's division.

GALESVILLE, Wis. (Special) — "Noel, Noel," is the topic of the Music Study Club Christmas party to be held Dec. 14 at 8 p.m. in the Isaac Clark room of the Bank of Galesville. Christmas music is being arranged by Mrs. Clarence Brown. Gifts will be exchanged among members and gifts are to be brought for the patients at the Trempealeau County Hospital, Whitehall. Gifts for the hospital patients are to be placed in cellophane bags. Hostesses will be Miss Edna Bibby, and the Meses, Alvin Ekern, Henry French, A. F. Giere, Leon Sacia and G. M. Wiley.

RT. REV. MSGR. Daniel Tierney, chaplain of the hospice auxiliary, commended Mr. Kelley and Mr. Smith on their work in organizing the men's division. He remarked that the auxiliary would derive much benefit from their numbers. Sister M. Don Bosco showed the story of the hospice in picture. Her color slides were of indoor and outdoor activities of the guests living at the hospice, the facilities of the building, living quarters, and pictures of the many groups who give their time to the community effort of helping the aging. A social hour and refreshments were enjoyed by the group following the meeting.

She explained the layout of the hospice in respect to the nursing and hotel floors, the planned recreational and therapy programs, and the activities of the many outside groups that come in regularly to help the guests lead a normal and productive life. Sister Mary Jude said that there are 106 guests at the hospice; 29 men and 77 women. Eighty-six of this number are from Minnesota and 20 from out-of-state. She stated that there are seven religions represented among this group.

"The hospice is a charitable institution devoted to the care and service of the elderly and chronically ill regardless of race or creed. We have not been able to scratch the surface of what we can do for the aging," she concluded. In his remarks to the group, Mr. Kelley stated that the present membership of the Good Will Ambassadors is 69 men from Winona and the surrounding area. "These men include a cross section of the community," he said.

Standing-Room-Only Audience Hears Annual SPEBSQSA Concert

It was standing-room-only Saturday night at Winona Senior High School auditorium, when the Winona Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Singing in America served up hilarity and nostalgia in a 10th anniversary celebration at their Parade of Harmony, according to Mrs. Willard Adank, who reported on the concert.

JAMES Goetz, a member of the chapter who has done the honors for the past two years, emceed the show with even more of the ready wit and well-placed asides to directors and singers than he has previously called on to keep audience and performers in the mood for fun, said Mrs. Adank.

As in the iron-clad rule, the show began precisely at 8:10 p.m. A quartet appeared, still in the process of hastily dressing, tucking in shirts, with one member even putting on his trousers on-stage.

The quartet joined by the Winona Hiawatha Valley Chorus, directed by Richard Darby, carried out the evening's theme, "Happy Birthday to Us." Songs of the past decade were heard and the Barbershoppers, for the chorus of their final song, moved off-stage into the auditorium, where the audience joined them.

The Chorales, New Lisbon, Wis., sang, directed by Herbert Janeau, and attired in evening trousers, charcoal hats, white gloves and coats of pink.

"The adept handling of both music and costuming by the 30 men of the Chorales did not go without appreciative applause," said Mrs. Adank.

The Misterssippis, Willard Adank, Bruce Odell, David Broker and Michael Hengel, dressed in costumes with scarlet coats, performed next. Bass singer Hengel completely "broke up" the audience at one time as he clowned through a pantomime joke, Mrs. Adank said.

Guest quartets sang in the second half of the program.

"The For Mor quartet of Madison, Wis., held the spotlight amid gales of laughter from the audience as they moved through a variety of tunes in the style of such long-time favorite groups as the Ink Spots and throughout their performance projected a nonchalant attitude, coupled with the stage play-up of an overbearing member who would not let other members talk or sing," Mrs. Adank said.

The Impostors of Chicago performed next, dashing in attired in vividly colored Southern Country Gentlemen costumes, complete with canes and top hats. "They took and left the stage with a finesse that leaves little doubt as to why they are among this year's top ten medallists," said the reviewer.

The climax of the show was the appearance of the combined choruses of New Lisbon and Winona, who sang three numbers, directed first by Arnold Stenehjem, past director and president-elect of the Winona Chapter; then by Mr. Janeau and finally by Mr. Darby, current baton man and first president of the local chapter.

He talked briefly on the history of the local chapter, after which a king-sized birthday cake for the chapter was presented to Willard Adank, president.

The singing of the SPEBSQSA theme song by the entire group was the grand finale.

General chairman of the show was Ralph Carlblom.

Watkins Employe Visits Humphrey

Fred Nuszloch, Winona, district manager of Watkins Products, Inc., is in Washington D.C., this week to shake hands with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey. This opportunity was provided Nuszloch as a result of his participation in a student-dealer recruiting contest.

Last summer, on hearing of the President's Youth Opportunity Campaign to find employment for 500,000 youth, Watkins responded by intensifying its recruiting program and pledging to recruit 6,500 student-dealers.

The company conducted a contest in which distributors, counter branch managers and district managers would compete for an all-expense paid trip to Washington, D.C. The contest extended over a three-month period.

District Manager Nuszloch is one of 12 distributors, counter branch managers and district managers, along with the two top student-dealers in the nation, who were awarded the trip to the nation's Capitol.

Council Notified Of NSP Reduction

The City Council was formally notified Monday night that the general service gas rate reduction in the city has been made by Northern States Power Co.

The reduction, according to NSP's letter, amounts to 2.1 cents per 1,000 cubic feet and was effective Nov. 22. It was made possible because of lowered costs of purchasing from the supplier, Northern Natural Gas Co., according to the letter.

An additional refund, totaling $3,802.24, will be passed on to gas consumers by means of a temporary additional reduction of .8 of a cent per 1,000 cubic feet. NSP said this refund will be expended about next May.

The 2.1 cents reduction is permanent, said NSP, and results from reduced costs and lowered federal income tax rates.

Lake City Farm Class

LAKE CITY, Minn. — W. R. Thompson, a trust officer of the Merchants National Bank, Winona, will discuss long-range family planning at a meeting of the Lake City farmers night class at 8:30 p.m. today in the agriculture room of Lake City High School. The topic, "Overlooked Aspects of Family Farm Planning," will deal with wills, transfer of property, taxes, gifts and estate plans, insurance, trust and other youth and family financial planning.

State Hazardous Building Law To Be Studied

Use of a new state law to eliminate hazardous buildings or excavations will be studied for possible applications here, the City Council voted Monday night.

Council action came following a recommendation by City Attorney George M. Robertson Jr., calling attention to the so-called Hazardous Building Law passed by the 1965 Legislature.

According to Robertson's letter, the law provides for repair, remodeling, demolition or removal of hazardous or substandard buildings by city government action. It also gives municipalities authority to order dangerous excavations protected or filled.

Several communities already have used the law successfully, Robertson's letter said. In each case, he wrote, the law has been enforced with the cooperation of the building inspector and city attorney.

Council President Harold Briesath ordered the matter referred to the city building inspector, who will be asked to report at later council sessions.

Buffalo County Gives $989 in Retarded Drive

ALMA, Wis. (Special) — Buffalo County's first annual Retarded Children's campaign has brought in a preliminary total of $989, the Rev. Jerry Kuehn, Alma, county chairman, has announced. Final figures for several towns are still to be received.

Rev. Kuehn estimated that 140 workers were involved in the campaign, distributing 2,300 pieces of informational literature on mental retardation during the two-week solicitation.

Principal reason for the statewide campaign is recognition that each retarded child has an achievement potential. The U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare estimates that one child in every 33 born is destined to be retarded and in need of such programs.

Those who have not had an opportunity to contribute may call or mail their gifts to Allen Kuehn at the American Bank, Alma. He is campaign treasurer.

Hunters Blamed for Cedar Valley Fire

CEDAR VALLEY, Minn. (Special) — Three trees were discovered burning on a bluff on the Kenneth Rice farm in Cedar Valley Sunday about 7 p.m.

Area fire wardens and neighbors were called to assist in controlling the blaze, which spread through leaves and grass because of the high wind. Wardens believed the fire was started by hunters to smoke out game in hollow trees.

He Gets Jackpot

A sneak thief answered the $64 question Monday afternoon when he found out what was in the bag he stole from a La Crosse man's parked truck.

Charles Mullan, of the Stansfield Novelty Co., La Crosse, told police that someone stole a bag filled with $64 in small change from his parked truck Monday about 4 p.m.

The truck was parked at the rear of Ruth's Restaurant, 126 E. 3rd St., when the theft was discovered. Police are investigating.

Two Additional MDT Courses May Be Slated

A request for authorization to make application for approval of two new course offerings in the Winona Area Vocational-Technical School under provisions of the federal Manpower Development & Training Act was made to the Board of Education Monday night by the school's director, Thomas W. Raine.

Under consideration for addition to the school curriculum are courses in the graphic arts field and in mechanical drafting.

THE FIRST would provide training of personnel in the operation of duplicating equipment ranging from simple machines to more complex equipment, the other would give instruction in technical drafting.

If the board authorization is forthcoming and a need for such training established, application would be made for MDT assistance in financing the two programs.

The greatest expenditure would be involved in the graphic arts course which, Raine estimated, would necessitate the purchase of around $35,000 in equipment. The course plan would cover a two-year period during which four classes of 20 students would receive training for 26 weeks.

FEDERAL revenues would probably amount to about $1,000 a student, or $80,000, Raine said. He observed that this might not fully cover the cost of the program and that ultimately the district might be required to contribute around $3,000.

He saw no financial involvement for the district in the technical drafting course.

After hearing the request, board members agreed with President Lawrence S. Santelma's suggestion that Raine obtain additional information for presentation at next Monday's board meeting for possible action at that time.

Savings Claimed For Microfilms At Courthouse

A microfilm card system for filing county deeds and records was considered by the Winona County Board of Commissioners at its opening session Monday afternoon.

The present system of hand-sorting and hand-filing is quite expensive, said Board Chairman Leo Borowski, Goodview. Time and labor involved cost so much that the county could be using this money to pay for a new system, he added.

Compounding the problem is the fact that storage space is becoming extremely limited and storage of such amounts of extra paper constitutes a fire hazard.

Commissioners were told Winona County's present system costs 40-50 cents a document to process and file, whereas microfilm costs would be approximately 8 cents a document.

They scheduled a Jan. 10 inspection trip to Olmsted and Fillmore County microfilm systems.

Engineers List Conditions on Prairie Island

Conditions to be met in order that the Prairie Island dike can enclose certain properties were reviewed by the City Council Monday night.

The conditions were listed in a letter from the Army Corps of Engineers. Authority for riverward extension of the dike in that area now has the approval of higher echelons, according to Maj. Harold Sursa, deputy district engineer for the corps. As local sponsoring agency, the city must, at its expense:

MOVE THE east fence of the deer park a few feet west to clear the dike boundary line. Remove outbuildings near the Isaak Walton League cabin that fall within the project right of way. Remove the Dale Gjerdrum house from project boundaries. Remove septic tanks, cesspools, drain fields and pipelines from within the project area. Remove fence and pens of the George Wos mink farm that are within the project area.

City Attorney George M. Robertson, to whom the letter was referred, noted that most of these conditions have been agreed upon by the city and affected property owners. The corps letter asked that the work be done before April 1, 1966, since the project is slated for completion in the next construction season.

City Engineer James Baird asked if the township or the county should not do the legwork, rather than the city. The lands are outside the city, he pointed out. Council President Harold Briesath said that was how it should have been but that the city had acted because no one else did.

AS Sponsoring agency of government, the city is responsible for accomplishment of the work, said Robertson. However, the responsibility has been delegated by the city to the owners under mutual agreements, he said. The dike section along the river bank at Straight Slough will be about 2,300 feet long. As now planned, it extends from the Isaak Walton cabin eastward to the east boundary of the Wos mink farm, then turns south to the Crooked Slough section.

Soil Borings Made At Tech School Site

The Board of Education Monday night spent a major part of a four-hour committee of the whole meeting discussing plans for a new Winona Area Vocational-Technical School building — its possible location, its physical layout and contemplated course offerings.

The first couple of hours were devoted to consideration of site matters. Although the board previously had decided upon a tract lying near the east city limits, immediately west of Siebrecht's greenhouse and bounded by old and new Highway 61, as the most suitable available location for the new school, no determination has been made as to the exact location of the building in this area if property were to be acquired there.

School Board

IN THIS general area are two principal parcels of land: An 18.5-acre strip adjacent to the greenhouse owned by Winona Management Co., Inc., for which the board holds a 60-day option for purchase at $987 an acre. Lying to the west is a larger tract — estimated at somewhere between 40 and 50 acres — owned by Arthur Noeske and others.

If a final decision were to be made to erect the building in this area — and site selection is subject to approval by the City Council — the board probably would be thinking of a land purchase of something more than 20 acres which is more than the area embraced within the Winona Management tract.

During Monday night's session directors studied maps of the proposed building area and considered locations within it where the school might be built. Superintendent of Schools A. L. Nelson explained that preliminary engineering studies of the overall area indicate that soil conditions vary and that there could be a differential of approximately $26,000 in site development costs depending on exactly where the school were to be placed.

HE SAID that a Twin Cities engineering firm planned to make two soil tests in the area today. One boring previously had been made and results of the additional two tests will be used in an evaluation of soil characteristics by the architect for the building project, W. Smith Architectural & Engineering Services, Winona, for a possible recommendation on which portion of the property might be most suitable for school building purposes.

The soil test engineers just happened to be in Winona this week, directors were informed, and are working on a tight schedule that will allow them time only for the two borings on the proposed school site. If additional tests are deemed advisable by the architects prior to making a recommendation, these would have to be made at some later date.

SO FAR the board has been engaged in no formal negotiations with Noeske for possible purchase of any of his property. Directors agreed Monday that it would be advisable to obtain an appraisal of the entire tract under consideration and called in John Steffen, 222 W. Wabasha St., a real estate appraiser who earlier this year had been retained by the board for an appraisal of property being acquired as a site for the new Senior High School building near the west end of Lake Winona.

Informal agreement was reached that Steffen would make an appraisal of the entire area under consideration, including both the Noeske and Winona Management properties. Steffen would be the principal appraiser, working with an associate to be approved by the board, and the work would be done at a total charge of $250. The tentative agreement with Steffen must be finalized by formal board action, probably at next Monday's regular board meeting.

NELSON mentioned that he had been contacted by the Winona County engineer, Gordon Fay, who had said that he wished to be kept abreast of developments in possible school location in the area under consideration because of planning which has been in progress for the improvement of old Highway 61 in the area.

Meeting with the board was its legal counsel in the vocational school project, Robert D. Langford, who discussed procedural matters involved in the ultimate selection of a school site.

After the board has settled on a site it believes best for school construction, he said, cost data for the project should be assembled and a resolution drafted specifying the need for construction of a school, its desired location and estimated cost. This resolution must be approved by the Council before the board can proceed with final acquisition of property and begin construction of the new school.

THE LATTER part of the session concerned with vocational-technical school matters was devoted to discussion with Thomas W. Raine, director of the school, who briefed directors on most recent developments in the planning phase of the project. Preliminary drawings by architects showing space allotments for various departments show a school that would have exterior dimensions of approximately 315 by slightly more than 400 feet with parking areas for students', teachers' and visitors' cars and an equipment parking area around the perimeter.

Interior construction in certain areas would be such that walls could be moved to accommodate various individual space requirements as need arises. RAINE SAID that course planning for the new school — and this planning is subject to changes as new needs develop — at the present time envisions instruction in 15 basic core areas. Raine said that study had been given to something like 29 specialized areas in which students might receive instruction by combining offerings within the basic core areas.

As it stands now, he said, it would appear that the new school will require four additional laboratory instructors and seven instructors in related subject matter, over and above the present school staff, to implement the current proposal which would serve between 380 and 400 students. The training plan, he noted, must be approved by the State Board of Education.

The basic core areas in the program outline for the first year of operation of the school, scheduled for occupancy in the fall of 1967, include 10 now in the vocational-technical school curriculum. Agricultural science, auto mechanics, general office clerk, highway technician, stenography, machine, tool and die, practical nursing and welding.

PROPOSED AS new core areas would be cosmetology, food services, graphic arts, junior accounting and technical drafting.

Related courses would include, perhaps, instruction in such areas as American institutions and economics, psychology of human relations, various communications courses, including one in technical report writing, and applied mathematics over a broad range of levels.

$35,000 Crash Suit Settled

While the jury was eating lunch Monday, the opposing sides in a personal injury lawsuit were apparently keeping their minds on business in District Court.

At any rate, shortly after the jury returned to resume hearing the case of Walter C. Hoppe, 1851 Gilmore Ave., against N. A. Roverud Co., 21 Liberty St., Judge Arnold Hatfield announced that the attorneys had just reached a settlement.

Amount of the settlement was not disclosed. Hoppe, claiming "whiplash" injuries as the result of a rear-end collision last year, had requested $35,000 compensation in a written complaint filed last winter, however.

Hoppe had been the only witness in the trial, which began Monday morning. He was scheduled to be cross-examined when the case resumed Monday afternoon.

Attorney Duane M. Peterson represented Hoppe, and Attorney William M. Hull represented the Roverud Co.

District Judge Denies Retrial In Garage Case

Judge Arnold Hatfield has denied a motion for new trial in a $1,000 civil suit tried in District Court last October.

The judge found, "Errors of the court were not of sufficient importance to deprive defendants of any substantial rights."

A JURY HAD awarded contractor John C. Breza, 855 W. 5th St., $1,000 in payment for a partially completed garage he built for defendants Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Thaldorf, Winona Rt. 1. Breza had sued for $1,280.

"New trials should not be granted unless there is a reasonable prospect that another trial might result differently..." Judge Hatfield wrote in a memorandum accompanying his order.

The defendants apparently believe they should have their partially completed garage for nothing, the judge noted, because of its defects and an alleged failure to perform the contract.

But the jury was apparently not willing to go this far, Judge Hatfield wrote, although it denied Breza "any compensation for his labor."

ATTORNEY William A. Lindquist had, indeed, argued Nov. 8 that Breza was entitled to nothing for his work or for the materials he put in because the contractor had "willfully abandoned" the job before completion.

Lindquist raised the question whether a contractor can be allowed to abandon a job when he sees that he has underbid it and still collect payment for the labor and materials he has put in. The Thaldorfs' attorney cited Minnesota law to show that, in similar cases, the contractor was denied any payment at all.

Breza's attorney, C. Stanley McMahon, had argued that the Thaldorfs apparently want something for nothing. To go along with this view would obviously be unjust, McMahon told Judge Hatfield, and the jury was right to at least compensate Breza for the materials he put in.

Judge Hatfield extended the 30-day period for Lindquist to file an appeal through Dec. 20. If no appeal has been filed in that time, the jury's judgment will be executed.

Sarnia Apartment Building Gets Final Approval

An ordinance rezoning about half a large lot at 368 E. Sarnia St. from M-1 (light manufacturing) to R-3 (multi-family residential) classification was adopted Monday night by the City Council.

At a public hearing, prior to the vote, no objections to the petition were raised.

The land, owned by Cortland Hauge, is to be the site of a 40-unit complex of apartment buildings. The parcel is about 400 feet deep and 170 feet wide. The south half was previously in the R-3 area but the north half was M-1. No residential building is permitted in manufacturing zones and the R-3 portion was not large enough to furnish required lot space per individual dwelling unit.

Re-zoning was recommended by the City Planning Commission, which also held a public hearing earlier. Chudnow Construction Co., Milwaukee, will erect the buildings. Tentative plans call for three structures, valued at about $400,000. Off-street parking will be provided at the rear of the lot. The development group hopes to begin site preparation very soon, according to a local representative.

At present there are five spaces between the driveway entrance and exit. The three to be vacated are those nearest the exit.

Council Buys Car On $2,090 Bid

The City Council voted Monday night to accept the only bid it received for purchase of a new car by the engineering department.

Net bid submitted by Owl Motor Co. was $2,090.15. The department was allowed $525 trade-in and a deduction of $104.50 for federal taxes. The new car will be a 1966 4-door Ford.

Guthrie Has $20,000 Deficit For 3rd Season

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Minnesota Theater Company operator of the Tyrone Guthrie Theatre, has a deficit of at least $20,000 for its just-completed third-season, a company official said today.

Bradley G. Morison, public relations director of the Guthrie theater, said the deficit could run as high as $80,000 but that the figures will not be known until after Jan. 1.

During its first two seasons the non-profit theater operated in the black, showing net operat- ing surplus of $6,933 during its first season and $3,615 during the second season.

Morison said this year's def- icit will be made up by a Ford Foundation grant protecting the theater against losses during its first three seasons.

Morison said factors, in addi- tion to a drop in average at- tendance, included less than an- ticipated response to "Way of The Miser" from last year was more costly than expected. Five plays were presented this year compared to four last year.

Total attendance this year was about 280,000, including ap- proximately 40,000 at student performances. Last year's at- tendance totaled 251,334, includ- ing 36,704 student admissions.

"The fact that total attend- ance increased is a good sign," Morison said. "What we're try- ing to do is to find the number of weeks that we can run and still come out even."

The season has increased from 20 weeks the first year to 31, including three weeks of student performances, this year. The theater has announced a price increase for next year, tickets to range from $5.50 down to $2, with student tickets remaining at $1.50.

Minnesota to Lose Navy Island Center

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy plans to close the Naval Reserve Training Center at St. Paul. Capitol Hill sources said Monday.

The center, now located on Navy Island, will be consolida- ted with the Naval and Marine Reserve Training Center at the Minneapolis-St. Paul Internati- onal Airport by June 1968.

The Pentagon expects an an- nual saving of $39,300.

Some Closings In Wisconsin

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 50- year-old prison complex will be closed and two Wisconsin-based military units eliminated at a savings of about $4.5 million a year, members of Congress from Wisconsin were informed Monday.

The major portion of the savings will result from the deactivation of the 325th fight- er-interceptor squadron based at Truxav Field, Madison, by June 30, 1966. The estimated annual saving would be $4,177, 000.

The Army's Disciplinary Bar- racks at Milwaukee will be closed by Oct. 1, 1969 at an annual saving of $20,400.

The cutback also eliminated the 95th Marine corps reserve rifle company at Oshkosh. Its personnel will be transferred to inactive ready reserve status. This action is expected to re- sult in an annual saving of $52,205.

The congressional delegation was also notified that the Army would trim 130 acres from its 380 acre reserve training site at Milwaukee.

Defense Secretary McNamara said 149 bases, in 39 states and 10 countries, would be closed at an estimated saving of 410 mil- lion dollars a year.

In addition, the 30th Air Di- vision at Truxav will be inacti- vated by June 30, 1966.

The 325th's F102 fighter planes will be shifted to the Wisconsin Air National Guard unit at Truxav to replace older F89 aircraft.

The prison closing will elimi- nate three military and 18 civ- ilian jobs. The elimination of the 325th will permit the reas- signment of 736 military per- sonnel and the elimination of 11 civilian jobs.

The air force previously an- nounced plans to "phase out" Truxav by 1968.

WE MUST CONGRATULATE Norm Van Brocklin on a magnificent job of self control. However, we imagine that at the expense of being somewhat lighter in the wallet (what with the fines levied by Pete Rozelle), he had to.

Now, before you Packer fans start screaming, we have no gripe with the fact that Green Bay beat the Vikings Sunday. Since the Pack still has a strong (better than that actually with Baltimore's John Unitas out now) title chance going, we'd like to see them meet Cleveland.

But the fact still remains that the Packers did win with what appeared obvious help from the officials in the waning moments of Sunday's clash.

It isn't just in this game that hanky-panky seemed to be going on between the men in striped shirts. It has happened in many games.

The question is, what is the problem and how do you solve it?

It appears to us that a six-man officiating staff is somewhat inflated. The more you watch, the more you get the impression that all of them are trying to justify their existence. Consequently you have them stealing the show, hankies flying from goal line to goal line.

Perhaps NFL commissioner Pete Rozelle is as much at fault as anyone. He hides the officials behind a cloak of white and turns a deaf ear on protests.

Perhaps, too, it's time to give the game back to the men — the men in player uniforms.

Van Brocklin

HATS OFF TO NORTHERN Intercollegiate Conference faculty representatives.

That group threw a rare curve at league athletic directors last week by overriding the ADs' decision on Winona as baseball champion.

You remember a chapter in this space not so long ago, telling that the athletic bosses — Winona's Bob Campbell the only one not going along with the measure — had recommended the Warriors forfeit two games, that hadn't been made-up, to Mankato. Nothing was said of Winona's tie with Bemidji.

Now the faculty reps have made the championship a two-way affair between St. Cloud and Winona. They also disagreed with a rule recommendation that rained out games

Campbell made up with the exception of those played on the season's final weekend.

We learned that the officials nearly tossed the entire issue out and made Winona sole titlist.

At any rate, it appears justice has been served to at least some extent.

THE SWAMI IS REELING, drunk with power after a weekend that saw him capitalizing on 36 of 43 picks for a .837 percentage.

That has to be his best night since his affiliation here.

Those successful guesses also showed in the overall percentage, where he now has hit 105 of 143 for .734.

Now for tonight: COTTER over Faribault Bethlehem Academy 67-56. "The Ramblers are due for a victory — and a good game."

Kasson-Mantorville over Stewartville 68-62, Northfield over Le Sueur 76-61, Chatfield over La Crescent 62-58, Lanesboro over Peterson 57-49, Grand Meadow over Wykoff 68-53, Fairchild over Alma Center 66-50, Plum City over Gilmanton 49-45, Trempealeau over Taylor 58-56, Onalaska Luther over Onalaska 66-61, Bangor over Cashton 78-66, Caledonia Loretto over Lansing St. George 57-53, Mondovi over Fall Creek 60-56, Durand over Elmwood 59-53.

INCIDENTALLY BOWLERS, the Daily News 300 Club is open for membership. There are a couple of stipulations: You have to have rolled 15 games, men must maintain 160 averages and women 150 averages — and you must hit less than 400.

We do have two new faces in the Club already this year. They are Orvilla Cisewski of E.B.'s Corner in the Athletic Club Go Getters League and Roy Nelson of the Monday-night League at Red Men's Club.

Roy tapped 363 to go with a 171 average, while Orvilla, who averages 153 copped

Gophers Put Rating on Line Tonight

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minnesota, ranked seventh in this week's Associated Press basketball poll, lays its rating on the line tonight in Williams Arena against a dangerous Drake team.

The Gophers, victors last week over North Dakota (73-59) and Iowa State (80-69), will have 6-foot-6 senior forward Dennis Dvoracek back in action after he missed the Iowa State game with a broken nose.

Dvoracek may wear a face mask, and he may start — sending Wes Martins to the bench. The Bulldogs, who have beaten William Jewell college (96-68) and South Dakota State (90-63), are a tall, high-scoring outfit described by Minnesota Coach John Kundla as stronger than either North Dakota or Iowa State.

Drake's starting line-up of 6-foot-7 Gary Lovemark and 6-3 Harold Aldridge at forwards, 6-10 Bob Netolicky at center and 6-3 Harold Jeter and 6-1 Herman Watson at guards, averages 6-5.

To match that kind of height, the Gophers will have to start Dvoracek instead of Martins, who is 5-11.

Netolicky has scored 41 points in two games to pace Drake's scoring, while Jeter has 31 points, reserve Erwin Cox, 29, Watson 22 and Lovemark and Aldridge 14 apiece. Lovemark is a former Robbinsdale, Minn., high school star who spent his freshman year at Minnesota.

Junior forward Paul Presthus is Minnesota's top scorer and rebounder so far. The Rugby, N.D., product has scored 37 points and hauled down 23 rebounds in two outings. Lou Hudson is next in scoring with 36, while Archie Clark has 35, Martins 18 and sophomore center, Tom Kondia, 17.

Statistics Tell Tale of Loss

Pioneers Cop 100-84 Win

By GARY EVANS
Daily News Sports Editor

Statistics will show you that Winona State did lose its basketball game to Platteville in the second half Monday night.

It was in that 20-minute segment that the Pioneers outshot the Warriors 56-35 in percentage and took a 33-26 edge in rebounding.

And those two factors were the major reasons the score board read 100-84 after the final gun.

That means Bob Campbell, who observed that his team ran out of gas, is searching for a quick cure to several nuisance injuries that have left his team at less than peak effectiveness.

He will have two days of practice time in which to cure the ills. State Thursday makes a downriver trip to Dubuque, Iowa, and a bout with Loras.

"One of these days," mused Campbell, "we're going to have everyone healthy. That would be nice."

The first half Monday was as even as a game could be. Both teams shot 55 percent, both captured 29 rebounds and the score at intermission was 52-52. Platteville led 14-6 in mechanical errors, the State press taking its toll.

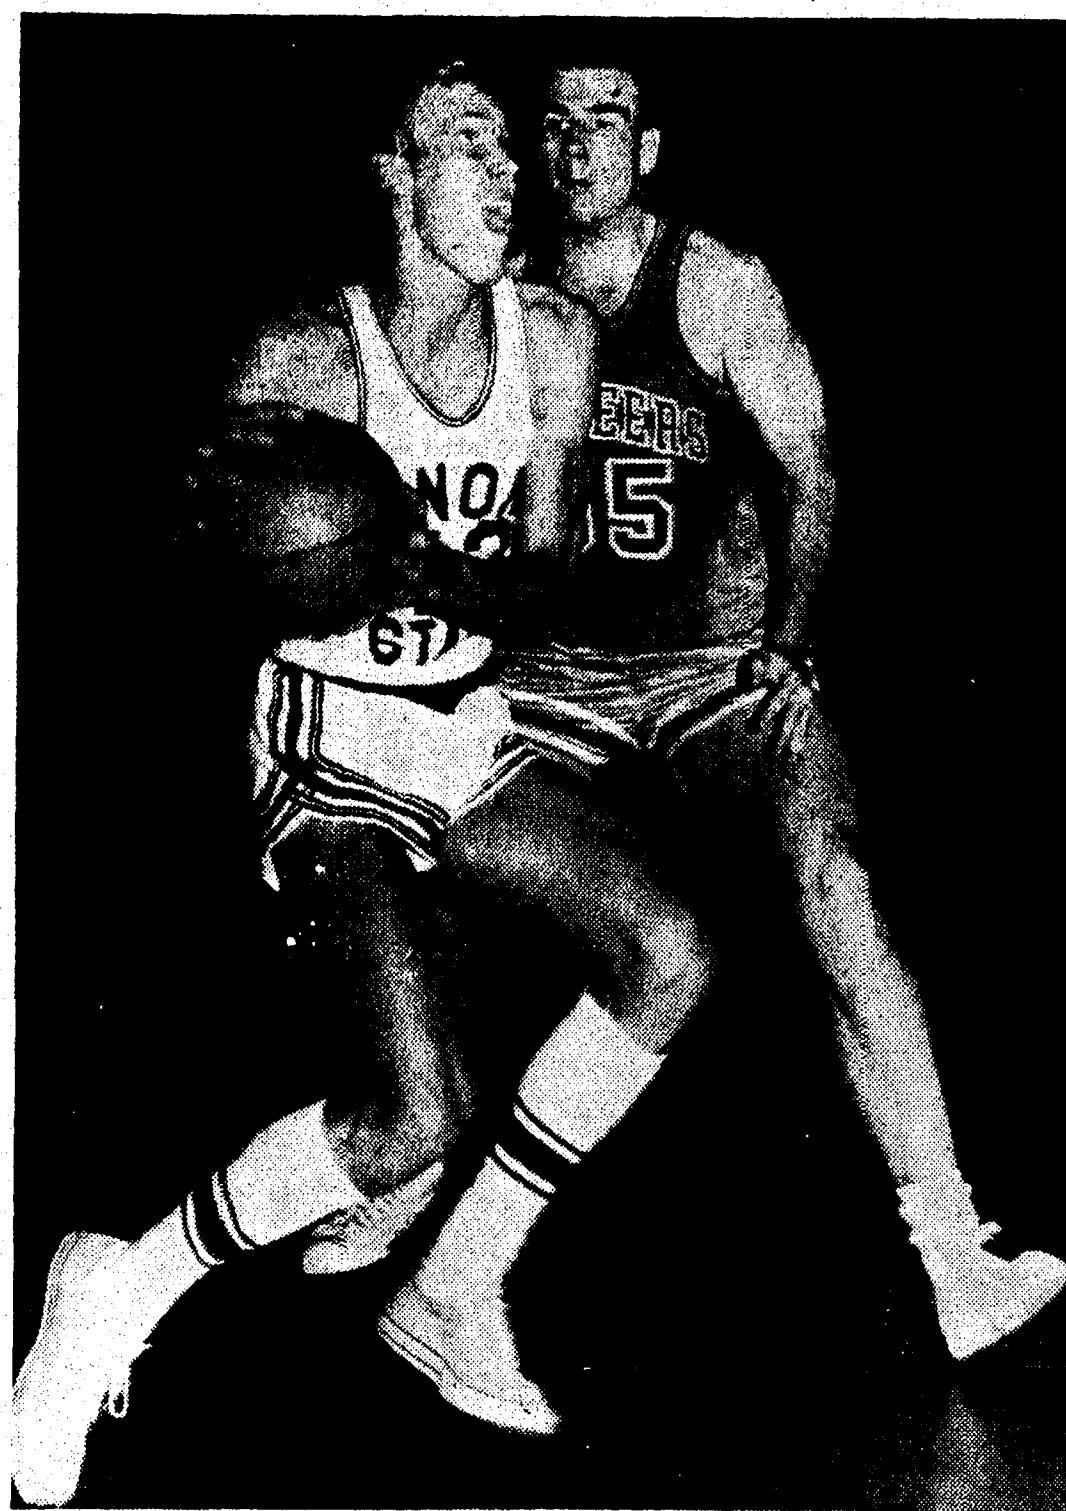

But the Warriors reversed form early in the second 20 minutes.

After a 54-54 tie, the Pioneers ran down six consecutive points on two free throws each by Ery Henderson and mighty mite Guy Gust and a free throw line jumper from ex-Cotter great Gene Schultz.

In fact, Schultz created more than just minor damage, scoring 18 points for the game — his fourth consecutive double-figure evening — while directing Platteville's press-breaking game.

THE CONTEST, in more than just a few parts, was reserved for the Cotter grads playing in it. Mike Jeresek, who two years ago had teamed with Schultz in the Rambler starting lineup, laced in 21 points to tie Gary

Lakers Need Baylor, Fall To Philadelphia

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Judging from the latest whipping the Los Angeles Lakers took from the Philadelphia 76ers, one fact stands out: Elgin Baylor had better get well soon if the Lakers are to retain their Western Division title in the National Basketball Association.

NBA action returned to Charleston, W.Va., for the first time in six years Monday night with two West Virginians returning home, Jerry West of the Lakers and Philly's Hal Greer. And the 76ers pounded the Lakers for a 116-107 victory.

A crowd of 5,800 turned out to see the local boys who made good. West who was an All-America at West Virginia University, was the game's high scorer with 34 points but that was about all the Lakers had to cheer about.

Greer, who played his college basketball at Marshall University in Huntington, W.Va., contributed 24 points to a Philadelphia attack that was anchored, as usual, by Wilt Chamberlain with 29 points.

The game was the only NBA action of the night.

Baylor, one of the league's standouts for several years, has missed several games because of a recurring knee ailment.

Cotter Plan: Top Defense

Cotter High School's basketball season is only two games old, and already it's turning into one of the longest in history for coach John Nett and his Rambler squad.

Normally the scourge of parochial school basketball in Southern Minnesota, Cotter has had its problems getting untracked this season, losing both its outings.

And Nett will agree that things don't look bright for the Ramblers. But by Friday night the entire situation could be changed.

"I suppose we're at the state now where a victory would make the kids feel a lot better," said Nett. "A win would bring out some of the things we're looking for."

And No. 1 on the list of things that Nett and staff are searching for is some defensive effort.

"The defense has been our biggest problem. Anytime you score 68 points in a game you should win," commented Nett of the Ramblers' 71-68 loss to St. Paul Hill last time out. "The lack of experience is part of it, and we're not particularly fast, this is another factor. But maybe we're just offensive minded," chuckled the dean of Winona coaches.

Tonight, Cotter travels to Faribault for a scrap with Bethlehem High School, and then Friday night it's back home to do battle with arch rival Wabasha St. Felix at St. Mary's new athletic plant.

To make matters worse for Nett's defense-less club, the Ramblers will be going into tonight's game without the slightest idea of what Bethlehem holds in store.

"I know they lost a lot through graduation," said the Rambler coach, "but they've won a couple games, so I don't really know what to expect."

So for Cotter, things will be pretty much at the status quo concerning who will play Jim Holmsay, Mike Twomey and Chuck Kulas will be in the front line, with Tom Wenzel and Bob Allaire in the back court.

"We did some experimenting last night in practice but we didn't come up with anything," said Nett. "With two games this week, we won't get much of a chance to do anything but go over some of the things we've learned."

"Next week we'll have all week long to work on some things we need work on." Namely defense!

Four-Way Battle for Viking Halfback Job

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — With Tommy Mason lost for the rest of the season, the Minnesota Vikings will have four other gridders competing for the fleet halfback's job.

Rookie Jim Young was activated from the taxi squad Monday to bring the team up to its full quota. It appears veterans Phil King or Billy Ray Barnes or rookie Dave Osborn will have the advantage over the newcomer as Coach Norm Van Brocklin sits them out during this week's practice for the game at Detroit Sunday.

Mason, who injured his right knee again in the Green Bay game last Sunday, will have surgery Wednesday or Thursday to remove loose cartilage. The Vikings' physician, Dr. Donald Lannin, said it is a relatively simple operation, but Mason won't be able to play in the team's remaining two games.

Mason, who'd been sidelined three weeks with torn ligaments prior to the game against the Packers, made a gallant comeback until his knee buckled as he cut inside end for a fourth quarter gain.

He had helped generate the Minnesota offense with 101 yards on 21 carries, scored a touchdown and caught four passes.

Young is 21, 6 feet and 205 pounds. A Canadian, he played his college football at Queens University in Ontario.

Barnes, who replaced Mason Sunday, picked up 29 yards in four carries and Osborn got seven yards in one carry.

Mason finishes the 1965 season with 597 yards gained on 141 rushes, a 4.2 average. That gives him a five-year career total of 3,047 yards on 703 carries for a 4.3 average—which, of course, is the Viking team record. The fleet Tulane product scored 11 touchdowns this year, giving him a Minnesota record 36 for his career.

Bill Brown, the Vikings' No. 1 ground gainer this year with 654 yards on 143 carries for 12 games, is next on the Viking all-time rushing list with 2,068 yards on 531 tries for a 3.9 average in three years-plus.

Fran Tarkenton, below par Sunday with only 11 pass completions in 30 attempts for 106 yards, now has completed 145 of 276 aerials for 2,197 yards and 15 touchdowns. Paul Flatley still is the top target with 46 catches for 825 yards, while Brown has caught 36 for 478 and Mason 22 for 321.

gas line freeze
(before it stops you cold!)

"My advice, sir - get De-Icer!"

Here we go again. Wintertime driving is here and with it, those built-in problems that make life miserable. Like a frozen gas line. When moisture collects in your gas line, then freezes, the supply of fuel to the engine is choked off. You're stopped cold. But you can avoid the tow truck trip—just use American, Regular or American, Super-Premium Gasoline. Each contains the real thing—DE-ICER—to prevent gas line freeze down to 40° below. # Redmen Six Will Open Against Strong St. John's on Wednesday

By GARY EVANS
Daily News Sports Editor
It was just one week ago that St. Mary's College hockey coach Tim McNeill cast a worried eye on a darkened sky and hoped for the worst. The coach's silent prayer was for cold weather, so cold St. Mary's would have ice in its hockey rink for practice this week.

Well, the weatherman paid little heed to the plight of the Redmen and the skaters will be going into their opener against St. John's at Aldrich Arena, St. Paul, Wednesday night with less than adequate rink experience.

"From last Tuesday on," said McNeill, "we've worked an hour and a half each day on Lake Biesanz. I guess we've accomplished as much as we can under the circumstances. But with no boards, you are limited in what you can do.

"I just hope we've been able to come far enough. We don't know much about St. John's and I'm sure they don't know much about us. I would imagine there will be quite a bit of experimenting going on."

The Creton High School and St. Thomas graduate, who realistically optimistic as he prods the Redmen to seek their third consecutive MIAC championship.

"We've lost some good skaters, but we do have a few good boys back," he states. "But it's going to be a race where four or five teams have a chance. The MIAC this year has four or five good clubs — not super teams, but good teams."

Most notable of the departees is Andre Beaulieu, who concluded a memorable four-year career at Terrace Heights by scoring 68 points a year ago.

Then, too, defenseman Bob Magnuson and forward Don Berrigan went with graduation. Those losses have left the Redmen with a depth problem.

Returning lettermen number eight. Leading the brigade is Bob Paradise, 200-pound defenseman and captain.

The assistant captain is Mike Bishop, another senior who weighs 185. With these two operating, McNeill has no worries. But he must find a third man to backstop the duo. Freshman Brian Palmer might solve the problem, but chances are he won't be ready for early matches.

Five of the lettermen are forwards. They are Dennis Cooney, Brian Desbiens, Yvon Thibodeau, Jean Cardin and Dave Brekke. Rounding out the group is goalie Jerry Archambeau.

Most promising of the newcomers is forward Bill Rossini, 5-11 175-pound freshman from St. Paul Creton.

"He likes the game," said McNeill, who coached Rossini at Creton before moving on to Robbinsdale Cooper and now to St. Mary's. "He'll go both ways. He's going to have to play quite a bit."

The way it stacks up now, Cooney will center the first line with Cardin operating at right wing and Desbiens at left wing.

Thibodeau, for whom McNeill has much praise, will center the second line with Rossini at right wing and freshman Larry Shomion, another Creton grad, at left wing.

"What we need most," said the coach, "is hockey maturity. We can't get that from the tennis courts and blackboard."

Before cooler weather sets in, the Redmen confine their activities to shooting pucks at cages on the tennis courts and holding court before a blackboard in the new field house.

Who does McNeill favor in this year's title race?

St. Thomas, St. John's, Gustavus and Augsburg should have fine teams," he assesses. "What about St. Mary's?"

"Well," he smiled, "I'm realistically optimistic, but I know the other teams are out to get us. Everyone wants to beat the champion."

Following Wednesday's game, the Redmen return to Aldrich to meet Concordia at 5 p.m. Friday. That is their last action before the holidays.

Lombardi: 'Only One Mr. Unitas'

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—"There's only one Mr. Unitas," said Green Bay Coach Vince Lombardi. "I think he'd be a great loss to the Colts."

That remark might seem like an understatement to Baltimore fans but it pinpointed the respect the Packers have for quarterback John Unitas, who was sidelined for the remainder of the season after he wrenched his knee Sunday.

The Packers also lost quarterback Bart Starr Sunday but Starr says he'll "definitely be ready to play" in Sunday's key National Football League Western Conference game against Baltimore.

The Colts, who lost to Chicago 13-0 Sunday, are now only one-half game ahead of Green Bay with two games left.

Starr jammed the ring finger on his throwing hand Sunday and missed most of the 24-19 victory over Minnesota.

"The finger felt fine today," said Starr. "It hurts just a little, but I've had this before and recovered quickly."

Referring to Unitas' injury Starr said, "I'd rather have a dozen of these jammed fingers than one injury. Starr said he was warming up with snaps from center Bill Curry when the injury occurred.

Starr said he had no idea how the Colts would play without Unitas. "I've never seen the Colts without him," he said, "I couldn't honestly say how their play will be affected."

Starr called Unitas' understudy, Gary Cuozzo, "a fine quarterback."

Linebacker Ray Nitschke, who has spent many an afternoon pursuing Unitas, said, "I've never played against any other Colt quarterback except Unitas. They say Cuozzo is just as good, that remains to be seen."

"This could be our season after all," Nitschke added.

Johnnies Leave For Georgia and NAIA Title Bout

COLLEGEVILLE, Minn. (AP)—The St. John's University football team leaves wintry Minnesota Wednesday morning for the warmer breezes of Augusta, Ga., where the Johnnies on Saturday will battle for their second National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics' championship in three years.

Coach John Gagliardi and his team fly out of Minneapolis-St. Paul International Airport on a chartered plane with high hopes of regaining the NAIA title they won in 1963 by beating Sam Houston, Tex., State 33-27 at Sacramento, Calif.

The Johnnies meet Linfield College of McMinnville, Ore., in the finals of the NAIA playoffs Saturday afternoon at Augusta.

St. John's, Minnesota Intercollegiate Conference champion owns a 10-0 season record after beating Fairmont State of West Virginia, 28-7, in the NAIA semi-finals Nov. 27.

Linfield is 8-1 for the season after beating Sul Ross of Texas, 30-27, in the other NAIA semi-final game on tackle Tim Kubli's 36-yard field goal with 49 seconds left.

St. John's was ranked no. 9 in the final Associated Press small college football poll, but was the NAIA's no. 1-ranked team.

Both teams are veterans to the NAIA playoffs. Linfield lost 12-7 to Pittsburg, Kan., State in the 1961 NAIA finals, then bowed 28-6 to Concordia, Minn., College in a semi-final game last year at Fargo, N. D.

Gagliardi scouted that Concordia-Linfield game, but admits, "I didn't pay too much attention to them. I was scouting Concordia for this year."

Petersen for Warrior honors. But in spite of Jeresek's point contribution, the Statesmen got outmuscled by a slippery Pioneer attack that ran down a bevy of layups in each half to snare its third victory in four starts.

State did make one determined push in the second half, bringing the score to 64-63 for Platteville on Tim Anderson's free throw with 14 minutes remaining.

BUT THE Pioneers burst out of reach. Ken Sprague dropped a free throw. Gary Olson hit a short jumper. Gust canned a free throw. Schultz a drive and Sprague two layups. That made it 74-63 and the Pioneers would never again be seriously troubled.

They increased the lead with just under four minutes left when Gust's free throw rolled it out to 96-78.

Mel Homuth then hit a free throw for Winona. But Joe Tilley made it 98 on a drive and when Willie Lucas broke through to successfully turn an errant free throw into a field goal, the score went to 100-79 with 2:20 left.

"THEY didn't do anything to help us," said Campbell, "but then we didn't do anything to help ourselves either."

Much of the credit for the Platteville win must go to Gust, who at 6-1 fought the bigger Warriors to a standstill, scoring 26 points for game honors in the process. Erv Henderson, the big man with deft outside touch, dropped 20 and Sprague 13.

For Winona, Petersen got his entire production — 21 — in the first half. Dave Meisner hit 18 and Tim Anderson 11.

Winona is now 1-4 after four consecutive losses.

West Central Changes Face; Durand Moves

Area high school athletes will be facing some new competition within the next year or two.

The West Central Conference will be an eight-member loop beginning in the fall of 1966, while Pepin, now of the West Central, and independent Durand will be joining new circuits.

Alma, Pepin, Taylor, Fairchild, Gilmanston and Arkansas currently make up the West Central, but at the beginning of the next school year, Pepin will move into the Dunn-St. Croix Conference, a loop which Arkansas belonged to until a year ago.

This will leave five original West Central teams, plus three new ones which will join. The new members will be Immanuel Lutheran of Eau Claire, Wabasha St. Felix and Lima Sacred Heart of Durand.

Immanuel Lutheran is currently an independent school, while Lima and Wabasha are now members of the five-team Bi-State Conference. That will leave only Caledonia Loretto, Onalaska Lutheran and Rollingstone Holy Trinity as members of the Bi-State.

The new West Central Conference will participate in basketball, baseball, track and cross country.

Durand, which went independent when the Mississippi Valley Conference became defunct two years ago, will join the Middle Border Conference.

The opening for Durand was made when Colfax decided to move to the Dunn-St. Croix. Durand will be playing against teams from New Richmond, River Falls, Hudson, Ellsworth, Baldwin - Woodville, Glenwood City and Spring Valley.

Hohmeister's 252-615 for City Honors

It must be the Christmas spirit. Winona bowlers are feeling charitable toward the maples all across town.

December has been a barren month for local keglers, and Monday night was no exception as all top ten divisions went unscathed again.

Hal-Rod Lanes' VFW League produced the best count of the night as Bill Hohmeister uncoiled a 615 series on games of 252-204-159.

Hohmeister's total paced Watson's Supper Club to 975-2,847. Joe Stolpa also aided Watson's cause with a 581 errorless on games of 188-213-180.

The only other men's honor count in the city also was rolled at Hal-Rod in the City circuit. Ken Tepe topped 246-601 for Pepsi Cola. Team laurels went to Bub's with 998 and Bunkes Apco with 2,818.

George Kratz registered a 541 errorless.

And as usual on a Monday evening, the Westgate Pin Topplers League turned out the best women's scores. Vivian E. Brown led a quintet of 500s with a 536 for Main Tavern, while Betty Schoonover rocked 208-528 for Winona Paint & Glass. Wally's rattled 909, and Coca Cola slapped 2,551.

Other 500s belonged to Mona Maliszewski with 530, Helen Nelson with a 501 and Esther Pozanc with an errorless 501.

WINONA ATHLETIC CLUB: Monday League — Honors were scattered all over the place as Ralph Hardtke stopped 240 for Polly Meadow and Larry Koskovich whipped 555 for Home Beverage Service. Joswick's Fuel & Oil Co. nailed 1,021 and Schlitz Beer came up with 2,813.

Go Getters — Graham-McGuire swiped team laurels with 831-2,369, while Betty Haedke's 168-464 for Circle G. Ranch was the best individual effort.

HAL-ROD: Park Rec Jr. Girls — Cindy Kaehler patted 146 and Carol Lilla rattled 282 as the pair sparked All-Stars to 606-1,162.

RED MEN'S: Monday Nite — League-leading Schmidt's came up with 912, but last place Bub's had the best series with 2,647. Henry Fegre riddled 201-481 for Doerers.

WESTGATE: Alley Gater's—Ruth Buerck rocked 189-498 for Williams, as Montgomery Wards rapped 932 and Fenske Body Shop hit 2,539. Ruth Buerck converted the 6-7 and Mary Drussell the 5-8-10.

Ladies — Joan Loer led Safra-neck's to 928 with her 501, while sub Leona Lubinski also added a helping hand with 199. Grulkowski Beauty Shop nailed 2,608.

Community—Hackbarth Feed Mill totaled 2,791 behind Bob McNally's 580, while high single was split between Lyle Jacobson of Schlitz Beer and Rolfe Hanson of Schmidt's Beer, both with 216.

Tournament won by Tommy Bolt, who is in this year's lineup.

And it will be the first time Nicklaus, top money winner in 1965, has teamed with Palmer in a PGA tournament.

There will be 108 two-man teams competing for $20,000 first-place money in the 72-hole event, to be played over two courses at the PGA National Golf Club.

HART IN AT PITT, JONES OUT AT OKLAHOMA Coaches Play Musical Chairs

Gomer Jones is out at Oklahoma, Dave Hart is in at Pitt and the annual game of musical chairs in the football coaching ranks is well under way.

Jones resigned at Oklahoma and Hart, a Navy assistant, was hired at Pitt in rapid-fire order Monday, while Dartmouth's Bob Blackman continued to weigh the possibilities of a shift to Iowa.

All of which just pointed up the annual post-season shifting of major college coaching jobs, just getting under way this season.

Here's a thumbnail sketch of the situation at the moment:

Pitt—John Michelosen was fired Nov. 24 after a miserable 3-7 season. Hart, an assistant at Navy, was hired to fill the vacancy Monday.

Oklahoma—Jones quit Monday after a 3-7 record that was the worst in the school's history. He remains as athletic director. Job is open.

Iowa—Jerry Burns and his entire staff were fired Nov. 16 — with one game still to go — after losing all seven Big Ten games in a 1-9 season. Job is open, and Dartmouth's Blackman appears to have the inside track.

Stout Rolls For Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Stout, displaying strong rebounding and accurate shooting, rolled over winless Superior 81-70 Monday night while River Falls had to battle for a 67-62 victory over La Crosse (0-1) to remain tied with the Blue Devils for first place in the Wisconsin State University conference basketball race.

The victories left River Falls and Stout with identical 2-0 WSUC records and 3-0 marks overall.

In two non-conference games, Wisconsin-Milwaukee defeated Whitewater 85-78 and Platteville rapped Winona 100-84.

Duke—Bill Murray quit Nov. 20 moments after Blue Devils whipped North Carolina 34-7 for a 6-4 record. Job is open.

Tulane—Tommy O'Boyle quit Nov. 24 after disastrous 62-0 rout by Louisiana State in season finale. Job is open.

Hart, 38, was given a three-year contract at Pitt. Salary terms were not disclosed. Pitt Athletic Director Frank Carver said Hart was picked "because he is aggressive and articulate."

Michelosen, who had a 55-49-7 record in his 11 years as head coach, has been offered another job at Pitt, his alma mater.

Carver said Bud Wilkinson, former Oklahoma coach and now a sportscaster, has been offered the job but declined. Wilkinson's name also cropped up in speculation after Jones quit as the Sooners' coach.

Asked about reports he might be interested in returning to coaching, Wilkinson chuckled and said: "I've been asked that question or the reverse of it for 25 years. All the years I was coaching, people asked me when I was going to quit. Now that I've quit, they want to know when I'm going to go into coaching again."

McKinley, behind Bruce La Vasser's six points, handed Sunbeam Bread its first loss 13-10. Paint Depot dumped American Legion 23-14 with Rick Massie hitting 10. Dave Kujala had nine for the Legion.

In the other game, Winona Hotels fell before Coca-Cola 10-6 as Don Florin had all but two of Coke's points.

Area High Scorers to Get Underfire Tests Tonight

Some of the areas highest scoring cagers will be in action tonight in a pair of Wisconsin conference games.

When Alma Center and Fairchild take to the floor at the latter's home court, each team will have several cagers on the floor capable of shooting the eyes out of the basket.

For Alma Center, Gene Janke has been averaging 19 points per game with teammates Dale Cummings (15.7) and Jim Collins (12.7) not far behind. Fairchild can counter with a pair of deadeyes of its own in Mike Laffe, with a 19.3 average and Dennis Blang (16.7).

At Onalaska Luther two more high scoring quintets go to it as the host school takes on cross-town rival Onalaska Public.

Luther has three men averaging in double figures in the persons of Don Larson (19), Dave Wilder (14) and Ken Stratman (11). The invading Hilltoppers will match that with Bob Berg (19), Tom Peck (16.7) and Ron Smith (16.3).

Another game in the area sends Kasson - Mantorville to Stewartville in a Hiawatha Valley encounter.

In nonconference action, Chatfield entertains La Crescent, Peterson is at Lanesboro, Wykoff travels to Grand Meadow, Gilman hosts Plum City, Taylor journeys to Trempealeau, Bangor is at home against Cashton, Lansing St. George invades Caledonia Loretto, Mendon plays host to Fall Creek and Durand is at Elmwood.

Toms Swamp Moorhead; 4th Straight Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
St. Thomas' balanced attack, led by Mark Miller with 18 points, swamped Moorhead 84-42 Monday night as the Tommies won their fourth straight basketball game without loss.

Jim Jahr scored 21 for Moorhead, which dropped to a 1-2 season mark. The Tommies led at the half, 42-18.

In other Minnesota college action, Morris downed St. John's 77-69 and Winona dropped a 100-84 decision to Plattville, Wis.

Wayne Brabender poured in 30 points on nine field goals and 12 free throws to lead Morris to its first victory in four starts. The loss left St. John's at 0-3.

Tonight's schedule has Gustavus at Augustana of South Dakota, Augsburg at Careton and Bernidji at Mayville, N. D.

Rushford Lions Try to Revive Skiing Interest

RUSHFORD, Minn. (Special) — To revive enthusiasm for skiing at Rushford, the ski committee of the Lions Club, with Amos Bakken as chairman, has planned a program of skiing films and talks by top ski jumpers at the high school activity room Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Two Westby skiers will be here to inspire new interest in the sport, including Lyle Swenson, a former Olympic jumper. Also on hand to talk will be Maynard Surud, La Crescent, former Class 'A' CUSSA jumper who has been a ski jumping judge for many years.

Plans for this winter include a training schedule with a good ski instructor, putting lights on the downhill section that was cleared last year, and attempting to reorganize the Hillcrest Ski Club.

For many years Rushford was a skiing town and produced some fine jumpers. Through the efforts of the Lions club the hill and jumps were rebuilt since 1956 to meet specifications of the Central U.S. Ski Association for junior jumping. In the last two years, however, the number of young skiers has dwindled to a point where it is difficult to have a jumping team.

Interest will be revived in family skiing also. Parents are urged to attend the meeting with the school children.

McGuire Makes Big Catch, Wants More

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
South Carolina's Frank McGuire is bating his fish hook today after making the first big catch of the college basketball season.

McGuire's Gamecocks stunned Duke, the nation's third-ranked team, 73-71 Monday night and jubilant South Carolina students showed their appreciation by cutting down the nets at each basket and presenting them to the coach.

"Now I can go fishing," quipped McGuire, who has started his second season at South Carolina with a 3-0 mark after a dismal 6-17 finish last winter.

When McGuire said before the season that he'd settle for 10 victories he wasn't counting on the powerful Blue Devils for one of them. But soph Frank Stewart's field goal with 15 seconds to play pulled off the upset, capping a second-half comeback that wiped out a seven-point

SAN FRANCISCO — Three Minnesota Gopher football players, including All America end Aaron Brown, have been named to the East squad for the East-West game here Dec. 31.

Other Gophers who were picked Monday are quarterback John Hankinson and tackle Gale Gillingham. Coach Murray Warmath is an assistant coach for the East in the annual charity game sponsored by Shriners.

BAITMORE — Jack Brandt, who some observers feel still hasn't lived up to his baseball potential at age 31, will have a chance to impress new bosses next season.

The Baltimore Orioles traded the veteran outfielder along with pitcher Darold Knowles to the Philadelphia Phillies Monday for relief pitcher Jack Baldschun.

NEW YORK — Green Bay has been awarded the playoff game should the National Football League's Western Conference end in a deadlock.

The tie breaker would be played Dec. 26.

Coin flips, with representatives from Green Bay, Baltimore and Chicago participating on a conference telephone Monday, determined the playoff site.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. — New Mexico quarterback and safety Stan Quintana announced Monday he had signed with the Minnesota Vikings of the National Football League for a substantial bonus.

Quintana also said he will play in the Senior Bowl game in Mobile, Ala., early next year.

Staubach Inks Optional Pact

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The latest name in pro football's battle of the signature is one out of the past — Roger Staubach.

The ex-Navy quarterback, who won the Heisman Trophy in 1963, signed an optional contract with Dallas of the National Football League Monday, but it will be at least four years before he can climb into a Cowboy uniform.

Staubach, who graduated from Annapolis in 1964, is legally bound to serve in the Navy until June 1969. The Cowboys made it clear that their agreement does not obligate Staubach to leave the naval service.

YMCA Slates Busy Cage Week

Grade school and junior high school basketball players have a busy week facing them at the YMCA.

Cagers will get a chance to learn the fundamentals of the sport prior to the season opening when a special clinic will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the gymnasium.

Players are urged to sign up for league play as soon as possible. Grade school and junior high seasons will start Saturday. Grades 5-7 will play from 9-10 a.m., grades 7-8 from 11 a.m.-12 noon, and grades 9-10 from noon to 2 p.m.

An adult league will also start Jan. 5 running every Wednesday and Thursday evening from 7-9 p.m. There are still few openings for players. Any aspiring cager can register by calling the "Y".

Francis Has Tough Bout On Hands

NEW YORK (AP) — Emile Francis who traded angry words with a goal judge and swapped punches with a fan two weeks ago has a tougher fight on his hands today.

The scrappy New York Ranger general manager has the task of guiding the Blues back to the National Hockey League ladder after replacing Red Sullivan as coach Monday. It could be more easily said than done.

Francis, who has rebuilt the club with a series of major trades in the 13 months since he took over as general manager, takes command with the Rangers in the midst of a six-game winless string that has dropped them back to fifth place, only two points in front of cellar-dwelling Boston.

New York has managed just one victory in the last 10 starts and only two in the last 14. Sullivan, starting his third full season as coach, was caught in the middle of the slide, blaming first the players for not giving 60 minutes of effort in every game and then backing off and blaming himself for overworking the team.

Francis nearly precipitated a full-scale riot in Madison Square Garden two weeks ago when he raced from his side arena seat to argue with goal judge Arthur Reichert over a disputed call.

The scrappy ex-goaltender got into a squabble with some fans and a dozen Ranger players had to scale the glass partition to rescue their diminutive boss.

The incident cost Francis and his players $1,800 in fines from NHL President Clarence Campbell.

Koufax Takes ERA Title in NL

CINCINNATI (AP) — Sandy Koufax won the National League's earned run title for a record fourth straight time and paced the circuit's pitchers in seven other categories, the official 1965 averages released today.

The Los Angeles Dodgers' southpaw, winner of the Cy Young Award as the major league's outstanding pitcher, compiled a 2.04 ERA. He also led in games won with 26, winning percentage .765, strikeouts 382, complete games 27, innings pitched 336, most batsmen faced 1,297 and longest winning streak, 11 games. His strikeout total set a major league mark.
