Found Stripped

A car theft and two attempted break-ins were reported Saturday to Sheriff George L. Fort. The sheriff said an official of Owl Motor Co., 4th and Main streets, called early Saturday afternoon to report a 1965 red Mustang auto missing from the company's used car lot. However, the car was found Saturday abandoned and partially stripped at the Ramsden orchard in Homer Valley. The thief had stripped all the exposed wires from the car's engine, taken the spare tire from the trunk and removed some articles from the car's interior, according to the sheriff.

The thief had also apparently attempted to jack up the car on blocks to remove the other cution of the sentence was defour tires, but the ground had layed while Murphy faced anbeen too soft for a jack, the sheriff said.

Polish Cardinal Says World Needs Love, Not Steel

WARSAW, Poland, (AP) The world needs not steel but love," Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski said Friday night in a sermon defending the Polish Roman Catholic Church in its conflict with the Communist government.

Apparently referring to totalitarian regimes, the Polish primate said: "There are big powers which ... cover the fields with cemeteries in the defense and construction of a new life. But the people call on the Church because the Church has Christ. . .

Replying to demands that the clergy restrict itself to religious matters, Cardinal Wyszynski added, "All the world, believers and non-believers, perhaps even Communists, wanted the (Vatican) Ecumenical Council to say something, to take a position on all problems of the contemporary world — peace, economic and political life, freedom."

Thoughts at Random — From Editor's Notebook

(Executive Editor Gordon R. Closway is on vacation. This column today has been written by other members of the editorial staff.)

JUST A THOUGHT, but wouldn't it be nice to have Mickey Mantle address a Winona gathering?

Actually the thought is not as remote as it seems for the famous Yankee is convalescing in Rochester following shoulder surgery at the Mayo Clinic. And since Mantle is an out-patient, he should be free for a few engagements.

It wouldn't be the first time a famous sports personality came to Winona by way of Rochester. Several will call to mind the time Bob Feller, former great pitcher, spoke here during a stay with the Mayos.

* RESIDENTS OF THE whole Winona area will be happy and cheered by the news that the Winona Junior Chamber of Commerce has voted to sponsor and continue Winona's summer celebration Steamboat Days.

Through the years the senior chamber has annually, through real effort, built this event into a major attraction of summer for the whole area. Thousands came to Winona to see the open air show, boat races and the big parade. The town was packed on the final evening for the fireworks display. Its Steamboat Days brought national publicity to Winona.

There was sadness and disappointment registered generally when the senior group announced they would no longer sponsor the annual celebration. It was too costly, and too much of an annual chore. The funds could be spent more profitably in other channels of promotion more beneficial to those who back the event.

However, the spark that Steamboat Days needed will be readily found in the ranks of the Jaycees -active, venturesome young men who want to put Winona on the celebration map and keep it there.

Their energy and drive should make Steamboat Days bigger, greater and more attractive. Winona citizens should, and will, we are sure, give them the fullest cooperation and area residents may rest assured that the 1966 Steamboat Days, July 7 through July 10, will be an event worthy of a visit to Winona to attend.

ALTHOUGH LAST week's warm days sent flood waters over the banks of area streams the big flood news is still to come.

Weather Bureau observers stationed all across the Upper Mississippi watershed are reporting to the central Minneapolis office data on snow cover, daily temperatures and other important figures that will go into the making of one of the most important announcements.

Joseph H. Strub, Upper Mississippi River district specialist for the Weather Bureau, will be analyzing the reports and probably within the next six weeks will come up with a report on how high the river will rise this spring at Winona.

We hope Winona can be spared a repetition of last year's 20.75 foot stage but above all we hope Mr. Strub will be able to tell us as, he did last year, far enough in advance so that adequate preparations can be made.

SWEEPING CHANGES in the organization and management of Minnesota's counties are being considered by the Better County Government unit, and plans are under way to present a comprehensive program to the legislature. Members of the organization are said to be from the offices of clerks of court, auditors, registers of deeds, treasurers, sheriffs, probate judges and county attorneys.

The key to the reorganization plan lies in the boards of county commissioners which would be elected as at present, but which would have vastly increased powers and responsibilities.

Among the major changes under consideration are these:

All elected county officials, except memhers of the county board, to be appointed rather than elected as at present, the appointments to be made by the county

Each county to establish and maintain a civil service system.

Counties to install county manager systems, equivalent to the city manager plan, with such managers to have general control of county government functions.

Central purchasing systems to be in-

County planning commissions to be established.

Full-time interim commissions to be named to study possible merger of counties, state aids, coordination in law enforcement through locally operating crime bureaus.

A tax program to provide more money to remain within local control and a limit placed on real estate taxes.

Tax benefits to larger school districts to encourage them to absorb smaller districts without tax revenue penalities.

A pension system, on a revised basis, for county officers and employes.

Those are preliminary recommendations which will be studied at greater depth when the Better County Government unit meets again next February. The objective will be a program to be presented for legislative action.

Voting-Rights Law Under Fire

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON - New York City has just given the nation a significant example of the absurdity of that section of the 1965 votingrights law which permits the federal government to intervene in any state or district which employs a literacy "test or device" to qualify voters and in which 50 percent of persons of voting age do not go to the polls. Such a situation is supposed on its face to be evidence of discrimination. Though it is obviously a form of "government by suspicion," nevertheless several states are subject to federal penalties because a certain number of persons did not vote in the presidential election of 1964.

In New York's 17th Congressional District, on Tuesday of this week, there was an election to choose a successor to Rep. John W. Lindsay, who resigned to run for mayor of New York City. The results show that Theodore Kupferman, the Republican nominee, received 44,225 votes, while Orin Lehman, the Democratic nominee, got 43,230. The conservative candidate, Jeffrey St. John, received 7,810 votes. But all these together totaled only 95,265 votes. Yet there are 219,814 registered voters in the district. So here is a case where less than 50 percent of even the registered voters went

UNDER THE voting-rights law, 50 percent is the yardstick. If 50 percent of the votingage population is not registered or fails to vote, this is supposed to be a sign of discrimination. In the 17th Congressional District in New York City - an environment where "liberalism" prevails - the voting-age population unquestionably is far in excess of 219,814. But many persons eligible to vote do not take the trouble to register just as those who are registered often don't bother to vote. In New York County only 50.5 percent of the voting-age population went to the polls in 1960 and around 50 percent voted in 1964. Does this prove that there was plenty of discrimination but not quite enough to get under the 50-percent mark?

The argument against the South is that Negroes are prevented by "literacy tests" from registering. But there are "literacy tests" in New York state, too. The state law provides that a person is not eligible to vote unless he can read and write the English language or has completed six grades in a school in which the primary language of instruction is English. This has been brushed aside now by the federal statute which says that eligibility to vote cannot be conditioned solely on ability to read or write the English language.

The motives that guide a citizen in not bothering to register or in failing to vote are numerous. The new voting-rights law, however, takes it for granted that in one section of the country this must be due to discrimination. In order to be consistent and apply the law equally throughout the United States, it becomes necessary for the federal government to assume that, whenever and wherever less than a 50-percent vote is cast, something is wrong and that this is deliberately caused by discrimina-

One Spy Could Sabotage New Anti-Missile System

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON - Alarmed Army officers have warned privately that a single spy could render almost useless the $20 billion anti-missile defense system that the Defense Department is de-

If this costly and complex system is adopted, Nike-X Missiles could be used to knock down warheads hurtling toward our cities at 18.-000 miles per hour - equivalent to shooting down a bullet after it had been fir-

The Nike-X Missile interceptors would also be able to distinguish between real and dummy warheads in a sky full of space scrap equivalent to picking out a few select snowflakes in a blizzard.

The feasibility of the Nike-X has been exhaustively affirmed in a secret, 23volume study prepared by Gen Austin Betts, the Army research chief.

UNMENTIONED in this mass of facts and figures, however, is a glaring weakness. The $20 billion system depends upon computers which must be fed top-secret target information. This a single spy, if he ever got his hands on this computer programming information, could turn the elaborate Nike-X system into so much harmless fireworks. And unhappily, the United States has a poor record for protecting its secrets from spies. Sen. Tom Dodd, D-Conn., has discovered how to make profit out of patriotism. He simply collects honorariums, ranging from $500 to $2,000, for delivering Anti-Communist speeches around the country. He has frequently appeared, for example, before the Christian Anti-Communist Crusade, which has doled out several thousand dollars to Dodd over the years. This outfit is run by Fred Schwarz, an Australian citizen, who has raised millions to fight Communism in the United States.

Miami has become the favorite winter hangout for gang lords from all over the country. Mobsters from Detroit, Cleveland and Kansas City have opened branch offices in Miami. Though Hundley refused to acknowledge receipts of the High memo, this column has obtained a copy. "Certain well-known syndicate gamblers and gangsters have for years made their winter homes in South Florida," wrote High. "For many years, the police believed that these men operated their northern crime interests from this area but did not actively participate in crime here.

"I am now convinced that. today, this is no longer true . . . It is clear that bolita, prostitution, bookmaking and certain other gambling is widespread in certain parts of this area and that it is, in fact, controlled by syndicate gangsters.

"IT ALSO appears that criminal elements have entered the political picture locally through their contributions to certain officials, some of them in law enforcement work.

("An Editor's Notebook", which follows, is a new Editorial Page feature of the Winona Sunday News. It is written by Jenkins Lloyd Jones, a master technician in journalism, a writer with the superb control and assurance that is born of precision. He is editor of the Tulsa,

By JENKIN LLOYD JONES
THERE is a lot more to selling the good life in America than depicting the good guy felling the bad guy with a kick in the stomach and a karate

And to start selling the good life in America over the powerful medium of television is the selfappointed task of a new "Ad Hoc Committee on American Values" headed by Charles C. Crutchfield, president of the Jefferson Standard Broadcasting Co. of Charlotte, N.C.

In a report to the board of directors of the National Association of Broadcasters on January 28, Crutchfield and five leading TV executives came up with specific proposals toward turning the cathode tube on the problem of patching the slow leak in America's moral values and pumping up some pride and spirit in the business of citizenship and pro-so-CRUTCHFIELD and his committee indict the broadcasting business on two counts. First, its preoccupation with the lawless, the abnormal and the sleazy in American life.

"For every criminal," says the committee, "there are 1,000 law-abiding people; for every juvenile delinquent there are 20 constructive kids; for every member of an extremist group there are 180 members of moderate philosophies. While the featuring of violence, may hem and passion is the path of least resistance it is the legitimate task of an American Values Committee to call for the addition of programming which counter-balances them.'

SECONDLY, the Crutchfield committee tackles the plea by broadcasters that seminars or documentaries on social problems cause most viewers to twist the station knob. The positive can be made dull, but it doesn't have to be. As Crutchfield puts

"If we can sell soap, we can sell sanity. If we can sell cigarettes, we can sell citizenship. If we can sell hardware, we can sell honesty. If we can sell razor blades, we can sell responsibility. We CAN sell American values to the American people. And it is a product they need."

Crutchfield's group points to a recent survey of 45,000 people published in This Week magazine on a choice of 15 national goals. The majority placed the control of inflation as No. 1, the raising of human standards — moral, religious, intellectual, and physical — as No. 2, and the control of crime and labor racketeering as No. 3.

THE COMMITTEE admits that a lot of uplift programs are horribly dull. On crime, for example, an inarticulate police chief appears on the screen to bumble through a ream of statistics. But, says Crutchfield, consider the impact on a youngster if a hard-hitting professional TV personality looked straight into the camera and unloaded something

"Ever thought about robbing a bank? Do you want to be an idiot? The average bank robber makes $75 for every year he spends in prison. Seventy-five dollars a year! You could make better salary every week, and in freedom. Nine out of 10 bank robbers are promptly caught. Would you walk across an expressway if you had nine chances out of 10 of being hit before you got to the other side?"

Some years ago Edward R. Murrow suggested that an advertiser use only 12 summer re-runs during the 13-week doldrums and donate the 13th to a program put together by top script writers and employing popular TV talent aimed at getting across a message about sane and happy living.

The pitfalls of teenage marriages, the ultimate agony of dope addiction, the lifetime millstone hung around the neck of the youth who gets a criminal record, the long dark tunnel of alcoholism, the bitter taste of promiscuity—all these have lent themselves to high and absorbing drama in literature, and in the hands of experts they can make high and absorbing drama on TV.

A HEDONISTIC nation, ever more dedicated to the quick satisfaction of appetites, has no uncertain future. History is endless repetition of the truth that the most glittering civilizations collapse if the central core rots out with corruption, crime and license. The road down which the movie moguls are curently taking us bear the wheel ruts of ancient Rome. Egypt of the Ptolemies, Constantinople and imperial France.

The power of popular TV should have a higher mission in modern America than the chasing of rustlers, the leering blackout, and the exposure of cleavages down to here.

It is time for the television industry to shoulder this responsibility, not by the perfunctory wastage of prime time by amateur sermons produced by the office boy, but by using its best genius to remind America that good living is good living, and that national survival depends upon national behavior.

As Charlie Crutchfield puts it to his colleagues: "Silence may be golden, but sometimes it's plain yellow!"

reason is that adults in the family, not treated, later pass the pest along to the children again.

MABEL, Minn. (Special) -Open house will be held at the new telephone building in Mabel Sunday, Feb. 20, between 1-5 p.m. to celebrate the new Mabel-Burr Oak dial system costing over three quarters of a million dollars.

Cutover at Burr Oak will be at midnight Friday, according to Ernest Corson, manager.

The two exchanges comprise Mabel Cooperative Telephone Co., which is the first all oneparty system in Minnesota and one of the first in the nation, Corson said. There are less than 10 all one-party exchanges

Subscribers in the new co-op total 1,025 in the villages of Mabel and extending through eight townships in Minnesota and Iowa. Mabel exchange was cutover Dec. 18.

EARLY IN 1964 Mabel Telephone Co. laid the groundwork for the new telephone system. Burr Oak voted to merge with Mabel in March the same year. A survey in April, 1964, showed that 89 percent of the subscribers favored a one-party system - 81 percent in the villages and 92 percent plus in the rural areas.

Claude Peterson of Peterson Engineering Co. was hired as consulting engineer and Dick Jordison as architect for the telephone building on Mabel's Main Street. Both are of Iowa City, Iowa.

REA loaned the company $570,000 for installation of the one-party system. In November, 1964, REA granted a $210,000 loan to Burr Oak for an unattended type exchange building, maintained from Mabel.

Stromberg-Carlson division of General Dynamics, Rochester, N.Y., received the contract for central office equipment from the Mabel board of directors at a bid of $89,352.23 - approxi mately $40,000 less than had been budgeted.

Engen Construction Co., Mabel, received the contract for construction of the Mabel building at $59,912. The 52- by 52toot brick structure with full basement was completed last summer. It contains a lobby office; manager's office; two rooms for baseing distance of the Businessmen's Association discussions. rooms for housing dial equiproom in the basement, arranged for public meetings, is a kitchenette. ## 2-Point Game, But State Is Beaten 72-60

By BOB JUNGHANS Sunday News Sports Writer

It was actually a two-point ball game although the final score read 72-60. Winona State fell to St.

Cloud State by that score Saturday before a boisterous crowd at Memorial Hall, but for 38½ minutes the heavily underdog Warriors gave the league leaders all they could handle and then some.

"What can you say," shrug-ged Warrior coach Bob Camp-bell after the game. "The kids just did one heck of a job," "We couldn't get a shot at the beginning of the second half and when we did get them, they wouldn't fall. Winona State, now 7-13 for the season and 4-4 in the con-minutes of the game, but then a pair of reserves dealt a crippling blow to Winona.

Firing a torrid 53 percent during the first half and hold-ing an 18-15 edge over the sky-scraping Huskies in the rebounding department, Winona State grabbed the lead from the outset and built it to as many as 11 points in the first 20 minutes.

But the Warrior shooting eye got untracked at halftime and they went without a field goal for the first 31/2 minutes of the second half

That was enough leaway for St. Cloud's Terry Porter and Tom Ditty.

With Porter pouring in long range buckets and Ditty sweeping the boards, St. Cloud forged ahead for the first time. Porter's 15-footer tied it at 40-all with 16:25 to play in the half, and Tom Abram hit a layup to put St. Cloud ahead for the first time.

Then Dave Meisner, who put on a spectacular first-half scoring display much to the delight of the surprisingly large throng for the afternoon contest, hit Winona's first field goal of the half to

St. Cloud ran off six straight points, however, and stretched its lead to nine points at 61-52 on John Daggett's rebound shot with eight minutes to

Tuff Story: It Doesn't Get Easier

Ernie Tuff is becoming one of the old pros of the modified National Championship race at Daytona Beach,

"But it doesn't get any easier," says the Rushford native. "They just keep trying to mess you up.

Tuff was commenting on "last minute" tag surrounding his racing operation.
"Look at this," he said, standing in his cluttered work-"The last rule change didn't come through until

Dec. 17." "See that gas tank," he continued, pointing toward a securely mounted fuel tank under the truck lid of his sleek maroon and gold 1961 Ford fastback. "Two years ago they said we had to have the gas tank in the trunk. Last year they said we had to have it in its stock position under the car. This year it's back in the trunk. They don't seem to be making any progress, just try to make it more difficult for us." But despite the fluctuating rules of the Daytona Beach racing corporation, Tuff is in his glory when working on his incredibly fast cars, one of

Benilde in 88-46 Rout Over Cotter

Cotter.

Benilde, the state's No. 1-ranked Catholic basketball team, posted its 17th consecutive victory here Saturday night behind reserve guard

Kelly came off the bench in the second quarter and, before the night was history, ran down 18 points.

What they meant was help toward an 88-46 victory over

The loss shifted the Ramblers' record beneath the .500 mark. Cotter now stands 8-9 with only a game with Austin Pacelli remaining. That will be played at St. Stan's in Winona Friday.

Benilde's margin of victory, for the most part, was built after the first period. And you can give Mr. Kelly the major share of credit for that.

Cotter, using a new set of starting guards in Jim Holmay and John Leaf, played the talented Red Knights on near-even terms through the first eight minutes, trailing by only 16-13 at the break thanks to a balanced attack. But then Kelly engineered

He helped guard Terry Mahoney to three consecutive field goals at the start of the third period, Mahoney also scored a free throw in that span and Benilde led 23-15 before reserve Bob Greden

Then Kelly poured down two driving shots and sandwiched another pair around Holmay's goal for Cotter and the score stood 33-17. And the Knights kept racing away. With the score 39-23. Art Moore scored six straight before Tom Wenzel hit a drive for Cotter. that left the score 45-25 at halftime, and it got progressively worse.

Cotter did score the initial basket of the second half on a hook by captain Chuck Kulas, but Benilde got the next five on goals by Gary Smith and Dave Bowden and a free throw from Tim Thomas to put it out to 50-27

The score read 58-34 when Dan Manning scored on a rebound shot and Kelly then ran in four consecutive drives off stolen balls as Cotter attempted to break Benilde's pressure attack by dribbling. Benilde then drove that to 74-34 on baskets by Terry Mikan, Manning and Moore. For the winners, who Friday night defeated St. Paul Hill, Kelly and Moore were the only men in double figures with 18 and 16, but all 12 men who played scored.

Cotter's lone double-figure performer was Greden with

One bright spot for Cotter was the work of 6-7 junior center Mike Twomey. Defensing tall and talented Larry Mikan, Twomey gave him only nine points in three quarters. That is far below Mikan's average.

Bundgaard Scores 42— But Hawk Balance Wins

By GARY EVANS

Sunday News Sports Editor

Winona High School's victory over Northfield Friday night is as simple as an elementary arithmetic lesson.

By no legitimate mathematical measure will one plus zero equal five. And it didn't Friday. Northfield had Eric Bundgaard within a whisker of the Big Nine Conference scoring record, but Winona had five players in double figures.

What that stacked up to was an 81-72 victory for the Hawks, who now head nto their final two conference games with a perfect 8-0 league record — the best start in Winona High history.

But before the Hawks tackle either Rochester or Red Wing in return matches there is some unsettled old business. La Crosse Central, one of the three teams to hold victories over Winona this year, will be at the high school auditorium Tuesday

"And right now," says coach John Kenney, "that is the only one we're thinking about."

The crust can kill usually only with the help of other killers -

Seldom will the crust support sharp hooves—especially when a deer tries to bound away from danger. On light feet the fanged ones follow. The deer retreat to winter yards — mazes of narrow, deep trampled trails where hunger joins terror. There may be long days — and longer nights these final weeks of winter.

Feed the Birds

Another precaution that might be advanced is that bird feeders should not stop just because the snow has gone. All one needs to do is to take one look at the frozen ground, the natural source of most of their regular food, and note the crust of thin ice that covers it. No common bird has the power to dig seed out from under this crust.

Watchers get to know individual birds so they give them names. For instance, the other day, in a home where we were visiting, the four-year-old, came running to her mother and exclaimed: "Jack-

The mother explained that Jackie was a bluejay that occasionally came sweeping down on the backyard bird feeder, driving all the other birds away.

Feeding birds has been more important this winter probably than in a normal year. The long period of sub-zero winter made their demand for feed greater. Food is essential to maintain the bird's body temperature from freezing. Like a furnace the colder it gets the more fuel is needed.

Winona has a lot of bird feeders. Most native winter birds habitate the forested bluff areas and come to the woods bordering town homes in search of food. A lot of families make a project of feeding these birds.

One of them, probably typical of many others is the William Drazkowski family at 866 Gilmore Avenue which does extensive feeding in their yard. Their list of birds seen at their feeder and identified might be used as a list of birds that winter in

But Bill, like several other bird feeders, have added an exciting new hobby to his efforts, that of bird photography. It is a hobby that requires great camera skill, patience and a proper lens.

For example, he has a window overlooking one of his feeders, that can be opened, yet permit him to sit in concealment so the birds do not become frightened and with his 4 power telescopic lens on his Nikon take their pictures. Birds are naturally poor subjects. They don't stay put long enough to get their picture.

The series of bird photographs on this page today has been made by Drazkowski, mainly out of the open window. Some, however, were made from a portable blind he uses to conceal himself on a chair in the yard. In the first view (1) a nuthatch is a bit cautious as he perches on a cup of sunflower seeds, a very attractive bird bait. Two titmice are sharing the seed (2) on a tree stump feeder used in the Drazkowski backyard. The slide from which this picture of a cardinal was made (3) was in color and it was a remarkably beautiful piece of art. Note the seed in the bird's The chickadee (4) is not too difficult to snap.

He is probably the tamest of wintering birds. At the Emil Liers otter farm, these little fellows will come down and eat out of a stranger's hand. Another example of catching a bird with a seed in its mouth is the titmouse (5) seated on the very edge of the studio stump.

Bill has been taking bird pictures for the past two years and finds it fascinating. He hunts with a camera in the woods and in areas attractive to bird life, such as the Delta Fur Farms.

He has been very close to nature since a child. His father, William Drazkowski Sr., who died several years ago, was Winona's game warden for years and had a home on a Mississippi River island where the children had hours to just watch the birds in the

Buckeyes Rally Past Purdue '5'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) -Ohio State roared from behind with a 48-point second half explosion Saturday that brought the Buckeyes a 68-54 Big Ten triumph over Purdue.

Bill Hosket, Bob Dove and Al Peters led the comeback drive with 18 17 and 16 points, respectively. But scoring honors went to the Boilermakers' Dave Schellhase.

Schellhase, the nation's top scorer with a 31.2 average, netted 27 on 11 baskets in 19 tries and five of nine from the free throw line. The Buckeyes, boosting their record to 3-4 in the league and 9over-all, could not penetrate Purdue's zone defense and fell behind by as many as nine points in the first half.

The visitors, who now own a 12-6 mark in the conference and are 6-12 for the season, walked off at intermission with a 27-20. advantage on the help of a 52.4 shooting performance.

Ohia State stormed out in the second half, outscoring Purdue 10-2 in the first 3½ minutes to take a 30-29 lead. The score was tied three times after that before Peters hit a jump shot midway through the half to put the Buckeyes ahead to stay.

CLCW Hears Diagnosis Of Ills

So-called "medical consultants' gave humorous but thought-provoking talks on the condition of Central Lutheran Church Women at the Thursday evening meeting of the group at Central Lutheran Church.

MRS. JAMES Dresser was in charge of the program and called upon the experts for their opinions.

Mrs. A. L. Nelson, as the general practitioner, found a ukewarm temperature and lack of pep, but could find no cause. She called in Mrs. Robert Keister, a cardiac specialist, who gave her report with the aid of a diagram of an imaginary circulatory system. She found anemia, or a Lack of new red blood corpuscles taking their places in the main bloodstream of the CLCW. But she, too, was unable to find a cause.

Mrs. Gerald Whetstone, a neuro-surgeon, was called in and she found the nervous system was in good shape. But, for no apparent reason, the members of the body were not reacting to messages of the brain (board of officers). Since all were baffled, they called in a psyciatrist, Mrs. Jerry Lehmeier, who chided the doctors for neglecting the spiritual condition of the body.

She claimed that if the spira Lenten supper and retreat, with Holy Communion.

- Clifford L. Alexander Jr., an associate special counsel, to be deputy special counsel to succeed McPherson.

Most of the news conference was devoted to the war in Viet Nam.

Other topics covered by John son included:

- Dominican Republic. He said he was concerned over the latest uprisings there. "I deeply regret what has taken place there. I hope the presidnt will be able to bring peace there as quickly as possible," he said.

- Indira Gandhi. The President said he had received a letter from Indira Gandhi, the new prime minister of India, saying she would like to visit the United States as soon as possible to confer with him. Such a conference with Mrs. Gandhi might come in late March or April.

THE INVESTOR

Investment

By WILLIAM A. DOYLE Q. In May, 1961, I started investing $100 a month in shares of Windsor Fund. I plan to continue this until 1971, at which time I will retire. The purpose of this investment is to supplement my retirement income.

When I started this, the broker told me that I could switch my investment from Windsor Fund to Wellington Fund at any time for a transfer fee of $5. However, Windsor has shown much better performance than Wellington.

But the broker keeps prodding me to make the switch. What's in it for him?

A. Nothing. Windsor Fund and Wellington Fund are both run The association voted last wooled slaughter ewes sold fully ization. When a management company handles two or more funds a shareholder of one can

I realize that, at some future time. I will have to sell the stocks I have, in order to repay the bank loans. But I feel I could do this over a period of 10 years or more.

I could now repeat the pyramiding process, once more. But the interest payments on my loans are now almost equal to the amount I normally would invest each year from my regular earnings.

My wife feels that I may be overextending our financial affairs. What is your opinion?

A. I go along with your wife - very definitely. You could end up in a mess of rubble, if that pyramid collapses. Pyramiding works great dur-

Dear Dr. Nason:

I feel that the quality of the written matter produced in this country would begreatly improved if people were required to stick with manuscript writing. As it takes longer to write manuscript, the person is given time to rethink some of his thoughts and to clarify them before committing them to the page. It also enables him to go back later with ease to correct any mistakes. The insistence that people write in cursive has, in my opinion, led to the demise of writing in our society and to the rise of the use of the telephone for almost all communications.

I believe that the educational level of the country would be improved if cursive writing were not taught in our schools.

Baggage limits prevented Mary Lucas from bringing many things with her on her trip to Winona from her native England but one item that had to come along was her "tea cozy." # An English Girl 'Comes Back Home' to Winona

By C. GORDON HOLTE Sunday Editor

N the fall of 1956 a 17-year-old English schoolgirl, Mary Lucas, stepped off a bus in Winona to be met by a family she had never seen before but with whom she would be living for the next 10 months while she was attending Winona Senior High School as an American Field Service foreign exchange student.

During the 1956-57 school year Mary was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Cornwell and their daughter, Judy — a son, Jack, was attending the University of Minnesota at the time — in their home at 657 Johnson St. It was an exciting year for this high school senior in a Midwestern community some 5,000 miles from her native land; the adjustment to a new and different school program, getting acquainted with new customs and living habits that struck her as always interesting, at times amusing — sometimes a bit bewildering — sightseeing visits to points of interest in this new land she was discovering and a seemingly endless round of meetings and luncheons at which she was invited to tell about life in England.

When the school year was over in June and she boarded the bus that was to start her on her return trip home there were the usual goodbyes, the promises to write . . . and that seemingly closed the book on the story of an English girl and her association with Winona.

It turned out to be only the end of the first chapter.

On a cold day in late January this year, Mary Lucas stepped off a train during its stop in Winona and was met again by the Cornwells—this time to be greeted as "Mom and Dad"—and a return to the Johnson Street house which the events of the past decade have led her to look upon as "home."

For Miss Lucas it was the realization of a longtime hope that she might sometime return to the city and people for whom she developed a fondness during her first visit. The return to Winona could also be the first step toward new career opportunities for Miss Lucas and it certainly represents a striking example of the results that may be realized from the student exchange program.

Before leaving England last month Miss Lucas for more than two years had held a key position on the personnel staff of one of England's largest industrial complexes, Imperial Chemical Industries

Happy with her work in which she had enjoyed comparatively rapid advancement, Miss Lucas decided about a year ago that she'd like to come to the United States to observe and learn more about techniques employed in industry here and began to make plans to return to the country where she'd spent a year in high school.

First, she felt, she'd like to spend some time in Winona and then explore employment opportunities in the East. Right now her plans are not completely fixed but she'd like to be able to remain in Winona for three or four months, simply because she came to like the city so well.

From a practical standpoint, however, this visit will be dependent to some extent on whether or not she can find employment here during the period of her visit.

"Of course, I must find some kind of work if I'm to remain here," she explains, "and I'd prefer some sort of clerical or administrative work since I feel that I can offer the most in those areas.

"Ideally, I'd like to obtain employment that would allow me to REMINISCING . . One of the first persons Mary Lucas looked up on her return to Winona was Carl W. Kiehnbaum, 260 W. Sanborn St. Kiehnbaum was chairman of the Winona American Field Service committee which made arrangements for Miss Lucas to come to Winona as a foreign exchange student from England during the 1956-57 school year.

TEA TIME . . . When she returned to the R. D. Cornwell home, 657 Johnson St., recently, Mary Lucas reintroduced the Cornwells to the English custom of daily teatimes. meet people and work with the general public. That would afford me the opportunity to remain in Winona for several months and then I'd like to go East and see what I might find there."

After returning to England in the summer of 1957, Miss Lucas returned to Barking Abbey School to complete requirements for graduation. Although she had been a member of the senior class at Winona Senior High, differences in curricula in American and English schools left her with credits still to be gained for graduation in England and she spent the school year of 1957-58 satisfying requirements for her general certificate of education.

She was awarded a scholarship for study at King's College of the University of London and in 1961 was awarded a bachelor's degree with honors in English. At King's she was elected to the committee of the Students' Society and was awarded the Jelf Medal as the best all-around student in the arts faculty.

Since leaving King's she has taken an evening study course at Luton College of Technology for associate membership in the Institute of Personnel Management and recently completed the second and final phases of examinations in the course.

Immediately after leaving King's she became associated with Imperial Chemical Industries' head office in London where she became an ICI trainee staff officer.

"My training there was Informal," she observes," consisting of (Continued Next Page)

FAMILIAR SCENE . . . Linda Buswell and Bill Ford were among the students in the Senior High School cafeteria when Mary Lucas stopped in last week to visit the school she attended for a year as an exchange student nearly a decade ago. Miss Lucas has found that a majority of the students she knew and associated with while she was here during the 1956-57 school year have now left Winona but she's been busy renewing acquaintances with adults she met during her first visit.

A City Revisited . . . Friendships Renewed

REMEMBER WHEN? ... Charles D. Stephens, head of the English department at Winona Senior High School, was one of Mary Lucas' instructors while she was an exchange student here in 1956-57 and he was one of the first persons she sought out when she returned to Winona from her native England for another visit here. The foreign student exchange program under American Field Service had been inaugurated in Winona two years prior to Miss Lucas' participation in it.

practical experience within and outside the personnel department, supplemented by specialized courses in such areas as interviewing and others. During this time I also acted as the coordinating secretary to a panel implementing the new company-wide job assessment scheme and helped administer a clerical work measurement survey."

From 1963 until her departure for the United States this year she was assistant personnel officer at ICI's plastics division where she shared responsibility for 900 female technical, clerical and administrative staff members. Her regular duties included the selection and recruitment of female staff at all levels and their subsequent progress and welfare.

Since she had a special responsibility for all younger members of the staff and was closely associated with the division's secretarial training school she worked closely with local schools, colleges and the Youth Employment Service, frequently participating in careers conventions organized for young people about to leave school.

"On a more general basis," she says, "I did various duties for the personnel manager, such as the implementation of certain recommendations in a government report regarding practical work experience in industry for the less able pupil while still in school."

In the past 10 years Miss Lucas has maintained contact with many of the friends and acquaintances of her year of study in the United States.

She's had regular correspondence, of course, with Mr. and Mrs. Cornwell and Judy — the latter now teaching in Wisconsin — and was visited by Judy when she spent five days in England while she was participating in the summer study program.

Gunnel Ejrup, a Swedish exchange student who was a guest at the home of Dr. and Mrs. G. L. Loomis the same year Miss Lucas was in Winona, was a vacation companion of Miss Lucas during a holiday in Sweden.

Today's Cover

When former American Field Service exchange studen Mary Lucas of England returned to Winona recently for a visit here she was impressed by the many physical changes in the city resulting from new construction completed since she spent the 1956-57 school year here as a student at Winona Senior High School. She's seen on today's Sunday Magazine cover visiting the shopping plaza at Miracle Mall during a quick "get-reacquainted" tour of the city soon after her arrival.

she traveled to the East after her residence in Winona, later was a guest during a vacation in London and her host during a holiday Miss Lucas took in France.

She renewed acquaintances with Ron Krantz, a fellow student at Senior High School during her stay here, when Krantz, then serving in the armed forces in Italy visited London during a furlough and Dr. J. Allen Kestle, former pastor of Central Methodist Church here, stopped to see her during his trip to Europe.

Another Winona visitor in London was Dr. Margaret Boddy of the Winona State College faculty who was on a leave for study in Europe and she received a telephone call from Barbara Beatty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin A. Beatty of Winona when she stopped briefly in London.

"We AFSers develop a bond of friendship because we have shared common experiences," Miss Lucas says, adding that she has a strong interest in efforts now being made by the Winona American Field Service committee to find host families for students who may be brought to Winona for a year of study during the next school year.

The Winona with which Miss Lucas is becoming reacquainted shows a far different face from the one she remembers from her stay here a decade ago.

"There's the new post office, of course, and I've been very much impressed by the great expansion of college facilities that has happened since I was here last," she says.

Miss Lucas is in the United States now on an immigrant visa, the obtaining of which is a story in itself.

In recalling her preparations for the return trip to the United States, Miss Lucas looks with something less than appreciation for the efforts by personnel in the United States Embassy in London to assist her in making arrangements for her return.

"I might say they were most unhelpful," she says of the days when she was attempting to make her travel arrangements. "It would perhaps be more accurate to say that they were downright obstructionists about the whole thing and my experience is one that others in England have had under similar circumstances.

"With me, because I had been in the United States, I realized that their attitude was not typical of the kind and friendly American people I had known but for someone who has never been to the States these people give an entirely different impression of what you Americans are like."

Even when the visa had been obtained she ran into difficulties in travel arrangements, difficulties that never were completely happily resolved. She was able to book passage on an airline to Canada but authorities with whom she was dealing wouldn't approve airline arrangements for her travel from there to the United States and she ended up having to take trains from Toronto to Chicago and then on to Winona.

"As a matter of fact, even when I reached the Canadian border with my visa it looked for a time like I might not be able to get in," she says, adding of her contacts with officialdom with some charity, "Perhaps I just hit them on the wrong day."

The future for Miss Lucas will be determined by a number of She'll remain in Winona for an extended visit if she can find employment here during her stay and the length of her visit in the United States will depend on what employment opportunities present themselves when she makes the trip East.

But, for the moment, she's happy to be back in Winona, in a city and with people that she came to love when she first came here as a young schoolgirl nearly a decade ago.

FELLOW AFSers . . . Of special interest to Mary Lucas during her visit at Senior High was a meeting with two foreign students who are studying here under the American Field Service program as she did 10 years ago. Miss Lucas, at the left, had an opportunity to talk with Juan Achutegui, who came here from Spain, and Angela Behnke, a German girl, enrolled at Senior High for the 1965-66 school year. The Winona American Field Service committee is now seeking host families who will furnish homes for AFS students who will study here during the next school year starting in September.

Forget the Season With the Magic Of Frozen Fruits

SEASONS mean nothing in menu planning these days when fresh fruit and vegetable flavors are as close as your frozen food compartment at home or in your favorite market.

All homemakers know that an excellent way to enhance the natural flavor of plain roast meats and poultry — or bland, creamy entrees such as chicken a la king — —is with flavorful fruit condiments. Both the fresh-fruit flavors and bright colors give a lively lift to what otherwise might be uninspired menus. Today all of them can be enjoyed in February as well as June when you use non-seasonal frozen fruits. Cloves, ginger, almonds, mint, brown sugar and vinegar are among the ingredients called for to contribute flavor and texture interest. Here, then, are several easy-to-prepare condiment possibilities.

Ginger-Peach Conserve

1 package (12 ounces) frozen sliced peaches, defrosted 1/4 cup sugar

1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon

1/2 cup coarsely chopped walnuts
2 tablespoons finely chopped
crystallized ginger
1/4 cup maraschino cherries

Drain juice from peaches into small bowl containing sugar and cinnamon. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Pour mixture over peaches. Add walnuts, ginger and cherries. Mix well. Chill until ready to serve.

Makes about 21/2 cups.

Spiced Melon Balls

2 packages (12 ownces each) frozen melon balls, defrosted
 1/4 cup firmly packed light brown sugar

1/4 cup cider vinegar 5 to 6 whole cloves 1 cinnamon stick

Drain juice from melon balls. In a saucepan, combine melon juice, brown sugar, vinegar, cloves and cinnamon. Simmer for 5 minutes. Pour hot syrup over melon balls. Let it stand until cool; then chill until ready to serve.

Makes about 3 cups

French Orange-Peanut Cookies

Strawberry-Rhubarb Medley

1 package (1 pound) frozen whole strawberries, defrosted 1 package (1 pound) frozen rhubarb, defrosted

Cornstarch
1/2 cup slivered blanched almonds
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind

Drain juice from strawberries and rhubarb. Measure juice and for every cup of juice use 1-1/2 tablespoons cornstarch. Gradually stir juice into cornstarch. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until smooth and thick. Stir in almonds and lemon rind. Cool slightly. Carefully fold in strawberries and rhubarb. Chill until ready to serve.

Makes about 3 cups.

Spiced Peach Slices

2 packages (12 ounces each) frozen sliced peaches, defrosted 2 cinnamon sticks

1 tablespoon whole cloves 1/4 cup cider vinegar 1/3 cup seedless raisins

Drain juice from peaches. In a saucepan, combine peach juice and remaining ingredients. Simmer for 5 minutes. Pour hot syrup over sliced peaches. Let stand until cool; chill until ready to serve.

Makes about 3 cups.

Minted Grapefruit Sections

2 cans (13 1/2 ounces each) frozen grapefruit sections, defrosted 1/8 teaspoon mint extract OR 2 teaspoons crumbled dried mint OR 2 tablespoons chopped fresh mint
Green vegetable coloring

To grapefruit sections, add mint and enough green coloring to tint a delicate mint green. Chill until ready to serve.

VARIATION: Substitute 2 cans (13½ ounces each) frozen pineapple chunks for the grapefruit sections. Or, use 1 can of each grapefruit sections and pineapple chunks.

Makes about 31/2 cups.

3/4 teaspoon salt

While we're speaking of fruits, we received during the past week a recipe for a peanut cookie whose flavor is enhanced by the tangy goodness of fresh oranges. A cookie that's bound to become a favorite for cookie jar or lunch box. Here it is:

Fresh Orange-Peanut Cookies

(5½ dozen)

3/4 cup softened butter
1/3 cup peanut butter
1 1/2 cups firmly packed brown sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups sifted flour

1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1 medium orange, unpeeled, finely chopped
1/3 cup fresh orange juice
1 cup quick cooking rolled oats
3/4 cup salted Spanish peanuts

Cream together butter and peanut butter; add sugar and beat until fluffy. Beat in egg and vanilla. Sift together flour, salt, soda and baking powder. Stir sifted dry ingredients into creamed mixture alternately with chopped orange and orange juice; mix thoroughly. Add oats and peanuts. Drop by teaspoonsful onto lightly greased cookie sheets. Bake at 375 degrees for 12 to 15 minutes.

Sweet Talk Better Than Any Accent

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: About three months ago I noticed that my husband started talking with an English accent. I kidded him about it, but thought no more of it. Now that I look back, it was about that time that he started sprucing up quite a lot for work. On Thanksgiving Day a woman called here asking for my husband. SHE had a very broad English accent. I started putting two and two together. My husband is an executive with a large firm, and they had a Christmas party to which the wives were invited. There I met "THE ENGLISH ACCENT" — a shapely, auburn-haired, pretty but hard-looking woman who was somebody's secretary. She tried to be especially sweet and friendly to me, but I was uncomfortable around her because I sensed something was wrong. I still do. Have you any suggestions for a woman who suspects that her husband might be straying a SUSPICIOUS

DEAR SUSPICIOUS: Yes; she doesn't make any wild accusations unless she has the evidence. And she doesn't give her husband threats she has no intention of carrying out. And she doesn't tear up the scenery, dissolve into tears and put on one of those "you-don't-love-me-any-more" scenes. She redoubles her efforts to be the charming, understanding, sensible girl he married. And between prayers,

DEAR ABBY: About three weeks ago I met a real neat kid. We hit it off swell together. He asked me for my telephone number and I gave it to him. The next day he called me and we made a date for that Friday night. He never showed up and he never called. Yesterday I bumped into him by accident and he said he was sorry about what happened last Friday, but something unexpected came up and he couldn't make it. He asked if he could see me that night and I said yes. Well, he did the same thing. He didn't show up and he didn't call. Next Saturday night my girl friend is having a party and she told me to bring you think I should give this kid another chance? I still like him. HOLES IN MY HEAD

DEAR ABBY: My wife is the friendly type and we always have folks dropping in to visit with us in the evening. I don't mind when a woman comes over alone because I just go in the other room and read or watch television while the ladies talk. But there is this one woman who has been coming over a lot lately. She is lonesome because her husband shot himself last spring. This woman talks like a machine, Abby, And she talks so loud that even when she's in the next room she drowns out the television set. She even comes into the room where I am trying to read and starts talking to me. I told my wife to think of some way to keep her from coming over here and she says she can't think of any way and, besides, she likes her company. Is there

What does best-dressed mean? Surely it does'nt have to mean spending a lot of money on clothes (although that doesn't hurt), for then we would say "most-expensively dressed." Nor does it mean the clothes worn by celebrities and socialities, for then we would say "most famous good dressers." No, it means wearing clothes that are appropriate to a given figure, face and way of life. It means wearing clothes that are well-proportioned, flattering, tasteful, current, and attractive in themselves, as well as on a trim body.

Now with that kind of definition it should be obvious that a national best-dressed list is an impossibility. By that definition, ordinary, anonymous women are surely among the best-dressed in our nation. This is not to say that the so-called Best-Dressed Women are not well-dressed — of course they are. But they may not have any better taste, or even look any better, than the elegant woman who lives down the block from you — or than you yourself, for that matter. What they do have are famous names and faces, and costly collections of clothes.

Taste, fortunately, is a universally available commodity that cuts across social and economic boundaries. If mass-produced goods are a great equalizer, good taste is a great separator. It separates the appropriate from the out-of-place, the elegant from the banal.

It can make a poor girl look like a duchess and a duchess look like a boor. It alone makes one qualified for an adjective like best-dressed. And of course the list of its possessors would be legion.

The impossibility of the serious chore of selection is clear: With well over 90 million women in America the very idea of selecting ten is absurd. And then if, just for fun, you limit yourself to people in the public eye, whose taste is to be trusted? A fashion editor's? She is firstly a journalist and may or may not have personal good taste. A designer's? Any designer worth his name will firmly assert that every woman wearing his clothes is surely among the nation's best dressed. A model's? She may know little more about clothes than the size of the garment on her back.

The answer is that taste is one of the hardest qualities in the world to arbitrate — like beauty it is subjective, elusive, evolving. It isn't something that can be attained by having a press agent, a famous face, a large closet, a small fortune, a prestigious name, or even a friend who is an editor. It comes from following your best judgment when buying the very nicest clothes that suit you. So, take the public lists as a lark, and check your mirror every so often - for you may be one of America's best-dressed women.

FASHION MIRROR

Spring hats mostly seem to be variations on an old theme - on several old themes to be more precise. The scarf hat (whose infinite possibilities account for its sustained popularity) will be around in bright tie silks and abstract patterns. But for a change of pace, the visored hat seems to be gaining some tenuous support. You just may see cloches or caps sporting attached see-through plastic visors.

In past seasons it tended to accompany jump suits and swim suits, but not so this year. Expect to see it on high fashion types and solvent beatniks, uptown and downtown, at the beaches and resorts. Only those of you at neither extreme will fight the tendency to raise an eyebrow at what is at best a peculiar style,

FASHION TIP

This is as good a time as any to check the condition of your spring wardrobe. Set aside a snowy afternoon or an uneventful evening, take out all those half-forgotten clothes, and see what you've got that you intend to keep. And while you're doing it, keep a list of the kinds of things you'd like to buy to complete your collection — and the colors that will be most useful with the clothes and accessories you already possess. This is the surest way I know to avoid unnecessary purchases and to maintain some harmony in your wardrobe.

SHOOTING HIGH . . . Dancer Gene Kelly returns to New York to show his love for the big city in his first TV special since 1959, "Gene Kelly in New York, New York," to be seen Monday night on CBS-TV. Here he mounts a ladder for a scene taken at Rockefeller Plaza with Fifth Avenue's St. Patrick's Cathedral behind him. The show also will feature guest stars Gower Champion, Woody Allen and Tommy Steele.

TV Special Stars Dancer Gene Kelly

By CHARLES WITBECK

Early last fall Gene Kelly returned to his town, New York, to tape an hour color special with Gower Champion, comic Woody Allen and the young British star Tommy Steele, attempting to catch the look, glitter and excitement of the big city in a dancer's show titled "Gene Kelly in New York, New York," airing Mon-day night on CBS-TV.

Ever since his overnight success in Rodgers & Hart's Broadway musical "Pal Joey," as the hero who's a heel, Kelly and the City have had this love affair going. Kelly is a deep-dyed Caliiornian now because it's an easier place to bring up a family, but when he sings "New York, New York," there's a glitter in his eye, and when he bounces down the streets, anyone can tell he digs the place.

The jaunty Kelly movements seem to typify the way New York ought to affect people, so the dancer, no kid any more, is a good choice for tour leader. Kelly and his family spent five weeks in New York taping and filming, only stopping work around town during the Pope's visit.

"SOMETIMES we'd work all night and then lay off the following day," Gene explained, "so we weren't killing ourselves. The main problem concerned crowds. We had to have police protection taping in Greenwich Village. In other places we worked quickly and then moved on before the word got out."

Where crowds did assemble Kelly tried to shoot scenes where people couldn't get behind the actors, and this solved many location problems. For a shot of Kelly at night on Broadway and 44th Street, director Charles Dubin planned and measured the scene in the daytime, and then moved in at night with a concealed camera. Actor Kelly hid out in Sardi's bar, mixing in with other actors clad in makeup, and then made a quick dash for the short sequence.

The Kelly tour of New York rates five stars, for the dancer didn't miss too much. He starts off at Kennedy Airport, being welcomed with a kiss by pretty girls, and his island wanderings take him from the Battery up to Washington Square, Broadway, theatre district, the Museum of Modern Art, Lincoln Center, Central Park, the UN, up to the top of skyscrapers, and down into nightclubs where comic Woody Allen and singer Damita Joe galvanize patrons.

THE SIGHTS hold up and so do the girls who follow Kelly and his buddies all over town. Kelly's version of New York is the way every man would like to do the city. As Gene puts it, "we have nice and exciting young ladies who perform with us.

Tour rest periods allow Woody Allen to joke in a Village nightclub, and let Tommy Steele sing and play his guitar during the

By STEVEN H. SCHEUER

QUESTION - There is an argument among my family concerning Polly Bergen Has Miss Bergan ever heen a regular on any panel show? I thought she was on "To Tell the Truth" at one time — is this true? — L. W., Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, ANSWER - Your memory is correct. Miss Bergen was a regular panelist on the show in the late '50s and early '60s. .

QUESTION - I recently saw the movie "Band of Angels," with Clark Gable, on TV. Was this taken from a Frank Yerby novel? Can you tell me which of his books have been made into movies? — K. L., Las Vegas, Nevada.

ANSWER - "Band of Angels" was adapted from the novel by prize-winning writer Robert Penn Warren, who also wrote "All the King's Men." Of Frank Yerby's novels. "The Foxes of Harrow" (1947) and "The Colden Hout!" (1959) "The Golden Hawk" (1952), were made into movies - neither of them, if we may be permitted critical opinion, very successfully. Both are available for local TV showings.

THEY'LL SAY NICE THINGS ... BUT WILL THEY BUY?

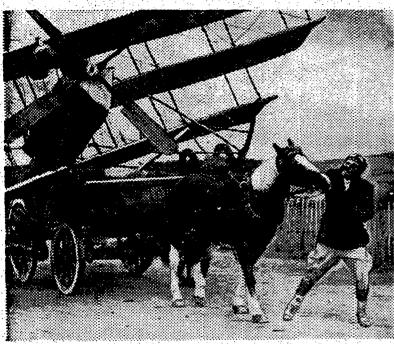

Most people are polite. When they invade your home on a house-hunting visit, they'll say nice things . . . but compliments aren't what you want. You want people who really seek what your house has to offer. You want action!

That's where our selection-sense comes in. We select prospects who are QUALIFIED to buy . . . and we don't bother you unless they are LOGICAL prospects for your particular place. That's why it pays to list with daring men who, at the beginning of the century, took to the air in the first outlandish flying machines is presented in THOSE MAGNIFICENT MEN IN THEIR FLYING MACHINES which is booked for a special Winona area showing at the Winona Theatre beginning Wednesday.

Although Stuart Whitman, Sarah Niles, James Fox, Terry-Thomas and Robert Morley head the cast they actually share star billing with the machines themselves which are close duplications of the famous old aircraft that made aeronautics history.

The film is climaxed by an air race across the English channel from London to Paris, pointing up the international rivalry for early air supremacy which existed at the time of the story,

THE BOUNTY KILLER and DINGAKA are paired as a double - feature attraction through Tuesday at the Winona.

Dan Duryea and Rod Cameron are starred in THE BOUNTY KILLER, the story about an Easterner who goes out West to seek his fortune and, through a series of events, finds himself becoming a bounty killer, a man who collects rewards for the outlaws he kills. Caught up in the loneliness of such a life he tries

Gaqeba In "Dingaka"

A sort of comic valentine to the to escape from it but does so too late to escape a violent fate.

> Filmed entirely on location in Africa, DINGAKA, with Stanley Baker and Juliet Prowse, is about a successful Johannesburg society lawyer who sets out to defend a native tribesman against a charge of attempted murder.

The drama contrasts two vastly different ways of life: The contemporary and the primitive.

Men From U.N.C.L.E. In Spy Film

The international adventurers from television's "Man From U.N.C.L.E.," Napoleon Solo and Illya, go to work on the movie screen in THE SPY WITH MY FACE, opening Wednesday at the State Theatre.

Robert Vaughn, as Solo, and David McCallum, as Illya, are cast in their U.N.C.L.E. roles for the film of fast-action intrigue which has Senta Berber in the female lead.

Co-starring is Leo G. Carroll. The film is in color.

Another story of intrigue is told in THE SPY WHO CAME IN OUT OF THE COLD, the State's current attraction playing through Tuesday.

Richard Burton appears in the title role as the disillusioned spy who "comes in out of the cold. and at last is revealed as a hero in his final act when he chooses death with the woman who loves

Claire Bloom is a working girl who comes in contact with Burton when he's placed in a lowly job as a part of his assignment for British Intelligence.

Unaware of his role as an espionage agent she opens up her life to him, a romantic interest develops and ultimately it is her devotion to him that leads her into a treacherous plot engineered by East German spies to un-wittingly discredit her lover. Peter Van Eyck appears as the head of East German Intelligence operatives and Oscar Werner as his brilliant assistant.

BETRAYED . . . Richard Burton is grim and tense as he explains about an espionage double-cross to Claire Bloom in THE SPY WHO CAME IN FROM THE COLD, now at the State.

PROKOFIEV: Alexander Nevsky, Weslminster Choir, New York Philharmonic, Thos. Schippers, cond. Columbia MS 6306.

One of the heroes of the Russian Middle Ages, Grand Duke Alexander, won the name Nevsky by defeating an invading Swedish army by the River Neva. In 1938 the famous Russian film director Serge Eisenstein began planning a new film on Alexander Nevsky, and the composer Serge Prokofiev was invited to write the music for it. They worked closely together, producing a great suc-cess. The music for the film was later recast as a cantata, and it is in this form that it is heard today.

Of course, pieces like "Arise, Ye Russian People" fall pretty much in line with Communist edicts that attempt to dictate the nature of modern music in Russia. But Prokofiev has stepped over this limitation and created grand music, powerful and dramatic. And the melody of "Song About Alexander Nevsky" is unforgettable.

Thomas Schippers has appeared for over ten years as guest conductor of the New York Philharmonic, and he is regular conductor of the Metropolitan Opera Orchestra. His experience and artistry could hardly be excelled in this recording. What must be a difficult score comes off with brilliance and dynamism; A 'must" record for stereo enthusgressive" jazz. In this vein he approached rather exicting ideas. employing the modern techniques of symphonic composers, polyrhythms, serials, and compound meter. But in another, perhaps more marketable vein, Kenton performed and recorded romantic type ballads. Since that time Kenton has been doing a slow fade and even reissues of Willow Weep for Me and the Artistry series haven't changed it much. ON TOUR: Robert Shaw Chorale. Mozart, Schoenberg, lives, et al. Robert Shaw, cond.

Robert Shaw's chorale continues to be a model of what a good chorus should sound like. This recording is made up of music he conducted while touring Russia in 1962. It goes without saying it was a triumph - for music too - because the Soviet government gave the chorale and orchestra permission to perform Bach's B minor Mass. This is apparently the first time a western group was allowed to do a religious work in Russia.

None of the pieces recorded here are well-known concert hall favorites, which makes this release all the more interesting. Mozart's Three Psalms Nos. 110, 117, and 113; Schoenberg's Friede auf Erden; Three Harvest Home Chorales by Charles Ives; Trois Chansons by Ravel and an American and Russian Folk Song comprise this issue. From all reports they were accepted and applauded enthusiastically by the Rusian audiences, and the chorale was told "You have exceeded all our expectations". In all a tribute to the Robert Shaw Chorale, the U.S. Cultural Exchange program, and a boom for lovers of choral music.

Capote Murder Account Hits New Prose Journalism High

IN COLD BLOOD, by Truman Capote. Random House, 343 pages, $5.95.

By JOHN R. BREITLOW

On the wheat plains of western Kansas, near the Colorado border, stands the village of Holcomb, where on the night of Nov. 15, 1959, four members of the Herbert Clutter family were murdered in their ranch home by shotgun blasts. Last April, the two murderers were hanged at the Kansas State Penitentiary. The details of these events and the lives of those involved are the substance of the book IN COLD BLOOD, a masterpiece of prose journalism by Truman Capote.

Its rather pedestrian title notwithstanding, IN COLD BLOOD deserves all the critical acclaim it is getting. It is as well written as anything in print. Tru-man Capote has treated sensational acts without resorting to sensationalism. He has portrayed the Clutter family in human terms without submerging in sentimentality; he treats the killers with understanding but cannot be accused of being a bleeding heart."

In order to write this remark-

Comic Touch in Novel Of the People of Siam

MAI PEN RAI MEANS NEVER MIND. By Carol Hollinger. Houghton Mifflin. $4,95.

For all its wit and charm, this account of a woman's experience in Thailand is more than just entertainment. It has some penetrating things to say about the American position in Southeast Asia.

On the entertainment level you'll find it is a much brighter than average comedy of the transplanted housewife Trying to Cope in a strange land—the dizzy problems of servants, food, local filth, local tables of the servants of the servants. boos and baffling Asiatic illogic. Such comedies have been written before, and too many of them descend into cuteness; but this author has a really astringent approach to the ironies of outlandish life, and a refreshing attitude toward the subtle reactions of her native hosts.

But there is a deeper thread of concern in the midst of this bright humor. The author became a teacher in a Siamese university, and in spite of the wild chaos of her classroom experiences, she gained a rare rapport with the Siamese young. As an uninhibited "natural" personality she also found her way into the confidence of some of their elders.

As a result, she developed a split personality; she could see visiting Americans as the Siamese saw them (ugh), but she also could appreciate the crude integrity with which some of her countrymen stumbled blindly into the touchy enigma of Thai-

Here is dry comedy that should rate higher than many a Broadway play, combined with compassionate understanding of another world. Is it too much to ask that this affectionate and crisply witty memoir be required reading for Americans going abroad?

A THOUSAND DAYS, Schlesinger KENNEDY, Sorensen GAMES PEOPLE PLAY.

Berne GIFT OF PROPHECY, able story, Truman Capote lived in Finney County for months, absorbing its atmosphere and taking the measure of its inhabitants, to recreate them in skillfully precise and meaningful prose. He spent hours talking to the killers. His handling of them indicates he knew them better than they knew themselves. His dialog and description of the locals have all the hallmarks of truth and intense perception; fiction is never that exact.

HERBERT CLUTTER was an eminently successful, self-made rancher and farmer. He appears as a steady, industrious Midwesterner, a good husband and father, active in his church and community, a man respected even in Washington, where he was an Eisenhower appointee to the Federal Farm Credit Board. While not wealthy, he was well off and had worked hard for what was his.

Mrs. Bonnie Clutter had been semi-invalided by severe postnatal depression since the birth of her son Kenyon, 15 years earlier. Two daughters had left home, leaving Nancy to run the household while she finished her last year of high school. The children were well-mannered and well liked. Mrs. Clutter still had some social life on "good days" when she would be her "old self" and there was hope for a cure in a new treatment planned by a Kansas City specialist. There was no real reason for their deaths.

Even as pictured by the understanding prose of Truman Capote, the killers were both stereotype losers. Richard Eugene Hickock and Perry Edward Smith had met in prison, where someone had described the Clutter situation and alluded to large amounts of cash on the premises. Their lives, especially Perry Smith's, are found in countless casebooks. There was a motive of larceny, some talk of no witnesses. The take was slightly more than forty dollars and a Japanese transistor radio.

THE AUTHOR'S style dominates the high literary quality of IN COLD BLOOD. Its diction displays absolute control; there is no trace of vindictiveness. Truman Capote obviously came to know the area and its inhabitants very well, yet he allows himself no emotional identification with the story. His tone is neither cold nor aloof, he is not disinterested but only objective.

This strange, gifted little man from what in western Kansas must seem like another world, must have been an unusual presence in Holcomb. The author of BREAKFAST AT TIFFANY'S and THE GRASS HARP must have seemed out of place on the prairie country, yet he sees it as clearly as any ever have. There can be no begrudging him the trace of an occasional smile at midwestern folkways. His narrative shows that he understood them, there is no reason why he should have to accept them as well.

His previous works have established his clear talent with the written word, but until now, Truman Capote has been merely a skilled writer of fiction, and sometimes off-beat though amusing fiction at that. To write IN COLD BLOOD, he had to bring his urbane talent to an alien land, he had to dwell among what we like to consider "real people." This sojourn has raised Truman Capote from a good writer to a superb one. The quality of his writing which before had good but limited literary appeal, now has a universal character.

The Prizewords jackpot is growing again with $10 more in it than we had last Sunday when we were able to report the winner of a $130 cash prize.

With the $50 offered for a winning solution last week still intact, the addition of the $10 that goes in each week there isn't a winner means that a total of $60 will go to the one person who is able to solve all of today's 16 puzzle clues.

There were quite a few players who came within three letters of a winning solution last week but no one was able to come up with the perfect entry.

AMONG those whose cards were marred by three errors were Mrs. Mary Felders, Lake City, Minn., Rt. 2; Mrs. Olive Turner, Canton, Minn.; Mrs. Adolph Lerum, Nelson, Wis.; Patricia M. Bigelow, Plainview, Minn.; Gertrude M. Fugina, Arcadia, Wis.; Harold Boyd, Plainview; Greg Gappa, 618 Wilson St.; Debra Eichman, 1051 E. Sanborn St.; Mrs. Herman Sura, Fountain City, Wis., Rt. 2, and Mrs. Martin T. Omoth, Spring Grove, Minn., Rt. 2.

If there are two or more winners this week the prize will be divided equally. If there isn't a winner in today's game the jackpot will be swelled by another $10 next Sunday.

BE SURE that your entry is attached to a postcard with four cents postage because our judges must disregard all entries received in envelopes.

Remember, too, that to be eligible for a prize an entry must bear a postmark of not later than midnight Tues-

ACROSS

3. A person usually requires much background information before he CARES to intervene in a personal quarrel (Dares). -CARES is better. He is scarcely willing to intervene without knowing details. Whether he Dares to intervene, informed or not, is a question of courage not covered in the clue.

6. Alas! we're often blind to faults in ourselves that we DETEST in others (DETECT). — Often doesn't go far enough with Detect, all of us have minor faults. DETEST is a much stronger term and fits better with of-

7. A man who cannot EVEN hold his temper is usually untrustworthy as a partner (Ever). - Usually understates in the case of a man who cannot Ever hold his temper. EVEN is more reasonable, it might be on one isolated occasion.

10. The fact that a boxer is FIGHTER often gains him the support of the crowd (Lighter). Lighter in itself is comparatively unimportant; it's his aggressive spirit that counts. FIGHTER is more apt here.

13. Answering a SLY question might make you a little embarrassed (Shy). - A Shy question is by nature unobjectionable, But a SLY question has a built-in embarrassment potential.

14. A ship's pilot might keep careful eye on TIME (Tide). So far as Tide is concerned he need only know the general situation; he need hardly keep a careful eye on it. TIME involves docking of other ships, storm warnings, darkness, and many other factors.

15. We can think of many things that people FEAR in common (Bear). — We do share many a FEAR in common. Bear is less apt; each of us have burdens, but individual burdens vary wide-

16. There's little to be surprised at when a boy gets DASH from his father (Cash). - There are many circumstances in which it could be surprising when a boy gets Cash from his father he might not deserve it. DASH, spirit and vigor, is often hereditary.

DOWN

1. Exuberance of spirits sometimes causes a boy to be CHEEKY (Cheery). there are many things to make a boy Cheery; he might be that way naturally. In this statement, CHEEKY, saucy, is more reasonable; note qualification of sometimes.

2. Contact with people who HAVE a lot of money often makes a person aspire to be like them (Save), - Not Save; too much depends on what sacrifices they make. HAVE is true to life.

4. Impulsive people sometimes RESENT something when there's little reason to do so (Repent). - Repent, which might call for contemplation, doesn't quite fit with impulsive, which clues you to RESENT.

5. We usually hastern to the aid of a blind man when he comes to a STOP (Step). - Step isn't so likely; in all probability, he is familiar with the Steps in his area. When he comes to a STOP, he faces a strange situation.

8. It's sometimes very hard for a spendthrift to understand a person who is WISER (Miser). -It's at least often very hard for him to understand a Miser. The marked restraint of the clue indicates WISER.

9. A person who apparently never HEEDS advice from anybody might well be called selfcentered (Needs). - The person who apparently never Needs advice might better be called a competent person, rather than a self-centered person. HEEDS is better with self-centered.

11. Circumstances that make one person RASH might well make another person cautious (Rush). - The reference to cautious fits better with RASH. Caution makes a poor case with

12. It's perhaps more regrettable when grownups LIE than when children do (Die). - Too much depends on circumstances with Die. Grownups should be aware that, as a rule, it doesn't pay to LIE.

Cover Girl Tips

YOP UATR HAD E

By Bonnie

and Reba Churchill

New year what a junior model carries in her hatbox? Peek inside, and you may be surprised. In addition to the expected tools of the trade—make-up and hair spray—there are such unexpected items as a square of foam rubber, a saltshaker and a plastic palette. These aids help achieve that faultless look, which is the cover girl's trademark. For instance, to keep skin tone glowing, apply foundation base with a piece of foam rubber that has been dampened in water. Moisture prevents sponge from absorbing too much color, thus eliminating the common problem of applying foundation too heavily.

A MODEL is never allowed to alibi, "I can't get my mouth on straight." To train herself against such lip problems. she frequently practices with an outline, known as a template. This can be either ready-made or created as a do-it-yourself project from celluloid. First, brush on lipstick in the most flattering mouth line; then, gloss lips with petroleum jelly. Press mouth against a piece of white paper. This perfect imprint becomes the guide for cutting out the celluloid. Once you have the ideal silhouette, press the template to the mouth, using a soft-tipped cosmetic pencil for outlining. Remove guide, and fill-in with lipstick.

other beauty boosters, illustrated by actress Sue Hamilton, include storing powder in a shaker-top bottle. Since most models powder-set cosmetics, the perforated top helps control amount of talc on the puff, plus keeping it light and airy. Another quick trick is using a cotton-tipped swab to soften brow pencil, smooth eye shadow and erase smudges. For over-all glamour, try blending makeup on a plastic palette. Quick-to-clean sheet makes it easy to mix natural tones for cheek, eyes and lips. Sue, seen in the American-International film, "Bikini Party in a Haunted House," employs a sable artist's brush for such custom coloring.

David G. Brom

President of this year's senior class at Cotter High School is David G. Brom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brom, 921 W. Broadway.

Brom is a member of the National Honor Society, a member of the Student Council for four years, was vice president of his sophomore and junior classes and has received two letters in baseball. He's a member of Sodality, Cotter chorus, Drama Club, Letterman Club and Rampart staff.

He participated in district speech tournaments in his sophomore and junior years and in the state meet when he was a junior. Brom played a lead role in "The Thread That Runs So True," a dramatic production in his junior year.

When he flew to Rome for his brother's ordination to the priesthood he traveled in Europe and attended a concert of the Vienna Symphony. His favorite subject is English and his hobbies are speech, sports and music. He considers the opportunity to speak before the student body while campaigning for Student Council presidency as his most valuable experience at Cotter.

He's a member of Cathedral of the Sacred Heart, plans to attend St. Mary's College and has one brother and three sisters,

Tatiana Gajecky

Tatiana Gajecky, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Theodosius Gajecky, 1223 W. Broadway, was the designer of Cotter High School's 1964 homecoming button.

She is editor-in-chief of the school newspaper, The Rampart, and was feature editor last year. She's also a member of the National Honor Society and the National Latin Honor Society.

A library assistant for two years, she has been a member of the Drama Club for two years, is a member of the Reading Club and was a Student Council representative in her freshman year.

She participated in the speech contest in her junior year with a dramatic interpretation and was a member of the senior one act play cast in the role of Laura.

Her favorite subjects are English and advanced literature and she considers her most valuable experience at Cotter attendance at a journalism workshop on the campus of College of St. Thomas, St. Paul. She has traveled in Canada.

She plans to attend college, major in foreign language and art and hopes to study and travel in Europe. She's a member of St. Mary's parish and has two brothers.

Broadway segment. "Tommy is the best young talent I've seen in years," is the Kelly comment, "and we hit it off at the first meeting."

Steele comes back for the finale with Kelly and Gower Champion, as the men walk down the street like kings who own the island. Broadway director Gower Champion joins Kelly in the United Nations segment where the two appear as Ambassadors, in white tie and tails, hoofing to a grand tune, "Every Street's a Boulevard in Old New York."

Since the UN is off-limits for cameras, Kelly had to build a replica of the various rooms for the number, and he says the effort was worth all the trouble: "Gower and I had a delightful time. You know, he hasn't danced since 1960, five long years, yet I couldn't see any rust. When you're a stage director, you stay in shape."

THE SIGHTS, the girls and the entertainers, are backed up by another major ingredient—grand tunes. "I'd forgotten how many wonderful songs had been written about the City," Kelly acknowledged, "I think we have 19 love songs to New York in the show, and I was forced to leave out a few. But you'll hear most of your favorites from "East Side, West Side," and "I'll Take Manhattan," to "New York, New York, It's a Wonderful Town."

The TV dance special is Kelly's first since 1958, and it's a sign the dancer could be coaxed into future shows. The response given Kelly after his guest appearance with Julie Andrews in late November, has made him think a little more about television. "People thought I'd hung up my shoes," Gene said, "and they seemed pleased to see me again."

Though he hasn't been wearing out his dancing shoes, Kelly keeps busy producing and directing, and works out of an office at 20th-Century-Fox Studios. He's just finished directing a TV pilot titled "The Black Feather," and is currently developing a musical. There's also a project in the wind involving unpublished George Gershwin songs, plus a commitment with the animation people, Hanna & Barbera, on "Jack And The Beanstalk."

The Irishman isn't exactly twiddling his fingers in the California sun, He's on the move behind the cameras, which is fine, but, the point is, fans want to see Kelly get out there and dance.

There is something slightly exciting about creating a cozy kitchen out of four walls, some doors, bare windows and a refrigerator.

Of course, a clever woman can with a little ingenuity and adrenalin – eke new curtains, a splashy tablecloth and new grapefruit spoons out of the moving budget.

There ought to be a National Bureau of Standardization for Windows, however. Never has a house been built containing a window the exact same size of any window in any other house.

After ten moves in eighteen years I'm dubious about room sizes, too. They seem to have a habit of shrinking nearly in half just as the movers bring in the last rocking chair for the living room.

Husbands aren't much on moving to new houses. For one thing they know it is apt to mean groaning weekly shifts of furniture until the "just-right" look is finally achieved.

After you've lived in a new house awhile the furniture (especially tables) gets switched semi-regularly just so negligent inhabitants will realize the lady of the house DID wash the kitchen floor that week after all.

The children in our house were delighted to discover that Kansas folks know all about Valentine's Day, too. Red candy hearts abound and bits of lace and funny verses adorn all the doors of the domicile. The man who now wears Army green even recalled his sentimental attachments and brought home an armload of long-stemmed roses.

It seems strange to look out of our picture window at broad flat prairies. How we miss the glorious ridges and deep valleys. No hills to climb, no slides for flying toboggins. No mysterious hidden spots to investigate — only vast and seeming endless openness.

Youngsters from neighboring villages trek regularly to this Army post to watch the buffalo herd. They can also view the stuffed mounted hide of Comanche, the horse that was the sole survivor of the massacre that was General Custer's last stand.

This state boasts nearly twice as many cattle as people. Do you suppose it prefers them?

We've always figured our half-dozen children were half, stubborn Norwegian and half, shrieking Indian. Out here in the haunts of the old west — influenced by history and tradition — they are apt to become more so. . .

PROBLEM: An Air Car.

NEEDED: An old long-playing record, a thread spool, a candle, a large rubber balloon, and a smooth surface.

DO THIS: Whittle one end of the spool down so the balloon can be slipped over it. Attach the other end of the spool to the center of the record with candle wax. The holes should match each other.

Inflate the balloon, slip its mouth over the spool, place the record on the smooth surface, release the balloon, and the record will glide with very little friction

HERE'S WHY: When the record rests on the surface it tends to remain there because of the friction created when the surfaces move against each other. The air stream from the balloon puts a thin layer of air between the surfaces, eliminating most of the fric-

English Period Irend Evident In Furnishings

The homemaker of 1966, and for many seasons to come, will furnish her home with some of the same cherished pieces used in the days of Queen Elizabeth, Queen Ann and even Queen Victoria, offerings at winter furnishing markets indicate. Retail buyers attending market this season put their seal of approval on the revival of English period styles, a trend that will govern the industry far into the future. The quiet elegance of the American Queen Anne style is reflected in this walnut dressing table or lowboy seen at the right. The table, which features cabriole leg and padded foot with a carved shell or fan on the center drawer. is one of several pieces in a new collection. The original table is in a 1750 house in New Hampshire.

'Opulent Look' Reflects Economy of the Era

The prosperity of the current era is wellexpressed in new collections seen at winter market showings. A style influence which will be quickly noted by the person shopping for new furnishings is the opulent look which is expressed in various ways in different pieces. Attention to decorative detail, for instance, gives this dresser and cabinet an interesting architectural look. Both are from a new collection of bedroom furnishings which feature an abundance of storage space as a bonus in addition to the attractiveness of the pieces.
