UMOC hunt begins May 8

Ugly Man On Campus (UMOC) contest, sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, will be May 8-13.

UMOC, a project of Alpha Phi Omega, is very popular on college campuses, and is sponsored to promote campus spirit and collected money goes for some needy campus cause.

ALL organizations are given a chance to enter by having a member of the organization dress up as an "ugly man," and students vote for their favorite by money.

Each cent will count as one vote, and the "Ugly Man," will be presented with a plaque, now on display in the showcase of Kryzsko Commons, at the UMOG Dance.

Monday, UMOG week will start with an opening rally at Kryzsko Commons at 7 p.m.; and on Saturday will be the Junior Olympics at Lake Park, and that evening will be the dance in the Smog.

New academic dean is sought

The process of selecting a new academic dean is underway, according to Dr. DuFresne, College President.

Dr. M. R. Raymond, present dean, resigned a month ago, and a faculty committee is being formed for the purpose of choosing a new one.

EACH COLLEGE division, Dr. DuFresne pointed out, will be represented. The committee will interview applicants and explore possibilities, and present their recommendation to Dr. DuFresne, who will make the decision and present it to the State College Board for final approval.

There is no date, Dr. DuFresne concluded, for the selection of the new dean. Dean Raymond will continue in his capacities until his replacement is found.

Homecoming theme is subject of contest

A contest for the best over-all theme for homecoming, such as Mardi Gras, is one of the changes Gary McDowell, homecoming senator has announced for the 1967 Homecoming.

Homecoming in previous years, he stated, has been a conglomeration of themes, but this year he hopes for one theme to govern all the activities.

THE DEADLINE for students who want to enter is May 19. They should send their suggestions to Gary McDowell, P.O. 827. Two free tickets to the big name entertainment at Homecoming will be the prize.

The budget, McDowell went on to say, has already been submitted, and presently he and his committee are in the process of selecting a date. The dates under consideration are Oct. 14, when Winona State meets Mankato State, or Oct. 28, when Michigan Tech is at Maxwell Field. In choosing a date, he said that the wishes of the Winona State Student Association and the athletic department would be taken into consideration.

The chairman for the 1967 Homecoming besides McDowell are: Alice Peterson, co-chairman; Jan Winter, secretary, and James Evenson, treasurer.

The committee chairmen are Jan Wiest, publicity; Fredric Baranski, public relations; Charlotte Behnken and Mary Jo Blumentritt, queens breakfast; Ronald Johnson and Judy Lee, club competition; Diane Higgin and Sue Kniebel, dance programs; Robert Martens and Bruce White, the dance in general; Joan Wierzba and Don Elmdahl, dance decorations; Shirley Kress, Alumni Notices; Mike Trok, Patricia Wiemerslage and Scott Sprangers, queen campaign; Louis Molander, booster rally.

Questionnaires reveal present hours are satisfactory to women residents

Hours women have in the dorms are generally satisfactory, according to a survey run by the Women's Residence Hall Council. Women dorm residents felt, however, that freshman women's Friday and Saturday night curfews and upperclasswomen Sunday Night hours could be extended.

Surveys were made of the 494 women in residence, and 259 replied. There responses are as follows:

Handbook aid to all

College catalogs are interesting things. In them you find the rules governing the students, modes of behavior, requirements for admission and other vital facts to college students.

However, students often do not read their catalog, so a substitute has been presented, a college handbook.

IN PREVIOUS YEARS, the only students to receive college handbooks were incoming students — freshmen and transfers. So as the rules changed, upperclassmen were not informed of them, often not until they violated them.

Starting this fall, however, it is planned to distribute handbooks to all the students. We applaud this action by Mr. Stadler and his committee.

Handbooks to all the students will help in clearing up many confusions and questions that arise. Now, all students will know that if they don't attend the first day of classes their registration is subject to cancellation.

Apathy strikes again

Quite possibly the most common word in this paper recently is apathy, and this week is no exception.

Recently, a poll was conducted among the dorm women concerning liberalization of hours. Of the 494 women in residence, only 259 bothered to fill out the questionnaire. In other words, 235 women could care less what hours they have.

MANKATO STATE extended their hours to 12:30 a.m. on weeknights and 2 a.m. on weekends, regardless of class or age, effective May 1. Moorhead State recently voted to a policy of no hours for 20 and 21 year old students.

Bemidji, too, has gotten into the act. The Northern Student, Bemidji's newspaper, has launched a campaign to liberalize their hours.

But here in Winona, on the whole, the women who answered the poll were fairly satisfied, with the possible exception of Sunday night hours. But a 55 per cent response is hardly indicative of the feelings of everyone concerned, or is it?

BUT THE OPINIONS are there on paper, and if the women don't care, neither does the college, nor do we.

Student defends "Wasteland"

Winona, Minnesota and Winona State College in particular are cultural and intellectual wastelands! This is so according to Michael Baglino's Winonan article of April 13. His enlightening article disturbs me somewhat and therefore I shall try not to consider him as just a stupid jerk, but I shall try to defend my "wasteland."

First of all Mr. Baglino I see that you are from Baldwin, New York which in no way makes you an authority on Mid-Western culture. Also, Mr. Baglino your cultural and intellectual presence has not been felt the past four years around here as there have been no "red guard" cultural revolutions during that time to fight "the system" you speak about. Also in checking the last honor roll I didn't see your name, so the college must be a little intellectually stimulating to some of us.

MR. BAGLINO! I like it here! In traveling through Europe, part of Asia, and the United States I found very few places where I would rather live for any length of time. I am glad there are places in this world where

I do not have to see sign-carriers and peace demonstrators. Right here it is peaceful enough and therefore we do not need outside or inside agitation. Does every place have to be always in a turmoil? Incidentally Winona is one of the most beautiful places around. It beats New York any day. Another thing, Mr. Baglino, Winona has three top-notch colleges. Of course we don't have Wall Street or Harvard or the Pentagon, but we hold our own in this world. We strive for perfection and possibly greatness in our own way and if you don't think we know what's going on elsewhere in this world you are wrong.

Mr. Baglino, you are the cultivator of your own culture and intelligence not WSC. WSC gives you the tools to cultivate it with and therefore don't deduce that it is WSC that is the wasteland.

In conclusion, Mr. Baglino, I can just hear you when you go home to New York. "Ya Ma. You must realize why these farmers from the Mid-West don't wear their hair long like we cultured and intellectual elite do — it's because the Indians still are

Homecoming dispute continues at WSSA

by J. M. Wierzba

The squabble over Homecoming continued at Tuesday's WSSA's meeting. The voting for the date was a see-saw with the usual reversal: senators for one side, while the representatives favored the other. Voting was eight to five for Oct. 28 for the senators; the representatives were overwhelmingly for Oct. 14, scalping them thar dumbheads out in the backward part of the United States."

Correction

In the April 13 issue of the Winonan, we inadvertently referred to a photograph of a Regional Science Fair exhibit of The Seeing Eye as Sandra Burfind's.

The exhibit actually was Michael Myer's of Mary E. McCall Institute in Lake City. We offer our apologies and stand corrected.

The keen edge

by Fredric Baranski

There are more than 100,00 Americans employed in intelligence — 70 per cent within the United States, says Senator Stephen M. Young. It is estimated that the U.S. is now spending $4 billion a year on the Central Intelligence Agency and related operations: many times the sum spent on the entire State Department. These appropriations are hidden in allotments to other agencies.

These agencies are free to spend as they will—accountable only indirectly to any overseer. While we may need a highly organized "spy" system, that this branch of the Federal Government alone should function exempt from accountability is difficult to accept. Secrecy solely for secrecy's sake is scarcely justifiable; it also interferes with efficiency and economy.

COUNTER TO official policy, the CIA can determine where U.S. support is actually given; in effect it functions as an invisible government — and this through just an informal committee. A citizen cannot learn what the CIA does, costs, or even if it succeeds until it is too late to act; witness the Bay of Pigs invasion of Cuba. Here a lack of integration and a waste of manpower left the U.S. looking sadly ill-advised.

The senator does not contend that the agency publicize its successes and failures, but he feels it is playing too large a part in determining foreign policy — which it was never intended to do, usurping power belonging to the President and Congress, in addition to squandering tax dollars. The disturbing fact is that the CIA wants to be its own master.

That CIA money influences academic attitudes cannot be disputed after the recent disclosure that it had been giving millions to support the National Student Association for 15 years. This is clearly outside its domain, as specified by Congress in 1947, and poses a great threat to academic freedom.

WHILE satisfactory performance — in the proper realm — should not be hampered, such infiltration is highly questionable. A better form of control is recommended. It cannot be proved that the CIA is spending too much money or that it is overstuffed: this is the point — we should know.

INSUM: Presently we are standing in the bushes, hedging logic. Many people contend there are CIA members on every college campus in the country. That would include Winona State College. Ask me if I have any reason to believe it.

voting 14 to one. When questioned, McDowell, homecoming senator, was not sure whose decision would be final, the Association's or the athletic department's for the 1967 Homecoming.

There was a slight margin for Fred Baranski over Shirley Kress for Clubs and Organization senator. The other two candidates, eliminated on the first ballot, were Marilyn Danzeisen and John Whorton.

Sophomore class elections were today. Announcement of the new officers will be in next week's Winonan.

The disciplinary board, under the Personnel and Guidance Committee, may be revamped. Hopefully the majority of the members will be students. A listing of the student disciplinary rules will soon be published.

Who's Who nominations will be accepted from upperclassmen and faculty now until May 19; voting will be May 25.

Student misses activity calendar

To the Editor:

It is my understanding that one of the duties of the Public Relations Senator is to post a monthly activity calendar in 1st floor Somsen.

It has been some time since the Student Senate elections; why has this not been done yet?

Delta Zeta initiates five

Zeta Upsilon Chapter of Delta Zeta Sorority initiated five new members. They are: Terry Fullmann, Winona; Rebecca Johnson, Mabel; Jan Johnson, Windom; Cathy Pellowski, Winona; and Barbara White, Bloomington.

Apologies given

To the Editor:

It is indeed unfortunate that the printed word cannot adequately convey inflection. Evidently misinterpretation has resulted in some consternation regarding the letter to the Smog helper.

In no way did I mean to degrade Mr. Lawver's effort to commend the TEKES for their work. Unfortunately, the reply was written without prior consultation of the fraternity as a whole; hence it does not represent their viewpoint, nor does it adequately mine as interpreted.

ALLOW ME to sincerely apologize for any hard feeling that may have resulted therefrom.

Dr. Bayer

A major article by Dr. Thomas N. Bayer, Science Division, Winona State College, entitled "Repetitive Benthonic Communities in the Maquoketa Formation" has been published in the Journal of Paleontology.

This article is the result of several years of field study in Fillmore County. Dr. Bayer was able to demonstrate the historical development of a community of marine bottom-dwelling shellfish over 400 million years old. These animals, now represented by fossils, were collected from limestones of the Ordovician Period of geologic time.

THEIR history includes a series of environmental changes which caused the community to be forced from the area during periods of shallow water. As the water deepened, the community became re-established. According to the results of this study the organisms were evicted by environmental causes 49 times only to return again when the conditions again became favorable.

This article is a third in a series of papers on paleontology of southeastern Minnesota published by Dr. Bayer.

Mr. Baron

Mr. Baron, geography professor at Winona State took part in a computer mapping institute at St. Louis, Mo.

The institute, part of the Association of American Geographers National Meeting, was open to 50 people from the United States and Canada.

THE institute was conducted by Dr. William Warntz of the Laboratory for Computer Graphics, Harvard University. SYMAP is a computer program for producing maps which graphically depict spatially disposed quantitative and qualitative information. It is suited to a broad range of application, and is provided with numerous options to meet widely varying requirements.

Mr. McCauley

Mr. M. J. McCauley, Physics Department, Winona State College will attend a 6 weeks institute on Computing Machines.

The course is sponsored by the National Science Foundation at the University of Wisconsin Madison beginning June 12, 1967.

THIS TYPE of institute will serve the Physics Department in its future use of the IBM 1130 Computer on campus.

Dr. Foegen

Pressure for some kind of anti-strike law "will likely intensify rather than diminish," according to Dr. J. H. Foegen, professor of business, in an article in the February issue of the Labor Law Journal.

After a lengthy review of the current situation Dr. Foegen concludes that "the qualified right to strike is still fully recognized. But where the public is seriously injured, abused, or even inconvenienced through no fault of its own, as a result of a squabble between a union and a company for their respective gain, that public deserves whatever protection the law can give it."

LABOR UNIONS should not have the right to strike "as they alone see fit; neither should government intervention be an all-or-none basis" is Dr. Foegen's view.

Labor Law Review is published by Commerce Clearing House, Chicago.

Dr. Foss

Dr. Frederick W. Foss, Head of the Chemistry Department has been selected to be a participant in the University of Minnesota's Summer Institute for College Teachers in Structural and Inorganic Chemistry.

The five week institute is being staffed by ten professors of the University of Minnesota Chemistry Department and nine guest lecturers from other sections of the country.

THE MAJOR objective of this National Science Foundation Institute is to contribute to the improvement of the teaching of advanced inorganic chemistry by the participants through broadening their understanding of and background in modern structural and inorganic chemistry.

Mr. Wolfe

Duane Wolfe, instructor of mathematics at Winona State College, will attend a mathematics institute June 19 - August 11 (8 weeks) at Rutgers - The State University, New Brunswick, N. J. The institute, which is supported by the National Science Foundation, is designed for college teachers with responsibilities in liberal arts, teacher training, and technical program. The institute will provide an opportunity for teachers to exchange thoughts and ideas with other successful teachers from all parts of the nation as well as with well known leaders of mathematics thought and education.

THE COURSE of study will include advanced topics in Calculus, Abstract Algebra, and a Mathematical Problem Seminar which will consist of a study of selected topics in higher mathematics.

Dr. Fremling

Dr. Calvin Fremling presented his paper, "The Upper Mississippi - A Changing Habitat for Aquatic Animals and Man," to the Turk's Head Club.

His well-illustrated paper discussed the changes and subsequent consequences of man's changing living patterns around and in the Mississippi River. Urbanization, the development of a navigable waterway, and the promotion of commercial fishing were cited as positive developments associated with man and the river.

Warriors sweep 3 from Morris, now lead NIC

U-M Morris was buried under an avalanche of hits over the weekend as the Warriors swept the three game series to hold down the top spot in the NIC. Winona's conference record is now 6-0, and the Warriors are riding on a 12 game winning streak.

Friday, the Warriors pulled their come-from-behind tactics once again, coming from a 7-4 deficit to bomb Morris pitcher Rich Nelson in the sixth, going in to win 12-7.

CHIP Schwartz got the win, thanks to Al Connor's 3-run double in the sixth and relief help from Rick Smith.

Pitching was definitely the key to Saturday's double-header as the Warriors swept up, 2-1 and 7-1.

Jack Benedict kept Morris' seven hits scattered in the first game while Morris' pitcher Doug MacIver allowed the Warrior only one hit.

AL CONNOR'S base stealing antics and an error accounted for one run, coming in the first. Connor's double in the third scored Carl Strom for the winning run.

Hank Zacharias and Pat Boland turned in a pair of fine defensive plays to bail Benedict out.

The Warrior bats took their toll in the second game, piling up 11 hits to bomb Morris 7-1. Freshman Denny Iverson tallied his second two-hitter of the week for the win, pushing his record to 4-0.

RICH DECKER poured out three singles to lead the attack.

This weekend the Warriors hit the road again traveling to Moorhead for a series of three. Moorhead finished in the league cellar last year.

Track team loses again

Showing marked improvement, the Warrior Thinclads lost again, but by a much slimmer margin. Stout came out on top of the dual meet, 78½ - 65½.

The distance runners came through in good form as usual, sweeping the mile run and winning the three-mile and the 880.

BRUCE CARRIER and John Rahman tied for first in the mile, with Don Rahman finishing third. Rahman and Carrier placed one-two in the three-mile, and Steve Bord won the 880 with Don Rahman finishing third.

Ron Stevens posted a win in the 100-yard dash, with a time of :10.5, and placed second in the 220.

Don Scharmer and Don Zim-merhahl finished first and sec-

Linksmen win 3, drop 1

Winona State's golfers split a double dual meet, with St. Mary's, and La Crosse, then rebounded to dump Mankato State and Rochester JC in their next outing.

As La Crosse, Winona State swamped St. Mary's, 16-2, then were edged by La Crosse, 10½-7½. Jim Huettl took medalist honors with a 73 over the par 71 course. Roger Fischbach scored out at 77 with Dave Hanke at 79, Terry Nelson and Tim Rath had 80's, and Jim Stout rounded out with an 82 for Winona State.

SOLDIER'S FIELD was the scene for the next Warrior triumphs as Mankato fell to the sweeping Warriors 11½-6½, and ond respectively, in the javelin, and Bob Safe captured the pole vault to round out Winona's first places.

The Warriors competed in the Luther Relays at Decorah, Iowa, on Tuesday. They will travel to the Howard Wood Relays Saturday.
