

11-1-1932

Colonnade November 1, 1932

Colonnade

Follow this and additional works at: <http://kb.gcsu.edu/colonnade>

Part of the Higher Education Commons, and the Mass Communication Commons

---

Recommended Citation

Colonnade, "Colonnade November 1, 1932" (1932). Colonnade. Book 105.
<http://kb.gcsu.edu/colonnade/105>

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by Knowledge Box. It has been accepted for inclusion in Colonnade by an authorized administrator of Knowledge Box.

The Colonnade

Volume VIII.

Georgia State College for Women, Milledgeville, Ga., Tuesday, November 1, 1932.

Number 6.

Richard Halliburton Delivers Interesting Address To Students

Noted Author Tells Of His Many Observations and Experiences In Many Foreign Countries.

Richard Halliburton told enchanting tales of his adventures in picturesque cities of the world to a large audience here last Friday evening.

One of his most appealing stories was of Nino, the little monkey who was his companion on an organ grinding tour from Buenos Aires to Rio de Janeiro. He found this "monkey-business" very profitable while it lasted. Nino died on the boat going from South America to Mexico, and was buried at sea.

In the ruins of Yucatan, a city of pre-Columbian civilization, Mr. Halliburton visited the scenes where years ago the Indians held their sacrificial ceremonies to the Great Rain God. Every year they throw a maiden as an offering to the god into a certain pit, a hundred feet across and seventy feet down to the surface of the water, and a warrior of the tribe jumped in to escort her. Mr. Halliburton, drawn irresistibly to the edge of the pit with thoughts of its previous history, jumped in at 5 o'clock one morning. He finally climbed back to the top, all his illusions of romance gone. Several days later he returned to the bottom of the pit for his boots, and a picture of the leap was taken by the American consul.

In India, in the ancient city of the Emperor of the Hindoos, Mr. Halliburton heard the story of Padmini, the little princess of the Hindoos who was the cause of a great war between her people and their enemies, the Mohammedans. When the Hindoos were defeated, Padmini committed suicide, in accordance with the motto of the Hindoo women, "Death always before dishonor." The little princess is a beloved heroine of the Hindoo people today, and when Mr. Halliburton called a young native girl, whom he had taken boat riding and with whom he had been caught in the daily rainstorm, "Princess Padmini" it made everything all right.

When the well-known author became owner of his airplane, "The Flying Carpet," his first thought was, "When one has a 'Flying Carpet,' he simply must rescue a princess!" so he began to search for his princess. He finally found a prince in Persia, who consented to have his two reputedly beautiful daughters taken to ride in the plane. But Mr. Halliburton had forgotten the Persian ideal of beauty and was greatly disappointed to find their graces so fat that there was room in the plane only for his friend who acted as pilot and one of the ladies. Several days later his friend completely eclipsed this effort at social climbing by taking the Queen of Persia, a ravishing beauty, up in the plane.

Among Mr. Halliburton's royal acquaintances are the white Rajah of Borneo and his wife. In their "Flying Carpet" the author and his friend visited Borneo recently, where they were accorded an enthusiastic welcome. They carried a rifle as an emblem of friendship from the rulers to the chief of the head-hunters. The chief, as a reward of the trip and for being taken to ride in the airplane, the like of which none of the natives had ever seen before, presented them with twelve human heads.

These heads proved a curse to the trip, for with their advent a series of accidents, from engine trouble to a terrible typhoon, and a swim in sulphuric acid, began to interrupt the heretofore fortunate expedition. Mr. Halliburton, urged by the superstitions of his friend, reluctantly disposed of the heads, a few at a time. When the last one was gone, their luck changed again, and they reached San Francisco without further mishap.

Mr. Halliburton said good night to a reluctant audience with the promise to tell more and better stories when he came again.

G. S. C. W. History Museum Moved to New Quarters

The Georgia History Museum has been moved to its new home in the Ina Dillard Russell Library.

The museum is sponsored by the History Club of the Georgia State College for Women, under the direction of Dr. Amanda Johnson, head of the history department. The club gave its first play in benefit of the museum in 1929-30, and since then has sponsored annual plays in its behalf.

Beginning with the Indian group of collections, are tomahawks, stones for grinding corn, arrowheads, carved headdress, and other possessions that have been found by people in the state. Probably the most interesting relic is a Creek Indian Burial Urn which was found on Indian Island Ranch, fourteen miles southeast of Milledgeville. It contained the skeleton of a child, supposedly eight years old.

Receipts in payment of slaves, letters from soldiers, Confederate money, stamps, notes of Jefferson Davis, and legal documents portray the Confederate period. There are also cotton cards, a spinning wheel.

Of special interest to the people of Milledgeville are: ledgers and account books of 1838 which belonged to local merchants, the key to the old penitentiary gate, early records of the state education institutions, and a "History of Milledgeville."

The public is invited to see these and many more interesting collections concerning the history of Georgia.

Writers Group Meets

The Writers Group of the Literary Guild held its first meeting October 12. Plans for the future work of the group were discussed. Miss Hallie Smith, advisor, presented an interesting topic to be worked out by members of the group, "My Philosophy of Life."

Miss Smith invited the club to hold the next meeting, the first of November, at her apartment.

The program committee appointed is as follows: Julia Ruckler, Pauline Reynolds and Elizabeth Smith.

Richard Halliburton, famous adventurer, engaged in making friends with a Borneo headhunter's daughter during his exploration events in Malay archipelago.

International Relations Club of G. S. C. W. Meets

The first meeting of the International Relations Club of G. S. C. W. was held Tuesday afternoon in Parks Hall. Seventeen girls who have been invited to join the club were present.

Officers for the year were elected. They are Eugenia Lawrence, Eatonton, president; Virginia Tanner, Douglas, vice president; Sue Mansfield, Macon, secretary; Jackie Rhoden, Moultrie, treasurer. Plans were also made for other meetings to be held this semester.

The club is distinctly an honor society and only those students who are majoring or minoring in history, political science, economics, sociology, and geography and who have an average of eighty-three or above are eligible for membership. The purpose of the club is to study international problems in the above mentioned fields. It is a part of an international movement for the study of world affairs. There are in the library several books for use by the members of the club and those interested in the movement.

The local chapter is planning to bring to the campus two speakers from international headquarters.

Dr. Amanda Johnson, of the history department is faculty advisor for the club. Dr. Henry F. White, of economics department, Mrs. Fern Doris, of the geography department, and Miss Willie O'Kelley and Miss Helen Green, also of the history department, will assist in the activities of the club.

The members are: Inez Lipford, Odene Stone, Elizabeth T. Smith, Gene Pittman, Louise Williams, Elizabeth Wakeford, Jane Suttentfield, Lillian Jordan, Josephine Frye, Mary Goldstein, Mary Milledred Wynn.

CANARY IS SHIP'S MASCOT

BOSTON (UP)—Ittikow is a seagoing canary with an Eskimo name. It returned safely to Boston recently after serving as a mascot aboard the schooner Zavorah during an aeronautical survey of the Labrador coast.

Instructions For Using The G. S. C. W. Library

Instructions concerning the use of books and the finding of materials were given out this week by Miss Virginia Satterfield, librarian to help the students become acquainted with the library.

That part of the reading room on the right hand of the front door as you enter is the periodicals room. On the shelves to the right of the desk are the indexes. These include such volumes as the "Book Review Digest," "The New York Times Index," and the "Readers' Guide to Periodical Literature."

Next in order are the last issues of periodicals. These are arranged in two groups alphabetically. Oversize magazines like the "Delineator" and "Parents' Magazine" come first, followed by smaller ones like "Child Welfare" and "The Journal of Experimental Psychology." Back numbers of magazines may be asked for at the desk.

The bound periodicals fill the shelves against the walls from the small magazines to the front door. They are arranged alphabetically from the "American Historical Review" to the "World's Work" and include such volumes as "Harper's" and the "House Beautiful" magazines.

The space on the left of the front door is the reference room. Beginning at the door and going to the right are the encyclopedias, from the "Americana" to the "World Book." These are followed by general reference books arranged by subjects. Here you will find "Historians History of the World" and the "World's Best Essays."

On the last shelves before the card catalogue are a group of handbooks. These include the "American Yearbook" and "Familiar Quotations."

To the right of the card catalogues is the latest addition to the library, the "browsing corner." Here are exhibited new books of especial interest.

The library is yours to use, for recreation as well as for study. The books in the periodical and reference rooms are not checked

Literary Guild Gives Reception

RICHARD HALLIBURTON IS HONOR GUEST AT ENJOYABLE SOCIAL EVENT.

The Literary Guild entertained at a reception in the Mansion in honor of Richard Halliburton immediately following his lecture in the auditorium Friday night.

The guests were received at the door by Miss Hallie Smith and Miss Annette Steele, of the English faculty. Miss Katherine Scott also of the English faculty, presented the guests to Dr. J. L. Beeson. Receiving were: Mrs. Beeson, Mr. Halliburton, Miss Winifred Crowell, Dr. and Mrs. William T. Wynn, Miss Marion Power, editor of The Spectrum and president of the Literary Guild, Miss Marion Keith, editor of the Corinthian and Miss Virginia Hale, editor of the Colonnade.

Mrs. E. H. Scott and Mrs. W. T. Wynn presided at the tea-table placed in the rotunda. Assisting were the officers of the Literary Guild, who are: Miss Adrienne Wills, Miss Sarah Cheney, Miss Mary Leftwich, Miss Eugenia Lawrence, Miss Harriett Lawrence, Miss Helen Barker, and Miss Bennice Johnston.

Marigolds formed the foundation of decorations of yellow autumn flowers.

During the evening about one hundred and sixty guests called, among whom were the members of the Literary Guild, members of the faculty; matrons of the dormitories; Miss Mary Moss, secretary of the Y. W. C. A.; Miss Margaret K. Smith, president of the Y. W. C. A.; Miss Frances Adams, president of the senior class; Miss Virginia Tanner, president of the junior class; Miss Josephine Redwine, president of the sophomore class; Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Fowler; Mrs. M. M. Parks, Miss Satterfield, Miss Deck and Miss Hagen, the college librarians; and Miss Decora Adams, instructor at the Georgia Military College. Several guests from Wesleyan were also present.

Music was furnished throughout the evening by Miss Marie Garrett, Miss Josephine Redwine, Miss Marguerite McCreary, and Miss Margaret Moseley.

Mr. Halliburton left immediately after the reception for Macon. He lectured Saturday at Riverside Military Academy at Gainesville.

Student Body Holds Interesting Meeting

The entire student body was called together in the auditorium, Wednesday at 5:30, October 26.

Margaret K. Smith, president of the "Y," presided at the meeting, which was to present plans for a new organization in the Y. W. C. A. The new organization is to be called an Activities Council and any member of the student body is eligible, excluding council and commission members.

No definite plan of work has been outlined but is to be decided upon by the council. The first meeting of the council will be held Friday afternoon at 5:30 to discuss future work of the council.

out, but they may be used in the library at all times. If you are unable to find any book, a library assistant will be glad to help you. Ask at the desk.

The Colonnade

Published Weekly By Students of The GEORGIA STATE COLLEGE FOR WOMEN
Corner Hancock and Clark Sts.
Milledgeville, Ga.

"Entered as second-class matter October 30, 1923, at the post office Milledgeville, Ga., under the Act of March 3, 1879."
SUBSCRIPTION RATE
$1.00 Per Year

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor-in-Chief .....Virginia Hale Managing Editor .....Claudia Keith
News Editor .....Alice Brim
Associate Editor .....Joumbel Stevens

Reporters—
Heien Ennis, Frances Holsenbeck, Pauline
Reynolds, Virginia Tanner, Mary Louise Dunn, Harriet Campbell.
Y. W. C. A. Editor .....Euhalle McDowell
Alumnae Editor .....Lavonia Newman

BUSINESS STAFF

Business Manager .....Marjorie Ennis
Typists—
Lennie Johnston, Patty Sommerour,
Elizabeth Wakeford

Exchange Editor .....Dorothy Maddox
Advertising Manager .....Harriet Trappell
Advertising Assistant .....Irene Farren
Proof Readers—Mary Newby, Vivian Yates
Circulation Manager .....Sue Mansfield Circulation Assistants—
Margaret Wenzel, Althea Smith, Anna O'Leary, Grace Pauli, Martha Sherwood, Ruth O'Kelly.

The American College

"The American college exists to offer American youth the largest opportunity to gain, under scholarly companionship and guidance, a firm hold upon the essential element of liberal education and thereby, that fine,
open-minded, forward-facing outlook on life which is characteristic of the truly educated man or woman."

The above quotation comes from Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, and brings us face to face with a question of particular importance in a day when the true value of everything is being tested.

The American college has a very definite value for those who will accept that value by recognizing the opportunity which is theirs. The boy or girl who has been denied the opportunity of a college education often recognizes the importance of that education more fully than we who are more fortunate.

Have those of us who are offered the advantage of a degree the right to take it and waste it when someone else might take it and use it to its fullest extent? No!

Be Quiet At Vespers

Girls, I don't believe we really realize that we are entering a house of worship when we go to Vespers twice a week. You probably think of the Auditorium in the light of the place where we see shows and plays in,
have chapel in, and so, when we come to worship there, we keep the same attitude as before.

Of course you probably see a friend that you haven't seen for some time, so you call to her. Or some joke or a choice piece of gossip must be laughed at. Please don't.
You wouldn't in your church.

You come to Vespers to worship, don't you? Well, don an attitude of reverence when you do come.

"The Lord is in His holy temple, Let all the earth keep silence before Him."

Is This Education?

I can solve a quadratic equation, but I cannot keep my bank balance straight.

I can read Goethe's "Faust" in the original, but I cannot ask for a piece of bread in German.

I can name the kings of England since the War of the Roses, but I do not know the qualifications of the candidates in the coming election.

I know the economic theories of Malthus and Adam Smith, but I cannot live within my income.

I can recognize the "leit-motif" of a Wagner opera, but I cannot sing in tune.

I can explain the principles of hydraulics,
but I cannot fix a leak in the kitchen faucet.

I can read the plays of Moliere in the original, but I cannot order a meal in French.

I have studied the psychology of James and Titchener, but I cannot control my own temper.

I can conjugate Latin verbs, but I cannot write legibly.

I can recite hundreds of lines of Shakespeare, but I do not know the Declaration of Independence, Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, or the twenty-third Psalm.—Bernadine Freeman, in Journal of National Educational Association.

Words, Words, Words

How many words do you use? Shakespeare used fifteen thousand, and it is said that Woodrow Wilson used over thirty thousand.
The vocabulary of the average person is about two thousand words.

The ability to use a wide variety of expressive words correctly is a valuable asset.
We all crave self-expression, and the height of utility is to have worth while thoughts—thoughts which would interest other people—and no words at our command to express adequately those thoughts.

The well-educated, cultured person is marked by his extensive vocabulary and excellent choice of words and expressions. He can always express himself clearly and accurately and never experience the hesitant fumbling for words, painful to the speaker and the hearer, which marks the speech of the uneducated person.

Here on our campus, we have an excellent opportunity to increase our vocabularies. We should every day accumulate useful words from our reading, our conversation, and our class work. One of the best ways to gather and remember new words is to jot them down in a note book, look up their meaning, and then use them as frequently as possible.

Let's not pass by the chances we have here to broaden our range of expression. Let's take advantage of our opportunity to add charm and interest to our speech and writing by enlarging our vocabularies.

"The Magic Carpet"

To sail beyond the sunset, and the baths
Of all the western stars until I die.

To strive, to seek, to find and not to yield.
—Tennyson.

Almost all people have something of the wanderlust in them but not many give way to
it. We all admire anyone who breaks away from the prosaic, ordinary manner of living and seeks romance and glamor through travel.
We cannot all do extraordinary things but we can share in other peoples' adventures through books. Richard Halliburton, on the proceeds from the sale of the furniture in his room at Princeton, started out around the world. "The Royal Road to Romance" is rightly named. We read and thrill to the adventure of spending the night at the Alhambra in Spain and at that indescribable temple of love, the Taj Mahal in India. It is wonderful to be able, through the medium of a few pages of printed matter, to feel like you have traveled and really seen all the things about which Halliburton tells.

Books By Miss de la Roche

"Of all those arts in which the wise excel, Nature's chief masterpiece is writing well."
—Duke of Buckingham.

Here is something interesting to read, just the thing to make you forget all your worries and even make those about you feel better. "Jalna" by Mazo de la Roche won the $10,000 Atlantic prize in 1927 for "the most interesting novel of any kind, sort, or description, submitted by the writer whether born in London or Indianapolis." Since then the "Whiteoaks of Jalna" and "Finch's Fortune" have appeared and the "Jalna Saga" is evidently ended, for Miss de la Roche has just written another book not of the "Jalna" series, "Lark Ascending." Those of us that know the Whiteoak family as portrayed in these books feel that never have we read of any people that seemed so essentially human and real. The old grandmother, Renny, Pierce, Wakefield and the other members of this eccentric Canadian family will be yours to remember and cherish forever after you have read these books.

Sunset

I like to watch the sunrise,
It's a spectacle to see;
But the ever transient sunset,
Has the most appeal for me.

For then, the sun takes out his palette,
And he tints the sky deep blue;
The sea green of the corn field,
Becomes an orange hue.

A dab of this, a dash of that,
Then lo, what we behold!
The sordid brown of tree trunks,
Has turned to brightest gold.

And on the tips of tree tops,
'Mid the purple chaos there;
Indifferent dots of silver,
Suddenly appear.

Then the artist retires with his palette,
To seek his cloudland bed;
But ere he goes makes one bold stroke,
And paints the landscape red.

—Gwen Dale.

FROST DONE COME

Put away yo' summer suit;
Get de moth balls out.
Don't yo' see o' summertime Done gon up de spout?
Wintertime am comin',
Hit don't suit some;
Hit's des aroun' de corner,
Fer frost done come.

Gettin' out de 'heavies,'
Got to buy some coal, Mistah B'ar an' others
Huntin' 'im a hole.
Ain't no use a-talkin', Bettah make things hum, Wintertime's roun' de corner,
Fer frost done come.

TRAGEDY

He thought 'twas a rabbit
which went in the hole.
He found 'twas a cat—
Of the kind they call pole.

Cross Campus

By PHILLIP SPACE

Dear People:

This week's dedication falls to the automobile that goes by the name of Shasta Daisy. My mistake. It doesn't go by the name.
Shasta have oil and Shasta have gas.

Here's one I picked up the other day when the owner wasn't looking. Mr. Edison, Mr. Ford, Mr.
Firestone and a long bearded gentleman were riding. They stopped in a small town for repairs. Mr.
Ford entered a store and asked for a radiator cap. Proudly he said to the clerk, "I'm the man who makes these radiator caps."
"You a'r? Well, pleased to meet you," replied the storekeeper. Then Mr. Edison went in to buy a new light globe for the front car lights. Said he, "I'm the man who makes these globes." Said the clerk, rather doubtfully,
"Pleased to meet you." Mr. Firestone next entered and asked for a new tire. "I," he said, "am the man who makes these tires."
"Well," said the clerk, "Pleased to meet you, too. The old gentleman grew tired of waiting for the others and entered the store, asking for a plug of tobacco. The clerk looked up and said decisively,
"If you say you're Santa Claus I'll hit you." The old man took a bite of his purchase and said,
"Nope, I'm Moses!"

Times are so hard now everybody's traveling by air. Air you go in my way?
The sordid brown of tree trunks,
Has turned to brightest gold.

If things get any worse they'll probably roll up the streets and save 'em till some body can meet the next payment on their cars.
The railroad probably can't afford to hire anybody to roll up the rails.

Tanner keeps a clock that does not run. She says, "You see I keep it at ten minutes before bedtime, and I look and say to myself, well I guess that I can stand it ten minutes more, and then get a lot of studying done." We're thinking of getting one and setting ten minutes before time to get up.

Dr. Daniels has explained the prevalence of the little yellow jacket on the campus. He says that it is "caused by the sweet cosmetics used by the girls."
Does this apply to the Tech Yellow Jacket? I am sorry that I haven't noticed the prevalence of that.

A freshman, yes we still have such things in spite of the test in chapel the other morning, received 10 specials the other morning. (There is a freak story you journalists.) F. W. asks if this incident caused the depression—or elation. My dear, not being familiar with such occurrences I find your question hard to answer. However I should answer neither. What they probably caused was a resurrected belief in miracles along with a mild case of indigestion.

More questions have dropped in from our gallant students in their search for knowledge. Here are two of them.

Do blow flies blow? My dear

(Continued on Back Page)

G. S. C. W. FOR THE ALUMNAE

Through the Week With the Play Ball! That's the old spirit girls. Come on out and root for your dormitory in the volley ball tournament which will begin next Monday. There are going to be some cracker-jack teams too, from the looks of things now. All the athletes on the campus will be very much in evidence in the tournament and you will have a chance to enjoy sports which heretofore have only been offered to you in the spring around Field Day.

That's the new committee on the "Y" functioning for you.
Think up a new committee, give it to a live-wire bunch of girls, and what do you have? Action.
This athletic is something new under the sun as far as the "Y"
is concerned, and so they are depending on the students to decide whether it is the committee that the Y. W. C. A. needs.

There has been talk and talk on the campus concerning just such a thing as this—year-round athletics, so now that we have it, let's keep it going by giving it our best efforts and support. If you don't play, you can surely yell, so out with it, next Monday afternoon.

A program for the entire year has been planned by Betty Watt and her workers. There will be basketball, baseball, track and tennis, all in due season.

Have you been by the Y room to get that book? In the excitement of trying to keep the girls in the new library busy, don't forget that the Y has books that aren't in the school library and which are a slight bit more personal. That is, there is an answer to some question you have been asking yourself and most likely it will be found in a "Y" book.

The topics for discussion in morning watch this month will be on "Problems in the Life of Christ." Each week's program will be a unit of that big topic,
so don't miss a single discussion.
You may have a similar problem which is better to solve in the Christ way.

Margaret K. Smith will tell about her trip to Blue Ridge this summer for the meeting of the Regional Council of Southern Y.
W. C. A.'s at Vespers, on Thursday night. Any girl who went to Joyliffe can tell you what interesting things Margaret K. experienced at Blue Ridge.

Sunday night Miss Decora Adams will discuss the "Purposes of Christ's Dynamic Personality."
It isn't late to make a pledge.
Any member of the cabinet will take your card, or you may give it to Margaret K. yourself.

PICNIC IN PARK

Saturday afternoon, Oct. 22, a group of girls enjoyed a picnic at Government Square Park. The girls forming the party were:
Margaret Coon, Sara Homer, Sallie Harrington, Maude Scott, Mary Ellen Key, Dot Chunn, Helen Parker, Rose Atkins, Ethel Dye and Dot Poss.

Hallowe'en Greetings

Orange and Black for Hallowe'- en brings back the marvelous activities of the old class of 1923, and all others bearing the black and gold emblems. Isn't it odd how such a little thing as a ten-cent Jack-O-Lantern makes your mind run riot with the memories of pranks of classmates who wore those colors.

And speaking of odd things,
have you read of Mary King's Billiard Parlor for Boys and Girls.
She came to G. S. C. a little before 1923, and was from Baton-ton. It's true G. S. C. doesn't offer this training in its curriculum at present, but she is a successful business woman, a current newspaper states.

A day or two ago, I saw Frances (Key) Levy, now Mrs. Joe Davidson with a five-months' old Junior over her shoulder.
You remember Mary Frances Ray don't you? She has the most interesting position. The Juvenile Court which deals with delinquent children and problem cases is an established organization for the good of the community, and Mary Frances is working with them, in Columbus, Ga.

Agnes Davis from Douglas recently left for Savannah after becoming a Mrs.

I heard that Fleta Blenton had married the "town of Talbotton."
When I asked her what her husband did, as his occupation, she
was unable to answer. He has so many businesses in the town that he cannot limit his title to just one of them. I was tempted to tell
that there had been a depression on for about three years, as I did not see how he could possibly have heard about it.

"Baby" Trulock is dancing her way to fame in the Cotillion Club in Columbus.

Mildred Wells, of last year's class, can teach you what her husband did, as his occupation, she
was unable to answer. He has so many businesses in the town that
he cannot limit his title to just one
of them. I was tempted to tell
that there had been a depression on for about three years, as I did not see how he could possibly have heard about it.

Have you noticed how versatile a G. S. C. girl can be? Just count up the occupations they pursue as you and I talk together this year and you will be surprised what great things and what different things we really can find.
—Cat. Allen.

Volley Ball Contest Sponsored By Y. W. C. A.

An inter-dormitory volley ball tournament to be sponsored by the "Y" athletic committee was the subject under discussion at various dormitory meetings called October 25. The tournament starts Monday, October 31. Girls interested in practicing signed up at the meetings. Some dormitories elected cheer leaders and captains. Those elected were:
Atkinson — Captain, Frances Sanchez.

Manson — Captain, Agnes De-
Vore.

Ennis — Captain, Billie Jennings; cheer leaders, Louise Mannheim and Eugenia Hough.

Terrell B and C — Captains, Flora Nelson and Billie Howing-ton; cheer leaders, Elizabeth Smith and Virginia Buxton.

It is expected that great interest will be stimulated by the tournament.

Miss Day Heads G. S. C. W. Alumnae Of LaGrange

Miss Constance Day was elected president of the local chapter of the alumnae of the Georgia State College for Women at a meeting held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. John Carley on Vernon street with Mrs. Carley,
Miss Nina McMahan, Miss Alene
Goodman, and Miss Mattie Lou Haslett as joint hostesses.

Mrs. C. Y. Hall was elected vice president; Miss Nina McMahan,
secretary; Miss Alene Goodwin, treasurer.

At the conclusion of the business session the guests played bridge. Miss Margaret Hubbs scored high receiving stationery; Miss Elsie Walker cut the consolation and received handkerchiefs.
Miss Zella Strickland received handkerchiefs as low score prize.

After the game the hostesses served cream and devil's food cake with yellow icing, suggesting the G. S. C. W. colors, yellow and brown. Quantities of fall flowers were used to decorate the rooms where the guests were entertained, further carrying out the color motif of yellow and brown.—La-Grange Graphic.

College Granddaughters Reorganize Club

The granddaughters of the college reorganized their club during the chapel hour, Wednesday morning, October 26.

Miss Gussie Tabb, president of the Alumnae Association, which sponsors the Granddaughters Club explained the meaning of the organization and invited all girls whose mothers either graduated or attended G. S. C. to belong to the club. Miss Tabb also introduced the officers of the Alumnae Association that are now on our campus.

ALUMNAE NEWS

Louise Boyd is teaching at Cleveland, Ga.

Lacy Candler is teaching fifth grade at Villa Rica.

Elizabeth Cowart is teaching at Union City.

Aeva Fletcher is attending Peabody College.

Mary Belle Gibson is in Columbia, S. C.

Juanita Kennedy is teaching in the Oak Park high school.

Martha Stovall is taking a library course at Emory.

Elizabeth Summerfield is teaching at Oak Park.

Dorris Bush is teaching at Milner.

Mary Lee Clegg is teaching fifth grade at Glenwood.

Loretta Chappell is doing welfare work in Atlanta.

Elizabeth McMillan is doing welfare work in Carlisle, Pa.

Mary Earnest Norris is teaching first grade at Blue Ridge.

Dorothy Piper is teaching in the Covington high school.

Dorothy Anderson is a student dietitian at Vanderbilt.

Eula Lee Newton is teaching at Hilton.

Jo Hogan is teaching tap dancing at Hogansville.

CONFESSIONS

Weren't you inspired by the news that the men are taking courses in Home Economics at Oklahoma Teachers College? Maybe it will lead to our having men as dieticians, cooks, etc., now that the ice man is obsolete.
Personally, we piers to let the arrangement stand as is. Imagine our embarrassment when the worst half prances in with "What No paprika in the mayonnaise?"
and we are forced to confess that he is more appreciated by paprika growers than we.

Dr. Meadows was quite forlorn last week. It seems that he had lost his entire supply of time. Not knowing where the departed clocklet had decided to continue its output, he found himself confronted with a necessity for a psychological analysis of the situation.
He concluded that time never stands still; thus, the disappearance.

We discovered a most unusual specimen of freshmankind this week. It was in the form of a very attractive young lady who didn't know what was meant by
"off-black" hose. Alas an' alack!

Helen Barker was almost overcome last week by a magnanimous letter bearing a N. C. sticker and clusters of stamps. (We haven't been able to obtain the contents as yet.) However, having eaten grape-nuts in her youth, she withstood the strain and answered the overgrown composition in a microscopic fashion.

Who was the biology bug perched nonchalantly on the back of a bench reaching for a species of Hemiptera last Thursday at 11:39 3-4? Having only 1-4 of an infinitesimal minute to become classified we were not in a position to investigate the matter thoroughly. All info will be properly revised.

Do you like nuts or do you prefer pecans? Now that nuts are beginning to depart from their pods, we find it necessary to keep a keeper to keep us from doing likewise. The only flaw in so doing is that our keeper craves nuts, too. Page Mr. Hawkshaw to find the lost trail.

Maybe we could plant a sneeze tree in our back window and then,
"Cashew!" at which point said when all was mellow, emit a call,
sneeze nut would leap gallantly from its locality, become infuriated at us and crack with anger.
Or perhaps a little T. N. T. would serve the purpose.

Wasn't our guest, Mr. Halliburton, the height or lecturers? With such programs as that we may break down and weep when they are no more. Tsk, tsks. We fear our worst enemy, Pessy Mism, must be approaching. With a start like that our entertainments should go forward with much gusto.

All of which goes to remind us that the nerve of the working

THE ALUMNAE FOR G. S. C. W.

Life of Dr. M. M. Parks In Knight's New Book

A sketch of the life of Dr. M.
M. Parks, for about a quarter of a century president of the Georgia State College for Women, is included in Lucian Lamar Knight's new historic volume, "Georgia Bicentennial Memoirs and Memories." A large number of historical biographies are included in the book by the famous Georgia writer, Dr. Knight. The biography of Dr. Parks is the longest one in the book and is declared by those intimate with him to be the best presentation of his active and useful life that has been published.

Miss Clara Dolly, former student of the Georgia State College for Women and now attending Peabody Institute at Nashville, is writing a thesis on the life of Dr.
Parks. The students were requested to write on some leading educator in the South and Miss Dolly chose the life of the late president of this institution.

Dr. Parks attained fame as one of the most forceful and dynamic educators for the country and his untimely death was a great shock to the educational leaders of the country.

PEN POINTS

Now that the freshmen have had their I. Q. duly probed and recorded, we wonder what they will have to say about the economic situation in the Dutch West Indies. Not that Mr. Mhatma Gandhi won't take care of that,
but it is interesting to watch reactions to certain situations.
Some of the freshmen probably didn't even know they had one.
Incidentally, I. Q. does not stand for "Inchoate Quadragesima," (whatever that means).

They tell us that Tech boys are having their pictures made and sealed on their passbook to the football games. Not such a bad idea, that. But it does seem such a shame to spoil such pretty little books. But Pollyanna says that it could have been the grades instead.

There are certainly all shapes
and

Announcement Made By Health Club

Attention, Health Club members. The time draws near for our second meeting, so put this on your schedule for Saturday, November 5 at 4:30. We shall meet as usual in the Health room; however, this time we will not stay inside. We will leave promptly at 4:35 for Nesbit Woods where we shall have our program. And just listen to the program we have. A talk by Miss Horsbrugh, some songs by Mrs. Edgar Long, then some songs and games by all the members. So don't forget Saturday afternoon, everybody.

Benjamin Franklin's brother, Enoch, was drowned at the age of six months in a tub of seeds.

'Dry Cleaning You Will Appreciate'

"Quality Work At the Right Price"

SNOW'S LAUNDRY
& DRY CLEANING
CO.

Phone 440

Cash and Carry

Free Cleaning to Sally Ryan

Piggly Wiggly

Help Yourself From a Smiling Shelf

Try Our New
5c Sandwiches
Together with 5c Milkshake
They are Delicious

Culver & Kidd Drug Co.

HEEL TAPS ..... 15c
HEEL SOLES.....
40c, 60c, 75c
Free Heel Taps—
Lavonia Newman
Nelle Pilkenton
Super Shoe Service
Phone 120

BILL'S KARMELKORN SHOP

Announces A
Full Line of Sandwiches
Cold Drinks
Free—Karmelkorn to Jessie Morgan,
Maud New Sheppard
Sue Mansfield

All Kinds of Sandwiches—5c
Fresh Barbecue Daily

Tom's Bake Shop

Half Soles ..... 55c
Half Soles ..... 35c
Leather or Rubber Taps ..... 15c
Rubber Heels ..... 20c

Harper & Harper SHOE SHOP

Interview With Richard Halliburton By CLAUDIA KEITH

"Of course, I have some uninteresting experiences as well as interesting ones," said Richard Halliburton after his talk on "The Flying Carpet" at G. S. C. W. Friday night; "but I write and tell only the high spots in my adventures." He added that he always likes to tell his stories before writing them, for the ones which please an audience invariably make interesting subject matter for his books.

Although he is on his way west to take the lead in a Tibetan moving picture called "Jade," Mr. Halliburton intends to give his attention seriously to writing. He believes that school subjects like geography and history can be made vivid by stories like those he has to tell and hopes to write a book so interesting "that children will be punished because they won't stop reading it."

"Books are my hobby," Mr. Halliburton said, and added that he was more interested in facts than in fiction. All of his own stories are absolutely true, he declared. Some of them are so exotic that people don't believe them; so he is forced to have slides taken as proof of his deeds. A great many people refused to believe his tale of a nocturnal swim in the pool of the Taj Mahal. Mr. Halliburton explained that the temple garden has two pools, the first only four inches deep and the second about five feet. Most visitors see the shallow pool. In order to authenticate his story the adventurer repeated his swim while he was traveling recently in "The Flying Carpet."

Life insurance companies don't think such a daring person is a safe risk, according to Mr. Halliburton. He is unable to get insurance but so far he has not suffered any serious injuries in his travels.

He thinks his next adventure will be flying over Mt. Everest in an airplane, a feat which no one has yet accomplished. He attempted it in "The Flying Carpet" but that worthy craft was too small to be successful; so Mr. Halliburton intends to try again in "The Flying Carpet, Junior." No doubt he will return from his trip with many more colorful and exciting tales to tell.

COPPER TEA GIVEN MONDAY

A copper tea was held in the "Y" room Monday afternoon, October 24, from 4:30 to 6:00, sponsored by the library committee of the Y. W. C. A.

The "Y" room was decorated with flowers and evergreens. Books that have been donated the Y. W. C. A. Library were on display.

The theme of the tea was carried out with characters from "Alice In Wonderland" acting as hostesses. Alice stood at the door and received the coppers donated. The King and Queen of Hearts presided over the punch bowl. The characters from the book that entertained were the Knave of Heart, the Mad Hatter, the Ladies in Waiting, the White Cat, and the Cheshire Cat.

During the afternoon three hundred members of the student body called.

20,000 bees make one trip each to collect enough nectar for 1 pound of honey.

Uniform Sweaters 25c
ONE DAY SERVICE
Free Cleaning to Julia Rucker
ODORLESS

With Each 25c Purchase We Give You a Free Ticket for the Shetland Pony.

Harrington Shoe Shop

Chandler's Variety Store
Oil Painting Prints—10c

Prominent Dentist Dies At Home In McRae

Dr. George Callihan, prominent dentist of Georgia, died suddenly in his office in McRae, Ga., Saturday, October 22.

Dr. Callihan was the father of Miss Lois Callihan, a senior at the Georgia State College for Women, Milledgeville, Ga.

"AS A RULE"

As a rule, man's a fool
Always kicking like a mule;
When it's hot, he wants it cool
When it's cool, he wants it hot Always wanting what is not
As a rule, man's a fool.

—Author Unknown.

Mr. and Mrs. Richardson of Villa Rica were the guests of their daughter, Dorothy, last Sunday.

Miss Elizabeth Johnson, a graduate of G. S. C. W. and a teacher at Haddock, was the guest of Lucile Harvey last Wednesday afternoon.

Waterman Fountain
Pens from $2.50 to $7.00
Shaffers Fountain
Pens from $3.00 to $10
$1.00 Fountain Pens to Satisfy

R. H. Wooten

WHERE?

The only well equipped place in town for Fresh Butter Toasted Sandwiches, Cold Drinks, Popcorn, Potato Chips. All kinds of Candies, six kinds of Ice Cream, Soda Fountain Drinks and Sundaes.

Guess the Place

And look for your free pint of Ice Cream Given Away Daily.

CROSS CAMPUS (Continued From Page Two)

they do—just as surely as rainbows rain, as kilograms kil, as hazel nuts—perhaps I should not have mentioned it.

The next question is just as bad. "Do shoe trees grow soles?" Trees always bloom best in their native soil. Shoe trees probably grow best in their native soil. I have not been to the jungle lately however.

We omitted the last paragraph for it was written in Chinese and you would not know what we were saying so—

Love and best wishes to you,

PHILLUP SPACE.

The following girls spent the week-end at their homes: Miss Kathleen Bobo, Decatur; Miss Evelyn Bobo, Atlanta; Miss Dorothy Thomas, Macon. Miss Marie Williams spent the week-end in Macon.

We Warn You!

One of these mornings you'll look out the window and think you're in Pago Pago

There won't be a thing
in your wardrobe to save your shoes and hose from ruin

You'll remember you should have gotten Gaytees

Moral: Don't let the weatherman catch you unaware—go this very day to a good shoe
shop

And
fit yourself out with Paris-approved Gaytees—in colors and patterns
to go with your fall and winter clothes

slip on

Gaytees
NO SNAPS • NO BUCKLES • NO FASTENERS

BELL'S

This week a special sale of ladies' fine Silk Hose. All pure silk from top to toe, picot top, full fashioned. The sheerest stocking that is on the market. Blacks and colors. Regular price $1.00. Special this week 79c

E. E. BELL

PHONE 202

GET IT AT HARRIS HALL'S

PHONE 202