Variants on a Medieval Tune | Normal Dello Joio

After receiving his graduate degree at the Juilliard School of Music in New York, Dello Joio began compositional studies with Paul Hindemith, who profoundly influenced his compositional style. It was Hindemith who told Dello Joio, "Your music is lyrical by nature, don't ever forget that." Dello Joio states that, although he did not completely understand at the time, he now knows what he meant: "Don't sacrifice necessarily to a system, go to yourself, what you hear. If it's valid, and it's good, put it down in your mind. Don't say I have to do this because the system tells me to. No, that's a mistake."

A prolific composer, the partial list of Dello Joio's compositions include over forty-five choral works, close to thirty works for orchestra and ten for band, approximately twenty-five pieces for solo voice, twenty chamber works, concertos for piano, flute, harp, a Concertante for Clarinet, and a Concertino for Harmonica. Dello Joio taught at Sarah Lawrence College, the Mannes College of Music, and was Professor of Music and Dean of the Fine and Applied Arts School of Boston University. From 1959 until 1973, he directed the Ford Foundation's Contemporary Music Project, which placed young composers in high schools who were salaried to compose music for school ensembles and programs. The project placed about ninety composers, many who successfully continued their careers.

In this work, Dello Joio uses this melody, "In dulci jubilo", which has been used by many composers, among them J. S. Bach, and was inspired by it to compose a set of these variations. They consist of a brief introduction, the theme, and five "variants" which send the medieval melody through five true metamorphoses, strongly contrasting in tempo and character, and utilizing the possibilities of the band to the highest degree. Variants on a Medieval Tune was commissioned by the Mary Duke Biddle Foundation for the Duke University Band, Paul Bryan, conductor. It was first performed on April 10, 1963.

Flowers in the Dark | Andrew Niehoff

Andrew Niehoff, born 1995, sparked his interest in music at the age of seven by taking piano lessons and later choosing bassoon as his main instrument. He is currently pursuing a Bachelor of the Arts degree with a concentration in Music Composition at Kennesaw State University and plays bassoon in the Kennesaw State Orchestra and Wind Ensemble. He recently won the Georgia Youth Symphony Orchestra's Young Composers Contest for his brass ensemble song, "The Colossus," and the Kennesaw State Composition Contest of 2014-15 for the wind ensemble song, "Flowers in the Dark". He has been accepted to the Charlotte New Music Festival 2015 in which he's being commissioned to write a song for saxophone, double bass and percussion.

The composer writes:

Flowers in the Dark was in 2014 for the Kennesaw State Composition Contest, inspired by a piece of modern digital art depicting a dark scene in a forest. In the song, multiple themes are presented, each one portraying a different part of the artwork. After setting the dark atmosphere, the solos in the beginning tell the story of the flowers that have found themselves in that environment. The muted brass fanfare represents the dark figure that seeks to remove these flowers from the setting. The choir in the middle shows the light shining through into a meadow, giving these flowers a sanctuary, only to be suddenly returned back into that darkness.

Lux Aurumque | Eric Whitacre

An accomplished composer, conductor and lecturer, Eric Whitacre has quickly become one of the most popular and performed composers of his generation. The Los Angeles Times has praised his compositions as "works of unearthly beauty and imagination, with electric, chilling harmonies;" while the BBC raves that "what hits you straight between the eyes is the honesty, optimism and sheer belief that passes any pretension. This is music that can actually make you smile."

Though he had received no formal training before the age of 18, his first experiences singing in college choir changed his life, and he completed his first concert work, Go, Lovely, Rose, at the age of 21. Eric went on to the Juilliard School, earning his Master of Music degree and studying with Pulitzer Prize- and Oscar-winning composer, John Corigliano.

Lux Aurumque was originally composed for choral ensemble, which was inspired by the a poem by Edward Esch (b. 1970) translated into Latin by Charles Anthony Silvestri:

Light,
warm and heavy as pure gold and the angels sing softly to the new-born baby.

The composer writes:

Lux Aurumque began its life as an a-capella choral work that I wrote in the fall of 2000. When the Texas Music Educators Association and a consortium of bands commissioned me to adapt it for symphonic winds, I rewrote the climax and included the grand 'Bliss' theme from my opera, Paradise Lost. Lux Aurumque received its premiere at the 2005 conference of the Texas Music Educators Association and is dedicated with deep admiration for my dear friend Gary Green.

Alleluia! Laudemus Te | Alfred Reed

Alfred Reed was a native New Yorker. In 1953, Mr. Reed became conductor of the Baylor Symphony Orchestra at Baylor University in Waco, Texas, at the same time completing his academic work. His Masters thesis was the Rhapsody for Viola and Orchestra, which later was to win the Luria Prize. It received its first performance in 1959 and was subsequently published in 1966. During his two years at Baylor, he also became interested in the problems of educational music at all levels, especially in the development of repertoire materials for school bands, orchestras and choruses. This led, in 1955, to his accepting the post of editor in a major publishing firm in New York.

In 1966, he left this post to join the faculty of the School of Music at the University of Miami, holding a joint appointment in the Theory-Composition and Music Education departments, and to develop the unique (at the time) Music Industry degree program at that institution, of which he became director.

Alleluia! Laudemus Te is a hymn of praise without words, with the band serving as a single massive choir and, at times, broken down into individual sections, each performing as a separate choir. The music is based on three main themes, the first being a massive chorale in the brass, the second a long flowing line in the horns and woodwinds, and the third a quasi-fanfare figure first heard in the trumpets and then spreading throughout the other sections of the orchestra as it is developed.

James David Collins, guest conductor

David Collins, a native of Sumter, South Carolina, served as a musician in the United States Navy Band from 1988 until his retirement in 2008. For 10 years of Mr. Collins' career, he served as lead vocalist and woodwind instrumentalist for Navy contemporary ensembles including its premier rock band in Europe and the Navy Show Band. In that function, he has performed across Europe, the Middle East, North and West Africa, the Caribbean, South America and Mexico. After a return to the Armed Forces School of Music, Mr. Collins spent ten years as a conductor and drum major in the Navy Bands of the Southwest and Southeast. While in the Navy, Mr. Collins was awarded five Navy Achievement medals, was a Surface Warfare Specialist and a Master Training Specialist.

After retirement from the Navy, he continued his education at the University of North Florida, where he studied jazz performance with the legendary Bunky Green. He earned his Bachelors in Music Education from Kennesaw State University in 2011, and a Masters of Music in Wind Conducting from Georgia State University in 2014. While at those institutions, he studied conducting with David Kehler and Robert Ambrose, and jazz performance with Sam Skelton.

Associate Professor of Music | Director of Bands

David Kehler, since 2009, has served as Director of Bands and Associate Professor of Music at Kennesaw State University where he oversees all aspects of the University's band program while serving as Music Director and Conductor of the KSU Wind Ensemble. During his short tenure, the KSU Wind Ensemble has been featured several times on 90.1 FM (WABE - Atlanta public radio), and has garnered praise from composers including Steven Bryant, Jennifer Higdon, Karel Husa, David Maslanka, Scott McAllister and Joel Puckett. Under professor Kehler's guidance, the KSU Wind Ensemble continues to lead in composer consortiums, which have included the creation of new works by Steven Bryant, Michael Markowski, Joel Puckett, James Stephenson, Christopher Theofanidis, and an upcoming commission by Pulitzer Prize winner, Joseph Schwantner. In 2012, Kennesaw State University hosted the Southern Division College Band Directors National Association/National Band Association Conference, and the KSU Wind Ensemble was a featured ensemble. Most recently, the KSU Wind Ensemble was awarded the 2013 American Prize for Best Wind Ensemble/ Concert Band Performance in the United States.

Previous teaching appointments were at Southern Methodist University, The University of Rhode Island and Bay City Western High School in Bay City, Michigan. Dr. Kehler received his Bachelor and Master of Music degrees from Michigan State University and his Doctor of Musical Arts degree from The University of Texas at Austin. During his tenure in Texas, Dr. Kehler also served America's Premier Windband; The Dallas Wind Symphony as Associate Conductor. In addition, from 1999-2009, Dr. Kehler was Founder and Conductor of the GDYO Wind Symphony, an ensemble affiliated with the Greater Dallas Youth Orchestras, Inc. Serving as its music director for ten years, the GDYO Wind Symphony established itself as one of the premier youth wind ensembles in the United States. They were a featured ensemble at the Texas Bandmasters Association/National Band Association Convention in San Antonio, Texas, and were heard internationally on From the Top, a syndicated radio program featuring the finest young classical musicians in the country. In addition, the GDYO Wind Symphony participated in exchange concerts with the University of North Texas, The Atlanta Youth Wind Symphony and performed with Jeff Nelson, former horn of the Canadian Brass. In the summer of 2008, the GDYO Wind Symphony embarked on an extensive two-week tour of China, performing at the music conservatories of Shanghai, Xian, Beijing and Hong Kong.

about wind ensemble

Formed in 1996, the Kennesaw State University Wind Ensemble performs a diverse repertoire encompassing large works for band, wind ensemble repertoire and chamber music. The KSU Wind Ensemble continues to lead in supporting and creating consortiums for the development of new music, which have included the creation of new works by Steven Bryant, Michael Markowski, Joel Puckett, James Stephenson, Christopher Theofanidis, and an upcoming commission by Pulitzer Prize winner, Joseph Schwantner. In addition, leading composers including Chen Yi and Pulitzer Prize winner David Lang, have visited and worked directly with the ensemble and its students.

Because of KSU's continued close relationship with the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra, Georgia Symphony Orchestra and Atlanta Opera Orchestra, collaborations and performances have resulted with many of those principal players. The KSU Wind Ensemble continues to serve as an important musical voice in the Atlanta Metropolitan area, has been featured frequently on 90.1 FM (WABE - Atlanta public radio), and has garnered praise from leading composers including Jennifer Higdon, Karel Husa, David Lang, David Maslanka, Scott McAllister and others. In 2012, the KSU Wind Ensemble was a featured ensemble and hosted the Southern Division College Band Directors /National Band Association Conference. In 2013, the KSU Wind Ensemble was the winner of The American Prize for best wind ensemble/concert band performance in the United States.
