Elliott Cook Carter, Jr. - Eight Pieces for Four Timpani

Elliott Cook Carter, Jr. was an American composer who was twice awarded the Pulitzer Prize. He studied with Nadia Boulanger in Paris in the 1930s, then returned to the United States. After an early neoclassical phase, his style shifted to an emphasis on atonal and rhythmic complexity. His compositions are known and performed throughout the world; they include orchestral, chamber music, solo instrumental, and vocal works. VIII. March was dedicated to Saul Goodman. It uses two march rhythms of different speeds that are superimposed, one played with the butts, the other with the heads of the mallets.

Johann Sebastian Bach - Cello Suite 3

Johann Sebastian Bach was a German composer, organist, harpsichordist, violist, and violinist of the Baroque Period. The Six Suites for Unaccompanied Cello by Johann Sebastian Bach are some of the most frequently performed and recognizable solo compositions ever written for cello. They were most likely composed during the period 1717–1723, when Bach served as a Kapellmeister in Köthen.

Michael Burritt - The Offering

Michael Burritt is one of the World's leading percussion soloists. Mr. Burritt received his Bachelor and Master of Music Degrees, as well as the prestigious Performers Certificate from the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, New York. Michael Burritt composed The Offering in 2001 for his Grandparents. It is a short but solemn work that uses rubato and beautiful tone colors.

Brandon Worley began playing percussion at the age of 12 at Teasley Middle School in Canton. He continued playing through high school at Cherokee High School. While in high school, he performed with multiple honor bands and Pariah Marching Percussion Theatre. Brandon began studying percussion with John Lawless in 2009 at Kennesaw State University. He has also studied Jazz with Justin Chesarek. While at Kennesaw, he has performed with the Wind Ensemble, Symphony Orchestra, and the Percussion Ensemble. He has served on staff at Wheeler High School in Marietta and Villa Rica High School, where he is currently the Percussion Caption Head. He has also served as a committee-man for the KSU Chapter of the National Association for Music Education Collegiate, and is Past-President of the Nu Theta Chapter of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia.
