SCHOOL OF MEDICINE
RUTH LILLY MEDICAL LIBRARY

The Students are Busy!
Promoting Emerging Technologies at a Medical Library

CHELSEA MISQUITH

EMERGING TECHNOLOGIES LIBRARIAN

JULY 11, 2019

Nexus Collaborative Learning Lab

3D Printing

Virtual Reality

IQ-Wall for visualization

Circulating tech

Collaborating with medical students

Technology in Medicine Student Interest Group (TIM-SIG)

◦ Food!

◦ Promotion

◦ When students are likely to attend

Nexus Open House (Fall 2018) ->

TechTalks

Presentations on technology in medicine

Collaboration with TIM-SIG

Zoom streaming for regional campuses

Recordings available on Kaltura

Assessment

Digital Sign-In:

TOTAL signed-in: 84, highest attended TechTalk on AI

IUSM community attendance: 79 – 69 students, 3 faculty, 6 staff

36 respondents were not on TIM-SIG listserv

46 respondents would like to find out about Nexus events in the future

Assessment

Paper survey (after TechTalk):

54 respondents total

Suggestions for future TechTalks

	Count of How did you find out about this TechTalk?
co-worker	1
Facebook	5
fellow medical student	1
Friend	3
INScope	3
IUSM colleague (Dean's office)	1
IUSM MD Student News	2
Library blog	1
Posters	8
RLML website	5
Someone in class mentioned it	1
TIMSIG exec	4
TIMSIG listserv	21
word of mouth	1
Grand Total	57

Web Presence

Equipment

Service policies and procedures

Educational Resources

Nexus Collaborative Learning Lab https://library.mednet.iu.edu/nexus/

3D Printing LibGuide http://iupui.libguides.com/3Dprinting

Virtual and Augmented Reality LibGuide https://iupui.libguides.com/VRAR

TechTalks webpage: https://library.mednet.iu.edu/techtalks/

Future Strategies

Registration

Space concerns

Rework surveys

Targeted promotion to regional campuses

Technology in Medicine Journal Club

CME accreditation

Integration into the curriculum - EmbodiedLabs

Questions?

Chelsea Misquith (she/her)

Emerging Technologies Librarian

cmisquit@iu.edu

Library Website: library.mednet.iu.edu

Twitter: @iusmlib

Facebook: https://www.facebook.com/iusmlib/