LA SALLE UNIVERSITY'S WEEKLY INFORMATION CIRCULAR

APRIL 8, 1994

MEMORANDUM

To:

All University Faculty and Administration

From:

Kathleen E. Schrader, Director of Student Life

Date: April 1, 1994

April 6th is the final opportunity to order academic attire for the 1994 Commencement Exercises. Members of the faculty and administration who have not already made arrangements to rent attire should do so without delay. Extra copies of the order form may be obtained in the Student Life Office.

RE: Fulbright Program Information for 1995-96

We have received a copy of the Fulbright Scholar Program
1995-96 Application Booklet. In addition to application material, the booklet outlines the type of awards available and indexes awards by both discipline and country.

May I strongly encourage faculty members to borrow the booklet from my office to review the possibilities for teaching and research around the world.

Thank you.

Dear Students and Parents,

On the reverse side of this letter is the schedule of tuition and fees for the University for the 1994-1995 academic year.

It is reasonable to ask why the tuition is rising at a rate greater than the consumer price index (CPI). There are a number of factors. First, the gradual but significant shifts in federal and state funding have made it necessary for La Salle to take on a greater proportion of financial aid. Second, during the past academic year, our faculty and staff had to forego salary increases, something which cannot continue in the year ahead. Third, we continue to improve the programs, services, and facilities that make for a quality education and learning environment. With all of that said, it is also worth noting that the true cost of a La Salle education is not wholly reflected in the tuition and fees that we charge. A substantial part of the revenue we need to run the University also comes from fundraising among our alumni, friends, corporations, foundations, and other sources.

Although we believe that La Salle remains a bargain compared to our peer institutions, we remain committed to being as affordable as possible. With that in mind, we will be intensifying our efforts at recruiting and retaining students. Our efforts at raising funds from other sources will be intensified, and new programs are being developed to increase revenues. On the expense side, we are committed to cost containment, and where necessary, the restructuring of the University.

The value of the investment in higher education is well-documented. And of particular value is a La Salle education, judging from the accomplishments of our graduates, as well as the increasing national attention we have received in such publications as US News and World Report. We know the sacrifices that you are making to attend La Salle, and for our part, we will do everything to make it an investment that will serve a lifetime.

Thank you.

Joseph F. Burke, F.S.C., Ph.D.

President

NEW COMMUNICATION GRADUATE PROGRAM IS APPROVED

We are very pleased to announce the beginning of an exciting new degree program at La Salle University—the Master of Arts in Professional Communication. Following a rigorous two-year review by the University and the Pennsylvania Department of Education, the program is now ready to offer classes to degree candidates in September, 1994.

The new M.A. degree is designed primarily as a part-time, 36 credit program for persons who wish to become better skilled with communication issues and practices within business and professional organizations. Professional communication experiences and competency courses will give students the opportunity to enhance and apply their knowledge. There will also be opportunities for practical applications through a Practicum and Master's Project. The program is also designed so that it can build upon and enhance the current workplace experiences of its of its students. In addition, advanced content area courses represent the four areas in which the professional communicator is most likely to need expertise: Interpersonal Communication, Mass Communication, Organizational Communication, and Public Relations.

And, in many ways, the timing for this new program could not be better. The department will be moving to its own new Communication building over the summer. The two-story facility on our south Campus will house all of our new video and audio studios, editing suites, multimedia presentation rooms, classroom and seminar rooms as well as screening rooms, faculty offices and a student lounge. Through fiber optic technology, we will be linked to the university's computer system and to its cable Channel 56.

If you know of someone who might be interested in receiving a complete packet of information on this new program, please have them contact:

Dr. Richard Goedkoop, Graduate Director La Salle University, Box #172 1900 W. Olney Avenue Philadelphia, PA 19141-1199 Phone: (215) 951-1155

Thanks very much for your interest and past support!

FACULTY SENATE, LA SALLE UNIVERSITY MINUTES, MEETING #7 February 15, 1994

N.B., The meeting scheduled for 15 January 1994 was canceled due to inclement weather.

Present: Nicholas Angerosa, Paul Brazina, David Cichowicz, Gary Clabaugh, Preston Feden, Marianne Gauss, William Grosnick, William Hall, FSC, Prafulla Joglekar, Mary Lou McHugh, Emery Mollenhauer, FSC, Elizabeth Paulin, Joseph Seltzer, Edward Sheehy, FSC, Joseph Volpe.

Excused: Richard DiDio, Craig Franz, FSC, Patricia Gerrity, Richard Geruson, John Seydow, Zane Wolf.

The seventh meeting of the Faculty Senate commenced at 2:34 p.m. with the approval of the minutes from the 18 December 1993 meeting (12-0-0). N.B., three members were not yet present.

The President then read two letters to the Faculty Senate. The first was from Craig Franz, FSC, officially resigning his position on the Senate. (He is away on leave this semester.) The President suggested that the Senate refrain from appointing another faculty member to replace him since Brother Craig was in the third year of his term. The Senate concurred.

The second letter was from the Assistant Provost for Administration regarding the role of the Board of Trustees as portrayed in the minutes of the Faculty Senate meeting of 18 November 1993 and the summary of the open faculty meeting that followed. The minutes contain passages that refer to the active involvement of the Board of Trustees in the management of the University. According to the Assistant Provost, the Board does not desire to interfere in the day-to-day management of the University. To quote, "I think it is worthwhile making sure that everyone understands that the Board is aware of its proper role and seeks to improve its performance in that role." The Senate agreed that there was no need for a response.

The President and the Chair of the Academic and Faculty Affairs Committee of the Senate then reported on the status of the informational colloquy on doctoral programs at La Salle. (See the minutes from the 10 December 1993 meeting of the Senate.) The Senate was informed that the directors of La Salle's graduate programs were uncomfortable with the format proposed by the Provost and suggested an alternative. More specifically, the graduate directors recommended that the discussion of graduate programs take place in break-out groups and not in an open forum. The Senate discussed the pro's and con's of this option and suggested that the organizers of the colloquy first poll the faculty - asking them to respond to specific questions or a general statement concerning Ph.D. programs at La Salle - and then use the responses as points for discussion.

Next, a member of the Financial Affairs Committee of the Senate (FAC) reported on a proposed salary increase for 1994-1995. The Senate member began by outlining the

The motion was passed (9-0-3). (N.B., two Senators left the meeting before the vote was taken.)

After this vote, the Senate addressed the issue of the termination of full-time faculty members before they come up for tenure. After some discussion, the Senate voted on the following motion to change Section VIII-A of the faculty handbook from,

"The decision not to renew a contract is made by the President on the recommendation of the Provost, dean and chairperson. The chairperson shall consult with the department (pp. 51-52)."

to

"The decision not to renew a contract of a full-time faculty member is made by the President on the recommendation of the Provost, Dean, and Chairperson, after they have considered the vote of the full-time members of the department. The Chairperson shall hold a meeting with the full-time members of the department to review the performance of the faculty member in question, and a secret ballot regarding the contract renewal shall be taken among those present. The Provost, Dean, Chairperson, and the faculty conducting the review should be informed by a mini-dossier of teaching evaluations, exams, syllabi, service activity listings, and scholarly papers, as well as other information that the untenured faculty member would like to submit in support of her/his case."

The motion was passed (8-2-2).

The Senate then began the process of selecting faculty to serve on the Middle States Review Steering Committee. Because of several problems which arose during this process, the Senate agreed to postpone its selections until the next meeting by which time the problems could be adequately addressed.

The last piece of business was the selection of two faculty members to serve on the Academic Affairs Committee.

The Senate adjourned at 4:29 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,

Elizabeth A. Paulin Secretary, Faculty Senate

La Salle University Curriculum Committee Minutes February 21, 1994

Present: J. Baky, J. Barnett, M. Bednar, P. Brazina, J. Brogan, M. DeFlavia,

G. Donnelly, D. Fazio, D. Galante, J. Kane, G. Kuhl, M. McGinniss,

D. Pantaleo

Absent: S. Alverson

The December Curriculum Committee minutes were accepted with the following amendment from Joe Kane. The course referred to in the final paragraph of the minutes should be IOM 103 not IOS 103.

Revised proposal for Major track in Economics and International Studies. Mark Ratkus presented a revised proposal for a major track in Economics and International Studies. He indicated that changes were done in consultation with the Dean of Arts and Sciences so that concerns raised at the December 14 Curriculum Committee meeting would be addressed. Specifically, the current proposal specified more clearly that students would be required to take three courses in a non-native, modern foreign language (European language 201-202 or higher; or Japanese 101-102 or higher). The mathematics requirement could be met with either Math 120 or Math 115-116. Courses were listed to meet the required two internationally focused courses in the Humanities or Social Sciences. The capstone seminar course will require student to demonstrate foreign language proficiency in one of three possible manners.

Discussion focused on title proposed - International Studies. After considerable conversation, Dr. Ratkus indicated that the Economics Department is clear in its request that title for the track remain as proposed.

Additional issues raised included changing European versus Japanese language requirement to European versus non-European. This can be resolved with changes in the University catalogue to reflect need.

After a brief discussion questioning the numbers for program, there was unanimous agreement for recommendation for approval as proposed. The Provost indicated that he will put the use and definition of the term "international" on the agenda for future discussion.

Revised Proposal for MIS Major.

Dean Kane referred to the December 17, 1994 letter signed by Charles Hofmann and Madjid Tavana wherein they list their agreement regarding the proposed MIS major. Included in the agreement are the following points: MIS 417 will be dropped from the Management Department's proposal and will be replaced by CS 350. MIS 401 will not be a programming intensive course. The Management and Computer Science Departments will work together to avoid redundancy in course development. The Provost indicated that the agreement was worked out by respective deans.

Questions were raised concerning program redundancy. Dean Kane indicated that the two areas will consistently interact so that information flow will occur. MIS concentration in business and computer science masters will always be there. He indicated that it was his sense that there are not any specific courses that are redundant. Dean Millard stated that she felt that the literature discussing the two programs may be the problem and not necessarily the courses themselves. She indicated that if programs expand, communication must be constant to eliminate problems. The Curriculum Committee voted unanimously to accept the proposed MIS major.

Revised proposal of MGT-200.

Joe Seltzer presented an updated proposal for MGT 200, a course designed to develop oral presentation skills needed by business majors. The current proposal was submitted after consultation with Communication and Economics departments as well as School of Business departments. The course is designed as a sophomore level course with major emphasis on presentations re current business topics and use of the POWERPOINT computer package. A special feature of the course includes a full day class session to overcome fear of speaking to an audience. Additional requirements include five to seven oral presentations including small group and individual presentations. Accommodations for full day class would be made for Saturday and would downscale the number of weeks/sessions for class during the semester. Video equipment/placement have been addressed via Dean Kane and the Provost to set aside a designated room in College Hall. This course would be required of all business students. Previous Curriculum Committee approval was given for the development of the course (1993). Current faculty are available and experienced for the course. With enrollment status now, manpower does exist. Dean Millard was concerned that business majors have no elective. Provost added that in his discussion with department chairs there is a concern about the oral presentation skills of our graduating seniors.

After discussion, the Curriculum Committee voted with two abstentions to recommend approval of MGT 200.

The Provost led a brief general discussion about student assessment and evaluation. He provided materials: An American Imperative (Wingspread Group on Higher Education) handout. This was to address Committee membership concern with knowing more about what is out there already about this topic.

The March meeting materials were distributed.

Discussion:

1. The minutes of the December 7, 1993 meeting were reviewed. The motion to accept the minutes was made, seconded, and approved by the Committee members present (6-0-0).

- 2. The Chair reported that the contract recommendation for Coach John Miller was accepted. Thanks were extended from Mr. Heath and the President. The contract for renewal has been forwarded to Mr. Miller for signature.
- 3. Mr. Mullen reported on the following subjects:

Mr. Mullen reported on the latest considerations for Hayman Hall. At a recent Board meeting, three options were discussed, and the financial and architectural aspects will be studied. Dr. DeVincent will coordinate development of a fund raising plan. The objective will be to present the findings for consideration at the May 5, 1994 Board meeting.

LaSalle has signed up for one year in the MCC. Numerous major conferences are realigning or enlarging with new financial arrangements. There will undoubtedly be further changes, sort of like a domino effect. Some of the arrangements may be attractive to LaSalle, while others may have an excluding effect. Any degree of instability can affect related efforts, i.e., recruiting, etc.. Travel costs associated with the MCC will still be high and a disadvantage, along with days away for the travel of student athletes.

A search for a coach for Womens' Soccer is continuing. There are few women coaches available, and a significant shortage of those with any experience.

- 4. There was a general discussion of the hierarchy. There may be a need to consider a priority based on major sports, conference, and the degree of participation. Other considerations will include impact on recruiting admissions, gender equity, visibility and its effects on admissions, seasonality, physical resources (fields, etc.), and considering the results and resources applied.
- 5. The date for the next meeting is Wednesday, March 16, 1994 with a meeting time of 3:30PM.

SCHOLARSHIP OPPORTUNITIES FOR STUDENTS WHO DEMONSTRATE UNUSUAL INTEREST AND COMPETENCY IN WRITING

The ROBERT L. DEAN SCHOLARSHIP FUND exists to provide grants to full-time students who have demonstrated unusual interest and competence in writing. In past years, grants have ranged from $250 to more than $1500, depending upon the earnings of the fund. The scholarship was established with a generous grant from Eugene W. Jackson, Chairman of the Board of the Spring House Corporation, a medical publishing firm. The fund honors the memory of Robert L. Dean, '41.

TO BE ELIGIBLE:

- you must be a junior or senior in the year the grant is awarded, that is, in School Year 1994-95.
- you must submit an application and writing samples.
- △ you remain eligible even if you have received a grant in your junior year.

TO APPLY:

Pick up an application form in the English Department Office (O-141).

Complete the application form and submit the required portfolio of your writing and the completed application to the Secretary of the Department in O-141.

DEADLINE: April 29

SELECTION PROCESS:

The Robert L. Dean scholars will be chosen by a committee consisting of faculty members from the Department of English. This committee, appointed by the Chair, will establish selection procedures, review the applications and portfolios, and determine the number of awards to be made. In making its selection(s), the committee will be interested in students who have demonstrated overall academic excellence and a talent and an interest in written communication.

ANNOUNCING A SPECIAL EVENT

Dear Faculty and Friends,

Two years ago our Sigma Phi Lambda Fraternity adopted a little sister, Susan Kelly, the 12 year old daughter of Geffrey Kelly, a teacher in La Salle's Religion Department. Susan has been fighting a 9 year battle against a brain tumor. Since April 1992 she has undergone three surgeries. She needs constant physical and speech therapy, special non-conventional therapies (having had chemotherapy and radiation she is unable to have any more of these invasive therapies), anti-convulsive medication, and tutoring to help her overcome the lingering effects of the brain stem tumor. She continues the struggle through a combination of therapies, together with the healing power of prayer, lots of will power, and the love that so many, including our fraternity, have given her.

For the past two years our fraternity, with the assistance of other fraternities and sororities, has sponsored fundraisers to help the Kelly family meet the major expenses of dealing with Susan's chronic illness. This year we are returning to the basketball format and featuring a special match between our undefeated, top notch Faculty/Sports Coaches/Staff Team and the Greek Organizations' All-Stars. It promises to be quite an entertaining spectacle and, we hope, a source of needed funds for little Susan.

We have scheduled this special basketball game for Friday evening, April 15th, beginning at 7:30. At halftime there will be a 3 point shooting contest with anybody free to enter, including faculty, and prizes for the best shooters. All money raised will go to the Fund for Susan Kelly's therapies. A television set will be raffled off as door prize. Look for the Sigma Phi Lambda tables in the Student Union and Olney Hall to purchase your tickets to this entertaining spectacle. Tickets cost $5.00 apiece. If you can't attend, perhaps you will want to donate to the fundraiser. Make all checks payable to: Sigma Phi Lambda Charities (Campus Mail Box 703). Susan will be there. For many of you it will be a good opportunity to meet Susan and speak words of encouragement to her. We hope to see you there. Thanks in advance for your help in helping Susan.

Sincerely, Larry Logan & Brian Burke & the Brothers of Sigma Phi Lambda La Salle University Campus Mail Box 703 Philadelphia, PA. 19141

A REFINEMENT OF EVIL

In perhaps the most important document of his papacy, John Paul II frames the boundaries of what's right—and includes contraception among the wrong

By RICHARD N. OSTLING

OPE JOHN PAUL II WILL NOT BE LED into temptation, and if his latest and most important encyclical has its way, he hopes to deliver his church from evil. For years the Pontiff has been aware that contemporary liberal morality has deeply influenced the beliefs and practices of the Roman Catholic Church's 980 million members. And he will have none of it. In his 179-page Veritatis Splendor (The Splendor of Truth), he argues that good is clearly distinct from evil, that morality is not situational, that right is right and wrong is really wrong, and that the church's teachings will truly set believers free. Among the evils the Pope sees at work in the world are genocide, torture and slavery. But he also includes matters of overwhelming concern to American Catholics: euthanasia, contraception, artificial insemination, homosexual acts, masturbation, premarital sex and abortion.

While John Paul's list of social and sexual malevolences comes as no surprise, the sweeping nature of his condemnation as well as his demand of obedience are certain to send tremors through the ranks of the church's liberal wing. (The encyclical is due for release Oct. 5, but several advance copies were circulating to the press last week.) There were rumors that the document would be couched in terms of papal infallibility, making opposition impermissible. While that has not turned out to be the case, dissent is virtually forbidden. "Opposition to the teaching of the church's pastors cannot be seen as a legitimate expression either of Christian freedom or of the diversity of the Spirit's gifts," writes John Paul. "It is prohibitedto everyone and in every case—to violate these precepts. They oblige everyone, regardless of the cost.

"You want to know what the Pope does in the evenings?" asks a middle-ranking member of the Vatican bureaucracy. "This is what he does. He thinks about these things." Six years ago, the Pontiff announced his intention to set down in encyclical form his reflections on the nature of good and evil. Encyclicals are authoritative declarations of the church's teaching, warnings of new problems, and guides to parishes across the world. John Paul's task seemed so daunting to some and so useless to others that the Pope was the unwilling recipient of almost constant, contradictory advice from the moment he began work on it.

Two years ago, a draft was circulated to a select group of theological philosophers for comment, with the understanding that the Pontiff thought his work was nearly completed. The draft caused so much internal—and not always well-concealed—debate that the Pope took it back and overhauled it. Of the final product, a Vatican insider says, "What he has written is a masterpiece. But it is far too dense to be transmitted to most people."

THE POPE: Only obedience will set believers free

Indeed, encyclicals are never page turners, and the Pontiff, a philosopher and onetime professor, tosses around such celestial concepts as "fundamental option," "invincible ignorance," "teleology" and "consequentialism." John Paul also peppers his paper with 184 footnotes, citing for instance the Second Vatican Council, the new Catechism of the Catholic Church (as yet unavailable in English) and Thomas Aquinas, the medieval saint who defined the concept of natural law. The grand finale is a hymn to the Virgin Mary.

Still, the point is clear enough. The heart of the matter is freedom. According to some strains of liberal thought, the individual's reason and conscience must have freedom in determining, for example, whether it is moral to have an abortion, use contraception or tell a lie. John Paul replies that true freedom must be united with moral truth, truth as reflected in a natural law that is evident to everyone and defined in detail by the Bible and church tradition. Otherwise, he says, each individual conscience becomes supreme-he even uses the word infallible. And in the clash of infallibilities, moral confusion reigns. Only absolute morality, argues the Pope, provides the basis for the democratic equality of all citizens, with common rights and duties and without "privileges or exceptions." In short, only when people hold to the same standards of good and evil can they be free and equal.

John Paul makes a glancing reference to the eternal perdition that could await moral miscreants and outlines a tightening up of his earthly ranks. The encyclical directs all theologians to display "a loyal assent, both internal and external," as they discuss morals. And he rails against the "carefully orchestrated protests and polemics carried on in the media" that undercut church policies.

But just how will the Pope, the Vatican and the hierarchy around the world enforce these policies? Says the Pope: "The church's pastors have the duty to act in conformity with their apostolic mission, insisting that the right of the faithful to receive Catholic doctrine in its purity and integrity must always be respected." That may be vague enough to keep a semblance of peace in John Paul's immense and diverse church, but it will not drown out the controversies.

1994 Health & Wellness Fair

Thank you very much to everyone who helped to make this year's Health & Wellness Fair such a big success. We had over three hundred faculty, staff and students take advantage of the health screening and educational opportunities available.

Special thanks and kudos must go out to Amy Scott, Food Services nutritionist for coordinating the entire effort! Thanks also to many other university departments who donated either time, gifts for the raffle or both. Lastly, congratulations to the following lucky winners of raffle prizes:

Margit Rinke Joe Lopez Ryan Brady Mary Ledva Nicole Sivel Mike McHenry Keith Robertson Daryl Jefferson Collette McLean Cheryl Rush Sonia Inniss Doris Tuqwell David Pepe Marty Hayes Robert Miedel Zane Wolf Tim Hassall Duffy Christine Tiano Kevin O'Hare Maria Lyons Rodney Abary Jay Dawley Monique Brooks Brother Gresh Erin Anderson

If you have not done so already, please pick up your prize up at Food Services - located on the Lower Level of the Union.

We look forward to seeing all of you and more in 1995! Hopefully, with lower cholesterol and body fat % and increased levels of exercise, stress reduction and self defense!
