ABDULLAH, SHAILA (1971-). A South Asian fiction writer, Abdullah was born in Karachi, Pakistan, and immigrated to the United States in her twenties. She received a B.A. in English and diploma in graphic design from the University of Karachi. She lives in Austin, Texas, and works as a designer. Winner of Golden Quill Award, Reader Views Literary Award, and Kickstart Gay Book of the Year Award, her novel Saffron Dreams (2009) explores the tragedy of 9/11 from the perspective of a Muslim widow. Her short story collection Beyond the Copstone Wall (2005) won Jury Prize for Outstanding Fiction in the Borenhaga Fiction Awards, the ebook category of the DIY Book Festival. The stories portray Pakistani women who struggle to find their individualities despite the barriers imposed by society.

ADACHI, JIRO (1946-). A Japanese American novelist, Adachi was born in New York City to a Japanese father and a Hungarian mother. He received his B.A. in English from Columbia University and M.F.A. in creative writing from Colorado State University. He has taught at Lycée Français de New York, the Stern College for Women, Hunter College, and New York's New School. His novel The Island of Bicycle Dancers (2004) tells the coming-of-age story of a young woman (half Japanese and half Korean) from Japan, who comes to New York to find herself.

AGARWAL, SHILPA (1971-). A South Asian American novelist, Agarwal was born in Mumbai to a family uprooted by India's partition. She earned a B.A. in Asian and African literatures and Women's Studies at Duke University. She received her M.A. and Ph.D. in comparative literature at the University of California, Los Angeles. Agarwal's writing is informed by glimpses into moments of alienation and awakening, especially during geographic and metaphoric crossings: east meets west, centers meet the periphery, the living meet the divine or the dead. Such themes are abundant in her debut novel Hunting Bombay (2009), a literary ghost story set in 1960s India, which received the First World Literary Prize for South Asian writers and was a San Francisco Chronicle Bestseller.

performing everyday actions or have left the frame, moments that have been called temps morte, or dead times. This chapter explores how these moments slow the pace of the film and contribute to its lingering rhythms, arguing that such moments encourage us to attend to the fluctuation of the images that pass before us, in a process of aesthetic pleasure.

Then the screaming starts

Nobody wants that!

Not just dead?

- Dead links not so bad ... if they are not in the catalog
- Our patrons hate LOST books in the catalog
- Zombies are more disappointing

Strategy:

- Make sure zombies don't get into the catalog in the first place
- Watch for news of recently turned
- Hunt down the ones that are already in there

URLs may be bad initially

- May be a typo
- Book not actually on the vendor site yet
- Record may have NO URL

Bad DOI

- Not registered yet
- Registered incorrectly
- Maybe points TWO places!

Error - DOI Not Found

The DOI you requested --

10.1002/ir.v2011.150.1

-- cannot be found in the Handle System.

URLs may be modified

- May contain proxy prefix
- May be institution specific
- May have session information

Provider neutral records

- Old standard:
 - One record per provider
- New standard:
 - All e-versions on one record
- To catalog:
 - Use that record
- To catalog:
 - Use that record
 - Delete all URLs that don't apply

Ebook links in print books

- Some print book records have URLs
- 856 42 “Related Resource”
- May sneak in through fast copy or batch cataloging

Spot some bad URLs

- Query the catalog for distinct hosts
- In Voyager:

SELECT DISTINCT
  ELINK_INDEX.URL_HOST
FROM ELINK_INDEX
  ELINK_INDEX.RECORD_TYPE="B";

URL_HOST

Catch them before they come in

- Verify one by one
- Do they have notes indicating they're bad?
- Run list through a link checker

Just keep new ones out?

- Not sufficient
- Good links may die
- Nobody may tell you

Vendor announcements

- E-mail, RSS feeds
- Often interspersed with ads or news
- Do not always mention deletions

 REMINDER: Anatomy.tv MSK Ultrasound Webinar on Wednesday

As a reminder, Wednesday, May 15th, STAT!Ref is hosting free webinars about the Primal Pictures Anatomy.tv modules MSK Ultrasound: Upper Limb and MSK Ultrasound: Lower Limb. By popular demand, two time slots are available. Mark your calendar and register for one today.

Vendor data for deletions

- Some vendors release “deleted” lists
- You may have to check the web site
- Even dig for them

Some vendor data is less accessible

- Examples:
 - MARC blob
 - “Whatever’s on the web site”
- Watch for announcements?
- Download / overlay periodically?

Convert data to text

- MARC -> .mrk text
(MarcEdit)

- Web site
 - Find A-Z title list page
 - Download / extract list

- Compare text (vimdiff)

How to extract?

- Different per web site
- Script (gather)
 - Download A-Z page
 - Find lines with book titles
 - Delete everything but the title
 - Compare to last month's copy

Unix tools

- vim / vimdiff – editor
- curl – download web pages
- grep – search file contents
- sed – reformat files
- Available in Windows through Cygwin

Hunting in the catalog

- Necessary maintenance
- Links can go bad
- (Sometimes whole platforms!)

Link checking

- Many link checkers available
- They check for codes:
 - Good?
 - Forbidden?
 - Not Found?

Codes aren't everything

- A table of contents is a good page
- A bad DOI can be fixed
- Effective method differs by vendor

Humans are better at this

- Instructions might be complicated:
 - Go to the web page
 - Open up one of the chapters
 - Make sure it is a PDF, not an order form

Normac

- MARC Normalizer and Access Checker
- Free, open source software
- Available from GitHub

Normalize MARC

- Only include URLs for the vendor you want
- Delete URLs with a proxy prefix

Access Check

- Zombies look different on each site – specify
- Load in MARC or list of URLs
- Check access according to rules

Is it really a zombie?

- Or does it just look that way to you?
- Maybe your subscription changed?

If you're sure...

- (Remove them from your catalog)
- Contact the vendor
- Modify WorldCat master record

Dead links in WorldCat

- Leave them in!
- Make 856 second indicator blank
- $z This electronic address not available when searched on [Date]
