Dear Ebba Jo:

Good news! Deborah Jefferies called me and says she's interested in working on the practice handbooks project. She's been in touch with Nancy Strohmeier (and I suggested she also touch base with Ed Edmonds - he was anxiously trying to find volunteers for that project during his term.)

I'm trying to get a diskette copy of the Handbook from Ed, he wants to do some updating first. I can see some sections that need work done on them. We would need to ask recent committee chairs/members to help with revising the sections where they have experience. I'm hoping this won't be an orphan that Carol will inherit!

I plan to put together a directory and have it in an issue of Southeast Librarian. Hopefully that will insure that everyone gets a copy. In preparation for that please check with Donna Bausch (or maybe her predecessor, Alva Stone) and make sure I get a current copy of the Articles (I don't think they've changed) and Bylaws. Ken Hirsh might also be a good bet, but the secretary should be the "guardian of THE WORD."

Sincerely,

Pam Williams
