itself. The subject of knowledge in its logical subdivisions of judicial, common and special, is given a thorough treatment.

Volume II., headed Procedure, among the other subjects treated are Burden of Proof, Burden Evidence, Presumptions, Admissions, and Confessions. His treatment of them may intricate questions which arise, as for instance in connection with Admissions, Presumptions and Confessions, show a masterly knowledge of the subject and present to the bench and bar an invaluable aid in the solution of questions daily confronting the judiciary and the active practitioner.

Volume III., headed Reasoning by Witnesses deals with expert and opinion evidence. Separate consideration is given to the general subject of Estimates, e. g., Capacity, Distance, Resemblance, Speed and the like, regardless of skill of the particular observer.

Volume IV., headed Relevancy, contains a thorough and exhaustive treatment of the procedural of exclusion, Hearsay, Res Inter Alios Actae and Character Evidence.

Volume V., headed Media of Proof, crowns the work. This volume treats of the media of proof, that is, the means by which evidence is brought to the attention of the tribunal. The latter part of this volume is devoted to the subject of witness dealing questions of Attendance, Competency, Privileged Communications, Examinations, Cross Examination and Impeachment, stating the principles and rules controlling the right of the parties and of the witnesses at the various stages of the trial. A table of cases contained in the five volumes; about 100,000 citations are given.

JUST A GIRL

---

By S. E. Kiser.

Many a throne has had to fall
For a girl,
Just a girl;
Many a king has had to crawl
For a girl,
Just a girl.
When the hero goes to war
He may battle for the right,

But 'tis likelier by far
 That he sallies forth to fight
     For a girl,
     Just a girl.

When the doctor turns to say:
     "It's a girl,
     Just a girl,"
 Papa murmurs with dismay:
     "What! a girl,
     Just a girl?"

Ah, but why the sadness there?
 Why the bitterness displayed?
 Some day some strong man will swear
 That the great round world was made
     For a girl,
     Just a girl.

Why did Adam take the bite?
     For a girl,
     Just a girl.

Why was Troy swept out of sight?
     For a girl,
     Just a girl.

O, would Heaven still be bright,
 And would any good man care
 To achieve it, if he might
 Never claim forever there,
     Just a girl,
     Glorious girl?

"Get knowledge—all you can; and the more you get, the more you breathe upon its nearer heights their invigorating air and enjoy the widening views, the more you will know and feel how small is the elevation you have reached in comparison with those immeasurable altitudes that yet remain unscaled."

—WILLIAM EWART GLADSTONE to the students of the University of Glasgow upon the occasion of receiving the degree of LL.D. from the University.
