Federal grant helps University inform veterans of their benefits

Eastern Kentucky University, long popular with war veterans seeking an education, is making a special effort to inform recently discharged servicemen on how to combine their GI benefits with opportunities offered by higher education.

"The special effort," says Robert Thompson, EKU Coordinator of Veterans Affairs, "is more than just waiting for the veteran to come around looking for information. It is an outreach toward the veteran with facts and figures on his chances for a career education that he might not even know to ask about."

The effort is being financed by a grant

Medical assistants

AMA credits new program

Eastern's program of preparing medical assistants has been accredited by the Council on Medical Education of the American Medical Association in collaboration with the American Association of Medical Assistants.

The program provides skills in anatomy, physiology, psychology, typing, laboratory (diagnostic) tests, medical assistance and clinical procedures.

In the program, students are given directed experiences in emergency rooms, minor surgery, clinics, and physicians' offices. A council made up of practicing medical assistants and physicians advises the faculty on such matters as proposed curriculum changes.

Mrs. Marion Berge, an assistant professor of nursing, has coordinated the EKU program since it accepted the first students in 1970.

Graduates of the program are employed in physicians' offices, clinics, and a variety of medical settings. They serve as a direct link between physician and patient and assist the physician in management of his office and patient care.

This accreditation makes the graduates eligible to take the certification examination given by the American Association of Medical Assistants Certifying Board.

The medical assistant program is one of Eastern's more than 20 allied health programs; which include nursing, medical technology, public health, rehabilitation education, and medical record technology.

The programs include both two year, four year, and graduate programs.

from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare to the EKU Office of Veterans Affairs. Thompson said the grant is based on an increase in the number of veterans in Eastern's total enrollment. The increase during the 1973-74 academic year was about 32 per cent, he said.

Veterans made up about 10 per cent of Eastern's total enrollment of nearly 12,000 last fall and about 20 per cent of the male enrollment. Thompson pointed out, "People going to school here immediately after World War II and the Korean conflict remember that the male enrollment was about 50 per cent veterans."

He said that the special effort to reach veterans is a re-declaration of Eastern's friendship and concern for the returning veteran in search of a career.

Eastern president, Dr. Robert R. Martin, has committed the university even further to the cause of the veteran.

"Eastern will always offer the veteran a first, or second, chance for a college education," he said.

Thompson said the outreach program will include informing all Kentuckians released from the armed services about campus programs for veterans by personal letter, brochures, news releases, television spots, seminars and other forms of communication.

In addition to GI benefits for education, Thompson said, the veteran may take advantage of other forms of financial assistance offered at Eastern, totaling about $4 1/2 million a year.

These include financial assistance in a number of programs in which Eastern is especially strong — such as law enforcement, allied health, nursing, and applied arts and technology — that seem to appeal more especially to veterans.

GI benefits for the collegiate veteran for 36 months total $8,370 for the single student, $9,846 for the married student, and $11,178 for the married student with one child.

It is the duty of Thompson's office to keep veterans on the campus informed of all benefits to which they are entitled.

It is possible for a veteran attending the university and working in a part-time job to receive as much income as if he were employed full-time. This is made possible by augmenting his wages with veterans' benefits and other financial aid

Dr. Martin extends term on Council

Eastern president Dr. Robert R. Martin has been appointed to serve an additional term on the Advisory Council on Developing Institutions of the U. S. Office of Education.

Dr. Martin was invited to accept reappointment as one of eight public members of the Council by Casper Weinberger, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare. The remainder of the Council is composed of representatives of federal agencies concerned with developing institutions of higher education.

The Council is a body which advises the U.S. Commissioner of Education concerning policy in the administration of Title III of the Higher Education Act of 1965. Title III activity assists in improving academic quality of institutions that are primarily concerned with education of low-income students.

Dr. Martin, in his 15th year as Eastern president has been active nationally seeking governmental support for higher education. He is a past president of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities and has done extensive study of higher educational institutions abroad.

National '74 opens tonight

The National Invitational Drum Corps Contest for 1974 will be held at Eastern today and tomorrow.

The second annual contest, known as National 74, will be held at Hanger Field at 8 p.m. each evening.

Besides last year's champions, the Blue Stars from LaCrosse, Wis., other outstanding corps will participate, such as the Santa Clara Vanguard, Colt 45, the Garfield Cadets, the Valley Grenadiers, the Audubon Bon-Bons, the Purple Lancers, the Madison Scouts, the Pembroke Imperials, the Capitallaires, and More to Come.

Several exhibition units will take part in the show, including the President's personal Fife and Drum Corps, the Old Guard.

The contest was held at the University of Kentucky last year and brought some 20,000 visitors to Lexington, Parade World, sponsor of the show, reported.

offered by the university — all while he is completing an education in a career especially suited to him.

Another benefit available to veterans who are students at Eastern is free medical and dental care at the nearby Veterans Administration Hospital at Lexington for one year following release from service if they can show need.

"The purpose of our expanded information program is to see that every Kentucky soldier discharged from service receives these facts, and we are setting up our facilities and personnel to inform them," Thompson said.

A suggestion of the magnitude of the task of reaching each of these returning soldiers is the fact that in just one month recently more than 900 Kentucky servicemen were discharged by the armed forces.

Thompson said veterans interested in these programs should contact him at the Office of Veterans Affairs, EKU.

From unused budget

State allocates $1.7 million for Health Services Building

Gov. Wendell H. Ford has announced an allocation of $1.7 million to Eastern Kentucky University to be used in construction of a health services building. Dr. A.D. Albright, executive director of the Council on Public Higher Education, said the building will house such programs as nursing, allied health, and health services.

The money comes from the allocation of more than $33.1 million in surplus state revenue which was derived from receipts that exceeded budget estimates and unused budgeted funds.

Charles Pryor Jr., commissioner of Executive Department of Finance and Administration, said the allocations were made according to priorities established by state law governing surplus funds.

Ford said the state had a choice between allocating funds to "provide these services as soon as possible or wait and let inflation eat it up and allocate the funds later.

The interest of the taxpayers is best served by prompt allocation to avoid inflation."

Band director announces 7-member majorette corps

Robert W. Hartwell, director of marching and symphonic bands at Eastern, has announced the seven-member Maroon and White Majorette Corps which will front the Marching Maroon Band during the coming school year.

Returning to serve as lead majorette for the corps will be 20-year old Jamie Langstaff, a senior physical education major from Kingsport, Tennessee. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Witt Langstaff.

Carter to address commencement

U.S. Representative Tim Lee Carter will be the speaker at Eastern's 67th summer commencement today.

The program will begin at 8:30 p.m. in Van Peursem Pavilion.

Dr. Carter, who is Kentucky's Fifth District Congressman, is also chief of staff of the Monroe County Memorial Hospital and has served as chairman of the Monroe County Board of Education.

He was first elected to the U.S. House of Representatives as a member of the 89th Congress and has served continuously since that time.

He will be awarded the honorary degree of doctor of science by the University. Dr. Robert R. Martin, EKU president, will present the honorary degree and also academic degrees to the nearly 775 candidates in the graduation program.

Dr. Carter is a native of Tompkinsville. He received the AB degree from Western Kentucky University and the MD from the University of Tennessee. He served as a public school teacher during 1927-32.

He also has served as an intern at the U.S. Marine Hospital, Chicago Maternity Center, and has practiced medicine in Tompkinsville. During 1942-46 he served in the U.S. Army Medical Corps. He is a member of the American and Kentucky Medical Associations and the American and Kentucky Academies of General Practice and has served as a member of the President's Commission of Marijuana and Drug Abuse. He received the Tom Wallace Award for conservation.

Eastern awarded 754 degrees at last summer's commencement. Following the program Aug. 1, Eastern will have awarded in its history more than 29,000 degrees.

The other six majorettes were selected from among 20 contestants during auditions in April, according to Hartwell.

Five members of the squad will be freshmen at Eastern this fall, while Candy Embry, a sophomore pre-med major from Millwood returns for her second season as a Marching Maroon twirler, thus becoming a permanent member of the corps until her graduation.

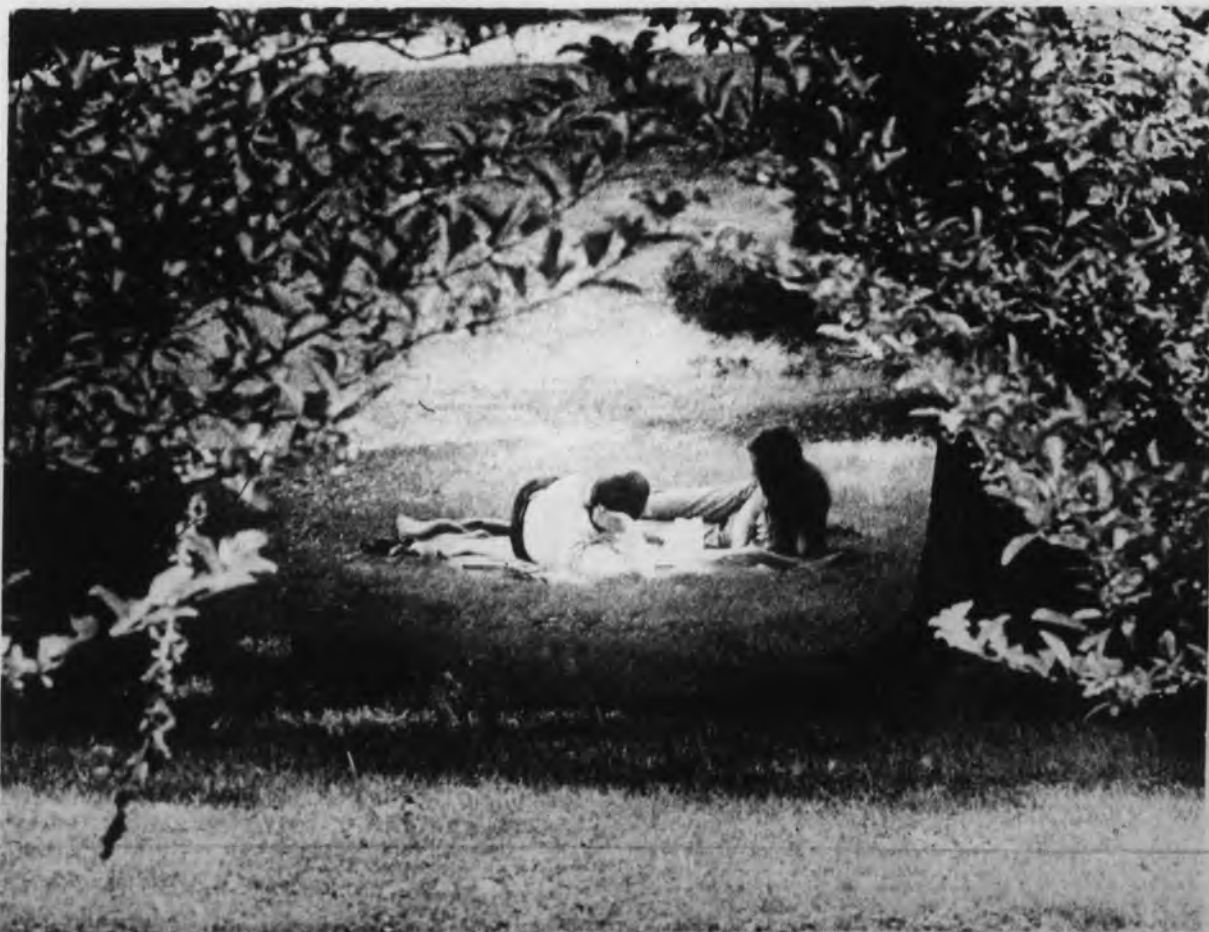

Joining Miss Langstaff and her sister will be Leslie Gay Embry. Leslie was the featured twirler at Leitchfield High School the last two years and plans to major in nursing at EKU. Candy and Leslie are the daughters of Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Embry.

Tresa Cizek, of Lawrenceburg, Indiana, brings a list of credentials with her to Eastern. A member of the U. S. Twirlers Association, Miss Cizek was a majorette two years and featured twirler one at Lawrenceburg High School. She won top honors in the Farmers Fair Area Twirling Contest and won two firsts and three seconds in the Southport Twirling Contest. Selected the Cincinnati Shrine Circus Queen last May, Tresa plans to major in elementary education at Eastern. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Cizek.

Also sporting a list of honors is Linda Sue Culler of Springfield, Ohio. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Culler, Linda's four years at Northeastern High School include one as lead and drum majorette. She annually won school majorette awards and has three firsts place awards in competition along with several seconds and thirds. At Eastern Linda will be a speech and hearing therapy major.

In addition to her twirling, Jackie Lou McCarty is a composer of majorette routines and has second place trophies for Kentucky State Fair competition in

Ra(venous) Solitude

Long a favorite campus retreat, the ravine affords one summer school couple an opportunity to share lunch and notes at the same time. Graduation is scheduled for tonight at 8:30 in the very same ravine. Students will begin returning August 25 for the fall term.

Today's graduates bring Eastern alumni number over 29,000 all time marker

Eastern will once again bring out the robes and all the ceremony that usually goes with graduation this week as almost 775 students receive their diplomas in different areas.

Over the years Eastern has compiled a list of graduates which, after Eastern's 67th summer graduation, will number over 29,000 people.

The Progress would like to offer its congratulations to all those who will walk across Van Peursem Pavilion stage and accept their diplomas, whether they be their very first sheepskin or a later one.

Out of the many people in the world with college degrees, many of the outstanding successes are Eastern graduates.

The Progress feels that the present class has the potential to do great things with the world and it's people. The paper only hopes that they realize that potential and put it to good use.

High school band camps come to campus

Tuneful will be the word for Eastern for four weeks as more than 1,500 high school bandmen visit the campus for weekly band camps.

They represent 17 high school bands from throughout Kentucky. The camps are sponsored by Eastern's Office of University-School Relations, Henry Pryse, director.

Opening the series of four camps are the Williamstown and Taylor County High School Bands, which practiced on the week of July 21-27.

The second week of camp, July 28-Aug. 3, included the bands from Anderson County, Lloyd Memorial, Campbellsville, Corbin and Woodford County High Schools.

Coming Aug. 4-10 will be the Marion County, Glasgow, Pleasure Ridge Park, Bellevue, Pineville, and Apollo High School Bands.

The final week of camp, Aug. 11-17, will include the Tates Creek, Middlesboro, Deer Park (Cincinnati), and East Hardin High Schools.

The bands, along with their drum majors and majorettes, will use the facilities of the University and receive concentrated training in marches and concert music in preparation for their shows at the fall's football games.

Each band's director will conduct his own rehearsal with aid at times from members of the EKV Marching Maroons and members of the EKV music department. The bands will also hold sectional and individual rehearsals.

"Out, damned spot! out I say!"

Teacher Examinations scheduled on four dates

College seniors preparing to teach school may take the National Teacher Examinations on any of the four different test dates announced today by Educational Testing Service, a nonprofit, educational organization which prepares and administers this testing program.

New dates for the testing of prospective teachers are: November 9, 1974, and January, 25, April 5, and July 19, 1975. The tests will be given at nearly 500 locations throughout the United States, ETS said.

Results of the National Teacher Examinations are used by many large school districts as one of several factors in the selection of new teachers and by several states for certification or licensing of teachers. Some colleges also require all seniors preparing to teach to take the examinations.

On each full day of testing, prospective teachers may take the Common Examinations which measure their professional preparation and general educational background and an Area Examination which measures their mastery of the subject they expect to teach.

Prospective teachers should contact the school systems in which they seek employment, or their colleges, for specific advice on which examinations to take and on which dates they should be taken.

The Bulletin of Information for Candidates contains a list of test centers, and information about the examinations, as well as a Registration Form. Copies may be obtained from college placement officers, school personnel departments, or directly from National Teacher Examinations, Box 911, Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey 08540.

Eastern receives $1.7 million

Eastern has been granted $1.7 million for a new allied health services building and the money comes at a time when it can do a world of good.

The present facilities, which serve as an infirmary, and the facilities for classes in that area are far below what they should be for a university the size of Eastern.

It appears now, though, that they will finally be brought up to par with the advent of a new building. Now it will be only a matter of time before Eastern has a building and a program which can compare with any other campus of its size.

First Physician Succumbs

The Progress would like to offer its condolences to the family of Dr. Jacob Farris, Eastern's first fulltime physician, who died Monday.

Dr. Farris served the University from 1928 to 1943 as college physician and director of health. He was responsible for initiating the campus health service and was the founder of the Caduceus Club on campus.

Eastern artist wins award

Eastern painting instructor, Darryl Halbrooks, was the recipient of the Best of Show award in the recent 1974 Kentucky Artist's and Craftsmen Exhibition in Hancock County.

The award, which carries with it a $300 prize, was for Halbrooks' acrylic entitled "Terry's Visit with Center of Interest."

He also won the $100 "best portrait" award for his acrylic, "Mother, Sort of" and a $50 merit award for his acrylic and plexiglas piece entitled "Some Women."

The show was juried by Ms. Alma Eikerman, a silversmith from Indiana University, Ms. Roslynne Wilson of the Cincinnati Art Museum, and William Loy, printmaker from the University of Tennessee.

Boonesborough goes Hollywood

Boonesborough became a movie set not long ago as Jimmy Rodgers and Jimmick Productions shot scenes from "The World Through the Eyes of Children." Above, cameramen shot a scene with Jimmy and the children in the movie. Middle, Rodgers decides to look things over. Below, the Make-up man puts on the finishing touches and top right, cameramen decide on the best angle.

Jimmy Rodgers, actor, singer, song-composer, and Jimmick Productions, Hollywood, are currently in the process of making a new movie. Rodgers' first since his hospitalization from a beating about six years ago.

Boonesborough State Park was turned into a movie location not long ago when Rodgers and his crew turned the beach into a set for their movie.

Spectators gathered along the banks of the Kentucky River to watch, and to get a glimpse of the Hollywood people as they were shooting "The World Through the Eyes of Children" a film similar to those of Walt Disney, in that it is a family musical.

The producer of the movie, Mich Mehas, said that Boonesborough was chosen because part of the script called for a beach location. Parts of the movie, which is about six adults turned into children for a day by the Devil, will also be filmed at Cumberland Falls and a Mammoth Cave.

The 41-year old actor Rodgers wrote the script and music for 17 songs in the movie. An album of the songs is set for release at a later time. Russ Tamblin also stars in the film as the Devil.

The film is scheduled for release sometime around Christmas and Lexington is a possible premier site.

Sounds' perform

Seven students from the music department are working their way through college as a singing group entertaining at several Kentucky state parks this summer.

The group, sponsored by the Kentucky Department of Parks and Recreation, calls itself the Summer Sounds. Its director is Dr. David A. Wehr, ECU director of choral activities, and its choreographer is Dr. Robert Sporre, professor of drama and speech.

The Summer Sounds' repertoire includes light music such as Broadway show melodies, folk songs and the new gospel sound.

The keynote speaker will be Dr. Rupert N. Evans, professor of industrial education and technology at the University of Illinois.

A highlight of the conference will be a van in which the technology of newspapers production will be demonstrated, sponsored by the Gannett Newspaper Foundation of New England. A daily newspaper on conference events will be published from this van during the meeting.

EKU personnel on the program will include Dr. John Jenkins, associate professor of industrial education and technology, and Fred Kolloff, director of radio and television.

Eastern Inking

Baseball

Eastern baseball coach Jack Hissom has announced the signing of Dan Peery of Finney town (Ohio) High School to a national letter-of-intent.

Peery, a 5-11, 165-pound righthanded pitcher, compiled an 8-3 record and 1.30 earned run average while being chosen as Finneytown's most valuable player his senior year. He totaled 80 strikeouts in 70 innings of work last season and has a sparkling 0.68 E.R.A. his junior year.

As a member of the All-City All-Star team, he won one game and picked up a save in another of the WKRC-Enquirer All-Star games. In picking up the All Star victory, Peery pitched five innings, allowing no runs and five hits, striking out six and walking two.

"Dan's performance in the All-Star games backs up the fact that we think he has the credentials to become a very good college pitcher," said Hissom.

Peery was also a defensive back on Finneytown's football team for two years.

Don Helton, a third baseman-catcher from Lockland (Ohio) High School, has signed a national letter-of-intent with the Eastern baseball team.

Helton, who stands 6-1 and weighs 190 pounds, batted .405 and led his team with 19 runs batted in last year, while serving as captain. He also started at defensive tackle for the Lockland football team for two seasons and at forward on the basketball squad three years.

A highly sought player by many colleges in this area, Helton was a starter at third base in the recent Cincinnati high school all-star game.

"Having noticed Don in the all-star game, we feel like he will be an excellent college baseball player," said ECU head baseball coach Jack Hissom. "He has a very strong arm, average speed and good size."

Eastern baseball coach Jack Hissom has announced the inking of outfielder Ken Lockett of Cincinnati Taft High School and second baseman Carl Pietrouchie, a junior college transfer, to national letters-of-intent.

Lockett, a 5-10, 160-pound outfielder, served as captain of coach Bill Canter's Taft team his junior and senior season. He batted .333 as a sophomore, .323 as a junior and .301 as a senior when he led the squad in runs batted in and runs scored.

"We are real pleased to have signed an athlete of Ken's caliber," said Hissom. "He has shown that he is a consistent hitter and has the leadership quality, which mean so much to a team."

Lockett was a quarterback for the Taft Football team and was a member of the All-City All-Star baseball team where he went one-for-three in the first All-Star game, collecting two RBI's and scoring two runs.

Pietrouchie, a 5-11, 160-pound righthanded hitter, played for former ECU graduate assistant Bill Bearse at North Hampton Community College in Bethlehem, Pa.

He batted .425 last season and was an All-Regional Junior College selection for North Hampton. He finished the '74 season with six doubles, three triples, five home runs and 21 RBI's.

William LaRosa, a 5-11, 180-pound pitcher-catcher from Erie, Pa., has signed a national letter-of-intent with the Eastern baseball team.

LaRosa was a member of the Erie County Metro League All-Star squad three seasons, being named the first two years as a catcher and last season as a pitcher.

LaRosa batted .384 this past season, while compiling a 5-3 record, 1.60 earned run average, 75 strikeouts and eight complete games in 65 innings of work. For Tech Memorial High School his junior season, he batted .380 and had a 9-2 record on the mound with a 0.95 E.R.A.

Swimming

Two-year prep school All-

American sprint freestyler, Mike DeSalis of Brookhaven, Pa., has signed a national letter-of-intent with the Eastern swimming team.

DeSalis swam the 50,100 and 200-yard freestyle for coach Paul Hornsleth at Malvern Prep School. He competed in the national tri-athlon competition (run, shoot and swim) this past year, finishing 10th in a field of 68.

"We hope Mike can step in this winter and give us some help in the sprint free events," said ECU head coach Donald Combs. "We are pleased to have signed such an intelligent young athlete."

Track

Eastern track coach Art Harvey has announced the signing of Jerry Just and Ralph Simmons, two junior college transfers, to national letter-of-intent.

Just, a native of Milwaukee, Wisc., comes to Eastern from Manatee Junior College in Bradenton, Fla. where he was primarily a quartermiler and intermediate hurdler.

Just plans to major in business at Eastern.

Simmons, a sprinter-hurdler for coach Rick Erdmann at Hagerstown (Md.) Junior College, has participated in the junior college nationals. He has posted 14.3 in the 120-yard high hurdles as his best time. He plans to be a law enforcement major at ECU.

"We are looking for these two young men to help us in their respective events next season," Harvey said.

A WORKSHOP in officiating women's basketball was held recently during a women's basketball clinic at Eastern. Visiting instructor, Shirley Duncan, of Springfield, Virginia, shows Wilma Turner of Spindale, North Carolina, the proper way to make a foul call. Reaching in on Jan Pujda of Linwood, New Jersey, is Marilyn Wahl, Louisville, both students at the workshop. Other workshops being offered at Eastern include coaching women's sports and coaching girls basketball.

EKU clinic involves about 50

A long time before Senate Bill 73 was passed, the Eastern Department of Physical Education for Women planned workshops for women coaches. Bill 73 is the legislation which states that every high school in Kentucky must have a team for women in every sport that exists for men.

Now, due to the current need for women coaches, the workshops underway at Eastern involve close to 50 participants. A total of six hours credit, graduate and undergraduate, is available to these participants. Three different classes are set up to help satisfy the coaching needs of the students.

One workshop offers three hours credit and will continue through ECU's summer session, until Aug. 2. This is "Principles and Problems of Coaching Women's Sports" and is being conducted by Dr. Martha Mullins, coordinator of women's intercollegiate sports at Eastern. This class may be taken concurrently with either or both of the other workshops.

A workshop in "Coaching Girls Basketball" includes coaching techniques, drills, and methods for learning individual and team offensive and defensive skills and strategies of DGWS (Division of Girl's and Women's sports) basketball. The additional hour of credit in the six-hour package deal is a two week workshop which ran through July 19 on officiating girls' basketball. It involved rules and techniques for officiating DGWS basketball and rating examinations are offered.

Dr. Ann Uhlir, chairman of the ECU Department of Physical Education for Women reports, "There are some men included in all three classes and some are taking all six hours."

The two short workshops are being conducted by Shirley Duncan, assistant director of health and physical education basketball coach at West Springfield High School, Springfield, Va.

She has conducted numerous coaching and officiating clinics and is well known for her capability as an official at state, regional and national events.

Workshop helps start program

"Our main objective is to show how to start a program. We are trying to give as much of a background in coaching women's basketball as is possible in a brief period."

So spoke Miss Shirley Duncan, assistant director of health and physical education and basketball coach at West Springfield High School, Springfield, Va. who has been conducting a four-week workshop in coaching women's basketball and a three-week session in officiating at Eastern.

"The schools should hold tryouts. Then we tell the coach what to look for as far as the characteristics of a good player are concerned—competitive desire, quickness, speed, etc.," said Miss Duncan whose teams have won the Northern Virginia Regional Tournament the past two years.

Helping the coaches develop individual talent is another of the more important phases of the workshop. Some of the coaches have experience, but most are new coaches in new programs, created by the recent legislation passed in Kentucky requiring high schools to provide a girls' team in every sport in which it fields a boys' squad.

"Women haven't had the same competitive opportunities through the years men have had. Most women athletes have to start from scratch," said Miss Duncan. She also pointed out that women have not participated in "playground ball" and, therefore, have not picked up as many bad habits as some men do.

The officiating clinic at ECU has also proven to be highly successful, according to Miss Duncan. Several students picked up ratings for intramural and apprentice work for the coming season. One student earned her state rating, while there were three men who took the course and each earned a rating.

"Right now, we need more officials for women's basketball," said Miss Duncan, "and we tried to encourage the people who attended this clinic to go to other clinics this fall."

Having held her own basketball camp for women,

Miss Duncan praised the University for its help with the clinics.

"The University should be given credit for the foresight and good sense to conduct these workshops. It was great timing and should turn out to be a great service to the state," she said.

"In my area of Virginia, field hockey, basketball, tennis and several other women's sports have been popular for many years," she added.
