Dr. Donald Aldrich to Visit Campus in November

Will Make Four Addresses Before Student Body

SPONSORED BY Y.W.C.A.

The Y. W. C. A. has selected as its fall speaker Dr. Donald Aldrich of the Church of the Ascension, New York City. He will deliver lectures at Hollins on Monday and Tuesday, November ninth and tenth, at eleven in the morning and seven in the evening. After the evening lectures, students wishing it may meet in the Y. W. C. A. room for informal discussion. In addition, there will be a tea in the Main Drawing Room, so that the Faculty and Student Body may have an opportunity to meet the speaker.

Dr. Aldrich's actual career has been very interesting. In 1917, immediately after his graduation from Dartmouth, he entered the World War as a quartermaster in the United States Navy, later being promoted to an ensignship. Upon his return, he began the study of the ministry. He has served as a staff member of the Cathedral Church of St. Paul in Boston, and as chaplain of the Massachusetts House of Representatives. In 1925, he was called to his present occupation, the rectorship of the Church of the Ascension in New York City. Under his leadership, this church has established an impregnable reputation for hospitality, being kept open at all times for the use of those who wish to rest there and worship. Likewise, the activities which he has carried on throughout the East Side constitute an enviable record. Besides conducting his own church, Dr. Aldrich has been a frequent lecturer at Eastern Colleges, and last year delivered the Baccalaureate address at Bryn Mawr.

Dr. Taylor to be Convocation Speaker

Dr. Alva Taylor, Professor of Sociology at Vanderbilt University, in Nashville, Tennessee, will address this week's Student Convocation to be held tomorrow evening, Thursday, in the Little Theater instead of Wednesday as is customary. Dr. Taylor will speak in connection with the Emergency Peace Campaign which has been particularly active in Roanoke this week. Dr. Taylor, whose field is Social Science, has been chiefly interested in rural sociology and in domestic and international peace policies. His discussion on the latter will be of timely interest with regard to the current European crisis.

Dr. Randolph Makes Tour of Southern States

During the past two weeks President Randolph has been speaking, attending meetings and visiting schools in the southern states. In Huntington, West Virginia, she addressed the A. A. U. W.; at Jackson, Mississippi, she attended the Finlandia......Sibelius regional meeting of the Association of American Colleges. From Jackson, Dr. Randolph went to Vicksburg, Shreveport and New Orleans, Louisiana, to visit schools. While in Shreveport, President Randolph attended the installation exercises at Dodd College when Edward C. Solomon became the second president of the college. Mr. Solomon succeeds Dr.

International Relations Club Gives Programs

ACTIVE SESSIONS PLANNED FOR COMING YEAR

The International Relations Club has organized for the 1936-37 session of the College on a new basis. Under the new plan, members will be chosen according to interest shown and regularity in attending the open meetings, and memberships will be by invitation only. These invitations will be issued early in December. All those interested are urged to come to the meetings held every two weeks in the Social Room in East.

An interesting series of programs is planned. The first of these, for the meeting held October 18, was based on the current political campaign. The program was limited to the foreign policies of the Presidential candidates. Lucy Singleton gave a short talk on Roosevelt's policy and Ann Bowen on Landon's. Landon's stand on foreign affairs has not been put to a practical test, and, too, has been so far a minor issue in his platform, his views could not be presented as clearly as Roosevelt's, whose stand has been shown by his policy during office. Nevertheless, the contrast was interesting. After these talks students and teachers discussed the question until the adjournment of the meeting.

At the next meeting, November 1, Mr. Erich Rath will speak on "Modern Germany," treating especially the place of that nation in the world today. Mr. Rath, having recently returned from an extended visit to his fatherland, is well qualified to give first-hand information on German affairs. On November 15, Miss Kathleen MacArthur will discuss 'Changing Customs in Japan." She, too, has spent some time in the country she is going to talk about. Miss Peggy Zimmerman, a member of the Senior Class who is doing independent study on "Europe Since the World War," will talk on "the Background of the Spanish Revolution,' on November 29. Plans for the remainder of the year will be announced later.

Carnegie Musical Teas Introduced at Hollins

The Music Board gave its first Carnegie Musical Tea in Keller on the afternoon of October 23. This series of teas, which will continue throughout the winter, is planned to give the Hollins community an opportunity to hear good music on campus. Familiar numbers and old favorites, mingled with less known but equally interesting compositions form a varied program for instruction as well as pleasure. Included on this first program were: Christ Lay In Todesbonden (Christ Lay in the Bonds of Death) Bach Concerto in A Minor, Opus 16.... Grieg L'Après-midi D'Une Faune (Afternoon of a Faun)...........Debussy

These well-chosen selections were greatly enjoyed by a large group of Faculty members and students. Following the program refreshments were served. The number of people present was proof that here at Hollins there is eager and intelligent interest in fine music. It is hoped that the Music Board will recognize the enthusiasm, by presenting another of of Science and numerous other scientific He promises the reorganization, improve- be acceptable, the cross (X), dash (-), this series of programs very shortly.

Dalies Frantz Gives Concert in Roanoke

NOTED PIANIST RECEIVES WARM OVATION HERE

On Monday night, October 26, Dalies Frantz, internationally known pianist, was presented at the Roanoke Academy of Music by the Community Concert Association. Mr. Frantz, who has rapidly risen to fame among music enthusiasts in the past few years, has played with the Philadelphia, Chicago, Montreal, and other symphony orchestras and has already proven himself one of the outstanding pianists of the day. A pupil of Maier, Schnabel and Horowitz, he has studied in Europe as well as America, showing indications of unusual musical

Mr. Frantz's program was both interesting and varied. Opening with a group of sonatas from the pen of Scarlatti and including compositions by Brahms, Bach, and Franck, the first half of the program offered splendid opportunity of observing the artist's remarkably brilliant and colorful mastery of the keys.

The second portion of the program was perhaps more varied than the first for it included among its selections such inexpressibly beautiful compositions as Rachmaninoff's Prelude in G Major, and such strangely modern numbers as a Prokofieff March. No lovelier close could have been chosen for the evening's program than Liszt's Twelfth Hungarian Rhapsody. The majestic qualities of this composition were exhibited at their best by Mr. Frantz's truly sympathetic understanding of the composer's varied words and sentiments.

The recital was thoroughly enjoyable, and capable of carrying its listeners, for a few moments, into that curiously tantalizing other world, the realm of music.

Chemical Society Brings Dr. Franklin to Campus

The Hollins Curie Chemical Society monia," will deal with the similarities of liquid ammonia and water as solvents. Dr. Franklin is a world authority on this subject, and it is quite an opportunity to see and hear him even though the technicalities of the subject are beyond your understanding. Students and faculty from the Chemistry Departments of Sweet Briar, Randolph-Macon and Roanoke Colleges and V. M. I. and V. P. I. have been invited to attend.

Dr. Franklin did his undergraduate work at the University of Kansas where he also earned his M. S. degree. After a period of study at the University of Berlin, he went to Johns Hopkins for his Ph. D. degree. Since then he has received various degrees from Northwestern University, Western Reserve University and Wittenberg College. He taught for a number of years at the University of Kansas and at Stanford University, and is now Professor Emeritus at Stanford.

Many honors have been accorded him in recognition of his merit. He received the Nichols Medal in 1924 and the Willard Gibbes Medal in 1931. He is an honorary fellow of the London Chemical Society, and member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, The American Philosophical Society, the National Academy

Dramatic Association to Present "Nine Till Six"

FALL PLAY IS COMMENT ON SOCIAL CONDITIONS

The Dramatic Association will present Nine Till Six, a three-act play by Ainee and Philip Stuart, as its fall play. The date is set for November 14. Although Nine Till Six, which was first produced in London in 1930, is an English play, it is a comment on universal economic and social conditions. The action which takes place in a fashionable London dressmaking establishment, is concerned primarily with character development and psychological change.

RoanokeWomen Address Political Meeting

Student Convocation, October 22, was will present, as speaker at an open meeting devoted to Republican and Democratic to be held Monday, November second, at speeches made in connection with the 8 P. M., Dr. Edward Curtis Franklin, of political campaign which is being held on Stanford University. The lecture, bearing the Hollins campus. Speaking for her the title "Reactions in Liquid Am- party, Mrs. Felix Parker, Republican National Committeewoman, told "Why I am for Landon." The second speaker Mrs. Corbin Glass, President of the Roanoke Democratic Woman's Club, enumerated her reasons for choosing Roosevelt. The floor was then given over to a ten-minute question period.

> In true rally style, the convocation opened with cheers from the opposing parties. Although the Democrats, seated on the right side of the theatre, slightly outnumbered the Republicans, the cheering was very evenly matched. When the noise had subsided, Mr. Dowell of the Political Science Department, introduced Mrs. Parker, who presented fifteen reasons why she will vote for Landon: (1) He stands for defending and sustaining the American system of government. (2) He believes in efficiency in government. (3) His will be a demonstration by his acts. (4) He is forthright and not suave. (5) He knows the needs of the farmer. (6) Landon is a friend of labor. (7) He is a true democrat. (8) He has an absolutely clean life. (9) The Landon family can give much to America. (10) He will avoid European entanglements. (11) He encourages women in public life. (12) He believes in the old age pension, but opposes the social security act. (13)

Every Person on Campus is Allowed to Cast Ballot

INTEREST RUNS HIGH

Hollins will designate its choice for the Presidency on Friday. After several weeks of campaigning by the two major parties, the straw vote will show the result of political endeavors here. According to all estimations the voting will be close, with the Democrats holding a slight majority. The polls will be open on Friday, October 30, at ten o'clock and will close at seven o'clock. They will be located in the hall of Main building and will have some provision for secret balloting. Registration books have been provided for checking the name of each person as he or she votes. This will insure an accurate poll. The largest possible vote is 454. This includes everyone on the campus, student body, faculty and administration, and general staff. No one is debarred for any reason whatever.

The members of the electoral college will act as election officials. They were put into office by the vote of their respective party conventions. Helen Sue Trinkle was made chairman of the Democratic party on campus, with Nancy Peery as assistant chairman. The Republicans elected Gerry Welch as party head. Her assistant is Roberta Cover. There are twenty-two members in the campus electoral college, giving an equal representation of eleven to each party. The Democratic half of the electoral college is composed of Marion Bankson, Virginia Betts, Jacquelin Byrd, Virginia Cardwell, Carolina Dalton, Nancy Means, La Rue Miles, Nancy Peery, Helen Sue Trinkle, Phyllis Whitaker, and Peggy Zimmerman. The Republican electors are Harriet Clarkson, Ruth Cotterill, Roberta Cover, Maude Farley, Mary Ellen Garber, Peggy Lee, Alice Porter, Ruth Porter, Jane Spencer, Grace Trimble, Gerry Welch. These names will appear on the ballot. There are only two sets of electors since no third party was organized. Earlier in the month there was some feeling for another party but it was not strong enough to bring about any organization.

The names of the Presidential and Vice Presidential Candidates will be printed on the ballot but their party affiliations will not be given. However, for the benefit of the campus the parties are included in this list: Franklin D. Roosevelt and John N. Garner, Democratic; Alfred M. Landon and Frank Knox, Republican; Dr. D. Leigh Colvin and Claude A. Watson, Prohibition; Norman Thomas and George A. Nelson, Socialist; William Lemke and Thomas C. O'Brien, Union; John W. Aiken and Emil F. Teichert, Labor; Earl Browder and James W. Ford, Communist. The Hollins poll will not include the candidates for the Senate and the House of Representatives, whose names appear on the official ballot.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR VOTING

In checking the Ballot, the voter will have three questions to answer. She must indicate whether she is a member of the student body, faculty and administration, or general staff. The name of the state in which she is a resident must also be designated. The third, and most important duty, is to check the presidential candidate. This is done by putting a mark in the box before the name of the candidates you prefer. Any one of four marks will

REASONING

Page 36, Section II-A, of the Handbook reads in part: Athletics. Members of all teams, participants in all tournaments or meets, . . . must meet the following academic requirements:

1. A student must have class standing to participate in these ac tivities.

Why? A perfectly logical reason would be in order that those students who are not doing well might be thus induced to spend more time on the fears of the citizens or increased them campaign is whether the American people secretary to one of the supervisors of the their studies. This, however, cannot be the case, for a student who does by promising innovations. It is interesting want to govern themselves or be governed. A second reason could be that it is considered a privilege to represent your class on a team, a privilege due only the survival of private enterprise by to official members of the class. It may be a privilege, but it is also a duty. The whole class wants the best athletes on its teams whether they have work; politically, to insure the material completely satisfied academic requirements or not. It wants teams it can be proud of. A third reason, probably the most often advanced, is that academic activities are more important than athletics. It is true support the man who is striving to attain that we came to college to study. These young'uns are getting far too good for their older sisters these days. The Seniors and Juniors are really about evenly matched, but on the strength of their superior defense, we pick the Seniors to take third, leaving the Juniors to fourth.

The Springfield College Student categories six different types of co-eds. First of all, the athletic type, "well developed in a muscular manner; shoots a good game of golf and knows the difference between a full back and a center fielder . . . " Secondly, the "little lump of sugar" type, who's good for nothing but dancing. Then the "impressive girl," who "wants to discuss the new rocket flight, talks about the moon in the sky but thinks it's just for eclipses." Next the clinging vine and the "gimee gimme" type who "spends most of her time smoking cigarettes, eating nut caramel, and reading 'Modern Romance'." Lastly, the ideal girl. "The girl who could be brought home to mother, observed by dad, and okayed by junior. If you haven't much money she would just as soon walk as ride the trolley. Society of A. D. A. Takes in New Members

A. D. A. is doing nicely, thank you, under its new President, Virginia Reifsneider. Four girls have been invited to join recently and have presented their initiation stunts in Keller. V. Block and Landis Winston cavorted through a gay skit with the drama as a background, the climax being V.'s exit slung across Landis' shoulder. Worth repeating is V.'s action this week. Games are being held habit all the time. In fact, she says, it's getting to be less of a habit and more of an obsession.

> In keeping with the spirit of the time, Lib Williams and Jackie Byrd gave their stunt in the form of a political rally. The make-up and costumes were charming. Since neither considered her own nose sufficiently large, the speakers obtained two rosy, false ones to satisfy the demand. The hats, too, were very intriguing, Lackie's was a deep blue affair with quite a high crown, while Lib's, a nondescript color, a nondescript shape and trimmed with nondescript flowers, was nevertheless a vision to behold. The two speakers, each being for several different candidates, took turns saying "Why I am for 'so and so'," and managed to include some choice puns. For instance-"Landis Winston is going in for "Form Relief." The best greeting to A. D. A., at this point, seems to be "Run on, little spring. Let your wit and wisdom continue to flow over Hollins Land."

Mr. Dowell then introduced Mrs. Glass, who will vote for Roosevelt because he believes in adequate federal relief against starvation doles, just tax laws based on ability to pay, equitable soil preservation, collective bargaining, increasing foreign trade, federal educational aid as against curtailed local aid, insured bank deposits, balanced budget, closed loop holes in tax laws, investors' protection, cheaper power, equitable distribution of income, social security, protection from monopoly, progress and peace, not reaction.

Following Mrs. Glass' speech the meeting was turned into an open forum. Members of both parties asked a few questions, but as the period was limited If men want a second date with girls further queries were impossible. Due to vacancies on the Dramatic Board, Lelia. Cocke has been appointed to the office of Vice President of the Hollins Dramatic Association, Jean Lang to that of Secretary, and Bettie Ball Lummis, Treasurer.

Although Dean Blanchard has not scheduled student appointments this year, she has extended her office hours to include a half hour every week-day afternoon. She will be in her office from one to one-thirty each day. This will enable more students to see her at the time when she can be most helpful to them.

The Roanoke Music Teachers Association and local musicians were invited to inspect the Carnegie Library and the Hollins Music Department Friday afternoon. Since the Carnegie Collection was presented to a specially selected group of institutions, with the needs of their respective communities in view, the musical public is at liberty to use this library for research and study.

Miss Foster represented Hollins at the meeting of the Virginia Library Association held at Old Point Comfort last week.

The Chapel service Friday night, which Miss Blanchard called "Music and Meditation," was a rather unusual, but lovely interlude. It was devoted, for the most part, to a violin arrangement by Mr. Talmadge, with piano and organ accompaniment by Miss Leiphart and Mr. Rath.

Miss Blanchard and Mr. Cocke entertained the scholarship students and the members of the Scholarship Committee at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cocke Thursday evening. This occasion afforded the Dean and the Vice President the opportunity to become acquainted with the new scholarship people, and to speak with them of the confidence Hollins places in them, and the hope the college holds for their life here.

Tinker Day Celebrated by Hollins Students

Tinker Day fell this year on Monday, October 19. Enthusiasm was even higher than usual because the announcement came as a complete surprise. From breakfast until ten o'clock everyone milled about the campus taking surprise snapshots and talking nonsense. Leading the punsters Mr. Turner announced that the Hiking Chairman, from Wisconsin, Milwaukee in front. Meanwhile, the Seniors paraded back and forth singing their class songs. Finally everyone was counted and we started up the mountain.

Although breathing hard when she reached the top, everyone, after a short rest, had regained her pep and vitality. The class singing brought tears to many eyes, but they were not tears of utter sadness. Tinker Day is too much fun for that. The food, which came next, was true to Hollins tradition. The capacity of Hollins students is also tradition. After everyone was full and comfortably (?) resting, the stunts began. The prize, had there been one, should have gone jointly to the Junior Class and the New Teachers. Both gave faculty take-offs. It was also amusing to see the Seniors violently being an orchestra without making a sound.

If we had only been able to eat a bit more we'd all have been round enough to roll down the mountain. As it was the halt helped the lame and everyone reached home in time for a hot bath before dinner. Tinker Day has come and gone, with aching muscles we now look forward to Halloween and Senior Stunts.
