ALUMNI/PARENT-CAREER ADVISORY PROGRAM

Only two weeks after receiving an announcement about a new Trinity career advisory program, an overwhelming response has been received from parents and alumni volunteering their help, and more postcards offering assistance are coming in as the Reporter goes to press.

It's no news that in these times students need all the help they can get with their career plans. The Administration, Board of Fellows, and Faculty have expressed great concern for the need of providing additional services in this area. It is felt that alumni and parents are an extremely valuable, yet largely untapped resource, and that this group is likely to be sensitive to changes within their career fields.

The letter from Chris Shinkman, director of career counseling, and Jerry Hansen, director of alumni relations, noted that the purpose of the Alumni-Parent Career Advisory Program is to enlist the assistance of parents and alumni in order to provide information and direction to students during all phases of career counseling and placement. Target date for operation is midwinter with development centering in three key areas.

First, an occupational and geographical directory will be compiled consisting of parents and alumni who have expressed an interest in serving as career field counselors. They will be contacted as the year advances by students seeking information about specific careers. Shinkman and Hansen foresee an eventual strong network of alumni and parents with career and professional expertise and a collective knowledge of business and industry to whom students may turn for practical, down-to-earth advice prior to making decisions of vital importance to their future. Alumni and parents will not be asked to directly secure employment for the students, but rather to provide a one-to-one relationship for examining the current career marketplace.

Next, the Career Counseling Office and the Alumni Relations Office will prepare a list of notable alumni and parents who are willing to return to the campus and take part in Career Day panel discussions. These informal discussions will bring firsthand views of the career situation to the College and will enable the students to evaluate the possibilities in a realistic manner.

The third area will be the organizing of an internship program. This will supplement existing programs either during the school year or during the summer. A group of alumni and parents who find it possible to offer, or who may know of others who can offer, internships and part-time paid or volunteer work will be an invaluable adjunct to the student career determination process.

Alumni and parents interested in helping in this critical effort are urged to fill out and return the form on page three of this issue.

Record Turnout At Reunion

A record breaking number of alumni descended on the Trinity campus on November 14 for the annual three-day Reunion-Homecoming Weekend. Director of Alumni Relations Jerry Hansen estimates that about 1,000 attended the various events, traveling from about 25 states and Canada.

The reunion featured some 15 events, including art exhibits, an organ recital, a slide show presentation by President Lockwood, luncheon, reception, dinner and dancing. The Student Theater Arts production of Saroyan's "The Time of Your Life" was presented twice and professors collaborated on a Bicentennial Symposium exploring the causes and consequences of the revolution. Alumni visited classes and sat in on seminars.

No polls were taken but many faculty members commented on the larger-than-usual number of alumni visiting their class discussions and many reunion "regulars" were delighted to see friends who had not attended the annual weekend for some years.

The buffet luncheon in the Field House was supposed to be a sit-down affair but at any given time as many people were grouping and talking in the aisles or in transit to another table as were seated. One alumnus was overheard to say that it reminded him of Times Square on New Year's Eve.

About 35 alumni were expected, on the basis of past experience, to attend the symposium on the American Revolution but more than 60 appeared, which so energized the panelists that the session ran overtime.

The traditional warm-up for the game was staged again by Coach Don Miller at the Trinity Club of Hartford smoker on Friday evening. An overflow crowd watched film clips of the 1949 Trinity-Wesleyan game, narrated by Roger Hall '50, captain of the Bant's undefeated team.

A homecoming crowd of more than 6,000 watched Wesleyan edge out the Bantams in a hard-fought 14-11 game. It was a perfect football day and many alumni came prepared to enjoy it to the full. The parking lots were peppered with couples opening picnic baskets and uncorking. The Marching Kazoo Band played a half-time and a gaudy, bewigged student leaped out of a huge cake lettered "Happy Birthday, U.S.A." to enthusiastic applause. With characteristic deadpan humor the title of Homecoming Queen was bestowed on a dog whose qualifications were not immediately apparent.

The postgame reception held in the Austin Arts Center soon overflowed to the foyer and hallways and the sculpture exhibit of Norman Carlberg was jammed.

The annual homecoming dinner this year was held in beautiful downtown Hartford at the Sheraton-Hartford. With admirable foresight in view of the parking problem caused by a large antique show and a professional hockey game in the adjacent Civic Center, free bus service was provided to and from the campus throughout the postgame-postdinner period. About 400 alumni attended the dinner, applauded the awards (see article), listened to the Trinity Pipes and stayed for dancing.

Of all the happenings on the campus during the weekend only one was sparsely attended and, in view of its implications for future enrollment, the Admissions Office has been notified. Hardly anyone used the free babysitting service.

Large Grant Awarded To Watkinson Library

The Hartford Foundation for Public Giving has awarded a grant of $70,000 to the College to assist in the expansion of The Watkinson Library, one of America's first free, public research and reference libraries.

New quarters for The Watkinson Library are part of a $2.5 million planned expansion of The Trinity College Library, which has housed the Watkinson collection since 1952. The grant from The Hartford Foundation for Public Giving will provide shelving for 200,000 volumes in the expanded stack area. In 1936, when The Hartford Foundation made its first grant, it contributed the entire year's income — $982.52 — to assist The Watkinson Library.

Used by scholars from around the world, The Watkinson Library holds important bibliographical and reference works, many American and European periodicals of the 18th and 19th centuries, and publications of many learned societies. It has special collections in early voyages and travel, folklore, witchcraft and demonology, and the Civil War.

Nearly 1,200 Attend Parents Rainy, Event-Filled Weekend

As the Hartford newspaper put it, "Despite the rain, there were lots of smiling faces" at Parents Weekend, Oct. 10-13, 1975. While the weather could have been better, it was the largest gathering since the Parents Association began 21 years ago.

Friday evening 900 parents, their sons and daughters, attended a banquet at which Association President Arthur M. Lewis officiated as toastmaster. Trinity President Lockwood, speaking on "Liberal Arts, the Pursuit of Happiness, and a Job," emphasized that a liberal arts education is for life and not merely training for a career. The Concert Choir of 100 voices sang at the banquet, and the lively "Trinity Pipes" singing group topped off the evening.

On Saturday morning, the Parents Association met with Arthur M. Lewis, president; Ralph U. Bercovici, vice president; Mrs. Steven M. Castle, secretary; and Charles P. Stewart, Parents Fund chairman. New Association directors were elected, and Lewis described the year-round involvement of parents in college affairs. He said this includes serving on campus committees: on the Trinity College Council and Athletic Council; advising the College on matters affecting parents and their students; planning regional parent alumni meetings; assisting the Parents Fund and others.

A panel discussion, "Liberal Arts and the Pursuit of Happiness," was chaired by Northam Professor of History and secretary of the College, Dr. George B. Cooper. The panel consisted of Dr. Andrea Bianchini, Modern Languages; Christopher J. Shinkman, director of career counseling; Ruth E. Veal '76, chemistry major; John R. Orrick, Jr. '76, economics major; Eric F. Samuelson '77, history major.

At noon, over 1,100 parents, students, faculty and staff slogged through the puddles to attend the buffet luncheon in the field house. Some parents and students braved the rain later to watch the Trinity-R.P.I. football game. Throughout the day, many other athletic events took place: women's crew and tennis with Tufts and varsity soccer. Daniel Kehoe '78 gave a carillon concert following the football game.

In the evening, the Theater Arts presented an original play, "Stories of Clothes" by Elizabeth H. Egloff, a 1975 Trinity graduate.

Sunday morning, a magnificent Chapel service was conducted by Chaplain Alan C. Tull and The Very Rev. James Parks Morton, Dean of the Later, President and Mrs. Lockwood held an "open house" coffee for parents and their students.

This was the first time rain has fallen on Parents Weekend in the last seven years. Planning for next year has already begun with the smart money betting on clear skies.

CAMPUS NOTES

Dr. ROBERT LINDSAY, professor of physics and Dr. RALPH O. MOYER, Jr., associate professor of chemistry together with JEFFREY S. THOMPSON '74 have published "Preparation, Structure and Properties of Europium Ruthenium Hydride" in the August issue of Inorganic Chemistry. Dr. Lindsay and Dr. Moyer with WILLIAM KWOKA, M.S. '72 have also published "Alkylene-bisdithiocarbamates of Oxovanadium (IV), Chromium (III) and Manganese (II) in the September issue of the Journal of Inorganic and Nuclear Chemistry.

Dr. EDMOND CHERBONNIER, Dr. JOHN GETTIER AND Dr. FRANK KIRKPATRICK of the Religion Department attended the annual meetings of the American Academy of Religion held in Chicago, Oct. 30-Nov. 2. Dr. Kirkpatrick participated in a symposium entitled "Towards a Post-Critical Theology: The Influence of Polanyi."

Dr. Gettier gave a series of eight lectures this fall at Trinity Church (Hartford) on the topic of "Images of Jesus."

Dr. Kirkpatrick gave a series of five lectures at the First Church of Christ Congregational (West Hartford) on the topic of "Church and Culture in Conflict: A Crisis for Contemporary Christians."

Dr. GARY C. JACOBSON, assistant professor of political science, was represented in the Journal of Politics for August 1975 with an article entitled "The Impact of Broadcast Campaigning on Electoral Outcomes." An article entitled "Practical Consequences of Campaign Finance Reform: An Incumbent Protection Act?" will appear in Public Policy, Winter 1976 issue.

THOMAS A. SMITH, vice president, has been elected first vice chairman of Connecticut Public Television's board of trustees. CPTV is a non-profit educational station located on the Trinity campus.

ANTHONY D. MACRO, associate professor of classics, is the Leverhulme Commonwealth USA Post-Doctoral Fellow at the University of Wales this year while on sabbatical from Trinity.

IVAN BACKER, director of graduate studies and community education, was mentioned in a story on the Institute for Educational Leadership in the October issue of American Education. The article focused on Backer's knowledge of the community leaders who make education policy in Connecticut and his ability to get them together. Backer is part-time director of The Associates Program (TAP) in Connecticut which conducts seminars during the year for state education leaders.

Dr. MICHAEL P. SACKS, assistant professor of sociology, presented a paper entitled "Time-Budget Methodology and Research in the Soviet Union" at the annual meetings of the American Association for the Advancement of Slavic Studies in Atlanta, Georgia, in October.

Dr. CLYDE D. MCKEE, associate professor of political science, is a member of the Fair Campaign Practices Committee in Hartford. The bi-partisan committee has been formed because of a concern that the political process in Hartford be carried out in an "open, fair, honest and high-minded way."

Dr. SONIA M. LEE, assistant professor of modern languages, will read a paper on the work of Ousmane Sembene, an African writer, at the meeting of the Modern Languages Association in December. Critique, published by Georgia Tech, will publish her article "The Awakening of the Self in the Heroines of Ousmane Sembene," in the December 1975 issue. The December 1975 issue of Yale French Studies will include her article entitled "The Image of the Woman in the African Folk Tale."

STEPHEN MINOT, author and associate professor of English, has had a collection of short stories, Crossings, published recently by the University of Illinois Press. The collection has received excellent notices and Publishers Weekly said that they are "twelve superbly crafted stories which address a wide range of experience and does so with a reverential touch." Two of the stories have won national awards.

Dr. CARL V. HANSEN, associate professor of modern languages, spent six weeks in the summer of 1975 studying Russian at Middlebury College before resuming the teaching of Russian at Trinity.

Dr. RICHARD P. BENTON, associate professor of English, edited and selected a series of scholarly and critical studies which appeared in the spring entitled "Poe As Literary Cosmologist: Studies on Eureka, A Symposium," published by Transcendental Books. The collection was designed by Dr. Benton to advance the criticism on "Eureka," the cosmological prose-poem with which Poe culminated his career.

An article, "The Chinese Eight-Legged Essay," (which includes a translation from the Chinese of a 15th century essay by Wang Ao), published by Dr. Benton in Exercise Exchange, was recently chosen by the editors as one of the 50 best ever to appear in that publication and will be published in the spring of 1976 in the anthology Writing Exercises from Exercise Exchange under the aegis of the National Council of Teachers of English.

Dr. Benton has spent the Christmas term on sabbatical leave doing research preparatory to writing a book on the principal themes of Poe's fiction.

Dr. PAUL SMITH, professor and chairman of the English Department, is a member of the Committee of Examiners of the Advanced Placement Program. The Examiners make up the advanced placement examinations in English and serve as general consultants to advanced placement English teachers throughout the country.

"Liberal Arts, The Pursuit of Happiness, And A Job"

The number of requests for copies of President Lockwood's remarks at Parents Weekend has been so substantial that wider distribution is indicated. Printed below are excerpts from his comments. Dr. Lockwood here addresses himself to another trinity — "The Liberal Arts, the Pursuit of Happiness, and a Job."

I have long felt that these occasions call for some frank views, not a bucolic rumination on the fall colors . . . Let me discuss the job situation first.

Obviously the situation for college graduates has changed since 1969, the last year in which positions were plentiful for the liberal arts degree-holder. Loosely gathered national statistics this year suggest a dismal outlook for the Class of 1975. It is important to remember, however, that our experience is always on the high, or favorable, side of such surveys. For example, from the information we can collect about the Class of 1971, a year which was poor in prospects, most of those graduates are now very well placed. There was a temporary period during which many had jobs that they did not find thoroughly engaging; some had trouble locating a reasonable option for the first six months following graduation. But now they seem well situated.

It is harder to gather reliable information from more recent classes, but we sense that the same experience has prevailed. For instance, in admission to medical and law schools, Trinity does twice as well as the national average: whereas only one in three applicants ever get into these fields nationally, two-thirds of Trinity's applicants succeed. Therefore, one of the first replies to those who are worried must be: don't reach a conclusion based on the first few days of June; it may well take a while for the interesting job opportunity to come along, or for admission to professional school to be secured . . .

What has happened in some colleges has been an about-face, a desertion of the liberal arts in favor of motel management and ambulance training. Even if we all might prosper from having sharpened skills in both these fields, I think such a redirection of academic efforts is both short-sighted and ill-advised. It is short-sighted because, if we need motel managers, they should have been trained five years ago. Five years from now we may not have enough money to pay for the gas to drive to the motel! Certainly our experience since World War II is studded with examples of crash programs designed to meet manpower needs which quickly became glutted.

Future Skill Needs Unpredictable

Such shifts in education are also ill-advised for another reason. We just do not know what skills may be needed five or ten years from now. Future planning is still an art, not a science. When oil companies cannot plan their production schedules more than two years out, I doubt very much that many corporations can tell us what attributes the graduate of 1979 should have beyond those of disciplined intelligence, flexibility, and the capacity to learn. Those attributes, incidentally may well be the hallmarks of the traditional liberal arts education.

Yet it is true that underemployment (that is, the underutilization of educated talent) may well be the lot of some graduates, even of Trinity. From a national point of view, the question becomes whether this is a relatively short-term market condition related to our current economic recession or whether it reflects a long-term change in the functioning composition of American society. Some observers seek to convince us that the American standard of living is on a permanent decline relative to others in the world. That is possible, but that would affect primarily the wage structure. Only a failure to revive a growing economy — to make the adjustments necessary to meet the change in consumer desires around the globe — would lead to unemployment of staggering proportions or underemployment as the normal condition.

The evidence is not yet persuasive that we are suffering any sort of absolute decline. Therefore, it would appear that we are temporarily confronting a market condition that will, for another year or so, make it more, rather than less, difficult for some liberal arts graduates to find appropriate positions.

Such dispassionate language feeds the argument in behalf of marketable skills. For many analysts have concluded that this country has reached a point where it does not need so many college graduates. Wouldn't it be better to "ride with the times," a favorite Washington phrase, and prepare more technicians for the various services we consume? Should we not have "higher skilling" instead of so much higher education? Certainly Congress has shown the way by supporting a collection of vocational training bills. One statistic may take the bloom off this argument: Only 16% of those who pursue technical training courses (semiprofessionals, some might call them) ever get jobs at the level for which they prepared.

There is a further problem with offering marketable skills. The markets become obsolete, and the technical training proves to be a dead-end. It is one thing to take a course in accounting while majoring in the arts; that may be a reasonable anchor to windward. It is quite another thing to learn only accounting. If we abandon the broader purposes and deeper training of the mind characteristic of the best in American undergraduate education, we shall have a kind of post-secondary skilling that does nothing to assure that we shall maintain the values in this society worth preserving. No institution or program can guarantee a job. There is a place for vocational training, but it is not in the liberal arts college.

Let me conclude these comments on jobs with one revealing analysis done locally. People in middle management or below in three large companies were asked to indicate what courses they felt they needed to advance in their fields. No purely vocational course, not even a computer science course, appeared higher than number 12 on the list. What they wanted was education that would help them understand themselves, the objectives of their business, the resolution of issues in society, and the higher purposes to which they might direct their efforts. I am arrogant enough to suggest that only the liberal arts college can begin to meet those needs.

Hedonism and the Pursuit of Happiness

You will no doubt be relieved as I turn to the second topic, the pursuit of happiness, not only because it sounds more pleasant, but also because it suggests the Bicentennial theme — that national reminder that the United States has survived a great many crises over two hundred years, and in a manner that provides some encouragement in a period about which we all too easily become gloomy . . .

In my Annual Report I discuss what might be called the new hedonism on campuses. Some say it marks a return to the fifties. But there is a difference. The prospects which today's undergraduates face, especially in gaining admission to a professional school or in locating a good job, bring an understandable concentration on studies. This is encouraging to the faculty, but in turn it prompts the desire for a release. That release often takes the form of a pursuit of happiness, not in the Jeffersonian meaning of the term, but in the good-times sense . . .

I would prefer to relate the pursuit of happiness to a larger theme: a rewarding life. It is interesting that, with all the talk about careers, we have lost the sense of the word. Quite literally the word derives from the Latin meaning road or course; in this sense a career is that course of events that makes up a life. My guess is that most psychologists would say happiness is finding a life that is satisfying because it has enabled one to fulfill one's potential and to achieve relationships with others that enhance the basic dignity of existence. A job is only part of that experience.

Basic Goals of Liberal Arts Education

The pursuit of happiness requires self-confidence, understanding, and sensitivity. These are qualities which education can either foster or neglect. Certainly technical training has no obligation to reach beyond the provision of the requisite skills. A good liberal arts education must, on the other hand, build self-confidence. It should arouse our innate curiosity, and foster a love of learning. Admittedly these are goals; it does not always follow that sensitivity and zest for a lifetime of learning occur in every student. But the opportunity is there, and it is the most important opportunity we have unless we are willing to reduce happiness to that old philosophical definition of the absence of pain . . .

I concur with those who claim that a minimal satisfaction of material necessities is requisite to any appreciation of what we call the "finer things in life." The sorting out of those priorities may well provide the clearest index to a person's definition of happiness. Undergraduate education can assist that sorting-out process.

In society we sense that this process is already occurring in a fashion that is both unsettling and heartening. There is a rising demand from more voices than before that our system become more responsive to true human needs, that we create and maintain a physical and social environment that is more fully humane, and that we recognize the interrelatedness of people in ways we have heretofore only talked about.

Contending With Economics of Scarcity

Perhaps for the first time we as a people must contend with scarcity. Two hundred years ago we did not know the meaning of the term. We were truly a "people of plenty." Now we realize that there are limits to growth; yet our economy has long been geared to continued expansion. As the late David Potter reminded us, ever-enlarging economic abundance has been a hallmark of the American experience. Consequently, we have assumed that disadvantaged groups could be given a larger portion of society's benefits without anything having to be taken away from other groups. If we are now approaching the outer limits of growth, conflict over who gets what share of our finite resources could intensify, not only domestically but on the world stage, where there has long been a glaring discrepancy between haves and have-nots.

Equally important has been our attitude toward the work which created our advanced technological society. Energy-consuming machines theoretically displace workers, but in many cases the jobs they eliminate were unsatisfying. Thus far industrial society has had trouble finding acceptable substitutes, as is indicated by a mass of social science literature on alienation in the work place.

That is an unpardonably abrupt summary of some dilemmas we face in the pursuit of happiness. Any such analysis provides fertile soil for both the pessimist and the charlatan. It spawns communes, though not nearly as many as we had in this country during the first half of the nineteenth century. It brings both a renaissance of interest in religion and a new ecological ethic. It also provides rich material for consideration in undergraduate curricula. And it justifies the study of classical times, mid-Victorian literature, and even that chaotic fifteenth century Italian history; for the responses of others to the challenges they faced may offer us a clue as to how best we may face contemporary dilemmas.

Questioning the Conventional Wisdom

What most assuredly this sorting-out process does is call for a new understanding of what we mean by the "pursuit of happiness." Students must reach some conclusion as to its meaning. That is why in remarks to new students I asked that they question the conventional wisdom they have brought with them. For one of the functions of an undergraduate education is to encourage a serious consideration of our values, those we have casually donned and those which we feel bear up under experience. Only then may we know what we mean by the pursuit of happiness.

The transition to the final topic is obvious:

the liberal arts offer the most conspicuous academic arrangement in which to seek meaning — meaning that applies not only to a job but to a lifetime. To me, one of the ironies of education has been the transformation of many supposedly liberal arts institutions into what are essentially preparatory schools for professional study. The creation of the academic major was a step in asking students to make a career choice; the dissolution of general education some ten years ago completed the process in the universities where the faculty were largely preoccupied with their professional specialties. What we have obviously needed is a balance between the very legitimate concern for adequate preparation for a career, and those wider forms of knowledge which relate to life.

On our Bicentennial it may be appropriate to return to an old concept of liberal learning, that somehow it should assure an enlightened citizenry and the preservation of our free society. We can always pick up the information essential to a particular vocation; we cannot always enjoy the extended leisure to review thoughtfully that which we ought to do as individuals in a democracy . . .

Likelihood of Responsible Social Action

To achieve a creative tension between concrete knowledge used in a profession and theoretical problems important to the moral development of the individual, a gifted faculty interlocutor can make all the difference. I have always hoped that in the liberal arts college, with its emphasis on teaching and concern for the individual student, such an exchange is more likely to occur than in the larger university. Certainly somewhere in our educational system we must ask those questions which hold out the likelihood of responsible social action by those given the choice. For surely today's students will face difficult questions indeed . . .

In these times all of us need those sensibilities which permit us to attain the depth of understanding essential to the solution of today's problems. A liberal education in the best traditional sense can help, for it permits us to purge our minds of prejudice and untutored intellectuality and to gain that ever-elusive quality known as wisdom.

The goal of a liberal arts education is wisdom. Central to the search for wisdom is a consideration of those values which distinguish Man, both the individual and his society. It may never pay off in the cash balance one maintains at the bank. But it can lend the job an important dimension. Only our grasp of what it means to be a human being, what it can mean, gives substance to the pursuit of happiness.

What seemed like separate elements in an educational smorgasbord must come together if we are to have the breadth of vision we need. Clarity and compassion, competence and wisdom must all combine if we are to achieve the broader human purposes to which all learning is dedicated.

MASTERS

- 1952 LILLIAN ADAMS had her book of poems, Run Deep, Run True, published this past July.
- 1959 Dr. PETER TOLIS led off Central Connecticut State College's Bicentennial Lecture series on October 15th. Pete is a scholar of evangelical reform movements and spoke on "Religion and the American Revolution."
- 1965 We received a report that SONIA GRANDE has had her doctoral thesis accepted by the University of Connecticut's Department of History, and waits only for the next UConn commencement to collect her Ph.D.
- 1967 FRANK PRITCHARD has been transferred to Dallas, Texas as area sales manager by the Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corporation. FRANK QUINN, who has been with Connecticut General Life Insurance Company, Hartford, since 1959, has been appointed assistant director of expense analysis, group insurance operations. Frank and his wife, Joan, have three sons and live in Wethersfield, Connecticut.
- JUDY SEDGEMAN and her husband, Bill, moved in October into a home on a bayou with a slip for their sailboat, a dream they have had since moving to Florida four years ago.
- 1969 JIM SUGAHARA has been appointed assistant systems director in the personal lines systems department at The Travelers Insurance Companies in Hartford. Jim and his wife have three children and live in Glastonbury, Connecticut.
- 1971 DAVE KNOWLTON, formerly director of student activities at Ithaca College, Ithaca, New York, has been named Ombudsman at Northern Illinois University, DeKalb, Illinois. BARBARA KENNELLY, who was appointed to the Hartford City Council in July, proved to be the top vote-getter among council candidates in the November elections.
- 1972 PETER LEBETKIN, a reading consultant at Farmington High School, Farmington, Connecticut, has been appointed chairman of the constitution committee of the Connecticut Association of Reading Research. Peter recently received his sixth year degree in reading from Central Connecticut State College, New Britain, Connecticut.
- 1974 RALPH PRESUTTI reports the birth of daughter, Bevin Marie, last February. SYDNEY ELKIN of the Hartford law firm of Bromberg and Appleton has been named full time assistant prosecutor in Connecticut Common Pleas Court 16.

HONORARY

- 1950 WILMARTH S. LEWIS of Farmington, Connecticut, a literary scholar recognized as the leading authority on Horace Walpole, has been awarded the Yale Club of Hartford's highest award, the Nathan Hale Award. The second annual Wilmarth Lewis Lecture sponsored by the Trinity College History Department was delivered by Dr. George B. Cooper, Northam Professor of History and Secretary of the College, on November 13.
- 1962 Dr. T. STEWART HAMILTON, administrative director of Hartford Hospital for the last 21 years, has received the Connecticut Bar Association's 1975 Distinguished Public Service Award.
- 1963 The Rt. Rev. HEBER GOODEN has been named acting bishop of Louisiana. Bishop Gooden has been assistant bishop in Louisiana since 1972.
- 1969 HOMER BABBIDGE, former University of Connecticut president, has been named president of the Hartford Graduate Center, formerly connected with the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. Dr. Babbidge will leave his current post as master of Yale University's Timothy Dwight College to take the new position in July of 1976.

Was glad to hear again from JACK TOWNSEND (The Rev. John H., retired). Jack lives at 615 Harper Road, Knoxville, Texas 78028. His literary output is tremendous in the form of letters at least to his friends, particularly men of 1916, so write him. He is most interesting.

GEORGE FERRIS writes me that he and Charlotte have been vacationing at the Skytop Inn in the Poconos lately, but had plans at the time of his writing to join us at the Wesleyan game, November 15 weekend. I hope many of you were able to join us there and take part in the president's postgame reception.

Was pleased at long last to receive the following highly condensed narrative of CHARLIE BAKER's activities or rather adventures during the last 40 years or so. "Sold yacht and house in Coconut Grove after 40 years there, and moved to quieter Naples, Florida. Less taxes and turmoil. I've given up writing after eight books, both fiction and novels. Was with Town & Country as food-wine editor for 10 years; ditto as wine editor for Gourmet for six years. Wrote for about every slick magazine in USA after leaving Trinity. I'm coming on 80 and feel fine. Sailed 50,000 miles at sea in yachts: Mata Hari the last; quite famous 61-foot cutter by Bill Garden." He sounds like Magellan, Simon Bolivar, or even Ponce de Leon (2).

Any more bright ideas about our 60th Reunion next June, or maybe at the Immortals Dinner. Let's hear it! Please send me your ideas. Personally, I would like one organized dinner as part of the "Immortals" meeting, probably in June.

Some of you doubtless remember GEORGE GRIFFITH '18. He died August 31, in Essex, Connecticut.

Word from JIM ENGLISH tells of the sad passing of his wife, Alice, in July. I am sure we all extend to him our deepest sympathy. I was pleased to uncover a good picture of our 55th Reunion Dinner in which Alice appeared to advantage and sent Jim a duplicate.

GEORGE (GRUBBY) BOYCE wants to know if any other member of the Class can boast of having four great-grandchildren, his most recent being the first great-grandson. George figures he might make the Class of 1993!

On September 20th I answered the phone and was surprised to hear AL MERRITT's voice on the other end. I learned for the first time that Al has two residences — Fairview Park, Ohio and Bloomfield, Connecticut. Al is presently in good health, although he had his share of illness last June. He is now retired after conducting a highly successful insurance business in Cleveland, Ohio for many years.

The CONRAD GESNERS spent the month of July in South Dakota and the month of August in Washington, Connecticut, where the good Bishop conducted the Sunday services at St. John's Church.

The Trinity Club of Hartford held its 16th Annual Banquet at the College on October 23rd. It was a very enjoyable evening with a happy hour that was replete with happiness and good talk. The food was excellent and a very interesting speech was rendered by NATHANIEL P. REED '55, assistant secretary of the interior. He dwelled on such subjects as natural resources, energy, environment, economy and the conduct of the federal government in regard thereto. YOUR SECRETARY attended accompanied by daughters, Lucile Marvin and Lorraine DiLorenzo, son-in-law TED DILORENZO '50, granddaughter Mary Jean Marvin and her friend, Linda Rezac, both seniors at Southampton College, (majoring in oceanography) who gathered a great deal of useful knowledge from Mr. Reed's talk. Incidentally, Mr. Reed stated that it will take a combination of experience and intelligence to solve our interior problems. Sorry that I didn't see any of our classmates there.

26 Mr. N. Ross Parke

West Hartford, CT 06107

We of the Class of 2T6 and YOUR SECRETARY personally sincerely thank our good friend, RAY MONTGOMERY, and his illustrious Class of 2T5 for their kind appreciation of our Greeting to them on the occasion of their momentous 50th Reunion. All of us, Americans and Trinitarians, are deeply affected by the significance and importance of this coming Bicentennial in the year of our Lord MCMLXXXVI. May I again call to the attention of our good Classmates of 2T6 that in this auspicious year we are grateful to be celebrating our 50th Reunion, so — please — let's all of us make a special effort to get back to our grand "Ole Alma Mater." Who said, "it's later than you think" — "Smile when you say that" — but let's show that good old 2T6 Class spirit that won the lemon-squeezer. Please let us hear of your intent to attend. God's richest blessings on you, your loved ones and all.

Another day, another collegiate year. The 1975 Reunion-Homecoming brought to mind that in but two more years 1977 will roll around and the Class of 1927 will have its 50th and be enrolled as bona fide Immortals!

To the best of YOUR SECRETARY's knowledge, we have lost but one classmate so far this year — DICK McCURDY, who served as an engineer with the Metropolitan District in Hartford. Each depletion in our thinning ranks calls for somber thought.

And now to the nitty-gritty. Our final five year period of $5 annual dues for the Class of 1927 Trinity College Library Fund expires in 1977. Unhappily I can report that only three of us are paid in full: JIM CAHILL, your chairman ANDY FORRESTER, and your secretary-treasurer. Partial payments but not up-to-date have been received from JOE BASHOUR, STAN BELL, MIM BLOODGOOD, BOB CONDIT, ROG HARTT, BOB HILDEBRAND and HOWIE MANNIERRE. Perhaps this might be a good time to give some thought to "squaring the circle."

FRED READ, who retired as vice president and general counsel of Home Life Insurance Company in New York City, is now serving as counsel to the law firm of Duiker, D'Elia, Turtletaug and Cantino in his home community of Port Washington, New York. He also is an adjunct assistant professor at The College of Insurance in New York City and is adjunct assistant professor of law at the New York Law School, New York City.

JACK WARDLAW, an ex-orchestra leader who started in the life insurance business in Raleigh, North Carolina in 1941, was named "Man of the Year" by the North Carolina Association of Life Underwriters at their convention last June. Jack is regional director for Philadelphia Life Insurance Company, Raleigh, North Carolina. Jack and his daughter and granddaughter attended the Philadelphia Life's convention in Marbella, Spain last May. In June he took his grandson, Robbie, to Honolulu for a visit with his son, JOHN WARDLOW '63, who is in the Air Force there. Continuing his busy schedule, he then went to San Francisco for his 28th million dollar round table meeting.

HOWARD SCHMOLZE retired last June after 44 years on the faculty at St. Andrew's School in Middletown, Delaware. The school was one year old when he began his teaching career there, which means he had every student! During this time he was registrar, senior master, and college advisor. Howard lives in Middletown with his wife, Kathryn, and four longhaired dachshunds.

Taking an active part in a Dallas, Texas English in Action program is A. PALMORE

HARRISON, a retired Episcopal priest who is legally blind. The program pairs Dallas residents with people new to Dallas who don't speak English as well as they would like. Our classmate says his blindness doesn't slow him down as a tutor and in the past two years he has helped Chinese, Taiwanese, Indian and Thai students.

BOB STUMPF writes from Southampton, New York that the Bicentennial people are having a time trying to tie themselves up with the revolution beyond Meigs Connecticut Raiders because this was Tory country. Southampton has no hot dog vendors but a good art museum, an historical museum and a revolutionary silver shop. Bob says they love it there and do their best to stay away from New York City. However, they do not get fussy about tax-only tickets to Nairobi, Hong Kong, Portugal, Vienna, and other spots!

ED LAWTON, who retired in 1973, lives in a mobile home park with no responsibilities when vacation time arrives. His fifth grandchild arrived last January. Ed left in June on a five-month trip in his trailer to Oregon, across Canada, then south thru New England to visit his children and back to Florida. He expected to drop in on WINSTON HALL '33 who lives in Mobridge, South Dakota.

All notes — personal, simple, or esoteric — sent to YOUR SECRETARY will be duly noted and published.

PEARCE ALEXANDER says you could have knocked him over with a feather when he had a phone call from MILT MARQUET, who was his roommate at Trinity and quarterback on Trinity's undefeated football team of 1934. Pearce and Milt got together in San Diego for a meal and an evening of story telling, after which Milt left for Mexico with his wife, Peggy.

A news filled letter from the Maryland gentleman farmer ERIC PURDON. Eric, ostensibly retired, grows vegetables, sails and is working on another book. A true seadog, he helped the Naval Academy Sailing Squadron sail a new yacht from Florida. Unfortunately a bad storm did some damage to Eric's arms and ribs and cut short an otherwise lengthy sail. The big news from chez Purdon was that of the wedding of daughter, Pamela, to Roger Link. Son-in-law Roger is also by avocation a seafarer as he is well known in small boat racing. Trinity was well represented at the wedding by HOFF BENJAMIN, and DON SNOWDEN both of '34.

Less engaging news from BILL WALKER. After suffering a broken hip, Bill ended up with a total hip replacement. Bill's youngest son started at Springfield College in the fall.

Hope to see you at the 40th.

ANNUAL GIVING REPORT

July 1, 1974 to June 30, 1975

Another Successful Year

Once again I am pleased and proud to report a successful year in our Annual Giving Campaign. For the fiscal year ending June 30, unrestricted gifts from Alumni, Parents, Business and Industry Associates and Friends totaled $500,675. Thus, our 1974-75 Annual Giving campaign became the third consecutive year that annual gifts for the budgeted programs of the College exceeded a half-million dollars.

In addition, restricted gifts from other sources totaled $1,672,268, putting the grand total of gifts to the College at $2,172,943.

Our success is to the credit of each person who contributed, and of those volunteers who gave their time and energy to this campaign. The College is especially grateful to the chairmen of this campaign: Don Viering, Scotty Stewart, Jack Davis, and Ted Tansi.

Certainly, a generous spirit has prevailed, and continues to prevail as we seek, for a fourth year, to raise $500,000 or more from Annual Gifts for the budgeted programs of the College. That prevailing spirit was clearly expressed in many notes which came to us from contributors. One donor wrote, "I continue to be proud of my association with the College and will continue to support it as I can." A second, a recent graduate, said, "I would like to extend my personal, heartfelt thanks to Trinity College for an educational opportunity that I don't think I would have obtained anywhere else. I wish I could donate more, and when I can, I will."

So many gifts to Trinity do, indeed, come from the heart, and I hope our contributors know they are meeting vital educational needs of this College. It is encouraging to learn that our College continues to inspire pride, respect, and affection.

Theodore D. Lockwood
President

Corporate Contributors of Matching Gifts

The College received more than $45,000 in corporate matching funds in 1974-1975, as a result of annual gifts from alumni, parents, and friends.

Companies with matching gift programs will make a contribution to Trinity equal to, and sometimes greater than, contributions made by their employees to the College. As a general rule, contributions by alumni to the Alumni Fund or the Campaign for Trinity Values are eligible for corporate matching gifts. Some companies also match gifts to the College by directors, by retired employees, by the spouse of an alumnus and by non-alumni parents and friends. There are more than 600 companies in the U.S. which have matching gift programs.

Last year 138 corporations contributed a total of $45,291.31 in matching funds to Annual Giving. Of this total, $37,974.79 matched gifts to the Alumni Fund; $4,893.34 matched gifts to The Parents Fund, and $2,425 matched gifts to The Friends of Trinity Fund.

For 1974-75, the largest corporate matching gift, matching the contribution of a single alumnus, was $3,750. The smallest matching gift received was $5.

According to President Lockwood, "corporate matching gifts are already an important factor in our ability to reach our Annual Giving goals, and we are grateful to the companies which contributed, as well as to those several hundred alumni, parents, and friends who took the initiative to see that their personal gifts were matched.

"Through corporate matching gift programs, donors literally have the opportunity to 'double their dollars' to Trinity. It is my hope that more will take advantage of these special giving programs."

Information is available from the College's Development Office concerning companies with matching gift programs.

FRED HOISINGTON is vice president and director of marketing for National Health Care, Inc., Atlanta, Georgia. When he wrote in July, he was in the process of selling his home in Fayetteville, North Carolina in preparation for the move to Atlanta.

DON FETTERS reports the birth of his first grandchild, Laura Elizabeth, on August 3rd. The proud parents are his oldest son, Daniel, and his wife, Linda.

Trinity called on another member of the class — MAURICE FREMONT-SMITH — to represent the College at the inauguration of the new president of Northeastern University. Maurice is director of development at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Brighton, Massachusetts.

53 Mr. Paul A. Mortell
508 Stratfield Rd.
Fairfield, CT 06432

STAN McCANDLESS says he still looks forward to vacations in the great northeast from little ole Houston. The latest addition to his family, Sadie James, born January 13, 1975, makes three girls.

PHIL MALLON is activities director at Boca Raton High School, Boca Raton, Florida. All three of his children are in college. Daughter Linda is a Trinity College junior and this year is studying at the University of East Anglia, Norwich, England; Laurie is at Rollins College, Winter Park, Florida (a sophomore); and John is a freshman at the College of Boca Raton.

54 Mr. Theodore T. Tansi
Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Co.
1 American Row
Hartford, CT 06103

DICK MARSHALL continued his background of engineering after graduation from Trinity by getting a B.A.E. and an M.S. in mechanical engineering from RPI, becoming an instructor in engineering at the University of Hartford and, since 1955, working at Pratt & Whitney Aircraft in East Hartford. Dick is now chief of the Combustion Department. He and his wife, Norma, and four children (ages 8 to 15 years) reside in Windsor, Connecticut.

CHARLES ESLEK is now employed by The Fidelity Bank, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, as an investment officer.

TED TANSI has been elected to the Board of Selectmen in Simsbury, Connecticut. Ted is already a member of the Economic Development Commission in Simsbury. Best of all, he has just received the "Man of the Year" award from the Trinity Club of Hartford.

ART WILSON is a member of the technical staff of Texas Instruments in Richardson, Texas.

DICK AUSTIN is chairman of the Social Studies Department and tennis coach at East

Lyme High School, East Lyme, Connecticut.

LOUIS BERRONE, professor of English at Fairfield University, has discovered a forgotten essay by James Joyce which he believes clarifies the strong effect the works of Charles Dickens had on the 20th Century Irish writer. He has been given permission by the London-based Society of Authors to include the previously unpublished essays and papers in an article for the Journal of Modern Literature.

DON KIMMICK, of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Midland Park, New Jersey, has been awarded a doctor of education degree from Columbia University. Don has been rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd for the past 18 years.

ED FITZPATRICK is presently attending a year's course of study at the Industrial College of the Armed Forces in Washington, D.C.

BOB GOLLEDGE, vicar of the Old North Church in Boston, was honored at the Northeastern University commencement exercises by receiving the degree of Doctor of Divinity. The citation accompanying the honorary doctorate stressed how Vicar Golledge's words did much to rekindle the national spirit in this Bicentennial year.

BILL LaPORTE has been appointed assistant investment officer of the Bond Department at Connecticut General Life Insurance Company, Hartford.

DICK WAINMAN of Glastonbury, Connecticut has joined Connecticut Mutual Life's securities division as a senior investment officer.

BOB WELSH is vice president of marketing, Wickes Lumber, a division of The Wickes Corporation. Bob and his wife have five children (and 10 animals) and live in Saginaw, Michigan. He is president of the Saginaw Symphony Association and active in other community programs. Bob says he plays tennis more than golf.

STEVE TUDOR wrote JOHN MASON '34 that he is on sabbatical in Wales until June 18, 1976. He writes of many interesting experiences, not the least being the meeting of some Welsh Tudors who have been most helpful. Steve is at the University of Aberystwyth, which is the oldest established college in Wales, and reports that the entire family — his wife, Ellie, and son, Mike — seem to be doing well.

NAT REED, assistant secretary of the interior, was the guest speaker at the Trinity Club of Hartford's annual dinner in October.

56 Mr. Edward A. Montgomery, Jr.
16 Stanhope Gardens
London, S.W. 7, England

JIM BULLITT is vice president of the Fidelity Bank, commercial loans, in Delaware County, Pennsylvania. Jim, his wife, and four children live in a 1910 house in Media, Pennsylvania and he spends his spare time fixing it up. Jim's avocation — avid pilot.

Since completing his residency training in radiology at the University of California, San Francisco, JERRY DODDS has spent the past six years on the teaching faculty of The Medical College of Wisconsin, Milwaukee. He is now on a six-month sabbatical.

JOHN FOX, former faculty member at George Washington University, Washington, D.C., has been named professor of neurosurgery in the West Virginia University School of Medicine, Morgantown, West Virginia. John is the author or co-author of more than 100 publications.

ROGER MARTIN is now management information coordinator at the NGM Group in Keene, New Hampshire. Roger was active in the Trinity Club of Hartford and held the office of assistant treasurer. He and his wife, Judith, and their three children, Laurie, 16, Heather, 14 and Bradford, 12, live in Keene.

CHARLIE STICKA, who operates an insurance business in Wethersfield, was recently featured in the Hartford Courant. Charlie recalled memories of his days at Trinity where he was one of our greatest football stars.

GALEN TOWNLEY is the director of material for the Industrial Valley Bank in Philadelphia. Last July he was appointed general chairman for the $200,000 1976 IVB Bicentennial Golf Classic. Galen and his wife, Pat, have two children: Richard, 19 and a sophomore at the University of Delaware, and Debbie, 18, a freshman at Brandywine Jr. College.

GORDON WOOD writes that he is still in the insurance and real estate business in Sullivan, Illinois. Gordon was in Montego Bay, Jamaica last April attending insurance meetings and in Switzerland in May. He notes that in the June Reporter KIM SHAW stated he is head of plant location and job evaluation studies. His town has lost two major industries and Gordon says if anyone knows of any plant trying to relocate in the midwest, there are two choice commercial buildings available with a full labor force seeking new jobs. Gordon and his wife, Sandra, have three children: Gordon, Jr., 16, an Eagle Scout who attended the World Jamboree in Norway this summer, Laura, 15, and Gerald, 5.

Did writing all those papers at Trinity almost two decades ago (yes, unfortunately it's been that long) tire you all so much that you can't muster up enough energy to drop me a note informing me of your latest antics? The brevity of this issue is not to be blamed on me, but here's what news there is . . .

Lt. Col. DAVE MAC ISAAC reports that he has left the Air Force Academy in Colorado to teach in the Department of Strategy at the Naval War College in Newport, Rhode Island.

From St. Lawrence University, we hear that Dr. JOHN ROSS has been promoted to a full professor of psychology.

And last but not least, our faithful correspondent BILL MORRISON tells us that he spent most of September over in Europe teaching purchasing and sales for Westinghouse Electric. When he returns to the States, he will continue in this field, teaching night classes at Robert Morris College in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Sorry to say that that's all for this month. If you want to read more, you'll have to write more.

As usual, it's been good to hear from so many of you, but there are still many in the Class whom I've not heard from since graduation which, incidentally, will be ten years ago in a few months. How about a note from you?

PETE KOEHN spent last summer abroad, partly in Ethiopia on a research grant from the University of Montana, and partly on vacation in Greece with his wife, Effie's, family. He also writes that he's recently published an article, "Ethiopian Politics: Military Intervention and Prospects for Further Change," in the April/June, 1975 issue of Africa Today.

Still in California is ED LEWIS, who writes from his home in Greenbrae, a suburb of San Francisco, that he's selling residential and investment real estate for the Grubb and Ellis Company.

We learned last September that PAUL DIESEL was promoted from commercial bank marketing manager to corporate marketing manager by the Industrial National Bank of Rhode Island. Congratulations, Paul.

LLOYD SIGMAN reports a busy summer now completed. He graduated from the University of Michigan Law School in May, passed the North Carolina Bar Exam in July, had his first child, daughter, Ashley, in August, started work with the trial law firm of Lentz and Ball in Ashville, North Carolina, and moved to a four acre wooded tract beneath the Blue Ridge Parkway in Ashville in September. He writes that he'd "dearly love to hear from old, long lost friends," and you can write him at P.O. Box 7461, Ashville, NC 28807.

Finally, I received a note in October from DON BAKER. In addition to letting us know of the new family addition (see BIRTHS), he reports that he's still director of the counseling center at Rochester Institute of Technology.

For a change it has been a good time for news with a number of cards and letters coming in. One in particular I would like to start with. It came from Marie Raws, wife of AL RAW'S. She wrote that her husband "had written before, but has never seen in the Reporter what he has expressed in his letters." So, if I may quote Marie: "1) Al is now working as an associate actuary with Continental American, Wilmington, Delaware; 2) we have a new son, Sean Justis, April 28, 1975; and 3) we would like to know of others in Pennsylvania."

On the last item, Marie, I'm glad to oblige. With a card full of news from ROD WOOD, here's the latest on the doings of some of our classmates from Pennsylvania. Rod and his wife, Windy Naylor (Mt. Holyoke '66), recently celebrated the first birthday of their son, Roderick Ian. Devoting most of his time to their farm in Red Hill, Rod is still associated with A. W. Benkert & Company in Quakertown, where his brother, HARRY WOOD, also works. Their son's godfather, BILL BRADBURY, is an attorney with Wright, Spencer, Manning and Sagendorph in Philadelphia.

Rod also reported that TOM AUXTER was published in Modern Age and that he recently saw JOE BRAND who is doing research at the Monell Chemical Senses Center in Philadelphia. Finally, Rod asked if DAN HAZEN works for All West Breeders. Did you mean DAN HADEN, Rod? Or who are you talking about?

Although not in Pennsylvania, Marie, a number of our classmates have gravitated to your neighboring state of New York.

GEORGE WANTY is helping solve New York City's fiscal problems in his new position as assistant vice president of the First Boston Corporation. He and his new wife, Susan Auchincloss Whipple (Smith '75), are living at 300 East 74th Street in Manhattan. Out in the suburbs is BOB CRAVEN who has a research staff position with IBM in Yorktown Heights.

In upstate New York is ROBIN TASSIN-ARI who just joined the faculty of the Department of Psychiatry at Albany Medical College where his specialty is liaison psychiatry. He just finished a year as chief psychiatric resident at Albany Medical Center Hospital. Robin and his wife have two children, Kate Susannah (3) and Samuel Wilder (1).

Further north is PHIL MAYER who recently started orthopaedic surgery residency at the Strong Memorial Hospital of the University of Rochester. As one would expect, Phil joined the Rochester Bagpipe Band. He and his wife live at 396 Meadow Drive, Rochester, N.Y. 14618.

Still more doctors: BRUCE WHITE is working full-time as an emergency room physician and lives in Provincetown, Massachusetts. RICH RATZAN is doing his last year of internal medicine residency at Jewish Hospital in St. Louis. His wife, Susan, is a second year fellow in pediatric endocrinology at St. Louis Children's Hospital. Their son, David, is now one year old.

Last spring, CULLEY CARSON was named Outstanding Tactical Air Command Flight Surgeon of the Year at England AFB in Louisiana. Culley and his wife, Mary Jo, are now living at 118 13th Avenue, N.W., Rochester, Minn. 55901, where Culley has begun a fellowship at the Mayo Clinic.

Even though, to quote DON BISHOP, it has not been another "jeune month as far as class news is concerned," I'd still like to report that Don was designated chairman of the Middle East and African History Department at the United States Air Force Academy. In addition, Don was recently visited by ROGER DOWNS '68 who brought several news clippings from local Connecticut papers which featured DAN CRUSON. It appears that Dan has been giving lectures to civic groups in connection with the Bicentennial about his study of colonial Connecticut graveyards, tombstones and the demographic history they yield. Sounds fascinating.

MIKE McLEAN wrote to say he was recovering nicely from his back operation and that he was now in Naval School in Newport, Rhode Island. His address there is Class 2/75 Department Head Course; SWOSCOLCOM; Newport, Rhode Island 02840. Nearby in Boston is GIL CAMPBELL who was recently promoted to the position of senior investment analyst in the securities division of New England Life. In his new position he is responsible for managing a $250 million portfolio of privately negotiated debt securities. Gil writes that he and his wife, Marriett, are entering their fifth year of marriage and are enjoying their son Craig (nearly 2) and their activities in the Mormon Church.

Living in the Washington, D.C. area is BOB RATCLIFFE who, after graduating from Boston University School of Law and passing the Maryland Bar, took a position as an attorney with the Federal Communications Commission.

BILL ROTH wrote to say that he and his family moved to Rochester (another Rochester), Indiana, where he accepted a new position as director of aquatics with the Rochester Community School Corporation. His new address is RR#6, Rochester, Indiana 46975.

Down in Raleigh, North Carolina is MIKE SARGENT. Mike has his CPA and works as a cost accountant with Aerotron, Inc. He and his wife Joyce and their three children, Andy (7), Deanna (7) and Tammy (4), live at 6108 Malibu Drive, Raleigh, North Carolina 27603.

Finally, CAL WICK has returned to his native Ohio to serve as rector of St. Michaels in the Hills Episcopal Church of Ottawa Hills, a suburb of Toledo. Cal should certainly be ready for his new position after having received a Master's Degree in Management from MIT where, as the first Protestant clergyman to receive an Alfred P. Sloan fellowship to study advanced management, he wrote his thesis on managing a local church. Furthermore, prior to attaining his new position, Cal served as assistant to the rector of Christ Church Christiana Hundred in Greenville, Delaware.

Thanks for all your cards and letters. Keep them coming in.

PETER ALSOP had a record album released the 1st of October and it is available from Peaceable Records, Box 77038, Los Angeles, California 90007. He was on tour through Wisconsin and Minnesota in October and the Boston area in November.

After completing his internship at Vanderbilt University Hospital in Nashville, Tennessee, GEORGE BARROWS is now in his third year of residency in pathology at the University of Louisville (Kentucky). He has presented papers to the James Ewing Society and the American Society of Pediatric Surgeons. George and his wife, Jane, have a daughter Kate, age 2, and a new addition this year (see Births).

RAY MADORIN is practicing law with Gary A. Friedle in New Britain, Connecticut. He has just purchased a new home at 7 Wyndwood Road in West Hartford, Connecticut.

FRANK MOORE has left Wall Street for a more satisfying (and less lucrative) career. He is now assistant director of development and director of public relations for the Loomis-Chaffee School in Windsor, Connecticut. He will also be a dormitory master and hopes to teach history at some point. He and his wife, Carol, have bought a house in Nantucket, Massachusetts for vacations.

After serving in the Air Force for five years, PETER NEFF and his wife, Dayna, are living in St. Louis where he is employed as a pilot with Ozark Airlines. Ozark is a scheduled Midwestern regional carrier with service from New York to Denver, and Dallas to Minneapolis and 60 cities in between. Dayna teaches science in the Hazelwood school district. They are both interested in outdoor sports, camping, hiking, and have recently started to learn how to play bridge.

Proud new parents (see BIRTHS) Laurel and SANDY ROSENBERG have moved to Lakenheath, England, compliments of the United States Air Force. Their new address is Box 2401, APO New York 09179.

JOHN STAPLES, a third year law student at Pepperdine University School of Law, Anaheim, California, wrote he expects to take the California Bar Exam next July. John is a captain in the U.S.M.C. reserves, flying AH-1 Cobra helicopters.

After teaching at a progressive high school in the San Francisco Bay area (which he says he loved), JIM SWANSON has accepted a teaching position at a Ramakrishna Mission Ashrama School in India as well as being accepted by the Gandhian Institute of Studies in Varanasi. He says any Trinity folk traveling through the sub-continent can contact him through his parents in care of D. H. Swanson, 104 S. Columbia Avenue, Columbus, Ohio 43209.

DON BASCH has been appointed an instructor in economics at Dartmouth College, Hanover, New Hampshire.

PETER KAUFMAN received his Ph.D. from the University of Chicago in August and is now assistant professor at Northland College, Ashland, Wisconsin, in philosophy, religion, and environmental studies.

paedic residency at the Hospital for Special Surgery, New York City, last July. He writes that GREG MEARS has begun his hematology fellowship at Columbia Presbyterian Hospital.

JIM JAKIELO has been appointed assistant actuary in the life, health and financial services department at The Travelers Insurance Companies, Hartford.

PETER KELLER is an actuary with Coopers & Lybrand in Chicago, Illinois. He has just purchased a new home at Highland Park, Illinois.

PETER MAXSON received his M.A. in architectural history from the University of Virginia last May. He hopes to work in some aspect of historic preservation but says he will be in Dallas, Texas until Christmas.

JOHN MORRIS is a third year medical student at the University of Kentucky and says he would welcome seeing any Trinity alumni if they came through the Lexington area.

MICHAEL PECK has joined the law firm of Sudarsky and Sudarsky, Hartford.

FRED PRELLE has been appointed assistant manager of the Hartford agency office of Connecticut General Life Insurance Company.

JIM TYLER says with an eight-month-old daughter, Maura Catherine, fixing up an old city house, and the rigorous pace of the first year of law practice, Rainie and he have been busy, but come see us at 2007 N. Franklin Street, Wilmington, Delaware.

JEFF WILKINSON, who lives in Vermont, is writing a novel which he says is a philosophical mystery with enough sex and violence to keep them interested along the way.

ROD MacDONALD has returned to the U.S. after six years in Malaysia. Rod spent the first three years in the Peace Corps, then became a contract teacher with the Malaysian government. He is currently head of the mathematics department in a secondary school. Rod and his wife have two children, Vanessa, 4, and Natasha, 1.

YOUR SECRETARY recently joined Seagrams as manager of cash operations. Elsie and I have a new addition to the family — Katharine — born on April 1st.

for anyone coming to the Bicentennial.

A glorious welcome to the Alumni Association, '75ers. The fond memories of Trinity College, the Quad, and Saturday nights spent in government documents may seem to glimmer a bit in the distance, but really it wasn't that long ago that we received those diplomas, which no one could read. The Reporter columns offer us a good opportunity to keep track of each other, and see what everybody's doing these days. Just about anything sent along will be included in the next issue. So drop me a line (above address), and share with the rest of our class the many insights you have gathered as a Trinity College alumnus.

Just a few scattered notes — hopefully this will be much expanded next time. Two upcoming and one past marriage to report. SCOTT HAYIM and Melanie Aitken have announced their engagement, and plan to be married in Connecticut next June. Presently Scott is attending Georgetown Law Center in Washington, D.C. and is enjoying the work. Recently STEWART HOEG and KATHY WALSH announced their plans for a May wedding in San Antonio, Texas. Kathy and Enzo are now enrolled at Columbia Business School in New York City, and can be found in the International House. While kept busy by the work, Enzo writes that they still find time to take in some of the local attractions.

LOREN RITTER graduated from Tufts last January and wrote that she was marrying Scott Kantor, a medical student from New York. By now congratulations should be in order. Loren's plans were to attend graduate school in hospital administration this fall.

HOWARD GOLDSTEIN is studying computer science at the University of Connecticut in Storrs this year. TONY CANGELOSI is in the graduate English program 'neath the elms, while JEFF CLARK is employed by the New Jersey Department of Social Services as a case worker. Jeff says that he finds the work rewarding and invites anyone in the Ocean County, New Jersey area to stop in.

HENRY BRUCE is presently working for the Aetna Insurance Company in Boston, Massachusetts, as a college sales representative.

ROBIN LANDY, our class agent, recently notified us of our class's modest goal for the Alumni Fund, and you might want to consider a contribution. Incidentally, Washingtonians will recognize Robin's address in the letter as the Watergate.

JOHN HOLLOWAY started medical school this September at the University of West Virginia, while JOHN HAMPSON entered the University of Pennsylvania Veterinary School. No word on what Trinity world holder JOE CALABRO is doing; how about it?

Quite a number of '75ers entered law school in September, a veritable battalion of latter day Petrocellis. ALAN GLUCK and BILL YELENAK should be at Case Western Reserve University, while JAMES CUMINALE is at Vanderbilt. JIM GOMES and RALPH STONE are attending Harvard Law, FRED CLARK, the University of Connecticut, and JACK DUNHAM, New York University. BILL LEVY is enrolled at Dickinson Law School and says he's enjoying the work.

Five members of our class are attending law school in Washington, D.C. KIP IMLAY is studying at American University, CAMILLA McRORY is at Catholic, and NANCY BRODIE is working away at George Washington University. SCOTT HAYIM, supra, and myself can be found at Georgetown Law, where we are most assuredly studying assiduously. We're sharing an apartment with another law student, and if you're ever remotely in the area, feel free to drop in.

Send along any news you might want to share, and have an enjoyable holiday season.

CHARLA THOMPSON expects to get her graduate degree in clinical microbiology at Hahnemann Medical College in 1976.

DAVE SCHIRMER is a sales representative for Westvaco Corporation, Chicago, Illinois.

STERLING REESE completed around the world nine month travel through Hawaii, Japan, Far East, Thailand, Nepal, India. He spent six months in Hawaii studying computer systems and Japanese business management. He also spent three months in Japan studying Japanese transportation management with the Shibusawa Warehouse Company, LTD. Sterling is now in New York City where he operates his own transport company, Oasis Trucking, Inc.

MIKE LEDERBERG is on his second year of law school at the University of Miami. This past summer he spent clerking for a lawyer in St. Thomas, Virgin Islands.

NATALIE KORSHENIUK, associate editor of Connecticut Architect, has accepted an appointment as director of public relations with the Hartford Architecture Conservancy.

Word from LUCINDA KITTREDGE is that she is living in Watertown, Massachusetts and enjoying the advantages of the Boston area. She teaches emotionally disturbed children at Metropolitan State Hospital in Waltham and this past summer took courses at Lesley College graduate school. Most importantly, she reports being in love with a wealthy Scandinavian sea captain who practices medicine in the off season.

After two years of pre-med courses and part-time jobs, SANDRA COHEN has started at New York Medical College.

BOB BUTTERS is now in his second year of law school at Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tennessee.

GINNY BUTERA received her Masters in History of Art at Johns Hopkins University last May and now works in a print gallery in Baltimore, Maryland.

YOUR SECRETARY has entered the University of Denver Law School and with the Rockies in my backyard expect to go hiking, skiing, bicycling, climbing, etc.

As a Trinity undergraduate he was president of the Newman Club and a member of the Engineering Club. His fraternity was Sigma Nu. In 1949 he received his master's degree from Trinity.

For many years Mr. Luby taught at the Sedgwick School in West Hartford. He served in the National Guard for over 20 years, retiring last year. In 1963 Lt. Col. Luby was awarded the Air Force Commendation Medal for distinguished service as liaison with the Strategic Air Command during the Cuban missile crisis.

HENRY DU BOIS BAILEY MOORE, HON. 1948

Henry D. B. B. Moore, generous benefactor to the College's library, died October 14 in North Canaan, Connecticut. He had lived for over 50 years in Norfolk, Connecticut, and had designed that town's seal.

Born June 18, 1876 in New York City, he prepared for college at Westminster School then located in Dobbs Ferry, New York. After graduating from Harvard College in 1900, Mr. Moore worked for the contracting firm of Wendel & MacDuffie in Havana, Cuba, and also in New York City. In 1904 he joined Western Electric Company and for some years was stationed in Shanghai, China.

Mr. Moore moved to Norfolk after World War I and retired from business. He then began his collection of maps and books of the Far East, and after World War II began donating the collection to Trinity. The collection provides the College with unusual and exceptional resources.

In 1948 the College conferred upon him the honorary degree of Master of Arts.

JOHN RAY DUNNING, HON. 1958

Dr. John R. Dunning, a leader in the development of isolating uranium 235 during World War II, died August 25 at Key Biscayne, Florida. He is survived by his wife, the former Miss Esther Blevins; a son, John R., Jr.; and a daughter, Mrs. Edward Coyle.

Born September 24, 1907 in Shelby, Nebraska, he received his bachelor's degree from Nebraska Wesleyan University and his doctorate from Columbia University. Joining Columbia's faculty in 1935 he was promoted to professor of physics in 1946, and dean of the faculty of engineering in 1950.

Dr. Dunning performed some of the first neutron experiments in the country in 1932, and seven years later, demonstrated uranium fission — the release of nuclear energy from the split atom. He was closely identified with the "Manhattan District" project. He was present at the atom bomb detonations off Bikini atoll in July 1946.

Dr. Dunning was the author of many scientific articles and books on energy and radiation. He was a Fellow of the American Physical Society and a member of Sigma Xi and the National Academy of Sciences.

In 1958 the College awarded him the honorary degree of Doctor of Science, and he delivered the Commencement address entitled "The World — 1990."

MRS. ELEANOR O'BRIEN BURKE

Mrs. Eleanor O'Brien Burke, who was secretary to the director of athletics from 1951 to 1970, was drowned with her husband and their five-year-old son on October 19. The tragedy occurred on Sunset Lake near Marlboro, Vermont, where the family was on a camping vacation.

FLIPPERS might have proven more efficient than cleats as Trinity halfback John Wholley (42) moved from huddle to puddle in the Bantams October 18 victory over Colby.

FOOTBALL

It was a good year, but a disappointing one for the varsity football team as the gridders crested the .500 mark with two games remaining in the season and then dropped both of those contests in close battles with Amherst (20-17) and Wesleyan (14-11) to finish the season with a 4-3-1 mark.

Trinity took to the road for its opener against Williams seeking to avenge its only loss of the previous fall. The Ephmen outgained the Bantams in total yardage 388-139 but an alert Trinity defense, led by linebacker George Niland, forced Williams to turn the ball over in critical situations and the game ended in a 3-3 deadlock. Bantam kicking specialist Mike Maus had an outstanding afternoon as he not only provided Trinity with its only points of the day but also punted the Bants out of trouble 10 times, averaging 46.8 yards per kick.

The Bantams journeyed to Maine the following weekend where they exhibited some offensive as well as defensive prowess in defeating Bates 24-17. Trinity jumped to an early 14-0 first quarter lead behind the power running of fullback Pat Heffernan but Bates came back to knot the score at 14 apiece at the half. The Bantam defense once again provided the spark for victory as sophomore Karl Herbst pounced on a fumbled kickoff in the Bates endzone for the go-ahead score.

Returning to Hartford, Trinity met its first defeat of the year against R.P.I. This time Trinity turnovers proved costly as the Engineers converted two Bantam fumbles into touchdowns. A comeback effort by Trinity fell short as the final gun sounded with the score 13-9 in favor of R.P.I.

Trinity sloshed its way to a 17-0 shutout over Colby on a field whose surface bore a strong resemblance to that of Trowbridge Pool. Junior Mike Leverone, starting at middle guard for the injured Vic Novak, recovered four fumbles to lead the Bantam defense which held the Mules to a total of 14 yards rushing. Juniors Tony Ciccagliano and Tony Trivella came off the bench to score the two Trinity TDs with a six yard run and a 24 yard interception return respectively.

The varsity managed to stay on the winning track, squeaking by Middlebury (21-20) in one of the most exciting gridiron battles ever to take place on

TRINITY SPORTS

Jessee Field. With Middlebury ahead 20-7 at the beginning of the fourth quarter, co-captain George Rose completed eight of nine aerials, including a 40 yard touchdown pass to halfback John Wholley, to lead the team to a stunning 20-20 comeback. Mike Maus boomed the ball through the uprights and the defensive unit held the Panthers as Trinity clung to the one point edge.

Against Coast Guard, Maus set a Trinity single-game record by kicking three field goals to lead the Bantams to a 16-3 decision over the Cadets at New London. George Rose continued his heroics of the Middlebury game as he completed a 32 yard desperation pass to fullback Mike Brennan after being chased 20 yards toward his own end zone by two Cadet defensive linemen. The completion set by Trinity's only touchdown of the day as John Wholley plunged over from one yard out four plays later.

Trinity entered its sixty-first contest against Amherst seeking to extend its winning streak to four games. It was to be a frustrating day for the Bantams however as the Lord Jeffs scored a touchdown with 2:57 remaining in the fourth quarter enroute to a 20-17 upset. Although Trinity dominated most of the afternoon with the running of fullback Pat Heffernan who turned in his best effort of the year, gaining 146 yards on the ground.

On Reunion-Homecoming weekend, Trinity fell to Wesleyan 14-11 despite the efforts of junior split end Tom Lines, who snared six passes for 109 yards, and the defensive secondary led by co-captain Steve Thoren. Mike Maus kicked his eighth field goal of the year to break the Trinity season record of seven which he set in 1974 and finished the year with a 42.8 yard punting average to better both the Trinity and New England records in that category.

SOCCER

It was the end of a frustrating season for the varsity booters as they wound up on the short end of a 3-0 contest with Wesleyan to finish the season with only three victories in twelve outings.

The Bantams got off to a sluggish start as they dropped their first two games to Bowdoin 6-0, and Williams 2-0, tied M.I.T. 1-1, and lost to Babson 5-1. Trinity managed to rebound with an impressive 5-1 victory over Conn. College, followed by a 2-2 tie with Tufts only to be edged four days later in a tight 5-4 battle against a strong (10-1) Bently squad.

The team got back on the winning track as sophomore forward Greg Madding tallied twice enroute to Trinity's 5-0 rout of crosstown rival U. Hartford. Success was shortlived, however, as the Bant's sustained a heartbreaking 3-2 loss at the hands of Union in a game which Trinity dominated in every statistical category except the score.

Two of the Bantams' final three games were decided in overtime periods. Trinity defeated the Cadets of Coast Guard 2-1 but was unable to contain the Lord Jeffs of Amherst who tallied in the second overtime period for a 3-2 margin over the Bantams.

WOMEN'S TENNIS

The women's tennis team turned in the most successful effort of any Trinity varsity this fall, dropping only one of its regular season matches to a strong Smith squad to finish the '75 campaign with eight victories and one loss.

In post-season competition, the Lady Bantams swept the Connecticut State Intercollegiate Women's Tennis Tournament. Freshman Muffy Rogers handily defeated UConn's Margie Skrivan to win the singles final in straight sets, (6-1, 6-1). Sophomores Barb Fischer and Vivi Dunklee wrapped up a close doubles final, outlasting UConn's Christe Redmont and Adele Ozanne, (7-5, 7-6).

Trinity emerged from the New England Tennis Tournament ranked fifth. Top seeded Barb Fischer and Vivi Dunklee, shooting for their second consecutive New England doubles championship made it to the finals before they were upset by the second seeded pair from Yale (6-3, 6-3) which defeated the Bantam duo of Leslie Hyde and Sue Levin in the third round.

FIELD HOCKEY

The fortunes of the varsity field hockey team fluctuated with each game as the Bantams alternated between victory and defeat throughout the entire fall emerging with a final record of 4-6.

Led by high scoring co-captains Olivia Brown and Tina Poole, Trinity posted victories over Conn. College (4-3), Wesleyan (2-0), Miss Porter's (3-1) and Briarcliff (6-0) while succumbing to Brown (2-1), Wellesley (3-1), Smith (4-1), Williams (5-2), Mount Holyoke (3-0) and Yale (5-0).

The junior varsity finished the season with a solid 5-1-2 mark, their only defeat being sustained at the hands of Williams in a close 2-0 battle. Freshman Beth Bonbright turned in an outstanding performance for the J.V.s with nine season tallies, four of them in the Baby Bantams 5-0 rout of Brown.

In the September issue of the Reporter, it was noted that Mike Maus '76 holds the Trinity record for the longest successful field goal attempt (48 yds.). The record is actually held by Hank Phippen '32 who drop kicked a 50 yard field goal against the Connecticut "Aggies" in 1930. Our thanks to Clark Phippen '60 for bringing this to our attention.

ICE HOCKEY

After posting a 9-8 record in its first varsity season, Trinity's ice hockey team begins its second campaign on an optimistic note as ten returning regulars will be joined by several promising freshmen.

The defense will be led by co-captains Jim Lenahan and Nick Brady, the only seniors on the squad. Ted Almy and Peter Lawson-Johnson are the leading freshmen candidates, and will be joined by junior Duffy Shea and sophomore Bill Dodge. The team is strong in the goal as juniors Tim Ghriskey and Ted Judson will be pushed by freshman Ted Walkowicz for the starting job.

An experienced group of young forwards is back, headed by sophomore center Tom Lenahan who was last year's co-leader in scoring with 39 points. Juniors Alan Plough and Sandy Weedon along with sophomores Sam Gray, Henry Finkenstaedt, Chip LaLone, and David Peters give the Bantams a solid nucleus up front. The offense will be bolstered by freshmen Clint Brown, Tom Keenan and George Brickley.

The Bantams, who look to be a young and hustling aggregation, will again be practicing and playing at the Glastonbury Skating Arena.

The varsity hockey team will play an exhibition game against the alumni on Saturday, February 21, 1976 at 8 p.m. at the Glastonbury Skating Arena. The alumni sextet will be coached by President Lockwood.

MUFFY ROGERS '79 is the 1975 Connecticut State Intercollegiate Women's Single Tennis Champion.
