

TRINITY REPORTER

VOLUME 6, NUMBER 3

TRINITY COLLEGE, HARTFORD, CONNECTICUT

IANUARY/FEBRUARY 1976

Board Elects Two Trustees

Two new Trustees were elected at a recent regular meeting of the Board. Morrison H. Beach, president and chief executive officer of The Travelers Insurance Companies, Hartford, Conn. was elected a Charter Trustee and will serve until retirement. Robert M. Blum, partner with the New York City law firm of Silberfeld, Danziger & Bangser, was named a Term Trustee and will serve for a period of eight years.

Beach, a native of Winsted, Conn., now living in West Hartford, has been associated with Travelers since 1939. He was elected president in 1971 and chief executive officer in 1973. A graduate of Williams College, Beach has also studied at MIT and in 1954 received the LL.B. degree from the University of Connecticut.

He holds directorships on several Hartford-area boards including Broadcast Plaza, Inc., Hartford National Corporation, Hartford National Bank and Trust Co., Arrow-Hart, Inc., and Veeder Industries.

Beach is also active in the Greater Hartford Community Council, the American Red Cross and the Health Planning Council and is a Fellow of the Society of Actuaries. He is a member of the Connecticut Bar Association and the American Academy of Actuaries.

Robert M. Blum graduated from Trinity in 1950 and from Columbia Law School in 1953. He is a member of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York.

Long active in Trinity College alumni affairs, Blum has been vice president of the New York Alumni Association and is currently chairman of the national "Campaign for Trinity In 1964 and 1968 Blum was a member of the U.S. Olympic Fencing Teams. He has served as legislative assistant to New York City Mayor John V. Lindsay and later as counsel to the Mayor. He has been special counsel the Mayor. He has been special counsel to the New York State Assembly Judiciary Committee and executive assistant to the Council President of the City of New York.

Values." He resides in New York City.

Blum is a member of the board of directors of the Association for Mentally Ill Children, and the French Polyclinic Hospital and Medical Center.

Blum

Beach

Hendel's Book Nudges Spock's

The publication in January 1976 of the eighth edition of Hendel and Bishop's Basic Issues of American Democracy, edited by Samuel Hendel, professor of political science at Trinity, is a publishing event of the first order.

This textbook, with its reasoned analyses of opposing or variant positions on the fundamental values, conflicts and persistent issues of American democracy and politics, broke new ground with its initial publication in 1948 when it was co-edited by Hillman M. Bishop, who had been Hendel's teacher at The City College of New York. Indicative of the book's popularity and wide appeal is the statement of the political science editor of Prentice-Hall who as early as March 1971 wrote Hendel, "You may be staggered at the realization that since the book's initial publication in March 1948 it has sold approximately 338,000 copies. You're getting right up there along with Dr. Spock and the Bible."

Included in the hundreds of institutions which adopted Basic Issues are Columbia, Berkeley, Oberlin, Yale, Vanderbilt, U.C.L.A., University of Massachusetts, Wisconsin, William and Mary and, even before Hendel arrived on the scene, Trinity.

Hendel

Professor Hendel is also the author of Charles Evans Hughes and the Supreme Court and of a number of scholarly articles. He has taught in the graduate faculties of the City University of New York, Columbia University and at the Claremont Graduate School. During the Fall term he taught a course at the University of Connecticut Law School in the first professorial exchange arrangement between the two institutions.

Distinguished scholars have commented very favorably on the book. Sidney Hook, for example, wrote that it was "far and away the best in its field." J. Roland Pennock calls it "one of the very best collections of readings on American government."

Faced with these encomiums, Dr. Hendel will only go so far as to say that "I guess it was the first book of its kind to deal in an issue-oriented fashion with the affairs and theory of government."

The new edition of the book deals with such recent controversies as the balancing of power after Watergate, compensatory or preferential treatment in employment and education, the fundamental premises and goals of American foreign policy including détente, and how pluralistic and successful America really is.

Coming to Trinity in 1969 as visiting professor, Hendel was appointed chairman of the political science department the following year and served in that capacity until mid-1973. He has long been active in the American Civil Liberties Union and currently is vice chairman. He practiced law in New York City for ten years before receiving his doctorate from Columbia in 1948, the year Basic Issues was published.

New Look Seen for IDP Program

During January it was announced in the press that Dr. Alan Marvin Fink has been appointed director and Mrs. Louise H. Fisher, assistant director of Trinity's Individualized Degree Program. It was also announced that tuition charges for the program have been reduced to two-thirds that of regular tuition costs.

IDP is Trinity's innovative approach to the concept of continuing education. In this unusual program, designed for non-resident as well as resident students, participants are not required to attend classes. Nor are they locked into a four-year track. Depending on their individual circumstances, students may complete the degree program in fewer than four or as many as seven or eight years. Students may register at any time and graduate whenever they have satisfactorily completed examinations and projects in a prescribed number of study units. All work is supervised by faculty advisors in the student's major and minors.

"This program," President Lock-wood observed, "represents Trinity's unique approach to the need for continuing education. Its flexibility and its rigor distinguish the IDP from other programs; its experimental nature has already made an impact here and abroad."

Currently there are some 35 students enrolled in the program begun in 1973 and the first IDP graduation will take place sometime next spring, probably (Continued on page 2)

Lockwood Named Chairman of A.A.C.

President Lockwood has been elected Chairman of the Association of American Colleges. The AAC is the major spokesman for private and public colleges and universities of the liberal arts and sciences, dealing with substantive issues in higher education. There are about 800 member institutions in the United States and Canada.

In addition to expanding the programs of AAC, Lockwood will lead negotiations for the establishment of a new educational organization, the National Association of Independent Colleges and Universities. NAICU will act as the lobbying group in Washington for private higher education.

Lockwood has been a director of the Association of American Colleges since 1973. His election as chairman took place at the annual meeting of the association in Philadelphia February 8-10. Dr. Paul F. Sharp, president of the University of Oklahoma, was elected vice-chairman.

Oxnam: The Sino-Whirling Dervish

What does a Trinity associate professor of history do on sabbatical? If he is Robert B. Oxnam he takes a year-long busman's holiday. For Oxnam, an authority on modern Chinese history, this means serving as director of the prestigious China Council of the Asia Society during a year when that seemingly inscrutable country leaped into the headlines.

It meant writing articles for multimillion circulation newspapers such as the New York Daily News and being interviewed by executive producer Ron Bonn of the CBS News Walter Cronkite Show on the significance of the death of Chinese premier Chou En-Lai.

Prior to President Ford's trip to China late last year, Oxnam directed the China Council's massive effort to educate the media on the country's political structure, the background of its leaders, and the history of the Chinese communist movement and of Sino-American relations.

Beginning last summer, the Council prepared a comprehensive press briefing packet for the media people covering President Ford's China trip. Some 300 copies were distributed to the newspapers, wire services, news magazines and the radio and TV networks. The packet proved so effective that the New York State Board of Education then published 2,000 copies for use by colleges, secondary schools and public affairs organizations.

During the fall, as the time for the visit grew closer, the pace picked up. In late October, Oxnam and his associates provided separate background sessions for producers and commentators at NBC and CBS. In early November, Oxnam was in Washington to provide briefings for key figures in the Washington press corps, five in all. Then, back to New York where four days later the Oxnam group briefed reporters in the morning and followed up with a luncheon briefing for editors and television commentators.

Meanwhile, Oxnam was directing a series of background studies in which, Oxnam says, "We are particularly concerned about exploring the valueladen questions that arise out of Chinese history and contemporary affairs, and bringing a humanistic focus to the policy issues confronting Americans as they consider Sino-American relations and our future role in the world." Name of the first pilot study: "Sino-American Relations in Historical and Global Perspective."

He has also scheduled for February three regional conferences in Boston, Chicago and Seattle, plus a national conference in March in Racine, Wisconsin, which will bring together China experts and authors and a select group of journalists, businessmen, educators, and public affairs leaders from each community.

The way for all of this was paved last summer when, seeking guidance for China Council planning, Dr. Oxnam visited 21 cities for meetings with hundreds of teachers, public affairs leaders, editors and journalists.

Oxnam was not quite sedentary at Trinity either, where he teaches both Chinese and Japanese history with special fields of interest in seventeenth and twentieth-century China.

Oxnam

After graduating from Williams in 1964 and earning his doctorate from Yale in 1969, Oxnam joined Trinity in the fall of that year. In 1972 came the book "History and Simulation: the Ch'ing Game," followed by biographies on Ch'ing China in "The Encyclopedia of World Biography." In 1975 he published "Ruling From Horseback," a book concerning politics in seventeenth-century China. In the works now is a biography of the Shun-Chih who ruled China from 1644 to 1661.

Oxnam also found time during this period to serve as special assistant to President Lockwood and as director of the Individualized Degree Program and, hardly pausing for breath, to participate in activities of the Association for Asian Studies and the Committee on U.S./China Relations, as well as the Modern China Seminar at Harvard.

What is Oxnam's appraisal of the current U.S./China relationship? Here's what he told some 2.8 million readers of the New York Sunday Daily News: "It appears that Americans will have to wait at least until 1977, after the presidential campaign is over, for new steps toward normalization. And when these steps are taken, our diplomats will be negotiating with the new cast of Chinese leaders. It is unclear whether those leaders will share Premier Chou's deep interest in the U.S. connection. In fact, we know that some of the emerging Chinese leadership, particularly the ideologues and military figures, remain skeptical about close ties with the U.S. which they see as a 'capitalistic and imperialistic' power.

'The overall effect of Chou's death is to cast these clouds of uncertainty over Chinese and world affairs. For the Chinese, although they can perpetuate many of his institutions and policies, will find it difficult to recapture Chou's administrative and diplomatic acumen. For Americans, it means that we shall have to be patient with the current plateau in U.S./China relations, hoping that those relations do not deteriorate in the meantime. And when the time comes for considering normalization once again, we shall have to act with considerable decisiveness without the benefit of Premier Chou on the other side of the conference table."

From page 1

in June. (Another student had been expected to graduate but her recent marriage has slowed her academic progress.)

Ages of the IDP participants range from 20 to 53 years; more than half are over 30. About half reside in the greater Hartford area and, with the exception of one student who hails from West Virginia, the remainder commute from about 20 nearby Connecticut towns.

Seventeen different occupations are listed by the students. Not surprisingly, the largest single category is housewife but others include a seaman, political aide, reporter, chrome plater and insurance programmer.

In view of the program's considerable flexibility and appeal for those who are employed but have the capacity to benefit from a "self-paced," individually tailored program, Dr. Fink and Mrs. Fisher are drawing up plans to promote the IDP concept more widely.

Dr. Fink is assistant professor of psychology at Trinity. He attended Bowdoin College and received a Ph.D. from the Institute of Child Development at the University of Minnesota in 1972. Before coming to Trinity, Dr. Fink was an instructor at the University of Minnesota and did clinical work in Minneapolis area hospitals and clinics.

He is the co-author of articles appearing in the Journal of Experimental Psychology and Educational and Psychological Measurement.

Mrs. Fisher, who returned to Trinity after marriage and raising a family, received a B.A. in 1973. In earlier years she had studied at Smith and Hartford College for Women. Since 1973 she has been serving as assistant to the director of admissions for the IDP program, responsible primarily for admissions, counselling and recruitment. Active in civic affairs in Granby, Mrs. Fisher is co-founder of Hartford College's Adult Student Association.

Fink

Fisher

John Taylor Appointed Financial Aid Director

John Taylor has been named director of financial aid at Trinity College. He will administer all scholarships, student loans and college work-study and campus job programs.

In addition, Taylor will coordinate Federal and State, private and endowed scholarships and loan programs.

Taylor, a Hartford native, graduated in 1970 cum laude from Amherst College and received his MA from the University of Massachusetts in 1972. At Amherst he was awarded the Gernung Writing Prize and the Amherst Fellowship.

A former teaching assistant at the University of Massachusetts, Taylor has served as director of financial aid at Hampshire College since 1971.

RAY JOHNSON '76, points out detail of student sculpture to Ellen Burchenal, '78, at the opening of the annual student art show in the Austin Arts Center.

Trinity Joins In Unique Neuroscience Program

Five members of the Trinity faculty have joined with Hartford's Institute of Living and the University of Hartford to offer an innovative graduate program in neurosciences. So far as is known, it is the only Masters program offered at this level with a core curriculum of neuroanatomy, neurophysiology, neuropharmacology and advanced psychology.

The program would not have been possible without the cooperation of all three institutions. Highly specialized facilities shared by the group include space for animal surgery, human sleep studies, a light-tight room, a radiofrequency room for specialized physiological recordings, and computer hard and software.

A few schools, Amherst for example, offer undergraduate programs in the neurosciences but, until the advent of this program last fall, a Masters level program was not available.

Teaching in the program from Trinity are Dr. David Winer, associate professor of psychology (physiological aspects of motivation); Dr. Joseph D. Bronzino, associate professor of engineering (electrical aspects of biological signals); Dr. Alan M. Fink, assistant professor of psychology (neurological aspects of child clinical psychology); Dr. Karl F. Haberlandt, associate professor of psychology (memory and learning); and Dr. Charles R. Miller, professor of physics (applications of physics in neuroscience).

Together with members of the University of Hartford's departments of biology and psychology and the Laboratories for Experimental Psychophysiology at the Institute of Living, the Trinity faculty is providing a much-needed multidisciplinary approach to an important area in experimental psychology, neurobiolo-gy and psychobiology.

TRINITY REPORTER

January/February, 1976 Vol. 6 No. 3

Issued seven times a year in September, October, November/December, January/February, March/April, May and Published by the Office of Public Information, Trinity College, Hartford, Conn. 06106. Second class postage paid at Hartford, Connecticut.

THE REPORTER is mailed to alumni, parents, faculty, staff and friends of Trinity. Copies are available to students. There is no charge.

Letters for publication must be no longer than 200 words and signed. The printing of any letter is at the discretion of the Editor and may be edited for brevity, not substance.

Editor, L. Barton Wilson '37; Assistant Editor, Milli Silvestri; Sports Information, Paul J. Loether '75; Photographer, David R. Lowe; Director of Alumni Relations, Gerald J. Hansen, Jr. '51.

COORDINATORS for the neuroscience program are (from left) Robert Wallace, Univ. of Hartford, Charles Stroebel, Institute of Living and David Winer, Trinity.

CAMPUS NOTES

Associate professor of English STEPHEN MINOT'S textbook "Three Genres" has completed its first decade in print. Published by Prentice-Hall Inc., the work is intended for use in creative writing classes. The first edition appeared in 1965; the second was released in 1971 and is now in its seventh printing. During the 1974-75 academic year, the text was adopted by 121 colleges and six schools. Over the past three years it has been used in 219 institutions with a geographical distribution of 45 states and two Latin American countries.

Minot

Lee

Dr. RICHARD T. LEE, professor of philosophy, and THOMAS A. CHAMP, instructor in history and intercultural studies, presented papers at a series of community seminars at the College on the theme "Issues in the Desegregation of Public Schools: A Study of the Hartford Situation." Dr. Lee's paper was entitled "Moral Argument and Educational Inequalities" and "The Problem is Equal Champ's, Education: A Recent Look at Hartford." The seminars were made possible by a grant from the Connecticut Humanities Council. IVAN A. BACK-ER, director of community affairs at Trinity, was a member of the planning committee.

On January 15 and 16, Dr. HARVEY S. PICKER, associate professor of physics, visited Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory and presented a seminar at the invitation of the Theoretical Division of the Laboratory. His talk, titled "The Proton-Proton Reaction Reexamined: A Nuclear Loophole in Calculations of the Solar Neutrino Flux?," reported work done at Trinity over the past two years on the fundamental astrophysical problem of determining the rate of the nuclear reaction which initiates thermonuclear fusion in stars. Dr. Picker has also reported his preliminary findings to joint physics-astronomy seminars at the University of Rochester and at the University of Massachusetts, Amherst, this past Fall.

* * * * * *

Dr. ANDREA BIANCHINI, assistant professor of modern languages, participated in a seminar on Spanish Renaissance Poetics at the Modern Languages Association Convention in San Francisco. She will read a paper at the Northeast Modern Languages Association Convention in April in Burlington, Vermont, entitled "Herrera and Prete Jacopin." An article entitled "The Anotaciones of Fernando de Herrera: A New Look at his Sources and the Significance of his Poetics" will be published in a forthcoming issue of Romanische Forschungen of Cologne.

Dr. Milla Riggio, assistant professor of English, has been appointed acting chairman of the department for the Trinity term, while Dr. Paul Smith, chairman, is on sabbatical.

* * * * * *

Dr. Riggio, a specialist in medieval literature and linguistics, came to Trinity in 1973. She received a B.A. from Southern Methodist University in 1962, and an A.M. and Ph.D. from Harvard in 1966 and 1972 respectively. She has also done graduate work at the University of Sydney, Australia.

Dr. Riggio came to Trinity from Wheaton College where she was an assistant professor for two years. She has also taught at Southern Methodist University, at the University of Sydney, Australia as a lecturer-tutor, and at Harvard as a teaching fellow and lecturer.

She is a member of the Medieval Association of America and has written a series of published reviews of American books for the Australian Bulletin.

Dr. RALPH O. MOYER, JR., associate professor of chemistry, published "Synthesis and Structure of Magnesium Oxide or Calcium Oxide: An Integrated Inorganic-Physical Experiment" in the September 1975 issue of the Journal of Chemical Education. Dr. Moyer and Dr. ROBERT LINDSAY, professor of physics, published "Ternary Hydrides of Calcium with Silver" in the December 1975 issue of Inorganic Chemistry.

Recently elected officers of The Connecticut Psychological Association include Dr. GEORGE C. HIGGINS, college counselor and professor of psychology, secretary; and Dr. RAN-DOLPH M. LEE, associate college counselor and associate professor of psychology, treasurer. The CPA is the state affiliate of the American Psychological Association and members come from clinical practices as well as from consulting, research, teaching and industrial positions.

Higgins

Kappel

PHILIP KAPPEL, internationally known artist and printmaker, was the subject of a major article in a recent issue of American Art Review. Kappel was awarded an honorary Doctor of Fine Arts degree in 1966 "in recognition not only of his contribution to American Printmaking, but because of his service to museums and schools in an effort to cultivate the artistic interest and ability of younger men and women."

JUDITH ROHRER, instructor in fine arts, was represented in the December issue of Arts Magazine with an article on the modern Catalan painter Antoni Tapies, entitled "A Theme for Reflection: The Recent Work of Antoni Tapies." Also in January, a volume on Antonio Gaudi, Catalan architect, written by Cesar Martinell entitled "Gaudi: His Life, His Theory, His Work" and translated from the Spanish by Miss Rohrer will be available. The book is published by the MIT press. Miss Rohrer is a specialist in the art and architecture of Catalonia and Barcelona.

Dr. FRANK G. KIRKPATRICK, associate professor of religion, is giving a series of lectures on the theme "The Conscience of Democracy: A Dilemma for Religious America" during the next several months. The lectures which are sponsored by the Canton Conference of Churches are a bicentennial event and will be given at the Canton (Connecticut) High School.

Kirkpatrick

Bronzino

Dr. JOSEPH D. BRONZINO, associate professor of engineering, coauthored a paper which won second prize in a national award program sponsored by the Association for the Advancement of Medical Instrumentation. Titled "Application of a Minicomputer-Based System in Measuring Intraocular Fluid Dynamics," the paper describes work performed by Dr. Bronzino and others in measuring capillary blood flow in the anterior segment of the eye. Dr. Bronzino also co-authored a chapter "Experimental Studies of Sleep in Animals" to appear in Volume 3 of "Methods of Psychology," to be published later this year by Academic Press.

Breeches Bible? Gun Wad Bible?

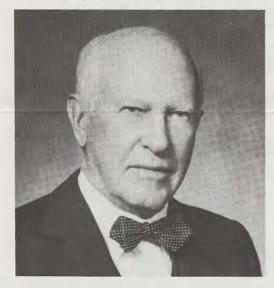

A valuable collection of eight Bibles and early medical books has been donated to the Trinity College Library.

Among the books donated is a Geneva or "Breeches" Bible, published in 1560 by English exiles in Geneva, Switzerland. In this Bible, Adam and Eve wore breeches instead of the original fig leaves. This was the first English Bible to adopt Roman type and to divide the chapters into verses. Also donated was the first American Bible to be printed with American type, of which only 195 copies are known to be extant. The unbound sheets were

Ferris Endows Economics Chair

George M. Ferris, founder and chairman of the board of Ferris and Company, Inc., an investment brokerage firm in Washington, D.C., has established an endowed professorial chair in Corporation Finance and Investments.

The gift is the fourth major contribution which Mr. Ferris has made to Trinity. In 1957 he funded a named lectureship which is now being converted to the full professorial chair. In the 1960's he contributed funds toward the College's $2.4 million athletic center, which also bears his name. In addition, he established a scholarship program at the College for students from the Washington area.

Ferris

The Ferris Professorship is Trinity's 17th named professorship, and the second to be established in the College's Department of Economics.

In announcing the new professorial chair, President Lockwood said: "There is no more compelling way for Trinity to retain and attract great teachers than through the establishment of endowed professorial chairs. This latest gift will have a profound influence on generations of future students, and greatly benefit the quality of our academic program."

Mr. Ferris is a former president of the Washington Stock Exchange and a member of the New York Stock Exchange, and a director of several companies.

He received the Eigenbrodt Trophy, highest award of the Alumni Association, in 1964.

He was elected an alumnus trustee of Trinity College in 1955, and became a charter trustee in 1958. He retired from the board in May, 1973, after 18 years' service, and was named a trustee emeritus. In 1975, he received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree from the College.

alleged to be used by the British soldiers as wadding for their muskets. This Bible acquired the name "The Gun Wad Bible."

The books are a gift of Mrs. Ruth Bopp of Terre Haute, Indiana from the library of her late husband, Dr. Henry W. Bopp. Mrs. Bopp is the sister of the Right Reverend J. Warren Hutchens, Episcopal Bishop of Connecticut.

Among the other Bibles donated are a Latin Bible published in 1483, a 1611 King James Version, the 1781 Aiken Bible (the first bible to be printed in English in the United States, by Robert Aiken, a Scottish emigrant), and three editions of the Sauer Bible (first American Bible in a modern European language).

Among the medical works donated is a copy of William Harvey's Exercitato de motu cordis et sanguinis in animalibus of 1648. This has been considered by some the most important book in the history of medicine. A copy of Andreas Vesalius's De humani Corporis fabrica libri septem was also given, bound in a fine contemporary stamped pigskin binding, dated 1574.

A book by Rene Laennec, inventor of the stethoscope, is also in the Bopp collection. Publication of De l'auscultation mediate in 1819 revolutionized the study of diseases of the thoracic organs.

The books in Mrs. Bopp's gift may be seen in the Watkinson Library.

Upward Bound Student Wins Award

Lydia Chandler, a Trinity College Upward Bound student, has been awarded one of a limited number of national scholarships for the Presidential Classroom for Young Americans program. Miss Chandler is in her senior year at Hartford Public High School. The Presidential Classroom is an opportunity for high school students to explore the complexities of modern government during an eight-day stay in Washington, D.C. Miss Chandler was in Washington from Jan. 31 to Feb. 7.

Miss Chandler has spent three years in the Upward Bound program of Trinity College, directed by William Guzman. Upward Bound seeks to equip students with competent skills for college education in both the academic and social areas.

Chandler Guzman

TWO RARE BIBLES SHOWN ABOVE are part of a valuable collection recently given to the Library. The bible at top was the first to be printed with American type and only 195 are still in existence. British regulars used the unbound sheets as wadding for musket shot, hence the name "The Gun Wad Bible." The smaller bible was printed in Switzerland in 1560 by British exiles who felt that Adam and Eve's traditional fig leaves were inadequate. They unilaterally recycled the fig leaves and the couple appeared wearing breeches (see below).

Then theeyes of them bothe were op ned, & they sknewe that they were naked, and they sewed figure leaves together, and made them selves? breeches.

FATEFUL LINES that turned Eve into the first seamstress are shown above. "Then the eyes of them bothe were opened, & they knewe that they were naked, and they sewed fig tre leaves together, and made themselves breeches." The collection also includes the first bible printed in English in the U.S.

Pulitzer Winner Visits Campus

Pulitzer-prize winning poet Maxine Kumin spent a week at Trinity College, February 9 to February 13, giving poetry readings, holding a workshop, visiting classrooms, and talking to students.

Ms. Kumin read from her poetry on Monday, in the Life Science Center Auditorium. On Tuesday, she spent the evening at a poetry class after dinner and coffee at the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

A workshop was held on the following afternoon. Ms. Kumin read works by student poets and offered criticism.

She gave a talk entitled "Suffering in Translation," a discussion of some of the pitfalls inherent in translation, on Thursday evening, and read some translations from two French women poets and a Belgian male poet.

A native of Philadelphia, Maxine Kumin received B.A. and M.A. degrees from Radcliffe College. In 1960 she was awarded the Lowell Mason Palmer Award by the Poetry Society of America; in 1968 the William Marion Reedy Award, by the Poetry Society; in 1972 Poetry Magazine's Annual Eunice Tietjens Memorial Prize and in 1973 the Pulitzer Prize for Poetry for "Up Country."

Kumin

Both Major Fund Campaigns Galloping Down Homestretch

Trinity got off to a good start in 1976 with both of its major fund-raising programs — the Annual Giving Campaign and the Campaign for Trinity Values — past the half-way point.

Annual Giving, which provides expendable funds for currently budgeted College programs, reached $250,815 between the start of the campaign in October and the close of business December 31. This represents 50.2 percent of the $500,000 Annual Giving goal which must be raised before June 30, the end of the fiscal year.

The Campaign for Trinity Values, the campaign to raise $12 million in new funds for endowment and library expansion purposes, reached $6.8 million by the end of 1975 and over $7 million by mid-January. This capital campaign was publicly announced a year ago, and will be conducted on a regional basis throughout the country during 1976.

Annual Giving, which includes the Alumni Fund, Parents Fund, Friends of Trinity Fund and the Business and Industry Associates, started the New Year with more donations than had been received by the same time in last year's drive. All four funds were ahead of a year ago.

The December 31 total for the Alumni Fund was $156,717, or 51 percent of the $310,000 Alumni Fund goal. More than 2,000 alumni have contributed. This compares with gifts totaling $124,131 from 1,300 contributors a year ago.

The Parents Fund reached 50 percent of its goal by December 31, with gifts and pledges totaling $50,378 from 359 contributors. This year's goal is $100,000. A year ago contributions totaled $39,116 from 270 donors.

The Friends of Trinity Fund, with $18,923, is at 63 percent of its $30,000 goal. The Business and Industry Associates, with $24,797, is at 41 percent of its $60,000 goal.

One key element in the fall fund-raising program was a six-evening Alumni Fund phonothon in early December involving some 80 student and alumni volunteers. Telephoning raised a total of $38,729 in firm pledges from 853 alumni, as well as indications from many other alumni that they would contribute this year. At least one more phonothon is planned before the end of this year's Annual Giving campaign.

According to President Lockwood, "It is encouraging for Trinity to start 1976 knowing that in both our annual fund and our capital campaign, less than half of our goals remain to be raised. We have been impressed by the generous responses of our contributors, and by the enthusiasm and spirit of our campaign workers. Surely few colleges can report that Alumni Fund phonothons are so popular that volunteers have to be turned away because there aren't enough telephones to accommodate them all!

"We are grateful, especially, to those who have recognized the importance of supporting both our annual giving and our capital campaign. Annual gifts each year provide the short-range margin of qualitative difference in our current academic program. For this year, we must reach our $500,000 goal before June 30. Capital gifts, on the other hand, are used for long-range investment in Trinity's endowment, providing permanent assurance that the quality of the academic program can be sustained. The progress of the Campaign for Trinity Values so far encourages us to look forward to the successful completion of our $12 million goal within a year or so."

SARAH BARRETT '78 was a star performer among 80 student and alumni volunteers manning the lines during the fall phonothon.

Blake

James K. Blake has been appointed director of news and public relations at Trinity College.

Blake, who comes to Trinity after serving as director of public relations at Haverford College for two years, has also served as director of publications and information for the National Association of College and University Business Officers and director of communications for the American College Public Relations Association, both in Washington, D.C.

He has worked as senior marketing editor at Dun's Review Magazine, a management magazine published by Dun & Bradstreet, as economic editor for the business and finance review for Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. and as head of public relations for Marine Midland Banks, Inc.

Blake received a B.A. from Swarthmore and an M.A. from the University of Pennsylvania.

ANXIOUS FOR THE NIGHT'S TOTAL, student phonothon volunteers surround Robert Cary '78 who kept track of incoming pledges during the four-night phonothon held in Hartford. Hartford area Alumni Fund pledges were $33,657.

Trinity's English Accent

The Year Aboard at East Anglia U.

By Sue Weisselberg '76

"Would you like to buy a 'Once'? Only two pence for 16 pages of reading pleasure with thrills and chills galore."

As an exchange student at the University of East Anglia (UEA) in England last year this was my war cry when trying to sell copies of a fortnightly news magazine, "Once," that two friends and I founded and edited — a large part of my junior year abroad.

The University of East Anglia maintains a direct student exchange with Trinity. UEA is one of seven new universities established in the early 1960's on the wave of English government expenditures in higher education. Located in Norwich in the county of Norfolk, it has about 3,200 undergraduates and 370 graduate students.

I was one of six Trinity students (all '76) there for the year. Four of us — Anne Brown, Leslie Zheutlin, Cathy Eckert and myself — were there on the Trinity-UEA exchange. Trinity students Maryann Crea and Debbie Moser attended as part of the Beaver College-Franklin and Marshall College program.

"One of the most amazing things about last year was that all six of us had different friends and experiences," Anne said. "If you wanted to get anything out of it you had to make the effort. That can be good or bad, depending on your attitude. I enjoyed it."

We pursued our own interests: the swimming club, a cheap food cooperative, choir, the Christian Union, the poetry society, the women's liberation group, volunteer visits with the elderly, and university publications.

Relaxing British Style

The university was divided into schools, not departments. Students in the arts schools spent six hours a week in classes, taking two seminars per term for the three terms. Many students were able to do most of their work during the day, and therefore spent their evenings at the campus pub. Its rush hours were from 9:30 to 11 p.m., when it closed because of licensing laws. There were several campus movies and "discos" a week, or one could always go into Norwich (two miles away with frequent bus service) for a meal, a play, or a film.

It was so relaxing and comfortable, with little pressure and competitiveness for visiting students. I was able to take advantage of the English wit and dry sense of humor, and the companion attitude that a pint of beer was more important than an essay due the next day.

day.

Most of the 50 American exchange students at UEA attended classes in the School of English and American Studies. Like the other schools — Biological, Chemical, and Environmental Sciences; Computing, Development, European, and Social Studies; Fine Arts and Music; Mathematics and Physics — it was a three-year program, though there were graduate programs in each school.

The three terms ran from October to mid-December, mid-January to mid-March, and mid-April through June. Exchange students were placed primarily in second-year seminars, and the usual amount of work required was two papers and oral presentations for each class. No exams were given to second-years and visiting students.

AMERICAN STUDIES major Sue Weisselberg '76 decided to spend her junior year abroad because she wanted to look at the U.S. from a different perspective. "I could only see the trees," she says.

Courses offered covered English and American history and literature, some European history, some comparative literature and linguistics. My seminars were: Gladstone and 19th Century Politics, The Frontier and American Literature, The Rise and Fall of British Sea Power, The Growth of the American System of Government, British Society in the First and Second World Wars, and America Between the Wars. My grades ranged from "A" to "B-".

The only exams given in the school were to first-years (freshmen) at the end of their "prelims" (required seminars the first two terms) and finals in the middle of the third term to third-years, who were under enormous pressure to do well. The finals counted about 50% toward the degree, which was pro-rated according to grades and exam results. (Degrees were, honors: first-class, second-class-1, second-class-2, and third-class; pass and fail.)

Seminar Pros and Cons

The seminar system had a lot of potential; some faculty members really excelled in their fields, and their seminars were stimulating and rewarding. However, it was also a frustrating system. Some professors could not direct the discussions very well, so that when students made their class presentations, the result was boredom, not education. Without tests as a "check," it was tempting to skip the reading for class and just work on the papers. Since the seminar system was new, some of the more traditional faculty members were not comfortable with it, and some students were not used to class discussions.

"It could be a vicious circle. Some discussions weren't good because people didn't do much outside work. In those cases, there was no motivation to do outside work because the discussions weren't good," Anne pointed out.

Instead of just learning the "facts," most faculty members encouraged us to think for ourselves and come up with our own theories. This, in itself, was excellent, but there was not enough emphasis on research to build a solid foundation for the theories. Maryann said that this is because "British students get a much broader background in research and thinking on their own earlier than we do."

My work load did not seem as heavy as it has been at Trinity, though my work was often more thought-provoking, perhaps because I was not swamped with routine work. In any case, it was a relief to escape from the mechanics of class lectures, tests, term papers and finals for a year.

Besides working on the magazine "Once," I visited an elderly widow, Mrs. Hilda Richardson, from about 4 to 9 p.m. on Wednesdays and/or Sundays. I talked, watched television and ate meals with her, sometimes ran errands and generally just tried to rouse her from her misery. (Her legs and hip were painfully arthritic and she found it difficult to walk.)

"Once" in East Anglia

Some friends and I caroled her at Christmas time, and in March wallpapered part of her flat. As an outlet from the somewhat insular student life, the volunteer program gave me a "home away from home."

Extremely dissatisfied with the weekly student paper — poorly written, always misspelled and illegibly printed on the student printing press — two British friends and I started our own magazine. We began "Once" in the middle of the first term and ended it in the middle of the third term, to give ourselves a rest.

"Once" took up more time and energy than anything else last year, but despite all that, it was worth it. In its 12 years of existence, the university had never had anything like a fortnightly news magazine, and I'm proud that we were able to make it a success.

Of course, there were puns on the name, including, "I'll try anything once," "Once was enough," and "Not once again?"

We wrote most of it (news stories, features, occasional satires, poems), typed it, layed it out, collated it and hawked it ourselves. A student friend printed it on the student printing press next to the publications office. Our investigative stories required interviews and research, so that sometimes most of the week before publication was spent on "legwork."

Every other weekend was a "Once" weekend for us, and we'd be in the office from 10 a.m. to 1 a.m. Friday, 10 a.m. to 3 a.m.

Saturday, and 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Sunday (press day) — and then sell on Monday. The campus news agent sold some of the copies for us. We had a circulation of about 1,000 among students, faculty and administrators, and many copies were shared among friends.

The city of Norwich, with a population of 122,000, was an absolute delight. Rumor had it that there were enough pubs for every day and enough churches for every week in the year.

Norwich has a lovely cathedral; a castle that had been the city jail for centuries; a restored 17th century cobbled alley with shops and homes; other stores, including branches from London (110 miles away); a wonderful open market in the center of the city with food, flower and chips stalls and assorted paraphernalia, and an air and grace all its own.

Since the dorm we lived in (housing 750 students) had kitchens and no meal plan, it was economical and fun to buy fresh food in disco and were hungry, happy, depressed or just not sleepy.

The breaks between terms were a monthlong, and provided an excellent opportunity to travel around Europe — one that we all took advantage of. On my first vacation I went to Edinburgh, London and Amsterdam, staying with a friend in a country house near Oxford at Christmas. The second vacation was "see everything and survive on bread, cheese and youth hostels." I bought a rail pass and went to Luxembourg, Paris, Munich, Vienna, Salzburg, Venice, Florence and Athens, taking an overnight ferry across the Adriatic Sea, from Brindisi, Italy to Patras, Greece.

I went to England as an American Studies major, hoping to get a different perspective on America and to enjoy doing so. In that year I learned more about myself than I think I could have learned at Trinity — and I learned about other people, America, England, traveling, and self-sufficient independence.

"ONCE A WEEK I'd buy flowers here for my widow friend, Mrs. Richardson — daffodils, crocuses or chrysanthemums for 25 pence a bunch. The marketplace has been here for more than 900 years with the City Hall and the 15th century Guildhall (on the right, above). We would buy most of our food in the market, all fresh, even down to the dead rabbits hanging in front of the butcher stalls. Over everything wafted the scent of fresh chocolate mingled, in a peculiar fashion, with the pungent odor of the fish stalls and the chips stands. City Hall, the building with the clock tower, was opened by George VI and replaced the Guildhall as the seat of city government. The Guildhall was begun in 1407 and has been presided over by 529 successive Mayors and Lord Mayors of Norwich."

the market. This frequent shopping gave us a vital connection between the university and the city that Trinity and Hartford lack.

With the kitchens — one kitchen for every corridor, which had about 15 students, mostly in singles — we were able to mix often with the other students on the hall, sharing food and gossip. There were usually two American visiting students and 13 British students on each corridor. The kitchens were the scenes of mid-afternoon coffee breaks and late-night talks, when we returned from the pub or a

Editor's note: The University of East Anglia is the only foreign university to maintain a direct exchange with Trinity. There are five students there this year, and a total of 115 Trinity students studying in 10 foreign countries through a variety of exchange programs. Some are away for one semester, and the remainder for the year, in Great Britain, France, West Germany, Austria, Italy, Spain, Colombia, Denmark, Israel, and Mexico.

Herbert R. McIlvaine '04 Gerald J. Griffin '23 James D. Saver '26 Askel E. Gravengaard '27 Malcolm I. Glantz '29 Robert B. Farrell '35 Edward C. May, Jr. '37 John T. Merrill '38 J. Kevin Dunne '39 Harry A. McGrath, Jr. '40 Adolph Siegel '42 Sheldon H. Tolles II '44 Francis J. Carmody, Jr. '45 Robert O. Johnson '46 Leon H. Pratt '49 S. Dickson Winchell '49 Peter McNally '52 Stanley P. Lee '53 James R. Hoffman '55 Barton R. Young '56 Ira H. Grinnell '57 Clayton C. Perry, Jr. '58 Richard B. Pratt '58 Richard S. Gallagher '62 Lawrence S. Blumberg '64 Richard W. Krone '64 Randolph Kent '65 Richard M. Kirby '65

alumni listed below, please contact the Alumni Office, Trinity College, Hartford, CT 06106

Diethard Kolewe '65 Bruce W. McClenahan '65 Joel T. Thomas '65 Thomas E. Wells, IV '65 Lewis A. Morrow '66 Timothy D. Sullivan '67 George L. Fosque '68 Joseph B. Riker '68 Frederik P. Woodbridge '68 Robert L. Geary '70 Stevenson S.W. Richardson '70 E. Gopher Carlson '71 Paul Bloomsburgh '71 Ruth S. DeLisa '71 Michael C. Edwards '71 William R. Gilchrist '71 Deborah D. Iannitto '71 Bruce Maheffey '71 Garrett E. Sheehan '71 John G. Chase, II '72 Kent Khtikian '72 John W. Wachewicz '72 Susan E. Berry '73 Jeffrey P. Harris '73 Susan B. Snyder '73 William Dole MA Seymour Z. Freedman MA Virginia Hardwick MA James Hutchinson, Jr. MA

Class Notes

ENGAGEMENTS

1966 PAUL M. HOPKINS to Mary Wallhauser

1968 GEORGE V. MINUKAS to Letitia Lee

1970 DOUGLAS M. LEE to Holly Meinweiser 1972 ROBERT L. D'AGOSTINO to Pamela A. Raffone

1973 MARK PETER FINGER to Mallory Forbes Mullen LUCINDA COCHRAN KITTREDGE to Craig Deming Sullivan PETER ANTHONY DICORLETO to Margaret Amanda Lester

1975 EILEEN M. BRISTOW to Paul M. Molloy

1973-1974 MALCOLM MacCOLL '73 to DOROTHY BROWN McADOO '74

1973-1975 CHARLES MORGAN NORRIS, JR. '73 to GWEN PARRY '75 1974-1976 PAUL F. COLANGELO '74 to PETER D. COFFIN '76

WEDDINGS

1962 JOHN M. MEYER 3rd to Elizabeth Channing Rodd, November 28, 1975 JAMES HILLMAN OLIVER to Deborah

Lynn Bentley, December 27, 1975 1969 CHARLES DEAN SNOWDEN to Kathleen Barbara Kaptain, November 29, 1975 1973 JAMES FRANKLIN SOLOMON to Marjorie Cheryl Cohen, December 1975

LUCINDA COCHRAN KITTREDGE to Craig Deming Sullivan, January 3, 1976 1974 RICHARD C. BRYAN, JR. to Judy

Brown, June 28, 1975

BIRTHS

1957 Dr. and Mrs. MANNY MERSON, son, Ted Nathan, May 30, 1975

1962 Mr. and Mrs. ROBERT HARTING. daughter, Thea Eyre, October 2, 1975

1965 Mr. and Mrs. HARVEY SILVERMAN, son, Kenneth Jason, November 1, 1975. Mr. and Mrs. JOHN LEMEGA, daughter, Katharine Mary, September 13, 1975.

1966 Mr. and Mrs. ROBERT WHITE, daughter, Rebecca Hamilton, October Mr. and Mrs. ROBERT IOHNSON.

son, Daniel Allen, July 5, 1975. 1968 Mr. and Mrs. GARY KERSTEEN, daughter, Jessica, August 1975. 1970 Mr. and Mrs. DAVID GILBERT, son,

James Edward, December 5, 1975 MA 1970 Emilio and MARIA ALDERUC-

CIO, daughter, Lucinda, June 9, 1975. MA 1972 Gary and ELIZABETH WALTERS, son, Christopher John, February 22,

Mr. Erhardt G. Schmitt 41 Mill Rock Road New Haven, CT 06511

Where were you all at the Wesleyan game and the President's Reception? It was a great day and lively weekend despite that last minute field goal from Wesleyan. Well, I see we creamed them in basketball to start the

I was pleased to receive a fine letter about our Class of 1916 Memorial Scholarship from Mrs. Nancy Tripp, assistant director of financial aid. Her letter concludes as follows: "I would like to express our appreciation for the assistance offered by the Class of 1916 Memorial Scholarship. We feel that these four students are making important contributions to the College. Such needy and deserving students would be unable to enroll at Trinity without scholarship assistance." She mentioned two girls and two boys from the Classes of 1976, 1977, and 1978, all of them self-supporting with our help from the '16 scholarship. That is great and I know it makes us realize that our Scholarship is a great success. Thank you Ms. Nancy Tripp for being so thoughtful as to tell us about it for Trinity. If you want more information about "our" four new beneficiaries, write me.

Here's a line for CHARLES BAKER. Thornton Wilder, famous author and playwright and Pulitzer Prize winner, was a neighbor of mine and close friend to President Ogilby of Trinity years ago and a giver to Trinity. So what?! Well, Charles Baker published several books years ago, one of them entitled "Blood of the Lamb." I took it to Thornton Wilder for a critique and he came back with a good criticism which I duly conveyed to Baker. O.K. Charley, no charge for this plug.

The Rev. Joseph Racioppi 264 Sunnieholme Dr. Fairfield, CT 06432

DON TREE reports that he has heard from FRANK BARNWELL of Blairstown, New Jersey who says he is well and happy but Frank misses his two late classmates and fraternity brothers, AL RACK and GUY BALDWIN, who lived nearby and used to call Word has come from PAUL deMACARTE that he has moved his office to 1 Civic Center Plaza, P.O. Box 930, Hartford 06101. Paul is a chartered life underwriter for the Aetna Life Insurance Company. He lives abroad six months of the year and spends the other six months in Hartford.

FRED TANSILL, our Class Agent, has forwarded to me a lively letter from NED KENDALL raising an interesting question. He writes, "Some two or three years ago a member of a class around 1914 or 1915 told about going to Middlebury for a baseball game and how the opposing pitcher loused up all the Trinity batters by switching from right to lefthanded delivery depending on where a man was on base, whether it was a right or lefthanded batter - just switching all the time." He closed by saying he never did know who this freak was! That was Elton Cronk who graduated at Middlebury and later taught at Simsbury High and did all the coaching. Ned graduated from Simsbury High in 1916 and remembers Cronk throwing to members of the baseball team four cuts to each man, two from the right and two from the left hand. He would always drop his glove so you never knew which way it was coming to you. Fred says, "I have heard of switch batters but never a pitcher who pitched both lefthanded and righthanded." I think KEN SMITH '25 will have to let us know whether or not such pitching has ever occurred in professional baseball. I suspect it is illegal. Friends can reach Ned C. Kendall at 410 56th Street, Des Moines, Iowa 50312.

Let's have some news from others in the Class of '22.

Mr. James A. Calano 35 White Street Hartford, CT 06114

JOE POST of Fredericksburg, Virginia was one of several of you who sent me Holiday Greetings at Christmas time. Although an octogenarian, Joe is still active as a pharmacist. All told, he has been involved in science and medicine for more than 60 years. Joe has authored a 22 page booklet titled "A Talk With God", a copy of which I proudly possess. Upon reading it for the first time, I was so impressed with Joe's faith that I wondered if he had missed his calling.

STAN MILLER tells me that he has learned to cook quite well, operate his laundry machine and keep a good house since the demise of his beloved spouse. He puts me to shame no end as I can only boil eggs, toast bread and make instant coffee.

WALTER BERUBE still resides at 152 North Main Street in West Hartford, where he has been living for more than 50 years. I am happy to state that Walt enjoys good health.

Mr. N. Ross Parke 18 Van Buren Avenue West Hartford, CT 06107

We have heard that FRANCIS PRYOR and his dear wife, Marion, hope to get to our Reunion — as do BOB NEWELL and his dear Marion; "Saving up for our 50th", he says, and BILL NICOL and Georgiana hope to attend also.

We were grateful to have a Christmas card from KEN STUER, adding to his Christmas greeting these words: "Keep the Faith - I'm fine!" It was also good to hear that Ruth and HARRY WALLER, GEORGE and Adelaide JACKSON, Elizabeth and BEN WARNER, Peg and DICK FORD, JIM and Betty BURR are some who are looking forward to our 50th. Hope you are also.

It was good to have a fine Christmas word from Dodie and ADRUAN AVITABLE, Miriam and HAROLD MESSER, Ida and ELWOOD RIDER, MATTIE DANN, Peg and HERB NOBLE, Lottie and MARTIE COLET-TA, Jane and CARL FARRELL, Dorothy Sheehan and Ruth Glotzer, and HOWARD and Doris TULE.

Knew you would be happy to hear from all of these, Our Good Classmates, who join in sending their very best along to all of you. And I'm always glad to hear from you also.

Editor's Note: Ross Parke was judge of the sketches of historic sites and homes submitted by West Hartford residents to appear in the West Hartford Bicentennial calendar. Ross has also been commissioned to do a book plate for the Noah Webster Foundation of West Hartford, which will feature the Mather Chapel. The original of this particular work is in the private collection of the Mechanics Savings Bank of Hartford.

January/February 1976 Trinity Reporter Page 7

Mr. Winthrop H. Segur 34 Onlook Rd. Wethersfield, CT 06109

It was great to receive Seasons Greetings from STAN and Ginny BELL! I find myself accused of not cheering loud enough at the Amherst and Wesleyan games - if only they knew! It seems they spent six weeks in Spain last year and for 1976 are considering Italy and Scandinavia. Happy landings to both.

I was gratified that the suggestion in the November-December Reporter regarding the 1927 Library Fund resulted in greetings from Dr. JOE BASHOUR and a check paying his class dues in full to 1977 - our fiftieth. Any other classmates want to join the Knights of the Round Table?

Mr. Royden C. Berger 53 Thomson Road West Hartford, CT 06107

CHARLES RODENS retired last June as assistant clerk of the Court of Common Pleas in Hartford. He is now engaged in the practice of law and associated with Burke & Burke at 100 Constitution Plaza, Hartford.

After 35 years of federal service, JOHN DOWNEY retired from the Veterans Administration last July.

The Rev. Canon Francis R. Belden 411 Griffin Rd. So. Windsor, CT 06074

LOUIS COROSO reports that he is a new grandfather. His son, Louis, Jr. and wife, Marsha, are the parents of a boy (Louis III) born on February 2, 1975. Louis Jr. has just been separated from service as a 1st lieutenant. Second son, John, is married and has just received his M.P.A. from the University of Hartford, while third son, Brian, is now a student at the University of Hartford, working toward his M.B.A.

Dr. Robert P. Waterman 148 Forest Lane Glastonbury, CT 06033

BOB WATERMAN, who retired from Trinity last June, is spending the winter trailering in Mexico. He writes he is reuning with Mexico-based alumni — especially LEW GIFFIN in the Guadalajara area.

Julius Smith, D.M.D. 242 Trumbull St. Hartford, CT 06103

JOE FONTANA, athletics director at Southington (Connecticut) High School, received a service award from the National Foundation of State High School Associations. Joe has taught and coached at Southington for 29 years.

Mr. John A. Mason 564 West Avon Rd. Avon, CT 06001

Phyllis and I wish to thank all those who sent us Christmas cards. We were so pleased to hear from Harriet COALE and Connie McCORNICK.

This past September, June and VAHAN ANANIKIAN enjoyed a trip to Bermuda and Nassau. They recently won a GE 19" color TV in a raffle, but don't follow the Whalers.

FRED BASHOUR writes "Why does time pass by at an ever increasing rate? I fear that when we're 70 the days will pass so fast that Sunday will follow Monday. Remember Daddy Dadourian's admonition: 'It's the rate of change that counts - dx over dt, dumbkopf'.

We understand that BILL HARING is now a lay reader at St. Luke's Episcopal Church, Hilton Head, South Carolina.

The WARREN REUBERS have moved to 383 Ridgewood Road, West Hartford, Connecticut 06107

SEYMOUR SMITH's second son, Malcolm. told me that his parents had a wonderful cruise to the Far East.

DOUG GAY has sent me a movie taken "Neath the Elms" from 1931 to 1934. I gather one scene shows HANK PHIPPEN '32 as undergraduate president ringing the chapel bells before they were placed in the tower! Doug spends much time in Naples, Florida during the winter as Pine Grove, Kentucky gets a mite cool.

Mr. Albert W. Baskerville 73 Birchwood Dr. Derry, NH 03038

OLLIE (Perfect Host) JOHNSON hosted a less than overwhelming number of returning '35ers at the 40th. Present were BILL ANGUS, STEVE COFFEY, JIM COSGROVE, BILL CURTIS, GEORGE DICKERSON, FRED DUENNEBIER, CHARLIE HAASER, TOM HAGARTY, HARRY OLSON, ERIC PURDON, SIS SAMPERS, ARTHUR STOLZ, GEORGE WALKER, JOHN ZIETLOW and YOUR SECRETARY. There were also a goodly number on the distaff side including Fran, widow of CHARLIE WILDING. During the Friday buffet and the Sunday brunch, a number of long forgotten anecdotes were resurrected from the nostalgic past. Author and raconteur Eric P. gave a heart rending account of the sinking of his boat - not on the storm tossed sea but at dockside. Eric also backed his claim as "the last boy birched in Britain." Somehow Eric seems to have fared better than the Empire. Ollie read messages from or told of several other '35ers who were unable to make the 40th, including MIMI MARQUET, TERRY MOWBRAY, LU KELLAM, DENNY FARNELL and SHED McCOOK

JIM COSGROVE was the recent subject of a feature article in the Hartford Courant. Jim, who is chief of Connecticut's Public Defenders, has handled thousands of cases since he entered this field in 1951. The accompanying picture showed Jim much as he looked in '35's balmy days at Trin.

JACK AMPORT came up from his Madison, Connecticut summer home to see the Coast Guard game. Jack expects to retire from GE this February after 40 years. He mentioned having seen JACK MAHER on several We're proud to report that LU KELLAM represented Trinity at the inauguration of the new president of Virginia Commonwealth University, Richmond, Virginia.

Let's start thinking about our 45th.

Mr. Robert M. Kelly 183 Kenyon Street Hartford, CT 06105

ROWE CASTAGNO reports he has six children ranging in ages from 19 to 26. Three are college graduates and have their M.A.'s, one from Trinity, one from University of Connecticut, and one from Florida University all with honors. All six children are scattered about - one in Texas, one in Florida, one in California, one in the Honduras doing missionary work, one in New Mexico and one in Connecticut.

Mr. James M. F. Weir 27 Brook Rd. Woodbridge, CT 06525

NAZZARIO DiBATTISTA writes he has become a grandfather. He was president of the Norwich (Connecticut) Rose-Arts Festival in 1975, and has been appointed secretary-treasurer of District 23-C of the Lions International. Son Carmine is director of the Environmental Health Department in New Haven. Nazzario says he has no new home but with the new assessments that just came out he wishes he owned a barn!

Mr. Frank A. Kelly, Jr. 21 Forest Dr. Newington, CT 06111

GENE HUNGERFORD, professor of nuclear engineering at Purdue University, is an associate editor and contributing author to a nuclear energy reference book, one of three volumes of the "Engineering Compendium on Radiation Shielding", recently published by a Germany press. He brought together and condensed into one treatise a large number of papers from authors in the United States, France and Czechoslovakia as well as some of his own works. In addition he took over the editorial duties in preparing the volume for publication for the sponsors, International Atomic Energy Agency, headquartered in Vienna, Austria.

Mr. Martin D. Wood 19 Tootin Hill Rd. West Simsbury, CT 06092

HENRY ROTHAUSER reports his third grandchild was born last October. He and his wife are now the proud grandparents of three

Mr. John L. Bonee McCook, Kenyon and Bonee 50 State St.. Hartford, CT 06103

After 25 years of newspaper editing and writing, PETER PETERSON is now director of publications at Central Connecticut State College in New Britain, Connecticut. Last summer, CARL WILLIAMS took a 500 mile canoe trip down the Eastmain and Rupert Rivers to James Bay in 51/2 weeks. He says he guesses he will never get "out of the woods." Carl is co-owner and co-director of Camp Kapitachouane, a wilderness canoe camp in Quebec. He still teaches at the Salisbury School, Salisbury, Connecticut.

MIKE KELLIN, acting since his high school and college days, has turned motion picture producer. According to Mike's father, the picture will focus on prisoner rehabilitation in metropolitan New York, a subject with which Mike has been involved ever since he costarred in a prison film, "The Riot", in 1969. His father says, "And to Mike's everlasting credit, out of the 300 ex-prisoners with whom he's worked, only two ever walked away from a handshake agreement 'to go straight.'" Mike has recently been performing in the comedy, "The Ritz", at the Longacre Theater in New York, was in NBC's January 3rd showing of "Go USA" and his most recently completed motion picture, "Next Stop, Greenwich Village," is going into national release. In between the foregoing, Mike has been working in a key role in an independent film, 'God Told Me To.

SAL CARRABBA, senior obstetrician and gynecologist on the staff of St. Francis Hospital in Hartford, has been appointed to the board of trustees of the Robinson School, West Hartford.

Mr. J. William Vincent 80 Newport Avenue West Hartford, CT 06107

CHUCK HAZEN was reelected vice president and editor of the Institute of Home Office Underwriters at their annual meeting in Los Angeles. The Institute is a national organization of underwriting officers from over 450 life insurance companies in the U.S. and Canada. Chuck continues to head the reinsurance underwriting department at Connecticut General in Hartford.

LEO ROSEN has been reappointed for a second two-year term as town attorney for Bloomfield, Connecticut (a part time position). His son, Matthew, will graduate from Franklin and Marshall College this coming May, and daughter, Edith Sue, is at Hebrew University, Jerusalem for her junior year.

The Rt. Rev. E. Otis Charles 231 East First So. St. Salt Lake City, Utah 84111

BILL SINGER, who practices law in Hartford, is vice president of the Connecticut Valley Council, B'nai B'rith, and vice president of Congregation Beth Israel Men's Club. Bill has written several periodicals and columns regarding the Middle East and Israel.

Mr. Charles I. Tenney, C.L.U. Charles I. Tenney & Associates 2 Bryn Mawr Ave. Bryn Mawr, PA 19010

MARV FISHMAN has joined the Turbodyne Corporation, steam turbine division, in Wellsville, New York, as chief metallurgist. Mary says he bets he has the youngest child in the whole Class of '49 - daughter, Renee, age

BOB SERNOFFSKY, vice principal of the Lewis Fox Middle School in Hartford, earned his Ed.D at Nova University in Florida last May

BILL COUGHLIN writes that his company, Jones-Mulvihill, has merged with G. T. LaBonne and Associates, of Manchester, Connecticut, an affiliate of Insurance Management Corporation of Richmond, Virginia.

WARREN DUER's new business is the Vality French Cleaners in Gales Ferry, Connecticut and he only recently opened the Uncasville, Connecticut French Cleaners and the Groton French Cleaners.

BOB BOWDEN has been elected to the Glastonbury, Connecticut Board of Finance for a six year term.

ARNOLD TANNER has been named central materials manager for Hamilton Standard which is located in Windsor Locks,

Mr. Douglas C. Lee 628 Willow Glen Dr.

PHIL TROWBRIDGE has been promoted to senior staff in surgery at Hartford Hospital and in addition has been appointed clinical associate in surgery at the University of Connecticut Health Center in Farmington, BILL VIBERT, who is director of the Westledge School in West Simsbury, Connecticut, has been elected secretary of the Granby Board of Education, and is a member of the Board of Salmon Brook Historical Society of Granby, Connecticut.

Mr. Paul A. Mortell 508 Stratfield Rd. Fairfield, CT 06432

JOHN WALKER became self-employed in May of 1974 as an agent for several residential lighting manufacturers and covers all of New England as sales territory. He says, "Walker Enterprises thrives!"

JOHN NORTH, president of Baker & North Advertising in Hartford, has been elected to the Board of Trustees of the Hartford Easter Seal Rehabilitation Center. This is John's second term as a trustee and he will become a vice president.

JOE RHODES has a new home in Lyme, Connecticut on Hamburg Cove and is now with Rhodes Yacht Association in Old Lyme.

Mr. Theodore T. Tansi Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance 1 American Row Hartford, CT 06103

ART VON THADEN has been named chairman of Bank America Realty Services Inc., a San Francisco, California based subsidiary of this diversified bank holding

AL SMITH has been promoted to general manager of the eastern metal area of Continental Can Company Inc., Wayne, New PETER ANDERSON is still flying for Delta Air Lines and currently is captain on the Boeing 727. Since Delta's merger with Northeast Airlines, he says he has enjoyed seeing New England, including his alma mater, from the air. He has some of his sculpture in a Houston gallery as a sideline and will be taking some ski trips to Colorado this winter.

RICK MARSHALL is chief of combustion for Pratt & Whitney Aircraft, East Hartford, working on reducing gaseous emissions as well as with the U.S. government. He has four children from grammar school to high school age and says they're all interested in sports. Rick plays some golf and tennis in his spare

FRED POTTER, who is director of operations and maintenance, deputy chief of staff, engineering and services, Headquarters U.S. Air Forces in Europe, has been promoted to colonel. Another classmate in the military is Captain DON BISSONNETTE, a computer systems design engineer, U.S.A.F. Headquarters, electronic systems division, Bedford, Massachusetts. Don was recently decorated with the U.S. Air Force Commendation

MARSHALL KRONHOLM has relocated his business, Kronholm Machine Company, to 45 Noble Street, New Britain, Connecticut.

Mr. E. Wade Close, Jr. 200 Hunter's Trace Lane Atlanta, Georgia 30328

BOB CHAMBERLAIN has been appointed vice president at Connecticut General Life Insurance Company, Hartford. Bob joined Connecticut General on a part-time basis in 1952 while a Trinity student.

Mr. Edward A. Montgomery, Jr. 16 Stanhope Gardens London, S.W. 7, England

BRUCE ANDERSON is completing his sixth year as pastor to The Church of Christ, Congregational, in Norfolk, Connecticut. He and his wife, Mary Ann, have four sons: Eric, Jonathan, Robert, and Timothy (16, 15, 12 and 10). Eric is a junior at Northwestern Regional High School in Winsted, Connecticut, and Jonathan is a lower-mid at The Hotchkiss School in Lakeville, Connecticut.

KEN SWANSON says his business, Swanson Tool Mfg., Inc., Elmwood, Connecticut, has expanded and they now sell their own products throughout the U.S. via select distribution. Ken is president of the company and says they also export tools to Western European countries.

The Rev. Dr. Borden W. Painter 110 Ledgewood Rd. West Hartford, CT 06107

ARKY VAUGHAN writes that he has been transferred with MAC (Military Airlift Command) Headquarters from Senior Controller, MAC Command Post, to a position as chief, airlift operations for C-5 air refueling. Arky recently graduated from Webster College in St. Louis, Missouri with a Masters Degree in Human Relations.

Mr. Paul S. Campion 4 Red Oak Dr. Rye, New York 10580

MIKE PALMER is a research analyst at the Mansfield (Connecticut) Training School. His most recent publication has been "Clustering in Nonretarded and Retarded Subjects: Some Basic Determinants.

SANDY MARTEL has been promoted to the rank of Commander, U.S. Navy. He is presently assigned operations officer of the Naval Ocean Surveillance Information Center in Washington, D.C. but will leave for a new, as yet unknown, job in June of this year.

Mr. Robert C. Langen 2 Sachems Trail West Simsbury, CT 06092

JOSEPH ALBANO, founder and artistic director of the Albano Ballet and Performing Arts Academy in Hartford, has been appointed Commissioner on the Arts for the State of Connecticut.

DAVE GOLAS, who is an attorney practicing in Manchester, Connecticut, has two sons: David, 5, and Jon, 1.

Mr. Del A. Shilkret c/o Millbrook School Millbrook, NY 12545

VIN STEMPIEN has been promoted to vice president of the world corporate group, First National City Bank in New York City. Glen and his wife, Doreen, have two children: Robert, 41/2 and Kimberly, 18 months.

Mr. Barnett Lipkind 8 Union Ave., E-5 Norwalk, CT 06851

BOB HARTING writes from Philadelphia that he and Emilie have welcomed their first girl (see Births). Rob is currently personnel and public relations manager for Merit and Save Way gasoline, an independent petroleum marketing company operating in 11 New England and Mid-Atlantic states. Rob's wife, Emilie, is assistant professor of English at Philadelphia Community College. This past January her book, "A Literary Tour Guide to England" was published by William Morrow & Company.

GEORGE WILL continues his journalism career by joining Newsweek as a columnist beginning January 1st. George, who is considered to be on the conservative side of the political spectrum, will have a column appearing every other week.

Mr. Timothy F. Lenicheck 152 Willow Avenue Somerville, MA 02144

GEORGE VIERING has been named manager of the Tyger River heavy bearings plant of the Torrington Company at Union, South

IOHN LAMPHEAR, assistant professor of history at DePauw University, has been named a consultant for African programs by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. John has spent several years in Africa and will continue his research in African History in Kenya this coming summer.

MIKE LEINBACHS has recently been appointed executive vice president of Trimont Land Company, a subsidiary of Fibreboard Corporation, in San Francisco, California. He operates Northstar-at-Tahoe, one of the finest ski resorts in the Sierra Nevadas of California. Your SECRETARY and he hope to become

We received a note from BILL WEBER '61 that his law partner, TOM MARSHALL, has been elected chairman of the Berlin (Connecticut) Board of Education.

Mr. Beverly N. Coiner 150 Katherine Court San Antonio, TX 78209

HAINES BROWN, who is a professor at Central Connecticut State College in New Britain, Connecticut, writes that he has six young children, and his real income is less than when he first started work. Haines is secretary of the New Britain Central Labor Council (AFL-CIO) and otherwise is working to promote proletarian interests vs. the

The Rev. David J. Graybill 213 Cherokee Rd. Henderson, TN 37075

BOB HARTMAN writes he initiated the first New England prep school swimming relays at the Loomis-Chaffee School in Windsor, Connecticut, attracting schools from as far away as Hebron, Maine. At the same time, Bob inaugurated the first electronic timing system in a New England prep school, financed by an all-school swim-a-thon.

VINCENT OSWECKI has been appointed by Governor Grasso to the Board of Directors of Hartford Hospital.

PETER ROHMAN has been named manager of sales operations and appointed to the Middle East regional headquarters of Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corporation in Athens, Greece.

Dr. Randolph Lee Office of College Counseling Trinity College Hartford, CT 06106

All of you must have been very busy over the holidays, because the news to my office was sparse. I did receive an announcement that I'm very happy to pass on: BILL ROOS, who has been associated for several years with the law firm of Reynolds, Richards, LaVenture, Hadley & Davis in New York, became a member of that firm on January 1. He and Susan still live at 161 Henry Street, Brooklyn Heights, New York.

I also received a nice Christmas card from Marty and BOB BAKER. They report all is well with all four children, and Bob still commutes to New York from their home at 1513 David Terrace, Yardley, Pennsylvania

Word has been received that FORD BARRETT is now assistant chief counsel, planning, in the office of the Comptroller of the Currency, Washington, D.C.

Keep me posted.

Tom Safran 9431/2 Hilgard Avenue Los Angeles, CA 90024

All the way from the University of Warwick in England I received a letter from SCOTT MORELAND. He wrote the kind of letter I like to get: "Each time I read your column I feel a little guilty about never providing you with any 'material.' So this is to let you know that I'm still a bachelor and in my fifth year of lecturing in Economics over here. If anyone is ever in the area, I'll be glad to show them around the local pubs. My home address is The Old Surgery, Leycester Place, WARWICK."

Closer to Home Department: ALAN WEINSTEIN is stationed at Malcolm Grove USAF Medical Center, Andrews Air Force Base in Washington, D.C. where he was recently promoted to major.

Moving Out West or Good Places for Skiing or Finding the Sun Department: TOM ZARR reports that BILL FRANKLIN and his family recently visited him in Salt Lake City where Tom lives with his wife and son, Thomas M. Zarr, Jr., at 1614 Lorreen Court in Salt Lake. Tom has become a partner in the law firm of Nelson, Harding, Marchetti, Leonard & Tate. As for Bill, he is a national health service physician on the Navajo Indian Reservation in Shiprock, New Mexico.

Further east and south, PETE RESNICK has returned to Houston where he was recently named an assistant vice president of the Henry S. Miller Company, the largest full-service realtor in the Southwest. Pete is a member of the office buildings division in Houston.

Much Closer to Home Department: I got a brief letter from JESS BREWER who's now teaching and doing research at the University of British Columbia in Vancouver. He sent me a rather amusing description of a course he taught last fall — "Physics as Poetry — Current Frontiers and Dogma in Science." According to the description, some of the topics to be discussed were: 1) Is science the new religion of Western Civilization? 2) Black holes and relativity, 3) Technology as pseudosorcery, 4) Is space travel realistic? 5) Do elementary particles exist? and 6) Quantum mechanics and the impossibility of innocent bystanders. Most illuminating was the written warning: "This course may have no 'practical' value." In addition, the class description gave a brief biography of Jess which described him thusly: "Ph.D, U. of California, Berkeley 1972, was born under the sign of Capricorn in Florida, 1946. His specialty is applied meson physics; he is the author of various journal articles and letters, and coauthor of a chapter in "Muon Physics," ed. Hughes and Wu. His main 'outside' interests are creative writing, track and field and steelhead fishing." Actually, I'd like to see other schools describe their courses and professors this way.

Jess also asked me to say hi to STEVE GRIGGS if I see him again. Unfortunately, that's no longer going to be very easy to do as Steve has recently moved to New Haven where he is now coaching the Yale's tennis team. Steve is quite optimistic about Yale tennis for the next couple of years, having lost only one of the top players from last year and having picked up three strong freshmen.

Another Person in the Guilty Conscience Department: JACK CURTIS wrote: "After eight years, I figured it was about time that I send at least some message to the Trinity Reporter regarding where I am, what I am doing, etc. I am living in San Francisco at 2355 Bay Street, 94123, and practicing law with the Kelso, Hunt, Ashford & Ludwig Law Corporation, 111 Pine Street, San Francisco 94111. We specialize in employee stock ownership plan (ESOP) financing, and because the concept is so new, I find myself traveling at least 2-3 times a month to make speeches to different national groups regarding the techniques involved in implementing and properly utilizing an ESOP.

"As a coincidence, when in Dallas last month to make a speech, I ran into GIL CAMPBELL while we were both registering in the Fairmount Hotel. I frequently correspond with BILL LEGG, but he is the only class contact I have maintained from our class. If any of our classmates live in the San Francisco area or plan on visiting here, I hope they'll Now, that's two guilty persons out there , how about some more. You don't even have to write about yourself. Just send me news on our other classmates.

Finally, CHARLEY KURZ wrote that as of November 30, our class had the greatest participation in the Alumni Fund of all other graduating classes since 1934. Our goal this year is $5,000. Let's all participate this year, no matter how small the contribution, and reach our goal.

Mr. Joseph L. Reinhardt
1113 Dixon Blvd

JEROME ODLUM is practicing general dentistry in Simsbury, Connecticut with his older brother, George. He and his wife, Karen, live in a 100 year old Victorian home and he says they have both acquired a love for animals, having ownership of a dog, two cats and a horse. Jerome says he will also be trying cross country skiing this winter.

Last April 8th, DAN and Nancy GOLD-BERG welcomed their second son, Michael Andrew. Dan is still practicing law in Boston, and he writes he had a pleasant evening with RICK STULTZ '67 and his wife, Josie, on a recent trip to San Francisco. JIM NATHANSON is currently research associate in the laboratory of neuropharmacology, National Institute of Health, Washington, D.C., but plans to begin his residency in neurology at Yale this coming July.

Congratulations to PAUL WALKER on becoming a Fellow of the Society of Actuaries and on being promoted to 2nd vice president in actuary at the Covenant Life Insurance Company, Hartford. He and his wife, Rosemary, have a new daughter, Shelley Rose, born February 17, 1975.

IOE RUSSO has recently been named marketing manager (new products, venture concepts and competitive analysis) for all international food operations at Heublein in RAY MADORIN has become associated with the law offices of Gary A. Friedle in New Britain, Connecticut. Ray formerly practiced in Litchfield County, Connecticut.

STEVE LUNDEEN has been appointed an assistant professor of Physics at Harvard University.

Proud parents (see Births) Shelley and BOB FREEDMAN's new son weighed in at 8 pounds, 61/2 ounces. Bob is a second year resident in ophthalmology at Tufts New England Medical Center.

BILL CORDNER graduated from The Amos Tuck School of Business Administration last June with an M.B.A. and now works at the Arthur Andersen and Company in Hartford. His wife, Karyn, has joined the management training program at the Connecticut Bank and Trust Company and they have bought a home in Simsbury, Connecticut.

Peter N. Campbell 1936 Johnson Ferry Road, N.E. #202C Atlanta, GA 30319

After five years as a patrolman in Hartford, JOHN CHAPIN has turned in his badge. John says he was disillusioned with the criminal justice system — in particular with its failure to deal with repeat offenders. John has no specific future plans other than to continue with his business interests, one of which is owner of the Millrace Bookstore in Farmington, Connecticut.

DAN REILERT lives in a 1798 farm house in 'fashionable" Simsbury, Connecticut. He is still playing music for a living (barely he says) and this January opened his own recording studio, Berkshire Music/Aardvark Enterprises in Simsbury.

MIKE JIMENEZ is working/teaching at Harvard University. He is being offered more and more administrative work, but is trying to stay in teaching.

BOB BRANDT just graduated from the school of architecture, University of Virginia.

LEONARD SCHNEIDER plans to return to graduate school to finish another degree in psychology/counseling. He hopes to leave New Jersey and move South.

MARC ATKINSON once again will manage a magazine for Standard Brands in New BOB HARRITY and ALEX BELIDA wrote from Switzerland — breaking their longstanding policy of silence — that last September 10th they climbed the Matterhorn, via Hornli Ridge, in near winter conditions. Following this news, they resumed silence.

PETER WILES teaches in a prep school (Renbrook School) in West Hartford.

JOHN BONEE, who chaired the 5th Reunion, writes: "Great fun was had by all at the Medieval Pork Feast held at the Hartford Club in honor of our class's 5th reunion. Those from our class who attended the festivities were: GERRY BARTLETT, myself, RICH BELAS, JOHN CHAPIN, ROD DE ARMENT, DAVID DERSHAW, BOB DUN-CAN, JOHN FLAHERTY, HOWARD JAMES, MIKE JIMENEZ, SCOTT LENNOX, IRADJ MEHRMANESH, RUSTY MOODY, ANDY SHAW, STEVE SMITH, STEVE TREMONT, JERRY WEBBER and DICK WYLAND. Regretfully, BOB FRANKS could not attend due to a bad case of the flu, nor could DIX LEESON and ERNEST MATTEI due to a bad case of babysitting. Honored guests from other classes included: ROY DUDLEY '71, DOUG EVARTS '71, ALAN MARCHISOTTO '71, RICHARD MC CRENSKY '72, MEGAN O'NEILL '73 and JOHN TYLER '73. As we gourmandized on the delightful feast, we were well entertained by the dulcet tunes of DR. WILLIAM BOWIE '64's Renaissance quartet which included, in addition to Dr. Bowie, Ms. Joyce Ericson '77, Mr. Stanley Ackart '76 and Mr. Walter Lawin '76. The quartet played their cornetto and soprano, alto and bass recorders extremely

Many apologies to Andy Shaw's wife, Liz, who, upon viewing the smiling face of the Medieval roast, replete with twinkle in its olive eyes and shine on the red apple in its mouth, had to make a hasty exit from the dining room. Otherwise, the affair was greatly enjoyed by everyone, and I tremendously enjoyed the opportunity to converse with so many people whom I have not seen for five years. It was a truly rewarding experience to be in such a friendly and warm

Given the make-up of the group, and I leave it to your good memory to determine which parties are most likely to be among this list, I was assaulted by some very lively political discussions. In fact, I was assailed from the right and from the left to such an extent at the football game, that I fortunately had little time to see Trinity go down in defeat. These hotly contested discussions were continued in a far more lively fashion at the feast due to the influence of meade which was, as promised, in copious supply.

Many thanks must go to WINTHROP BISSELL who was kind enough to receive for our class the 1916 Alumni Fund Trophy which honored us for our high percentage of class alumni fund contributions. This trophy represented a really good effort on our class's part, and we can all be really proud to see that our class did so well.

I sincerely regret that our entire class could not make the reunion. But the mere experience of encountering those who were present brought back so many wonderful memories of those four short years which ended five years ago, that it really enabled me to feel close to everyone in our class not present, whom I miss so much.

Finally, your SECRETARY has finished his Masters in Actuarial Science (M.A.S.) and begun work for Tillinghast and Company, consultants and actuaries in Atlanta.

Mr. Jeffrey Kupperman 1629 Jena St. New Orleans, Louisiana 70125

KRISTIN ANDERSON received her Master of Arts in Greek and Latin from the University of Vermont in May of last year.

Lt. ROCCO MAFFEI, U.S.A.F., graduated from the University of Maine Law School last May also. He was married to Susan Farrell of Florida and admitted to the Maine Bar Association in September but must postpone his association with the latter until he completes his commitment to the air force. He reported for active duty in November to Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio as a captain in the JAG Corps.

Last May, MICHAEL SEIFERT added another service station to his M and M Texaco Stations company with the opening of his brother Ross' station at 24 High Street in East Hartford - now there are three. Mike received his private pilot's license in November and uses 1114-65 Pleasant Valley Road in South Windsor, Connecticut as his home base.

ANDREW FISHER and his wife are enjoying their second year of teaching at the Ethel Walker School in Simsbury, Con-

CHRIS SIEGRIST VERTEFEUILLE and her husband both passed the Connecticut Bar Exam last year and are presently associated with the New Haven law firm of Brenner, Susman, and Duffy.

BOB FOSS spent time this January training in Little Rock, Arkansas before returning to his semi-permanent location at Pope AFB, North Carolina. He writes that he may be going to Germany in April for a few months before assignment this summer to either Japan or the Philippines.

HAMILTON CLARK now a director of admissions at the Pomfret School in Connecticut, recently visited New Orleans on school business and donated to this Reporter the first ever guest literary contribution to appear in this article. Hopefully, the readers of these class notes will keep Ham's ball rolling by sending in their own masterpieces for publication. All journalism, no matter how mundane, will be accepted and, where space permits, printed. Ham's Trin '72 Boston chapter follows:

DUNBAR LIVINGSTON, in his third year at the Boston Architectural Center, works for an architect, plays on the Union Boat Club squash team, and manages to have a part-time job as well as captaining a 50 foot yacht around Boston Harbor. This past September he invited the Boston contingent of the Class of '72 to go for a Sunday cruise. In attendance were JIM GRAMERMAN, in his first year at Suffolk Law School and keeping busy in his many free hours as a waiter at the Hapenny Pub, Cambridge; GENE STAMELL in a Master of Education program at Tufts and also a waiter at the Pub; PETER BLUM, finishing up his business at Harvard Business School; JEFF KUPPERMAN up from Louisiana for a 10 week clerkship with a Boston hospital in order to better follow the Red Sox pennant drive (Jeff also spent time with Tom Yawkey in an effort to convince the Sox brass to relocate in New Orleans and make the Dome their home); NORM BARDEEN is an associate of ROB LAWRENCE in a Boston area construction firm; DUFF LINGARD who makes his home in Pomfret, Connecticut with this reporter and is employed as a loan officer for CBT in Hartford; and PHIL "Numbers" NELSON who was in town to check on arrangements for next summer when he expects to be transferred to Beantown by Willie McGee, Inc., a New York-based marine insurance firm.

The alumni cruise weathered not only rain on that Sunday afternoon, but also a shortage of wind and beer - two basic necessities for any sail. Nonetheless, everyone managed to have a grand time remembering the good ole days at Trin while listening to the Red Sox win another one. Notable absentees in Boston Harbor were AL WINROW who teaches reading while involved in a Master's degree program at Boston State; WILLIE SCHAEF-FER who has given up trying to earn a buck in the art world and is now looking for a bank job in Boston; DOUG SNYDER and MIKE ZIMMERMAN also at Harvard Business School; WILL WHETZEL who had taken a publishing course at Radcliffe and is seeking work in New York; and DAVE ROBINSON, JOHN KOEHLER, COMPTON MADDOX, and other Outerspace members who make their home in Wendell, Massachusetts and just missed the boat.

Another bit of news from your SECRE-TARY — JOE MESSLER represented Trinity at the inauguration of the new president of Middlebury College in Vermont. Also I've been elected to membership in Alpha Omega Alpha (AOA), national honor society at the Tulane University School of Medicine.

Mr. Lawrence M. Garber c/o BSF, Box 428 Bassaterre, St. Kitts, WEST

NANCY OOSTEROM and ORLANDO BAKER were married in 1974 and now live at the Loomis-Chaffee School in Windsor, Connecticut. Nancy teaches a history course entitled Social Roles of Men and Women and Orlando teaches math and coaches several

RIC RICCI is the new sports information director at Connecticut College in New London, Connecticut. In addition, Ric is a rowing coach and teaches a course in physical

A nice note has been received from the parents of JUEGGEN KOERBER telling us that he now lives in Germany and is learning a trade. Jueggen was born in Germany and his parents pass along the word that he is anticipating the state of matrimony.

HERB SYMMES received his M.A. from Teachers College of Columbia University, New York, last May. He is currently teaching three courses in psychology at the Manchester (Connecticut) Community College, and is co-advisor to the Psychology Club.

ALAN ZIMMERLE has been promoted to supervisor, corporate accounts payable, Converse Rubber Company, Wilmington, Massachusetts, manufacturers of basketball and tennis shoes and other athletic, recreational and leisure footwear. Alan is editor of the internal newsletter of Converse's Wilmington headquarters.

Gary Morgans 5406 Richenbacher Ave. Alexandria, Va. 22304

BOB ANDRIAN is teaching/coaching at the Loomis-Chaffee School in Windsor, Connecticut and says things are going just fine. He just completed a successful year with the soccer team.

After graduation, CHRIS MOONEY traveled to Scandinavia, Russia, Poland and all Europe. He worked five months in London in the shipping and forwarding business, and returned to the U.S.A. last October when he entered the family trucking business in Boston and Hartford with his brother CHAD MOONEY '74. He says law/business school still possible.

DAMIEN DAVIS is living in Boston and taking courses in civil engineering at the Wentworth Institute.

MASTERS

1939 Attorney FRANK DULLY, chairman of the Hartford County grievance committee, has been reelected chairman of the combined grievance committees of the State of Connecticut.

1947 ARTHUR SEBELIUS and his wife, Edith, have just returned from a 6-month trip to Australia, where they toured 18,000 miles in two camping safaris of the outback - Far North O'ld. and visited Darwin which was devastated Christmas of 1974 by cyclone Tracy. They crossed by freighter.

1954 ELIZABETH HEITE retired from teaching in June of 1974 and has done considerable traveling since. She started off with a visit West to meet her new granddaughter. This fall she spent 51/2 weeks seeing Iceland, Luxemburg, Paris, Istanbul, Athens, Greek Islands and Dubrovnik. Then on to Germany for a family visit. Highlights were riding up the remains of a volcanic crater, by mule to the town of Santorini, the parade of the great horses in a parade opening Oktoberfest, swimming in a naturally heated pool in Reykjavik, an afternoon boat trip up the Bosphorus to within sight of the Black Sea, and a German nephew's fourth birthday.

1955 DAVE BREWER is in his second year as special assignment pro scout for the Kansas City Scouts Hockey Club of the National Hockey League. Working out of Hartford, he covers the New York Rangers, New York Islanders, and Boston Bruins home games primarily, with periodic trips to Philadelphia, Washington, Buffalo, Toronto and Detroit and other N.H.L. cities when LARY McGOVERN had open heart surgery at Hartford Hospital last May and still teaches English as a second language to Spanish speaking Americans at the Richard J. Kinsella Community School in Hartford.

1956 RANKINE HINMAN is senior master and director of studies at Westminster School in Simsbury, Connecticut. He has just retired as chairman of the board of the Council for Religion in Independent Schools but continues as a member of the executive committee.

1957 GEORGE MURRAY has been elected to a three-year term trusteeship of Wilbraham and Monson Academy in Massachusetts. He has also been appointed to the advisory council of City Rivers project of Windham Regional Planning Agency, Willimantic, Connecticut, George says historic preservationarchitectural history is his interest.

VIC HARRIS writes that as of last October 4th he became a grandfather for the fifth time with the birth of Rachel Sarah Aviva Pressman (parents Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pressman of Lexington, Massachusetts). He says he and his wife audited a course at Trinity last semester and enjoyed it very much.

1960 EVERETT DOWE is teaching physics in a brand new physics lab at Windsor (Connecticut) High School. He was recently elected deputy mayor of the Town of Windsor.

1963 GEORGE VANNAH received his Ph.D. in history at the University of Massachusetts in 1973 and is currently teaching history at Hopkins Grammar-Day Prospect Hill Schools in New Haven, Connecticut. He is currently enrolled in the University of Connecticut, School of 1967 HAROLD COLVOCARESSES is presently assistant professor of Romance Languages at Manchester (Connecticut) Community College. He has completed requirements for his Ph.D. and will get his degree this year.

1968 MIKE RONDON, who has been in the insurance industry since 1954 and has always wanted to set up his own shop, has opened his general insurance agency, Preferred Risks Insurance Management, in Bristol, Connecticut.

1968 BARBARA MOONEY says she is lazy with only one child at home but is collecting material for a possible biography of first women architects. Husband Robert is vice chairman of the Allied Van Lines and is Harvard Alumni Director, traveling widely in the U.S. and Europe. Oldest son, CHAD '74, is in the family business, Mooney Moving, Boston; only daughter, Francia, is designing wards for autistic children at the Pratt Institute and in New York City; son, Cameron, is studying Mandarin and account, while son Anson is in the 9th grade.

1971 JEFF MARSTED has been promoted to vice president in the trust investment department of Hartford National Bank and Trust Company.

1972 CHARLES JOHNSON has been appointed vice president and dean of studies at St. Thomas Seminary in Bloomfield, Connecticut.

1974 BILL PROVOST and his wife, Cathi, are resident directors for an ABC home (A Better Chance) in Simsbury. ABC is a program which brings economically deprived students with academic promise to public and private schools where these students can fulfill their educational goals. Bill and Cathi both teach at Simsbury (Connecticut) High School. JOHN DROPICK has been appointed assistant prosecutor for the Statewide Organized Crime Investigative Task Force. John is a member of the A.B.A., the Connecticut Bar Association, the Hartford City Bar Association and has been admitted to practice in the Federal District Court and the Federal Court of Appeals. John and his wife, Dorothy, have two children and live in Simsbury, Connecticut.

1972 RALPH ARCARI has a new job as assistant director for public services at the Lyman Maynard Stowe Library, University of Connecticut Health Center in Farmington, Connecticut.

1973 JANE MILLSPAUCH has been promoted to assistant professor of Physical Education at Trinity and has bought a new home in Unionville, Connecticut.

1974 KIRT SYNDER, who teaches English at the William Hall High School in West Hartford, had a poem published in "Poet Lore" last summer and another will be published this spring in Anthology of New American Poets. He contributed poetry at a writers' conference at Middlebury College this past summer

1975 TERESA VINAGRE received a Diploma of Hispanic Studies from the University of Zaragoza during her last summer's studies in Jaca, Huesca, Spain.

IN MEMORY

WELLES EASTMAN, 1909

Welles Eastman, member of a pioneer Minneapolis family, died November 4 in Wayzata, Minnesota. Until his retirement he had been in the real-estate, mortgage insurance and property-management business.

Born February 13, 1887 in St. Paul, Minnesota, he prepared for college at St. Paul Academy, St. Paul, Minnesota, and entered Trinity in 1906 with the Class of 1909. He was on the Tripod staff and a member of the Junior and Senior Prom Committees. His fraternity was Alpha Delta Phi.

Mr. Eastman graduated from Harvard University in 1910, and returned to Minneapolis to enter the insurance and real-estate business. His paternal grandfather, John W. Eastman, in 1854 built the first flour mill in St. Anthony, the village that preceded Minneapolis. Mr. Eastman's maternal grandfather, Henry T. Welles, Trinity 1843, was elected the first mayor of St. Anthony in 1855.

Mr. Eastman's wife, Katherine W. Benner, died in 1972. Their three children, Mrs. Henry S. Kingman, Jr., Welles B. Eastman and Winthrop A. Eastman, survive.

JAMES JEREMIAH O'CONNOR, 1914

James J. O'Connor, retired probate judge of East Hartford from 1948 to 1960, died January 1 in that town. He leaves a daughter, Mrs. Mary Elise Carroll, and a son, Myles W. O'Connor, James D. O'Connor, 1951, and Robert J. Hale, 1943, are his nephews. His wife, the former Loretta C. Williams, died May 20, 1936.

Born February 22, 1890 in Colchester, Connecticut, he prepared for college at East Hartford High School and entered Trinity in 1910. After graduation he served with the 26th Yankee Division of the U.S. Army in

Judge O'Connor received his law degree from Yale in 1921, and formed the Hartford law firm of O'Connor and O'Connor some 50 years ago. He was a founder of, and instructor at the Hartford School of Law. Also, he became judge of the East Hartford Town Court, corporation counsel of East Hartford, and a member of the school building

STANWOOD ADAMS MERRILL, 1915

Stanwood A. Merrill died October 25 in Norwood, Massachusetts. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Charlotte Powell Merrill; and two daughters, Mrs. Roscoe A. Shorey and Mrs. Malcolm Heggie.

Born April 4, 1892 in Walpole, Massachusetts, he attended local schools before entering Trinity in 1911. He left college after two years to join the L. S. Fales Machine Company and was with this firm for 54 years.

Mr. Merrill had served as treasurer of Epiphany Church, Walpole, Massachusetts, and had been active in Masonic lodges in Walpole and Norwood.

ROBERT ROWAN SMITH, 1915

Word has reached the College of the death of Robert R. Smith November 1 in New York City. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Lillian Smith, and a daughter, Mrs. Harriet Gelles.

He was born in Danbury, Connecticut, and prepared for college at local schools before entering Trinity in 1911.

During World War I he served in the U.S.

Army in France.

After moving to New York City from Buffalo, New York in 1945, Mr. Smith became president of S.J. O'Brien Company, an air conditioning firm.

RUDOLPH GREEN, 1916

Word has reached the Alumni Office of the death of Rudolph Green who lived for many years in Manchester, Connecticut.

Born January 31, 1889 in Unionville, Connecticut, he prepared for college at Hartford High School and entered Trinity in 1912 with the Class of 1916. After his graduation in 1918, he studied at the Hartford School of Music.

For some years he worked for the C. Chester Shoe Company and the Ortho-Vent Shoe Company.

JOHN FRANCIS LANG, 1917

John F. Lang died October 24 in Garden City, New York. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Vivian Audrey Lang, and a daughter, Mrs. Howard L. Iones.

Born September 3, 1896 in Elmhurst, New York, he prepared for college at the Trinity Chapel School in New York City and entered Trinity in 1913. His fraternity was Alpha Chi

After graduation he served six months in the U.S. Navy. He worked for many years in the advertising business in New York. When he retired in 1959 he was lease manager for the General Outdoor Advertising Company.

ROBERT IRVIN PARKE, 1921

Word has reached the College of the death of Robert I. Parke November 11 in Denver, Colorado. He leaves two brothers, George H. Parke, Jr. and N. Ross Parke '26, and a sister, Mrs. Robert W. Schutz.

Born April 12, 1899, he prepared for college at the Williamsport High School in Williamsport, Pennsylvania, and entered Trinity in 1917. As an undergraduate he was a member of the Senate, the Ivy, and graduated valedictorian, Phi Beta Kappa and a Holland Scholar. His fraternity was Delta Phi.

After teaching at three secondary schools in the East, Mr. Parke moved to Denver and in recent years was engaged in welfare work in that city.

WILLIAM EARL BUCKLEY, 1922

William Earl Buckley, retired partner of the New York City law firm of Buckley and Buckley, died November 9 in Concord, New Hampshire. He leaves his wife, the former Miss Margo A. Steinmetz. Richard C. Buckley, Jr., Class of 1951, is his nephew.

Born January 23, 1900 in Meriden, Connecticut, he prepared for college at Hartford High School and entered Trinity in 1919 after attending Massachusetts Institute of Technology during the previous year. Graduating with honors in 1922 he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. After receiving his law degree from Harvard in 1925 he studied international law in Germany. With his late brother, David, they formed the law firm of Buckley and Buckley.

In 1951 Mr. Buckley was elected president of the American Kennel Club. For many years he was a breeder of Airedale Terriers at his home in Huntington, Long Island.

In recent years Mr. Buckley had been active in setting up negotiations leading to the formation of the European Common Market.

ROBERT FRANKLIN MURPHY, 1924

Robert F. Murphy, a former lieutenant governor of Massachusetts, died January 9 in Malden, Massachusetts. He leaves a sister, Helen F. Murphy of Boston. His wife, the former Loretta Noonan, died some years ago.

Born January 24, 1899 in Somerville, Massachusetts, he prepared for college at Dean Academy, Franklin, Massachusetts, and entered Trinity in 1920. He served in the U.S. Navy for two years.

Leaving Trinity in 1923, he worked for Johnson Washburn Company, Boston and Valve Engineering Company, Cambridge, before joining the Malden Evening News in 1927. Turning his attention to politics, he became chairman of the Malden Democratic City committee. In 1943 he was elected to the Massachusetts House, in 1947 the Democratic Whip, and in 1949 became the party's first majority leader in the House.

In 1956 he was elected lieutenant governor and was reelected in 1958 by a plurality of more than 400,000 votes.

After he left office in 1960 he served five years as chairman of the Massachusetts District Commission. Until recently he had been employed by the John Hancock Insurance Company, Boston, as a legislative agent.

KENNETH BALLARD MURDOCK, HON. 1932

Dr. Kenneth B. Murdock, retired Francis Lee Higginson Professor of English Literature at Harvard University, died November 15 at Newton, Massachusetts. He leaves his wife, the former Eleanor Echart McLaughlin; two daughters, Mrs. Mary L. Thompson and Mrs. Sara Steinberg; and two stepsons, Charles C. and Donald H. McLaughlin, Jr.

Born June 22, 1895 in Boston, Massachusetts, he prepared for college at the Volkmann School in Boston and graduated from Harvard in 1916. Before receiving his doctorate from Harvard in 1923, he served as assistant dean of the college and later dean of the faculty of arts and sciences. From 1930 to 1941 he was the first master of Leverett House.

Dr. Murdock specialized in the intellectual and theological history of the 17th century in New England. He had written "Increase Mather, the Foremost American Puritan" and had been editing Cotton Mather's "Great Works of Christ in America."

In 1932 Trinity conferred upon him the honorary degree of Doctor of Humanities.

Dr. Murdock lectured on American literary and intellectual history from 1946 to 1953 at five Scandinavian universities, and the Swedish government awarded him in 1949 a knighthood in the Royal Order of the North Star.

CLARENCE MUNGER DEAN, 1933

Clarence M. Dean, former assistant city editor of the Hartford Times and associate director of the American Press Institute from 1965 to 1969, died November 22 in New York City. He had been incapacitated as a result of a stroke suffered in 1969.

Born October 19, 1911 in Hartford, he prepared for college at Bulkeley High School and entered Trinity in 1929. As an undergraduate he worked for the Hartford Times, and joined that paper after graduation as education editor. He later served as a reporter, rewrite man and feature writer before his promotion to assistant city editor in 1947. From 1945 to 1954 he taught newswriting at Hillyer College, now part of the University of Hartford.

In 1954 he joined the New York Times as a general assignment reporter and won eight Publishers Awards of that paper for excellence in writing.

Surviving are a brother, Robert, and a sister, Mrs. Michael Manise.

JAMES NOONAN EGAN, 1937

James N. Egan, part-time instructor in classics on the College's faculty from 1946 to 1960 and prominent attorney and television personality, died November 13 in Hartford. The state's chief medical examiner ruled it a suicide. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Barbara O'Connor Egan; three daughters, Jamie, Eleanor and Kathryn; and a brother, William, Class of 1933.

Born January 11, 1916 in Hartford, he prepared for college at Kingswood School, West Hartford, and entered Trinity in 1933. A classics major, he was awarded a Rhodes Scholarship upon graduation and studied at Oxford University for two years. After receiving his law degree from Harvard in 1942, he served for four years in the U.S. Navy and was stationed on the USS Wasp.

For nearly 30 years he was well known in Hartford legal circles as a criminal lawyer. From 1955 to 1957 he served as prosecutor for the Hartford Police Court. For 17 years, thousands of Connecticut television viewers watched him on the "What in the World" quiz program. In 1956 and 1957 he and his brother, William, won $48,000 on the "$64,000 Question" and the "$64,000 Challenge."

JOSEPH POWELL SCHUNDER, JR. 1939

J. Powell Schunder, Jr., died November 28 in Hartford. He is survived by his wife, the former Helen I. Nearing; and two sons, J. Powell Schunder III and Peter A. Schunder.

Born September 17, 1916 in Hartford, he prepared for college at Bulkeley High School and entered Trinity in 1935.

Leaving college in 1938 he worked for the Mountain View service station for seven years before becoming owner of the Evergreen station in Hartford. He also operated Paul's Arco station in Hartford, and in 1968 moved the station to the Silas Deane Highway in Wethersfield.

Mr. Schunder was a past president of the Kiwanis Club of West Hartford and a past master of St. John's Lodge 4, AF & AM.

JAMES FRANCIS COLLINS, 1940

James F. Collins, a Superior Court judge, died November 27 in Hartford. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Constance Sullivan Collins; a son, James B.; and three daughters, Elizabeth, Class of 1976, Tricia and Mary.

Born September 6, 1919, he prepared for college at Hartford Public High School and entered Trinity in 1936. As an undergraduate he played on the basketball and tennis teams. His fraternity was Sigma Nu.

Before serving in the U.S. Army from 1942 to 1946 as a captain in the Adjutant General's Department, he earned his master's degree at the Harvard Graduate School of Education. Receiving his law degree in 1948 from Harvard Law School, he practiced law in Hartford for 22 years before being named a judge. He taught law at the University of Hartford from 1950 to 1958, and was also a faculty member of the American Institute of Banking.

Judge Collins has served as Hartford Police Court prosecutor, assistant corporation counsel of Hartford, and regional fee counsel for the Federal Small Business Administration. He was a past president of the Leukemia Society of Greater Hartford and a former director of the American Cancer Society.

In 1962 he was nominated by the Republicans as candidate from the First Congressional District.

VICTOR LLOYD BUTTERFIELD, HON 1946

Dr. Victor L. Butterfield, president emeritus of Wesleyan University, died November 19 in Middletown, Connecticut. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Katherine Geyer Butterfield; a son, Daniel K. Butterfield; and a daughter, Mrs. Robert Sickman.

Born February 7, 1904 in Kingston, Rhode Island, he prepared for college at Deerfield Academy. A graduate of Cornell University in 1927, he received his doctorate from Harvard in 1936. After having taught at Deerfield Academy, Riverdale School in New York City, and Lawrence College in Appleton, Wisconsin, he joined the administration of Wesleyan University in 1935. He served as director of admissions, dean of freshmen, associate dean, acting president, and president from 1943 to 1967. In 1946 Trinity conferred upon him the honorary degree of Doctor of Humanities.

Dr. Butterfield established the Center for Advanced Studies, the College of Social Studies and the College of Letters. During his term as president, the University's endowment grew from less than ten million to more than $150 million. Dr. Butterfield's primary concern was the relationship between student and teacher, and the development of "the freedom, the autonomy and the responsibility of the human mind and spirit."

THOMAS STAVROS CLAROS, 1950

Thomas S. Claros, training coordinator for employees of the State of Connecticut since 1960, died November 21 in Winchester, Massachusetts. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Anastasia Mamatseo Claros and three daughters, Mrs. Barbara Apple, Mrs. Marian Wheeler, and Miss Stephanie Claros.

Born February 26, 1919 in Detroit, Michigan, he prepared for college at Anatolia High School, Thessalonika, Greece. He attended Anatolia College there for two years.

During World War II he served in the U.S. Marine Corps and Air Force. Moving to Bristol, Connecticut in 1946 he managed a movie theatre before coming to Trinity in 1948 where he received his bachelor's and master's degrees. In 1958 he received a doctorate in Education Administration from the University of Connecticut.

Dr. Claros was supreme president of the Pan-Macedonian Association of the United States and Canada since 1974, and had been active in Trinity College alumni affairs in Bristol and for the Class of 1950.

ROBERT BOLE HEPPENSTALL, JR., 1951

Robert B. Heppenstall, Jr., president of the Heppenstall Company in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania since 1963, died suddenly January 2 in that city. He is survived by two sons, Robert III, and Rest Baker Heppenstall. His wife, the former Miss Helen Raiquel Baker, died in 1974.

Born September 22, 1928 in Pittsburgh, he prepared for college at Asheville School, Asheville, North Carolina, and entered Trinity in 1947. He was a fine athlete, playing squash, baseball and golf. He was a member of Delta Psi fraternity.

Joining the Heppenstall Company in 1950, he was named general manager of its Bridgeport, Connecticut plant in 1954. In 1959 he became vice president and general manager, and executive vice president in 1962.

Mr. Heppenstall was a director of Midvale-Heppenstall Co., Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; Western Pennsylvania Hospital in Pittsburgh; and of the Boys' Club of Pittsburgh.

LIONEL TRILLING, HON. 1955

Lionel Trilling, Woodberry Professor in Literature and Criticism Emeritus at Columbia University, died November 5 in New York City. He leaves his wife, Diana, and a son, James

Born July 4, 1905 in New York City, he attended the city's schools and graduated from Columbia in 1925. After a short stay at the University of Wisconsin and at Hunter College in New York, he joined the Columbia faculty in 1931. He received his doctorate there in 1938, and was named a full professor in 1948. In 1956 he received the Great Teacher Award of Columbia's Society of Older Graduates.

At a Trinity Convocation on November 13, 1955, he was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Letters.

Dr. Trilling, often called "America's cultural historian," was an advisory editor of the Kenyon Review and a member of the advisory board of the Partisan Review. He was a founder and a senior fellow of the Kenyon School of English, now the School of Letters, Indiana University.

Dr. Trilling wrote extensively about Sigmund Freud and in 1955 delivered the Freud Anniversary Lecture of the New Psychoanalytic Society, an honor infrequently accorded a layman.

WILLIAM HOWARD OWEN, JR., 1959

William H. Owen, classics professor at Brooklyn College, died November 13 in New York City. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Sylvia Owen.

Born May 4, 1937 in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, he prepared for college at the Abington High School, Abington, Pennsylvania, and entered Trinity in 1955. As an undergraduate he was a member of the Glee Club, the Radio Club and the Jesters.

After receiving his masters and doctorate from Princeton University in 1963, Dr. Owen joined the faculty of New York University as an assistant professor of classics. A specialist in drama and satire, he won the Lindbach Award for outstanding teaching in 1967.

Dr. Owen went to Brooklyn College in 1969 where he taught classics and comparative literature at its Graduate Center. He published extensively as well as doing many translations from Greek, Latin and German for publication.

In 1972-1973 he directed two Broadway plays, "Women's Rites" and "The Specimen."

EDWARD LAWRIE TATUM, HON. 1965

Dr. Edward L. Tatum, prominent biochemist, died November 5 in New York City. He leaves his wife, Elsie; and two daughters, Barbara and Mrs. Margaret Easter.

Born December 14, 1909 in Boulder, Colorado, he received his BA, MA and PhD degrees from the University of Wisconsin. His career included research and academic appointments at the University of Utrecht in Holland, Stanford University and Yale University.

For the past 18 years he had been on the faculty of the Rockefeller University in New York City. In 1958 he received the Nobel prize for medicine and physiology.

In 1965 Trinity College conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Science on Dr. Tatum. On October 30 of that year he delivered a paper entitled, "Frontiers in Molecular Genetics" at the groundbreaking ceremony of the College's new Life Sciences Center.

J. ROBERT CORNWELL, V-12

Word has reached the College that Dr. J. Robert Cornwell of Southbury, Connecticut died September 21, 1972. He is survived by his wife, Jean Gino Cornwell; three sons, Gary, James and John; and a daughter, Nancy.

Born December 15, 1922 in Bridgeport, Connecticut, he came to Trinity in 1943 in the U.S. Navy V-12 program. After his discharge from the Navy, he graduated from Syracuse University and the Syracuse Medical School. Dr. Cornwell served as a staff radiologist at

Dr. Cornwell served as a staff radiologist at the New Milford Hospital, New Milford, Connecticut, and also conducted a private practice in radiology in New Milford.

J. Penn Hargrove

J. Penn Hargrove, 64, of Annapolis, Maryland, former bookstore manager at the College, died January 15. He held the position at Trinity for 13 years, retiring in 1973.

Mr. Hargrove was graduated from Brown University and was a World War II Navy veteran.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Marion Hargrove; two sons, Jay Hargrove of Springfield, Virginia, and Pinckney Hargrove of the World Health Organization, now in Bangladesh; a stepson, Edward Bruce of Newton, Massachusetts; a daughter, Evagene Bond of Washington, D.C., a sister, Mrs. Clarie Knox of Summit, New Jersey; and two grandchildren.

Recent Bequests and Memorial Gifts s with a deep sense of loss the pas

Trinity acknowledges with a deep sense of loss the passing of alumni and other friends of the College. It seems appropriate to list the bequests and memorial gifts which have been made to honor them.

A gift of $500 for the lecture fund in memory of Martin W. Clement '01, Hon. '51, Trustee of the College from 1930 to 1963, bringing this fund to more than $19,000.

An additional amount of $52,000 for student loan purposes and $146.13 for general purposes from the estate of Thomas B. Myers '08, bringing the total bequest to $308,542.10.

An additional amount of $391.04 for general purposes from the estate of Cyril B. Judge '10, bringing the total bequest to $7,517.67.

A gift of $800 for the scholarship fund in memory of B. Floyd Turner '10, bringing this fund to more than $5,300.

An additional amount of $5,000 for Library purposes from the estate of Jerome P. Webster '10, Hon. '37 and '68, Trustee of the College from 1939 to 1967, bringing the total bequest to $57,445.

A bequest of $5,000 for scholarship purposes from the estate of Stanley A. Dennis, Jr. '17.

A gift of $500 for the Alumni Fund in memory of William S. McCornick '34.

A gift of $500 for the scholarship fund in memory of Charles Z. Greenbaum '71, bringing this fund to more than $8,500.

A gift of $500 for the scholarship fund in memory of The Rev. Flavel Sweeten Luther, former President of the College, bringing this fund to $12,500.

A gift of $5,009 for the scholarship fund in memory of Henry E. Bodman, bringing this fund to more than $55,000.

Gifts have also been received in memory of the following alumni and friends.

Class of 1902 Clinton J. Backus, Jr. '09 Karl W. Hallden '09, Hon. '48 & '55 George S. Francis '10 The Rev. Charles P. Johnson '16 Donald S. Linton '16 Elmer S. Tiger '16 Sydney D. Pinney '18, Hon. '49 Frederick J. Eberle '27 Robert O. Muller '31

James N. Egan '37 James F. Collins '40 Jacob W. Edwards '59 Loring M. Bailey, Jr. '67 Prof. Blanchard W. Means Prof. Mitchel N. Pappas Prof. Lawrence W. Towle Mrs. Morse S. Allen Clifton M. Bockstoce H. Bacon Collamore Robert Harron

TRINITY SPORTS

Sports Awards

The 1975 fall sports activities finally drew to a close with the presentation of letters and the announcement of the varsity football and soccer team captains for the 1976 season.

Forty-seven letters were awarded to the members of the football team and twenty-three to the soccer team.

At the post-season team dinner, Fullback Patrick Heffernan and defensive ends Donald Grabowski and Richard Uluski were selected as the new tri-captains for the 1976 football squad.

Among those selected for the team's special awards were tight end Thomas Melkus and offensive tackle John Connelly. Melkus was named as the recipient of the "1935 Award" for ability, leadership and contribution to team morale. Connelly, who was selected as a member of the All-New England College Division Team for a second consecutive year, received the "Dan Jessee Blocking Award".

The team's "Laser Award" for an offensive lineman was presented to tackle Gerald LaPlante while the "Obfuscator Award" for outstanding effort on defense went to middle guard Victor Novak.

Forward Alexander Harvey and halfback James McGrath were elected to captain the varsity soccer team during the 1976 campaign. The team's "Peter Fish Award" for the most valuable player of the season was presented to co-captain James Solomon. Junior Mark Moore was named as the recipient of the "Harold Shetter Award" for the most improved player.

Varsity Hockey (2-3)

The varsity hockey team began the season in fine form with a 7-3 victory over Assumption College. Freshman wing George Brickley spearheaded the Bantam attack with a hat trick while sophomore center Tom Lenahan tallied twice. Senior Jim Lenahan and Freshman Tom Keenan finished out the scoring for Trinity with one goal apiece. Junior Ted Judson turned in an outstanding performance as the Bantams' net-minder, preventing 35 of 38 Assumption shots on goal from reaching their mark.

The skaters then journeyed to Amherst where they dropped their next two contests in tournament play to Wesleyan 7-5 and Amherst 7-3. Trinity sprang to an early 2-0 first period lead against the Cardinals which changed to a 5-2 deficit when Wesleyan scored five unanswered goals in the second period. Wesleyan increased its lead with another score early in the final period but the Bantams roared back on goals by George Brickley, Ted Almy and Clinton Brown to close the gap to 6-5. The Trinity surge fell short, however, as the Cardinals tallied again and managed to stave off an intense Bantam offensive in the final two minutes of the game.

In the consolation round, Trinity once again opened the scoring as Tom Lenahan slipped a shot under the Amherst goalie midway through the first period. Within three minutes Amherst had responded with a score of its own and the two teams readied themselves for the second period with the score knotted at 1-1. In the next 20 minutes, Amherst exploded offensively, outscoring the Bantams 4-1. The Lord Jeffs added two more tallies in the final period and Jim Lenahan added one for Trinity as the Bantams saw their record dip below the .500 mark.

Still on the road, the Bantams seemed unable to pull out of their slump, dropping their next matchup 6-1 to a strong Bentley team. It was a frustrating evening for Trinity as the Bantams skated well but only managed to put the puck in the Bentley net once as Tom Lenahan scored his fourth goal of the season.

Returning to Trinity for their home opener, the Bantams squared off against the Indians of Bryant College in the Glastonbury Arena. A hometown crowd helped provide the spark as the Bantams returned to the winning track, downing Bryant 4-1 with their best effort of the season to date.

Sophomore Fran Gray's late second period goal provided Trinity with a 1-0 edge over the Indians until Bryant hit on its only successful shot of the night with less than seven minutes remaining. But the Bantams were not to be denied a victory as Tom Lenahan blasted a shot off the chest of the Bryant goalie and teammate Tom Keenan flicked it in for the go-ahead score. Less than a minute later Trinity increased its margin when senior defenseman Nick Brady hit from the blue line. Ted Almy added an insurance tally as the Bantams rocketed to a 4-1 victory.

Varsity Basketball (1-2)

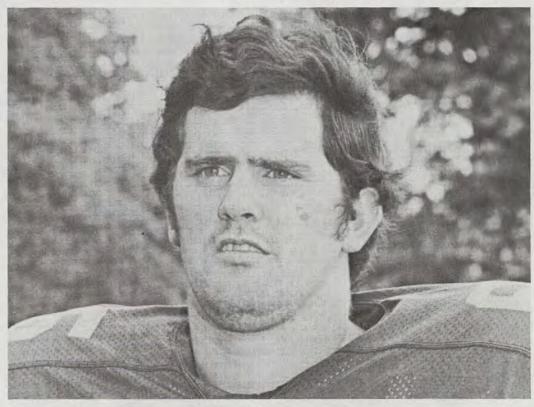

The Trinity cagers opened their 1975-76 season against the University of Hartford in the first round of the sixth annual Trinity-UHartford Invitational Tournament. The heavily favored Hawks outdistanced the Bantams 85-81 despite a strong comeback effort by the Bantams behind the shooting of senior forward Othar Burks, who scored 26 of his 32 points in the second half.

Trailing by as many as thirteen points with less than ten minutes to play, the Bantams battled back to knot the score at 79-79 with 1:32 remaining.

Update: Basketball

Since the story above was written, the Cagers have defeated nine opponents in a row, equalling the winning streak record set by the 1964-65 team captained by Jim Belifore. The Bantams now stand at 10-2 on the season, having lost to U. Hartford 81-85, defeated Wesleyan 77-67, dropped to Amherst 76-64 before defeating M.I.T. 66-64, Brandeis 80-74, Coast Guard 75-68, Williams 76-60, Middlebury 71-59, Wesleyan 92-85, Amherst 75-74 (2OT), Colby 92-85 and W.P.I. 75-64.

Niland Receives National "Swede" Nelson Award for Sportsmanship

Niland

Bantam linebacker George Niland '76 has been selected as the recipient of the coveted 30th annual "Swede" Nelson National Award for Sportsmanship. Niland is the first Trinity player to receive the award whose previous winners include such former collegiate standouts as Brian Dowling of the New England Patriots, Dick Jauron of the Detroit Lions, and Floyd Little and Otis Armstrong of the Denver Broncos.

The award is named in honor of the former Harvard University football great, Nils C. Nelson, and is presented each year by the Gridiron Club of Greater Boston "to the player who by his conduct on or off the gridiron demonstrates a high esteem for the football code and exemplifies sportsmanship to the highest degree."

Niland was cited for his ability to overcome a severe leg injury sustained while a member of the freshman football team in 1972 and the leadership and sportsmanship which he exhibited as a starting linebacker and the varsity's Most Valuable Defensive Player in 1975. His contributions to the Trinity and Hartford communities were also cited.

He served with distinction as an intern in the office of Hartford's mayor, as a coach in the track program at Hartford's Northwest Catholic High School and as a voluntary social worker at the Clifford House, a group for delinquent boys. In 1974, he received a letter of commendation from the City of Hartford for his assistance in rescuing 14 people from a burning apartment building.

The Hawks hit on two attempts from the field before Trinity responded with a basket on a long jump-shot by sophomore guard Larry Wells. Trinity's fate was finally sealed when Hartford's Larry Ayers made two free throws in the final seconds to put the game out of the Bantams' reach.

Trinity took on Wesleyan in the second round and handily defeated the Cardinals 77-67 for their first win of the year. There was little question regarding the outcome of the contest as Trinity rolled up eleven points before Wesleyan managed to get on the scoreboard. Othar Burks again led the Bantams in scoring with 16 points while junior forward Dave Wesselcouch added 12 more. Junior center Peter Switchenko led the team in rebounding for the second consecutive evening.

Othar Burks was named to the All-Tourney Team for the second time in three years. Othar was the leading individual scorer in the Tournament with 48 points.

From Hartford, the Bantams travelled to Amherst where they dropped a 75-64 decision to a tough 2-0 Lord Jeffs squad. The contest was far closer than the final score indicated as Trinity led throughout most of the first half and paced Amherst to a 60-60 deadlock with six minutes remaining. In those final six minutes the Bantams lost momentum, and the Lord Jeffs managed to outscore Trinity by a 15-4 margin. Senior co-captain Wayne Sokolosky and Othar Burks led the Bantams in scoring with 20 and 27 points respectively.

ADMISSIONS— CAMPUS TOURS

For visiting parents, here is the new schedule for admissions and campus tours:

GROUP SESSIONS (No advance notice necessary):

Monday thru Friday 1:15 p.m., June 7, 1976 to August 27, 1976

Location: Normally Alumni Lounge, Mather Campus Center

INDIVIDUAL APPOINTMENTS (write or telephone well in advance):

Monday thru Friday 9:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

June 1, 1976 to September 3, 1976

Location: Office of Admissions, Downes Memorial