

"Times like the present, when all traditions moral, and legal concept generally accepted, the thought of treaties or legal methods of agreement, ordinary social and political struggles—such times as in which the whole life of society is thrown into in such a political, social, intellectual and moral crisis, intellectual struggle will come to an end. It is, after a

"Is it not a violent brutal and barbarian social disruption and morally destroyed by the political practices of the authoritarian states? Since 1932 the most fundamental articles . . . one treaty after the other; the intervention as a system of their daily politics; they continued to make public speeches, treachery and a misleading of their own nation and of other governments, times they have broken it, they have accepted every kind of pledge and them all. We call certain other periods in history the Dark Ages; but this

are ruthlessly broken, when there is no firm philosophical, religious, or moral principles in which political and social regimes are abolished brutally without mercy and when new regimes are created in violent and frequently sanguinary, as we all know, times of upheaval and revolution. They are also times of intellectual chaos, times of moral and intellectual crisis. We live today in a crisis in Europe and the world. I do not doubt that this great political and intellectual crisis, nothing new . . . no nation can live forever in slavery.

It is already on the way . . . Today in England, in France, even in Germany, struggles for a new philosophy, a new morality, a new law and a synthesis between the freedom of the individual man and citizen, on the one side, and the freedom of the state, on the other side, will again be realized. . . .

It is and always has been one gigantic, heroic struggle for the realization of the advanced freedom of the human personality, which by its high moral standards demands of the state, to society as a whole, which could be disciplined and yet have the freedom to understand its social, national, and civic duties and at the same time to have the freedom to choose which system—dictatorship or democracy—is in my opinion superior. I shall defend it to the end of my life.

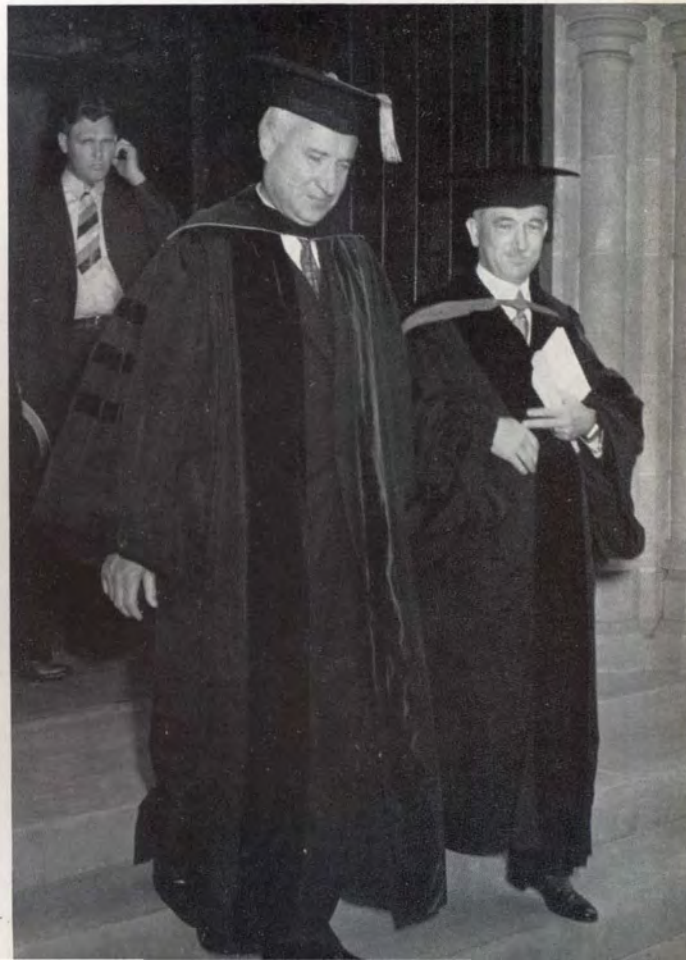

It is a crisis, when today the whole system of international law is destroyed. The Covenant of the League of Nations was sabotaged and violated in its own name. The declarations of the authoritarian states in the internal affairs of their neighbors became declarations and manifestations which have been revealed as public secrets abroad; they have given their word hundreds of times and hundreds of times have respected none, they have signed new treaties and have violated them. This is the Age of Midnight in parts of Europe."

TO THE NEWLY VANQUISHED

WERE you for devastation proudly built?
Condemned to shed your blood; defying death,
While armies move again with wanton guilt,
And leave a shaken world to gasp for breath?
Did you break soil that steel and men should pour
Their heedless hell across your furrowed fields,
And industry be silenced by the roar
Of hate ignited by the brand it wields?

No, not for this! but as burnt offerings laid Upon an altar raised to Future Years;
This noble sacrifice by peoples paid
Shall move both God and Man to shameless tears.
If we who share your faith, have shared in vain—
We shall be consecrated by your pain.

RICHARD KNOWLES MORRIS '40.

COMMENCEMENT exercises 1939. . . . Degrees and honors. Caps and gowns. The warm, the noon-day sun; the scent of grass; the distant rumble of a trolley; the falsetto cries of curious moppets; the whisper of wind through the elms; calm and peace. Visiting dignitaries: Doctor Benes—champions democracy; appeals for the release of the individual from oppression, from obscurity; receives the plaudits, the sympathy of the audience; the well wishes of his countrymen. But still, numerous foreboding; the tenor of his voice, suggesting, prophesying, all too accurately: mud, yellow-green, knee-deep, clinging; the slurp slurp of tanks; the stutter of machine guns; wave upon wave of uniformed men—uniform action, uniform expression, uniform thought. Implacable. The distant drone of planes; a glimpse, the silver glint, the destructive upheaval of bombs mushrooming; the people (those who are able) running, running! And the whine of shells.

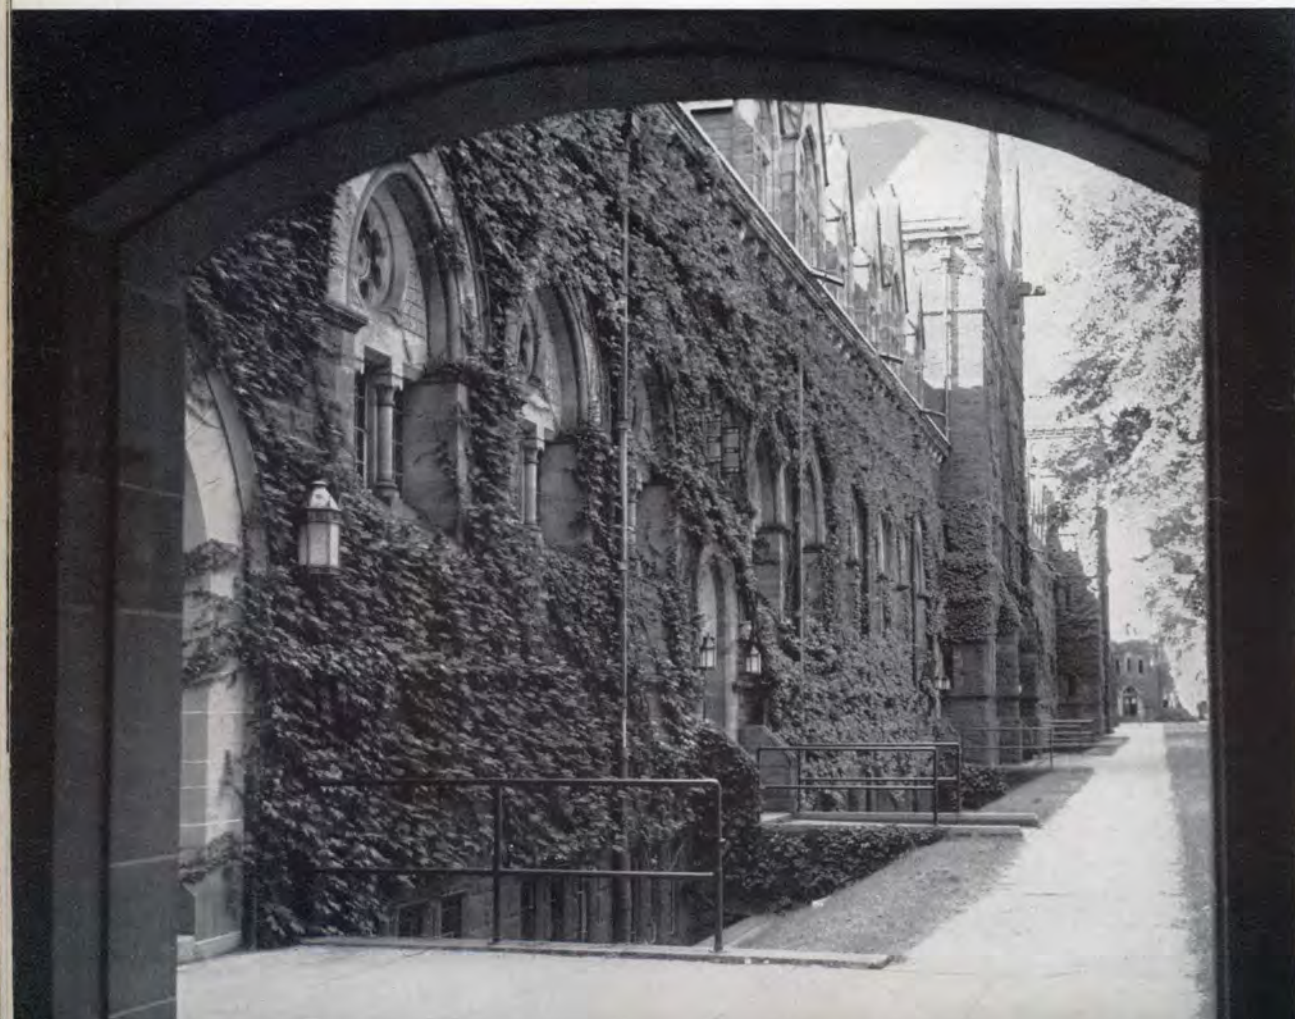

Summer . . . for us: Maine, Watch Hill, Long Island, The White Mountains, Gaspé; scenes on the water—clear-green; the waves rippling, swelling, lap-lapping whitely at the shore; still, languorous nights—balmy, long, too soon ending; canoes; speedboats—with aquaplanes skidding dizzily; moonlight bathing; beautiful girls—tan but blond; dancing till three at the club. Then at the all-night stand: a nickelodeon. Ma, He's Making Eyes at Me, You'd be Surprised, Sunrise Serenade, I'll Build a Stairway to the Stars; Benny Goodman, Glenn Miller, Count Basie. The sleepy Greek: wiping his hands on a dirty apron. Hamburgers—with. Grilled cheese. Coffee. Ketchup. Hungry? Maybe pie. "We got opple, coconut custard, coconut cream, lemon cream, chocolate cream . . . opple? Hokay, opple." The ride home. The top down. Wind whistling. Hair, blond hair, streaming. Lovely. "I love you, darling—will you write?" "Of course, darling—I love you too. This will never end. Never, never." Lovely, lovely, lovely. Then . . .

. . . . September. And college. Warm days. The sun, still hot. The last lethargy of summer. Melancholy. Memories. At sundown—a certain chill, a definite bite in the air. Autumn—New England autumn. Beautiful. The autumn of Keats and Frost. Leaves—change color: green, orange, crimson. Then a sudden rain. Falling, brown, curled, withered. They curl and scudder noisily along the walks, beneath the arches. They pile, stirring restlessly in the corners of the quadrangle. The moon—the great harvest moon—tacked up in a corner of the sky, neon-like. Everything moon-drenched: the gridiron; the chapel tower, silhouetted starkly against the sky; the Bishop, alone and watchful; the gym; the checkerboard windows of the library; the ivy shining, glinting like silver, on the walls of the shadowy buildings. A wisp of smoke. Another wisp. Wisps everywhere. Blue lines, straight; the lines break suddenly, and the smoke curls towards the autumn sky. The distinctive autumn smell of leaves quick-burning.

Activity. . . . Tan faces; easy clothes. The rush and furor—schedules, rooms, bills, conferences. The chatter and laughter—all excitement. Greetings. Groups in the Commons. Groups in the cafeteria. Groups in the library. Groups everywhere—everyone talking at once; joking, dinners, meetings. Freshmen being exposed to English A; wilting under the dean's masterful sarcasm.

Matriculation. . . . The freshmen sol-laughing, shouting. The first day of classes—the shock of the sudden plunge into work. The usual indignancy about the first extensive assignments. Rusty minds being limbered—painfully. Freshmen walking around in a daze. Freshmen buying at the Union—athletic equipment, pencils, paper, ink, notebooks. Freshmen being bulldozed by zealous fraternity men—luncheons, emn and awed; the faculty bored and restless. Chapel service. The endless file to the big book. The quavering signatures. The feeling of oneness, of being a part of the college.

And study . . . the thorn in the rose; the bitter among the sweet. New books, second hand books. The book store selling out. Lectures, notebooks, notes. Assignments and quizzes.

So to work. . . . But still time for other interests. For instance — football. The members of the team lean and tough. A little bedraggled too. Training since September 11. Workouts twice a day: calisthenics; plays (duties to be memorized); dummy scrimmage; contact work. Bruises, stiff limbs, cut noses—piffle. All in the day's work. We don't care; we're safe. Capt. Jack Carey and Coach Jan Jessee predicting a very successful season. Perhaps an undefeated team.

The opening game with R. P. I. . . . Trinity hustling and clicking to win easily. 29-19. Joe Beidler, sophomore back, already beginning to run wild. Leaping, squirming, twisting, he breaks away for several long gains. Bill Ryan and Walt Mugford right behind him. And Pete Rihl still around to do the dirty work for small glory. A tie with Union, 7-7.

And then, Worcester Tech. . . . A home game. The crowd; the peanuts; the girls (bright sports clothing); the white lines on the green turf; the white-clad officials. Dan Jessee chewing his gum. And a tall person named Forkey throwing passes against us. Good passes too. But Trinity carrying the fight to them and winning, 17-7. Bill Ryan badly hurt; lost for most of the season. Thus far: two victories and a tie; not bad.

Then Hobart. . . . Joe Beidler running them dizzy. The team opening beautiful holes for the backs. The backs sidling through for sizable distances. No need to pass. Bill Kelly playing his usual smart game on the end; Jack Carey plugging hole after hole in the line. The final score: 13-0. Trinity the winner. Pete Rihl again receiving little recognition for his work. He punts; he blocks; he calls signals; he passes a little; and he plays in the secondary defensive spot—and plays it well. "Not much, really."

Amherst next. . . . A sad exhibition. The Amherst backs running circles around our players. The Amherst linemen intimidating our boys. Amherst making long runs—with heart-breaking ease. Amherst completing passes. Amherst blocking our passes. Amherst stopping our backs. Amherst scoring 19 points; Trinity scoring none. Amherst players cocky and full of life; Trinity players docile and

and even unto the third generation lifeless. Amherst fans gloating; Trinity fans puzzled, disappointed. General opinion: that the Trinity players were off. So the defeat is attributed to the vicissitudes of sport. In addition to the loss—Pete Rihl and Jack Carey badly hurt. Pete spending several days on his back, several weeks in a plaster cast. Jack out for the remainder of the season.

Then a little social life . . . the Senate dance. Informal, both in dress and demeanor. Everybody relaxed and friendly. Bernie Solyn's Knights of Trinity on the bandstand. The music—smooth and provoking—surprisingly good. Moonlight Serenade, To You, Oh, You Crazy Moon.

Women galore; nice, too. Many a tête-à-tête. Punch: the watered blood of Mc-Fall. Push and be pushed! the maxim on the dance floor. Once in a while a good dancer. The athletes, minor gods, receiving due homage from admiring females. Much fun enjoyed by all. Good Night Sweetheart at one; then to the eateries. Perhaps a drive through the night. Faces half lit by the momentary glow of cigarettes. Quiet talk; voices drowsy, contented. Or perhaps no talk. Just the night and the hum of tires on the road. And the headlights shooting out in the darkness; the dust particles caught in the glare. Occasionally the rushing sound of a passing car. Then good night and back to the room. Sleep.

it's this way

And back to football . . .

Wesleyan, arch rival, coming up. . . . Interest high. The Wesleyan team reputedly great. But our team is good too. Much discussion. Much dissension. Numerous bets. The largest crowd of the season. Policemen at the gates. Waiting lines at the ticket booths. Urchins howling about, trying to worm their ways into the stands. A decided snap in the air; everyone warmly dressed. Pipes and cigarettes very much in evidence. The band—noise. The seats—hard. The spectators—excited. The Wesleyan bleachers filled. The Trinity cheerleaders trying desperately to organize the shouting; little success. The Trinity mascot: a chicken—or maybe it's a rooster. Mark Rainsford with his camera. The press box filled. The amplifying system not bad, but not good either. A constant parade of beauty on the cinder track before the grandstand. All the girls very gay and enthusiastic—even though they don't understand what's happening on the field.

one point counts

Then the game. . . . Only ten reserves on the Trinity bench.

Billy Ryan completely unfit to play; so he does not count. Captain Carey donning his uniform merely as a gesture. Best game of the year. Wesleyan wins. Why? Not because of superior men, but because of overwhelming numbers. Joe Beidler's injury in the first half. A telling loss. The Trinity boys outplaying Wesleyan for three quarters. Then out on their feet, allowing Wesleyan to score the winning touchdowns. Especially noteworthy: Don Walsh, junior back, who had not practiced or played all year, drafted by Dan for the Wesleyan game; with less than a week of conditioning, he guts his way through sixty minutes of tough football; and he puts on a beautiful exhibition of blocking. Also Frank Fasi, one hundred forty pound center, taking Jack Carey's place. Fighting, tackling, blocking, and passing surprisingly well. No worry about next year. And Dick Lindner, calling

signals in Pete's absence. A nice job too. He always does good work.

So the season ends. . . . Dan looking forward to next year. Optimistic as always. Some senior letter men not returning. But good material still on tap. And even if the boys flop, they will hustle. Dan's teams always do. What more can we ask?

Besides, there are the freshmen. . . . Not a very good team. But hopes for a few of the youngsters (they can always become intellectuals anyway). Weisenfluh, tail-back, will develop. Knowles, blocking back, still awkward. Fay, center, is big and strong. Might prove useful—but who are we to say what will happen in the next year or two? Even the lowliest member of the squad may become a star—especially under Dan's skillful tutelage.

And now a touching tribute: . . . To the coaching staff (feeling, fighting, working, and undoubtedly suffering with the ball games for Trinity. And to Don Walsh—his uncanny habit of plunging into the slot when the going is tough.

College life continues. . . . We work; we loaf. We play cards; we kibitz. We laugh; we cry. We praise; we ridicule. We attend chapel; we don't attend chapel. We sleep; we prowl. We date; we are dated. We flunk; we pass. We write papers; we give speeches. We love our profs; we hate our profs. We shave; we raise beards.

And soccer. . . . Axiom: nothing better to do? Go out for soccer. Everyone very much in favor of awarding medals for valor and perseverance to the long-winded lads with the tough shins. A player running and running along the greensward. A player jumping into the air, hitting a ball with his head. The ball is not very players). To Captain Jack Carey. Evidence of his part in the tussles a constantly swollen and bruised nose. To the seniors, who have played their last foot-hard though. Seven lettermen back, including Captain Ray Ferguson. Largest squad of the year. All eager to play the martyrs in this forgotten sport. Several sophomores out too—in the beginning. First game with Worcester Tech—no offensive strength; we lose. Exciting though, if you like that sort of thing. Yale—another loss. Mass. State—defeat. Still no offense. Then a victory over the Coast Guard Academy—and the Tripod (college dope dispensary) duly acknowledges the game in headlines. Then Wesleyan—we lose. The article in the Tripod is duly small. So the soccer season is one better left unmentioned. One victory; several losses. Student support—very little. Once in a while a handful of watchers. Season's star: Coach McCloud. Patient, understanding, always encouraging. Coach McCloud, Professor of sports—manship. Classes held on the soccer field.

Freshman soccer . . . not much better. Some future varsity material, but that's all.

All this time the cross-country team is running too . . . hustling uphill, downhill, along concrete sidewalks, through mud, and around flagpoles. A bunch of good men this year. Or, more exactly, some are only mediocre. But all are pluggers: a see.) Amherst—victory for us. And finally defeated by Mass. State. Not a successful season.

Freshman cross-country . . . lots of try, but not enough stuff. Ray Oosting unable to expect much varsity material. Dave Tyler maybe.

Before Thanksgiving . . . quarterly tests. Much moaning. Fall sports dinner. Food, speakers, sweaters, letters, numer-

lot of hustle: and that means a great deal in cross-country. Jim Caffrey and Ed Rosen top men on the squad. Winning several races and setting a record. Bill Charles captain. First meet with Worcester Tech—we lose. Score: Tech 27-Trin. 29. (In cross country the lowest score is the highest, if you see what we mean.) Then a win over Springfield College. One from Coast Guard too. Then Wesleyan—a loss, which we ignore (misanthropy is not a part of our scheme, you als. Bill Ryan elected football captain; Aldy Johnson soccer captain; Jim Caffrey captain of cross-country.

Thanksgiving . . . a holiday (vacations—we love them). Turkey too, maybe. And time for dates. Riding in rumble seats, regardless of the weather. Dancing. Talking. Holding hands. Early morning snacks in all-night restaurants: wieners, hamburgs, milk. How good it all is when there is nothing to do but sleep the next day. Or relatives perhaps—and that's bad. You love them but you don't like them, if you see what we mean.

After Thanksgiving . . . quarterly marks. Some freshmen on pro. Basketball practice—the team looking good. Last year's starting line-up intact. Nine veterans returning. Great hopes. Coach Oosting et al. optimistic. And why not? But disappointment. The boys basket hungry. The boys not clicking. A win over Arnold College. One from Mass. State. And another from Colby. Then a loss to Yale. And Wesleyan next. We lose—badly. Then a game with Worcester Tech. An exhibition of good basketball. The Tech players are too tall and too fast for us. A zone defense and a fast break stop us cold. Forkey again plaguing us. (Will he never graduate?). They deserve to win. They do win, but not without a struggle.

The Trinity squad travels to Philadelphia . . . a loss to Swarthmore. A win from Haverford.

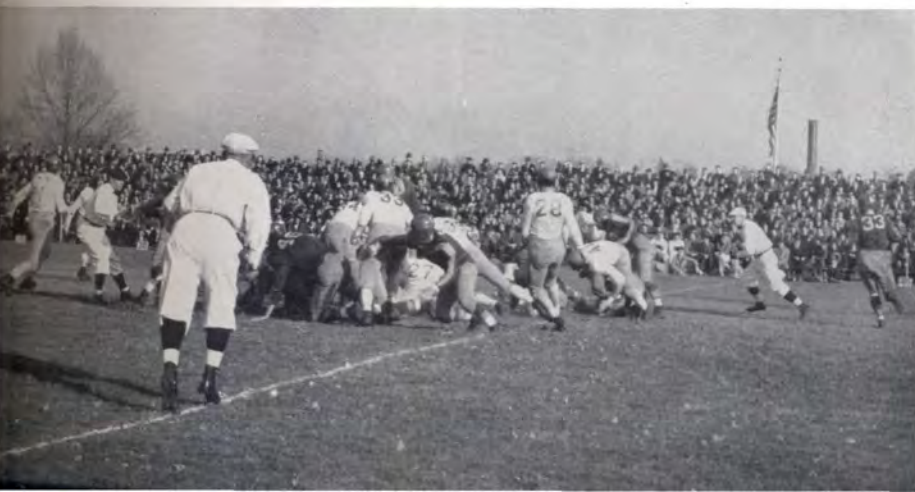

A loss to Vermont. . . . We defeat the Coast Guard Academy.

Then Clark . . . and another win. A surprising one. But the boys are hot that night. They can't lose. Good passing, accurate shooting. The Clark team working better and more smoothly. But Trinity

more effective; a driving, very close game. Perhaps at last the boys are really getting together.

man in white

" -- RELATED TERMS -- "

once upon a time

Wesleyan comes to town. . . . The Hartford High gymnasium is filled. The bleachers extend to the very edges of the floor. First row spectators barely able to keep their feet out of the players' way. Much femininity. Much discomfort; one's back is not made of rubber; and bleacher seats are backless.

Before the game . . . the Trinity players looking very sharp in their blue warm-up suits. Most of the players freshly shaved. Looking pale under the lights. Shooting practice—and Moe Borstein displaying a neat accuracy. The Wesleyan boys look big and confident. Their team experienced too. A difficult game imminent.

Then the game . . . we lose again. Trinity plays good ball. But Wesleyan is a better team. Faster, bigger, rougher. Too bad. An exciting contest though: the spectators limp and exhausted from shouting; the lead vacillating with unreasonable rapidity; the scorers disconcerted. At the half . . . the teams leave the floor. Everyone gets up to stretch his legs. A breath of fresh air; a cigarette; a quick discussion of the game thus far. Then back for another half. The outcome uncertain until the last minute. At the end everyone is ready to enter a convalescent home. But instead we all go out to forget: the Bond; The Round Table; the Woodland. Beer and pretzels. Sympathy and condolences. Eulogies.

three years to improve

So the season ends. . . . A .500 average. Next year? Who can say? The freshmen have lost many games. But some of them are classy players (O'Malley for instance). They might help. They improved under Ralph Erickson; they should continue to improve under Ray Oosting.

Intramural basketball . . . competition improves. Interest high. More good teams than ever before (if you know what we mean by good). Each team confident of its own supremacy. All teams practicing, organizing, wanting to win. The season rolls along and the Alpha Chi Rho players (sparked by Shelly and Fresher) defeat the Neutral Gold contingent in the closest game of the season—which makes them the winners of their league. In the other league the Neutral C team (Kelly and Fasi) defeats (such a glorious word) the Neutral Blues. Fasi does a precise job of guarding Hinckley. Even outscores him. So the Crows vs. the C's in the play-off for first place. The Neutral Blues (sounds like a team in a pulp magazine) vs. the Golds for second place. The Crows win the championship. An interesting struggle. Not much finesse though. . . . And the uniforms ! ! ! ! Dirty, torn pants. Dirtier jerseys—or perhaps no jerseys. And the clean playing. Nobody badly injured. Much fun. Third place to the Blues. The Golds (smooth playing, well organized, highly coördinated, deserving to win) left out in the cold. Fate being unfair again—obviously.

even we can do it

Meanwhile other doings . . . the Jesters (college thespians) swinging into action. Meetings. Plans. Casting. And much indecision, wrangling. But at last comes order. The first production a hectic melodrama: Silas the Chore Boy by Frank H. Bernard. Much work involved. Much rehearsing. Much painting and designing.

And the Soph Hop. . . Mac Beaty chairman of the committee. The Hartford Club. Swank, swank. Tiny Hill and his orchestra. Tiny's persistence in playing and playing that Doodly-do song, which still plagues our eardrums. Very pretty girls (in accordance with Trinity custom). Girls on the stairs. Girls dancing—very nicely too. Girls drinking—very capably. Girls everywhere—wonderful. A nice crowd; not too large; not too small. Few Mark Rainsford around with that camera. Frightening people with that flash bulb. Corsages. The faculty: at first, very correct, very gracious; later, very playful, very friendly. A certain well-known deb a colossal flop. And a financial success. Hurray for Mac.

After the dance . . . everyone leaving. Much honking of horns. Repeated good nights. The slamming of car doors. Roaring motors. General disorder. Then quiet descends upon the club. But elsewhere is gaiety still. College girls and college boys out on a spree. We won't be home until Love in bloom. Food and drink. Fun.

The girls depart . . . peace and calm on the campus. A few aching heads. Many doubts: Does she like me? Why does she like me? Do I like her? Why do I? Did she have a good time? Or was she just polite? Will I see her again? Do I want to see her again? What did she mean when she said . . . ? What did she mean when she said . . . ? Why did she . . . ? Wednesday Chapel: prexy playing the carillon; the strains of the organ, vibrant and moving; hymns, slow and somber; the sun shining through the stained glass windows; the carved pew ends; trying in vain to hear the speaker, then despair and sleep.

Between classes . . . loafing in the Union. Or is it legitimate relaxation? The gentle, well-modulated voices of the card players. Their flawless English as they politely chide each other for misplays. Healthy appetites appeased. (Pies, candy, crackers and ice cream). Thirsts quenched. (Milk, coca-cola, pepsi-cola, orange drinks, and other sodas). Ping pong (silly game). Study? Not in the Union. Bull sessions? Oh, yes. The lads all enthusiastic speakers. But genteel too. Nothing crude or obtuse. Topics? Anything and everything from the worm on the walk to the president's policies. Coats and hats on the tables. Books in the corners. Papers on the floor. Feet on the chairs. Cigarette smoke in the air. Cigarettes in the fingers. Butts on the floor. Ash trays woefully lacking. A lovely time had by all.

From there to classes. . . Lectures, labs, quizzes. Interesting incidents to pre-structors. Violent disagreement between teacher and pupil. Perfect harmony between professor and student.

Classes finished . . . to the room. To the gym. To the pool. To the movies . . . Even to the library (goodness). Or perhaps to the chem. lab. (The hours that are spent there). Smells and bottles and liquids and hoses and burners. Or back to the Union: to play cards, to read the papers, to recopy notes, to discuss dates (and all that goes with them). And on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday—women: those junior college women who use our laboratories; young, pretty, supposedly intelligent. Skirts, light sweaters, colorful blouses, saddle shoes, and ankle socks—in a men's school. When asked whether or not the Trinity students bother the girls much, one young thing replies, "When they do, we love it." That's frankness for you. Straight from the shoulder stuff, and all that. Obviously the result of the modern trend towards candor in all phases of life.

the pulp magazines: Sports Story Magazine, True Detective (good plots, you know?). But of course no Trinity man would fall that far. More bull sessions too. (How many world problems are solved again and again in college dormitories?) And meetings: political science club, French Club, debating club, Newman Club. Even

At night? . . . Well, perhaps women again (they seem to be mixed up in every phase of our existence). And there are always books: educational books—of course. Nothing light or cheap. Something solid, beautiful: like Man the Unknown or a volume of Frost's poetry. Or if one really feels low, there are magazines: Colliers, Redbook, Esquire. Or even less exciting—studying if you are really desperate. Or perhaps nunc est bibendum? A friend, a can of beer (two cans maybe), a comfortable chair, a footstool, a radio—what more can one desire?

Winter. . . . Christmas vacation. Fun and frolic. No cares. A raison d'être. More dates. Skating parties. Girls with white

skates, full skirts. A frozen pond with spotlights focused on the ice. Or merely moon and stars for illumination. The rasp of the steel blades. The rhythmical movements. The feminine shrieks. Masculine chuckles. Cold hands and feet. Aching legs. Then a roaring fire. Logs. Hot dogs. Mustard and relish. Hot chocolate. Songs and conversation—at first bright and animated; later slow and dreamy. A station wagon. The ride home. A surreptitious kiss. Perhaps the walk home—trees. The clank clank of the skates hanging over his shoulder; arm in arm; the fast striding in unison over the country road; that peculiar sensation; walking yet feeling that you are still on skates. Your legs dead and stiff.

And skiing. . . . A snowy hillside. A boy and a girl. A moon. She starts down the slope, falls at the bottom. He follows. Plows to a stop beside her. Lifts her up. "You all right?" "Yes, thank you." He laughs then, reassured. "You want to be careful." Wax and poles and hoods. Breaths in the air. Home. A fire. A soft

chair. A sandwich. A book. A dog. Then sleep.

Or parties. . . . Young men trying to act very debonair. Girls being very sophisticated. The wiser ones behaving naturally. Food, cake, candy, drinks (liquor maybe). Good cheer. And well-being.

The Christmas shopping . . . long lists, crowded stores. Shoving. Being shoved. Laughing it off. A few coins for the Salvation Army. Sandy Clauses: Always fun, no matter how old you are. Toys. Tired sales people. But at last all done. And Christmas Eve: trimming the tree; arranging the gifts; drinking a good luck toast.

Then back to classes. . . . The short sprint to mid-years. Exams coming up. Cramming. Loss of sleep. Plenty of coffee or coca cola. All-night studying. Notes, notes, notes. Books, books, books. Grind, grind, grind. And then the day. Alumni Hall: filled with chairs and intelligent heads. Heads filled with facts. Knowledge in the atmosphere. Coat racks in the hall. Blue books and ink bottles. Bored proctors. Chalk numbers on the floor at the head of each row. The clock on the wall. The back boards and the baskets. The banners hung around. Scribble, scribble, scribble. Think, think, think. Or better yet . . . don't think; just write. Mental exhaustion. But at last it's finished. Exams completed. The pressure is relieved. Binges and whoopie are in order. Suspense again until the grades are published. Worry, worry. Then the verdict—and the axe. The ranks depleted. Dear faces missing; some forever. The dean's list posted. The lucky men cutting recklessly.

Comes the storm . . . ice and snow. Camp metamorphosis. Sunlight on the snow—glaring, hurting the eyes; moonlight on the snow—day in night. Ski pants, boots, mittens, jackets, caps, woolen shirts—all in evidence. Even skis. A clear, cold weather. Red noses, a lilting mood. Then the snow shovels. The plows. And slush, dirt. A cloud. Running noses, sour faces. Coughs and fevers. Sleds and toboggans. Children coasting. Snowball battles. The crunchy sound of heavy shoes on packed snow. Cars stuck in drifts; cars skidding on hidden ice. Chains rattling and clanking. Buses crowded. Such is winter.

About this time. . . . Prexy's convention with the Trinity College Chapel Alumni Association: all workmen who were employed in constructing the chapel. Then a banquet. Speeches. Good fellowship. The understanding fostered by a common cause. Reminiscences and vague yearnings. Then dispersal for another year.

More social life; . . . the glee club. Fifty men directed by Mr. Clarence Waters. And opening concert at the Hartford

R.B.O. - B.D., LL.D., LITT.D. ETC. -

Retreat. The singers all looking very natty in their evening clothes. The audience very appreciative. Then at Marot Junior College. Girls. And more than appreciative. The boys well entertained. Incipient correspondences. Herb Slate the man of the evening; surrounded by girls. It must be the romance in his voice. And highlight of the season: Smith College sends its choral representatives to join with our singers in a mixed concert. More girls. Distributed among the houses for dinner. The girls charming; the boys charmed. The concert very fine even if the Hartford Courant didn't think so. Dick Barnes and Herb Slate soloing very nicely. Dancing—and the Trinity Pipes take over during the intermission. They get a big hand. A popular organization the Pipes; a quintet, polished, clever. They sing for the alumni. They sing at Dr. Ogilby's social gatherings. They sing at the Jesters' performances. Stars of the stage, radio, screen (?). They sing high, low, and everywhere. Then the Glee Club singing with the student nurse group at the Hartford Hospital. More dancing; more meetings; more friendships. The club is lauded everywhere it sings. A mounting reputation. And two more concerts scheduled: one with the Connecticut College for Women; and one at the Oxford School. Hard work. But plenty of compensation.

In the choir . . . sixteen men; sixteen song birds. All are members of the glee club; all are proficient singers. All look very cherubic in their white cottas. Their renditions a feature of Wednesday and Sunday chapel services.

of thee i sing

beauty and the beasts

Athletics again . . . and a wrestling club organized. Big boys. Little boys. Not many but enough. Meetings and practice in the old gym's visiting team room. A thin mat on the floor. Dust on the mat. Perspiration on the boys. The boys on the mat. So dust on the boys. Twisting, spinning. Tackling, butting. Grunts and groans. Slapping, gripping. Pushing, pulling. Great fun! No meets yet, but soon perhaps.

Flash back to early winter . . . the swimming team, not too strong. Captain Aksomitas, breast-stroke dependable, resigns. Don Smith elected in his place. Only three lettermen from last year. Tibbals, Smith, and Conway, holder of the pool one hundred fifty yard backstroke record. Two capable sophomores from last year's freshman team to fill in: Morhardt and Orfitelli.

But prospects on the whole are rather dismal. The swimmers work hard. Stroking lap after lap—no kicking. Kicking lap after lap on the flutter boards—no stroking. Practicing turns, more turns. Diving—perfecting old dives, experimenting with new ones. The water in the pool churned and beaten. And after all that, a soothing shower under the powerful new sprinklers. That feeling of numbness in the skin when the water first hits it; then the pleasant reaction. A brisk rub-down with a towel and through for the day. Coach Joe Clarke working hard too, developing the team somewhat. But the power is lacking. Fewer wins than losses. But all the meets are interesting. Swimming is a sport which approaches the aesthetic in effect; the element, water, is the reason.

Hopes high for next year. . . . Ed Conway (captain-elect), Orfitelli, Morhardt will be back. Coach Joe Clarke will have the pick of this year's freshman squad. The best freshman season since the freshman rule was established. And probably the best for many years to come. An undefeated team. Led by Dave Tyler who has broken four records in the course of the season. Dave considered Olympic material (if we ever see another Olympic gathering). Bill Fleming, Sharp, McClure, and Bonee all certain point winners for next year. Six freshman victories; no defeats. Season's climax: the Wesleyan meet. The freshmen breaking six records. So boring, this constant winning. So the youngsters deserve a little praise. But not just now. Perhaps when they have splashed to varsity honors next year.

And squash . . . the season little more than a series of conditioning workouts. The team very poor. Losing five matches, winning two. Losses to Amherst, Williams, Wesleyan, Dartmouth and M. I. T. Wins from the Aetna Life team (which is not very good either). But next year should be better. All lettermen returning, and all either freshmen or sophomores now. If no luck next year, the following will be the one to watch. So squash, rapidly becoming popular among the students, is well on its way to becoming a pride as well as a pleasure.

So the winter sports end . . . then an interlude. Players relaxing. No necessity for early hours; no abstinences required. The boys enjoy life. They play. Even if it is Lent. Center of vision—vacation. Center of vacation—folks and girls. The winter sports banquet: Ed Conway elected captain of the swimming team; basketball election postponed.

Then notices on the bulletin boards . . . baseball practice in the gym. Balls flying around—too many balls. They seem so small after one has been handling a basketball. And they are so much harder! Poor light; no room. Dangerous. But only one casualty: Billy Ryan, looking the wrong way, hit on the mouth. A real need: the much discussed field house. Soon maybe?

Last year's team . . . awful. No pitch-

style*

*a good string of

a good beginning

ing, no hitting. Taking it on the chin from all sides. An opening win from Swathmore (Ed Morris pitching good ball despite his negative arm). A loss to Yale (Stevens setting us down scoreless for several innings; the Yale batters bunching their hits to score the necessary winning run). Another game dropped to Vermont—hits for them; errors for us. A win from Clarke—everybody hitting. Then a string of defeats. Total: two wins, one tie, eight losses. The tie with Wesleyan in a thirteen-inning game. (Daddario runs wild; then commits the error which gives us the tying run as DeBona wallops the pill.) The second game going to Wesleyan in fifteen innings. We lose.

But this year. . . . Coach Jessee optimistic again and rightly so. Bill Kelly captains a classy ball club. All the veterans of last year returning. Several good sophs on deck. Tommy Ford and Joe Beidler expected to furnish the hitting power which was lacking last year. Bill Scully slated to handle most of the pitching assignments. So no disappointments, we hope. Dan Jessee will drive his players and teach his players. And how can a driving, well-trained team lose?

Baseball and the upper gym . . . track in the lower. Calisthenics, rope-skipping, grunts, perspiration. Sprinters practicing starts. Hurlers developing form and timing. Feet pounding on the dime-sized indoor track. Jim Caffrey pacing the milers.

Last year's team . . . not very glorious. But they break four records. First the Worcester Tech meet—and Mark Rainsford tosses the javelin—record. But we lose the meet. Then the R. P. I. meet—three more records fall. Bill Ryan trotting a hundred yards in ten flat for his record. Then Herb Pankratz going off for a quarter mile jaunt in fifty and five-tenths seconds; and shortly after that Tommy McLaughlin floats along the half mile distance in two minutes and eight-tenths of a second—a new record. We win that meet. So in one respect the season is a success. We win some meets, lose more. But the records compensate for the losses.

This year . . . all four record holders still here. And the mile record in danger.

DOCTOR HOTT, SPRING IS HERE,
WHEN DO WE GET THAT LECTURE

Jim Caffrey and Ed Rosen both shooting at it. But last year's captain, Borie Paelia, is gone. He leaves a large gap in the field events, but sundry hopefuls will be out there working hard to replace him. Perhaps a few will succeed. Then with a little luck Trinity may ride to the top. But it is doubtful. For the third year Coach Oosting is depending greatly upon Co-

captains Tom McLaughlin and Herb Pankratz.

Easter coming up . . . early this year.
More tests and more cramming. March weather in New England: snow still on the ground; a cold wet atmosphere.

Everyone preparing to leave for home.

But first another Senate dance . . . on the last weekend before classes end. The Knights of Trinity again—getting better and better. More girls. More fun. (Our theme song.) More of the watered blood of McFall. More struggling on the dance floor. This time—Indian Summer, My Last Good-by, All the Things You Are, and Cherokee. Everyone agreeing that it is a fine way to raise funds for the Field House.

At this time a drive for funds . . . the new dormitory (so long predicted) finally to become a reality. The money procured.
The word given. Prexy signs the contract.
And the construction. New noises and sights on the campus now: steam shovels hissing and snorting; excavation in progress; trucks running around; scaffolding going up; traffic to boardman hall passing under the southern archway rather than along the former path between Cook Dormitory and the chemistry building. Laborers mingled with students. Everyone curious: a constant group of spectators at the scene of action.

Then vacation . . . everyone gone. But the IVY staff remains. Work, work, make-up; dummy; copy to be written; advertising to be solicited; pictures to be developed. Time flies; nothing accomplished. Spring cleaning in the library (it is needed). The new dormitory beginning to rise above the surface of the ground. Snow. Rain. And hurried last-minute work on the IVY: late hours, little sleep, nervous strain. Disgust and mental let-down. But at last—finis. And relaxation for a time.

The baseball team returning one day early . . . practice sessions outside. New uniforms looking clean and fragile. But mud on the ground; so mud on the uniforms. Batting practice. Broken bats. Foul balls. Fielding practice. Everyone misjudging balls. Everyone feeling awkward, clumsy. Arms a little stiff. Sliding, base-running. After practice the familiar scenes in the locker room. Players sitting limply on the benches, too tired to open their lockers; chunks of dirt from their shoes

scattered about on the floor. Sliding pads, undershirts, caps, gloves.

Return to classes . . . regretfully. Easter grades. More regrets and resolutions. Spring weather finally arriving, giving resolutions a test. Overcoats put aside for topcoats; topcoats discarded for sweaters; finally not even sweaters.

And the tennis team . . . doing all right for itself last year. Winning six matches, losing three. Victories over Bowdoin, Swarthmore, Vermont, Tufts, Springfield and Clarke. Losses to Wesleyan and Williams. Parsons, Bates, and Captain Rohowsky top men.

This year . . . tennis again looks good. Parsons, Bates and Rohowsky gone. But Cleveland and Fisher, two sophomores, to take over the No. 1 and No. 2 spots supported by Mills, Taylor, Carpenter, Dunnebier, Foley and Day. Coach McCloud not too optimistic, but hopeful.

And so to work . . . the final sprint. Study, baseball, track, tennis. The Spring Dance. Another Jester's play. House parties. Chapel. Bull sessions. Plans for the summer. Exams. Exams. Exams. And then commencement will finish the story.

Plans for the summer: Maine, Watch Hill, Long Island, the White Mountains, Gaspé. Clear-green water, waves rippling, lapping. Boats, moonlight bathing; girls—brunette and brown; rides along the shore roads. Rest, fun, romance.

And more European developments. Hitler extending his activities. Norway, Denmark, Holland, Belgium drawn into the conflict. A struggle in Europe: the mud; the tanks; the machine guns; the uniformed men; the drone of planes, not distant but close—too close; the glint, the upheaval of bombs; the people (those who are able) running; and the whine of shells. Struggle there; precautions here. Much discussion, many conjectures: students determined that peace shall reign, reluctant to shoulder the symbolic rifle.

Exams, exams, exams. All worldly matters ignored for a time; the rule of books supreme. A little strain and labor; then the finish. Alumni Hall, the blue books, the chairs, and the proctors. And the commencement will finish the story.

Ralph Shelly

THE SENATE

THE 1939-1940 Senate got under way in the latter part of May, 1939 with Ralph Shelly presiding, Jim Neill as secretary and Herb Pankratz handling the finances. The first problem required much consideration and diplomacy; it was deemed necessary to stop "Bottle Night." With the students' coöperation this newly-born tradition did not occur, much to the relief of the janitorial staff of the college.

In the fall with new students entering Trinity the Senate planned to introduce them to the Senate Dances, appropriations going to a field house. The first dance was successful financially and socially, nearly a hundred students attending. During the course of the year three such dances netted the Field House Fund approximately one hundred dollars.

In February President Shelly inaugurated a new plan to hold College Body Meetings in the Chemistry Auditorium in place of the Wednesday morning Chapel Service. These meetings are to be held monthly to give outside speakers, faculty members, and students a chance to talk before the students more freely; they can arouse student interest in College problems and interest, provide excellent opportunities for pep rallies in the fall, and afford an opportunity for announcement of important college functions.

MEDUSA

Pst!—The Medusa will get you if you don't watch out! But it will be rooting for you if you do. This Senior honorary society is as exotic as esoteric, and membership is a rare Trinity honor.

strongarm—medusa

But few become members, and their records of service and excellence are varied and enviable. Although honorary, the Medusa has an important function in maintaining order at Trinity. Around the Medusa clings one of the last vestiges of Trinity tradition. Lit by candlelight, with the entire Junior class arranged in a circle about the Bishop's statue, the scene during the selection of members is a fascinating and moving ritual.

PHI BETA KAPPA

Eight "key" men were elected to the Trinity Chapter of the Phi Beta Kappa Fraternity. These initiates have the unique experience of becoming members of the National Fraternity at a time when it is under the leadership of a woman, Marjorie Hope Nicolson, dean of Smith College. For the first time since it was founded at William and Mary College in 1776, the only honorary fraternity in the world has decided to make a woman its president. The Trinity Chapter, known as the Beta of Connecticut, was chartered in June 1845. There are one hundred and thirty-two chapters of Phi Beta Kappa, with a membership of 86,000.

PI GAMMA MU

On March 15, at a meeting of the honorary society, Pi Gamma Mu, eight students and Professor Edward T. Lampson were initiated.

These selections were made primarily on the basis of excellence in scholarship of students majoring in the social sciences, history, economics, and philosophy. E. T. Lampson was chosen for his contributions to the social sciences.

SEABURY SOCIETY

Founded in 1936 for the purpose of uniting students interested in religion and social work, and to develop and foster spiritual life at Trinity, the Seabury Society had a successful and promising fourth year. The members serve in different churches throughout the city as Sunday-school teachers, directors of boys' clubs, and as social service workers.

THE NEWMAN CLUB

The Newman Club, which meets on the first and third Mondays of each month, entered its second year at Trinity, confident of cementing its position among the more active college organizations. It endeavors to bring the Catholic students together to mingle spiritual benefits with social pleasures.

Soon after the beginning of the Fall Term, Dr. Ogilby invited the members to breakfast with him at the Commons after Mass in the crypt chapel.

Invited by the St. Joseph collegians to an evening of dancing and bridge on January, the members turned out in full force, making the year a social and cultural success.

POLITICAL SCIENCE CLUB

No budding politicians are the members of the Political Science Club and no zealous reformers are they. Under the guidance of the History Department, the club has maintained its traditional scholastic aloofness, watching and discussing with keen interest the passing political scene from without.

No closed shop, the meetings of the club are thrown open to all the members of the college body.

So far the club has had two speakers: Dr. Meyers, head of the Linguistics Department, and Mr. Atkins, director of Governmental Research, Inc.

President John J. Karp, the Gentleman from Suffield, and Secretary Peter Rihl, of the City of Perfect Friendship, are arranging the rest of the year's program.

Chief need: members and money.

CHEMISTRY CLUB

The Chemistry Club was organized in 1937 in order to unite those students interested in chemistry and to furnish them with the opportunity to do more than the regular classwork. Meeting after classes the members take up aspects of chemistry not covered in the college courses. Contact is kept by the club with chemistry students of other colleges and the boys are given a chance for self-expression.

During the course of the year papers are read by the members describing some special work in the field of chemistry that they have carried on. In the Spring representatives are sent to the Connecticut Valley Student Scientific Conference.

NYAY, NYAH, Y'CAN'T CATCH ME!

SCIENCE CLUB

The Trinity Science Club was established last year to give those students with scientific interests an opportunity to gain certain relatively non-technical information upon subjects not covered by the college curriculum. Having begun under the guidance of Dave Davidson, the club is now led by an executive committee of Paul Goodwin, Keith Watson, Ted Metheny, and Jack Ritter, representing the fields of chemistry, physics, civil engineering, and mathematics, respectively.

The high point of last year's season was the banquet at the end of the academic year. It was attended by more than a score of club members and also by Professors Dadourian and Doolittle.

DEBATING CLUB

With a glorified paper-hanger, a

Roosian, and a British umbrellaman engaging various aggressors in several types of war in Europe this season, and with numerous otherwise normal men glaring at each other over the honor of being elected by the American mass to the presidency, the debating society of '39-'40 did not lack for debating material. Neither did it lack in interest, for there were two debates with St. Joseph's College. One of these was an informal tussle held in the seclusion of the girls' college, and the other a formal debate was designed to startle radio-listeners who were trying to find a good program in the early evening. As is always the case, where there are cackling, feminine admirers, the Banty Rooster was overjoyed at these opportunities of displaying his fine feathers. Debates were also held with Harvard and Wesleyan University.

It is without question that the Debating Society has contributed something to Trinity College and something to the men who have taken the opportunity of developing the club's possibilities.

"LES AMIS DE MARIANNE"

Sous la conduite du Professeur Louis H. Naylor et de Monsieur John R. THE TRINITY REVIEW

The Trinity Review successfully completed its second year. Its future has not yet been determined, but each year establishes it more firmly as a Trinity institution. Editor Morris established the policy of a more liberal editorial policy, extending the range of material into fields less dignified, perhaps, but undeniably entertaining. His motto was "Let's make the Trinity Review a real anthology of college writing."

THE TRIPOD

The Tripod is an organ designed to present local news, to influence campus opinion through its editorials, and to serve as a medium for the exchange of faculty, student, and alumni opinion.

The Editor-in-Chief is responsible for the policies and general supervision of the paper. Eddy Burnham as Editor, has frowned on the present status of college spirit and politics in class elections while the outstanding success of several organizations, and the contributions to the field house fund, were given just praise.

members of the society will closet themselves to choose for members those Sophomores who give promise through extra-curricula activities of being leaders during the remainder of their college days.

INTERFRATERNITY AND INTRODUCTION TO FRATERNITIES

TRINITY was among the first colleges in the country to foster secret fraternities. I.K.A. was only four years the junior of the oldest social fraternity in America.

Back in 1850 the local Epsilon Chapter was admitted into the fold of the national fraternity of Delta Psi. But not until 1877 did another local society become part of a national chain. At this time the literary society members of Phi Kappa put on Alpha Delt pins.

A couple of years later a group of students who disagreed with the policies of the then existing societies banded together and were granted a charter by the DKE fraternity. The next year the Beta Beta local fraternity became the Beta Beta Chapter of Psi Upsilon.

Trinity can well be proud that from a small group of five men banded together with the title of Alpha Chi Rho, sprang the national fraternity by this name which now has active chapters in eighteen colleges.

Originally the Delta Chi Chapter of Sigma Nu was composed of men who lived off campus, but in 1918 they joined the national fraternity and became, both an on-and-off campus group.

There is but one local society left on campus now—Alpha Tau Kappa.

cosmopolites—crow

It is the duty of the Interfraternity Council to keep peace in this family.

ALPHA CHI RHO

The Phi Psi Chapter of Alpha Chi Rho house-warmed the new chapter house by pledging seventeen freshmen, thus bolstering the number of aces in the pack to fifty-two. Under Ralph Shelly's deft shuffling many of the brothers were prominent tricks in campus activity. Seven brothers won their football letters, four starred on the basketball court, and the same number will make as fine a showing on the baseball diamond. Bob Ely, Andy Loscalzo, and Walt Flanders were varsity dealers in football, baseball, and swimming respectively. Herb Bland was business score-keeper of the Tripod.

The chapter, never reneging socially, sponsored many dances and get-togethers; the Alumni reception and the house-warming that followed the Worcester Tech game were outstanding successes. Bob Randall introduced a new college function in the form of a successful song-fest that gave the chemistry auditorium another welcomed utility.

The chapter is playing a good hand in the intra-mural athletic schedule, having won the first leg of the new Peter B. Ogilby Basketball Trophy.

In Mark Rainsford's no trump hand was the direction of Silas the Chore Boy and the difficult job of finessing photographic shots for this Ivy and telling people what to write for them. Bill Speed and Mid Rinehart have already successfully closed their bids for John Hopkins and the University of Maryland Medical Schools respectively.

ALPHA DELTA PHI

From the beginning of the year with the college cut-throat rushing, Alpha Delta Phi has attempted to keep its head above the scholastic waters in spite of the whirlpools of activities in which the Alpha Deltas are habitually submerged. These numerous and turbulent activities (sponsored and participated in by an impressive Who's Who) include those of the fraternity, and run the gauntlet of the Editor-in-Chief of this year's Ivy through various athletics, such as soccer, basketball, swimming, a little squash, varsity soccer, basketball, baseball, and other extra-curricular activities as the Jesters, the Debating Club, the Political Science Club, the Tripod; ad Trinitatis infinitum.

To augment the helter-skelter of college life, the Alpha Deltas, under the direction of head designer and construction manager Fred Dickson, remodeled the cellar into a lively, cozy suite. The grand opening of "the cellar" as a stamping ground for parties and the like, occurred during the gay round of parties the Wesleyan week-end.

In February, the initiation of eight neophytes, Dr. Edward L. Troxell of the Trinity faculty, and Dr. Leslie of the St. Mark's Methodist Church in Brookline, Mass., terminated the usual "Hell Week."

During the first few weeks, the Alumni gathered around for an occasional tea; many dropped back for the Wesleyan week-end. In the spring a smoker contributed to the house festivities. Recently, a large Alpha Delt delegation enjoyed a rousing week-end at the Amherst parties. During the winter half of the Trinity term, the house conducted a quiet dance for the brothers which, because of the usual Alpha Delt spirit, was another success.

The international fraternity of Alpha Delta Phi, now consisting of twenty-seven active chapters in fourteen States and three Canadian provinces, was founded in eighteen hundred thirty-two by Samuel Ells at Hamilton College. A fraternal organization known as the "Phi Kappa Society" was the genesis of the Phi Kappa Chapter of Alpha Delta Phi.

ALPHA TAU KAPPA

Alpha Tau Kappa, Trinity's only local fraternity, returned in the fall to the campus with eight members. The ranks were depleted by graduation. By Roosevelt's Thanksgiving, however, the ATK's were fifteen strong, for six freshmen and one sophomore were pledged. With great cheer and beer they welcomed all their members after the mid-year toll and roll was taken.

A.T.K. entered intra-mural competition in all intra-mural sports with great enthusiasm, and gave some good competition. And with as much vigor commenced a drive for a fraternity flag to be hung in the Chapel of the Perfect Friendship. The addition of the A.T.K. flag will complete the full representation of all the fraternities on Campus. During the year numerous successful social enterprises were held, for which a jolly number of alumni returned. The A.T.K.'s are a small but happy crowd.

THE TRINITY COMMONS CLUB

The Trinity Commons Club explicitly does not want to be classed as, or otherwise become, a Greek letter fraternity. After its ninth year since its founding, the Commons Club has realized its original aim. That aim is to provide an opportunity for members of the neutral body to become acquainted with each other in activities and fellowship, and to provide a group in which members of the faculty may meet their students on a social basis. Founded by a group of students dining at the old Commons, it has continued the custom of holding business and social meetings in the Lounge every Wednesday evening, preceded by a dinner in the college cafeteria.

During the past year the Club has held a theater party, a Christmas party—followed by an entertainment presented by the pledges, and a Wesleyan-Trinity Week-end Dance.

ALPHA CHI OF DELTA KAPPA EPSILON

At the College Rally in September the Alpha Chi Chapter of Delta Kappa Epsilon received the Hartford Alumni Scholarship Cup which is awarded annually to the fraternity having the highest scholastic standing on the campus. This marked the second time in three years that Alpha Chi has won this cherished cup.

At the end of Rushing Week the Dekes pledged fourteen men, the largest delegation in the history of Alpha Chi. Seven of these men were taken into the bonds on March 9th. Over thirty-five Alumni returned for this festive occasion, including the fathers of two of the initiates.

The Dekes commenced their social season this year with an informal dance at the end of Rushing Week. After the Trinity-Wesleyan football game Alpha Chi entertained returning Alumni and visiting Wesleyan Dekes at a tea dance with Mancho and His Native Rhythm Band. That evening Alpha Chi held her annual formal dance. In addition, the Chapter has held numerous small parties and dances at the House intermittently throughout the year.

The Dekes have succeeded in maintaining their small but solidified status numerically and their influential position in college activities. The Chapter has been represented athletically by its members on the varsity basketball, baseball, soccer, and track squads, and on the freshman football, basketball, baseball, tennis, and swimming teams. Alpha Chi has retained her active position on the college paper with Burnham and Crockett as successive editors. Also, in the Jesters, the Dekes have been prominent both in the administration of, acting in, and directing of college plays with Eddy Burnham at the helm and George Butterworth aiding the smooth running of things by taking one of the leading ladies home every time they got together for rehearsal.

SIGMA CHAPTER OF DELTA PHI

The Sigma Chapter of Delta Phi started off the year with a rather small membership but after a successful rushing season added ten freshmen to their total. By the grace of the dean and some concentrated cramming some members barely grazed by the midyear ax. Thus, during the course of the year, seven neophytes were taken into the brotherhood.

Delta Phi is not surfeited with men of muscle, and unerring eye, but Don Viering has valiantly carried the Delta fight onto the football field; Ted Foley played on the tennis team, and pledge Hodgkins dove for the frosh tankmen.

The other intellectual Delta Phi's graced many of the academic clubs. Brother Lew Sheen, active with the Jesters for three years, was rewarded by being installed in the presidency. Pledge Brazel was elected vice president of the Sophomore class. Brothers Getz and Colton acted as secretaries for the Seabury and Newman Societies. The Tripod, Glee Club, Choir, Jesters, and Trinity Review each claim Delta Phi's.

At various times throughout the year the brethren tore themselves away from the grind to engage in congenialities. The Soph Hop week-end in November was the year's highlight: the Hop, following a hair-raising football game with Wesleyan in the afternoon, pleasantly but thoroughly exhausted the hosts and their house guests. Several other dances held at the house helped to keep them in the swim and swing.

The physical condition of the house was enhanced by several improvements, notably in the basement, where a recreation room adamites—delta phi

was installed in September. A piano, bridge table and ping-pong table have made this chamber their favorite retreat.

DELTA PSI

The Delta Psi's couped the largest delegation in their history as the result of a highly successful rushing season, pledging twenty-three men.

The St. Anthony men were well represented in all school organizations. Proof of their prominence is a brief and incomplete account of the following: Varsity football; John Dimling, all-state tackle. The freshman football team have seven "Saints" on the squad—five on the first team. Their squash monopoly has made them uncontested winners of the trophy. Winter week-ends are spent skiing. Former prep-school rink-sweepers keep in trim by playing such local schools as Choate and Kingswood in informal matches.

St. Anthony sets an impressive social pace, and through the kindness of Bill Dick, the public is mindful of their super-bourgeois binges. The Wesleyan week-end was celebrated by a gala dance, a series of cocktail parties, and milk punch get-togethers. The latest big week-end, on March 2nd, celebrated the initiations of sixteen men with thirty alumni present.

Among the school organizations in whose dilettants—psi u

ranks the St. Anthony men are prominent, the Tripod staff includes Comstock and Gorman as Assignment and Managing Editors respectively. The house is also represented on the board of editors of the Trinity Review.

PSI U

The honorable Joseph Buffington, Trinity '75, an esteemed member of the Beta Beta Chapter of Psi Upsilon, exclaimed during a recent visit, "I am going to devote the rest of my life to Trinity and to Psi U." During the year the members of Beta Beta have tried to live up to this statement by placing Trinity first, Psi U second in all their activities.

In athletics, according to custom, Psi U has concentrated upon swimming. In varsity meets, Brothers Smith, Tibbals, and Earle have splashed their way to victory in frequent occasions, while R. Neill and Jones have displayed good form on the diving board. On the Freshman squad, Casey Cuddy, McClure, and Hoadley have represented the house. During the fall Cobb played Freshman football. On the soccer field Jones, Bestor, Dunn, and W. Johnson jumbled the ball for the varsity, while Pearson, Casey and Captain Ives were found booting for the freshmen. James Neill was Varsity Cross-country manager.

The bright spot of the year was Brother Smith's December announcement of his engagement. Worst blow to Psi Upsilon and to the College was the loss of Brother Philip McCook to whose memory the future hopes and aspirations of the brothers are devotedly and affectionately dedicated.

SIGMA NU FRATERNITY

In spite of last June's loss of the inspiring leadership of our graduating class; in spite of the loss of many of the outstanding graduates this mid-year; in spite of the fire which rendered their chapter house uninhabitable for three weeks last Spring and the freezing of the heating system in January which put them out for two weeks more, the Sigma Nu's continue to put up a united front with a common desire to make their fraternity excell on Trinity's campus.

Scholastically, the seniors' grades are among the highest in the history of the

When a friend calls to me from the road
And slows his horse to a meaning walk
I don't stand still and look around
On all the hills I haven't hoed,
And shout from where I am, What is it?
No, not as there is a time to talk.
I thrust my hoe in the mellow ground,
Blade-end up and five feet tall,
And plod: I go up to the stone wall
For a friendly visit.

chapter, an average of 83. Yet, as usual the brothers excell in athletics. The entire backfield and three starting linemen were Sigma Nu's. Don Smith was swimming representative, being captain of the team. Commander Dick Lindner, in addition to being a Little All-American guard and basketball captain, is a member of the Medusa and a member of Pi Gamma Mu.

THE CLASS OF 1940

With the war booming here and abroad, and business rumored to be on the upswing, the Class of '40 is to make its debut amidst conditions which offer great opportunities. From its record on the Hill, it should not fail to recognize these opportunities and make the most of them.

Five of its diminishing ranks have proved their scholastic mettle by being elected to Phi Beta Kappa; Andrian, Bilka, McCarthy, Yetman, and Wolf earned their keys. At the last class meeting, Shelly was again elected President; Lindner, Vice-president; Pankratz, Secretary-Treasurer; Dimling, is to be the chairman of the class-day exercises; Randall, class prophet; Hopkins, class historian; Wolf, class statistician; and Morris, class poet.

In football Rihl, Kelly, Hopkins, Lindner, Alexander, Dimling, Randall, and Jacy received letters for their superior playing. Randall, Ferguson, and Captain Lindner, of the basketball team, held the court. Captain Smith and Tibbals were turbines on the swimming team. The highest honor at Trinity, election to the Medusa, was coveted by three Seniors who were eminent throughout their four years; Shelly, Lindner, and Burnham.

The Junior Class History

The class of '41 aroused the sequestered bowers of the Trinity Campus in September of 1937 and prepared for the smashing success of fall training by repairing to the various establishments over the rocks while the football team got into shape under the barking orders of Coach Erickson: "Ya got it? Ya got a girl? O.K. All right, all right, o.k." (ad infinitum.) Meanwhile we were all safely matriculated with the aid of Dr. Aydelotte's bright blue bonnet. Dr. Bissonette enlightened us as to the facts of life concerning Northam Nellie's growth—like the little tree in Hellzapoppin—and consequently caused us to rush to the Hofbrau to bury our blushes in beer. After that our education progressed rapidly.

The following year came wind and flood and the men from Mars. To fight both there were volunteers with Rihl and Walsh hastily packing to oppose the latter. Because of these distractions, organized athletics took an apparent slump, with the basketball team being our only real pride and joy of the year.

For this, our Junior Year, several of us skinned back from Europe in the nick of time and found the gridiron grunTERS ready for slaughter, which happened both to them and by them. It was an admirable and fighting team. Among our great sorrows, however, was the loss of Northam Nellie, for although she was supplanted by the Hartford Junior College girls, who are taking our chemistry courses, we fear that she shall never be emulated.

In serious retrospect; we have seen how the seasons change from the ivy's autumnal russet to its interlacing winter white and have seen spring give bud to summer in all her warmth and velvet green. But the seasons have not always come in order; the cold hand has been felt in spring and summer, laying to earth one more comrade. First from our own class, Edmund Chapman passed during the fall of our freshman year, William Schrim in the class of thirty-nine the following year, and after him, Philip McCook class of forty—all companions, all whose spirits linger with us.

The seasons must be taken in their time though winter may unexpectedly set in; one must sow before he reaps, and harvest before the banquet. Another stanza to our college song has been sung, "It's oft that we'll meet all our classmates to greet 'neath the elms of our old Trinity," for in the bowers of our memory our college days shall always live and we shall glorify the history of the class of forty-one; it is the only history that we have and the best that we shall know.

HARVEY & LEWIS DOES ALL NARRATIVE PHOTOGRAPHIC DEVELOPING AND PRINTING FOR 1941 IVY

Hartford, Conn., April 30 (T. P.)—Harvey and Lewis of 852 Main Street, Hartford, who have been this city's leading photographic supply house for 50 years, scored another hit this year by taking complete charge of the '41 Ivy's photographic needs. They provided at immediate notice film, flash-bulbs and consolation when each was necessary, and then developed and printed the film on even shorter order. We quote chief photographer Rainsford who says, "Harvey and Lewis have been invaluable to me in my work on the 1941 Ivy. Orchids to them!"

CAMPUS CONFESSIONS

SUCCESS STORIES MADE TO ORDER

Ralph Rushmore McRandell, bum vivant of Pennsylvucky University and No People, Dakota, says: "I was the leading growler rusher on the campus. Freshmen mentioned my name with maximum obeisancy, upper-classmen mentioned it with respect, the feculty merely mentioned it. Suddenly, I became tired, fatigued, and generally bushed. Desperate, I went to my advisor, Dean O'Gilby. 'McRandell,' says he, lighting his pipe and blowing a cloud of smoke in my face, 'McRandell, what you need is a pipeful of good old Kentucky Club.' Now, in my fifth year at P.U., I am rushing the growler with an unprecedented joie de vivre."

Campus leaders all over the country, like R. R. McR., are laying smoke-screens over the ivy-clad walls of their peculiar institutions with pipefuls of Kentucky Club.

HERE'S PROOF

Laboratory tests have shown that K.C. will burn at 1000 degrees C. and gets mighty cold at 30 below. Its pyrotechnic qualities enable the smoker to blow THIRTEEN (13) MORE SMOKE RINGS PER TIN!!!

When a dog bites a man, it's not news; when Kentucky Club bites your tongue, that is news . . . In fact it's a gol darn lie!

ARE YOU suffering from falling hair, flat feet, pygidium pains, or nostalgia? Do you always arrive at your classes too early, have trouble in getting off the Dean's list, go to chapel too often? Sma'ten up. Forget your troubles and fill up your pipe with K.C.!!

CAMPUS EXCHANGES

Dean Should, President of Smellsly College, says: "I have found that good old K.C. helps our girls through that difficult period at examination time."

Carol Carillon, college belle of the deep South, says: "I've no beef coming. We-all girls used to smoke hams, but now we smoke nothing but good old K.C."

Etta Kake, of Racing-on-the-Hudson and Public School 16, home economics major, says: "Who says I can't make a cake? You should see my pipe after smoking K.C."

Aloysius P. Popyourtopolis, Greek professor at large, says: "I never throw books at my students except in self defense or when they stay out of class for a pipeful of K.C."

"Times like the present, when all traditions moral, and legal concept generally accepted, time thought of treaties or legal methods of agreement nary social and political struggles—such times a in which the whole life of society is thrown into in such a political, social, intellectual and moral intellectual struggle will come to an end. It is, after a

"The reaction will come and in the darkest hour many and Italy, you can watch new spiritual currents new political science . . . A new and better synthesis, and of state authority and discipline on the

"The whole historical development of mankind of a constantly higher and juster, a socially and morally, more advanced and its fine education would comprehend its duties to the authority of an inner freedom of the spirit, which would show a spontaneous readiness time not be subjected to any mechanical discipline or authority. I see then That is why I stand behind democracy and defend it from conviction, and

"Is it not a violent brutal and barbarian social disruption and moral destroyed by the political practices of the authoritarian states? Since 1932 the most fundamental articles . . . one treaty after the other; the intervention a system of their daily politics; they continued to make public speeches, treachery and a misleading of their own nation and of other governments times they have broken it, they have accepted every kind of pledge and them all. We call certain other periods in history the Dark Ages; but this

are ruthlessly broken, when there is no firm philosophical, religious, or moral principles in which political and social regimes are abolished brutally without mercy and when new regimes are created in violent and frequently sanguinary, as we all know, times of upheaval and revolution. They are also times of intellectual chaos, times of moral and intellectual crisis. We live today in a crisis in Europe and the world. I do not doubt that this great political and intellectual crisis, nothing new . . . no nation can live forever in slavery.

It is already on the way . . . Today in England, in France, even in Germany, struggles for a new philosophy, a new morality, a new law and a synthesis between the freedom of the individual man and citizen, on the one side, and the freedom of the state, on the other side, will again be realized. . . .

History and always has been one gigantic, heroic struggle for the realization of the advanced freedom of the human personality, which by its high moral standards demands of the state, to society as a whole, which could be disciplined and yet have the freedom to understand its social, national, and civic duties and at the same time to have the freedom to choose which system—dictatorship or democracy—is in my opinion superior. I shall defend it to the end of my life.

It is a tragedy of world history, when today the whole system of international law is destroyed. The Covenant of the League of Nations was sabotaged and violated in its own name. The declarations of the authoritarian states in the internal affairs of their neighbors became declarations and manifestations which have been revealed as public secrets abroad; they have given their word hundreds of times and hundreds of times have respected none, they have signed new treaties and have violated them. This is the Age of Midnight in parts of Europe."
