

Dan Jessee Selected to Teach Baseball Overseas

Coach May See Duty in Vienna and Paris

By Ike Lasher

Coach Dan Jessee has been selected to instruct approximately two hundred servicemen how to coach baseball to our armed forces personnel overseas. The trainees, mostly officers, will come from all parts of Europe.

Mr. Jessee will leave this Sunday for the National Airport, Washington, D. C. From there he will fly to Frankfurt and Nuremberg, Germany. The five day instruction period is under the auspices of the Special Services Division of the Army and the office of the Adjutant General, U. S. Army.

There is a chance that Jessee, head coach of baseball, football and squash, will also conduct these clinics in Vienna and Paris at the termination of his stay in Germany. He will return to Hartford in the first week of March.

It is interesting to note that since 1945 Jessee has logged 70,000 air miles for the Army while conducting baseball and football schools. He has covered Central and South America and the Pacific Island area. Last summer he toured the Army bases in Greenland, Newfoundland and Labrador.

Engineering Program With Columbia Will Be Initiated Here

The College has entered a cooperative program with the Columbia University School of Engineering which will enable engineering students to get a broad general education before specialization, President Albert C. Jacobs announced recently.

Under the program, qualified students may take part in a special pre-engineering program, which includes general liberal arts training, for their first three years. They will then complete their education with two years of specialized professional courses at the Columbia School of Engineering.

Upon completion of the necessary requirements here and at Columbia, the student will be granted the Bachelor of Science degree from both institutions. The program thus offers the advantages of both a liberal arts education and technical training in five years of study rather than the longer period that would usually be required if each degree were obtained separately.

"Trinity is happy to join with Columbia in this program which recognizes the importance of the liberal arts as a sound background for life," Dr. Jacobs commented. "The aim of this program is to produce engineers who are civic and cultural leaders as well as skilled professional men."

At present, 36 liberal arts institutions are participating in the plan with Columbia. The College already has a similar program with The Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

Only $1520 of Pledged $3600 is Collected to Date

The Campus Chest received pledges for $3600 which is over $600 more than any previous year it was announced Monday. $1520 has been collected; and Dave Roberts, chairman of the drive, stated that there would be a drive to collect the remaining pledges. The date of this drive is tentatively set for next week. There will be a Campus Chest representative in Seabury Lounge throughout the day to collect the money.

Classical Scholar Zimmern Donates Four Hundred Books

Four hundred volumes in the classics have been presented to the College by Sir Alfred Zimmern, noted classical scholar and emeritus professor of International Relations at Oxford.

Sir Alfred, a former visiting professor at the College, is now a resident of Springfield, Mass.

The books, from his personal classical library, are an "outstanding group which will provide valuable background material for Trinity's already-strong collection in the classics," according to Donald B. Engley, College Librarian. They will also provide the Library with duplicate copies of a number of useful and now hard-to-obtain titles, he noted.

Sir Alfred's gift also includes four Aldine Press books, collectors' items by the distinguished 16th Century Italian typographers.

Brown Wins College Quiz Bowl Contest

The Hilltopper entry in the College Quiz Bowl Tournament was defeated at the hands of Brown University by the slim margin of 195 to 170. The team of Jim Sauvage, Bill Dobrovir, Bob Gillooly and Art Wilson lost in the final moments of the program to their opponents from Providence. A chance existed to tie the score on the last question with the score being 185 to 175, favor of Brown.

Ten points are awarded for each correct answer. The rules state that a contestant may answer a question before it is finished. If the response is wrong the contestant's team immediately loses five points and their adversaries may answer the question when it is ended. Dobrovir pressed the buzzer before the completion of the question. His answer was wrong and the Bantams were not permitted to answer the question. The Bruins answered correctly and won the contest.

The Trinity participants were consoled by Alan Ludden who stated that, "Trinity was one of the best teams we've had compete even though they lost." Ludden moderates the program for the N.B.C. network.

Dr. Reinhard H. Luthin, American Political Expert, Replaces Dr. Shaw

This term Dr. Reinhard H. Luthin will be serving as a replacement in the history department for Dr. Shaw, who has been hospitalized due to a serious illness. A specialist in American political history, Dr. Luthin was graduated from Columbia University, where he also received his Master of Arts and Ph.D.

Concerning background, he has taught at Duke University, at Columbia for 13 years, at Trinity during the last two summer sessions, and in the '52-'53 school year he presented courses in American and European history at the University of Dacca, East Bengal, Pakistan with a Fulbright appointment. Dr. Luthin is the author of "The First Lincoln Campaign," Harvard University Press, 1944, and co-author of "Lincoln and the Patronage," published by Columbia University in 1943. The book was written in co-operation with

Thirteen Sophomores Pledged to Seven Houses Last Week

Thirteen of the 14 sophomores who balloted to join fraternities last week were accepted by their first choice houses, it was announced by Interfraternity Council President William G. Godfrey.

The men and their fraternities are: Kenneth Ake, Delta Psi; George Bergerman, Theta Xi; Charles Burt, DKE; Daniel Davis, Psi U; Robert Frantz, Delta Phi; Howard Gartland, Sigma Nu; Pete Lequer, Delta Psi; Paul McCleod, DKE; Carl Meister, Delta Psi; Edward Montgomery, Delta Psi; Jeremiah Maher, Sigma Nu; Henry Williams, Alpha Delta Phi; and Barton Yong, Alpha Delta Phi.

Godfrey announced the results of the one-day rushing period at a special meeting of house presidents and IFC representatives last Thursday afternoon. The IFC will hold a regular meeting in Elton lounge tomorrow night at 7:30 p. m.

Semi-Annual Budgets Requested by Senate

The Senate emphasized Monday night that all organizations which have received appropriations from the Senate must have their semi-annual budget approved by the Senate, and all budgets must be turned in before Thursday, February 18, to Senate Treasurer, Box 64.

Class dance committees shall be made up of one man from each social organization, chosen by that organization, and one man representing the on- and off-campus men, respectively, chosen by class officials. The motion proposed by Senator Taft (Brownell) was passed unanimously.

In consideration of school spirit (or the lack of it), a proposal was made that a new song be substituted for "Fight Trinity," one more lively, more spirited, and more original. The proposition with consideration of a possible emolument was tabled to gather school opinion.

There will be an election by the off-campus seniors, juniors, and sophomores of a Senator to replace Senator Bloodgood, now ineligible, having pledged Sigma Nu. All seniors seeking this position must send petitions, signed by five off-campus neutrals, to John Bloodgood, c/o Box 64, before Monday evening, February 15.

dean-emeritus Harry J. Carman of Columbia College.

Another of Dr. Luthin's books, "American Demagogues: 20th Century," will be published in July by Beacon Press of Boston. It is a detailed study of, as the author says, "American rabble-rousers, from William Jennings Bryan to Senator Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin."

Asked about his stay in Pakistan, Dr. Luthin related that he found student life there drastically different from that in our own country. Unlike Americans, Pakistani students usually consider it below their dignity to take a job on the side, "since they have aspirations of becoming a lazy intellectual aristocracy." Odd jobs are for bearers and other students, and not for the "future leaders of the country."

Jacobs Concerned By Drop in Grades

TX Sweetheart Ball is Friday

The second annual Theta Xi Sweetheart Ball for the benefit of the Hartford Heart Association will be held Friday night at the Hartford Club.

In addition to the music of Bob Halprin's orchestra, intermission entertainment will include personal appearances by Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Maria Riva, and Jane Angelovich, coloratura-soprano.

Dance co-chairman Norman Catir stated that "he hopes to surpass last year's donation of $1400 to the Heart Association", and he urged any interested students to purchase tickets and attend.

Honorary chairman of the dance is Senator William A. Purtell, senator from Connecticut, while Lt. Gov. Edward Allen, and President Jacobs are included on the executive committee.

Highlight of the affair will be the crowning of Miss Dorothy McMannis, Holyoke, '54, as Sweetheart of the chapter for 1954. Miss McMannis is engaged to Jack Kaelber, '54. Governor John D. Lodge will crown the Sweetheart.

Glee Club's First Concert is Saturday

J. Lawrence Coulter's Glee Club will open its schedule this year with a concert this Saturday for the Women's Saturday Afternoon Club of Wethersfield at the Emerson Williams School at 2:30 p. m. A varied program is planned including solos by vocalist Dick Flemming and pianist Rial Ogden.

The club will open with the "Creation" by Willy Richter followed by "Richard De Castre's Prayer to Jesus" by Terry Jacobson, and "Set Down Servant," a Negro spiritual arranged by Shaw.

Also on the program is "Grief" by Dvorak, "A Poet's Monument" by Gretchaninoff, "Father William" from Alice in Wonderland by Irving Fine, "Marcheta" by Victor Scherzinger, "Sweet and Low," Buunker, "Give Me Your Tired, Your Poor" from Miss Liberty by Irving Berlin, and "Forest Invocation" by Jan Sibelius.

Glee Club officers are Tom Thomas, president; Hugh Dickenson, vice-president; manager, Dick Libby; and Scotty Duff, librarian. Next on the club's schedule is a home concert entitled "A Musical Afternoon at Trinity College" to be given March 6.

College Calendar Features Free Concert, Film, Exhibit

Four free public events are listed on the College calendar for the month of February.

A concert will be presented by Donald Pinkham, harpsichord, Robert Brink, violin, and Clarence Waters, organ, on Feb. 25 at 8:15 p. m. in the College Chapel.

"What Price Glory" starring Edmond Lowe, Victor McLaglan, and Dolores Del Rio will be the month's presentation by the Film Club on Friday at 8:15 p. m. in the College Auditorium.

The library will offer two exhibits during February. A collection of early valentines will be on display through Feb. 15. From Feb. 16 through March 7 there will be a special exhibit on "Famous Hartford Authors."

Number of Students On Probation Rises

President Albert C. Jacobs expressed, in an interview with a Tripod reporter, his "serious concern" over the large number of students receiving low grades for last semester. Although he feels that the calibre of the average undergraduate is on a par with students at comparable colleges, the total number of men required to withdraw or placed on academic probation has risen sharply since last year.

This development has not prompted the administration to consider any drastic change in academic policy at the present. An investigation is being made however in an attempt to discover the circumstances which led to the surprising drop in grades.

In reply to a question concerning the administration's policy toward the faculty, President Jacobs called attention to the fact that the diminished size of the ROTC cadet corps has put an increased teaching load on all faculty members. To alleviate this situation, the college plans to increase the faculty by filling existing vacancies, and by adding members to departments which are currently understaffed. Jacobs emphasized that this policy will not entail an immediate increase in the size of the faculty. The plan will be effected in conjunction with the college's continuing program of selecting instructors of high competence.

President Jacobs reaffirmed his former support of the mathematics requirement as an essential element of a liberal arts education. The president noted that the majority of the better liberal arts colleges have retained mathematics and science requirements in their curricula.

Two Sophomores Are Placed on Censure

As a result of a trial held Monday night, two sophomores, John Blackford, and Phillip Ritter, have been placed on censure for an indefinite length of time by the Medusa.

The convicted men were found guilty of consuming liquor in college dormitories. As a result of a certain degree of intoxication, the men set off the sprinkler system in the third Jarvis entry-way, thus flooding the halls and rooms in the area.

In addition to the sentence of censure, Blackford and Ritter will make full restitution to the college for damage to the dormitory itself, and to any individuals whose personal property was damaged by the water. The group set up a special committee to contact all residents of the hall to determine the amounts of damage done.

A representative of the Medusa told a Tripod reporter that the group was "greatly disturbed by the amount of dormitory drinking which is going on at the present time". "We have never tolerated such conduct", the spokesman continued, "and because of the rising frequency of offenses, our penalties to offending students will be made harsher if the present situation continues."

OUR MONEY'S WORTH

In these days of high expenses and low income, it is not out of order for a college to rightfully demand its dollar's worth for money spent.

The smaller private educational institutions are, like Trinity, in dire financial straits. And it is not unusual to hear the wail of a distraught treasurer emit from such bastions of solvency as Harvard University. In our own college, therefore, the Property Manager's office, the Treasurer's office, and those other administrative offices directly concerned with the problem of stretching a deflated dollar to cover inflated prices must conscientiously budget their appropriated funds. We are confident that they are doing so.

But is the lecture committee practicing this economy?

A college education is not limited to the formal study of the classroom. Extracurricular activities, public lectures, and, to a lesser extent, undergraduate social functions are all vital adjuncts to academic study in providing the intellectual dimensions which are characteristic of the educated man. Public lectures, particularly, offer students of the college community new and stimulating points of view which are often unattainable within the limits of the small college curriculum. Max Lerner, Norman Thomas, and Owen Lattimore are honest and sincere men whose interpretations of contemporary political problems must not be ignored, although they may differ radically from our own. This is not only true in the realm of the political and social sciences. Men of such doubtless literary distinction as W. H. Auden and the late Dylan Thomas have distinguished the lecture programs of many of our New England neighbors.

Trinity College, however, continues to enjoy the innocuous erudition contained in lectures on mountain climbing and histories of medical science. The Tripod intends no slight upon the competence of our academic guests, but their lectures have been undistinguished and of little more than ephemeral significance. In such isolated cases as the Moore Greek Lecture, esoteric subject and treatment is to be expected, although the surprising felicity of Professor Gilbert Highet's treatment of 'Satire' some years ago would seem to prove this to the contrary.

The lecture program must be revitalized. With initiative and imagination, the public lecture program could perform an indispensable cultural and intellectual service to Hartford and to the college community. The mediocrity which has so far characterized the lecture program has denied it all vitality and significance.

THE LAST WORD

By WILLIAM A. DOBROVIR

In this space a while ago, we discussed a publication, "Doubt", which had been received in our basement. "Doubt", if you remember, was published by a crowd calling themselves the Fortean Society, who professed their main purpose to be the propagation of the principle of skepticism. We have recently received another little publication. This one is called "The Point", and is put out by none other than Father Feeney, Boston's answer to religion.

Feeney, for those who have never heard of him, is an excommunicated Catholic priest who presides over a flock of fanatical devotees with headquarters at 23 Arrow Street, Cambridge, Mass. Since his defrockment he has been saying Mass on the Boston Common every Sunday morning for those who don't care to risk eternal damnation by following the heresies of the Holy See and Archbishop Cushing.

Feeney's ideas are, to say the least, extreme. He earned his excommunication by his pronouncements on various religious and political subjects, and the lid blew off when he blasted, contrary to orthodox Catholic doctrine, that non-Catholics were doomed to fry in hell whether they had lived virtuously in this vale of tears or not. The straw that broke the back of the ecclesiastical camel, however, was Feeney's demand that the Pope make an ex cathedra statement about him. For those unfamiliar with the subtleties of Church doctrine, the Pope is infallible and speaks with the authority of God when he speaks ex cathedra. There have been but two statements of this type since 1870, when the doctrine of Papal Infallibility was first announced. Rome, probably annoyed by Feeney's presumption at putting himself on the same plane as the Virgin Mary, (Whose bodily assumption and immaculate conception have been the subjects of these pronouncements) let fall the ban by Bell, Book, and Candle.

His loss of official sanction seems to have bothered Feeney not a whit, as his little magazine bears out. In it we found some well-worn saws—principally the one about the heinous and insidious alliance between the Masons and the Jews to destroy the Catholic Church and conquer the world. In his political views Feeney seems to be the direct descendant of Father Coughlin, the Christian Front, and the people who first spawned the myth about the Protocols of The Elders of Zion. As a matter of fact, we expected to see a revival of that long-dead bit of anti-semitism in Feeney's blurb—but perhaps that's in the next issue.

The gem of this four page sheet was a poem on the back page, written by a Feeneyite Frank Sullivan, Jr. In it, the versifier attempted to point the finger of scorn at Feeney's enemies, and laud those of whom Feeneyism approves. It's a rather cleverly done piece, and contains references to "Eugene the Fourth's Bullarium", and "In vats of Grecian olive oil, one Spyros Skouras we will boil"—the writer, we suppose, deploring the producer of Martin Luther. But for us, the cleverest dig is at Bishop Sheen, the Church's TV "glamour boy":

"Which means we now have to dispose of
Just one old actor, and the show of:
To shipwreck on the TV screen,
We sentence Admiral Fulton Sheen."

Father Feeney of course represents merely the lunatic fringe of ultracatholicism—and the rather illiterate Boston version, at that; but this is a big country, and we have room for all sorts of crazy opinions, and for any minority's point of view—various Senators and midwestern publishers to the contrary.

STALAG ON STAGE

By PAUL TERRY

Anyone who managed to find time to get downtown and see Stalag 17 at the New Parsons during exams was certainly fortunate, for that war-time melodrama was one of the best productions which played in Hartford this season.

Of George Tobias, the star of the show, there is little that can be said in praise of him that has not already been said. His portrayal of Stosh, a gruff, pugnacious, but lovable character, was one that this reviewer will always remember.

Playwrights Bevan and Trzeinski, with the help of Jose Ferrer, have combined comedy and melodrama through the medium of a World War II detention camp in Germany, into a story at once both hilarious and excitingly tragic. Sitting in the audience, one is immediately aware of the hapless situation in which a handful of American Air Corps prisoners find themselves, and the fact that this congenial group are dedicated to the task of harassing as much as possible their German captors. The knowledge that an enemy informer is living amongst them, supplying the Germans with every plan of escape, heightens the drama, and the efforts of the G.I.'s to find out who he is provides the motivating force of the play.

Stosh, Harry Shapiro, Horney, Duke—a more typically American group of characters would be difficult to find. From the Catholic World comes a tribute which most aptly fits: "... the authors have been able to project the imaginative humor of the airmen without obscenities or blasphemy. An authentic contribution to the theatre."

THE FETID AIR

By HERB PARK

Friends, back in the twenties the radical elements in a lot of schools agitated for the abolishment of compulsory P.E., as for example, in college X. In college X, they abolished compulsory P.E. in 1933, a drastic, one might almost say, fatal step. Trinity, on the other hand, resisted this radical element, and even today still has compulsory P.E. Now, let us compare the record.

One day a graduate of school X was walking by a reservoir, where some children were swimming. Suddenly he noticed that one of the children was drowning. He immediately rushed to the rescue, but in the middle of the reservoir he remembered that he never had learned how to swim, so he drowned. All because HE COULD NOT SWIM!!!

1. One day a graduate of Trinity was walking by a reservoir, where some children were swimming. Suddenly he noticed that one of the children was drowning. He immediately rushed to the rescue and saved the child. The father gave our noble son a handsome reward, and now he is a successful executive. He had learned how to swim. Ha!

2. One day, one of the weak, intellectual type that graduate from college X decided to take his girl to the beach. As they were lying there (he did not have the energy to do anything else, ha!) a tall, bronzed, well-muscled person came along. In his hand he had a towel with Trinity written on it. (Ha!) The girl friend turned to her puny boy-friend and said, "Why can't you look like that?" He had not taken compulsory calisthenics. Ha!

3. One day, a graduate of college X, who had become a salesman, was waiting to see a man to whom he hoped to make a large sale. Also waiting was a graduate of Trinity. They were competitors. The graduate of X looked nervously and furtively at his competitor, no doubt trying to think of some sneaky way to outsell him. But our noble son sat there quietly, at his ease in the knowledge of his superiority. Then they were both ushered into the office of the customer at the same time. They both presented their products, and the customer could not decide. Then he decided on a test. First he asked the graduate of X, "What is a split-T formation?" The X man squirmed but he could not answer. Then the customer addressed the question to our noble son, and firmly and convincingly he gave the answer. He made the sale. He had had a course in football. Ha!

4. And the most important case of all, the case of that noble son of ours, Joseph P. Pharisee. One Sunday as I was standing in front of Christ Church, I witnessed this touching scene. Joseph P. Pharisee, on his way to church, met a casual acquaintance of his, a graduate of college X, named Harold L. Publican. They talked awhile, and I overheard this conversation.

"Well, Harold, are you going to church?"

"No. I rarely go to church."

"Well, my boy, you should go. It is good for you. You don't realize what a religious feeling it gives you to go once a week. And you meet such important and influential people. Everybody that is anybody goes."

"Well, I don't exactly believe in God, but I have always felt that you can be good without going to church."

"What! Are you an atheist! A good day to you, sir."

And with that, he went into the church. A fine upstanding example of what Trinity produces. And Trinity has compulsory P.E.!!!

I think we have looked at the record enough to prove the advantages of compulsory P.E., and of a Trinity education in general. For stamina, all-round knowledge, faith, and the will to fight communism, there is no better education than the one 'Neath the Elms. Therefore, to fight Communism and Atheism, give to the Athletic Scholarship Fund, and rest assured that your money is educating the solid Americans of the future.

Pre-Lenten Instruction To Be Given By O'Grady

Faith and Practice are Special Themes

Chaplain O'Grady's annual course in Pre-Lenten Instruction in Christian Faith and Practice will begin next Tuesday evening at 7:30 in the Chaplain's home at 69 Vernon St.

The course is beginning in Pre-Lenten, somewhat earlier than in previous years, because the spring vacation has been set in mid-Lent. It has also been moved from Sunday evenings to Tuesday evenings, in order to avoid conflict with the Religious Clubs, most of which meet on Sundays.

As in the past, the course is open to those who want a special Lenten study project, to those who feel they need a 'refresher' course in Christian Faith and Practice, and to others who wish to be prepared for Baptism or Confirmation. The course is open to men of all faiths and requires no commitments other than the intention to be regular in attendance.

In recent years the group has included a reasonable number of people other than students, among them couples who are contemplating marriage and seeking a common religious bond, refreshed by study together, and other persons who are un-churched and seeking some basis for commitment within some Church.

Beginning Tuesday evening, February 16th, the course will continue for five sessions, the last on Tuesday, March 16th. At the end of that last meeting, Chaplain O'Grady will administer Holy Baptism to those who desire it, after which the Rt. Rev. Robert Hatch, Suffragan Bishop of Connecticut, will officiate at The Order of Confirmation.

In order to be able to plan materials and refreshments, Chaplain O'Grady has asked those who hope to attend the course to register on a list which is available in the Chaplain's Office.

Scholarship Men Own 12% of Cars

About 12% of all student cars are owned by scholarship students, it was disclosed in a recent survey by the Tripod.

A report from the dean's office shows that there are 208 scholarship students as of the first semester, which would make scholarship holders number 22% of the student body. The property manager states in The Tripod January 13, that about 475 student cars were registered with the college. Thus, approximately 50% of the student body have cars at Trinity.

The survey showed that approximately 25% of all scholarship students have automobiles at Trinity, while on the other hand 45% of students without additional aid from the college or alumni associations have cars at the college.

It was discovered that two scholarship students had two cars registered with the property manager's office.

New System Brings Bad News to Students In Quick Time

The College has set a new record for issuing grade reports, with complete academic transcripts in the mail less than 48 hours after completion of mid-semester grading by the faculty.

Staffs of the Dean's and Central Services offices of the college, supplemented by a crew of 12 students, worked over the weekend recording more than 4500 grades on master cards and making almost 2300 photographic copies for students, parents and advisors. Dean Joseph C. Clarke supervised.

The photographic process, first tried a year ago, replaces hand work which formerly held up grade reports for four to six weeks after each examination period.

Free Extra Course OK'd on Trial Basis For Advanced Cadets

The Faculty Committee on Administration has approved for trial this semester the Senate proposal to allow juniors and seniors enrolled in advanced AFOTC to carry a sixth course free.

To be eligible for a sixth course without charge, however, a student must (1) be enrolled in advanced AFOTC, (2) have the permission of his advisor and the dean, (3) not be taking the sixth course to make up a deficiency in credits.

ROTC Officers May Serve Only 90 Days

The Harvard Crimson carried a story last Saturday which it gathered from an unnamed official armed services magazine stating that thousands of seniors now enrolled in Army ROTC programs may only have to serve 90 days on active duty—instead of two years—if a plan now under study by top defense officials is adopted.

Under the proposal, the Army would not have to adopt the program started by the Air Force last year. Faced with a surplus of non-flying officers, the Air Force began using ROTC men as airmen. A source near the Pentagon said that the Army neither would nor could undertake the policy similar to that of the Air Force. To make ROTC men serve as enlisted men, the source said, would represent a "breach of contract."

Casting for Jesters' Next Production Set for Monday

Jesters' director George E. Nichols announced Monday that tryouts for the organization's next play, G. B. Shaw's "Misalliance," will be held next Monday and Tuesday, February 15 and 16 in Goodwin Lounge at 7:15 p.m.

Production dates are set tentatively for April 28 and 29, May 1, 3, and 4, which would coincide with the Senior Ball weekend. Nichols noted that the play, although difficult to produce, should be a very rewarding one.

Quiz Bowl Contestants Will Enter Tournament

Guest Artists Will Join Watters for Chapel Recital

Two guest artists, Robert Brink, violinist, and Donald Pinkham, harpsichordist, will join Clarence E. Watters in his third concert this year in the College Chapel Feb. 25 at 8:15 p.m.

Mr. Brink has made frequent appearances as soloist with the Boston Pops Orchestra, as well as appearances in New York's Town Hall and Boston's Jordan Hall, and important solo recitals in Baltimore and the mid-West.

He comes from a long line of musicians, having studied at an early age with his father and later with such teachers as Jacques Malkin, Richard Burgin, concert-master of the Boston Symphony, and the later Albert Spalding. He studied conducting as a special student at the New England Conservatory of Music.

Donald Pinkham received his musical education at Harvard University where he studied primarily with Walter Piston in theory and composition. He received both his AB and MA there. He has studied the harpsichord with Wanda Landowska and Putnam Aldrich, and the organ with E. Power Biggs. He has appeared as harpsichordist with the Boston Symphony Orchestra in more than a dozen performances, and has recorded extensively both as conductor and harpsichordist in this country and in Austria with the Vienna Symphony Orchestra.

Mr. Brink and Mr. Pinkham are well known as duo-performers, having given concerts together in many parts of the country. They have also performed in fourteen cities in Germany under a grant from the U. S. Department of State, playing not only early music but also contemporary American works, including Mr. Pinkham's.

Will Also Appear On Television Show

The College Quiz Bowl contestants will appear this spring in a Tournament Roundup consisting of the best teams which have competed. Several of the Blue-Gold panelists will represent the college on a television panel program of the same nature during the summer vacation.

Bill Dobrovir, managing editor of Tripod, will appear on a local WTIC program, "Mind Your Manners." This show, formerly on a coast to coast hookup, may be heard Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. It is again a panel type broadcast which will attempt to solve the problems of American youth. The participants are high school and college students.

Dobrovir will also take part in a fifteen minute "Young America" program. This is part of N.B.C.'s "Week-end" radio show which is on the air from 4 to 6 p.m.

In the near future Alan Ludden, quizmaster and moderator of the Quiz Bowl series and other young people's programs, will initiate a new program, "Under 21," in which he will interview a Trinity student.

These appearances by students mark an increased emphasis on radio and television broadcasts as part of a Public Relations Office program.

Oosting Will Represent College at Kansas City

Athletic Director Ray Oosting will represent Trinity College at the National Basketball Coaches Conference in the end of March in Kansas City, Missouri. The conference is scheduled at the same time that the N.C.A.A. basketball finals will be played in that city.

Bantam Teams Boasted Successful Records at Mid-Year Exam Period

Frosh Ducks Edged Out By Powerful Canterbury

The Frosh mermen lost their second meet of the year to Canterbury, 44 to 33, this Saturday at New Milford. Trinity started off fast as it took the first pair of events and the meet was not decided until Canterbury copped the final event, the 200 yard relay.

Fish Shannon and Kev Logan were the only Trinity men that looked outstanding, although the 150 yard medley-relay combo was in good enough form to take the visitors' other first. McGill, Logan, and Day comprised this trio.

For Canterbury, Corridon and McGrath captured the two freestyle events. Marcott won the backstroke race while Hammond gained a total of 8 points with a first in the individual medley and a second in the 100 yard breaststroke. Speno won the final relay with a sensational 50 yard sprint as the anchor man.

The final week before the mid-year exams proved to be a very successful period for Hilltopper teams. Ray Oosting's "pressure" basketball club downed Amherst 47-40 and Tufts 83-81, in overtime, to post a mid-season mark of 6 wins and 1 loss. The Frosh quintet did equally as well by defeating the Amherst freshmen and St. Thomas. In the meantime, the Jayvees trounced Nichols 84 to 62.

In the Trowbridge Memorial Pool the varsity swimmers took a strong Bowdoin contingent in stride by the score of 54 to 29. With this feat they extended their winning streak to 3, in as many meets. The Frosh squad journeyed to Williston where it suffered its first setback.

Trin's squash team was unable to post a successful record. After romping over Wesleyan 7 to 2, the Jessee-men were soundly defeated by Amherst and Harvard. As a result, the team owned an unimpressive one and five mark when the examination seige set in. The Frosh squash team thumped Wesleyan 7-2 also.

Panthers Hand Bantams Second Loss; Jack Preissner Scores 15 in Debut

MIDDLEBURY, VT.—In their first showing since the exam period, the Trinity basketball team traveled to Vermont to engage a hot and cold Middlebury quintet. Leading most of the way, the Blue and Gold seemed to have things in control, but the Panthers came from behind to take a third-period lead and staved off a late Bantam rally to gain a 63-56 decision. It was a bitter setback for Trinity for they were riding high on a four game winning streak.

Managers in Demand For Spring Sports

Again this year there is a critical shortage of managers for the spring sports. Dan Jessee, in particular, is looking for two or three men to help him out with the varsity baseball team.

For the amount of work a manager does, he gets a goodly reward. The luckiest one will go on a free trip, with the ball team, to Washington, D. C., and Virginia this spring. The others will travel all over New England with the team during the months of April and May. Finally the men who have done the most outstanding work will receive a letter award at the Spring Sports' Banquet. Only upperclassmen are eligible, but freshmen are urged to manage the freshman team, coached by Fred Booth.

So, if you like to travel, if you like baseball, and if you want to meet a great bunch of ball players sign yourself up for manager. Contact Dan Jessee right now, or upon his return from Europe. If he is not available see Pete Turner at Psi Upsilon, Ted Oxholm at Delta Phi, Captain Dave Crosier at Alpha Chi Rho, or any other member of the team. Practice will begin during the first week of March in the Fieldhouse.

Newcomer Jack Preissner sparked the first period offensive that saw Trinity lead 30-25 at the half. After looking great in their recent contests, the Bantams dropped back into their early season doldrums. The teamwork was no where near what it should have been and the passing and shooting were below par.

The Bantams hung on to a slim lead until 6:40 of the third quarter. The home forces then swept by them and led by nine points as the final period began. Sonny Dennis led the late Panther rally. The negro star drove through for several two-pointers just when his team needed them and Trinity just could not get going.

Dennis scored 18 points for the victors while Preissner and Mazurek scored 15 and 11 markers respectively for the Blue and Gold. The Bantams should snap out of it soon as their performance at Middlebury can probably be accounted for by lack of practice.

JEFF CONTINGENT TO INVADE POOL TONIGHT

Art Christ's swimming team will put its spotless 3 and 0 record on the line tonight when the Amherst splashers invade the Trowbridge Pool. With the first gun going off at 8:00 P.M., this will be the only evening meet for the home team this winter. The Jeffs have most of their men back from last year's squad, which placed third in the New England's just a year ago.

More court action will hold forth on Friday evening when the Coast Guard cagers will entangle the Bantam hoopsters. Although the Cadets have yet to gain their first win this season, they fought powerful Williams College down to the wire, finally losing by 6 points. This will be the first of two games with the Academy. The other one is on March 5th.

Mutschler and Carlough Are Chosen For 1953 All-American Soccer Team

O'Connell Picked on N.E. All-Star Team

It is not every soccer coach that has the pleasure and thrill of having an All-American soccer player on his team. In fact most mentors feel lucky if they ever have one on their side. Yet in two years of coaching soccer here at Trinity, Roy Dath has produced two All-American selections already. Dath's team won numerous individual honors as well as finishing third in the New England Intercollegiate Soccer League, but none were so sweet as the All-American awards.

The two men that were named to the collegiate soccer "dream" team were Pete Carlough and Neil Mutschler. The former was selected as the center forward and the latter, inside left. Last season Mutschler was chosen as an honorable-mention All-American.

This was the second year in a row that Mutschler had captained the team. Mutschler is a great team player and his inspirational and never-tiring play was one of the big factors in the success of the soccer team.

Carlough No. 2 Scorer

Carlough was the man that carried the offensive punch for the Bantams this past season. Pete scored 12 goals which was enough to give him second place among the New England scorers. Coach Dath has been heard to say on several occasions that Carlough was one of the best center forwards he has ever seen.

As well as winning the All-American honors, Carlough and Mutschler were both chosen on the New England all star soccer team. A third member of the Bantam club to gain such honors was Art O'Connell, who also was elected to honorable mention on the All-American squad. Art was a vital factor in the soccer machine of this past season and Coach Dath is counting heavily on him next year. Dave MacKenzie was another of the Bantams to be selected for honors as he was chosen to the second team fullback position on the All-New England team. Of the five men who received honors, only Art O'Connell will be back at Trinity next fall for another year of soccer.

Springfield Exhibition Team Here On Saturday at Bushnell Memorial

A group of 27 tumblers, acrobats, and gymnasts, from Springfield College, will appear in the Bushnell Memorial this Saturday evening to put on a display of judo, exercises, dances, and living statuary. This Springfield Exhibition Team will be sponsored by the Hartford chapter of Springfield College Alumni. All proceeds will go to a scholarship fund for the boys of the Greater Hartford area who wish to enter Springfield.

Living Statues Famous

The program will be full of comedy and surprises. It has feats on gymnastic apparatus that give the thrill of a lifetime, but a few moments later one can relax and enjoy dance routines which display rhythmic ease and grace. The comedy will be ably handled by experts in gymnastic tomfoolery. The final acts will find the team creating living statuary. These feats have been the team's trademark and have been acclaimed all over the U. S.

The show, under the direction of Leslie J. Judd, is entitled "Physical Panorama." Seats are now on sale at the Bushnell. All seats for adults are $1.20.

This will be the team's 11th performance of the season, and its 2nd appearance in Hartford. This spring the large contingent will journey westward to demonstrate its abilities in major cities of the U. S. Springfield has boasted a gymnastic team for 29 years now. Its proceeds have always been transferred to scholarships for Springfield men.

RACQUETMEN DROP 5TH

The varsity squash racquets squad continued on its losing ways this week when Yale put it to rout with a 9 to 0 whitewash. This marked the team's fifth loss in six contests. Only Wesleyan has suffered a setback at its hands, thus far.

Three home meets remain on the schedule. They are with Army, Williams, and Wesleyan. The remaining match will be staged in the courts of M.I.T.

The Bullpen

By TED OXHOLM

Sports Editor

Just before the mid-year examination period, Ray Oosting's quintet put on its best exhibition of the young season in a 47 to 40 victory over Amherst. But, over and above the game, we were pleased to see the crowd of about 500 express its enthusiasm for the team. During the entire second half spontaneous cheers burst forth continuously from the crowd. In response, the Trinity team overcame the 5 point half-time lead which Amherst had established and went on to victory by a clear-cut margin.

Trin Has Spirit

To be sure, some of the chatter from the crowd was voiced in disapproval of the Amherst team. Perhaps this does not show good sportsmanship, but it did resemble the type of treatment which Trinity teams have received at Amherst. But here we are straying away from the point we wish to make; this is, that there is a great deal of "school spirit" in the Trinity students but there is no group to coordinate and lead the cheers of the student body. This is not a healthy situation.

But No Cheerleaders

The task and responsibility of cheerleading supposedly falls on the shoulders of two groups, the College Band, and the Trinity Cheerleaders Association. This year's college handbook has a little note about the T.C.A. which states that it "comprises a squad of 12 men" and "leads college cheering at football and basketball games." Where have they been? Only once have we seen more than 4 men appear as cheerleaders at athletic events. The usual aggregation is 2 or none at all. Is the T.C.A. that exclusive these days? After the football season we heard some talk about the reorganization of the T.C.A. by members of the Medusa. We have heard no word recently but we hope that some progress has been made. The time is ripe for the organization to swing into action again.

It is reported that the band is currently suffering from dissension in the ranks between its civilian and R.O.T.C. components. This is too bad, but we wonder why at least one of the band's components can not appear at the basketball games. A band is more inspirational than many people think. In all probability the band members attend the games anyway. If such is the case, wouldn't it be a good idea if each one brought his own instrument with him, just to make some noise with, if for nothing else?

Library Presented Stevenson Book Set

A set of first editions of the works of Robert Louis Stevenson has been presented to the Watkinson Library by Austin D. Barney of Farmington, the College has announced.

Mr. Barney, chairman of the board of the Hartford Electric Light Company, included in his gift 36 first editions, an almost complete set, as well as six early Stevenson editions, and three books about the author.

The Stevenson set will be particularly important to scholars for information on the first published form of the author's work, according to Librarian Donald B. Engley. Mr. Barney's gift will also strengthen the collection of 19th and 20th century literature in the Watkinson, Mr. Engley added.

Exhibit Depicts Transition Of Valentine Greetings

In Grandma's day, Valentines were really a labor of love.

In the College library is an exhibition of the origin of Valentines, with elaborate cards of sentimentality dating back as far as 200 years.

You can see how your great-grandparents expressed their romantic feelings on St. Valentine's Day. Cards from lovers of many nations, particularly America and England are on display.

Great pains and artistry were put into the making of Valentines. Paper lace decorations, mechanical cards, comic Valentines, hand-painted cards, and cards with illuminated letters or gilded lace are included in the exhibit.

Some cards have embossed lace, some have as many as four layers of paper and materials, some decorated with bird feathers or the traditional lock of hair, all worked over by thoughtful lovers months before St. Valentine's Day arrived. Envelopes, too were works of art, usually sealed with red sealing wax. Hidden messages were common, as were Valentines made in Braille—for truly blind lovers.

The college will also have on display several books, some giving the history of the Valentine, some with drawings of the early cards, plus "The Modern Quizzical Valentine Writer," with humorous, satirical, and comic Valentines used as illustrations.

Included too in this exhibit will be what is believed to be the first printed picture of St. Valentine, Patron Saint of Lovers, printed in 1493; and a letter from Poetess Lydia H. Sigourney concerning writing verses for Valentines, dated Feb. 15, 1837.

and other games introduced by the British, there is little student social life. "With the Pakistani young ladies in 'Purdah' (seclusion from the time they are 13 'til they die) there are no such things as college dances."

"With the absence of social life the Pakistani student lets off surplus steam in political agitation, sometimes of a violent nature. In Feb. of '52 on the vague rumor that the Karachi government was to eliminate Bengali as an official language, the University of Dacca students ran wild, stopped all traffic in town, and burned to the ground the Dacca

Dr. Luthin also remarked that Trinity has had one other Pakistani on its teaching staff, for "New Hampshire, born Professor Harrington was in Dacca during his military services."

Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co. says . . .

FOR more than thirty years we have used research day in and day out learning about tobaccos and cigarettes in the public's interest.

Continuously we and our consultants have analyzed, experimented with and smoked all kinds of tobaccos . . . especially Southern Bright, Burley, Maryland and Turkish cigarette tobaccos.

Our own cigarettes and competitive brands have been submitted to the most exacting scientific scrutiny including thousands of analyses of millions of pounds of tobaccos.

From all these thousands of analyses, and other findings reported in the leading technical journals, our Research Department has found no reason to believe that the isolation and elimination of any element native to cigarette tobaccos today would improve smoking.

For four years we have maintained in the smoker's interest an intensified larger scale diversified research program. A half-million dollar 30-ton machine, the world's most powerful source of high voltage electrons, designed solely for our use has tested tens of thousands of cigarettes. This program has already given to us direct and significant information of benefit to the smoking public.

Our consultants include Arthur D. Little, Inc. of Cambridge, Massachusetts, "one of the largest and most reputable industrial research organizations in the country" (From Business Week Magazine) and eminent scientists from leading universities.

Today the public can confidently choose from a variety of brands—by far the best cigarettes ever made by the tobacco industry.
