

Vassar to Sing with Glee Club on Saturday Evening

By BRUCE GLADFELTER

The College Glee Club will present a formal concert with Vassar College this Saturday evening. Over 115 voices will be heard in a special benefit concert at 8:15, in the Chemistry Auditorium.

This is the first concert featuring the Glee Club to be given on campus in recent years, and is sponsored by the Trinity Club of Hartford. Proceeds from the sale of tickets, priced at $1.00, will go to the scholarship fund.

A reception and formal dinner for the combined clubs will be held prior to the concert. A closed dance will be held after the program in Hamlin Hall.

Mr. John Peirce

The Vassar Glee Club is under the direction of Mr. John Peirce, soloist and author. Mr. Peirce was trained in Boston and taught in Cleveland, at the U. of Washington, and at the U. of Vermont before going to Vassar in 1928. He has sung in Europe and is the author of the book, The Art of Singing.

The varied program will consist of numbers by each Club and two joint presentations.

Atheneum Team Places Well In Brooklyn Debate Tourney

By JERE BACHARACH

Trinity's Atheneum Society achieved its greatest triumph to date at the Brooklyn College Tournament last weekend by winning seven of its ten debates and ranking 13 in the field of the 62 eastern colleges which participated. Robert Back and Franklin Kury were the Bantam negative team and won all five of their debates, while Herb Moorin and Talbot Spivak, the affirmative, won two debates.

Largest Tournament

The Brooklyn College Tournament is the largest debating tournament held in the U.S.; with teams coming from as far as Texas and Florida. Dartmouth, Harvard, Georgetown and N.Y.U. were represented.

The national topic, "Resolved: That the U.S. should discontinue direct economic aid to foreign nations," was debated. Trinity ranked fifth among New England colleges at the tournament, thereby placing itself as a leading contender for the N.E. Forensic Conference championship this spring.

Kury Receives Honor

Franklin Kury won recognition as the second best speaker at the tournament, in which 248 speakers competed. Kury's technique was to unnerve the opposition by speaking without notes, and established himself as the leading New England debator of the tournament.

Chapel Cabinet To Hold Group Religious Talks

The Chapel Cabinet has invited the entire student body to participate this Thursday in an evening of discussion, in small groups, on the relationship between one's religious beliefs (or unbelief), and one's every day actions.

Twelve representatives of the Christian and Jewish religion will be present, to be in the Freshman dormitories, Brownell Club and fraternities. Among the visiting discussion leaders will be twelve Trinity alumni.

The informal discussions will begin at 7:00 P.M. Locations for the meetings and the leaders are as follows:

- Alpha Chi Rho, The Rev. Francis R. Belden '30.
- Alpha Delta Phi, The Rev. Kenneth D. Thomas '52.
- Brownell Club, The Rev. George W. Smith, Jr. '39.
- Delta Kappa Epsilon, The Rev. Keith Jones.
- Delta Phi, Mr. Lewis Fox.
- Delta Psi, The Rev. Arch Mitchell '15.
- Freshmen, The Rev. Jack Grenfell, and The Rev. William M. Philpot.
- Phi Kappa Alpha, The Rev. Peter D. MacLean '52.
- Phi Kappa Psi, The Rev. Gordon T. Scoville.
- Psi Upsilon, The Rev. Winton M. Hoog.
- Sigma Nu, Rabbi Samuel Kenner.
- Theta Xi, The Rev. John O'Reilly.

First Rehearsals Set For Jesters' Spring Weekend Production

The Jesters began rehearsals Monday night for the spring production, Christopher Fry's, The Lady's Not For Burning. The cast includes Lee Kalcheim, John Toye, Mark Healy, Robert Perce, Duane Wolcott, Fred Sill, Bernard Moran, and Remington Rose.

The play, now enjoying a successful revival off-Broadway, is set in fifteenth century England and revolves around the projected burning of a young woman, accused of witchcraft. The attempts of the youngish and world-weary hero, Thomas, and delightful if inconsequential by-play between all the characters constitute the plot. The language is interesting as Fry's poetry combines an almost Elizabethan movement and sound with a contemporary connotation.

Performances will be presented on May 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 6th, and 7th. All those interested in working with the production staff should speak to Rolfe Lawson, Stage Manager, or Mr. Nichols, Director.

No Solution to Hockey Rink Problem Found by Council

The proposed hockey rink was the main topic of discussion at the Athletic Advisory Council meeting Monday night.

The Council found that its opinions were in agreement with those of the Senate, both groups favoring strongly the rink. However, since the funds are not readily available, its construction will have to be delayed indefinitely.

All Council members agreed that the rink would be a tremendous student drawing card.

Center of Controversy

Six Will Play Parts In College Concert

For the third successive year the College Band will be represented at the New England Intercollegiate Band Festival at Tufts University on March 24. Six Band members will form a part of the 100 strong orchestra under the Boston Pops conductor Arthur Fiedler.

The six students, representing the largest number from Trinity ever playing in the festival, include Robert Adams, baritone horn; Michael Canaday, clarinet; Frederick Gleason, percussion; F. Burton Hewitt, tuba; Myron Pisetsky, clarinet and Robert Richardson, Jr., trombone.

Soph Orientation Plan for Frosh Presented to Houses

The I.F.C. discussed the proposal to change the pledging average from the present 67% to 70%. E. Laird Mortimer III, as editor and representative of the Tripod was the first speaker on this subject. In the ensuing discussion the following points were brought out:

Raising Average Discussed

The recent incident in which several fraternities were placed on probation should serve as warning to the rest of the fraternity system, and should be sufficient for them to raise their averages past the danger point.

Fraternities are on trial throughout the nation. People everywhere are examining the American Fraternity System rather critically. We must do our part in proving, at least, that the system is worthy of existence by showing that it can maintain high scholastic achievement.

Raising the average won't hurt any fraternity, and will, in the long run, improve the quality of the system. It is believed that freshman, if sufficiently interested in fraternity membership, will maintain the required average.

This rule if passed would go into effect for the class of 1961.

In an unofficial expression of opinion, the council was unsure of the proposal's true benefit and its effect on the number of men eligible for rushing.

Mortimer promised to bring more information and statistics to the next meeting.

Atheneum to Debate Pelvism With Smith

By ROBERT STEVENSON, JR.

Sideburns will fly next week when, on Monday night at seven-thirty, the influence of E. Pelvis Presley will be discussed. The Atheneum Debating Society has invited debaters from Smith College to air the issue of Elvis' cause and effect on the teen-age public at a formal debate in the Chemistry Auditorium. The topic under discussion will be: "Resolved: That Elvis Presley is a Harmful Influence on American Youth."

Promise Sincere Discussion

Both sides have stressed the fact that they intend to limit their discussion to a sincere and intellectual presentation of the sociological, psychological, and moral influences of Mr. Presley upon young people. Frank Kury, President of the Atheneum, has agreed to serve as moderator to what promises to be a wild session.

The judges of Monday night's debate will be Professor Robert Meade; William Hennessey, staff announcer at Radio Station WCCC; and Miss Emy Thomas, a staff reporter and columnist on teen-age affairs for the New Britain Herald.

Riot Worries Psychologists

Much of the recent concern over the Rock and Roll craze, personified by Mr. Presley, is the result of a spectacular rock and roll show at New York's Paramount Theater. Last month disk jockey Alan Freed played host to a mob of wild, unruly teenagers. The line of enthusiasts was so great, and so restless that 175 policemen were called in to pacify the rioting crowd.

LET 'EM EAT CAKE

The deplorable turnout for the Campus Seminary Day discussion held last week at intellectual Trin indicates that the Chapel Cabinet missed the boat in enticing undergraduates and faculty to this affair.

They should have realized that a top-notch discussion on the subject of vocations conducted by eleven of the country's leading theologians is not enough to penetrate the "shoe" hide of "The Great Unwashed."

Therefore, as a kind of Sunday morning quarterback, may we suggest that the gentlemen of the Cabinet could have: (1) Shown chapter 8 of the Batman serial between speakers (2) scheduled the discussion for Alumni Hall, giving the guests an opportunity to try their luck in the intramural wrestling tournament held at the same time (3) organized a cake sale to attract the faculty, with the proceeds going toward the planting of taller and greener elm trees.

TO BE OR NOT TO BE: 70

We were disappointed to find that the I.F.C. was almost evenly divided upon the Tripod suggestion that the fraternity pledging average be raised from 67 to 70.

We are firmly convinced that this is the only healthy academic remedy the I.F.C. can prescribe.

Following is the case for raising the average:

- 67 is the lowest average a man can maintain in order to graduate from the College.
- We have established that generally men who flunk out of College, and specifically many of those who flunked out this past January, never attained a 70 average.
- The above point was further established in a poll of the I.F.C. at Monday's meeting, in which it was discovered that eight men, who never attained a 70 average, flunked out of houses at this past January. Five of them were sophomores, two juniors, and one senior.

The case against raising the average is unfortunately muddled by narrow thinking, whereby those fraternities are not looking at the national situation in which fraternities are constantly being called upon to justify their existence. Neither are they taking account of the fact that fraternity membership is a privilege, and is second in importance to membership in the academic body. They are looking at the small side of the question.

Why should fraternities demand only the base minimum grades for entrance?

We know the administration has and will continue to punish fraternities as delinquent as the three placed on social probation.

Here is the chance for the I.F.C. and all the member fraternities to do something positive, to take a stand on solid ground. It may be their first; we know it will be their finest.

SHOWING THEIR WARES

Saturday night's Independent sponsored record hop, "Modern Mayhem," proved to be an overwhelming success and was only one of example of the neutrals' contribution to campus life this year. Within one semester's time the Independents have become revitalized under effective leadership. The introduction of Wednesday night dinners has further helped to bring the men together, despite the problems of decentralization on our campus. We can only lament that there is no Student Center so that the Independents could really show their wares.

TRIPOD ELECTIONS

TRIPOD elections will be held on the Monday night after Spring Vacation: Monday night, April 1, in the Tripod offices. Anyone whose name appears in the masthead is eligible to vote.

Old Grad Writes of Louis Downes

E. Laird Mortimer, III, Editor of the TRIPOD, recently wrote to one of the two surviving members of the class of 1888, William T. Putnam, asking him for recollections of his classmate, Louis Welton Downes, donor of the clock tower which is about to rise between Williams Memorial and the Chapel. Mr. Putnam, who is now in his ninety-first year, graciously responded with a long letter, excerpts of which follow:

Dear Editor:

I had not heard of Louis Downes' bequest to the College. It will add much to the campus, which in my day had little more than the blessing of Bishop Brownell.

The neighborhood of the Bishop's statue was the breeding spot for all the garter snakes in the area. Once I gathered up a canful of a dozen and took them up to the entrance to Jarvis, where there were two boxes in which the mail was dropped. I put my catch into the one reserved for official communications to the faculty and waited. A crowd gathered, very much interested to see what would happen when the old darkie who distributed the mail came along. He unlocked the box and, without looking, put in his hand. I think his yell must echo through Jarvis still! Well, this has nothing to do with Louis Downes, though he probably was there.

Although I didn't know Louis Downes as well as I would have liked, since I lived in Jarvis 1 and he at the other end of the campus. I had some pleasant correspondence with him after graduation.

He roomed with Ambrose Ives Upson and was a Psi U. They were known as Ups and Downs. Upson was the tallest man in the College, and Downs was the smallest, except for Billy Barber, who, with Joe Shannon, was the backbone of our baseball team. Shannon, a six footer, was the pitcher and Barber, about five feet, the catcher. We used to say that Joe was pitching down hill.

I roomed at that time with Malcolm Warner, who was president of his fraternity chapter. Another member, who has done much for the College too, was Albert Hamlin.

I am sorry that I can't recount a more full biography of Louis Downes, but it is all such a long time ago. I can walk only with great difficulty now, but I wish I could be there to give you this by word of mouth.

Sincerely yours,

W. T. PUTNAM '88

Band Sponsors Concert with Nine Acts; Spectators Hear Classical to Calypso

A crowd of over three hundred students, faculty members, parents and visitors attended the Ensemble Concert sponsored by the College Band in the Chemistry Auditorium last Friday night. They were entertained by nine different acts, featuring various instrumental ensembles and soloists.

Drs. Hood and Klimczak Entertain Audience

Humor was freely mixed with music in many of the acts, as witnessed by the appearance of Dr. Von Applestreudle, conducting the Trinity Chamber Players in "The Preslie Quartet" ("Love Me Tender" arranged for three strings and flute). The conductor was disguised as a clown in a powdered wig. Laughs were also provided by Dr. Henry Hood's appearance in full Scottish regalia, by the humorous folk songs of Dr. Walter Klimczak, and by the novelty numbers performed by the percussion ensemble.

Various Types of Music Presented

On the more serious side, many different types of music were represented in a brass sextet, a clarinet trio, a wind quartet from the Band, the accordion solos of Mike Lieber, the Los Zapatos calypso group, and Trinity Chamber Players. Two of the numbers presented were original compositions by members of the Band.

Dr. Hood Emcees

In addition to starting the show with a few bagpipe solos, Dr. Henry Hood acted as master of ceremonies, and was later described by a member of the audience as "Ed Sullivan in a tartan."

OF HUMAN BONDAGE?

The freshman class finds themselves in quite a predicament. They are veritably outlawed by I.F.C. rushing rules.

The present condition of the rushing rules makes the freshman class a post-graduate prep school, near a college campus, with all the physical advantages of the larger, parent, institution.

We offer only one phase of the final solution; the most vital phase.

We suggest that the I.F.C. declare complete, free intercourse between freshmen and upperclassmen on the campus, at any time and in any place.

We believe this places a premium on the rationality and responsibility of all parties involved.

WHO REPRESENTS WHO?

One need not look far on the Trinity campus to find evidence of student apathy, which seems to be fashionable lately. A glance at the attendance records of either the Senate or the Inter-Fraternity Council reveals two distressing, but typical aspects of Trinity: The attendance of regular members is poor, and the choice of substitute representatives is even poorer.

We recognize the attendance difficulties involved with respect to the members of the two organizations. We maintain, however, that a more practical system of substitute representation be adopted. There are still a few fraternities left on campus who believe that as long as they have a man at the meeting, they have fulfilled their obligation.

Neither pledges, sophomores, nor juniors are qualified to represent a house in either the Senate or the I.F.C. If such men were qualified, they would compose these councils. Membership in the I.F.C. and the Senate is not only a privilege, it is an obligation. A senior or a house officer is the only man who can fill such an obligation. As a result, until provisions are made for responsible substitutes, whose use should be quite limited, neither the Senate nor the I.F.C. can operate effectively.

Summer Project Opportunity

Thousands of college students are being offered the opportunity to participate in international and interfaith summer projects under the auspices of a dozen agencies. These work camps and seminars in United States, South America, Canada, Germany, Asia and Alaska, some financially profitable, some requiring transportation expenses, will be explained in a meeting with movies on March 19 in the Library.

This meeting, at 7:30 P.M., will be jointly sponsored by the Senate and the Chapel Cabinet. Mr. Leppman, College Secretary for the American Friends Service Committee will be on campus in the afternoon from 1:00 to 6:00 P.M. for interviews.

Theologians Ponder Problems of Today's Ministry in First Campus Seminary Day

By FRED WERNER

Theologians, ministers and seminary students presented a lively series of panel discussions at the First Campus Seminary Day, sponsored by the Chapel Cabinet Thursday.

The Christian and Jewish representatives considered, "God's Call in Today's World." The panelists attempted to explain the nature of vocation as opposed to career and especially the nature of the ministry.

Hartford Seminary's The Rev. Chalmers Coe, noted that one of the major problems of our day is the "daily job," not examined in a religious perspective. Coe deplored the "chartered generation" that prefers the secure job to the vocation.

Rabbi Seymour Siegel of Jewish Theology School pointed out that vocation is the most deterministic of choices, aside from marriage. Before selecting a vocation, the student should consider the question asked of Adam in the Garden of Eden, "Where are you?" But, concluded the Rabbi, any kind of profession can be a response to God if one works in the right spirit as a partner and servant of the Lord.

Priesthood Defined

The priesthood might well be defined as a dedication in commemoration of Christ's sacrifice, said Reverend Robert Callahan, Adviser to Newman

Club at the College. Not all are chosen, he noted, but the lay priesthood is everyman's task. Certainly if one considers becoming a priest, one need not inquire, "How much is in it for me?"

Dr. Krister Stendahl of Harvard Divinity School believes that the ministry may be subdivided into two major areas of work—the perpetuating and creative ministries. The former's task is to minister to the flock; the latter group of thinkers must try "to find out what it is all about, to dig down to the fundamentals and free contemporary religion from its grievous oversimplification," and finally, "to retranslate the spirit of the past to the present."

Idealists

The Reverend James L. Jones of Philadelphia Divinity School called the panel and himself "idealists." The future is "in the hands of those who dream dreams and consider what things might be."

It is a problem being a Christian in twentieth century Christendom, noted Dr. James M. Gustafson of Yale Divinity School. Tensions arise whenever we become aware that "we live in a time between times."

In the evening program, seminary students discussed the question, "Why I Chose the Full-Time Ministry?"

Robert Hibbs, Trinity '54, student in General Theological Seminary was given "no strange or wonderful signs," a fact all the panelists also noted during the evening.

Harold White of Jewish Theological Seminary emphasized why he chose the rabbinate and cited scripture to show that others also chose this vocation.

Meaning of Life

Joseph Vyrs of St. Thomas found that in College he could not find either totality or meaning in life from his studying of the humanities and sciences. Only in the teachings of the Church was the greater meaning of God's purpose revealed. Discussing vocational decision, he said, "I am baffled by the mystery of God selecting me."

Roger Walker was in his thirties and father of three children, before deciding to enter Virginia Theological Seminary. His choice was an "unanswerable question . . . The call is

Annual Military Ball Scheduled Saturday; At Saengerbund Club

The annual Military Ball will be held this Saturday, March 16th, at the Saengerbund Club, on Washington Street.

The dance is formal, and open to all Trinity students, regardless of class, and regardless of R.O.T.C. affiliation. Non military men must, however, wear tuxedos to the $4.50, no-corkage-fee-affair.

Los Zapatos, a newly formed campus Calypso group who performed recently at Alpha Chi Rho and Delta Phi, will entertain during intermission. Translation of their title is The Shoes.

A door prize will be awarded, and the couples will swing to the "Miller-Like-Music" of Richard Linsen and his orchestra. Linsen played at the Junior Prom in 1956.

Hans Becherer, Chairman of the Military Ball Committee, stressed the fact that "the ball is open to all Trinity undergraduates," and that it will be the last social event on campus until May.

Tickets are on sale now and may be purchased from any member of the Military Ball Committee, a fraternity representative, or the Freshman representatives in the New Dorm or Elton Dormitory.

Lectures on Careers In Math Announced

The Department of Mathematics of Trinity College, announces that a series of talks, "Careers in Mathematics" will be given on three Monday afternoons this spring. The talks will begin at 4:15 P.M. and will last approximately one hour. They will be given in Room 214, Boardman Hall, on the Trinity Campus. High school or preparatory school seniors who may be interested are cordially invited to attend.

always under judgment . . . You do what you want to do, but in the end it is the only thing you can do."

Norman Catir, Trinity '55 of Berkeley Divinity School believes that "the call often comes unheard."

Another Trinity alumnus, Richard Hennigar '54 of Berkeley stated that once he was a juvenile delinquent and entered the Church as "a token of gratitude for what God had done for me."

USNSA Promotes Intercollegiate Unity

Trinity has become a member of the United States National Student Association (U.S.N.S.A.), a confederation of college student bodies represented through their student governments, thereby associating itself with many other leading colleges.

Purpose of U.S.N.S.A.

The Association is the largest representative national student organization in the world, having some 300 members representing 600,000 students, and was started by some American students in December, 1946. Its main aim is the promotion of student interests and their welfare. The purposes of U.S.N.S.A. can be best understood from its preamble:

"The Association is dedicated to maintaining academic freedom, stimulating and improving democratic student governments, developing better educational standards, improving student welfare, promoting international understanding, guaranteeing to all people equal rights and possibilities for education and fostering the recognition of the rights and responsibilities of students to the school, the community and God, and to preserving the interests and integrity of the government and the Constitution of the United States of America."

Five Major Service Areas Provided

Through the establishment of a successful intercollegiate Association, U.S.N.S.A. provides five major areas of service with the goal of helping the individual student and student governments.

Serves As Student Voice

Primarily, U.S.N.S.A. provides a voice for students nationally and internationally. Through their international program, American students are represented at important world meetings where student opinion is expressed. On the other hand, the opportunity to voice ideas and aspirations of American students is not limited to just a few representatives; the policies are decided in the annual meetings involving hundreds of students and through regional assemblies. Finally, a continual flow of material, aimed expressly at informing students of national and international problems affecting student life, is sent to each member campus.

Promotes Exchange of Ideas

Secondly, U.S.N.S.A. facilitates the exchange of ideas, operations and programs. Through meetings, clinics and workshops on specialized projects, students from all over the world are brought in contact with each other. Furthermore, the Student Government Information Service is organized to see that specific information is available to members on more than 150 individual subjects.

Plans Intercollegiate Projects

Thirdly, the Association is deeply interested in planning and promoting intercollegiate projects. Encompassing service, trips abroad, student discount service, trips abroad, seminars in U.S. and abroad and a foreign student program, enables U.S.N.S.A. to orient, help and promote student welfare everywhere.

Convention To Be Held In August

Next summer, a U.S.N.S.A. convention will be held at Ann Arbor, Michigan in the last two weeks of August. At the conference, Mrs. Roosevelt, Mr. Harold Stassen and diplomatic leaders from U.S. and abroad will discuss the leading problems of student education. On hand, will be famous television personalities, including Mrs. Ruth Geri Hazy, and representatives from 400 colleges. Trinity will be represented by several students and several graduating members of the class of 1957 headed by Brooks Baker. This conference will do a lot to build up the organization at Trinity and further publicize Trinity as a national college.

Trackmen to Face Wesleyan Indoors

By HUB SEGUR

"A COMPLETE CHANGE of strength," was Karl Kurth's opening observation of this year's track squad. "For the first time since I've been here, we'll be strong in the distances and weak in the sprints." Karl qualified this last statement by stating that there are a number of potentially fine sprinters, but as of yet they are unproven.

The distances figure to be loaded with veteran Bob Scharf, the improving Bob Riddell, Soph Bob Brian, Bill McGill of intramural fame, and co-captain Hub Segur splitting up the chores between the 880, mile, and two mile runs.

Another bright spot is the hurdles, where co-captain Bob Godfrey and Fred Boynton will hold down the highs and Rex Illick, John Murray, and Bill Johnson will struggle with the lows. We appear assured of points in the high jump also with Boynton, Dick Noble, and Hans Becherer all able to clear five-ten.

The addition of soph Wes Formister to the weight department will be a big boost. Formister, setting a frosh javelin mark last year, missing the school mark by less than five feet. In the shot put will be Ray Sheppard with help from Doug Frost.

The question-mark sprints to be led by letterman Danny Calabro. Phil Simmons and Hal Drinkhaus could prove to be the life-saver in the short runs.

Delta Phi Wins Squash Title As Swimming Trials Commence

DELTA PHI OF THE NATIONAL LEAGUE squeezed past the American League's freshmen of Elton "A", 3-2, to cop the intramural squash championship last week.

Psi U. nicked Delta Psi by an identical score to take third place, as did Alpha Delta Phi in their 3-2 defeat of Sigma Nu, to secure fifth position. In the preceding league play-offs, Elton "A" had defeated Psi U. 4-1, while in the National League, Delta Phi reached the finals by conquering Delta Psi 3-2.

The semifinals of intramural wrestling, held Tuesday, found Bob Smith (Sigma Nu) meeting Charley Berth (Alpha Chi Rho), and Bill Lorrison (DKE) opposing Bill Morrison (D. Phi), in the unlimited weight division. Also surviving the quarter finals were last year's champions, Nelson Whit (Brownell), Ben Williams (Psi U.), and John Norris (D. Phi) in the 137, 147, and 157 classes, respectively, and Shep Scheinberg (Sigma Nu), Tim Holbrook (Psi U.), and Smith in the last three divisions.

Table tennis entered the IM action last Thursday, as the number five men of both leagues competed, with the number four men meeting on Friday. Of the number five men winners, Lloyd Frauenglass (Brownell) and Walt Russell (Alpha Chi Rho) secured first places in the National and American Leagues, respectively.

Frosh Tankmen Grab N.E. Relay

IN THE NEW ENGLAND individual swimming championships at UConn last Saturday, Trinity Frosh won the freshman 400-yd. freestyle relay, while the varsity swimmers placed two men in three events.

The team of George Black, John Friedman, Brian Foy, and Bob Morgan covered the distance in three minutes, 43.3 seconds, while varsity co-captains Walt Shannon, placing fifth in the 50- and sixth in the 100-yd. freestyle events, and Kevin Logan, taking sixth in the 200-yd. breaststroke, tallied four points for the varsity. Williams won the meet, closely defeating Amherst, 62-57.

"I was well satisfied with our showing," observed Coach Christ.

Ranking the number four men victors, we have Wes Sullivan (Brownell) and Al Krupp (Phi Psi) holding top positions in their respective leagues.

Baseball Spring Training Camp Opens; Young Contingent Green as Elm Trees

By BILL MCGILL

IF DAN JESSEE'S baseball Banams can lose their greenness as fast as the fabled elms are gaining theirs, the approaching season should be quite intriguing.

Though blessed with some fine veterans, Jessee is faced with the problem of finding replacements for the likes of Drabowsky, Kozuch, Sticka, and Aramini among the twelve sophomores who make up two-thirds of the roster.

The number one returnee is George Case, the stocky senior righthander who, with Drabowsky and rain, formed an imposing pitching combination over the last two seasons. Behind him are three sophomores: Jim Canivan, Brendon Shea, and Myles McDonough. Canivan, the only lefty in the bunch, seems to be a little up on the other two, but only time and game experience will tell. McDonough also may see action in the outfield.

Another stellar veteran is George Kelleher at shortstop. A sparkling gloveman, the only question is the consistency with which he will hit. Junior Jack Thompson, another vet, will be backing him up.

At first base Fred Baird has a big jump on soph Ed Anderson, who, naturally enough, doesn't boast the experience that Fred has. Across the diamond there is a tussle going on for the third base slot between senior Ed Babington and soph Ron Reopel.

Second base is being contested for by two sophs, John Kenney and Charlie Bozzuto. Kenney, a shortstop last year, has tremendous speed. Bozzuto, if he loses the nod here, will see action in the outfield.

The ranks are mighty thin in the pastures, with only three other candidates besides McDonough and Bozzuto: Jack McGowan, Doug Raynard, and Bill Abeles. McGowan was in the gardens last year while Raynard has worked at third base and behind the plate for the last two years. Abeles is a sophomore. The real battle royal for a starting berth is at catcher where three "rookies" are vying. On sheer appearance Roger LeClere cuts an awe-inspiring figure. If he hits it will be murder. Also in the scramble are George Graham, who did an excellent job behind the bat for the frosh; and Sam Sargent.

The first action for the team will be a furious four days in the Southland, March 27-31, when it plays two games with George Washington and one apiece with Catholic U. and Navy.

Segur Tells Woes Of 'Garden' Fiasco

(A conversation overheard between a follower of track and Hub Segur, who participated in the I.C.A.A.A.A. track meet in Madison Square Garden March 2):

"How was the meet down in the Garden Saturday?"

"Great! Delaney's two-mile had them cheering for five minutes."

"How'd you do? You ran the mile, didn't you?"

"It was quite a finish. As Burr Grim came across the finish line, I was no more than eight feet behind him. The only trouble was that I had two more laps to go. I was the last one on the track, so to save embarrassment, I forfeited the last one and trotted into the locker room."

"How about Scharfie? He was in the two-mile, right?"

"Yeah, Bob was going great guns for six laps until one official stopped him, figuring the 'Trinity' on his uniforms was Trinity Prep and he was ineligible to compete in an intercollegiate event. That was O.K., but when the timers asked the two of us to hold the finishing tape for the frosh relay, it was just too much!"

What's it like to be AN IBM SALESMAN?

Selling to management is perhaps the best training for management, and it's the reason Gene McGrew joined IBM. Today, he possesses a thorough practical Business Administration education, responsibility, an excellent income—all at age 27. Read about an unusual career.

You're Gene McGrew... high school footballer and class officer. You won a scholarship and went through Princeton in the top third of your class... managed varsity track... commanded an artillery battery in Korea... "When you put a lot of preparation into your career," Gene McGrew feels, "you should expect a lot of opportunity in return."

Meets IBM representative

Out of the Army in 1953, Gene met an IBM representative. It sounded like opportunity. A few interviews later, Gene was sure. Although sales was only one of the many jobs he felt he could handle, this kind of selling—(IBM machines are as much an idea as a product)—promised to occupy every talent he possessed. Besides, he's learned that "no other form of training produces so many top business managers."

Gene outlines programming test

Then began a 13 months' training program marked by merit salary increases. First—3 months' schooling and observing operations in Pittsburgh (Gene's hometown). Next—2 months' studying the applications of IBM's electronic data processing machines in business, science, government, and defense. Followed by 7 months' practical training in the field, with customer contact. Followed by IBM's famous course in selling methods. Finally, assignment to a sales territory near Pittsburgh, responsible for about 14 companies and their executives who used IBM equipment, and a dozen or so more who were logical prospects for it.

Makes first sale

Gene's first sale, to a bank, required thorough study; consultations; a written recommendation. The climax came, Gene remembers, when he submitted his analysis to the vice president and received that gentleman's signature.

Discussing customer's installation

Gene's latest sale was to a large industrial corporation. He's now preparing this customer for the installation of an IBM electronic system designed to simplify financial procedure; inventory and other systems problems. At 27, Gene finds himself top man on an important account. He's educator, salesman, administrator.

How would Gene define selling?

"We feel the best way to sell is to be able to consult. The best way to consult is to know something of value your customer doesn't. IBM's 'something of value' is profit through automation."

Gene's thoughts on competition:

"The entire Office Machine Industry feels the lead pencil is the biggest competitor. You've no idea how many time-consuming clerical jobs can be mechanized, thus freeing people for important, creative jobs. IBM's success in the field is due to service, knowledge, 'know-how'."

Does Gene find his youth a handicap?

"It's what you know—not how old you are—that counts. I deal with executives twice my age on a basis of equality, because they respect my training and my business judgment."

Future wide open

"I'm getting married soon, and I was amazed to realize how much security IBM's growth (sales have doubled on the average every five years since 1930) and benefits represent. But I think my real security lies in the chance to use my own ability fully and freely. There are nearly 200 Branch Managerships, 15 District Managerships and executive positions in 5 other divisions ahead of me. IBM is introducing new machines, systems and concepts so fast that, every Monday, we have a 'new idea' meeting just to keep up."

IBM hopes this message will give you some idea of what it's like to be a salesman at IBM. There are equal opportunities for E.E.'s, I.E.'s, M.E.'s, physicists, mathematicians, and Liberal Arts majors in IBM's many divisions—Research, Product Development, Manufacturing En-

John, Roger Confide Techniques to Karl

A NEW SYSTEM for training distance runners is being employed by track coach Karl Kurth this season.

According to Kurth, the new training technique is an import from abroad, where it has been used effectively by such standout performers as Roger Bannister of England and Australia's John Landy.

The foreign training system consists of alternating running and jogging laps instead of the usual run and rest pattern. Kurth is highly optimistic about the new system and is hoping it will aid Bob Scharf and Hub Segur, his two top distance men.

The ceremony opened with a short carillon recital ending with the Westminster chimes striking three. Chaplain Thomas gave a short invocation, Dr. Jacobs delivered a short address, then he took the first spade full of dirt signalling the forthcoming construction. The Rt. Rev. Walter H. Gray, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Connecticut, closed the ceremony by leading the assemblage of one hundred and fifty in prayer.

Vassar's Second Visit

This is the second visit of the Vassar Club to campus. In the past they have sung with the Princeton Glee Club, accompanied by the Harvard University orchestra, in New York City.

The College's Glee Club has presented concerts with Smith and the University of Connecticut this season. A two day Christmas tour to the New York City area was taken in December. The season will wind up with the annual Spring Tour at the end of this month and a joint presentation of Brahms' Requiem with Wellesley in April.

Dr. Clarence H. Barber, director of the Glee Club, anticipates a successful concert. "Trinity is privileged to play host to the Vassar Glee Club," he commented, "and the varied and inspiring program should please every taste in music."

Back relied on another technique rarely used in debating, when he presented a graph visually demonstrating where our victory was going. A great number of teams requested permission to copy the chart.

The affirmative team of Moorin and Spivak, both Sophomores, developed a plan around the proposed United Nations organization, SUNFED.

Robert Meade of the psychology department, who accompanied the debaters, was "very impressed" with the Trinity team. "By hard work, excellent team co-operation, and well integrated plans Trinity has established itself as a leading debating school," said Mr. Meade.

Psychologists have plunged into research in an effort to explain the infectious madness that overtakes such hopped-up bopsters. Explanations range from comparing the R and R craze to St. Vitus Dance to likening it to a perverted mass hysteria.

It should be quite interesting and, indeed enlightening, to learn what the debaters from Smith and Trinity have to say on the subject.

Franklin Kury, a junior and pre-law English major, has announced his candidacy for State Chairman of the Connecticut Intercollegiate Student Legislature. The C.I.S.L. is composed of seventeen Connecticut colleges and meets annually in the state Capitol to act on mock legislation and gain practical experience in politics. The chief function of the State Chairman is to lead the Executive Council, composed of two delegates from each college, which meets monthly during the school year to plan the legislative session.

Well Qualified

Kury is well qualified for the position he seeks, having been active in the organization since his freshman year, when he introduced a Home Rule Bill which won wide acclaim for its documentation and presentation. In the same year he was also active in Thomas Fenton's, '56, unsuccessful campaign for Majority Leader of the House.

Last year Kury was alternate delegate from Trinity to the Executive Council and served on the Banquet Committee, for which he succeeded in obtaining Ex-Congressman Thomas Dodd as the speaker for the annual banquet, the first time a name speaker addressed the group. He also ran for Majority Leader of the House and lost by one vote, 117 to 116, in one of the most exciting elections C.I.S.L. has seen.

This year Kury has been Banquet Chairman and was one of the leaders in Dyke Spear's successful campaign for Majority Leader.

Outstanding Debater

Kury, president of the Atheneum (debating) Society, is an outstanding debater, with a record of nineteen wins and one loss for this year. He is a Dean's List Student and was a Page at the Democratic National Convention in Chicago last August.

Comments On Opponent

When asked for a comment about his opponent, Raymond Turner of New Haven, Kury replied, "Ray is a good candidate and I like him personally. But I'm in this race to win—have no doubts about that. Judging from the number of schools who have indicated support since the legislative session adjourned, I'm confident of victory."

Sticklers!

TRY THIS: put a pack of Luckies on a pedestal—under glass. Observe closely for several days. What happens? Not a thing. You've just learned the hard way that an unsmoked Lucky is simply Waste Taste! Light it, and it's simply wonderful. You see, a Lucky is made better to taste better. It's packed end to end with fine tobacco . . . mild, good-tasting tobacco that's TOASTED to taste even better. Don't just wait around—light up a Lucky. You'll say it's the best-tasting cigarette you ever smoked!

DON'T JUST STAND THERE . . .

STICKLE!
MAKE $25

Sticklers are simple riddles with two-word rhyming answers. Both words must have the same number of syllables. (No drawings, please!) We'll shell out $25 for all we use—and for hundreds that never see print. So send stacks of 'em with your name, address, college and class to Happy-Joe-Lucky, Box 67A, Mount Vernon, N. Y.
