

The Tripod

The Undergraduate Publication of

> Trinity College

Volume XXV

HARTFORD, CONN., FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1928

Number 8

TRINITY TEAM LOSES TO WESLEYAN ELEVEN

Last Home Game of Season Ends in Defeat

Wesleyan's more experienced footfighting team and won by a score of 24 to 0 at Trinity field last Saturday. The first quarter was the most interesting of the game, as the teams were most evenly matched then.

Three of Wesleyan's touchdowns were brought about by Trinity's misplays. The other was the result of when Millspaugh ran across the goal for Wesleyan's third touchdown.

The game was hard fought and Trinity's defense was very determined as they held Wesleyan scoreless in the first quarter. Brown, Nye, and Cooper were bulwarks on the defense, while Uhlig was the most consistent gainer for Trinity. For Wesleyan, Millspaugh and Lockwood starred. The whole Trinity team fought hard but Wcsleyan was decidedly superior.

The detailed account of the game follows.

First Quarter.

Wesleyan got the ball on downs.

Rogers was hurt and Britton took his place at quarterback. Thomas was stopped by the Gold and Blue line. "Bill" Nye tackled Lockwood behind the Wesleyan line. Lockwood went through Trinity's left tackle for four yards. On the next play he received a bad pass from center and had to Trinity's ball. Rogers punted, and the ball was downed by Hardman on his own 34-yard Nye tackled Thomas before he got to the line of scrimmage. Thomas took the ball through the line for three yards. A pass, Tetley to Bagg, gave Wesleyan first down on Trinity's 16-yard line. Hardman threw Thomas for a four yard loss. Tetley made a yard through the line. Two Cardinal and Black passes were incomplete and Trinity got the ball on downs. Fred Cooper, Trinity's center, had his nose broken but gamely continued to play. Knurek and Uhlig made four yards in two Uhlig made three more through the left side of Wesleyan's line. Britton's punt was called back by the referee, and Trinity was penalized for being off side. Britton punted to Thomas who ran the ball back to Trinity's 39-yard line. Bill Nye broke through the Wesleyan line and threw Thomas for an eight-yard loss. Silloway punted over Trinity's goal line. Trinity's ball on their own 20-yard line. Knurek went off tackle for nine yards. Uhlig made twelve yards more and a first down. Knurek made a yard. A pass was good only for two yards. Uhlig made ten yards on an off tackle play. Brown failed to gain. Uhlig made five yards through the line. Wesleyan's line stepped the next play. Britton was forced to kick on the fourth down. and his attempt was blocked on Trinity's 33-yard line. Thomas made five yards on an end run. Lockwood made seven yards on two off tackle plays. First down on Trinity's 18yard line. Thomas failed to gain. The quarter ended with the score 0 to 0.

Second Quarter.

Lockwood yards made three tackle for six more yards. Thomas Three times. made first down. Trinity's line held on their own 6-yard line, but on the fourth down Locktry for the extra point. Guernsey

College Body Meeting

At the college body meeting held last Monday in the Public Speaking Room, the cup held last year by the Sigma Nu Fraternity for having the largest number of A's and B's for the year previous was turned over to ball team wore down Trinity's hard the Alpha Tau Kappa Fraternity. The cup and medals for the crosscountry run were also awarded.

Professor Babbitt was the first speaker, and he said that his talk would primarily concern the Freshmen. "I feel that it is an appropriate time to tell you of the Phi Beta Kappa Fraternity and its requirea forty-five yard march which ended ments," he said, "so that when you get to be Seniors you will not be able to say that if you had known about it you would have done better. To become a member it is necessary to have a minimum of 10 A's and 10 B's. Of course, if you are so unfortunate as to get one C you can very easily make this up by getting an additional A." He then read off the percentage of A's and B's obtained by the various fraternities last year, Alpha Tau Kappa leading with 41 per cent. The cup was then turned over by "Andy" Brown in behalf of the Sigma Nu fraternity to Edgar Bagg kicked off to Trinity's 10-yard Coles of the Alpha Tau Kappa Fraline, and Uhlig ran the ball back five yards. Trinity failed to gain and Coach Oosting spoke next of the recent cross-country run, expressing his satisfaction with the time of 14 minutes and 42 seconds made by Muzio over the three-mile course. He said this was better than the usual time, and much better than is made by the high schools practicing on the course. He then asked the representative of the Alpha Delta Phi Frafall on the ball five yards behind his ternity to receive the cup offered and presented by Lyman Cunningham Ogilby for scoring the largest number of points. Medals for the first three places were also given, which were won by Muzio, Bartlett, and Carson, respectively.

> caught Baggs' kickoff and ran to Trinity's 23-yard line. Uhlig made no gain. On the next play he made eight yards. Brown failed to gain. Guernsey fumbled Britton's punt and Nye scooped it up and ran over the Wesleyan goal line.

> The referee called him, and a fumbled punt is a dead ball so the score did not count. On the first down Uhlig's pass was intercepted by Harper, Wesleyan tackle. Lockwood Guernsey made twelve yards and a first down on a wide end run around an's 48-yard line. Knurek made five and Lockwood recovered for Wesleyan. Nye broke up a double pass when he threw Guernsey for a 2-yard loss. Lockwood made five yards and Silloway punted. Trinity's ball on their own 12-yard line. Millspaugh replaced Guernsey and ran back Britton's punt twenty-two yards to Trinity's 28-yard line. Trinity's line held and it was Trinity's ball. The Gold and Blue were penalized fifteen yards and Britton punted on the first down. Millspaugh ran the kick back to Trinity's 19-yard line. Wesleyan ended. Score, Wesleyan 6, Trinity 0.

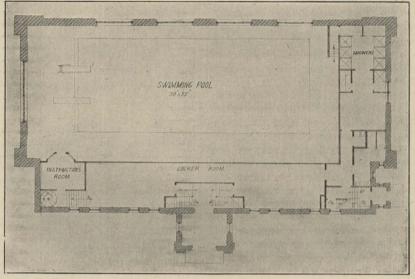

to Trinity's 26-yard line, Trinity was Jones of Hartford. Wittstein's ten Elton G. Littell, Acting Secretary of wood cut through the line for a touch- off side twice. Knurek and Uhlig piece first band will supply the music the class of 1899, says that a "good down. Nye and Gillies blocked the made short gains. Britton's punt at the Hop. It is therefore certain old-fashioned get-together sort of a (Continued on page 3.)

Second Half.

PLANS FOR NEW SWIMMING POOL

gymnasium now being constructed at The entire pool and walls will be fin-Trinity College by R. G. Bent & Com- ished in white tile. On two sides of issue of "The Tripod." This drawing five hundred people. This gallery is represents the plans for the first floor not shown in the drawing which apof the new building, which will be the pears above, since it appears in the

The first of the architect's draw-|springboards, one at the end of the ings for the interior of the new pool, and the other a high board. pany of Hartford, appears in this gallery capable of accommodating the pool and above, there will be a first unit of the proposed gymnasium. plan for the second floor, which will

The building will be constructed of be reproduced in an early issue of Puritan brick with trimmings in "The Tripod." brownstone, to match the existing of interest in the interior plans which may be noted in the drawings reproduced above. As one enters the main entrance under the portico of the building, there are stairways to the lery above the swimming pool. Beyond the stairs there will be entrances to the locker room. Students intend- the locker room. ing to swim will undress there and pass through the shower room to the of the pool, as marked on the drawing, will be seventy-five feet by thirty feet, the standard size, and will vary went in for Thomas. "Andy" Brown the springboards. There will be two "The Tripod."

The building will be so constructed buildings. There are several things that no one will have access to the his nose broken in three places, is still swimming pool unless he has first in the hospital. Either George Mackie passed through the locker room, and is dressed for swimming. This is position in his place. Arthur Weinassured by having the level of the stein, two hundred and five pound pool several feet above that of the right and left which lead to the gal- floor so that one can reach the level place of Kalasinsky. The rest of the of the pool only by going up the line will be the same as the one used single staircase, leading straight to swimming pool floor. The dimensions will be another locker room and six squash racquet courts. On the fourth ity. floor there will be small galleries overlooking the squash courts. Drawin depth from four feet at the shallow ings of the plans for the upper floors end for beginners to ten feet under will be reproduced in early issues of

Glee Club Concert

The Trinity College Glee Club, which is practicing each Thursday evening under the able instruction of Dr. Laubin, is making fast progress and hopes within a short time to give members of the class have already a concert. In fact, it has been already decided that the club will be ready to perform in public in the next few made five yards through the line. weeks, and plans are being made for such a concert. The plan is for the Glee Club to combine with the Trinity These are H. L. Cleasby, of Syracuse, Trinity's right end. Wesleyan was College Orchestra, and, under the J. W. Nichols of China, and H. L. Rice The final election for this office is name of the Trinity College Musical yards to go. Lockwood and Guern- Clubs give a concert up in Alumni sey made eight yards on the next Hall. There is to be dancing after two plays. A Wesleyan pass was in- the concert with music supplied by complete. Trinity's ball on Wesley- the Orchestra. Robert Johnson, president of the Glee Club, has stressed yards and Uhlig one. Knurek fumbled the necessity of the club obtaining some funds within a short time, as the cost of engaging Dr. Laubin must be defrayed in some way if the club is to retain his services as coach.

Sophomore Hop News

Plans for the Sophomore Hop which is to be held at Alumni Hall on the completion, Harvey Dann, Chairman of the Sophomore Hop Committee, has announced that the contract for through center. Lockwood went off made nine yards and then the half the programs has been awarded to Uhlig ran Wesleyan's kickoff back and the decorating will be done by that the music will be of high quality. time will be had."

Class of 1899 Reunion

The thirtieth reunion of the class of 1899 will be at a dinner to be held on Class Day, 1929. Most of the promised to be present. All the rest, except a very few, have promised to try to be back. Of those who cannot be back, three expect to be abroad. of Belmer, N. J., but letters from these men will be read at the dinner.

Six men have not been heard from Their addresses are unknown. They are: William R. Golden, Chauncey K. Harris, William H. Mather, Ralph C. Mead, William A. Warner, and Joseph W. Ziegler. If anyone can supply these addresses, he should notify the Acting Secretary of the class.

The members who will come the longest distances to be back are: Donald S. Corson, California; Professor Daniel H. Verder, Winnipeg, evening of November 16, are nearing Canada; McElwain Bishop, Minnesota; and Raymond S. Yeomans, Florida.

All of the living professors of the the Beacon Engraving Company of class have been invited to be present. Boston. The caterer will be Walker The classes of 1898 and 1900 will join the class of 1899 at the dinner. Mr.

FINAL FOOTBALL GAME AT AMHERST SATURDAY

Team Handicapped by Last Week's Injuries

Trinity and Amherst will resume an old rivalry Saturday when the badly battered Blue and Gold team lines up against the strong Amherst team. There has been a lapse in the series with the "Sabrinas" since 1923, when Amherst won 41-12.

This year Amherst is the overwhelming favorite. Trinity has had an exceptionally poor season. Their offense has been very weak and the defense erratic. On the other hand, "Dad" White, Amherst mentor, has developed the strongest team the "Lord Jeffs" have had in several seasons. In order to have sufficient reserve material for their objective game with Williams, Amherst will try a new backfield combination. Gottlieb, diminutive back, will call signals. Wilson, regular quarterback, will be moved to fullback. Lever and Perry will be at the halfback positions. The line will probably be the same as the one that started against the Massachusetts Aggies, unless Ray is fit to resume his place at left end.

There will be at least two changes in Trinity's line this week. Fred Cooper, who fought gamely through nearly the whole Wesleyan game with or Jack MacInnes will be at the pivot linesman, will be back at tackle in against Wesleyan.

Captain "Andy" Brown, "Cop" Other independent staircases will Kelly, George Hardman, and "Hank" lead to the third floor, where there Uhlig will play. These men will all be playing their last game for Trin-

Amherst has lost but one game this season, and has scored at least one touchdown in every game. Their record for this season follows.

> Amherst 19...... Mio'dlebury 7 Amherst 7.....Bowdoin 3 Amherst 13...... Haverford 23 Amherst 20......Wesleyan 20 Amherst 13..... Mass. Aggies 0

A. A. Holds Elections

The primary elections for the office of President of the Athletic Association were held in the Union on Wednesday, November 7. The two candidates who won the primaries are Stephen B. O'Leary of Hartford, and Henry J. Uhlig of Weehawken, N. J. taking place today, and at the time "The Tripod" goes to press the result is not yet known.

O'Leary is a veteran on the football team, a member of the Sophomore Dining Club, the 'Varsity Club, has held several class offices, and has been prominent in many campus activities. Uhlig is also a veteran on the football team, a member of the 'Varsity Club, and a prominent man in his class. He belongs to the Alpha Chi chapter of Delta Kappa Epsilon, while O'Leary is a member of the Delta Chi chapter of Sigma Nu.

 Sophomore Hop

At Alumni Hall Friday November 16, 1928 10 p. m. to 2 a. m.

Wittstein's First Band will furnish the music. A Good Time is Assured! Let's Put It Over Big!

The Tripod

Hartford, Conn.

Member, Eastern Intercollegiate Newspaper Association.

Published twenty-six times during the year.

Subscribers are urged to report promptly any serious irregularity in the receipt of THE TRIPOD. All complaints and business communications should be addressed to THE TRIPOD, Trinity College, Hartford, Conn. The columns of THE TRIPOD are at all times open to alumni, undergraduates, and others for the free discussion of matters of interest to Trinity men. No anonymous communications will be considered, though if the correspondent so desires, his name will not be published. THE TRIPOD assumes no responsibility for sentiments expressed by correspondents.

Editor

Albert Victor DeBonis, 1929 Literary Editor Karl König, 1929

Associate Editors William McEwan Ellis, 1928 Marcel Lucien Doublier, 1930 William Bradford Gardner, 1980 Kenneth Allen Linn, 1930 Harvey Dann, 1931

Business Manager Lyman Bushnell Brainerd, Jr., 1929

Assistant Business Manager H. Rees Mitchell, 1931

Circulation Manager Francis James Ryan, 1930

Assistant Circulation Manager Joseph Delphis Gauthier, 1930

Circulating Board John Baldwin Meeker, 1931

Entered at the Post Office, Hartford, Conn. as second-class matter.

Acceptance for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in paragraph 4, section 412, Act of October 28, 1925, authorized October 14, 1926.

Subscription Price. $2.50 per Year. Advertising Rates furnished on application.

THE GAME.

Then you should consider the season a failure? True enough we have throughout the play. Only Moliere suffered at the hands of our opponents, and moreover the last game, the one which decides the balance, has lect is both powerful and direct, never been lost. We have won no games thus far and have tied just one. But, of a miser his masterful hand is por- more widespread. A very heavy rewhat of that?

Lest others think that we lay no to develop athletes, we are here to desires to pay him some money, which we can lead out on the field to sonification of avarice. win our events. Trinity men play taken their toll.

squad on the whole is pretty green, power to win from us a smile. But nor can any one gainsay that before when his French relative loses his the Wesleyan game the team had cassette d'or, he is far from being been real slovenly. But the truth re- bewildered: he is, of course, angry, mains that with the nucleus of about but he does not lose his presence of two regulars, even a genius should mind; he is aggressive and will have have trouble in turning out a winning the whole world hanged to restore his team. Let no one take it wrongly cassette. Harpagon knows little of when we say that Coach Merriman morals and of parental love, but could not put pep into a team that Euclio is a man of good morals and needed a Trinity-Wesleyan game to certainly has parental affection for awaken it. Now that the team has his daughter.

begun to come out of its lethargy and the season is nearly over, we can only this—that this squad consisting largely of Sophomores supplemented by the present Freshmen and transfers will survive the examinations. Under those circumstances we predict a successful 1929 football season.

LITERARY COLUMN

PLAUTUS AND MOLIERE.

Shakespeare took over the "Menaechmi" of Plautus and composed his 'Comedy of Errors", which we have judged inferior to the Roman play; while Moliere, depending upon the same ancient dramatist in his "Aulularia" ("The Pot of Gold") had the genius to surpass the original with. the presentation of "L'Avare" ("The Miser"), which some famous critics rightly consider one of the greatest comedies of all times. Like Shakespeare, he has enlarged the plot of Plautus, but he has adapted it to modern times with more success than the English dramatist.

Harpagon, Moliere's miser, who corresponds to the Plautine miser Euclio, is hard, cold, and inhumanly clever. He appears much more concerned over the loss of his cassette of gold than he is over the promise of marriage that his daughter has signed with her lover, Valere. He wishes his daughter to marry Anselme that he might not give a dowry; of course, Elise does not feel inclined to marry Anselme, for she is in love with Valere; but no objection of hers can so much as even touch her father's heart. On the other hand, his son, Cleante, loves Mariane; so does Harpagon. Both father and son wish to marry Mariane, but the father has the cruelty to wish to sacrifice his son's happiness for his own. This in brief is the plot of "L'Avare."

Moliere's wit is brilliant and highly intellectual, and he has a humor that seldom fails to understand the human heart. As for gaining a desired effect he is a supreme master. He wishes to make Harpagon the very embodiment of avarice. With what The miser never for a moment appears with a peaceful mind; the cassette worries him to death; his avaricious rigidity continues consistently could make such an aggressive, clever, clean the pole. despicable miser, for Moliere's intelmissing its mark. Fancy what sort chusetts: "Education is becoming traying when in the last act, while sponsibility rests upon the individual Valere is being questioned about the citizen in every self-governing modern store in winning games, that we as a robbery of the cassette, Harpagon state. He owes it to himself to take school are becoming the goat of the notices that there are two candles every advantage of these educational eastern colleges, we will try to ex- burning and promptly blows one out. opportunities - whether for youth or plain or to give our reasons for the Or let us consider the earlier part of for adults — which his community losses. In the first place, Trinity the play. While he is engaged talk- offers, to inform himself candidly has a student body not half the size ing with his intended bride, the ser- and as thoroughly as may be upon of rival colleges, and that largely be- vant announces that a caller wishes to those questions which require immedicause of the high standing-it cannot see him. Harpagon replies that he is ate answer and to hold himself free be denied. Then the question arises, occupied but will see the caller at from bigotry, intolerance, and lust for "Well, why not lower the ratings?" some other time. However, when the persecution, which unhappily still lin-In the first place, our purpose is not servant informs him that the visitor ger, and from time to time still manilearn, trite as the statement is. In says to Mariane: "Pardon me, I'll be much more than medieval ferocity." the second place, the lowering of the back immediately." Plautus was conrating would have a depreciating tent with painting an ordinary kind effect on the reputation of Trinity of miser, whereas the ingenuity and students who enter graduate schools. intellectual coldness of Moliere Of course our athletes are self-made, painted for the world a miser who we have no stable of race-horses might be considered the very per-

We despise Harpagon but the most the game. Then, too, the fact that that we can do against Euclio is to the college is small reflects on the laugh sympathetically with his worsize of the squad, or, if you will, on ries; for Euclio is not scheming. the three or four regulars we have cruel, and inhuman like his French left on the squad each year after the relative. When Euclio becomes graduation and faculty rulings have aware of the loss of his aula of gold, he is bewildered, does not know what There's no denying the fact that the to do. In his distress he has the

Although Plautus gives us a more likeable miser, one whom we are hope—and much consolation lies in forced to pardon for his avarice, yet he is inferior to the French dramatist who had the genius to paint human beings with humor and wit as well as with sincerity, with remarkable realism as well as with a delicate imagination, one who, in short, had a broad and rounded understanding of all humanity. If one includes even Shakespeare, Plautus, Terence and Aristophones, Moliere stands unrivalled as the supreme comic genius.

JOHN KAZARIAN.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NEWS

Doctor to patient suffering from earache—"Some soap and water would do that ear some good."

Patient—"But I have already tried that once."

That's just about the speed. -Conn. Campus.

Over one hundred and fifty upperclassmen are taking the newly established course in Humanics at M. I. T. The subject matter of the course deals with the relations between employer and employee, and is intended to help the student to a better understanding of the problems he will meet in business life. Half the time will be devoted to lectures, and the remainder to round-table discussion. A novel feature of the course is the absence of examinations. A brief written resume of the previous period must be handed in at the beginning of each hour. Thus the men are graded for what they can acquire from the subject. The course will be a success if all the elements confronting the tired business man are included.

The freshmen of Ohio Wesleyan introduced a new sort of "flag scrap," in which the administration of the college partook, when they suddenly conceived the idea of tying a small green flag with the numbers 1932 on it to the flag-pole in front of the chapel. Not content with that, they also cut the rope and greased the pole so that the banner could not be reamazing power he accomplishes this! moved for some time. The college 'laughed last," nevertheless, when the perpetrators of the crime were hailed up before the administration and the class as a whole was assessed for a new rope and the labor required to > Governor Alvin T. Fuller, of Massafest themselves -The New Student.

We wonder if the benign gentleman believes that, and if so, since when?

It is estimated by the Federal Bureau of Education that there are 1,000,000 college students in the United States, and only 950,000 in the rest of the world.

-The Amherst Student. So, logically speaking, the United States will in the future be the most intellectual country of the world.

A social survey class has done some interesting work recently in data concerning students. According to the statistics compiled as a result of the investigation, nine per cent. of the fathers of the students were college graduates, and two per cent. of the mothers have graduated from college. Seventeen per cent. of the fathers attended for at least one year, and of the mothers, eighteen per cent. Approximately half the mothers did not get more than a common school education.—The Franklin.

Money and brains are requisites for entrance to most private schools. Tucked away down in the Ozark Mountains of Missouri, however, is the "School of the Ozarks," where poverty is an entrance requirement, and the entrance examination is six weeks of summer farm work. enrollment is 200 this year. never turn away a student without money," said Robert M. Good, president. "Most of our students come from families whose cash income is less than $50 a year."

Prospective students, both boys and girls, have been known to tramp more than 100 miles over the mountains. Each student must work eighteen hours a week for tuition, room, and When he needs a new suit, thirty to forty hours additional work is required of him. A new pair of shoes "costs" twelve to fifteen hours of labor, a new tie, three or four Books also are paid for in

The school is self-supporting, although it receives annual funds from a board of trustees made up of St. Louis and Kansas City business men. There are 360 acres in the school farm. It operates a dairy and creamery, canning factory, laundry, and a printing plant.

The "School of the Ozarks" was opened twenty years ago by the Rev. James E. Forsyth, who floated down the White River to Hollister, Missouri, on a raft, landed, and casually started this school. Since the first class to graduate in 1913, no pupil has paid a dollar for his education there. The school is non-denominational.

Here's the best one yet. A student writes 5 pages of information on a history quiz and gets a zero. Favorite, no-politics oh, yes.

A certain professor has found that one may become poisoned from kissing due to the lead compounds in rouge and lipstick. Women do seem to have a deadening effect on this

Well, Life in Death you know. (Continued on page 3.)

A SALE OF MEN'S OVERCOATS $24.50 and $29.50

This event will please our trade, particularly to men who are looking for style, fabric and workmanship at these prices within the reach

Double and Single Breasted

Brown, Thomson & Company

Hartford's Shopping Center.

G. F. Warfield & Co Booksellers and

Stationers

77-79 Asylum Street, Hartford, Conn.

CALHOUN SHOW PRINT DIGNAM & WALSH, Proprietors POSTERS, PLACARDS BIG TYPE PRINTERS

Also CALHOUN PRESS - Quality Job Printers 356 Asylum Street, Hartford.

SEE OUR DISPLAY AT THE UNION EVERY FRIDAY. MAX PRESS, INC.

Tailors, Clothiers, Haberdashers Middletown: Hartford Office: 205 Main Street Bond Hotel

Trinity College

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow wrote in his Junior year at College:

"Whatever I study, I ought to be engaged in with all my soul, for I will be eminent in something. I most eagerly aspire after future eminence in Literature."

PRINTING

OF THE BETTER CLASS

AT CONSIDERATE COSTS

SUBSCRIPTION BLANK MAIL TODAY

1928

To THE TRIPOD,

Class of.....

Trinity College, Hartford, Conn.;

Please mail THE TRIPOD for the year 1928-1929, to the following address.

	a
City	 State
the same that th

SUBSCRIPTION $2.50.

Signed.

MOVED TO 172 PEARL STREET

Publication Work a Specialty

MONOTYPE COMPOSITION LINOTYPE COMPOSITION

Printers of "The Tripod"

HARTFORD NATIONAL BANK AND TRUST CO.

A CHECKING ACCOUNT IS A GREAT CONVENIENCE.

Resources Over $40,000,000

A REAL BOOK SHOP

Edwin Valentine Mitchell BOOKSELLER, PUBLISHER AND PRINT DEALER.

27 Lewis Street, Hartford.

Jefferson Pharmacy Prescriptions a Specialty.

1022 Broad Street, cor. Jefferson. U. S. Post Office Sub-Station No. 11.

The College Tailor Cleaning and Pressing 1279 BROAD STREET

H. BORNSTEIN, Proprietor.

"Say It With Flowers"

WIRE SERVICE TO ANY PART OF THE WORLD.

Kenneth & Macka

HOTEL BOND. Telephone 6-9074.

HENRY ANTZ BARBER SHOP

10 CHAIRS.

G. CODRARO H. FITCHNER Proprietors

27 Pearl St., Hartford, Conn. Branch Shop: 2 Grove St., Old Times' Bldg.

HUBERT'S DRUG STORE

213 ZION STREET

"Right over the Hill from the College"

We Carry a Complete Line of Drugs, Sundries, Stationery, Candy, Soda, etc.

We Invite Your Patronage.

PLIMPTON'S

Stationers, Engravers, Printers 252 Pearl Street, at Ann

THE COLLEGE STORE

THE PLACE OF ACCOMMODATION M. W. SCHER, Prop.

44 Vernon Street. Hartford, Conn.

SLOSSBERG Tailoring Parlor

The well known Trinity Tailor

High Class and Fashionable Tailoring Dress Suits and Tuxedos our Specialty

65 Lincoln Street, Hartford. Telephone 6-9162.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NEWS. (Continued from page 2.)

Pause here, dear friends, to shed a

For Miss Amelia Bright She made a perfect left-hand turn

Signalled to the right.

but-

"That's the buoy," said the fisherman when the swimmer bumped his hundred."

Overhearer-"Yes, you are one of the ciphers."

wants anything she uses the sign language."

Second Husband-"What do you mean?"

It's all right to let a woman realize be sure to give the impression you know nothing she couldn't easily learn.-Ex.

give away $100."

Actor—"Where's Scotch double?"

College boys are believed to be strongly in favor of the air mail, having found out this year that it enables them to get money from home just twenty-four hours quicker.—New York Evening Post.

Be Yourself.

willing to come half-way. Be your- for a perfect touchdown.—(IP) self. Make friends with everyone on the campus. Here is represented almost every race and creed. Be friends with them. Learn about them. Do not allow the false assumption that in order to be popular and loved you must belong to a certain clique, and to that clique alone-be yourself. -The Schuylkill News.

Freedom in Theory Only.

but ... That everyone accepts freedom in principle, although most of us reject it in fact is the thesis of an was first visited by a Norman." article by Miss Suzanne LaFollette in "The New Student" for November. 'Both peoples and governments, when it comes to the test, will accept freedom in principle and repudiate it in tion. fact; the former because they do not understand their own interest, the latter because they understand their turned immediately. own interest perfectly," writes Miss LaFollette.

"The right to pursue one's own way of course implies the right to decide for oneself in what one's good consists," the writer continues: "That is a right which almost no individual is ready to concede. No person, probably, doubts his own ability to almost none is willing to concede the same liberty to other people. * *

"What one may justly marvel at a little, perhaps, is the confidence in their own opinions which those who advocate any forcible regulation of human conduct must necessarily possess; and one marvels the more because they are often among the most enlightened members of the commun-Such a self-confidence, carried to the point of an attempt to substitute force for persuasion, amounts to sheer arrogance. One wonders to what end humanity has made its bitter struggle to escape from the chain which its own fears and superstitions have helped to forge, if those in a position to profit by that struggle and to continue it, fail so signally to understand its implications. does not associate arrogance of opinion with true cultivation. A cultivated mind is an open mind, and an open mind is by its very nature the reverse of arrogant."

Air-Minded" Students.

dent Service)—That the wheezing and coughing "collegiate" Ford must not have its sister conveyance in the air, is the warning of Mr. Edward P. Warner, Assistant Secretary of the Navy in charge of Aviation. Mr. Warner, in an address before the Third Intercollegiate Aviation Conference at Yale, pointed out the danger of flying with any but trustworthy planes.

College men are beginning to take The Harvard Flying Club and that at Johnson-"I'm one of the four the University of Southern California Britton punted. Millspaugh fumbled are two of the most advanced student but Jennings recovered for Wesleyan. groups. The latter already owns several planes. European students, placed by Mackie. Brown intercepted however, surpass the Americans in a Wesleyan pass just before the First Husband—"When my wife flying. One of the speakers at the whistle blew. Score, Wesleyan 24; conference cited a meeting in the Rhone River section last August where 400 planes were entered. Eight hundred pilots took part, ninety per First Husband—"She just signs for cent. of which were college men. College men won all of the prizes.

The popularity of flying has added a new prohibition to the list of "thou you know more than she does. But shalt nots" of the Wellesley College Handbook. The dean's office issued the edict that, "No student, while under the jurisdiction of the college, may ride in an aeroplane unless per-Movie Director-"In this scene you mission has been granted from the dean's office and the written consent of her parents secured."

The problem of chaperonage has not yet been settled, and is without doubt taxing the ingenuity of many a dean of women.

The most famous forward pass in the history of American football was made in the game played between California and Ohio State in the fall of 1920. Standing on his own 30-yard line, Harold P. Muller of the Califor-Do not confine your ideas and nia eleven, threw the pigskin 70 yards opinions or likes and dislikes entirely to the enemy goal line where Howard to one group. Be a person who is W. Stephens picked it from the air

> The absent-minded professor surveyed himself in the hair brush instead of the mirror.

"Gracious, but I need a shave," he

"A Norman fisherman from the liquor-producing district of Calvados discovered America," declared Senator Henry Cheron in a recent conversation with American Ambassador "I believe in freedom of opinion, Herrick. "History is all wrong," he said; "your continent was not discovered by Christopher Columbus. It

"Why did he come back to Normandy?" asked the Ambassador.

Senator Cheron replied that the fisherman probably foresaw prohibi-

Either that or he thought the breaks would be with him if he re-

TRINITY LOSES TO WESLEYAN. (Continued from page 1.)

rolled to Wesleyan's 26-yard line ran twenty-eight yards around ity's left end and was stopped by the next play and was penalized five yards more. Silloway punted and Knurek ran the kick back to his own 40-yard line. Trinity was penalized and given first down on their own 12-yard line. Britton fumbled the center pass and Miller recovered and carried the ball over for a touchdown. The try for point failed.

Captain Brown ran the kickoff back to his own 30-yard line. Trinity was off side. Knurek made two yards. Millspaugh ran back Britton's kick ten vards. Lockwood made first down on an off tackle play. Wesleyan made another first down on Trinity's 17-vard line.

Trinity held for downs and got the ball on its own 9-yard line. ity made six vards on the next three plays and Britton punted to his own 45-yard line. Lockwood made three yards.

Last Quarter.

downs. Millspaugh ran around right black veil over the forest but the iron gate, which had been left unused New Haven, Conn. (By New Stu- end for a touchdown. Nye defeated four rode on. A wind began to Tetley's attempt for the extra point. The kickoff was fumbled and Wesleyan received the ball on Trinity's uncomfortable, now became chilly. 32-yard line. Tetley punted over Trinity's goal line. Jennings intertackle for a touchdown. A pass for the extra point was grounded.

cepted a pass on his own 10-yard line. Gillies was knocked out and was re-Trinity 0. The lineup was as follows:

Wesleyan		Trinity
Steege	LE	Hardman
Schwenk	LT	Kalasinsky
Coffin	LG	Gillies
Miller	C	Cooper
I. W. Smith	RG	Kelly
Harper	RT	Durand
Silloway (Capt.)	RE	Nye
Tetley	QB	Rogers
Lockwood	LHB	Knurek
Thomas	RHB	Uhlig
Bagg	FB	(Capt.) Brown
Referen Whal	lon S	winefield: um

Referee, Whalen, Springfield; umpire, Johnson, Iowa; linesman, Mis- called. Heinrich has been in front of kell, New London.

SCHLOSS WINKLEIN ON THE ELBE.

The November day when Count called loudly. August Wilhelm von Rasselheim set warm as summer. A great misfor- which had subsided, came up again tune had befallen them already, and lashed their faces cruelly with to Schloss Winklein to retrieve some the sounds melted away. Finally, of the art treasures before the place realizing that Rupprecht could not should be looted.

one of the noblemen.

about fifty leagues away. When I once. My old aunt, the only person place makes me uneasy." living in the place at the time, died many years ago."

that was such a long time ago!" said said Rasselheim. Rupprecht.

Adoration of the Magi."

Wesleyan was off side. Millspaugh the ground, rose, and then dropped alizing what had happened. into the high grasses. Rain-Nye. Wesleyan lost four yards on and in a short while it pattered on the seemed to give way beneath him." dry leaves and the withered grass. The horsemen drew down their hoods you? and rode in silence for several hours. you." Rasselheim was frantic.

A dark mass abruptly rose in the dropped everywhere, covering the up the bank. riders with a coating of crimson and beat down and the shadows of the swered a voice from below. trees began to darken. Night was logs, half buried in the peat. The the castle. men, their capes hanging limp at their sides, were thoroughly disheartened drawbr-" Wesleyan made two successive first and drenched. Darkness dropped her whistle in the tree tops and the wet clothing, which had before been only

To Rasselheim, the mere thought of a warm room, a fireplace with cepted Uhlig's pass and ran to Trin- flames rushing up the chimney, and a ity's 10-yard line. Tetley went off bottle of musty Moselle, was enough to make him spur Tawker through the labyrinth of trees. He looked Wesleyan recovered Uhlig's fumble back at his comrades, now suddenly on Trinity's 32-yard line. Thomas aware of the intense silence that had went off tackle for a first down on enveloped the group. He could see to the air in appreciable numbers. Trinity's 15-yard line. Brown inter- nothing but deep shadows of the men who were following him through the thicket.

> "Confound it, Heinrich, this is no funeral. Come on, let's go faster," he remarked.

> "More life a funeral than anything else," mumbled Heinrich, dejectedly. "And you, Rupprecht. A suitor scorned by his mistress would be more happy.'

Rupprecht did not answer.

Another long interval of silence. Now Rasselheim waited for his companions. Oswald, the fourth member of the group, came along before Rupprecht arrived.

"Where's Rupprecht?" they all asked simultaneously.

"I thought he was up in front with you all the while—that's why I didn't say anything a while ago when you me all the way," said Oswald.

"Why, I'm sure he was with us only a while ago. Rupprecht! Rupprecht-where are you?" Heinrich

As no response came, they decided out with three of his friends was as to retrace their path. The wind, lest worse befall, they were traveling the cold rain. They called out, and be found and assured of the futility "In sooth, August, how far did you of this method, they faced about once say this castle is from here?" asked more, satisfied that the best they could do would be to push on to the "Oh," answered the count, "It's castle, start a fire and wait for him.

"I don't know why I'm so taken in was only a little boy I visited there this storm," remarked Oswald. "This

"Oh, that comes of all your foolish imagery. These woods are just like "Do you think we shall have any any others, but now that Rupprecht is trouble finding it? You are the only not here, you think someone or someone who has ever been there, and thing has misled him. Have done!"

It had nearly stopped raining, "I think we shall have no trouble. when suddenly a feeling of freedom It is said to be right near the river came over them. Apparently they because it's called Schloss Winklein had come to the end of the forest. It on the Elbe. As long as we follow was so dark here, and they missed the route that I have drawn out the shelter of the trees. Before there's no chance to lose the way. them in the distance rose a black But whatever misfortune besets us, cluster of shadows, like a spectre. be sure that one of us gets that It was the towers of the castle looming up across a narrow stream. The After a pleasant noonday meal rush of maddened waters drowned the under the oaks, they started off again. loud cries of the gale. Above it The billowy clouds sailed over the sounded a heavy splash, and a jet of deep blue; they were followed by pale spray flew up against the heavy grey masses closing the air darkness. Rasselheim looked around. behind them. Now the sky was mot- At his feet the angry torrent rushed. tled like the surface of a bowl of Behind him was the form of one greyish rice. Swallows dove here and rider. He was shouting and waving there, zig-zagging close to the fields, his arms frantically, in the hope that where Millspaugh was tackled by Nye now this way, now that. Now and the count would turn around. Rasas soon as he picked up the ball. then a vagrant swallow glided over selheim drew his horse abruptly, re-

> "Heinrich was right in front of mist at first-soon gained boloness me," shouted Oswald, "the bank

> > "Hola-hola-Heinrich, where are Shout so that we can locate

About twenty yards away in the mist and fog that lay before them. mad river there appeared the head Now they were approaching the dis- and arms of a man. He was making mal Einaum forest. The moist leaves desperate attempts to claw his way

"I'm down here-keep shouting so burnt amber. The rain continued to that I can tell where you are," an-

Oswald dismounted and ran into the approaching and the riders had to fields, to cut off a thin birch sappling travel in single file. Rasselheim took in yonder grove. In the meantime, the lead, the others following in regu- Rasselheim continued to shout and to lar order. The horses trod along, follow the voice as Heinrich was their hoofs sinking into the moist swept along. As he rode along the earth. They crunched onward, squish- side of the river he noticed a black squashing in the mire of the swampy square where the water did not gleam. forest. Often as they crept on, they It was a bridge. He rode over what stumbled on tree stumps or fallen he now knew to be the drawbridge of

"Hurrah," he cried, "I've found the

But his voice died away for the old

(Continued on page 4.)

WINKLEIN ON THE ELBE. (Continued from page 3.) .

the iron chains rattled as they lifted Who had followed him through that the drawbridge into the air and de- door? He had not looked behind posited the surprised horse and rider him when he entered. He started to Rasselheim got up, brushed his clothes with a few casual wipes and old wooden floor. He was really mounted Tawker, who was already frightened-of what? He didn't awaiting further commands. He tried know. He couldn't move-his feet to climb the wall, but it was too were paralyzed. He leaned against smooth and high. Dismounting again, the wall, and before he knew it, began he tried to lift the rusty weights, but his efforts were futile. As for shouting, how could that help those which awakened him momentarily. on the other side of that roaring river? He might just as well go into the castle and build a fire for his companions. The wind blew about his soggy clothes as Tawker took him over a pine-bordered path. galloped over the soft moss-bedecked rocks. Before him in the darkness rose the giant shadow of the castle, a symbol of some great feudal lord, now quite powerless. The wind screeched and howled in the tree tops and the black clouds began to move in the heavens. Like the vanquished fleeing before their invisible conqueror, these monsters now scattered and broke. Soon the clouds were mere ragged remnants and the moon danced in and out among them. The stars appeared, one by one-the storm was over.

Count Rasselheim threw his cape over Tawker and then strode to the great portal which led to the entrance. He took a large iron key out of his pocket and opened the reluctantly yielding door. With hand on sword he strutted through the vestibule lighted by the yellow moon. Suddenly the great wooden door slammed behind him, leaving him in total darkness. He waved his sword in the air to ward off some unseen visitor. Who had slammed the door behind him? Or, was it the wind? Again he moved on, feeling his way, and stumbled up a flight of stairs. His head hit the sixth step and his feet sprawled out on the floor. Now he heard a mournful cry in the distant hall, which, as it came nearer, became louder and louder until it sounded very much like a shriek. Rasselheim jumped to his feet and prepared for the attack, but the cry melted away when it came within a few yards of him. Of course he didn't believe in

CAMPUS BARBER SHOP

Under New Management. GEORGE PAPPAS, Proprietor.

Hair Cut 50c.; Shave 25c.

At Your Service

289 New Britain Avenue, Hartford. Opposite Trinity College.

COLLEGE STATIONERY The Trinity Stationery Co. 253 Asylum Street Near Ann Street We carry a Full Line of College Supplies

OH BOYS!

Don't forget to call on

The Professional Building Barber Shop.

Hartford, Conn. 59 High Street,

THE CASE, LOCKWOOD AND BRAINARD CO.

PRINTERS, BOOKBINDERS AND PAPER RULERS 85 Trumbull Street Hartford, Conn.

THE VALET SHOP Tailors, Cleaners and Dyers of the Better Kind.

SPECIAL RATES FOR PRESSING CLOTHES.

Work Called For and Delivered. 353 Washington, cor. Vernon St. Telephone 6-1763.

floor creaked-not loudly. Then a disin the outer courtyard of the castle. go back but his heavy boots made too much noise when he stepped on the to drowse. Each time that he was about to fall asleep, a howl arose

Finally, he roused himself, his blood began to flow into his limbs again and his courage returned. He clattered along the floor, making as much noise as he could, so that other sounds might not reach his ears. Now and then he turned around casually to see if there were anyone behind him, but he could see nothing in the utter darkness of the castle. There was a rustling sound behind him. Without turning to examine he hurried down through the extensive corridor. Then he stopped suddenly—the pursuer made one step and then stopped also. Now Rasselheim went on a few steps, drew his sword from its scabbard and without warning stopped and struck a terrific blow back of him. Sparks flew-a crash-a whirling piece of steel jangled to the floor. The hilt was in his hand.

No sword-no light-but he had matches. He could light one of them Count August Wilhelm von Rasseland at least see where he was. There should be an exit around somewhere. But first to get that "Adoration of ghosts. He rid himself of such the Magi" by Hans Culmbach. He thoughts. As he began to move, the lighted the match which gave a momentary glimpse of a long low arcade. for a long time now, had loosened tant thumping-he was sure there Huge pillars threw monstrous shadows itself. The huge weights rumbled and was another person in the castle. behind them and met the approaching darkness. The match flickered and went out. From the farther recesses of the hall came a rumble—ever louder—until it sounded like thunder. Rasselheim was unwilling to admit defeat where men were concerned but he was not equal to the supernatural powers. He staggered into a passage which led into a large hall-probably the art gallery. This spacious room was less sinister, for the moon shone through one of the small windows and the pale glow of its reflected light illuminated what he supposed to be a great oblong window at the right. Thinking that a glimpse of the outer world might calm him, he walked over to the larger window. But as he approached, a man, with haggard eyes and pallid green face, rose out of the darkness and came slowly toward > Oswald had just managed to dig Heinrich out of the water, when, with a loud hallo, Rupprecht joined them. He had taken the direct route by mistake. Heinrich, who had seen the phenomenal entrance of Rasselheim, told the others and they decided that he was safe. They thought it best to wait outside until dawn.

> As the sun peered over the walls, they followed the stream into the main entrance of the castle and were soon in the art gallery. Over in one corner, under a large mirror, lay heim. He had been dead for some

KARL KÖNIG.

THE AVERAGE DAY OF A COLLEGE GIRL-AS IS.

7.00 A. M.-Arises, fit to be tied 7.10—Plays "Three Deep" at the washbowls.

7.29—Falls into chair reserved by coommate (if up) at breakfast table. 7.45—Swallows last gulp of scalding coffee and steams out of dining-

7.50-Makes bed, feeds goldfish, takes cod liver oil and barges to class. 8.05—Late to class.

8.05-8.50—Studies for the next class. When called upon, comments brightly on high cost of living and returns to preparation.

9.15—Assembles for second class Bored-forced to sit under eye of Prof. Attention necessary. Style very much cramped.

10.05-11.15-Plays victrola as accompaniment to flurried and frantic study for next class. Net result-Nothing!

11.15—Goes to class—nerves shot. Makes resolution to do work next

11.15-12.10—In class—takes notes and writes a paper too-neither is coherent. Emerges weakly holocaust.

12.15—Late to lunch—leathery omelet. Stomach protests!

12.45-1.00-Studies for next class. 1.05-2.00—Sits in front row of class and beams brightly at Professor. Result-nothing. He puts study before legs and lipstick.

2.00-Free-!

2.15-3.00—Walks 25 miles to woods for one cigarette. Gets one puff before tramp appears. Resolves to cooperate with stu. g.

3.00-5.00—Shopping tour in town. Items bought-1. Celluloid soap dish. 2. Green for goldfish. 3. "Saturday Evening Post."

DRINK MILK

That is PERFECTLY PASTEURIZED.

Try It - You'll Like It! The Bryant &

Chapman Company 330 Woodland St.; Phone 2-0264. Quality, Courtesy, Service.

My father said-"John Hancock is a great name; Life insurance is practically indispensable." That time, at least, he was right.

MILD?. /Es! VERY MILD.. AND

WE STATE it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield cigarettes are of finer quality and hence of better taste than in any other cigarette at the price.

LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

ESTER CIGARETTES