PLACEMENT BULLETIN

Message from the Dean

It is with great pleasure that we present in this Bulletin the charter class of Campbell College School of Law. Its members symbolize the pioneering spirit and dedication to excellence which have been responsible for the remarkable success of the School of Law since it opened its doors in August of 1976.

At that time, we defined the character and goals of the school in the following manner:

Campbell College School of Law is purposely a small law school, with ultimate plans to admit no more than approximately 90 students per class. While its academic program is arduous, its rural village setting and commitment to human values are designed to enhance one's likelihood of success as a student, and as a lawyer in any setting in which one chooses to practice.

Campbell proposes to educate lawyers who will be prepared from the outset of their careers to serve their communities with legal skill and ethical and intellectual leadership, in the noblest tradition of the counselor.

The aims of the School of Law are to equip men and women for the general practice of law and all that such a practice involves; to foster the formulation of a sound philosophical and ethical foundation upon which the student can base his or her legal education and career; and to instill in the student a sense of the responsibility of the legal profession and of the individual lawyer as a member of the larger community.

In accomplishing these primary goals, the School of Law further intends to promote cooperation between law schools and the legal profession in meeting the needs of both the profession and the public; to foster research not only in those areas traditional to schools of law but also with respect to the actual practice of law; and to serve the cause of constructive innovation in legal education by developing a unique program of instruction which recognizes and responds to the fact that the lawyer works in the real world, and that in the life of the lawyer the philosophical, the theoretical, the ethical and the practical are indispensable in their relationship to each other.

That language has been maintained by the School of Law in subsequent bulletins. That it has found fulfillment is a tribute to the efforts of the charter class.

They have taken full advantage of instruction from an unusually talented and demanding faculty, profiled on pages 28 through 30. The faculty has allowed no pattern of grade inflation to develop here, its goal being to insure that any Campbell graduate should be a good lawyer. Of 97 students admitted to the charter class, 83 will graduate. Their curriculum, shown on the inside back cover, requires that they take and pass those courses containing the substance of what the public, and prospective employers, are entitled to have them know. In addition, one-third of their third-year curriculum is devoted to a unique two-semester Advocacy and Practice course designed to bridge the gap between the law school and law practice.

The decision to maintain a small law school has provided us with many advantages. One is the ability to be unusually selective in the admission of our students, who are accepted not only on the basis of academic promise, but also on the basis of character and motivation. Other advantages have allowed us to develop a truly different type of law school, one whose graduates should require less than normal employer supervision in developing into fine lawyers — lawyers capable of helping the Southeastern United States take advantage of the unparalleled opportunities projected for the rest of this century.

We are confident these graduates will be a credit to Campbell and to our profession, and we invite your inquiries concerning their placement. We hope you will contact Associate Dean Broderick, Director of Placement Lanier, me or other members of the faculty concerning your needs.

Sincerely yours,

School of Law Faculty Profiles

JOHN J. BRODERICK, a member of the New York bar and formerly Assistant Dean and Professor of Law at Notre Dame, was Campbell's first Full Professor of Law. Professor Broderick has practiced law, is a labor arbitrator and member of the American Arbitration Association, and for over 20 years served as co-director of proceedings of the Notre Dame Union - Management Conference. A Phi Beta Kappa summa cum laude graduate of Washington and Lee, Professor Broderick also holds degrees from St. Johns and New York University.

DAVID L. DICKSON is a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Harvard College and Harvard Law School. Before commencing a distinguished teaching career at Stetson, he was an active member of the Chicago Bar, as a general practitioner for ten years and corporate counsel for fifteen. In Chicago he served on the Board of Editors of the Chicago Bar Record, as Chairman of the Administrative Law Committee of the Chicago Bar Association, and as an adjunct faculty member at Loyola.

JOHN H. DAVIDSON will serve as Visiting Professor of Agricultural Law during the fall semester. On Sabbatical from South Dakota, he will also be completing a book on law and agriculture. A graduate of Wake Forest University, he received his J.D. from the University of Pittsburgh School of Law, serving as an editor of the law review. He has also practiced law and received the LL.M. with highest honors in law, science and technology from the George Washington University Law Center.

SIDNEY S. EAGLES is in private practice in Raleigh and presently serves as Counsel to the Speaker of the N.C. House of Representatives. A graduate of Wake Forest University and its school of law, he was an Air Force JAG officer and remains an active Reservist. He has been Revisor of Statutes of the State of North Carolina, Special Assistant Attorney General for special prosecutions, co-author of North Carolina Criminal Procedure Forms, an adjunct faculty member at Duke University, and a member of many state and national professional commissions.

F. LEARY DAVIS, Dean of the School of Law, received his undergraduate degree magna cum laude and his law degree cum laude from Wake Forest University, where he was associate editor of Wake Forest Law Review. A former prosecuting attorney, Dean Davis came to Campbell with nine years of small firm and sole practitioner experience in Zebulon and Raleigh, North Carolina, where he was an innovator in approaches to and organization of local government. He has planned and supervised the formation of the School of Law.

CHARLES E. FRIEND, a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of George Washington University, graduated first in his law class at William and Mary, where he served as Editor-in-Chief of the William and Mary Law Review. Author of The Law of Evidence in Virginia, his second major treatise will be released in 1978. Professor Friend has taught at William and Mary, Richmond, and Houston, and has practiced law in Virginia. He has been founding editor of the Virginia Bar Association Journal since 1974.

PATRICK K. HETRICK received his J.D. magna cum laude from Marquette University Law School and has also attended George Washington University Law Center. He attended Marquette as a Swetlik Scholar and was a member of the law review. He practiced law in Milwaukee before joining the Marquette faculty in 1972, serving in the dual capacity of Associate University Legal Counsel and law school faculty member until May of 1978. An active speaker on legal subjects, he served as a member of several Wisconsin bar committees and study commissions.

I. BEVERLY LAKE is continuing a distinguished legal career as Visiting Professor of Law following thirteen years as Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of North Carolina. The author of treatises on public utilities and North Carolina practice methods, he holds the B.S. from Wake Forest, the LL.B from Harvard, and the LL.M. and J.S.D. from Columbia. He has also served as Assistant Attorney General of North Carolina, as professor of law at Wake Forest, and as one of North Carolina's leading private practitioners.

CAROLYN B. INGRAM joined the Campbell faculty after teaching at Cumberland for two years. She is a graduate of Wake Forest University School of Law, where she served on the law review, and of the University of North Carolina - Greensboro. She served as Research Assistant to Judge David Britt of North Carolina Court of Appeals, and thereafter as Law Clerk to Chief Judge Woodrow Jones of the United States District Court for the Western District of North Carolina. She has also practiced law in western North Carolina.

ROBERT E. LEE, a member of Phi Beta Kappa, holds the B.S. and LL.B. degrees from Wake Forest, the M.A. in Public Law from Columbia, and the LL.M. and S.J.D. from Duke. The author of fifteen legal treatises, he is presently revising his three-volume work, North Carolina Family Law. Dr. Lee has served as Dean and Professor of Law at Wake Forest, Professor of Law at Temple, Vice-President of the North Carolina Bar Association, and Chairman of North Carolina's Trust Drafting Committee since 1967.

ROBERT A. JENKINS came to Campbell to head the advocacy program of the School of Law following twenty years of general and litigation practice in Detroit, serving as a partner in both a large and small firm there. Following receipt of his undergraduate and law degrees from the University of Michigan, Professor Jenkins served as Law Clerk to U.S. District Court Judge Ralph M. Freeman. Active in many professional organizations in Detroit, he taught part-time at University of Detroit School of Law and was chairman of the Admiralty Section of the Michigan Bar Association.

CHARLES LEWIS is joining the Campbell faculty following seven years of general practice, the last five as a partner in a four-man firm in Warrenton, Virginia. He obtained both his bachelor's and law degrees from Washington and Lee University. He attended undergraduate school on a Robert E. Lee Scholarship, graduating with high honors and being elected to Phi Beta Kappa. He attended law school as a Burkes Scholar, serving as a teaching assistant and being elected to Order of the Coif.

RONALD I. KIRSCHBAUM is a partner in a Raleigh law firm. The author of many articles on Federal Income Taxation and a member of the North Carolina, Missouri, and Florida bars, he received his undergraduate degree from Emory, the J.D. from the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill, and the LL.M. in taxation from N.Y.U. He has been engaged in the practice of tax law for ten years and is a past member of the Raleigh City Council.

ROBERT O. LOFTIS, JR., an accounting major at Florida Atlantic University, received his J.D. from Emory University School of Law, graduating with distinction. While at Emory he was elected to membership in Order of the Coif and was a member of the law review. Before graduating from law school he worked for the Internal Revenue Service for six years, and he has also practiced law for six years, the last four as a partner in a three-man firm in Atlanta, where he specialized in tax practice.

WILLIAM A. MARTIN joined the charter Campbell faculty following a year's service as Law Clerk to the Honorable Hiram Ward, U.S. District Court Judge for the Middle District of North Carolina. He received his B.A. Phi Beta Kappa magna cum laude and his J.D. cum laude from Wake Forest University, graduating first in his law school class. Campbell's initial Director of Research, he oversaw formation of the Law Library prior to admission of the charter class.

KAREN C. SORVARI was Acting Librarian of the North Carolina Supreme Court before assuming the position of Director of Research at Campbell. A cum laude graduate of Florida Atlantic University, she holds an A.M. from the University of Rochester and the M.L.S. from State University College of Arts and Sciences, Geneseo. A former Board member of State and Court Law Libraries of the United States and Canada and editor of SCLL Newsletter, she has also served as a consultant to several institutions on law library matters.

J. STANLEY McQUADE received his law degree with top honors from the The Queens University of Belfast in 1950. Thereafter he received B.D., B.A., Ph.D. and M.D. degrees from the same university, as well as a masters in theology from Union Theological Seminary. A certified anesthesiologist, he has taught in graduate and undergraduate schools; practiced medicine in Ireland, Canada, and the United States (the last five as general practitioner and anesthesiologist in Bryson City, N.C., where he continues a summer practice); and served for 20 years as a Methodist minister.

PAUL STAM, JR. practices law in Apex, North Carolina. A graduate of Michigan State University with high honors, he received his law degree from the University of North Carolina School of Law, where he helped establish a Christian Legal Society chapter. He is a member of the Center for Law and Religious Freedom and state and local bar associations. Prior to beginning a general practice he served as Research Assistant to the Honorable James G. Exum, Associate Justice of the North Carolina Supreme Court.

CHARLES H. MERCER, JR. practices law in Raleigh. A member of the American Arbitration Association, he holds his undergraduate degree from the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill and the J.D. from the University of Miami School of Law, where he received the Roger Sorino Award as the outstanding graduating senior. He served as Research Assistant to Judges Earl W. Vaughan and Robert M. Martin of the North Carolina Court of Appeals. He also served for two years as an instructor at the New York University School of Law, where he received the LL.M.

NORMAN A. WIGGINS, the President of Campbell College, served as Professor of Law and General Counsel for Wake Forest University prior to assuming the Presidency of Campbell. A Harlan Fiske Stone Fellow at the Columbia Law School, Dr. Wiggins holds his undergraduate and initial law degrees from Wake Forest magna cum laude and cum laude, respectively. A former president of the National Association of College and University Attorneys, Dr. Wiggins is a noted legal author and member of regional and national trust faculties.

E. ALLEN SCHILPP is a past Director of the Campbell College Trust Management Program, the first successful undergraduate trust officer training program in the United States. He is a graduate of Haverford College and the University of Maryland School of Law. He also serves as Senior Vice-President and Consultant to Booze and Company and has extensive experience in the practice of law, insurance, banking, trust administration and estate planning, serving in vice-presidential positions in each of the latter industries.

HAROLD G. WREN, consultant for the School of Law, brings extensive experience in legal education and the area of law school administration and accreditation to Campbell. Presently Dean of the University of Louisville School of Law and formerly Dean of the T.C. Williams School of Law of the University of Richmond, he served as Dean of the Northwestern School of Law of Lewis and Clark College at the time that institution sought and acquired ABA approval. He has thereafter assisted in other ABA approval inspections. He holds the A.B. and LL.B. from Columbia and the J.S.D. from Yale.
