Dr. Samadi, President of vocational education, said in an interview that the school will run classes from 7 through 12th grades in which boys and girls will be enrolled. He added that 7th, 8th, and 9th grade students will receive general training and after that the school will be divided into two branches.

One branch will impart practical knowledge to the students to help them in their future assignments in government. They will be studying commercial mathematics, general and governmental book-keeping, finance and budgeting, general law, commercial law, economic geography, typing and letter writing.

Entry to the school will be possible by showing a graduating certificate from sixth grade or higher. Dr. Samadi said those not possessing said certificate can join the night school after passing a sixth grade examination in a primary school.

Ancient Khulm Door Given To Museum In Mazar Province

MAZAR, April, 8.—Both Panels of the ancient door of the city of Khulm, which are considered by Prof. Tucci, Chief of the Italian Archeological Mission, as important and historic, have been transferred at the instruction of the Ministry of Education to the provincial museum in Mazar.

Mr. Mohammad Ibrahim Waiz, Director-General of Education in Mazar, has said in a statement that a lion and a strong man were depicted on the door panels. However, he said there are no documents related to these illustrations, but elderly people in Khulm said that the door was originally brought to the area by Ahmad Shah Baba some 176 years ago.

Ever since that time the door has been in the possession of different people and some say it was even washed by flood waters once and restored again. Before it was transferred to the museum, the door was lying at a Sarai in Khulm.

KABUL, April, 8.—The newly-established park at the centre of Kabul is to be called Zarnigar Park (meaning inlaid with gold).

A member of the committee in charge of supervising the park affairs, in making this announcement, said the name has been selected in commemoration of the Zarnigar Hall which was situated at a corner of this park and was destroyed when the Ministry of Education constructed a club on its site.

Afghanistan's Treaty of Independence was signed in that hall. He said a marble monument will be erected in the northeast section of the park on which the Zarnigar Hall will be engraved with inscriptions as regards its historical significance.

A competition will be held for the monument's design. All architects and designers are invited to submit plans. He said that work on the park's construction is continuing under the supervision of foreign and local experts and it is expected to be completed before the year ends.

Red Crescent Guests Honoured In Kabul By Afghan Red Crescent Society

KABUL, April, 8.—THE Afghan Red Crescent Society gave a dinner at Hotel Kabul last night in honour of Mr. Semuka, Chief of the Bylorussian Red Cross and Mr. Preumov, President of the Red Crescent Society of the Tajik SSR, who are visiting here.

Attending the dinner were Mr. Rishya, Minister of Press and Information and a founder member of the society; Dr. Abdul Rahim, Minister of Public Health; heads of health institutes; newspaper editors; members of the society; and the Soviet Ambassador and some of the Embassy staff.

Kutchuk's complaint, contained in a cable to Inonu and published Tuesday as a United Nations document, claims that President Makarios' unilateral termination of the Cyprus alliance treaty with Turkey infringed the constitution guaranteed rights of the Vice-President, whereby all matters affecting foreign policy could be decided only in agreement with him.

Furthermore the alliance treaty in particular was an integral part of the Cyprus constitution which the President could not unilaterally change.

Cypriot Ambassador to the UN Zenton Rossides Tuesday published a letter to the chairman of the Security Council and the correspondence between Inonu and Makarios which led to the latter scrapping the Cyprus alliance treaty with Turkey and Greece.

Rossides said the Greek Government for its part had ordered Greek troops in Cyprus to return to barracks. The Turkish government had rejected a demand that it does likewise.

Archbishop Makarios is expected to arrive in Athens today for talks with the Greek Government.

He will come at a moment when the Cyprus conflict has again aggravated following the annulment by Makarios of the assistance agreement between Cyprus, Greece and Turkey, and renewed Turkish warnings.

The Greek Government Tuesday answered the latest Turkish note in which Ankara warned that it would regard any possible attack by Greek Cypriots against the Turkish troop contingent on the Mediterranean island as an aggression against Turkey, which would result in Turkish military intervention.

In its answer the Greek Government emphasised that it had no information at all about any possible imminent Greek-Cypriot attack against Turkish troops on Cyprus.

At the same time, Athens made it clear that the Greek Government was conducting an exclusively peaceful policy.

Greek Foreign Minister Stavros Kostopoulos told journalists Tuesday there was no reason to be alarmed.

Belgian Doctors' Strike Threatens Emergency Services

BRUSSELS, Belgium, April, 8, (AP).—With hospitals jammed and overflowing, Belgium's 12,000 doctors and dentists threatened Tuesday night to call off skeleton emergency services they have operated since their strike began seven days ago.

Hospitals were swarming with patients. Weary nurses struggled to keep up with the influx. Beds were set up in corridors, the doctors refused to make home calls to treat the ill.

In a 1,000-word statement, the doctors said they would quit these emergency services if the physicians were molested or victimised.

Dean Rusk Outlines Strategy For NATO

NEW YORK, April 8, (Reuter). Mr. Dean Rusk, U.S. Secretary of State, said Tuesday night that the NATO countries should be prepared to deal "co-operatively and effectively" with communist aggression and subversive threats in Africa and Latin America.

In a major speech analysing the present status and future goals of the alliance, he said, however, that the West must remain alert to any "opportunities for constructive action" arising out of the changes occurring within the communist world.

Mr. Rusk, in prepared remarks to the Overseas Press Club of America, said that NATO had performed the central task for which it was created—the military protection of its members.

He added: "The time is now ripe for wider tasks—in sharing responsibility for nuclear power in concerting policies toward communist nations and the settlement of disputes within the free world and in co-operating more closely on world wide problems of aid, trade and monetary policy."

"Let us proceed with quiet determination, avoiding both the drag of inertia and outmoded concepts and the seduction of sloganeering and apparent shortcuts, seizing the opportunities for more cohesive action with vigorous and open minds."

the Afghan and Soviet societies. In reply, Mr. Semuka expressed gratitude for His Majesty's kindness and the hospitality of the Prince and members of the Afghan Red Crescent Society.

He expressed the hope of even greater co-operation between the Afghan and Soviet societies and presented a silver cup and a film depicting scenes of Soviet Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies in their battle against polio.

The Soviet visitors went to Nangarhar province yesterday for a tour of the Afghan Red Crescent Society's new building. With them was Dr. Jamaluddin Jailani, Chief of the General Services and first aid Department of the society.

Later they visited the society's First Aid Department of the officials matters relating to making the first aid services more efficient.

Mr. Abdul Latif Yousufzai, Mayor of Jalalabad and President of the provincial Red Crescent central assembly, presented gifts to the Soviet guests. The guests then presented a number of relevant publications to the Afghan Red Crescent officials.

They then visited construction activities of the Nangarhar Canal project and later attended a luncheon given in their honour by Mr. Mohammad Safar Wakil Gharzai, chief of the project.

In an interview the Soviet guests praised the activities of the Afghan society. After getting acquainted with its activities in the capital and provinces, they confirmed their idea on the strengthening the society's first aid centres.

During talks with His Royal Highness Prince Ahmad Shah, President of the Society, they discussed matters relating to strengthening of ties between the Soviet Red Cross and Red Societies and their counterpart in Afghanistan.

They said that from now on, films and pamphlets will be exchanged between their organisations and the Afghan society, and expressed their appreciation for the visit with the Prince and the warm hospitality afforded to them by the chief of the organisations they have met.

Morocco And Ivory Coast Submit UN Resolution Draft To Deplore Attack On Yemen

UNITED NATIONS, April 8, (AP).—

TWO members of the U.N. Security Council planned to submit a resolution Wednesday that would have the Council condemn reprisals and deplore Britain's March 28 air attack on Harib in Yemen.

Ahmed Taibi Benhima of Morocco told a reporter he and Arsene Assouan Usher of the Ivory Coast would hand in the draft on the theory it was the very least action the Council should take on Yemen's April 1 complaint about the raid. He said he was sure the Council would meet its responsibilities to safeguard peace.

Benhima, Usher and delegates of the other four non-permanent members of the 11-nation Council—Bolivia, Brazil, Czechoslovakia and Norway—drafted the resolution Tuesday.

Some sources said Brazil and Norway were under British pressure to put in a rival proposal for demilitarisation and U.N. observation of the border between Yemen and the British-protected South Arabian Federation.

So whether the six-nation draft could get the seven votes needed for adoption was still a moot point. The 13-nation Arab group approved it Tuesday afternoon just before the Council's latest meeting on the Yemeni complaint. But British delegate Sir Patrick Dean told a reporter after the meeting that Britain disapproved it.

Any effort of Britain to veto the resolution would produce a wrangle over whether such a veto was possible. Yemen submitted the complaint under the chapter of the U.N. charter dealing with pacific settlement of disputes. The charter says that in a decision on a complaint so submitted "a party to a dispute shall abstain from voting."

The six-nation draft calls upon "the parties concerned to exercise the maximum restraint in order to avoid further incidents."

It requests Secretary-General U Thant "to use his good offices to try to settle outstanding issues, in contact with the parties."

Britain has suggested that the Council use Thant's services in that way. It has also accused Yemen of attacking the South Arabian Federation, and argued that this justified the attack by British planes on a fort a mile from Harib in Yemen.

Diplomatic sources said that on second thought, Bolivia and Brazil got a provision eliminated from the resolution that called on Britain to compensate victims of the raid. There is no precedent for such action by the Council.

Arabs speaking to the Council have denied that there is any justification for the British raid and have claimed that it was directed against the town of Harib and killed 25 persons.

At a news conference Tuesday, the Federation's External Affairs Minister, Mohammed Farid, said his government asked the British to attack the fort because "the fort was a centre for attack on the Federation. He said U.A.R. or Soviet Union had piloted the planes attacking from Yemen."

At the Council meeting later, British delegate Sir Patrick Dean said the United Arab Republic "must take their full share of the blame for the deterioration of relations" between South Arabia and Yemen. He pointed out there was a joint Yemeni-U.A.R. command in Yemen.

U.A.R. delegate Mohammed el-Zayyat replied that the U.A.R. people and government certainly were "proud to be lending support" to Yemen under two defence pacts, one involving the two countries and the other involving the Arab League.

Trade Meeting Boycotted By Afro-Asian Countries As Portugal Envoy Speaks

GENEVA, April 8, (DPA).—ALL Afro-Asian countries and East-Bloc delegates walked out of Tuesday's session of the World Trade conference when the Portuguese representative took the rostrum.

The protest demonstration—supported by Jamaica, Trinidad and Yugoslavia—had been pre-arranged by the African delegations.

These representatives also agreed not to go beyond such symbolic demonstrations against Portugal and South Africa.

Portugal's delegate—Secretary of State for Commerce, Armando de Paula Coelho, told the few delegations left behind that his country favoured measures to stabilise the export of primary products, including schemes for compensatory financing.

Portugal would also support the granting of preferences, on a non-reciprocal basis, to the manufactured products of the developing countries, and the elimination of the barriers against these products in the industrialised nations, he said.

The delegates of Congo (Brazzaville) and Guinea in their speeches sharply criticised "colonialism" and "imperialism" which they blamed for the deep gap between the industrialised nations and the developing countries.

Adzhubei Praise Realistic Remarks By Gen de Gaulle

PARIS, April 8, (DPA).—Visiting son-in-law of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchov and Chief Editor of the daily "Izvestia" Alexei Adzhubei here Monday praised recent "realistic statements" by French President Charles de Gaulle.

Addressing the Paris Society for Soviet-French Friendship Adzhubei mainly welcomed de Gaulle's comment on the inviolability of the borders established after world war two and on the situation in Eastern Europe.

De Gaulle reply to Khrushchov's proposal to solve territorial disputes by peaceful means had also been "very positive", he added, and furthermore mentioned French recognition of the Chinese People's Republic and the French attitude in the Cyprus conflict as positive aspects of French policy.

Adzhubei at the same time deplored that France was not participating in the Geneva international disarmament conference.

Harriman Reported To Be In Charge Of U.S. African Policy

WASHINGTON, April 8, (AP). W. Averell Harriman, Under-Secretary of State for political affairs, is in over-all charge of the administration's African policy, State Department sources reported Tuesday.

The decision came from President Johnson, who wanted someone at the highest level at the State Department to be responsible for long range planning in Africa.

Harriman returned last week from a 12-day tour of three African countries, the Congo, Nigeria, and Ghana. Officials said this was his first fact-finding mission and that several others will follow.

G. Mennen Williams, the Assistant Secretary for Africa, will report to Harriman, the sources said. The new arrangement means no criticism of Williams, they added, but simply that Johnson wanted "someone on the 7th floor" to be in charge of African policy.

The 7th floor of the State Department houses those who shape U.S. Foreign Policy on highest level. The offices of Secretary of State Dean Rusk and the two Under-Secretaries, George W. Ball and Harriman are on this floor.

Aides to Williams immediately said that Harriman's new role is not an undercutting of the Assistant Secretary. Moreover, they added, Williams regards the new arrangement as an added support. Harriman returned from his first trip convinced that there is no need for a change in the U.S. policy in Africa. This policy boils down to sympathetic assistance to the newly independent countries of the continent without interference in their domestic affairs. The United States also continues to advocate self-determination for all Africans.
