DEDICATION

In appreciation of the unending love and devotion; for the many sacrifices made for our enjoyment; for the prayers in our behalf; for guidance and protection through our hesitant steps; for loving care during illness; and because we love you, dear parents of the student body of Southern Junior College, we dedicate this annual.

MOCCASIN BEND FROM LOOKOUT MOUNTAIN

I want to walk with God,
Out in the field and wood,
Out where the flowers nod,
And all is well and good.

Where nature reigns supreme,
And God is ever near,
And nothing here would deem
The need of slightest fear.

—Cecil Petty

In Memorium

Tragedy, unusual in a community made up largely of young people, came to the campus of Southern Junior College through the accidental death by drowning of James C. Stewart, a student at the College. The accident occurred about eleven o'clock on the morning of August 5, 1940. James had gone bathing in Lake Chicamauga and had suddenly stepped off into a deep hole.

Funeral arrangements were in doubt for many hours, but in the evening it became known that his body was to be sent during the early hours of the morning to his home in Natchez, Mississippi. At a time approaching midnight, a large group of students journeyed to the funeral chapel in Chattanooga and held a memorial service, Elder J. S. James officiating, for the deceased.

A MESSAGE FROM PRESIDENT THOMPSON

Victor Hugo, French poet and novelist, termed progress "the stride of God." Edward Gibbon, English historian, believed that "all that is human must retrograde if it does not advance." Robert Browning said that "progress is the law of life." Ellen G. White wrote, "There can be no life without growth. The plant must either grow or die." Johann Goethe concurred in this observation when he remarked, "Nature knows no pause in progress and development, and attaches her curse on all inaction."

One writer has admonished us to "look up and not down; look forward and not back; look out and not in—and lend a hand." Contemporary history gives point to the thought that "the true law of the race is progress and development. Whenever civilization pauses in the march of conquest, it is overthrown by the barbarian."

The twentieth president of the United States, James A. Garfield, once remarked, "I must do something to keep my thoughts fresh and growing. I dread nothing so much as falling into a rut and feeling myself becoming a fossil." Jonathan Edwards, American divine and metaphysician, could not "believe that the church of God is already possessed of all that light which God intends to give it; nor that all Satan's lurking-places have already been found out."

That Southern Junior College has a work to do, a destiny to fill, there can be no doubt. Its function is the formation of efficient, Christian character and the preparation of workers for the cause of God. Heaven's benediction has rested upon the institution in the past. We are conscious of present blessings. A bright future looms ahead. We face this challenging prospect with enthusiasm! There is much talk about a senior college for Seventh-day Adventists in the South. For the present, we are ambitious only for a progressively fine and effective junior college.

We are growing. Our enrollment is steadily increasing. Our staff is larger and better trained. For next year, we have already invited seven new staff members. One, a seminary president and doctor of philosophy, is being brought from Europe. In my day's mail is a letter from the head of a department in a senior college, also a doctor, asking for a place on our staff.

Recently we have been making improvements—many thousands of dollars' worth—improvements to our grounds, buildings, library, shops, equipment, fiscal structure. Our industrial growth is continuous. We need to add courses, "terminal" and "transfer," in industrial education. America is embarrassed today in her preparedness program by a great lack of skilled artisans.

We have larger plans for the immediate future. At the close of the current school year, construction work begins on a twenty-five thousand dollar addition to the girl's dormitory. Similar expansion will be necessary to accommodate our young men. We are raising money for a new infirmary. Affluent friends have made sizable gifts. Other funds are being sought for a definite improvement program which will spread over three to five years.

We desire the active support of all friends of Southern Junior College. We must have God's presence and blessing! We believe He is leading the way, and that the time has come in the history of the institution and of our work in the South to "Arise, shine; for thy light is come and the glory of the Lord is risen upon thee."

MUSIC CLUB

Perhaps one of the most interesting among various campus activities is the Music and Dramatic Club. One of the chief functions is in instructing students for the provision of talent for various school programs.

The members regard this as an organization in which self improvement can be attained. It is not only a club where one can find fun and relaxation, but also where one can acquire the better art of learning by doing. —Maxine Hayes

MEDICAL CADET CORPS

Tramp, tramp, tramp, the boys are marching. This was literally true at Collegedale, during Christmas vacation, when eighty young men from Collegedale and the Southern Union assembled under the supervision of Captain Bush, to take advantage of the training in non-combatancy that was to be given. This group was divided into two platoons, each platoon consisting of two sections. Captain Blackburn was the company commanding officer. Responsible to Captain Blackburn were Lieutenants Harter and Spangler, who were in charge of the two platoons. On the last day of the course a "review" was held, at which time all the officers viewed the company which was parading by in the various formations that were learned during the course. This was the first Cadet Corps training to be offered in the Southern Union, and its outcome was a great success.

—David Magoon

MINISTERIAL SEMINAR

THE HERALDS OF PROPHECY

At the beginning of the school year of 1940, the "Heralds of Prophecy" were organized under the direction of Dr. Paul E. Quimby, head of the Bible Department of Southern Junior College, for the purpose of ministerial training and service in Collegedale and its vicinity. The organization consists of the ministerial students, both young men and young ladies who are particularly interested and active in Bible work. Several evangelistic projects have been carried on through the school year besides the pastoral work done in the nearby churches. A steady enthusiasm and zeal for souls has characterized the group since its organization. New projects are steadily being started and carried on in the neighboring villages and towns. God has richly blessed the members of the "Heralds of Prophecy" and the work that they have done in furthering the good news of salvation.

—Hubert Anderson

COLPORTEUR CORNER

Recognizing the spiritual and financial advantages of the inspired plan for the colporteur evangelist, a group of about forty students who attended the recent successful student colporteur institute, have set high goals for the summer of 1941, which with the Lord's help they hope to attain. This group owes much to the verbal and moral support of Dr. Quimby, head of the College Bible department. Though it may be in the eleventh hour, God has promised to pay His workers whatever is right, when He returns. Let us pray that God will abundantly bless our colporteur band of Southern Junior College, as they go out into the Lord's vineyard to work this summer.

—Lamar McDaniel

PRE-MEDICAL

Realizing that the medical work is a noble profession and that it serves as the entering wedge for a wider usefulness in God's work, this group has chosen the pre-medical curriculum.

After having finished their pre-medical work, these students will go to a medical school where they will receive advanced instruction before graduating as doctors of medicine.

PRE-NURSING

The pre-nursing curriculum at Southern Junior College is complete and well-rounded, including those courses required for entrance by sanitariums and hospitals.

There are twenty-two students now enrolled in the pre-nursing course, looking forward to the nursing profession as a career.

We are striving to become prepared to uphold the standards of our future profession, knowing that as Christian nurses we can truly work for the Master Healer.

—Lois Bowen

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

To aid in the preparation of the teacher to meet the problems that will confront her when she launches out into her field of labor the Future Teachers of America Club was organized. This club is a chapter of the organization known as the Future Teachers of America from which valuable help is received. All students enrolled in the Teacher Training Department are eligible for membership. Also, those students in the academy who are definitely looking forward to such work are qualified for junior membership.

Those chosen to lead the activities of the club for the first and second semesters, respectively are: Presidents, Lorabel Peavey and Betty June Leslie; Vice-Presidents, Pat Murphy and Doris Hale; Secretaries, Maisie Franz and Pat Murphy; Assistant Secretaries, Ethel Cochran and Mary Riley; Treasurers, Betty June Leslie and Charles Davis; Parliamentarians, Ferrell McMahon and June Snide; Librarians, Alta Parker and Lorraine Mauldin; Pianist, Thyra Bowen. —Sue Summerour

LITERARY SOCIETY

The Literary Club was organized in order that those who have a definite interest in creative and original writing and who have talent in this line may have an outlet for their work. The members are encouraged to write for the "Southland Scroll" and denominational papers. These afford excellent opportunities for many to see their literary efforts in print.

SCIENCE CLUB

The Science Club has been an active organization in Southern Junior College for several years. The club was reorganized, however, at the beginning of the current school year and a new constitution was formed and ratified. Its purpose is to foster, promote, and unify science activities in the College.

This organization affords the students a good opportunity to keep themselves informed on up-to-date scientific developments. Interesting demonstrations, illustrating some of the physical and chemical laws and the phenomena of science are essentially the character of our programs. We have enjoyed many of these things this semester and are looking forward to even more enlightening projects for next year.

COLLEGE PRESS

An important industry is the College Press. The training given in the skilled labor of printing often proves to be an asset in the later lives of those who have worked here.

In the office there is usually a large number of orders waiting to be filled. Of course this means many hours of work for those seeking to pay for a Christian education.

WOOD SHOP

The College Wood Shop, in the last year, has been the fastest growing industry in the school. It has increased in efficiency and production to the extent that the sales in nine months, from June 1940 to February 28, 1941, amounted to $60,000.

Because of a demand for greater production, the shop has found it necessary to build two new additions at a cost of $8,000.

Besides the line of unfinished furniture which is put out, the shop produces a large supply of ironing boards and ladders.

Under the capable leadership of the superintendent, Mr. Gepford, the shop has come to feel the need of a larger number of workers. It now employs sixty-five men and there are still openings for many others who may wish to earn money for a Christian education at Southern Junior College.

—Ervin Stewart

BROOM FACTORY

Under the present management, the College Broom Shop has shown marked progress in the past four years. Only last year the size of the shop was doubled, and it now produces brooms at the rate of one broom every minute. Last year the total sales of brooms and mops reached the all-time record of $77,600.

The broom shop employs between twenty and twenty-five students which help to defray their school expenses. Some of these students have served out their apprenticeship and are now capable of turning out brooms at a remarkable rate of speed.

—John Keplinger

Our hosiery mill under the management of David T. Carnahan is a very important industry on our campus. It is in this modern building that over sixty students earn not only their entire school expenses but also a considerable amount of cash.

Our hosiery mill has made a forward step this year by the purchase of forty-eight new single unit nylon machines. These machines give opportunity for about thirty more students to earn a Christian education.

Two eight hour shifts are in operation. College students constitute the morning shift, and academy students the afternoon shift. These students are on three year contracts and work forty hours per week.

—Delmar Anderson

HOSIERY MILL

DAIRY

We maintain a herd of forty Jersey cows which produce approximately ninety gallons of milk daily. Our milk has a grade A rating in richness and is tested to be of superior quality by the State Health Department. The dairy furnishes the kitchen with milk, cottage cheese, and cream

FARM

Our farm consists of approximately 400 acres of which 150 is pasture land, 185 orchard and cultivated land, and 10 acres are used for truck garden. Many fruits and vegetables are raised for use in the kitchen. Feed in large quantities is raised for the school's stock.

—George Meister

KITCHEN AND BAKERY

Man must eat to live. This is the reason why the culinary is one of the most important departments on the campus. Good food is of primary importance. We live upon what we eat. Realizing this, great effort has been put forth to have substantial, well cooked food, attractively served in inviting surroundings.

Other than the major objective of preparing wholesome food, kitchen work affords opportunity for training young women in the art of cooking and baking. It has been interesting to observe during the past six months that several of our girls have been successfully trained to do the baking, which was formerly done by the boys.

—Reba Cove

DINING ROOM

LAUNDRY

This year the laundry workers include eight college and seven academy students, under the supervision of Mrs. C. A. Williams. The department is a pleasant place in which to work. Each person is endeavoring to do his best work to make the laundry better for all its student and community patrons.

—Sarah Hooper

STORE

To accommodate the needs of students and residents of Collegedale, Southern Junior College maintains a store located in the basement of the administration building. It is adequately stocked with groceries, confections, notions, and school supplies.

Adjoining the store is a third class United States Post Office, under the supervision of George N. Fuller, Postmaster, and a Railway Express Agency.

The five clerks, who are employed in these three departments, are kept busy by the letters, packages, and products bought or mailed and shipped by the various industries of the College.

"THE GATEWAY TO SERVICE"

WASHINGTON MISSIONARY COLLEGE

Here is a senior college that is constantly increasing its educational facilities and that will expand your capacities and stimulate your ambitions for Christian service. There are many new and potent reasons why people say "Go to the Gateway to Service." Nearly three hundred graduates have been placed in denominational work since 1928 and over seventy W. M. C. students have been appointed to foreign mission fields during the past thirteen years. The outstanding success everywhere of W. M. C. graduates is increasing the demand for young people with the thorough training which this college provides.

WORLD FAMOUS HEALTH FOODS

Madison College and Madison Foods have been mentioned in "The New York Times," "Reader's Digest," "Chicago Journal of Commerce," "Food Industries," "Modern Medicine," and in all over 400 newspapers and magazines in 37 countries.

NBC, Radio City, New York, on 13 different occasions gave highlights of Madison Foods on the broadcasts over WJZ by Miss Nancy Booth Craig on her program, "The Women of Tomorrow."

This of itself indicates that there is something unusual about this food industry of Madison College, which is referred to as a leader in the field of soy bean food production. You can secure all of these famous foods at health food stores throughout the country:

ZOY-KOFF, a delicious beverage used in the place of coffee.
WHEATASOY, an ALKALINE breakfast cereal ready to eat.
ZOYBURGER, a protein loaf used in the place of meat. Easy to digest.
STAKE-LETS, gluten-soy steaks in gravy.
YUM, a meatless entree with a mild bologna flavor.
VIGOROST, for cutlets, steaks, salads, sandwiches, etc.
NOT-MEAT, rich in complete protein and peanut oil; a valuable food.
SOY CHEESE, the pure protein of the soy bean tastily seasoned.
SOY BEANS, canned in tomato sauce.
KREME O'SOYS, soy beans canned in soy sauce.
KREME O'SOY MILK, homogenized, in cans, plain or chocolate.
WHOLE WHEAT-BRAN-SOY WAFERS for soups, salads, desserts.
KREME O'SOY FLOUR for muffins, bread, gems, cookies, etc.

FLORIDA SANITARIUM

The Florida Sanitarium and Hospital, during the past year, has added a modern, new fire-proof unit to its hospital facilities. This contains new quarters for the surgical, maternal, and x-ray work, and twenty private rooms for patients. The old building has been moved to a new location, and in the course of the next few months is to be remodeled and modernized. Thus our medical institution will be better equipped than ever for all types of medical and convalescent cases, as well as the regular hospital work.

Orlando enjoys a very pleasant year-round climate, and the Sanitarium is beautifully located. Write for additional information, Drawer 1100, Orlando, Fla.

Ministerial, Bible Workers, Teacher Training, Business Administration, Pre-Nursing, Pre-Medical, Pre-dental, Pre-dietetics, Associate in Arts. Also a four-year Preparatory Course.

Fully accredited by or member of:

State of Tennessee, Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, Mid-South Association of Private Schools, American Association of Junior Colleges, Southern Association of Private Schools, Tennessee State College Association, Board of Regents of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists.

"The writer has participated in every Week of Prayer for the last forty-five years, and never did he experience the blessings of the Lord in greater fullness than this year at Southern Junior College. Never did he find a more responsive student body and faculty than at this college in the Southland."—C. S. Longacre, "Review and Herald," January 23, 1941.

"The 'Heralds of Prophecy,' an organization of the ministerial department of Southern Junior College, is supplying speakers for the Sabbath preaching service for five of our nearby churches. . . . The spiritual influence of each member of this association is felt throughout the College."—Dr. P. E. Quimby.

"What we like is the quality of your work."—Bandy and Yeoman, Chicago Furniture Brokers.

"In the Southern Junior College at Collegedale the teaching and practice of religion takes precedence over everything else. . . . If one has any fears that the daily work program here crowds out cultural development he should visit some of the school's musical organizations. Students not only prepare themselves to become farmers and carpenters, but also nurses and doctors."—Dr. Ralph A. Felton, Drew Theological Seminary, Madison, New Jersey.

"At Southern Junior College it was our pleasure to witness a demonstration that cultural and vocational education can be taught in the same school to the same students."—W. G. Foster, Editor, Chattanooga "News-Free Press."
