A SYMPHONY OF THREES

The results are in and the music they make is a symphony—a symphony of threes. Two years of alumni giving toward the furnishings of Founders Hall, the new men's dorm—make a total contribution to the University of $69,333.08 for this purpose.

On June 30, 1953, the end of the first year of alumni giving, the total gift for dorm furnishings was $37,586.71. The year just closed has brought $31,746.37.

This is the second consecutive year that the University has appealed to its former students for financial help according to each one's means. The appeal was made as it was last year; first to alumni living in Dayton in the fall, and then to all others in the late winter and early spring.

Principal reason for the smaller return the second year seems to be that some alumni were under the impression that the campaign last year was a one-time appeal and they consequently gave more than they would expect to on a year-to-year basis.

Beyond the actual monetary gifts the University is heartened by other evidence brought forth from the two appeals: a renewed and growing alumni faith in the work and plans of the University itself; the encouragement of others by our alumni to become a part of our ever-increasing family and to participate in the realization of our program; and the development of the real UD spirit through steadily increasing attendance at and participation in, alumni-sponsored events.

In this latter connection there seems to be unanimous acceptance of the annual Homecoming Dinner in the Fieldhouse as the most conducive step ever taken to bring about a solidarity of feeling long missing from the Alumni Association.

Founders Hall—named for Father Leo

Meyer and Bro. Maximin Zehler—will be open for students this fall. The five floors of the building will house 432 students in 216 double rooms.

The building is behind Alumni Hall, and is a "U" shape with the open end facing the ROTC building. Each of the four floors above ground is divided into two areas—each area with its own student lounge, supervisors suite, and toilet facilities, and showers.

The ground floor also has another area for students, making nine separate areas in the building, each sufficient unto itself.

The ground floor will also have a student post office for the dorm, a snack bar, and the usual trunk rooms, equipment rooms and boiler room.

All student rooms are doubles. Each room contains a double bunk, a new type double desk designed especially for UD, in which the students sit side by side, and built-in wardrobes. Each room is also equipped with a foam-rubber armchair. Because of the special design of the wardrobes between each room, the necessity for bureaus or dressers is done away with and some savings have been effected in construction costs.

A three-zone thermostatically controlled heating system will provide even temperature controls throughout the building.

As a result of the opening of Founders Hall, a realignment of living quarters on the campus has been made over the summer.

Members of the Society of Mary who have been living in St. Mary's, Liberty and Zehler Halls, have now all moved into Alumni Hall. Alumni Hall will now be the Marianist residence only.

After a lapse of 20 years, students again will be living in Zehler Hall. Athletes who have been living in St. Joseph Hall will continue to be there.

These changes will about double the number of students who can live on the campus and will bring the Marianists all together under one roof.

Some 40 students will be living in Zehler; 60 in St. Joseph's Hall.

Ground was broken for the new dormitory in March 1953; and the cornerstone was placed on October 2.

It's Home-Coming Time—

Here are the anniversary classes

During the college years of the class of 1904 many interesting things came about. Do you golden jubilee members remember?

The shooting of President McKinley in your sophomore year; and President Roosevelt taking over? The start of the Panama Canal; the first wireless message across the Atlantic and the Wright brothers' first flight during your senior year?

And the year you graduated the Russo-Japanese war started and the St. Louis Exposition opened.

Such was history when you started. And where are you six members now?

Rev. Aloys Angel is the pastor of St. Wendelin church, in Pittsburgh. Urban Deger is an organist and music teacher in Dayton and in fact has been organist for summer graduations for several years.

Emmet Sweetman is the city engineer in Urbana, Ohio; and Bill Stoocklein is a member of the firm of Hoeffler and Stoocklein in Dayton, concrete and tile specialists.

Leo Kramer, retired after 30 years as an engineer at Wright Field, is living in Dayton. He took a four-month trip around the world in 1951.

The class of 1929 graduated into the teeth of a world depression. But good news was also part of the picture. During their college years Lindy made his flight across the Atlantic and the first talking picture movies were shown.

There were 104 living members of '29 according to alumni records. Here are what some of them are doing.

Arthur Amorosi is chief chemist at Federated Metals, Perth Amboy, N. J.; Helen Bowman is a Washington attorney; John Craig is chief executive officer Aluminum Industries, Inc.; Howard Crush is supervisor of Lunken Airport, Cincinnati.

Theodore Falke and Gregory Floridis are Dayton doctors, and Al Hart is a Cleveland surgeon.

George Freitas is back in the Islands and George Houghtailing is assistant plan engineer for the city and county of Hawaii. Other islanders include John McCogan, who is head coach at St. Louis College there; and John Robello who is manager of Jardine Market on Kauai.

Joe Keller is another Washington lawyer. Clem Kemer is a lieutenant in the Cleveland fire department; "Step" Lange is the vice-president of Liberty Cherry and Fruit Company, Covington; Mike Moran is president of his own paint company; Leo Nartker is supervisor of quality control at Delco; and Joe Park is in the chemistry department at the University of Colorado.

Bill Patterson is a Dayton city commissioner; Paul Purpus is assistant controller of the Mead Corp.; Bill Reynolds is a manager with the Girard Trust-Corn Exchange Bank in Philadelphia.

Tom Ryan is superintendent of schools in Coldwater; Pat Wilcox is director of the department of streets in Chattanooga; George Bucherd owns the Dayton TV Service on Wayne Avenue; Jake Froug is a Dayton attorney; C. G. Dehler is an accountant at St. Alexis Hospital, Cleveland; and Frank Hollencamp is president and general manager of the Gustav Wiedeke Company, Dayton.

The class of 1944 actually had three graduation times—December '43, April '44, and August, '44.

The invasion of Europe by the allies came in June and the Battle of the Bulge in December. In November FDR was elected for his fourth term.

Tom Butz is general manager of the Talbot Parking Garage and other parking lots around Dayton; Martha Lehman Duffy, a housewife, has been a stalwart in UD alumni affairs; and Betty Rogge Lutz is doing commercials for WHIO-TV.

George Markus is a local physician and an assistant coroner. Frances Markus, no relation, is a teacher in the Jefferson Township schools.

Rev. Don T. McIntosh is pastor of the Methodist church in Union Bridge, Maryland. Patricia Somers O'Grady is with her husband in the U. S. Foreign Service; Firmin Paulus is a cost accountant with Dow Chemicals in Midland, Michigan.

Lou Pohl is a Cincinnati insurance man; Bob Reeves is with the Veterans' Administration in Chillicothe; and Lou Riepenhoff is public relations director of station WEMP in Milwaukee.

Ralph Rohner is secretary of the Robison Company, paper distributors in Akron; Stan Sagan is now at Wright Field after an interesting career including two overseas trips and a spell on the evening faculty of the University of Detroit.

Betty Thomas is on the music department staff here at UD; Frank Welch is a transmission engineer with the Ohio Bell Telephone Company; and John Westerheide is with Westerheide Auto Sales in Minster.

Street & Smith's Football Yearbook did very well by our Flyers. Six pictures and a lengthy write-up that covered 30 of 37 players. Copies are on newsstands.

Vaughn (Ox) Taylor has departed from his coaching post at Northwestern High in Clark County for Army service.

Don (Monk) Meineke appears headed for the Boston Celtics in the pro loop this year and Chuck Grigsby probably will debut with the Baltimore Bullets.

Grigsby also may tour Korea with the Bullets this fall.

Disturbing thought: That S & S football book lists four top tackles for Mississippi Southern. The smallest is one Jim (Coondog) Davis — stands 6'5", weighs mere 242. Smallest, that is!

Dell's 1955 Basketball annual will be out in November — watch for it. The Flyers will be featured.

Flyers Club, Inc., not only pushed the stadium lights campaign but Jack Brown and Hank Malloy headed a season ticket sale drive.

Lee Butler now edits a monthly "Gang News" publication. Ex-athletes write Lee who has the letters reproduced via ditto machine.

FLYERS TO FACE CRUSADERS

Another big stride in rebuilding Flyer football fortunes has been made with the booking of Holy Cross for a game in 1955.

Harry Baujan, Flyer athletic director, has announced that Dayton will meet the Crusaders in the East on Nov. 5, 1955.

It will be the third meeting of the teams with Holy Cross holding 20-7 and 18-0 wins over the Flyers in 1926 and 1927.

No Crying Towel Needed Here; Looks Like An Interesting Year!

Coach Hugh Devore's University of Dayton Chlorophyll Kids, 19 sophomores green, are finding that time is rapidly running out.

Yet, if there is a coaching staff in the nation with no need of a crying towel, it's Devore's.

Optimism? Nope—just the opposite—but there's no need of crying.

It's Devore's first year at Dayton. No sudden skyrocketing of Flyer football fortunes is predicted, anticipated or expected.

Devore and his staff, which is entirely new to the hilltop university, are entitled to time to get their feet on the ground. So are the players who must learn a new system.

No great things are predicted for this season, or next. True, there's an outside chance Devore and his staff can come up with a "sleeper." But Dayton fans aren't banking on it this year.

Devore starts with a squad that will probably number 37. Of these a staggering total of 19 are untried sophomores. To say Dayton is a green team would be putting it mildly.

Devore has already taken steps to brighten the offensive picture. Jim Haggerty, hard-running senior, has been moved from end to fullback where he'll scrap with last year's No. 1 line crusher, Ralph Jelic.

Devore also has experience in Jimmy Spoerl at quarterback and halfbacks, Don McHenry and Johnny Bettinger.

Up in the line veterans have to some extent beaten back a youth movement. Capt. Jimmy Shafor and Jimmy Katcavage, two top linemen, will be at right guard and left end. Vince Werl has moved in from tackle to left guard and Johnny Grogan has fought his way up to the No. 1 left tackle spot at the moment.

The redoubtable Jack Muldowney who worked all spring at end may go back to tackle as the Flyers were dealt a rather severe blow to the solar plexus when final grades were posted in June.

Dick Miyata, senior tackle who didn't fail a single subject, just didn't have enough quality points to be eligible.

Jim Ducato is back at center but is having his hands full with newcomer, Jerry Ward. Here again, however, Devore may do some juggling. Ward's an outstanding guard. He may move back there and Paul Dacey, defensive end, may also move in where it's thick.

The Flyers need depth through the middle especially since it's unknown at this time as to just how well the fractured ankle of the highly regarded Roger Towle, junior guard, has healed. Jimmy Martin, another guard, has been bothered two seasons with injuries.

Devore's greatest asset probably is the fact that his 19 sophomores are champing-at-the-bit for starting berths. There is speed, size, and in some cases, fine potential—but there is also inexperience.

Two sophs do figure to crash the starting team—halfback Billy Smith, recently returned Army veteran, and Johnny Kozlevchar, end.

RAZOR CAMPBELL RETURNS TO COACH FROSH CAGERS

Dick (Razor) Campbell, captain of UD's first NIT basketball team in 1951, has been named to coach the Flyer frosh this season.

Campbell, a graduate of Columbus (O.) Aquinas High School and a Navy veteran of World War II, was a star guard for three seasons with the Flyers during their climb to national basketball prominence. Campbell was regarded as one of basketball's sharpest passers during his playing career.

The new frosh mentor will work only on a part-time basis and will not be a member of the faculty. Campbell conducts a carpet cleaning business at present but said he is looking forward to a coaching career.

Here's the revised schedule:

Clip for your wallet.

Sept. 18	Bowling Green	(night)
Sept. 25	at Cincinnati	(night)
Oct. 2	John Carroll	(night)
Oct. 9	Louisville	(homecoming)
Oct. 17	at Xavier
Oct. 23	at Tennessee
Nov. 6	Mississippi Southern	(night)
Nov. 13	at Miami (O.)
Nov. 20	Xavier
Nov. 25	at Chattanooga

NIGHT FOOTBALL RETURNS; THREE GAMES THIS YEAR

The flick of a switch on the night of September 18 will open a new era of football at the University of Dayton.

Night football will have returned to the Hilltop.

For students, alumni, friends of the University and members of the Flyers Club, Inc., who pushed the drive, it will be realization of hope that sprang up last spring.

Bulwarked by Flyers Club members and the Montgomery County chapter of the alumni operating out of the UD Public Relations office, a whirlwind four weeks' campaign raised enough funds for the University to flash the green light on installation plans.

Bro. Austin J. Holian, S.M., had hopped the first hurdle by ordering, last spring, the tubular steel poles needed for erection of floodlights. The poles cost approximately $8000.

Contract for erection of the lights was let to the Wagner-Smith Co. of Dayton on a low bid of $26,180.

Completion of the job is expected shortly. With that eventuality in mind Harry Baujan, U. D. athletic director, reported three changes in the '54 schedule.

The games with Bowling Green, John Carroll and Mississippi Southern were switched to night affairs.

COACHING LURES EX-FLYERS; PROVIDES FARM SYSTEM

One of the most refreshing features of the U.D. athletic picture is the increasing number of graduates going into the coaching field.

Some of the older hands are, of course, well established. George Wirtz and Bill Belanich up in Cleveland, Joe Thomas off on Long Island and Jim McCarthy in Cincinnati.

Last spring the talented Bobby Arnzen missed by just two points of being the coach of Ohio's Class B high school basketball champions.

Others heading basketball teams on the high school level include: Brian McCall at Cleveland Latin; Bill Ginn at West Milton; Don Bolton at Springboro; Jim Hough at South Lebanon; Ken Boxwell at Spring Valley; and Bob Helmlinger at Sidney Holy Angels.

Jean Bendele

Newest member of the cage-coaching clan is Larry Pedicord at Centerville.

A top football job has gone to Bucky Weaver, new grid boss at Chaminade in Dayton with Danny O'Brien, fresh from the Marine Corps, as his assistant.

Tennis ace, Bob Holycross, will handle reserve teams for the Big Green. Tom Frericks is cage boss at Chaminade.

All-time Flyer great, Leland (Junior) Norris is directing the basketball destinies at Fairmont and Fred George has taken over as athletic director at Toledo Central Catholic.

Military academies claim the talents of fan-favorite Gene Joseph down in Wheeling, W. Va., and Ray (Rip) Janaszek in Cleveland.

Ripper's teammate and '49 football captain, Bill Gutbrod, opened up athletics at new St. Joseph in Cleveland while Barney Otten did the same thing for new Fenwick High in Middletown.

Frank Rozzano, after piloting Denison St. Mary's to its most successful football and basketball seasons, now is Otten's assistant.

Bill Cutcher is assisting McCarthy at Cincinnati Purcell and Marlo Termini is with ole Johnny Spezzaferro, popular ex-Flyer line coach, at Holy Name in Cleveland.

After three seasons Julius Hunt has left his basketball and baseball duties at New Riegel, O. for Bloomville (O.) High.

Lending an international flavor to the picture is Joe Zaleski, who, besides quarterbacking the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, is athletic director and head coach of St. Paul's College in the Canadian city.

The very successful Jim Hanby is top man at Dayton Stivers and also heads the Dayton coaches' association while Bob Heidkamp is not only coach but principal of Wayne Township High.

Beauty To Bloom Anew When Flyerettes Make Bow

There's a new group blooming this fall on the Hilltop—and it's a blooming good one.

Dayton will shortly meet—the Flyerettes.

Brain-child of Bob Wood, the Flyerettes may eventually provide for the north what the Kilgore (Texas) Rangerettes have given the deep south—a sparkling, colorful military drill and dance group for performances at athletic and civic functions.

The Flyerettes have been in training since February, 1954, with Wood and Rita Hoefler, director of a dance studio, as co-directors.

Wood teaches the military precision drill routines and Miss Hoefler the dance steps.

Three practice sessions have been held weekly on the campus this summer with co-eds coming from as far away as Paris, Ky. and Delphos, Ohio.

Three Times A Champ

A young man with a club pounded the University of Dayton name into headlines across the nation during the summer months.

Perhaps chipped would be a better word for although Jack Zimmerman pounded out his drives, it was his accurate chip shots to the green that got him out of troubled situations and brought victory.

Back in June the former Flyer golf captain and basketball player annexed the Ohio Public Links crown.

With the Ohio laurels in his pocket Zimmerman went deep into Texas in July to drive and chip his way to the finals of the 29th Amateur Public Links tourney in Dallas.

After 213 holes of tourney play, Jack finally bowed to Gene Andrews of Pacific Palisades, Calif.

August rolled around and with it the Dayton Amateur Golf Association championship. Zimmerman and Pat Schwab, University of Florida senior, finished all even in 36 holes of the title round.

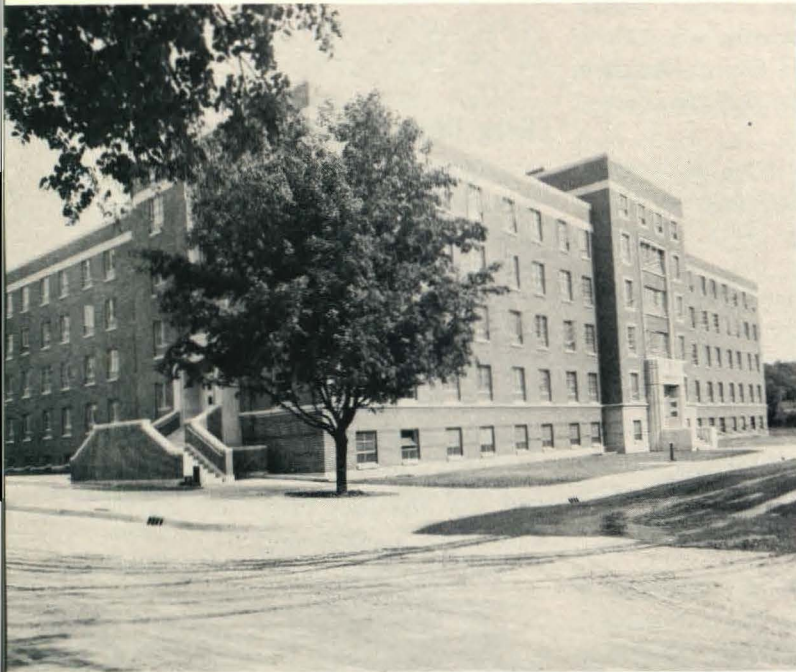

Then Zimmerman blasted his drive from the tee of the 37th hole to the very lip of the cup 180 yards away. The deuce won for Zimmerman the city championship.

Chapter News

MIAMI VALLEY

A capacity group of 225 alumni and their wives attended the annual dinner-dance of the chapter held at the Miami Valley Golf Club, Saturday evening, June 12th.

Citation for outstanding chapter service went to Jack Brown, '26; for outstanding community service to Dr. Walter Reiling, '30; and for outstanding professional service to Maurice Reichard, '35.

Lou Goldkamp, '41, was elected president; Al Suttman, '48, vice-president and Pat Radican, '52, secretary-treasurer.

CLEVELAND

The chapter has been quite active in a social way during the summer. In late June the group sponsored a picnic in honor of the June '54 graduates.

On July 25 a chapter picnic was held at St. Joseph High School grounds. Bill Gutbrod was chairman with a committee of John Bohan, Dan Ferrazza, Mrs. Steve Vargo, Mrs. Paul Varley and Mrs. Bohan.

DETROIT

Some 62 members and guests attended the annual dinner-dance of the Detroit chapter held at the Birch Hill Country Club, on June 5th.

Cocktails and dinner and a short presentation by Mary Shay, alumni secretary, preceded the dancing.

HELP

We're looking for the class pictures of the classes of 1928 and 1933. They are missing from among the photos on the walls of St. Mary's Hall and to make the collection complete we need them.

Anyone having a copy of either class picture to loan us, please contact the Alumni Office immediately. We will return it.

Hilltop Jottings

. . . Samuel Finn, Dayton attorney was elected president of the Associate Board of Lay Trustees for a two-year term succeeding S. C. Allyn. David L. Rike was elected vice-chairman; and Merle P. Smith, '25, was elected secretary of the group. Walter H. J. Behm was re-elected treasurer.

. . . Dr. Kenneth Schraut has been appointed head of the mathematics department succeeding Bro. William Bellmer.

. . . Adrian Westbrock has been made head of the department of mechanical engineering.

. . . Faculty promotions include four to the rank of associate professor: Erving Beauregard, history; Rev. Joseph S. Bruder, philosophy; Rev. Florian Enders, philosophy; and Mrs. Alberta Prather, mathematics.

Promoted to assistant professors are: Kuo-Sul Laurence Chang, accounting and business organization; Mrs. Elizabeth Reel, physical and health education; Charles H. Scheidler, psychology; Lawrence E. Tagg, music; and Jesse H. Wilder, mechanical engineering.

. . . Enrollment predictions for the fall estimate that there will be 2,500 full-time students on the Hilltop and some 1,800 evening students, the largest student body yet.

. . . After completing the cataloging of the Leon Clugnet collection, a recent addition, the Marian Library at UD is now believed to be the largest such library in the world. More than 10,000 volumes are on the shelves, with a union catalog of some 20,000 more. Rev. John Rauscher, S.M., this year celebrating his golden jubilee, presented his parish jubilee gift of $1,700 to the library, the largest single gift ever made to it.

. . . Rev. Edmund Rhodes, dean of the college of arts and sciences, and Bro. Joseph Mervar, registrar and director of evening classes, celebrated their silver jubilees this summer.

. . . The Guidance Center is spreading out with testing programs now centered in San Antonio, Tex., Cleveland, Cincinnati, New York, Pittsburgh, Pensacola, Fla., Mobile and Birmingham, Ala.; Augusta, Atlanta and Savannah, Ga.; and Memphis, Tenn.

. . . Bro. Stanley Mathews has edited the first book on the Immaculate Conception published in the United States in 25 years.

. . . The new UD cafeteria won an honor award for outstanding service in food preparation, sanitation and layout in the Eighth Annual Institutions magazine Food Service Contest. This is the "Oscar" of the industry.

. . . Louis Budenz was the speaker at the annual summer commencement held at Chaminade High School, auditorium, Sunday, August 1.

. . . UD is cooperating with the Dayton Graphic Arts Management Education Council in offering courses in the fields of printing management and printing technology. UD now will offer two programs, one leading to the associate in engineering specializing in printing technology, and the second to the associate in business administration specializing in printing management.

The programs were worked out by the Council of which Kenneth P. Morse is chairman and Fred Rost, '23, a member.

. . . The home economics program for teachers at UD has been approved by the State Commission on Vocational Education, the first private university in Ohio to get such approval.

104th COMMENCEMENT IS RAIN DAMPENED SUCCESS

A slightly rain-dampened procession filed into the NCR auditorium to take part in the University's 104th commencement. A sudden shower just after the procession got under way wet down the academic garb but failed to halt the ceremony.

Very Rev. Walter Buehler, S.M., president of St. Mary's University, San Antonio, Texas was the speaker. Part of his remarks were reviewed ahead of time in the June issue of the ALUMNUS.

Honorary degrees of doctor of humanities were conferred upon S. C. Allyn, president of the NCR; and General Edwin Rawlings, commander of the Air Materiel Command. An honorary doctor of laws degree was awarded in absentia to Thomas F. Patton, assistant president of the Republic Steel Company.

Some 359 students were granted degrees, 29 of these were associate degrees, and 16 of this group are the first graduating class of the technical institute.

Many of the class have received post-graduate scholarship and fellowship. For details on these see the 1954 class notes.

UD Among the Alums

EDMUND VELTEN, '43

Ed entered the Army right after graduation, serving all his time in the Manhattan Engineer District, predecessor to the Atomic Energy Commission. He rose to the rank of captain.

He held successive assignments as technical officer in the Madison Square area and the St. Louis area and subsequently as area engineer for both the St. Louis and Iowa areas of the District.

He has been with the Atomic Energy Commission since its inception in January 1947. For three years he was assistant director of the production division of the New York Operations office of the commission.

Then he spent a year in Cleveland as manager of the New York production division.

Since July 1951 he has been manager of the Lockland, Ohio area office of the Commission, working on a program of development of a nuclear propulsion system for aircraft.

He and his wife, the former Caroline Kastl, '43, and their three sons, are living on a farm southeast of Lebanon.

Business address: U. S. Atomic Energy Commission, Lockland, Ohio.

Home address: R. R. 1, Lebanon, Ohio.

BLANCHE A. DAVIS, '40

Blanche remained on the staff of St. Elizabeth Hospital after graduation as an instructor in science.

After two years there, she went to Rochester, New York as educational director at Highland Hospital, where she remained for ten years.

Two years ago she moved across New York State's Cherry Valley into Albany where she became assistant director of the school of nursing at Union University, actually working in Albany Hospital. The nursing school is separate from the hospital however.

The hospital has 950 beds, and has some of the finest and largest clinics in the East. In addition to Union, the school has affiliations with two other colleges in the area.

Blanche's chief hobby now is reading, for as she says, she has little time for anything else.

Home address: 82 Chestnut Street, Albany, New York.

REV. RICHARD J. CONNELLY, '31

Father Connelly is beginning his third consecutive term as grand national chaplain of the 1,200,000 Elks in the United States and surrounding territories. This is nothing new, for he is serving his 5th term in the same capacity for the Ohio Elks.

He is also Ohio chaplain for the Catholic War Veterans of America and a past chaplain of the Ohio American Legion and Forty and Eight.

He spent 32 months in service as a chaplain with the rank of major and received 5 battle stars and the Bronze Star.

Edmund Velten

Blanche A. Davis

Rev. Richard J. Connelly

Harry F. Finke, Sr.

He was the first Allied chaplain on Corsica. His parish in Africa was 1100 miles long as he constantly visited with units from Oran to Cape Bon. He was also stationed at various times in France, Sardinia and Italy.

He was guide for the then Archbishop Spellman on His Excellency's war tour of Corsica.

For several years after the war, he was chaplain of the Boys' Industrial School, Lancaster, Ohio. Now he is the pastor of St. Colman's Church, 219 South North St., Washington Court House, Ohio, where he recently celebrated the nuptial mass for Danny O'Brien, '51.

HARRY F. FINKE, SR., '02

Harry has twice been president of the UD Alumni Assn. First in 1911 and again in 1930. After graduation he started to work for the Pennsylvania remaining for four years.

For most of the next eight years he was assistant city engineer in Dayton. From 1914 to 1917 he was a partner in Geiger and Finke, engineers-contractors. In 1917 the Finke Engineering Company came into being, with Harry as president and general manager.

His outside activities are myriad. He was first vice-president and one of the organizers of the Morris Plan Bank, now People's Bank; he's still a board member there.

He's a member of the Dayton, state and national societies of professional engineers; the Engineers Club; Knights of Columbus; Elks; the Dayton Bicycle Club; Optimist Club, president in 1927; the Miami Valley Golf Club and St. Joseph Orphan's Society.

He has ten children, six daughters and four sons; six of them UD'ers.

Those from UD include: Mary Ann, '45, now Mrs. Edward Henz; Harry F., Jr., '45; Dr. John E., '50; Janet, '52; Robert, '54; and Susan, now a sophomore.

Harry's a spectator sportsman now, but his chief hobby is 3-D photography, both still and movies.

Home address: 208 Squirrel Road, Dayton 5. Business address: 114 South Perry St., Dayton 2.

He's An Alaskan Builder

Leaving behind him the many marks of Army construction which will endure for years in Alaska, Col. John E. Carroll, '27, Engineer, U. S. Army, Alaska, has left the territory for an assignment "Outside" after three years.

Col. Carroll is now taking a year of advanced study at the Industrial College of Armed Forces, Ft. McNair, Washington, D.C. "Inside" since he went to Alaska in October 1951, he has "bedded-down" the Army in the Territory in many major permanent facilities.

When he arrived in Alaska, the military installations were either non-existent or were operating from World War II facilities consisting of small wooden structures or scattered quonset huts.

During the last three years, it's been his task to supervise an engineering program of a scale not usually found except during the urgency of war.

A further facet of the Army Engineer's job, but vitally essential, is in being able to anticipate and having on hand when needed the right kinds and quantities of equipment and supplies. The failure of a heating system in winter, for instance, can be acutely critical for both troops as well as the building in which they live.

Col. Carroll has been associated with the Army since 1927 when he was commissioned in the Reserve after getting his civil engineering degree here. He worked as an engineer for the War Department from 1929 to 1941 when he was called to active duty.

He has been awarded the Legion of Merit for outstanding engineering work by the Commanding General, Third Service Command; and has also been decorated by the Nationalist Chinese government for his work with the American Military Advisory Group in Nanking in 1947-48.

These Are The Men Of Good Will

They're helping others to help themselves. These fellows spend their professional lives rehabilitating the physically handicapped in Dayton.

All of their effort goes into the day-to-day operations of the Dayton Goodwill Industries, rehabilitation organization.

The problems of the blind, the crippled, the paralyzed, the seriously injured and the afflicted are their problems. Through physical therapy, training and aid in obtaining employment in line with their capabilities, Goodwill Industries helps each one regain an earning status and a self-sufficiency.

Goodwill supports itself as a Community Chest through the sale of reconditioned furniture and household items and the donations of old clothing and furniture.

Goodwill Industries is the application of the Golden Rule at its best.

Meet the Family — The Shays of Dayton

Here's a Dayton family with lots of UD memories. All six of these brothers and sisters in the Shay family are Flyer alumni.

Paula, '52, is receptionist for Dr. H. R. Moore on Far Hills Avenue.

Frances, also '52, is the wife of John C. Anderson, '54, and is a housewife and mother.

Mary, '44, is alumni secretary at UD, and should be familiar to everyone reading this story.

Theresa, ex-'54, is now Mrs. Kenneth Lupp, and as these lines are being written is just returning from her honeymoon. She is a receptionist for Dr. Sterling Gerrard on Patterson Road.

Bernard, '48, is an accountant at Inland Products of General Motors.

Eugene, '55, is associated with Extermital, Inc., of Dayton, while he completes his degree work.

Not present for the picture was Mrs. Magdalene Shay Moorman, '47, housewife.

The Shays are all UD'ers. L-R: Paula, Frances, Mary, Theresa, Bernard and Eugene.

Doctors-to-be Have Tough Job During Interne Year

Night duty, day duty, emergency, surgery, O.B., ward duty, no vacations, 7-day weeks; all of this and more is the lot of at least 11 alumni who are interning at various hospitals after graduating from medical school.

It's at least 12 months of hard work each one of them faces before they can open their own offices and start to practice.

Three of the four Dayton hospitals have alumni interns this year. At St. Elizabeth Hospital are Drs. Vinton Young, '49, and James Leary, '51, both graduates of St. Louis University School of Medicine; and Dr. Joseph Gurnick, '50, a graduate of the Stritch School of Medicine, Loyola University of Chicago.

At Grandview Hospital are Drs. Glen E. Cook, '50, Art Bok, '50, and Russell Fiel, '50. Glen is a graduate of the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy; Art graduated from the Chicago College of Osteopathy; and Russ graduated from Kirksville, Mo., College of Osteopathy.

Interning at Miami Valley Hospital are Drs. Kent School, '50, Jack Voehringer, '49. Kent is a graduate of Stritch like Joe Gurnick; and Jack is an Ohio State medical graduate.

Other internes we know about are Dr. Jack Finke, '50, St. Louis graduate interning at Good Samaritan Hospital, Cincinnati; Dr. Plato Varidin, '50, Kirksville graduate, interning in Warren, Ohio and Dr. Thomas C. Gaul, '51, Stritch graduate, interning at Philadelphia General Hospital.

UD Takes Over Technologists Group

UD's leadership of professional groups and organizations continues with the announcement recently of the officers of the Dayton Society of Medical Technologists.

Margaret Carroll, '45, is the current president; and Irene George, '53, was elected treasurer of the group.

Gov. Lausche Appoints Quatman Appeals Judge

Joseph B. Quatman, '38, has been appointed judge of the Court of Appeals, Third District of Ohio, embracing 16 northwestern counties in Ohio by Gov. Lausche.

Judge Joseph B. Quatman

His appointment is to fill an unexpired term. He has already been named a candidate for re-election in the fall by the Democratic party.

Judge Quatman had been serving in the Juvenile and Probate Court in Allen County (Lima).

Double Visitors

When Roy and Pat Horvath, '53, visited the San Jacinto Battleground outside of Houston, Texas in mid-June they had the surprise of their trip as they signed the guest book.

For the name just ahead of theirs was that of Dr. and Mrs. Walter Reiling, '30. The Reilings had visited the spot in connection with the convention of the Optimist International of which he was president last year.

Help Wanted

George Humm, '40, has recently been made resident manager in Dayton for Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Beane, investment counselors.

George has asked for our help in locating any alumnus interested in the stock and bond business to join his staff.

Anyone interested in such a position, with salary plus commissions and bonus, and a training program, should contact George at AD 5042 in Dayton.

Father Sherry Assigned To Reed Hospital

When Lt. Col. Robert Sherry, '14, and Col. Joe Goetz, '27, met in Washington recently for the first time in years, it was under peculiar circumstances.

The two men were both Cincinnatians years back, Sherry as pastor of St. Andrews church, and Goetz as an RKO executive in the Queen City.

Now they are both serving in the Army. Shortly after Col. Sherry became staff chaplain at Walter Reed Hospital, Goetz was admitted as a patient and they had their reunion.
