WHEN CLOUDS ROLL BY

BY DICK FRANKENSTEEN

With the production of "Clouds Roll By," the U. of D. swings into what bids fair to be an annual musical comedy presentation schedule; a schedule which will grow and develop into something to be known and respected as is Michigan's "Mask and Wig," Ohio's "Scarlet Mask," and so forth. The alumni association grasped this opportunity to put across the first annual play, similar to those which are being sponsored annually by alumni associations of other colleges and Universities.

Last year after a dramatic play given by the university, our cast was invited to a little social function in Piqua, where individual members were called upon to display their talents. I was greatly impressed at the remarkable ability of such a large number of students and the thought came to me that there was drastic need of another tangible outlet and an added incentive to the development of musical and dramatic ability in the U. Hence we had the musical show, "Getting the Breaks."

This play brought out many new faces and much new talent which had hitherto been unknown to the school and its many friends; also, it would have brought out much gray hair if I had been so constituted. The play was written and produced within the space of a month and a half. Without organization, the burden of the production was placed upon me and, but for the kind support of the faculty, the splendid help of the cast and the fine backing of the many friends of all our activities, I would not have been able to carry it through. I felt that the play was successful in that it was our first attempt, and had been entered into on the spur of the moment..

This year when the school term opened there were many inquiries as to whether or not we would have another show. Of course I was heart and soul in the idea but I, perhaps, more than anyone else, realized the need of a worthy organization to put the idea across in the proper manner. Bob McBride and myself had already started work on the story, "Clouds Roll By."

The Alumni Association, a distinct asset to the University, is in need of funds since its reorganization, consequently they were in need of us just as we were in need of them, and together I feel that a happy combination has been instituted for, they bring to us all those of the Alumni, while we bring to them, the activities of their alma mater, thereby creating a closer bond of relationship between all, for the good of the one, Our University of Dayton.

It has certainly been a pleasure to work with Merle Smith, the alumni secretary, Joe Keller, director of the news bureau, Maurice Reichard, director of music, Bob McBride, co-author of the story, the O'Brien School of Expression, a splendid hard working cast and the dramatic editors of the local press. To the many kind friends who have loaned us properties, to the sisters of Notre Dame, to the brothers of Mary, to our advertisers, in other words, to all those who have helped to give our organization its start, I can only say "Thank You," and hope that you feel as I do, glad to have had a hand in the start of what is to be a permanent affair.

On high the clouds go rolling by, caressing moon and sky reminding you of pleasant days.

O'Brien School of Expression, Dramatic Art and Dancing

THE O'BRIEN SCHOOL OF EXPRESSION is affiliated with the Curry School of Expression, Boston, and ranks with the best. It is strictly a Dayton institution, being the only school of its nature the city has ever known. It was established here by Angela Mae O'Brien, one of the first pioneers of the new idea of natural expression, which supplanted the old school of imitation and declamatory elocution.

Like all new things, it had its early struggles, and only when its results became apparent in the splendid work of the students graduated, did it assume its present standing. It is now something of which Dayton may well be proud, as many larger cities cannot boast as equally fine a school in this line.

The School is designed for general culture and technical training, furnishing opportunities to all who wish a practical knowledge of the art of expression. The needs of each student are carefully studied, and the principles of this most individualistic of all arts, are so taught that development, mental and physical, is complete, and the strengthened powers of the voice, mind and body brought into perfect harmony, so that all forms of sentiment may be expressed adequately. If a student has histrionic ability and is desirous of pursuing a dramatic career, no better way could be found to secure the fundamental knowledge so necessary. Anyone engaged in public life will find the training valuable.

Former graduates of the School have found that experience is the only school of finesse after Miss O'Brien's course is completed, whether the individual selects stage work, that of a teacher, reader, or public speaker. The success of these graduates in their chosen careers attests the soundness of the principles upon which the school is founded and conducted, and which speak more effectively than any other form of publicity.

The School maintains with success "A Little Theater Group" in which the Alumni and others connected with the School keep up their work and at the same time keep busy entertaining local organizations in and around Dayton.

Miss O'Brien has also organized and directs the only "Children's Theater Group" in the city, members of which group appeared at Keith's Theater for six successive years in children's plays. Their most recent success was the presentation at the Masonic Temple, of "The Little Princess," by Mrs. F. H. Burnett, in which all of the characters, old and young, were portrayed by children under high school age.

"The Dayton Entertainment Bureau" is also managed by Miss O'Brien, who furnishes programs of all kinds for all occasions.

Among successful graduates in the teaching profession are Mabel Graham, of the Graham School, Toledo, whose graduates are filling good positions, Estelle Ryan, of the Proctor School, Ann Kuntz Selby, Adelaide Ford, Frieda Friesinger, Carrie Smith, Erna Gasser, Esther Robbins, Juanita Coffman, Mildred Weber Brown, Margaret Aman Kager, Madelaine Kurfiss Foederer, Dorothy Harnett Collier.

Successful on the stage have been Joe Austin, Carl Sadders, Orval Rische, Marie Steffen Matson, Pearl Sadders Wright, Maria Knaack, Betty Byron, Helen Lindemuth, Thelma Decker, Dorothy Harnett, Leah Welt, Helen Landis and more recently Sarah Keyes, now appearing with the Wright Players.

Miss O'Brien is an honor graduate from Mt. Notre Dame, Reading, Ohio, has diplomas from "The Schuster School" in Cincinnati, and "The Curry School," in Boston, and received her arts degree at the U. of Dayton.

The 1930 Edition

The present year has seen some startling changes in the University of Dayton Band. Brother Louis has given the directing reins over to a former member and is himself only concerned with the supervision of the music department. The new director, Maurice Reichard, brings a world of talent in the music line, the enthusiasm of youth, and the good wishes of a host of friends in the city of Dayton and on the campus.

This is only the first change in the Band this year. The people that have attended the games have noted the new uniforms. The Band has replaced the white trousers of former years with the blue with the red stripe combination that gives such a beautiful and startling contrast to the old color scheme. Capes blue-lined and red-backed have given the Band an appearance equal to any Big Ten Band. This, by the way, seems to be the criterion of a good band. So far this year the U. D. musicians have been compared to Michigan's famous Band and their uniforms have been said to equal any uniform in the country in brilliancy and color.

These changes are attended by a change in strength. The Band of forty and fifty members is now soon to be a memory. Today we see a Band of fifty-five and shall soon see the full Band of sixty march down the field. Mr. Reichard has a number of charges that desire to play in the Band. They are only waiting the chance and we shall see the University of Dayton Band equalling seventy members marching with the precision of West Point and drilling letters as ably as a Band can.

The University of Dayton band has served the interests of the school in a variety of ways this year, not only serving in an important capacity at the football games last fall, but in providing music for various assemblies and other events at the university. Their concert on Wednesday, May 7th, at the N. C. R. schoolhouse was a complete success and one of the outstanding features of the local celebration of National Music Week. The University of Dayton band will share in the proceeds of "Clouds Roll By" along with the Alumni association.

MARTIN C. KUNTZ, '12

Of 111 Thruston Blvd., Oakwood, Dayton, Ohio, our Alumni President for 1929-30.

A man more sincere in his regard for his Alma Mater, more competent by interest and experience to assist in the rebuilding of the Alumni Association, never graduated from the University of Dayton. Martin was always active in the affairs of the University as a student. He was a member of the famous St. Mary's basketball team of 1911-12, which won the state championship. Martin is secretary of The Peter Kuntz Lumber Co., Dayton. He was unanimously elected to the Alumni presidency and readily accepted the duties of the office, because he is vitally interested in the upbuilding of our Association and because as Alumni President he can work even more effectively than in the past for the best interests of U. of D.

shown an absolute and unwavering fidelity and loyalty to U. of D. Ned was a stellar athlete while a student and continued his athletic prowess in baseball and football from 1904 to 1906. He attained remarkable success as a civil engineer from 1906 to the time of the World War, during which Ned served as a commissioned officer in charge of engineering work at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Maryland. Ned is now president of the Metropolitan Paving Co. and the National Cantube Co., and a director of the Manamar Sales Co. Ability of a high order plus willingness and pep to use it for the advancement of the Alumni Association plus integrity equals Ned, our Alumni Vice-President.

THEODORE D. HOLLENKAMP

THEODORE D. HOLLENKAMP, '99, of 304 Schenck Ave., Oakwood, Dayton, Alumni Treasurer. In his undergraduate days Dick was one of the most active students on the campus. He had always had a reputation for thoroughness in the performance of any task he has undertaken and his sincerity of purpose has made for him a host of friends. A better man than Dick could not have been selected to perform the duties of treasurer of the Alumni Association. Dick is president of The Hollenkamp Products Co. and The Ohio Heat Treating Co. As always in the past, Dick is keenly interested in the affairs of the Alumni Association and is striving to put the Association on a firm, financial basis.

THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

of the University of Dayton, Dayton, Ohio

An organization of graduates and former students of the University of Dayton, which seeks to promote the interest of the University and to foster among the alumni a sentiment of regard for one another and attachment to their Alma Mater . . . .

A medium through which alumni may render effective assistance to the University.

Membership is open to graduates, former students, and faculty of the University. Also to those who shall have completed a course or courses at the Night School and those who shall have graduated from the Preparatory Department of the University of Dayton. Honorary membership is open to those who receive from the University degrees in honorem; and those friends and benefactors of the University of Dayton whose services the Association may desire to recognize.

A Board of Directors, consisting of thirteen members, manages the affairs of the Association. The President and Treasurer of the University and the Alumni Secretary are permanent members of the Board. One director is a member of the University faculty, appointed by the President of the University. The president, vice-president, and treasurer of the Alumni Association are also members. Of the six elected members two are chosen each year to hold for three years, and until his or their successors are elected.

Officers of the Alumni Association are a president, vice-president, treasurer, who are elected annually by direct vote of the alumni body; and a permanent full-time secretary, who is appointed by the Board of Directors.

The Alumni Office established at the University of Dayton is the executive headquarters for the Association and is directed by the Alumni Secretary, who acts as general manager of the Association and editor of the official alumni magazine, the University of Dayton Alumnus.

Each graduating Class is organized with the following three officers elected for five years: president; vice-president; and a secretary-treasurer. The secretary is the executive officer of the Class, keeping in communication with the Class members and the Alumni Secretary; preserving old associations and sentimental ties; and helping to organize the Class Reunion, held at least every five years at the Commencement season.

U of D Alumni Clubs can be formed in all localities where ten or more alumni can be gathered together. Clubs are formed in Chattanooga, Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus, Dayton, Detroit, Springfield, and Toledo. Others are being planned. A Club's activities are numerous and varied. Each Club is organized according to a standard Club constitution presented by the Alumni Association.

By taking his place in the alumni membership each alumnus enables his

Alumni Association of the University of Dayton To organize and conduct alumni service for the University's benefit.

To maintain the central Alumni Office and adequate executive machinery for alumni service and information.

To maintain always an up-to-date address list of living University alumni—both graduates and non-graduates.

To maintain memorabilia of living and dead alumni.

To publish the University of Dayton Alumnus, the greatest single link between the University and its former students, and the center of alumni thought and opinion.

This is purely an alumni magazine and all news of alumni that is sent in is always welcome. It is published monthly from October to June, inclusive.

To plan for and execute Home-Coming time during football season, Alumni reception and entertainment at Commencement, Class reunions, local Club meetings, etc.

To plan and execute the annual Alumni Banquet at Commencement.

To encourage students of outstanding abilities to attend the University.

To cooperate with the University administration, keeping close and sympathetic contact with the University for its betterment and growth.

To give alumni opinion in matters on which alumni could well advise the University.

To promote the general welfare of the University.

To develop mutual help among local alumni.

To promote the interest of the public in higher education and in educational and civic ideals.

To encourage patriotic and other worthy ends—as alumni representing the University.

To place before the University authorities all constructive alumni criticism and suggestions.

To enable the University to honor deserving alumni.

To inspire, organize, inform and assist alumni throughout the world.

By doing these things the alumni have a hand in building a greater University of Dayton.

University of Dayton

THE University of Dayton is a boarding and day school for young men under the direction of the Society of Mary. The doors of the University are open to students of all faiths, providing they are of good moral character. Its educational policy aims to place the student in a wholesome atmosphere with the idea of developing character as well as training the intellect.

The University buildings are beautifully situated on a natural elevation overlooking the city of Dayton. The climate is healthful and the University property of over fifty acres provides that quiet and seclusion so conducive to study and work, and yet at the same time the location permits of intercourse with the social and business life of an active city.

Dayton University has all the accommodations that a university of today calls for, viz: dormitory buildings; halls, modern in every detail; complete equipment for all departments (laboratories, libraries, museums, etc.); a picturesque park; a stadium; a gymnasium and auditorium; club rooms; and a campus of over twenty acres to accommodate the entire student body.

Very Rev. Bernard P. O'Reilly, S.M., President

The Dormitory Buildings are equipped with every convenience — electric light, steam heat, hot and cold water, and pure spring water. Rooms are furnished with or without bath. Lavatories, with tubs and showers, on every floor, are installed for the convenience of students renting rooms without baths. No expense has been spared to make the rooms as comfortable and as home-like as possible.

The University of Dayton comprises the:

About the University of Dayton

It is appropriate and important that a publication such as this 1929-1930 review and program for the musical comedy production, "Clouds Roll By," should feature prominently some outstanding facts about the University of Dayton, the institution which sponsors the various activities, scholastic, athletic, social and dramatic, which are chronicled herein. After all, it is the University itself which makes all these things possible.

The University of Dayton fulfills a very important purpose in this city and indeed in the state. It is one of the most representative educational institutions in this part of the country and is an institution of which Dayton might well be proud and one which is a credit and an asset to the college educational system. Hundreds of students from Ohio and surrounding states and from all parts of the United States and the nations of the world have taken up their studies at the University of Dayton since it was first organized in 1850.

The University of Dayton is a boarding and day school for young men, under direction of the Society of Mary. Its doors are open to students of all faiths providing they are of good moral character. Its educational policy aims to place the student in a wholesome atmosphere, with the idea of developing character as well as training the intellect.

Therein is where the University of Dayton particularly excels. Men who have dedicated their lives to the causes of education are found in the classrooms, men who know and understand the problems of youth and who readily appreciate and are able to solve difficulties that may arise. Its professors have, without exception, been European trained and are competent beyond measure to teach the variety of courses offered.

The university buildings are beautifully situated on a natural elevation overlooking the city of Dayton, at the very entrance of Oakwood, one of the most beautiful and exclusive residential districts in southern Ohio. The university's property of more than 50 acres provides quiet and seclusion so conducive to study and work and at the same time the location permits intercourse with the social and business life of an unusually active city.

Everything in the line of buildings and equipment necessary for a complete education and a thorough college training is provided for at the University of Dayton. It has all the accommodations that a university of today calls for, including dormitory buildings and halls, modern in every detail, complete equipment for every department, including laboratories, libraries and museums; a picturesque park; a stadium that seats 10,000; a gymnasium and an auditorium; club rooms and a campus of more than 20 acres to accommodate the entire student body.

The objections of large classes, so often raised at the larger universities, are not found at the University of Dayton, for the classes are of ideal size. The limited number of students in each class gives the professor sufficient time to know thoroughly every student and to give individual attention, which is no small factor in a collegiate training.

The dormitory buildings are equipped with every modern convenience for boarding students. There are representatives from nearly every state in the Union and from nearly a dozen foreign countries at the University of Dayton.

While there is every facility at hand for the boarding students, yet the advantages offered to students living in the city of Dayton are even greater. Here, right at local students' front door, figuratively speaking, is an educational institution, thoroughly equipped and admirably prepared, to give an education and with every facility that is offered at any school here or in the east, with the advantages of being able to still remain at home, while pursuing college work.

Daytonians generally fail to realize the splendid opportunities that await local students at the University of Dayton. The advantages of attending college right in the city, here, are apparent to anyone who has ever taken stock of the problems conducted in getting a college education. The university is the center of all educational activities in the city. More local prospective students should consider the splendid opportunities and the admirable facilities that are provided at the University of Dayton.

Very Rev. Bernard P. O'Reilly, S. M., is president of the University of Dayton. He has advanced this great university to the front rank of American colleges and has been responsible for some of the forward steps that have been made at the university in recent years.

Father O'Reilly has been responsible for the great new extension program at the University of Dayton, which is now being carried out. Already three great units of the plan have been completed, including the new alumni hall, with its extensive accommodations, the Albert Emanuel library, one of the finest to be found anywhere, and the new stadium.

He has been responsible also, for the elaborate remodeling and redecorating of the chapel of the university. The work is just now completed and is without a doubt, one of the most beautiful and complete chapels to be found anywhere in the city or in this section of the state.

Rev. George J. Renneker, S. M., is vice-president of the University of Dayton; Brother John Lowekamp is treas-

"The most precious legacy which can be conferred upon American youth is the legacy of a sound, Christian education under the direction of men conspicuous for their piety, zeal and their learning."

This statement was never more true than now. The University of Dayton offers to Daytonians and to students from all over the world the opportunity to merit such a legacy and to confer upon American youth a sound Christian education under the direction of a splendid faculty.

The University of Dayton would be glad to discuss any features of the courses offered, college requirements and other details. For additional information, kindly address the regular registrar, University of Dayton, Dayton, Ohio.

Basketball and Baseball Leaders

Johnny Ladner captained the University of Dayton "Flyers" through a successful basketball season for 1929 and 1930. Johnny was the bulwark of a team which fought bravely and gamely in spite of repeated setbacks and tough opposition. He was somewhat handicapped by a bad ankle break which he suffered during the football season.

JOHNNY LADNER

ADAM WESTERKAMP PITCHER

Adam F. Westerkamp, popularly known as "Westy" on the University of Dayton campus, is the star senior twirler on the 1930 varsity baseball team. He pitched the opening game against Antioch, along with Moyer and Burdinski, and has the distinction of having lost but one college game and that to Ohio Wesleyan at Delaware three weeks ago. He is leading the 1930 baseball team to a series of victories this season, which may culminate in the winning of the mythical Ohio conference baseball championship.

The Monogram Club

This organization is composed entirely of men who have been awarded monograms in major sports. Its constitution was written by the letter men of past years and was examined by the authorities of the University. In all of its activities the Monogram club has had the support of faculty and the student body. It is the aim of this club to uphold all the traditions of the school and to stand before the student body as a necessary factor for the maintenance of good fellowship. There is no doubt that the Monogram club is "the club" on the campus, and its members should feel proud of this fact.

During the past year the Monogram club gave three dances, Nov. 2, after the Transylvania game, Thanksgiving night after the Wittenberg game, and the Annual "D" Dance, at the Biltmore Hotel, Jan. 30, 1930. All dances were very well attended and the club is to be congratulated on the manner in which the dances were conducted.

Gold footballs were presented to the graduating members of the Monogram club, at the testimonial banquet last December. Plans are under way to present emblems to graduating members of the basketball, baseball and track teams. Just when this will be done has not been announced.

The Monogram club will hold its last meeting in two weeks, at which time officers for next year will be elected. The officers for the past year are Gowan, Pres.; Lutz, V. Pres.; Ladner, Treas.; Marshall, Sec.

Spiritual Conference Committee

Sodality

The most outstanding event of this year at the University of Dayton was the Students' Spiritual Conference held at the University auditorium, Sunday, April 27th. This conference was a meeting of all the Catholic students groups of Dayton and vicinity, and was sponsored by the University of Dayton Sodality. The idea of such a gathering was conceived by Father Francis Friedel, Moderator of the University of Dayton Sodality, who acted as chairman of the Conference.

The program of the Conference was in the form of a book. The introduction was given by Father Benard P. O'Reilly, president of the University of Dayton. The Preface was given by Father Francis Friedel, who also answered the question, "Why this Conference." The Synopsis was given by Victor Warner, President of the Sodality. Following this Part One was presented pertaining to "Mary and the Spiritual Life." The outstanding talks of this were: "Christ, the Ideal of Perfect Devotion to Mary," by Gerard Faust, delegate from the University of Dayton; "The Ideal Boy," by Mary Louise Woerl, delegate from Julianne High School; and "The Ideal Girl," by Hugh Stump, delegate from Hamilton Catholic High.

Part two was then presented concerning Mary and the Apostolate. "The Catholic Child in the Public School," by Joseph Angerer, University of Dayton delegate; "Home Mission Work," by Carmella Bruno, Mercy Hospital School of Nursing delegate; and "Organization of Religious Activities," by Thomas Stritch, U. D. Prep delegate. An open discussion now took place in which it was decided that the University of Dayton is to be the center of a Union of Sodalities in the Miami Valley. Solemn Benediction followed.

Other activities of the Sodality of the University of Dayton were the distribution of baskets of food and supplies to the poor of Dayton at Christmas time; the forming of a Sodality group in Hamilton, Ohio; the donating of toys to the orphanages of Dayton; the outdoor May Devotions in honor of Our Blessed Lady in the Park of the University Campus; the giving of Lectures on the Mass in the grade schools of Dayton; the series of Lenten talks held in Alumni Hall; the soliciting and sending of old clothes to the Missions; the introducing of the Massa Recitation at Mass; and activities of lesser importance. It has been through the instrumentality of Father Francis Friedel that this extraordinary progress enjoyed by the Sodality at the University was made possible.

The International Relations Club

REV. CHARLES PREISINGER

The International Relations Club of the Dayton University is one chapter in a nation wide organization dedicated to the promotion of International Peace. This great work is to be carried out not by pacifism, but by the promotion of a better understanding between the nations. This understanding will result from a study of the great and complex problems which confront the various states. The I. R. C. endeavors to make careful studies on these various questions and have individuals and committees make reports and hold discussions on the matters.

Aside from the study and discussion of the questions by the students the Club has always endeavored to secure prominent speakers who are known authorities to address the assemblies. This year we were very fortunate indeed in securing speakers. Most notable was Dr. Tibor Eckhardt of Hungary, who paid a two day visit at the University. Mr. Eckhardt was the organizer of the Hungarian National Army during the war, and is at present a member of the Hungarian Cabinet. He was formerly the Minister of the Interior for his country. His speech was most enlightening and instructive. His public address at the Auditorium of the Library was attended by the citizens of Dayton as well as by the students. He spoke on the "Seeds of the Next War" and showed how these seeds can be destroyed.

A delegation from the University I. R. C. attended the model League Assembly held at Cincinnati in April this year. Current topics were discussed, including India's trouble with England, and recent difficulties and settlements in Hedjas. At the Convention the Dayton representatives upheld the interests of Japan.

Since its foundation three years ago by Rev. Charles V. Preisinger the head of the History Department, the I. R. C. has grown and developed into one of the most select and well organized Clubs at the University. Its future looks even brighter than the past.

Commerce Club

One of the most active and important scholastic clubs on the university campus is the Commerce Club, founded by Mr. E. B. O'Leary, a professor in the College of Commerce and Finance. It has been through the diligent efforts of Mr. O'Leary that this club was made possible and that it has been able to thrive in such a masterful way.

The club and the university have been honored with some of the most distinguished speakers of the country who have national reputations in the field of business and who are principally noted for their abilities. These men who have volunteered their services and time so generously were carefully selected so that they might treat subjects which were kindred to the courses which the college men were pursuing in their curricular endeavors. These addresses were given principally at the two dinners of the club held at Engineer's Club and Miami Hotel.

"To give to the students in the Department of the Commerce a better and broader conception of the field of business with the purpose of helping in the selection of their future business connections," is the purpose of the club as stated by Professor E. B. O'Leary.

Mr. William Keane, senior student of the College of Commerce and Finance, is the president and the toastmaster of the club.

It might be interesting to give a resume of the past year of the club albeit the speakers and their subjects.

College of Law

The year nineteen hundred thirty might well be recorded in the annals of the history of the Law School of the University of Dayton as the "red letter" year in its brief eight years of existence!

With the advent of the new term in September came the resignation of our former Dean and Founder of the College of Law, John C. Shea. His untiring efforts won for him the commendation of not only students and members of the faculty, but of many disinterested parties as well. Inadequate words of praise have been extended to him on numerous occasions at law banquets—but perhaps the most sincere recompense that he will cherish is the fact that during his supervision a one hundred percent record was established and maintained by the law students in successfully passing the Bar Examination.

Coming as an able successor of our former Dean is the students' friend and teacher, Judge Robert C. Patterson. He has accepted the responsibility with an earnestness that looks bright for the future College of Law. Assisting him on the faculty are Virgil Schaeffer, D. W. Iddings, W. S. McConnaughey, Francis Canny, Henry L. Beigel, Joseph B. Murphy and Samuel S. Markham.

Many questions have been asked concerning the reason for not admitting Freshmen law students. This was necessary in order to conform with the requirements of the American Association of Colleges. It is the plan of the University of Dayton to have a day law school as well as a night school, thus giving to this Department a Class A rating equal with all other day law schools throughout the country.

The social life of the Law College has not been neglected either, as several banquets have already been given by the students during this present year. This idea of getting students and faculty together, for the purpose of becoming better acquainted and to personally meet prominent members of the legal profession was started at the very beginning of the school and has been carried out by the student body since that time. Such men as Ex-Governor James Cox, William Pickrel, Judge Roland C. Baggott, Conrad J. Mattern and Judge Gunckel gave addresses on these different occasions.

The progress made by the College of Law since 1922 has been very rapid, due to the combined efforts of professors and students and the co-operation of Father O'Reilly, President of the University of Dayton. If the plans that are now being formulated for the future turn out as successful as they have in the past, Dayton may look forward with anticipation to a new educational monument—and the youthful aspirants as successors to Chancellor Kent and Blackstone may well expect a greater and better College of Law!

Activities of Engineering Clubs

The scholastic year of 1929-30 has witnessed the success of the various engineering clubs of the University of Dayton.

The purpose of these organizations is to bring to the students' attention, various topics of engineering interest. The activities acquaint the members with the practical side of his engineering curriculum. The societies are classified as an extra-curricular work, and hence, the members are important factors in the success of the engineering clubs.

A brief summary of the outstanding work of the departmental clubs, together with their respective officers, follow:

Chemical Engineers

Football

The Prep football team, under the leadership of Captain Bob Quinn, and Coach Gerard "Fuzzy" Faust, considering the material and time available, compiled a very imposing record this past year. They finished the season with two wins, two ties, and two losses.

They started off on the wrong foot, losing to Purcell High of Cincinnati, by the score of 12 to 0, and to Chaminade of Dayton, by the same score. The deciding factor in these contests was the Prep's lack of practice, for they had had only two weeks of drill and showed it. However, they put the right foot forward in their next two games, returning victors over Sidney Holy Angels High, by the score of 26 to 0, and over Springfield Catholic Central High by the score of 12 to 0.

In their last two games of the season, they held the strong Miami Military Institute, and the Hamilton Catholic High teams, to scoreless ties, thus finishing the season with an average of 500%.

Basketball

The Prep basketball team, with Capt. Bill McNamara, and Coach Fuzzy Faust at the helm, ended the season with seven victories and eight defeats. They won their first game, but after falling into a decided slump, losing five straight. Then they snapped out of it, and won six out of their next nine games, three of them in overtime periods.

Capt. McNamara was the high scorer for the season, averaging around nine points per game, scoring approximately 135 of his team's 314 points for the season.

The Prep reserve team, the U. D. Celts, ended the season with the fine record of fifteen wins to four losses. They were coached by Brother Arnold Klug, and Johnny Grimes, and their Captain was "Lefty" Bowman.

Graduation

Graduation will take place on June ninth. What a memorable day that will be for us, the Seniors of 1930, who, with ideals of higher education in our minds, worked unceasingly for long years to scale the heights of learning. We shall have reached the summit at last, and for us, thirty-two youths with exalted ambitions and noble intents, the diploma will serve as a just reward for work well done. Yet we feel that as we stand on the threshold that will mark the close of these kindly sheltered years and pass through the portals of the University, into the welcoming future, pungent memories, too sacred to utter, will halt our steps. May they linger long with us to serve as incentives to greater things.

The Senior Year

This year has been an eventful one for us all. The class organization had been completed last year. Those officers selected by the class to bear the burden of the work were as follows: President, Thomas J. Stritch; Vice-President, Harry B. Hart; Secretary, Mark F. Lynch; Treasurer, Robert L. Quinn. With un-precedented co-operation of the class, these gentlemen have carried the necessary and heavy business of the year in good style. The organization of the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary was arranged this year in a different fashion, it being composed of both classes of the Senior Division, namely the Juniors and Seniors, meeting once every two weeks in the club-room instead of the class room, and membership was optional. Despite this fact, nearly the entire personnel of the division showed their willingness to be members, and a year full of excellent work was the result, climaxed by our being hosts, together with the college, to a Sodality Convention of all the schools of Miami

Valley. The convention was an outstanding success, and was only the beginning of many such. The officers were: President, Thomas J. Stritch; Vice-President, John H. Foley; Secretary, Paul R. L. Riesenbergs.

The Seniors are again at the fore in the matter of their annual prom. A Committee headed by Mr. John Salmon, assisted by Messrs. Stone, Quatman, and McNamara have studied the needs of the dance, and have arranged to have the affair at the Biltmore Hotel in the small ball-room. Beautiful favors have been secured, and the affair bids well to be a great success. The other matters of class routine have been wonderfully responded to, and we feel that the year has indeed been most auspicious.

The justly famous Brother Louis R. Reimbold, S. M., was the official class teacher, ably assisted by Brother Aloysius Doyle, Brother George Farrell, and Brother John Finke.

Activities: Debating Society

With the opening of debating activity after Christmas, it was decided to form a debating society, whereby some debates were held for the mutual education and enjoyment of all. Brother George Farrell was the faculty inspiration for this activity, and gave the boys their training in the art of forensic endeavor. Besides the numerous informal debates held in the class-room under a variety of subjects providing interest and food for thought, there were three formal debates held in the auditorium of the Albert Emanuel Library. These debates were held only after the most exhaustive study of the material at hand, and were presented only after the most earnest work.

The first of these was on the subject, "Resolved, That Interscholastic Athletic Competition be Abolished."

The second debate on the subject, "Resolved, That the Prohibition Amendment be Abolished."

The third and last of the series developed the subject, "Resolved, That the Jury System be Abolished."

The efforts of the debating society were the first of their kind in the Prep Department. The initiators hope that through their work a new precedent will be established.
