The Class of 1966:

Your Alma Mater...

SAGA, 1966

STATE UNIVERSITY COLLEGE, BROCKPORT

In the mid 1960's:

- Teacher's salaries averaged $4500 per year.
- A dozen eggs was 63 cents a dozen, a pound of coffee was 75 cents.
- Saddle shoes at Sears were $3.97 a pair.
- A new Rambler was $1,895.

The IBM Selectric had recently appeared, but manual typewriters were still what most people used...

You literally did “dial” a number..

Radios and record players had tubes, and those tubes needed testing sometimes...

Brockport was a great school, but a tad crowded at times...

Was anyone in the AV Club?

Remember the Roxbury?

Hazing at Fancher, with Gordon Allen and Harold Rakov...

Folk music was big then!

Here's a well known folk group that visited campus.
