Student Portfolio

Jane Miller

The portfolio that I am presenting is a collection of work and experiences that represent who I am as a motivated individual and a hard-working student.

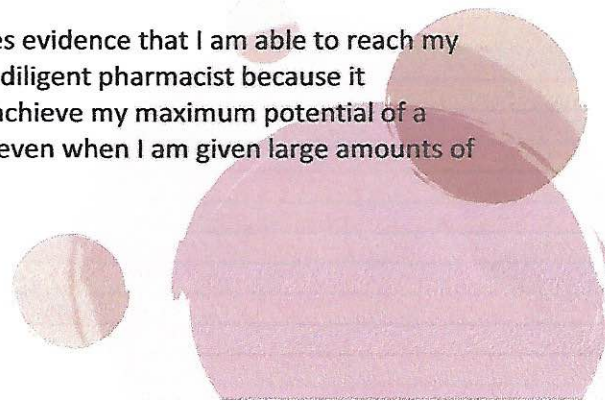

My resume details my thoughtful volunteer service, my extensive work experience, and my impressive grades which provide evidence of my drive to achieve the goals I set for myself. Additionally, it summarizes my extracurricular activities and my musical achievements which provide evidence that I am a well-rounded, balanced individual.

Next, I included a letter of recommendation that one of preceptors from my student hospital internship wrote for me. This letter of recommendation is very personal to me because I worked hard to obtain the Healthcare Career Exploration Program internship and not only did it help develop my desire to become a pharmacist, but, as the letter states, I proved myself worthy of the internship as I excelled during my time spent at the hospital.

The education section and the project section also demonstrate my balanced, hard-working character because they contain evidence of academic achievement, present on my transcript, as well as diverse projects, such as a blog on the philosophy of human personhood. Through my education and these projects, I learned the importance of setting goals and proper time management.

Finally, the awards, honors, and certificates I have included, provide additional support that I am an accomplished student, such as through my Director Circle certificate, and also that I am motivated individual, such as through my Outstanding Employee award.

As a whole, my portfolio provides evidence that I am able to reach my professional goal of becoming a diligent pharmacist because it demonstrates that I am able to achieve my maximum potential of a balanced, motivated individual, even when I am given large amounts of responsibility.
