Essays: Grading Methodology

Grading Standards Letter grades (A, B, C, D, F) are assigned to essays on the basis of what is said and how well the essay is developed.

A: The A paper displays the writer's imagination and curiosity about the subject, so the reader is engaged. Clear, insightful, original, and mature thinking by the writer provokes/teaches the reader. The essay treats the subject thoroughly. It has been written (and rewritten) with an awareness of style; neither over-written not under-written, it is graceful. In choices of words, phrases, and sentence-form and in organization of ideas from clearly focused and supported thesis to ending, the excellent essay shows signs of careful revision and editing. It has been worked on to remove the "worked on" quality; the A essay is pleasurably readable.

B: The level of writing is good, above average. It reveals the writer's having explored the subject carefully and completely. The writer has conformed to the cardinal principles of subject/thesis development: focus on subject, unity, coherence and support. The language used is clear, and its level of usage is appropriate for the assignment. The B essay shows some originality of thought and expression since it has been revised and edited and is easily read. A and B work will be basically error free, particularly in terms of serious problems in diction, sentence construction, grammar and usage. There will be virtually no careless errors in spelling, punctuation mechanics, and typing.

C: Satisfactory writing performance is indicated by the C. The writer of such an essay conducts the reader through a satisfactory exploration of the subject matter but only minimally engages the project. Minor problems in the writing (which could have been avoided by more careful revising and editing) do not obstruct the reading of the paper, but the reader has only slight interest because the writer has achieved little originality of expression or depth of thought. If one only writes to the criteria for the minimum standards for passing a writing assignment for English 1301, the C grade is assigned.

D: The D indicates below-average achievement. (D's on the transcript are not transferable as passing grades.) Thorough development of the subject, organization of ideas, and clarity of language are missing from most D papers; these attempts reveal little effective revision and proofreading although they may be "long enough." The level of language is generally unacceptable in academic writing.

F: F's are given to essays failing to state and develop a thesis. These essays may also reflect serious problems with grammar, among which are usually these kinds of errors: many comma splices or fused sentences, sentence fragments, and verb form errors including the lack of subject-verb agreement. Generally, three or more of these errors will result in an F. The F essay is unreadable. NOTE: There are other ways to earn an F, including plagiarism and turning in an essay that does not fit the assignment criteria (for example, turning in a personal experience essay as a research paper).

Grades will be posted in Canvas. Please allow up to two weeks for essay grades/comments.

Course Grading Scale (out of 1000 points)

- 900-1000 = A (excellent)
- $800-890 = B \pmod{4}$
- 700-799 = C (meets minimum standards)
- 600-690 = D (needs improvement)
- 0-599 and below (fails to meet basic standards)

Attendance Policy

Students are expected to attend all class sessions arriving on time and remaining until the class time is completed. Class participation points may be reduced if this expectation is not met.

Classroom Behavior/Expectations

This is a college course. Collin College values include: learning, service and involvement, creativity and innovation, academic excellence, dignity and respect, and integrity. Students are expected to demonstrate these values in all activities and classrooms interactions.

Plagiarism Policy

Academic dishonesty (forged or fabricated excuses, plagiarism, lying, cheating, etc.) will be treated as a very serious departure from the value of integrity. Students may wish to review the consequences of engaging in academic dishonesty as outlined in the Student Handbook/Code of Conduct.

General Technology

- Computer and printer problems are not valid excuses for late or missing work; make sure you save your work on a flash (USB) drive, email it to yourself, and/or save it to a cloud service (like dropbox, OneDrive, or Google docs) to make sure you don't lose it if anything happens to the computer or internet connection.
- Technical Help: Please complete work early to give yourself extra time in case of technical problems. Students needing technical help with software, attachments, or e-mail should seek help here: http://www.collin.edu/academics/ecollin/technicalsupport.html
- Submission errors: If you ever have problems submitting work on Canvas, please immediately email me a copy of the completed work to show me that it was finished by the due date. An email without the completed work attached as a .doc or .docx file will not demonstrate that the work was completed on time. You must still submit it on Canvas as soon as possible in order to receive credit.
- Cell phones: Cell phones/ smart devices are encouraged, as we will use them for various class activities. When electronic devices are not in use for learning activities, please silence them on vibrate. If you are expecting an emergency call, please step outside the classroom to take your call. During quizzes, the phone must be inside a pocket or bag/purse under the desk; you may not touch the phone at all until the quiz is handed in.

• Laptops and tablets: You may bring and use laptops or tablets during the portions of the class when you are doing in-class writing or other activities where they may be useful. Please have the laptops and tablets closed or off during large- or small-group discussions so that you can participate more fully in those discussions. Use of a laptop for non-class activities may result in loss of participation points for the day.

Course Lab Component

The lab component is an integral part of this composition course. Over the course of the term, the student will be required to complete a minimum combination of eight (8) selections from the list that immediately follows in this section; each lab is worth 2 units, for a total of 16 required units of labwork. The lab work is NOT the same as the weekly coursework. It is, instead, designed as additional writing-focused activities that will further improve the student's writing, analytical, and critical thinking skills.

Students may complete any combination of the options listed below; they will then write a Lab Completion Sheet in correct 2016 MLA formatting, containing either a 150-word Detailed Reflection or a 150-word Detailed Reflection with Rhetorical Analysis, as noted below, for each completed lab activity. Instructions for the Detailed Reflection or Detailed Reflection and Rhetorical Analysis are contained in the Canvas module for Labs.

Composition Course Lab Options:

- Conference with professor must be of substance (assistance with an assignment, topic selection, or research). Turn in an electronic Lab Completion Sheet containing a Detailed Reflection.
- Writing Center session with a tutor. Turn in a physical, stamped copy of your paper, as well as an electronic Lab Completion Sheet containing a Detailed Reflection.
- Writing Center Workshop (see schedule at http://www.collin.edu/studentresources/writingcenter/index.html). Turn in an electronic Lab Completion Sheet containing a Detailed Reflection.
- Two library tutorials these are available as links on the desktop of the computers in the library; options include Citation Styles; Using Current Event Databases; Using Keywords; Using College Databases for Research; Using Literature Databases; the White House Plagiarism Game; Library Catalog Lab; and Peer Reviewed Journals. Important note: To receive credit for one lab activity, you need to compete two of these tutorials. You will turn in both physical printed certificates with your name, your score, and a librarian's signature, as well as the electronic Lab Completion Sheet containing a Detailed Reflection that covers both tutorials.
- Campus Speaker/Campus Event (see schedule at http://calendar.collin.edu ). Any event designed with an educational purpose will work for this (such as a lecture, workshop, roundtable, art exhibit, film screening, theater/dance/music performance, etc). Turn in an electronic Lab Completion Sheet containing a Detailed Reflection with Rhetorical Analysis.
- Civic/cultural event in the community (pre-approved by professor). Turn in an electronic Lab Completion Sheet containing a Detailed Reflection with Rhetorical Analysis.
- Pre-approved video or podcast (contained in the folder under the 'Labs' section of Canvas). Turn in an electronic Lab Completion Sheet containing a Detailed Reflection with Rhetorical Analysis.

Completed lab sheets will be collected on the following two dates for grading:

Deadline #1—October 12th: 8 lab units (min.)* Deadline #2—November 30th: 16 lab units (min.)*
