THOMAS CLARKSON PAPERS
Collection 17-1

Prepared & Revised by:

June 1980

MANUSCRIPT DIVISION

Scope Note

The Thomas Clarkson papers span « linear foot and cover the years 1814 to 1846. The papers were acquired by the Center through purchase.

The correspondence deals mainly with Clarkson's international efforts in connection with the abolition of slavery. Correspondents to the English philanthropist and abolitionist include Sir Thomas Fowell Buxton (1786-1845), Lewis Tappan (1788-1878) and Robert Vaux (1786-1836). Several letters are addressed to Clarkson's wife, Mrs. Catherine Clarkson.

Many letters bear notes in Clarkson's handwriting and a single autographed item is also included. Highlights of the Thomas Clarkson papers are several newspaper clippings. One of them is an editorial by the Supreme Court Chief Justice John Jay on the annexation of Texas into statehood and the consequence of annexation on slavery. There are also two detailed clippings, one half page each, on anti-slavery meetings both dated in the early 1800's.
