Whittaker Is Football Coach; Ockerman To Head Athletics

Robert H. Whittaker, Sandusky High School football coach, was introduced to the student body at the Ashland-Bowling Green basketball game last Saturday night as the successor to Harry Ockerman, present Falcon football mentor. Coach Ockerman will assume the job of Director of Physical Education in the University and will devote his time to the coordination of affairs within the department, according to an announcement released by President F. J. Prout late last week.

Warren E. Steller will continue as professor of physical education and baseball coach while coaches Paul E. Landis, Fred E. Marsh and M. Budd Co will not be affected by the changes and will continue to serve in their present capacities.

Outstanding Football Coach

In the appointment of Whittaker, the University will gain the services of a man held in high repute in state football circles. He has been the head man of football at Sandusky for the last 10 years and has had very enviable success. In the years 1933-34-35 his teams were undefeated in 36 games and were widely recognized as state scholastic champs. During the 1934 season, alone, his high geared scoring machine rolled up 420 points while holding their opponents, some of the best in this part of the country, to a meager total of 19 tallies.

In track he has had kindred success, his teams having won top state honors in 1936 and the runner-up position on two other occasions.

36, Has Two Daughters

Coach Whittaker, 36 years old, married and the father of two daughters, has had an active life along athletic lines. He was graduated from Norwalk High School, where he starred as an all-around athlete. He took his under graduate work at Miami University where he was an outstanding gridiron halfback and javelin man on the track team, winning three awards in each sport. While at college he was the roommate of Paul Brown, present coach of the famed Massillon High School Tigers. He was graduated in 1929 and went immediately to Sandusky, accepting the position of assistant coach, working under Jim Nickleson, whom he succeeded the following year.

Lake Sailor

Mr. Whittaker's favorite pastime is sailing. He is the owner of a 28-foot cat-rigged sailboat named Jenny III. He has won, as evidence of his fine seamanship, the international championship, which is a coveted prize among lake sailors.

Bob, as he is called in athletic circles, is a rather small man, about 5ft. 9in. and weighing 160 pounds, but the respect that he draws as a coach and official shows evidence of his commanding but genial personality.

U.C.R.L. Installs 11 New Members This Semester

Barrell Sponsors Honorary Society For Social Science Students

Installation of 11 new members into the University Civic Research League was held Sunday evening at 8 in the Women's Building.

The U. C. R. L. is a local honorary organization open to students majoring or minoring in social studies and who have a three point average in social studies and a 2.5 accumulative average. Charles A. Barrell is this year's sponsor of the group, filling the position left by Dr. Ruth Bourne.

New members received into the League were Joyce Gifford, Rita Greenstein, Gerald Heitman, Virginia Kurts, Jessie Mittleman, Ernest Nixon, Joan Norsworthy, Betty Shiner, Bruce Sidebotham, Vera Whitcomb and Lawrence Kuhl.

Bill Mercer, Kermit Hartzler and Dick Dunipace comprised the pledge committee. Vincent Immel was in charge of the program for Sunday evening and Betty Jane Lowry was chairman of the refreshment committee.

275 Students Use Health Service

Two hundred and seventy-five students were treated by Dr. W. H. Brown and nurse Thelma Stevenson in the health office during the school week of Dec. 9-13.

Ninety-one of the cases were for colds, one being severe enough to detain the student in the men's infirmary, 18 were for excuses from gym and swimming classes, five for violet ray treatments, 7 for infra red treatments, and 7 students received whooping cough vaccine.

The other 142 cases were for eye examinations, ear aches, back injuries, and bandaging for cuts, burns, and dislocations.

Sick List

Nurse Maybelle Hall, reveals that one of the most interesting and important parts of this past week's work in the infirmary in the men's gymnasium was the case of Robert Wisecup and John Whitcomb, reported the same.

Kathryn Henderson, the occupant of the Shiner infirmary, and Eugene Rice, the occupant of the men's infirmary Dec. 10, and Dec. 12. He was suffering from a bad cold.

Pre-Registration Plan Will Go Into Effect Jan. 7-21

Fees Will Be Paid On Feb. 3; $1.00 Fine For Tardy Registrants

Students will pre-register for second semester work in a new system of registration inaugurated by the Registrar's office, according to an official statement from that office last week.

Pre-registration will begin Jan. 7 and must be completed by Jan. 21. Students will return to the campus Feb. 3 to pay fees.

Registration under the new system, designed to save time and congestion on registration day, will be done through the Deans' offices in the Colleges of Liberal Arts and Business Administration. In the Education College, students will contact the heads of the department in which they are majoring for pre-registration advice and consulting.

Following the pre-registration with the Registrar's office, complete registration will be held in the Registrar's office. There will be a fine of one dollar ($1.00) if a student has not completed his or her registration in the Recreation Hall by Jan. 22, 1941. This rule applies to all students whether they intend to return or drop out of school the second semester.

A complete schedule of registration appointments has been made by the Registrar's Office. Appointments with the Deans and department heads have been arranged at various hours during the week. If students have class conflicts with this schedule, they will report on the next day; or students may make appointments with their registration advisors.

A complete schedule of registration will be posted on the bulletin boards and printed in the Bee Gee News, indicating time and place of registration and conferences with Deans and Department Heads.

Construction on the set for "Outward Bound," the University's new stage show, was in progress this week. The unconventional setting is that of the deck and cabin of an ocean liner. Part of the action takes place in the cabin and part takes place on deck. The setting will be characterized by the interesting use of light to suggest the mood and situation.

A special performance on Wednesday evening, Jan. 15, will be sponsored by the Bowling Green Woman's Club. A large crowd of townspeople is expected on that night. Regular performances will follow on the nights of Jan. 16 and 17.

Hughes has the position of stage manager for "Outward Bound." Assisting him are Charles Klotz and Margaret Wiltz.

Neuma Mahla is the scene designer, and Waldo Egbert is technical director. Charles Johnson is building carpenter. Lighting is in charge of Joe Nussbaum and Roger Wheeler. Paul Lee is head of the properties department, and Joan Norsworthy is in charge of costumes.

Ernest Madlock is business manager. Programs are in charge of Max Hanke and Maxoris Suffer.

B. G. Debaters Win Out Of 6 In State Tourney

McDonna Sitterle and Marian Andrews last week won 4 of their 6 debates at the Ohio State B Tournament at Capital University in Columbus. Eight colleges participated in the tournament. McDonna and Marian defeated first-rate teams from Wittenberg College, Capital University, and Earlham College, Indiana. The two freshmen were defeated by teams from Ohio Wesleyan and Ohio State University.

Kitchen Steam Fools Cops In Shatzel Hall

Somebody yells fire in Shatzel Hall last Sunday, cops gathered up their valuables and fled from the dormitory. Smoke was pouring from the southwest corner of the roof as the dorm was vacated and help was summoned.

But the false alarmists came through to save the day—the smoke was coming from the steam pipe in the kitchen.

Power House Whistle Will Blow Once More, Ronk Says

By ANN KOCH

Ever since September there has been a great deal of groaning and moaning about whistles, clocks, and everything in general around the school, but groan no more because Randolph M. Ronk, head of the University's central heating plant, has promised us all a big Christmas present. Sometime in the very near future you will hear that "power house" whistle and every clock in the dormitories and in the main buildings will be in working order.

The central heating plant is an interesting and important part of Bowling Green University. Every season, nearly 55 hundred tons of coal are burned in the plant. It stands 172 feet five inches tall and reaches to a height of 200 feet. The plant is a pyramid-shaped structure with a hole in the top of the chimney which is seven feet in diameter.

In connection with the heating system, nearly 55 thousand gallon of water go through the heating system in a day. Not only the heating but all servicing for the institution is centered in the central heating plant. All the hot water for the gyms and dorms is both heated and softened by this plant. This amounts to about 20 thousand gallons of water a day. They regulate the electrical output, the clock system, and the flooding of the tennis courts.

Workshop Players To Present Alice Tomorrow At 8:15

Ed Christian Directs Show For Public Service Company

"Alice in Electric Wonderland," the Workshop Players' professional production for the Ohio Northern Public Service Company, will be staged in the Bowling Green Senior High School Auditorium tomorrow evening, Thursday, at 8:15.

"Alice in Wonderland," a new and different type of electric cooking show, is delivered by a great deal of clever comedy. The plot centers about the cooking of a full meal on the stage by Miss Mary Neighbor, home economist for the Ohio Northern Public Service Company.

The cast is as follows: Alice — Mary Shelton; White Rabbit — Lois Mayfield; Queen of Hearts — Eolalia Moellman; Queen of Diamonds — Virginia Zeigler; Queen of Clubs — Marian Andrews; Queen of Spades — Jean Goodnight; Royal Home Economist — Mary Neighbor; Everyman — Elizabeth Hamlin; Edna Christian is director, and Hildred Slater is stage manager.

McEwen won his first diploma at Crane Institute of Music at Potsdam, N. Y. He took graduate work at the University of Wisconsin and won his A. M. at Ohio State University.

He is president of the Ohio Music Education Association, an organization of music teachers in public schools.

Professor Tunncliffe, director of the University concert chorus, was appointed to the music staff in 1921.

He has his A. B. from the University of Wisconsin and his A. M. from Teachers College, Columbia University, and received the diploma from Crane Normal Institute of Music, Potsdam, New York, his native town.

Prof. Will Travel, Attend Meetings During Vacation

Outstanding Students Named In Key Election

The 1941 Key has just completed a specially conducted election, covering a vote of more than 900 students and the entire faculty, to select the most outstanding men and women in the University, according to the University's Educational Director.

The election was held in a special section of this year's annual. The returns of the election are being kept in strict secrecy; the announcement will be made by the release of the yearbooks in May, Rager said.

Four professors in the business administration department will attend conventions in Chicago, Dec. 26, 27, and 28.

Dr. Gilbert W. Cooke, who will participate in a discussion of "The Security and Economic Aspects of the American Association of University Professors."

Dr. Ralph G. Harshman, dean of college of Business Administration, will attend the American Marketing Association. He will leave from Columbus, Ohio, for the trip.

Prof. J. M. Cadwallader, professor of accounting, will leave from his home in Iowa to attend the meeting of the American Accounting Association.

Dr. Lewis F. Manhart will attend a joint meeting of the American Statistics Association and the American Marketing Association. Dr. Manhart and Cooke will go to Chicago from their homes in Bowling Green.

Dr. J. R. Overman, dean of college of Liberal Arts, plans to attend the meeting of the American Mathematics Association in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, Dec. 30, 31, and Jan. 1 if certain office work will permit.

Vacation Notice

Christmas recess will begin at 4 p. m., Friday, Dec. 20. EXCEPT that students in biology and chemistry must meet late Friday afternoon and Saturday morning.

Students in the other departments will have their recesses begin at 4 p. m., Friday, Dec. 20, and will continue through the day. The recess will be just prior and just after vacation.

Tunncliffe Retires After 20 Years' Service On Faculty

Prof. M. C. McEwen will succeed Prof. R. M. Tunncliffe as head of the University music department, according to a statement from President Frank J. Prout.

Professor Tunncliffe will remain in his present position until June, 1941, when he will retire from the teaching staff and Professor McEwen will take over the department.

Professor McEwen, director of the University concert orchestra, came to the Bowling Green teaching staff in 1921 and with the exception of four years he has worked here as a full time professor of music.

In his four years absence, he spent one year at Columbia University where he received his S. S. in Education in the Teachers College. The other three years, 1923-25, were spent as supervisor of music in Mansfield, Ohio.

He is married and the father of five children. He lives at 133 N. Grove street. He is a member of Phi Sigma Psi, national honorary music fraternity and plays the violin, viola and guitar.

McEwen won his first diploma at Crane Institute of Music at Potsdam, N. Y. He took graduate work at the University of Wisconsin and won his A. M. at Ohio State University.

He is president of the Ohio Music Education Association, an organization of music teachers in public schools.

Professor Tunncliffe, director of the University concert chorus, was appointed to the music staff in 1921.

He has his A. B. from the University of Wisconsin and his A. M. from Teachers College, Columbia University, and received the diploma from Crane Normal Institute of Music, Potsdam, New York, his native town.

Leedy, Mooney Are Freshman Advisors

Dr. Paul F. Leedy and Miss Dorothy Mooney, both of the English department, were elected faculty advisors of the freshmen class at the first class meeting last Tuesday afternoon.

President "Pat" O'Hara and other officers presented plans the class intends to follow through the year. Taking part in social activities and becoming acquainted with persons on the campus were two points heavily stressed. A number of freshmen mixers have already been arranged.

The first of these parties, "The Ice Breaker," is to take place in the Recreation Hall Jan. 24. It will be an informal party with dancing, ping pong, bowling, group games and activity of all kinds.

Student Opinion 2 1/2 to 1 For Granting Loans To England

By JOHN BERCHMAN

In the third of a series of campus opinion polls the question "should we grant loans to Great Britain in her war with Germany" was asked.

This university sharply reflected the opinion of the majority of colleges in the country by voting overwhelmingly in favor of the proposed loans, the actual figures being 102 to 37.

To obtain a more concise opinion on this question the campus was divided into cross sections with students from the rural areas and metropolitan areas provided to the operators.

The rural students were more in favor of the proposed loans, the actual figures being 102 to 37. The metropolitan students were more in favor of the proposed loans, the actual figures being 102 to 37.

Decorations and scenery are being produced by joint cooperation of the art department under Miss Grace D. Wills and the dramatics department under Prof. Eldon T. Smith.

The program will begin with an organ prelude by Miss Jensen. The Processional, "Adeste Fidelis" will usher the robed singers down the aisles to the stage.

Following this, Professor Carmichael will read the Christmas story. The first group of numbers by the choir will include: "The Shepherd's Story" with incidental solos by Richard Jaynes, Robert Dierks and Betty Hibler; "Beside The Cradle Here I Stand" (Choral from the "Christmas Oratorio" by Bach); "Today There is Ringing," and "Sing Alleluia."

Miss Jensen will play "Pastoral Symphony" from the "Messiah." The selections "Pat-a-Pan" and "Lullaby Carol" with solo by Phyllis Logan will be sung by a group of women's voices.

The choir's second and final group will be: "Glory to God in the Highest" with the solo quartet, Helen Harrison, Phyllis Portmann, Robert Martin, and Robert Dierks; "Lullaby on Christmas Eve" solo by Josephine Frances; and "Hallelujah" from the "Messiah."

Closing the program will be the Resurrectional, "O Little Town of Bethlehem."

The brass quartet includes Norman Huffman and Rosaline Kelley, cornets; Jack Spencer and Eleon Ringer, trombones, with Miss Lois Collins of the music faculty as accompanist.

Ankle Injury Puts Hicks In Hospital

Corp. Harry Hicks, former university student now at the National Guard camp at Fort Shelby, Miss. is convalescing in the hospital as a result of a badly sprained ankle which he received in football practice. He will be laid up for several weeks. He has been promoted to sergeant, and was to take his physical examination for second lieutenant when he sprained his ankle.

Other former Bowling Green students at the camp who recently received promotions are: Corp. Harvey Zeigler to sergeant, Pvt. James Huffman to Corp., and Dale Matheny to second cook.

Three College Orchestra Will Play Here On Feb. 9

Prof. Earl E. Smith, director of the University concert orchestra, announced today that there will be a concert of the combined orchestras of Bluffton, Manchester, and Bowling Green here Sunday, Feb. 9, 1941, at 3 o'clock.

At 7:30 p. m. that same day the three orchestras will give a concert in the Bluffton College Gym; and on Feb. 23 the three schools will give their program at Manchester College.

The directors of the respective orchestras are: Bluffton, Sidney Haunstein; Manchester, Samuel L. Flechinger; and Bowling Green, Earl E. Smith.

Merry Christmas

The Bee Gee News staff had a fine Christmas present all wrapped up for the entire student body and university—that was a week ago. Since that time, unforeseen circumstances reared their ugly heads, as they usually do, and so we must postpone our little gift.

But we will let you in on a little secret. We had planned to present to you a seven column paper, in order that we might kill two birds with one stone—accommodate our advertisers and at the same time print all the news that we can get hold of without having to cut anything. Unfortunately, however, as you no doubt have noticed, we failed to receive the two national cigarette advertisements which net a fifth of the printing cost, and so we were financially unable to give you a bigger paper as a Christmas gift.

The student activity fee does not completely cover the cost of printing the News, even the six column paper. We must depend on our advertisers to make up the deficiency. Therefore, a loss in advertising means that expenses must be kept to a minimum, and so we were forced, much against our wishes, to delay the publication of a seven column paper.

However, we wish to thank the student body for bearing with us during the last few months of more-than-average advertising, and we hope that there will soon be no more cause for complaint.

If national advertisers continue to use the columns of the Bee Gee News, our next issue, that of January 8, will be a seven column paper. In the meantime, about all we can give you as a Christmas gift is a cheery Merry Christmas and a hearty New Year.

Truce In Labor . . .

America's college newspapers saw little hope late last spring for union of the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations. But swift-moving events have changed the view. The consensus of undergraduate writers now is not only that prospects are good for ending factionalism, but that a truce in the near future is imperative.

Commenting on the resignation of CIO president John L. Lewis, the Cornell Daily Sun says that "the next move necessary to the unreserved cooperation of the nation in the preparedness program is the unqualified unification of the forces of labor. With the workers of the nation split into two camps, it is impossible that the program can go forward with the best operation."

In the opinion of the Michigan Daily, President Roosevelt's victory and John L. Lewis' defeat gave rise to one of the brightest hopes for labor unity in the last years. The mass of both organizations have common interests and are desirous of uniting them. That the CIO and AFL are not joined in an effective union today is an indictment of the democratic processes within the organizations that allow the leaders to block the will of the members.

The Dartmouth refers to labor in general in a discussion of production bottlenecks involving labor disputes, and contends that these bottlenecks are two-sided. "The talk" says the Dartmouth, "is all about eliminating the right to strike. There is not enough talk about eliminating the abuses that cause strikes. If America is sincere in seeking to stop strikes in order to defend democracy, she would do well to look just as sharply to the practices of the manufacturer as to those of the laborer."—ACF

Library Notes

By KENNETH CAMERON

There are several good biographies out to choose from as gifts for Christmas. If you are trying to choose for a person particularly interested in English literature why not give him or her a copy of Margaret Armstrong's "Trelawney" a fine study of the life of this friend of Byron and Shelley, and written in a very readable style. There is a two volume edition of a life of John D. Rockefeller written by Allan Nevins that would make a grand present for a busy executive, and one of the best biographies of the fall was John Buchan's "Pilgrim's Way." He was, as you know, the English governor of Canada until his very untimely death this year. A literary event of the very first magnitude is the publication of Newman White's "Shelley" but this would interest only a person who was vitally interested in this author. One of the year's most stimulating biographies is Hans Zinsser's autobiography called "As I Remember Him."

There have been some good books of humor this fall. Ogden Nash has a book of selected verse called "The Face is Familiar" which should appeal to any Nash fan. (I wish someone would give me one). Isabel Scott Rorick (isn't she from Toledo?) has a very funny book called "Mr. and Mrs. Cugat" that is winning applause everywhere. Phyllis McGinley and Margaret Fishback, those very clever versifiers who delight readers of the New Yorker, have new books of humorous verse out this fall. James Thurber, likewise of the New Yorker staff, has a book called "Fables for Our Time" which should prove very clever and this one is illustrated by his celebrated drawings. There is also an omnibus of humor, a large volume of over 600 pages containing the cream from Lardner, Sullivan, Thurber, Morley, Clemens and others. "The Saturday Review of Literature" for December seventh also has some very good selections, if nothing I've suggested seems to strike your fancy. And of course we hope you all have a very Merry Christmas.

Fraternity rivalry and prejudice melt into bonds of friendship as evidenced by the veritable "League of Fraternities" which exists on Lake Avenue, Cleveland. Two Commoners, a Five Brother, and a Delhi, all employed in the city, room together in adjacent apartments: AL CRYER, '39; D. NED HEMINGER, '39; REED SHELLEY, '38; and BILL FRANK, '40.

Fragments Of Thought

By ALBERT L. BOUCHER

And the teacher says to Johnny, she says, "Tell me Johnny, what is Christmas?" Quicker than a Student Council reversal came his answer. "Christmas is an annual holiday instituted by the Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of a quick turnover of generally useless articles!"

I don't know. True, there tends to be an undesirable element of commercialism connected with Christmas, but somehow . . . well, to me there seems to be something more. I think of Christmas as a season of stocktaking—looking backward, looking forward. Debits and credits for the past, budgets and hopes for the future. I guess I'm just an old sentimentalist at heart.

But anyway. Regardless of whether you consider Christmas to be a season of giving or getting, or just plain stocktaking, regardless of whether you're an altruist or an egoist, I want to make an observation.

Quite apart from playing the good Samaritan, it is to your advantage to see to it that the outstanding students from all over the country come to Bowling Green, and by their presence here build a University which will make your degree mean something. In other words, when you go home for the holidays, why don't you spend a few minutes with the high school leaders in your community. Tell them of Bowling Green.

Someday you're going to graduate from this institution and go out into the world to compete for a living against millions of other students, college trained like yourself. Now if you can go to a prospective employer, mention the name, Bowling Green State University, and have it mean something, then your chance of a job is so much the better. Let's get one thing straight. Your diploma doesn't necessarily mean that you've been educated, or even trained. Rather it is like a union card that gives you entrance into certain offices that were closed to you before. Once you are inside, it's up to you.

While this job of getting inside is not always easy, it is made easier if your degree has prestige-value and this prestige-value is a result of the standing of the school, which in turn is a reflection of the quality of the students in attendance.

Now the average senior in high school is pretty much in a fog when it comes to picking out a college. His parents are little better able to make an informed decision. But you students can, with just a little effort, make a real contribution. You see, the typical high school student is led to believe that there is a big jump between high school and college. You know that this is not true. College is just a continuation of the process in living which started way back in the cradle. Yet at the same time it is easy to make mistakes in planning which prove to be very costly.

One of the most common mistakes is to associate low college tuition rates with cheap education. It's the bunk. When you speak of Bowling Green, point out that it is inexpensive, of course, but that it is cheap—never! I wish I could tip off a few of the students in the Eastern colleges who have to pay ten times as much for tuition as does the student here at Bowling Green. This campus would be to them like a little bit of heaven, even as it is to me.

So if you're in a "getting" mood, go out and get some good students to come here to Bowling Green next September, so that by their presence here on the campus, the prestige-value of your degree will be enhanced. If you're in a "giving" mood, give these same students a little counsel—a good education, a minimum of expense, and a hell of a lot of fun at Bowling Green State University.

On The Social Side

By ROBERT HABENSTEIN

Dear Santa,

I have not written you since 1932 when I asked you to help save our home from the bank. You must have been too busy saving other homes to have time to save ours because the bank took over. But I'm not mad at banks. Aynhow, the one that took our home failed a few months later.

I'm writing to you again Santa to talk to you about something more serious than that other matter back in '32. Not that saving our home wasn't important then, but this matter now is so damn serious, and I don't know how to start—that's why I'm telling you about the other time I wrote.

It's this business of war I wanted to ask you about. Some people are trying to say that you and this war stuff are all connected and you're just an angle man disguised with a beard. These people are spreading rumors that war is Santa Claus—at least it is Santa Claus for them.

Back when I wrote about our house going to the bank these people were saying "there ain't no Santa Claus," and in the same breath, they would say, "Business is rotten."

Now I'm just kind of a dumb average person who has always believed that you were sort of a symbol for something more than business, jobs and material things. It seemed to me you represented good fellowships, good cheer and faith in one's fellow man. I didn't think you were so much a part of business as some people said. It didn't strike me that you were a good Santa only when business was good.

But I'm beginning to lose my confidence, and when all these things that I thought you stood for are being thrown overboard in this country, America, it seemed time that I write to you again for help.

It's not for a couple hundred bucks to save a house that I'm writing this time. No, all I want to find out is whether or not these people I've been talking about have the right slant on you, or are they talking through their hats? It won't cost a thing for you to tell me and I'm getting more and more worried every day.

Tell me, Santa, that it doesn't take a war to make you fat and jolly with presents for everybody (except the stinking unburied dead in mud filled trenches or those individuals blown to bloody bits by high explosive bombs). Just tell me that, Santa. That's all I'm asking you to tell me so I can write it in my column and tell it to others who are wondering just like me. Thanks Santa.

The Spigot

By JESSE MITTLEMANN

Dear Santa,

It ain't often that we write to you, pal, only about once a year, and we're really sorry that we've allowed our correspondence to lag so, but how silly it would be to tell you in the middle of July what we want for Xmas . . . To get down to this year's business, though, there isn't very much that we want . . . just be sure that those checks from home don't fail us and we'll be satisfied . . . of course, you might stop in and talk to Doc Cooke (he lives on Summit street, B. G.) about a little thing called Foreign Trade and Finance, but otherwise everything is OK with us . . . We would like to make some requests for a few friends of ours though . . . the most urgent we think is to supply those frosh under Prof. Nordmann with handbooks, entitled, "How To Write A Good History Paper In One Very Easy Lesson" . . . believe me, Santa, they will appreciate it and so will he . . . Confidentially, Mr. Clause, how do you feel about the knee-sock situation? . . . all the arguments we've heard in favor of them boil down to, "They're warm," and all the arguments we've heard against them boil down to, "They look like the devil!" . . . so why couldn't we compromise by bringing the coeds either, (a) ski pants, or (b) some sort of woolen stocking that would be warm and still look good? . . . think about this, huh?

And Santa, those pictures on the first floor of the library building are swell, but, unless one is familiar with art, they are just so many paintings . . . when you come around on the 24, do you think you could attach a little identifying tag to the frame of each picture, saying what it is, where the original is, who painted it, and when it was painted? . . . you may have some trouble getting into the library, as there is no chimney there, but maybe you could scoot down the powerhouse smokestack and then tear through the steam pipes, or something . . . we'll leave the details up to you . . . while you're at the powerhouse, see if you can do something about that whistle if you have time.

While you're around here, Mr. C., stop in at the Parrot and thank Mike for getting "Scrub Me Momma With A Boogie Beat" in the juke box . . . you might even stay a few minutes and hear it . . . it's a killer . . . Incidentally, we received a corker of a letter the other day from someone signed DD (maybe you can tell us who it is, Santa) . . . besides saying, rather subtly, that "Spigot" is gradually becoming synonymous with "Corn," it warned us against printing poetry and parodies unless we belonged to the Poets and Plagiarists Union Local No. 476 . . . so please drop a union card in our sock, because we'd hate to be picketed . . . there was a poem with the letter too: "Corn on the cob is good to eat when one is in need of a feed; Corn on the cob is not so good when it's in your column to read." . . . Hmmm!

This thing is getting kinda long, Santa, so I guess I'd better stop . . . Hitch up the team, chum, snap your whip, and beat it solid, cause you got a long ride and it will be a cold night . . . and remember, it's a great life if you don't weaken, but it's more fun if you do . . . Oh, we almost forgot . . . just one last request . . . seriously, Mr. Clause, do you sleep with your beard over the covers or under the covers?

Activity in the Women's Building for the last few days has taken on a momentary lull in view of the prospective trip home for the holidays.

Among the important happenings, however, was the inter-collegiate party given by the Swan Club last Saturday in the natatorium. The two colleges represented, Ohio Wesleyan and Lake Erie, brought approximately twenty-five coeds to participate in the program.

Don't forget this is the last week that you can get a reduced rate of $2.25 on the dancing lessons given by Mr. W. A. Grubbs, professional teacher from Toledo, Ohio.

After Christmas the price for 12 lessons will be $2.50. Anyone interested may register in the lobby of the women's gymnasium.

B.G. Mermen Fall To Kenyon, 51-23

Kenyon College's Lords added the Bowling Green natators to their ever growing list of consecutive victories, Friday when they took the Falcons into camp, 51-23.

The meet was under the control of the conference champs the whole way as they broke two conference records in winning seven firsts. A Kenyon sophomore, swimming in his first collegiate meet, knocked five seconds off the conference record in the 220 yard free style event.

Norm Robertson and Bob Osthimer were the only Falcons to win firsts in the meet.

The Imel coached team, which is classed as being better than the one that won the conference title, left for three week training period at Fort Lauderdale, Florida, following the meet.

I-M Leagues Enter Third Week Of Play

The university's intramural basketball league swept into their third week with both the American and National leagues taking the spotlight. In the National league the Bolles Temple quintet ran up the high score in their league by swamping the Troupe St. Tigers 40 to 12.

In the American league the Five Brothers continued their sensational league play by swamping the "Fighting Irish" 44 to 9. The Delhi House defeated the Mary's Co-op to the tune of 22 to 17, Shindlers Shiners defeated the Gas House Gang 21 to 13, and the Terriers edged the Even Stevens 24 to 23.

No reports were handed in on fraternity or Kohl Hall leagues, but reports have it that these two leagues

Cagers Trip Oilers; Fall To Ashland

Landismen Break Even In First Two Conference Encounters

An improving Bowling Green quintet split their first two Ohio Conference encounters last week as they lost a 30-24 battle to a veteran Ashland five and defeated a rangy Findlay outfit 45-42 in overtime. This brings the Falcon record to two wins and two losses.

The Ashland game was a slow, low scoring affair in which neither team found their eye for the basket. Sprague broke the ice for Ashland with a foul shot shortly after the opening tip off. Harkness put the Falcons in the game with a basket from the side court. At half time the Landismen were leading the Eagles 12-11 but late in the final half Ashland went ahead 24-22 to put the game on ice.

Johnson Missed
The Falcons played without the services of their captain, Dewey Johnson, who was called home because of the serious illness of his father.

Acting Captain Don Mason did a most creditable job in holding Jim Richcreek, Ashland's high scorer, to two baskets and four fouls. Bob Sprague, Ashland forward, hit the cords for three baskets and four foul shots to lead the game scoring with ten counters. Mike Marko made his first appearance in a Falcon suit this year and contributed a basket before he was lost on fouls shortly after the start of the second half. Mason and Don Patterson led the Falcons with six points apiece.

Findlay Game Nip And Tuck
The Findlay game was a nip and tuck battle from the very start, with 5 points the biggest margin at any time. The game was fast and rough with thirty-two trips being made to the foul line.

The Oilers took a quick five point lead but soon the Landismen tied it up 8-8. As the end of the half neared the Falcons netted a basket and three fouls to lead 20-15 at intermission.

With Bowling Green leading 37-33 and two minutes of the game left to be played, the Oilers tied it up and then Ken Zuercher made two fouls to put the Findlay lads in the lead. Larry Conrad's one-handed push shot from the foul circle fell through the net to put the game into overtime.

During the overtime Van Allen counted a foul shot but Phil Ricketts put the Orange and Brown in the lead with a basket. Fink's pivot shot again sent the Oilers ahead, but Mike Kish and Ricketts made the game sure for Bowling Green by connecting for baskets.

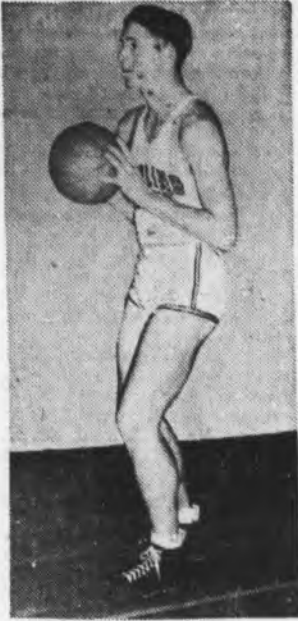

Ken Zuercher, Findlay captain, led the scoring with 14 points. Don Patterson looked good for the Falcons as he racked up 10 points. Don Mason played a heady ball game at guard and contributed 8 points have some outstanding teams and competition is very keen. An added feature to the varsity basketball games will be the inter-class competition with the four class teams participating. League play in this loop will start immediately after vacation and if past results can be any criterion these games will provide plenty of fast basketball.

If any student is interested in becoming a student manager he should contact the intramural department as soon as possible.

Falcon Splashmen Douse Kent State Swimmers Easily

Flashes First Conference Victims Of Coxmen; Score: 48-27

Bowling Green State University's splashmen won their first major victory in intercollegiate competition last Saturday when they trounced the Kent State Golden Flashes 48-27 in the Kent tank.

The Coxmen lead by Don Greatham, Bob Osthimer, Norm Robertson and Captain Jack Doane lead from the opening event and were never really pressed by the Kent Mermen. Besides winning the two relay events the Falcon natators copped five other firsts. Johnson in the diving and Captain Stewart in the 440 yard swim were the only Flashes to finish first.

Kent was handicapped by the absence of Wojno, their spring star who will not be eligible until the second semester.

Don Greatham established himself as a possible winner in the conference when he defeated Stewart in the 320 yd. free style. Stewart placed second in this event last year in the conference meet.

The Kent win was the Coxmen's third in four starts this year.

Boxers Seek Final Round Of Tourney

Semi-Final Bouts Feature Spirited Slugfests, Clever Boxing

Eight boxers earned the right to compete in the finals of the Varsity Club's Annual Boxing show last Wednesday night when they emerged victors in the semi-final rounds fought before 400 fight enthusiasts. The final bouts took place last night in the Men's Gym.

In the opening bout Carroll Root and Bob Elder, both weighing in at 23, fought a slow three rounder which Root won by a fair decision over his tired opponent. In the 135 class Ed Christian and Bill Sheers hooked up in an evenly matched bout. Christian showed a nice right uppercut which caught the fast moving Sheers several times for stunning blows. The judges gave Christian the bout after three rounds packed with action.

Parker takes Barnes
Jay Parker had little trouble taking Kolland Barnes in the 155 class. Barnes put forth all he had in the first round but was too tired to offer much resistance in the last two. Dimitri Kunch and Darrell Halter fought in the feature of the evening as both boys were on an equal basis. Both lads threw a lot of leather but Halter got the nod from the judges. This decision brought a few loud protests from the audience.

John Elton took a decision from Ed Huffman in the 165 class bout with the third round furnishing all the action. In the other 165 lb. class George Baldwin and Billy Kershner squared off for three rounds. Baldwin forced the fight most of the way but the shifty Kershner blocked many of the blows. Baldwin took the decision with the crowd again protesting.

In the 175 lb. class two slugfests found plenty of hard leather throwing. Chuck Polce outslugged Jim Kollman to gain a decision. Polce showed nice footwork as the two pugilists stood toe to toe in the third round and hit with all they had.

Bob Keough took the final bout from Danny Lust by decision in which he had the loser bleeding from the nose and the mouth. Both boys hit hard and took stunning blows.

Falcons Meet Akron And Kent State On Week-end Road Trip

Landismen Encounter Eastern Ohio Foes In "Bargain Bills" On Successive Nights At Kent, Akron

Fresh from splitting last week's booking with Findlay and Ashland colleges, Bowling Green's unpredictable cagers will invade the University of Akron and Kent State University over the holidays.

The Zippers will present a veteran aggregation with two of the best sophomores in recent years, Bob Larson, senior forward and captain, will be back for his final year of competition. His running mate will be Johnny Lutsch, all-state basketball player from

High Scorers

MAX CONNER

HAL ROSENTHAL

Reading from top to bottom are: Max Conner, veteran guard and high scorer for Kent State's Golden Flashes; and tiny Hal Rosenthal who, although he scales only 126 and towers 5'4" into the air, is varsity guard for the Akron Zippers.

Canton McKinley. Tiny Hall Rosenthal and towering Harry Schwarz, both sophomores, will start at guard and center respectively. Huge Mike Fernella will fill out the starting quintet.

Beichly Has Fine Record
Coach Beichly, in his first year at the helm of Zipper basketball hopes, has one of the finest records in the state. In 14 years, his basketball teams from Akron West have won nine city championships. In 1932, they were state champs, and four other times have been selected for the state basketball tournament.

Coach Rosy Starn of the Kent State Flashes mournfully states that he has the poorest team in years. This means simply that the Flashes are tops again, because mopping up the Findlay Oilers 59-38 isn't bad even in the morose language of Starn.

B. G. Won Last Year 28-26
Bill Boiantz and Joe Price, rangy six-footers, will start at their regular forward slots. Danny Gulgin and Max Conner, both seniors, are beginning their last seasons at the two guard posts, and skyscraper Hal Andrews, up from last year's scrubs, is playing his first year as varsity center. Big, fast reserves are three deep in all positions.

Last season, in a sensational last-quarter scoring spree, the Brood managed to nudge the Blue and Gold by a 28-26 score. This year, the Falcons stand a good chance to repeat, with big Mike Marko back in the lineup and the rest of the squad gaining experience with every game.

Double-Headers Scheduled
An interesting feature of these week-end games will be the introduction of reciprocal double-headers. On Dec. 20, at Kent State's Willa Gymnasium, Bowling Green will tangle with Akron and Kent State will meet Baldwin-Wallace. The following evening, at the University of Akron, the Brood challenges Kent State, and the Zippers, in turn will take on the powerful Yellowjackets.

Baker Succeeds Baker As Table Tennis Hero

Marie Baker was elected president of the University table tennis club last week. Bette Baker, retiring president, was named vice president.

Other officers elected are Dana Kerts, acting secretary-treasurer; Rita Snyder, girl's manager; and Fred Thompson, boy's manager. The managers have the job of scheduling matches with other schools.

New members recently gaining membership include Bill Sams, Fernando Allegria, Fred Thompson, Ivan Harrison, Paul Moore, Don Henricks, Rita Snyder, Margaret Wood, Katherine McDonald, Marge Ripley, Mildred Clark, Mary Penton.

NICE TO BE BACK . . .

After a compulsory layoff because of the lack of space for some weeks it is truly nice to be back throwing bouquets and other bits of fruits (ripe and otherwise) on page three, and with the "wall of a job" Hankey's ad salesmen are doing and with the advent of the new page size with the first paper after vacation it looks like I'll have a weekly job once again.

TO MAKE UP FOR LOST TIME . . .

Several successful deeds and worthy projects were terminated during the forced absence of this column that are in line for written congrats.

Congrats to those Falcon footballers who were honored by being selected on various news service all-star teams. The work of Captain Steve Brudzinski, Chuck Catanese, Bob Barnett, Emil Inhat and Captain-elect Eddie Wellner was worthy of the honor extended to them and to the school they represented. . . . To the Varsity Club as promoters of the boxing show. The changing of the date of the annual boxing tourney will definitely forward the chances of the ring sport landing a place for itself on the program of varsity sports. . . . To Joe Glander, the varsity trainer, who has been working so hard with the fighters and the wrestlers and who is organizing the wrestlers for the first inter-collegiate event in the history of the school. . . . To the student body and the persons in charge of the programs at the basketball games, this combination is really building a strong school spirit on a solid foundation. . . . To the intramural department for the smooth running program that they are sponsoring so that the male campusites may learn recreational play along with their scholastic endeavors. . . . And to the Hill and Dalers for winding up a highly successful season despite numerous adverse circumstances. . . .

THE NEW BOSSMAN . . .
The resignation last week of Coach Harry Ockerman as varsity football mentor and his subsequent appointment as Director of Physical Education is a definite recognition, by the administration, of his keen ability to organize athletic programs. In the capacity of his new job Coach Ockerman will have charge of coordinating the functions of the physical education department as well as the arrangement of all varsity inter-collegiate athletic events.

Since the beginning of his association with the University in 1935, football here has undergone a slow but steady transition to its present high rating in the smaller colleges of Ohio. Coach Ockerman came here from Michigan Normal College, his alma mater, where he had served as assistant coach from the time of his graduation.

During the seasons that he was at the helm of the Brown and Orange grid efforts, the Falcons won 20, lost 19 and tied nine games. But it is to be remembered that tougher competition was being scheduled each year. His best season was in 1939 when the Falcons won six, lost one and tied one.

Coach Ockerman also served as freshman basketball and baseball coach. He plans to enter the University of Michigan at the semester to complete work on his doctorate.

And as a parting shot I extend the season's greetings with the warning, "Do be careful."

13 Frosh Basketball Survive Final Squad Cut

Thirteen freshman basketball aspirants survived Coach Fred Marsh's final cut Monday when the frosh mentor administered his third and last cut. Approximately 90 boys reported for the frosh squad at the first practice session.

Those among the selected list are as follows; Bob Ertley, Karl Turner, Earl Ott, Bill Grubb, Wayne Bordner, Kenny Roethlisberger, Roy Max, Howard Friesner, Jim Oberhauser, John Elton, Ward Pollock, Fred Rolfe, and Dick Manahan.

Although it is too early in the season to point out the cream of this crop, there are five boys who seem to be leading the pack at present. Bob Ertley is beginning to show possibilities of a future varsity basketeer. Ertley starred at Columbus North during his high school days where he gained a place on the all-Columbus city team at the end of his senior year. He also played some classy ball for a Columbus amateur team before coming to college.

Earl Ott played under Coach Gil Smith at Defiance last year. Smith has turned out some good basketball men and Ott is expected to be no exception. Karl Turner learned his basketball at Bettisville. This Class B school always shows a lot in the hardwood sport so the same is expected from Turner. Wayne Bordner, captain of three sports at Tiffin Columbian, and who stands well over the 6' mark, is the big defensive cog on the starting five. His height will be of big help under the basket. Bill Grubb, one of the two Pennsylvania boys on the team completes the first five.

Kenny Roethlisberger, who also towers around 6', comes from Lima Central where he displayed some fine ball playing. Howard Friesner played ball at Kenton where his shooting ability made him a name. Dick Manahan and Jim Oberhauser hail from Fremont where Oberhauser played with the St. Joseph's five while Manahan starred at Ross High.

Ward Pollock, who comes from Wallingford, is the other Pennsylvania basketeer on the selected list. The other three suits will be filled by Max from Holgate, Rolfe, hailing from Gibsonburg, and Elton, a Swanton product.

The purpose of the frosh squad is to give these future varsity possibilities a season's development of college ball. They act as opponents for the varsity in practice and will represent the freshman class in the intramural class league. Mike Kormaxia and Jim Zechman act as assistants to Coach Marsh.

ACTIVITIES FOR FINAL B. G. WEEK CAUSE SOCIAL CALENDAR TO WHIRL

Phratra All-Campus Holiday Tea Dance Is Thursday
In Recreation Hall From 4 To 5:30;
Dorms Hold Christmas Parties

By MARTHA WALRATH

The week at Bowling Green has been one crowded with pre-Christmas festivities. Dinners, dances, teas and parties—just a preview of the coming two weeks for many of the socially inclined students. The wind-up for the week will be the Phratra Sorority tea dance to be given tomorrow afternoon in the Recreation Hall from 4 to 5:30.

The Christmas tea dance is the first in a series of three to be given by the sorority and is open to all students and faculty members of the University.

Sorority sponsors, Mrs. Elden T. Smith, Mrs. Marguerite Carpenter and Miss Grace Durrin, and Mrs. Lena Smith, sorority housemothers, will pour tea for the guests.

Committees for the affair are: food, Carol Christman, Eleanor Cunningham and Betty Holcomb; decorations, Jane Otis, Hannah Blackburn and Mildred Cook; and orchestra, Neva Spilker.

The SEVEN SISTER sorority held its annual Christmas Tea Sunday afternoon from 3 to 5 in the house on North Summit. Christmas trees were used as decorations throughout the house. Miss Caroline Neilson, sponsor, and Mrs. Lance, house mother, poured.

The guests including members of the faculty, sororities, fraternities, and alumni were received throughout the afternoon by Eloise Dyer, president of the sorority, Miss Neilson, and Mrs. Dantz.

The following alumnae were present: Jo Herman, Elvira Sheffer, Leona Crockett, Mary Silva, Lucille Stevens, Margaret Zaugg, Virginia Cross, Dorothy Mooney, and Esther Hayhurst. Laura Ebersole was the general chairman for the tea.

Last night the sorority held their formal initiation at the house for the following pledges: Esther Bishop, Ruth Colson, Phyllis Scofield, and Mary Percy. The pledges presented the sorority with a hassock. After the initiation the girls held their Christmas Party. They concluded the evening with caroling.

The annual Christmas party of the INTERMEDIATE CLUB was held Wednesday, Dec. 11 in the Recreation Hall.

Forty-two members and guests enjoyed the Christmas program: Singing of carols, led by Elmeda Flederjohann; A Bible Story by Myrtle Brickman, A Christmas Poem by Marian Mericle, Our Borrowed Christmas Customs by Florabelle Anderson, The Gift of the Magi by Grace Gessner, Christmas Reading by Margaret Welsh.

Refreshments were served with Miss Doane, of the Campus Laboratory School, pouring the tea.

WILLIAMS HALL will hold its annual Christmas party this evening in the dining room. Guests will descend into the candle lighted room amid carolers singing Christmas carols. A gift will be given to each girl and a short program presented.

Guests invited include Dr. and Mrs. Frank J. Prout, Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Williams, Dean and Mrs. A. B. Conklin, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Kreischer, Miss A. Wrey Warner, Dean and Mrs. J. R. Overman, Dean and Mrs. Ralph Harshman, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Reeb, Dr. and Mrs. C. G. Swanson, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schalk, Professor and Mrs. Paul J. Leedy, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Crowley, Mr. and Mrs. Upton Palmer, Mrs. Ruth McWilliams, Mr. Herbert Zuhr, Miss Neva West, Miss Marian Wirtz, Miss Craw, Miss Helen Easley, Mr. Joseph Freeman, Mr. Paul Bishop, Mr. James Reed, and Miss Margaret Bender.

BETA GAMMA UPSILON inducted its pledges into the fraternity at a simple and effective service last Sunday afternoon. After the service a steak dinner was held with the new brothers and the officers giving brief speeches.

Tonight the fraternity is holding a Christmas party beginning at nine o'clock. Gifts will be exchanged and later the group will go caroling.

The first Christmas season at the new Five Sister Cottage was observed last Saturday evening when the girls held a holiday dance.

The rooms were decorated with spruce branches and red and white candles gave soft illumination. Hung with care over the mantle in the lounge were two red stockings in anticipation of Christmas. A Christmas tree added the final and essential note to the decorations.

Over 100 guests enjoyed themselves in the dining room and lounge and refreshments were served throughout the evening. Members of the receiving line were Miss Margaret Comstock, Jim Holden, Helen Fashaugh, Al Sautter, Mr. and Mrs. Martin of Toledo; Dr. and Mrs. Frank J. Prout, Mr. H. F. Zuhr, Miss Frances Gaines, Dean and Mrs. A. B. Conklin and Mrs. James Reed. Norma Mahoney was chairman of the committee for the dance assisted by Louise Leidich, Betty Zaenglein, Margaret Wood and Bonnie Andrews.

Christmas carols were sung in Latin at a Christmas dinner at the Woman's Club, Thursday evening, held by Sigma Pi Rho, national honorary Latin fraternity.

The dining room in candle light, the tables were decorated with evergreen, bayberry, and reindeers.

Those present included sponsors Miss Caroline Nielsen, and Miss Grace Tressel; honorary members, Miss Hayhurst and Miss Robson; and Mary Crass, Agnes Drummer, James Baltz, Dorothy Harris, Ovid Huyek, Catherine Wilcox, Alma Roach, Mary Bair, Grace Donnel, Marguerite Barker, and Jean Smith.

Shatzelites Hold Christmas Dinner

SHATZEL HALL held its annual formal dinner Monday evening in celebration of the Christmas season. The dormitory was decorated in blue and silver accented with red. In the dining room Yule logs and silver bells formed attractive center-pieces. As guests arrived the chorus could be heard singing carols. The receiving line was headed by Mrs. Ruth McWilliams, house mother, with members of the house board. Those on the house board are Margaret Bender, Jane Myers, Harriet Wood, Ruth Allison, Marilyn Hitchcock, June Rummel, Ruth Kohls, and Kathryn Ellsworth.

Guests at the dinner were: Dr. and Mrs. Frank Prout, Dr. H. B. Williams, Miss A. Wrey Warner, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Conklin, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Kreischer, Mr. J. C. Reed, Mr. H. F. Zuhr, Mrs. Josephine James, Miss Minnie Thompson, Mrs. Mayme Herriff, Joe Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Crowley, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon T. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Lowrie, Miss Caroline Neilson, Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Zaugg, Mr. and Mrs. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. M. Budd Cox, Miss Jean Drake, Mr. Hendrikson, Mr. and Mrs. Hayes, Miss Marybelle Cranston, and Miss Dorothy Mooney.

The program for the dinner include the Processional by the Shatzel Hall Chorus followed by a prayer by Mrs. McWilliams. Mary Marshall sang "The Lord's Prayer." Mrs. McWilliams, and Margaret Bender, house-chairman, spoke. A piano solo, "The Hungarian Rhapsody No. 6" was played by Geraldine Bircher, and Julia Ingold sang two numbers, "Nana" and "Corazon porque pasais?" Miriam Willets followed with a marimba solo, "Nola." Ann Rohrbach concluded the program singing "Ave Maria."

Following the dinner a formal dance was held with Kohl Hall in the Recreation Hall.

"Tabby" a Persian cat found straying around the FIVE BROTHER fraternity house, has been taken in and will become a permanent fixture at the house under the guidance of housemother, Mrs. Bob Eckart.

Brother Abe Powell, son of Prof. and Mrs. E. C. Powell, will take marriage vows with Helen Smeltz, former Bowling Green beauty, on Christmas eve in Toledo, O.

Paul Ullom emerged victorious over Ralph Oylor to win the singles of the fraternity ping pong tournament.

Brother Harold Bishop, last year's basketball captain, has recently accepted a sales job with the Cadillac Glass Co. of Detroit, Michigan.

The senior nominating committee of the Five Brother Fraternity will select the nominees for the second semester election at the next meeting.

Christmas cards are being sent by the fraternity to all the parents of active brothers.

The LAS AMIGAS Sorority celebrated the Christmas season with a party Tuesday evening at the sorority house. Gifts were exchanged. After the party the group went caroling. Those on the committee for the party were Catherine Smith, chairman; Virginia Kurtz, and Jean Mersereau.

The INDUSTRIAL ARTS CLUB will hold its second meeting Wednesday, Dec. 18, at 7 p. m. in the science lecture room of the science building.

Prof. W. E. Singer will give a demonstration of the photographic process. He will take a picture of the group, develop the negative, print the picture and then enlarge it before the group.

Miss Grace Durrin, sponsor of the PHRATRA Sorority, entertained sorority members last evening at her home on Urshel Drive with an informal Christmas party. Last Friday evening the girls entertained guests with a party at the sorority house on Pike Street.

Five Attend Industrial Arts Meeting At Lima

Dr. E. C. Powell, Prof. D. J. Crowley, LaMar Knecht, Harold Edgar, and Philip Mires attended a meeting of the Midwestern Ohio Industrial Arts association in Lima last Wednesday evening.

Dinner was served at the Plaza restaurant, then the group went to Central high school, where Mr. E. A. Hauenstein demonstrated the silk screen method for poster work and a demonstration of etchings was given by the chief photographer of the Lima News.

Louis Miller, a graduate of Bowling Green, is president of the association and presided at the meeting.

The next meeting will be held Jan. 8.

Members of the FIVE SISTER Sorority and other residents of the cottage will hold a Christmas dinner tomorrow evening. A program and gift exchange will follow. Helen Fashaugh is in charge of arrangements for the evening. Last evening the sorority held a slumber party and gift exchange at the cottage with town girls who are members of the sorority as guests for the evening.

The KINDERGARDEN PRIMARY club held their annual Christmas party last week in the lounge of the Women's Building.

Refreshments were served to 60 guests among sparkler lights set in a pine cone base. Committees were: program, Gladys Mylander; decorations, Norma Traub; and refreshments, Esther Porter.

This Adv. and 60c will Clean and Press a Suit, Topcoat, Dress or Ladies' Coat. Coupon must be presented when order is taken. HOME LAUNDRY & DEPENDABLE CLEANERS, 166 W. Wooster St.
