Camp Perry Is Possible Site Of Expansion

Plans to use Camp Perry by a state university to take care of increasingly heavy veteran enrollment are being considered by Gov. Frank J. Lausche, with Bowling Green State University in mind as a possible university to use its facilities.

Located near Port Clinton on Lake Erie, Camp Perry is being turned back to the state by the federal government after being used during the war as an induction center and to house German and Italian prisoners of war.

With its $4,000,000 investment the camp provides a mess hall, theater, and sewage and water facilities in addition to its barracks. Dr. Prout stated that the camp would make an ideal set-up for establishing a branch of a university with its ability to accommodate 1500 students.

"If the government asks Bowling Green to assume direction of the state college we would be very glad to assume the responsibility," said President Frank J. Prout Tuesday.

15 Seniors Finish Work This Term

Seniors who will finish their college work this term and will receive diplomas at the June commencement include 15 students now in school and four others who completed their requirements at other institutions.

Graduates in the College of Education include: Dorothy Booser, David Cross, Lois Ann Gault, Barbara Gustavson, Dorothy Heigley, Barbara Hachtel Phillips, Martha Roberts, Beulah Ufferman Rochte, and Neva Spilker.

Clarence W. Beireis, Barbara Burridge, Evelyn Christian, Pauline Deiter, Miriam Miller, and Theodore Riddle are graduating in Liberal Arts.

Those students who will receive Bowling Green diplomas although they completed their work at other schools include three men who received credit for study in army or navy schools. They are Elmer C. Brown, former sports editor of the Bee Gee News, who did work at an army school in Paris; John Violand, twin brother of senior Jim Violand, who finished as a V-12 student at Harvard; and John H. Wilsen, Jr., who did V-12 work at Oklahoma A. and M. Both Violand and Wilsen were members of the V-12 unit at Bowling Green.

Margery Hopkins completed her work with block practice teaching in the fall.

Two Appointed To Math Department; Barrell To Return

Two instructors in mathematics were appointed last week to begin teaching the second semester according to Dr. F. J. Prout. Dr. Charles A. Barrell, assistant professor of political science on leave of absence since 1942, is returning to that department.

Miss Elizabeth Drennan and Robert E. Pingry will teach mathematics. Miss Drennan received her A. B. and M. A. degrees from Ohio Wesleyan University and comes here from the staff at Ohio Wesleyan.

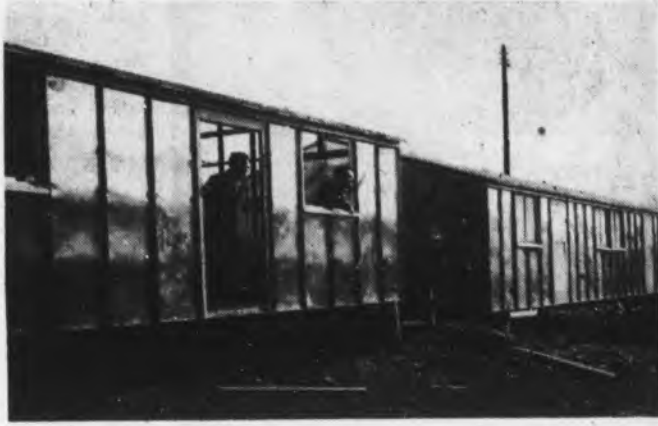

Robert E. Pingry received his A. B. and M. A. degrees from Ball State Teachers' College and has done work towards his doctorate at Cornell University. He has taught in high schools in Indiana and, as a lieutenant in the U. S. N. R., taught mathematics and navigation at the Naval Reserve Midshipman's School, Cornell.

Dr. Barrell, one of the first of the faculty to enter military service, came to Bowling Green in 1940, and left for service in the spring of 1942. He received his A. B. degree from Hampden-Sydney College, his M. A. from the University of Virginia, and his Ph. D. from Ohio State University.

Vets May Buy Books Now, Others To Buy Monday

Book sales for the second semester will start in the bookstore today for the veterans, and Monday, Feb. 25, for civilian students.

Home Sweet Huts

Pete Sherry, left, and Rocky Utterback look out of one of the steel huts that are being completed behind the softball field. These huts, which will accommodate 270 men students, will be ready for occupation about two weeks after the beginning of the second semester.

Yoakam Calls New Magazine 'Eyas'--Falcon

"Eyas" is the name of the new Literary Magazine organized this month. The prize winning title was submitted by William Yoakam along with the following explanation.

"An eyas is a young falcon, taken from its nest to be trained for falconry, as contrasted to a haggard, a mature, untrained bird, or a ferocious one which has been captured and poorly trained in its adulthood. There exists a definite parallel between an eyas, taken from its nest before it has learned to fly in the crude, untrained ways of nature and taught the niceties of a fine and cultured old sport, and the fledgling writer, who is trying his wings for the first time in the medium of the printed word.

"The parallel can be drawn further if one compares the young, curious bird who flies uninhibitedly at will, still intrigued by the new things he sees about him every day, with the old falcon who has to wear blinds or hoods over his eyes to prevent him from being unruly or hurting the falconer, not unlike human adults blinded by traditions of society, insensitive to the beautiful things of life which they have come to take for granted, and incapable of seeing those things which they do not want to see."

A contest for the "Eyas" cover design will be conducted from Feb. 20 to March 6. Black and white sketches should be submitted at the English office on the first floor of the Library.

Dr. Zaugg Speaks Twice In Huron About Teaching

Dr. Walter A. Zaugg spoke twice in Huron, Ohio, last week. Sunday night, Feb. 3, he addressed a meeting of Delta Kappa Gamma, Huron County's educational sorority with a talk entitled "The Lure of Teaching."

Thursday night, Feb. 14, he attended a banquet honoring a Huron school instructor who had completed 50 years of teaching. Dr. Zaugg pictured her experiences in his "Biography of the Teacher."

Fire Sweeps Vets Trailer

Fire swept the newly-leased trailer home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Max, recently enrolled students, at 3:15 Saturday afternoon. The blaze completely destroyed the furnishings of the trailer. According to R. M. Ronk, University maintenance engineer, the fire may have been caused by a lighted cigarette left on the studio couch, the electric stove, or the heater.

The fire did not spread to the nearby trailer of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ashba because of the insulation provided by the steel wall.

Quill Type Meets Tonight

Demonstration groups will be featured at the Quill Type meeting tonight. Six groups of two, three, or four members each will demonstrate both poor and good sales techniques, and ways of presenting business education material in a class-room situation. A prize will be awarded for the best demonstration. Officers for the next semester will be elected at tonight's meeting.

Book And Motor Elects Virginia Cryer President

Virginia Cryer was elected president and new members were installed at a meeting of Book and Motor in the faculty room of the Nest Sunday evening, Feb. 3.

Other newly elected officers are Magdalene Batcha, vice president; Onnalee McGillvary, secretary; and Dr. Walter A. Zaugg, treasurer.

Men Might Have Separate Trophy At Next May Sing

Giving a trophy to the men's fraternity which makes the best performance at the annual May Sing this year is being considered by the Wood County Inter-Fraternity Club. The annual May Sing has been tentatively set for May 15.

The Inter-Fraternity Club is composed of men who are members of the National Inter-Fraternity Conference in Wood County. Mr. Ivan Lake, president, said that the members felt that the men's fraternities could not compete against the sorority groups in trying to win the May Sing cup. "This trophy will put the fraternities on a more equal basis with the sororities," he said.

The May Sing cup which is awarded to the group giving the best performance each year was presented to Student Council by Gamma Phi Beta.

The Inter-Fraternity Club has decided to present a new trophy each year to the winning fraternity. They also hope to present a plaque to the University sometime later which will be engraved with the name of each year's winner.

Denison Students Lead SCF Meeting

Nine students from Denison University were in charge of the Student Christian Fellowship program last Sunday evening.

Planned on the theme of the popular song, "It Might As Well Be Spring," the program was typical of the Sunday programs presented at Denison, known as "DeniSunday."

During the program Norman Abell explained the system on which the student christian association at Denison operates. There are two distinct parts to their program which is backed by the Danforth Foundation. The Sunday morning plan is similar to the Sunday evening programs here at Bowling Green in which the entire fellowship cooperates in presenting the programs. During the week however, the program is under the direction of interest groups who direct their activities toward social programs, community drives, discussion groups and campus action committees.

The students who participated in the program were Norman Abell, Beth Richards, Al Pitcher, Mickey Pitcher, Elsie Ann Barry, Marty Dye, Mary Ann Vaughan, Ruth Evans, and Pat Carruthers.

Flu Cases Decreasing

Good news coming from Johnston hospital this week is that the flu epidemic is subsiding. There are only three women in the hospital now and the last three men were discharged this week.

Physicals will be given to the incoming freshman women Saturday, March 2, at the hospital.

Rec Hall, Training School Will House Men Temporarily

Two hundred men students will be housed in the Rec Hall and the Training School gym until the steel huts behind the stadium are ready for use. The Rec Hall will house 140 of the men, while 60 more may temporarily live in the Training School gym, Dean A. B. Conklin said.

Double-deck bunks, which will later be moved into the huts, will be placed in the Rec Hall. Last weekend maintenance crews put in chairs, bureaus, and desks. So that the men may use the basement washroom north of the Rec Hall that stair will be closed off.

The men are expected to move to the huts within two weeks after the second term opens, as the contract for the construction of the huts expires March 15. These arrangements are necessary because not enough temporary lodgings for the men were available in town until the huts are ready, said Dean Conklin.

Key Beauties Will Be Presented In March 6 Assembly

The Key Beauty candidates, 15 women and seven men, will be presented to the student body in the third annual Key assembly, Wednesday, March 6 at 11 a. m. in the Auditorium.

While the Buckeyes, led by Bob Whitman, play, each candidate will be presented.

These aspirants for the title of "Most Beautiful Woman" and "Most Handsome Man" at Bowling Green were selected by each sorority, fraternity, dormitory, the independents, and off-campus students. The pictures of the six men and six women who capture the students' vote will be sent to a nationally known beauty authority. He will select the winning three of each sex.

Each class will enter the Auditorium by a separate door to facilitate the distribution of class lists, from which the student will make his choices of the ones he feels are most representative and outstanding in his class.

Alice White, Key editor, stated, "Students will again have the opportunity to purchase padded covers for their 1946 Keys after the assembly."

Student Council Will Be Host To New Freshmen

The traditional program and theater party for in-coming new students will be sponsored by Student Council on registration day, Monday, Feb. 25.

New students will attend the program at 7:30 in the Auditorium and then go to the Cla-Zel theater and "crash" the show.

Larry Kuhl will be master of ceremonies for the short program. The Alpha Chi Trio, the Gamma Phi Beta Quartet, the Rooty Toot Quartet, a tap dancer, and the exchange students from Central America and Hawaii will entertain.

Atomic Energy Stresses Problems Presented By Growing Machine Power---Norman Thomas

by Nelson Williams, Jr.

"Atomic energy must change the practice and outlook of our economy and our politics. But after all, this new source of energy only emphasizes the problems presented by the growth of machine power." So declared Norman Thomas, five times Socialist candidate for President, in his address before the Wood County Forum Monday night.

"Atomic energy increases the need for planning. Our present emphasis upon just military control is a grave error, because even more important will be the use of atomic energy to get our work done. If it should reduce the working day to three or four hours, we can solve the problems this would cause only by planning."

"Free Enterprise" People object to planning because they believe in "free enterprise," although they don't know what they mean by it, stated Thomas. "Evidently the idea is that you should get something for free and the other fellow should show the enterprise. But nobody objects any longer to public schools, and that is planning."

"An even greater hoax that has been put over on us is that you can't plan without a dictatorship." Mr. Thomas denied this charge, and reaffirmed his faith in democracy.

Present System Unsatisfactory

"We will not be able to keep a system going that was only partially satisfactory even decades ago. Our men and women have seen what we can produce during this war, and will not put up with unemployment and poverty. The real question is, to what extent shall we plan?" "Our planning depends upon our purpose, and our purpose should be the best good for most of us. As a start, wherever there is monopoly there should be social ownership."

War or Peace?

"It is one of the bitterest possible condemnations of our present system that we have to have a good war now and then to keep it going."

But you don't get peace just because you don't have war. We must have a purpose fit for peace."

In addition to building up regional and world-wide federations of co-operative commonwealths, Mr. Thomas pointed out two major problems in the way of peace. Imperialism can only be ended if we stop condemning other nations as imperialists and give independence to every national group. Militarism, which always leads to war, can be abolished if each nation will stop arming against the others.

Mr. Thomas spoke to the largest forum audience this year, who were appreciative not only of his speaking ability but of the wry humor with which he belabored Republican conservatism.

The World
"... will little note, or long remember" so runs the Gettysburg address read by Prof. Elden Smith last Thursday as Lincoln in last Thursday's show, "Abraham Lincoln" written and directed by Larry Kuhl. Fredrick Walsh was heard as the Narrator in the show.

The Flash
... effect in "A Morality Play for the Leisured Class" was the idea of Kim Griggs, one who likes his smoke rings on a large scale. And speaking of the one-act plays, orchids to Sandra Contos for her job in Joint Owners ... to Dorothy Albright and Ginny Marion in "The Bridegroom Waits" ... to Bob Burns in "Relief" ... to Johnny Keown for his effective directing and use of lights in the same show.

And Father Smith
... tells me that the next major university production will be "The Taming of the Shrew" so whip out your quartos all you guys and gals and start brushing up on your iambic pentameter. (No, Horatio, that is not one of the characters.) The set, already in model stage is fashioned after an Elizabethan theatre, and the play is to be done in costumes of the same period.

So Long My Bowling Green Babies
It's been a lot of fun digging the dirt on things theatrical. There's magic in mikes, and a glamour in grease paint that make people with footlights in their eyes like no other people on earth. But to every play there's a final curtain, to every news story a last line. So it is your old pal Mike Static writing "30" at the bottom of a page slugged BG.
Ave et vale,
Mike Static

Letter to the editor . . .

Dear Editor:
As two students who have not only their own interest but those of the entire University student body at heart, we deem it necessary to bring to your attention the following matter. During the War Emergency we realize it was necessary to curtail the amount of ice cream sold for five cents to one dip. But time has marched on, and we feel that the War Emergency has sufficiently passed and there is no reason why University students should not again be able to obtain two dips for a nickel.
Trusting that you will bring this vital matter to the immediate attention of those who can remedy the situation we remain,

Art Criticism
Student Reviews Library Show

by Grayce Scholt
One of the finest paintings in the group is Finch's "I've Got Nothing to Wear." The nude is especially well handled with enough subtle variation to be interesting and enough glow to make an effective painting. However, the area around the figure is not as consistently good as the figure itself. And this is a necessity, for in painting one section must be treated with movement, and it most certainly has form. The entire painting seems right spatially. And although the colors are subdued they still retain directness and force so needed in working with oil.
"Driftwood" by Julian Leni is another especially effective work. The piece of tattered canvas draped over the barren frame is one of the finest sections in the whole collection. It is extremely subtle in color, but it has direction of movement, and it most certainly has form. The entire painting seems right spatially. And although the colors are subdued they still retain directness and force so needed in working with oil.
"Girl With Bananas" Rosenthal's "Girl With Bananas" has satisfactory design quality. Parts of the white dress are well handled. The bananas above the child's head work especially well. However, the continuous brown area around the figure is extremely repetitious and does not add much to the painting.
"New Moon"
"New Moon" by Hilde Kayn is another of the better paintings. Although some sections of the picture seem vague, the skirts of the dancers in the center have form and vitality that is not found elsewhere.
"Big Rock Pool"
Henry E. Wattsub's "Big Rock Pool" is perhaps the most sparkling work in the whole collection. Although the painting is predominantly blue, the white areas work exceptionally well and give the work a scintillating quality that makes it my choice for the most effective painting in the exhibit.
"White Ballet"
"White Ballet" by Gertrude Schweitzer could have been an extremely fine work. The dancer's skirt and certain sections of the couch are handled with understanding and have definite form. But here the painting breaks apart. The girl's arms, shoulders and face become paper-doll-like. Brown hair and red lips make (See ART CRITICISM page 4)

Pre-Registration Daze

"Sorry, but that section is full," F. E. Beatty, assistant registrar, center, seems to be saying as he explains the fine points of pre-registration to Larry Kramer, behind the BG letter. Seated at the table, front to back, are Dorothy Thomas, Vendale Smith, Velma Crawford, and Sally Bowman, office assistants. Standing are Kathy Price, Larry Kramer, Orrin Miser, Larry Hanline, Dorothy Main and Mary Jane Lloyd.

'I'm Getting Tired' Moan Six Workers On Registrar's Staff

At 11:30 last Wednesday night six tired men and women left the Administration building with nothing to look forward to the next morning but more freshmen registrants. Thursday night they left earlier and felt better as they looked back over the week and realized that, as the registrar's staff, they had acted as a medium for bringing back to BG between 1500 and 1600 second semester students. Except for taking care of those few unfortunates who didn't make out their schedules when they should have (and who can count on paying the $5 fee) the outward work of the staff was finished. That is, until Monday, Feb. 25, when they will register between 500 and 600 new students. Consolation is offered to those who stood in line for two and one half hours last Wednesday night, as part of a crowd stretching from the Registrars' office to Dean R. G. Harshman's office and back to the Well. The maximum waiting time for payment of fees is guaranteed to be not more than 15 minutes.

Explaining last Wednesday's registration slow-up F. E. Beatty, registrar, pointed out that he and one of his assistants, Mrs. Eugene Thomas, were out of town leaving his staff under manned. Even without their aid the remainder of the staff registered enough students to make it necessary to open several new sections, and switch several others that were overcrowded.

Fourteen students of the 50 that are being sent to Lafayette College by the Turkish government have arrived at the college to begin their studies.

The Turkish students are here for a year's intensive study of English, after which they will enter engineering schools. All have graduated from high schools and some from colleges in Turkey.

Oberlin College has also said good-bye to the navy and marine men who have been on their campus for two and a half years. The men were wished a final good-luck in an all-campus assembly, given in commemoration of the 1900 service men who trained on the campus.

During the World Student Service Fund drive at Ohio State, dormitories, sorority, and fraternity houses served to their residents, a 500 calorie meal, such as the students of Prague University, Czechoslovakia eat each day. The benefits of the Drive this year are going to Prague University.

Students at the University of Wyoming are holding a contest for campus leaders who best exemplify the spirit of brotherhood on campus and who have done the most to promote better understanding between groups.

... war or peace?

"War is not inevitable, but a lasting peace depends upon modified and improved human and social conditions which may, in the next hundred years or more, result in an international society," explained Dr. Herbert Searles in his address to the philosophy forum at the University of Southern California.

Dr. Searles, professor of philosophy, outlined three approaches to the task of achieving international society:

First, through the understanding of human nature and learning how to improve, through education and through individual characters and personal attitudes of our rising generations.

Second, through social research in human relationships involving cultural and economic resources and their relation to world populations as a basis for a program which will relieve, at least, the greatest economic resources and their relation to world populations as a basis for a program which will relieve, at least, the greatest economic tensions existing today.

Finally, through the development of the United Nations organization and its counterpart in international law.

"We must recognize at the outset that peace is not a static condition in which we can rest once the active phase of the conflict has passed," said Dr. Searles. "Peace is not as dynamic in the spectacular sense as war, but it is exceedingly dynamic in other important senses.

"It is during the periods of armistice between wars when tensions are accumulated, when conditions are created in the economic and social arenas which disturb the equilibrium, and for which correction and alleviation is sought through recourse to war."

Alumni Notes

by Doyle Smith

Ah, weal and woe! What with finals this week the Nest was exceedingly unfruitful of visiting alums. Looks like almost everyone took pity on us and stayed home so those books would be opened at least once during the semester. We appreciate the gesture, dear friends, but now we have no alibi for flunking that exam. Rather inconsiderate, what?

However, after consuming a lot of time, gasoline, and energy we finally found a few unsuspecting souls who didn't see us coming.

Lois Holtmeyer and Alda Douthett spent the weekend at the Alpha Chi Omega house. Lois is out in the bleak world trying to educate the younger generation. Hicksville is the lucky town. Latin and English are Lois' subjects—so when any of you scholars run up against a Latin phrase that stymies you, call Hicksville.

Alda was a music major and a student director of Treble Clef. She's also added her name to the ranks of the teaching profession. The aspiring musicians of Perrysburg have the benefits of Alda's expert instruction. How about developing a "ride" trumpet for our band?

Lucky Margaret Harms—she has an alibi. Jack Bomar, former Bee Gee V-12'er, sailed down for some relaxation with pleasant company. Bob Deuchler was escorting Marge Meyers about.

Church bells! Mary Helen Jaynes and Jack Leitner will be married Saturday, Feb. 23, in the United Brethren Church. "Jaynesie" graduated in '45 and Jack was here in the V-12. Good luck, kids!

Scoop! "Pop" Currier just informed us that Sgt. Don Cunningham, editor of the 1943 Key, has landed on good old U. S. terra firma and expects to be around campus. Don has been spending his time around the Austrian area, but we're betting that the Nest will find more favor in his eyes than all the historical landmarks of Europe combined. Welcome home, Don!

Enough of this ya-ta-ta, ya-ta-ta—the ed wants the copy so we've got to stop. See all you chillun' next semester—if we don't lose the psych notes.

Always
welcome

Sport Scribbles

by Bob Smith, Sports Editor

Do many of you ever notice the photographs of Falcon athletes of several years past on the walls of the Falcons Nest? It doesn't seem right that the practice of putting up pictures each year, has not been continued in the last few years.

The photos now hanging in the Nest are of Falcon athletes who were captains of Bee Gee teams during the 1940-41 season, pictures that were placed there when the Nest was built.

Since that time there have been no additions to the gallery. Why? Because no group or organization has taken it upon itself to see that it is done. There are several groups on campus that are organized to carry out worthwhile projects for the students and the University. Among these are the Varsity Club, the W.A.A., and the Physical Education Club. Could not this service be performed by one of these organizations?

There would be little work involved in placing photos of outstanding Bee Gee athletes in the Nest. Over 40 frames are in the possession of the journalism department, and are available to any group wishing to undertake the job.

The journalism department has consented to make the photographs. The only expense in the project would be the purchase of photo paper.

Before the practice is continued a definite system for the selection of the athletes should be decided upon by the organization undertaking the project. An excellent plan would be to select photos of all the captains in the various sports. Any athlete receiving All-State or national recognition also should be honored.

Each photograph should be clearly identified. The few photos now hanging in the Nest have no identification. Possibly arrangements could be made with the industrial arts department to have identification plates printed or stamped of metal.

Whoever decides to carry out this project can do a worthwhile service to the University. It wouldn't be much of a task, but it would be greatly appreciated by the students. Will someone take it from here?

The men's intramural basketball season is nearing completion after a very successful round of play. Keen interest has been shown by all the participants and adviser Warren E. Steller is very pleased with the cooperation he and the student-directors Fred Graf and Don Sutter have received.

Up to, and including, the Great Lakes game, the Falcon basketballers have dropped a total of 1823 points through the mesh, giving them a 62.9 point average per game. The opponents have racked up a total of 1166 points for a 40.2 point average per game.

Captain Don "Sid" Otten leads the Bee Gee scoring parade with a total of 405 points. His nearest contenders are Tom Inman with 261 and Leo Kubiak with 214. Gene Dudley has tallied 182 points and Jim Knierim has scored 143.

Findlay Game Is Last Of Season

Playing their last scheduled game of the season, the Falcons will meet the Western Michigan Broncos at Lansing March 2. While the Michigan team does not have much of a record, the Broncos are potentially strong, having wins over New York U., St. Johns and Utah. The Falcons have a previous victory over them on the Falcon court 56-37.

By virtue of their late season flash of form and their very impressive record of 25 wins in 29 encounters, the Falcons are ex-

Coach Harold Anderson announced Monday that one more game has been added to the Falcon cage schedule. The Falcons are slated to meet the Findlay College cagers in a return contest Tuesday, Feb. 26, in the Findlay High School Gymnasium.

The Oilers are boasting a record of 12 wins and 2 defeats. The Falcons defeated them 63-33 on the home court last month. Toledo U. is the only other team to have taken the measure of the Findlay crew.

pecting their third National Invitational Cage tourney bid in as many years.

A victory over Western Michigan would clinch a Madison Square Garden bid, but if the Broncos upset Bee Gee, they can throw a cog in the local's chances to make the trip again.

Findlay Tickets

Coach Harold Anderson expects to secure a block of approximately 300 tickets for the Falcon-Findlay basketball game next Tuesday in the Findlay High School Gymnasium. Falcon fans who expect to attend should inquire at the athletic office to secure tickets for the contest.

Volleyball Season Opens Next Semester For WAA

When the curtain goes up on second semester sports activities volleyball round robin tournaments will be the center of attraction in the Women's Building. A cup is being promised to the victorious team by the WAA, according to Clara Jean Miller, president.

Teams will be sponsored by the sorority houses and dormitories. Papers will be posted on house bulletin boards and players may sign up for the Monday-Wednesday inexperienced league or the Tuesday-Thursday league for experienced players.

Off-campus girls are to sign on the bulletin board in the main hall of the Women's Building.

WAA is sponsoring a banquet for old and new members March 13. Women who have completed the membership requirement of two seasons of sports and membership in a closed club are eligible for admittance.

Rogues and Vets To Tangle In IM Championship Tilt

The men's intramural basketball season was nearly completed last week with only the championship game between the respective league winners remaining to be played.

Rogues Win

In the American League the Rogge's Rogues and SAE quintets emerged at the end of the regular scheduled play with 6 wins and 1 defeat each. In the play-off contest between the two leaders, the Rogues won a thrilling 32-28 decision to cop the league championship.

Vets Victors

In the National circuit the Vets moved into the first place spot by virtue of their last-game victory over the Rooty Toots, who have held the first position throughout the league season. The Vets scored 6 victories while being defeated but once.

The play-off between the Rogues and the Vets will be soon.

Scoring honors in the American League were shared by Tom Buttle, SAE, and Dee Gardiner, Prosectors, with 92 points each. Swihart, Sigma Nu, and Bob Smith, Prosectors, were close behind with 71 points.

National league scoring leader was Charles Peak who dropped 97 points through the hoop for the Rooty Toots, followed by Paul Grosch, Vets, with 80, and Jack Muir, of the Bobcats, with 71.

Officials throughout the season were chosen from the officiating and physical education classes.

Great Lakes, Hillsdale Toppled As Falcons Win Victories 24 And 25

Keeping their loss column down, the Falcon cagers romped to their 24th and 25th victories Thursday, Feb. 14, and Friday, Feb. 15, as they defeated Great Lakes 59-40 and Hillsdale 80-38.

By defeating Great Lakes, the locals got sweet revenge against Riebe and Company. Riebe was the thorn in the Falcons' side when the sailors defeated them 52-50 on the Bee Gee hardwood earlier in the season.

With Knierim and Martin doing the guarding, Riebe only counted seven points. Otten did a masterful job of handling the rebound work as he completely stymied Great Lakes' giant, O'Connor. Kubiak, Inman, and Dudley also turned in stellar performances in handling the fast breaks.

The Falcons were never headed in the ball game. They got off to a 7-0 lead, and the score at intermission was 23-19 in favor of BG. They came back at the half, and with 8 points coming in quick succession, Coach Anderson's boys were never in danger for the rest of the game.

This win over the sailors, classed as the best of the country's service teams, added greatly to Bowling Green's national rating.

With Otten and Inman contributing 18 points, the Hillsdale win was an easy victory for the Falcons as they had no trouble in giving the Michigan college team a sound whipping.

New Theta Phi's See Rosy Future

Nine women students from Kohl Hall founded Theta Phi, a new local social sorority, last week.

"I think we have a very capable group of women and bright prospects for the future," stated Helen Bollinger, president of Theta Phi sorority. "I wish to thank the Administration and student body for the keen interest they have shown and the co-operation they have given us."

Plans for the sorority were started in November and its constitution was approved by the Administration last week. Theta Phi becomes the tenth women's social group on campus.

Miss Audrey Kenyon Wilder, dean of women, expressed her best wishes by saying, "This is a very promising group of girls and I am certain they have quite a worthwhile future. I am always happy to see fraternities start on this campus because everyone desiring group affiliation should have this privilege."

Beautiful women, but it takes much more than only these to make beautiful paintings. Here the distinct lack of form in contrast to the subtle handling of it in the skirt and couch makes the painting seem unfinished.

This is also true with the area behind the couch, for it is extremely vague—without form, design, or definite plane. However, the blue goblet near the bottom of the picture does have sparkle and the needed color quality so that it helps to improve the painting generally.

Don't Laugh Now; You May Be Next

Loud, almost undistinguishable cries of utter horror emanated from the Men's Gym. Had the idea of concentration camps seized the Bee Gee coaches? We decided to investigate. Upon entering we saw a horrible sight. Men with no heads were strung up by their feet. Who could have done such a ghastly thing?

A moment later a gentle voice said "Down", and all the men dropped to the floor in exhaustion, panting and calling for water.

Suddenly the prisoners began to smile. Why, they did have faces after all. And they weren't strung up by their feet. They were standing on their heads. This wasn't a concentration camp after all, but the day all the men had been talking about. The coaches of P. T. (physical torture) had started their tumbling course.

Library Attendance Increases As Does Staff And Circulation

by Blanche Spangler

Dig those "fine slips out from the dark recesses of your drawers where you tossed them last month, thinking you and the University would forget, and toddle over to the service desk of the library, money in hand. The Registrar's Office won't mail your grades home until you clear up all those little debts you've incurred this semester. "You'll be sorry" if you don't pay them.

Since today marks the middle of exam week you may have already visited the Library for other reasons. You've probably been part of the capacity crowds that have been keeping five full-time, one half-time, and 29 part-time student assistants busy finding the information you need. Dr. Paul F. Leedy said today that there are more people in the reading room this year than in any previous University year. "The library is used to capacity and over," he said. Sometimes students even use the writing tables beside the card catalog as a place for study.

Week-end Rush
Friday afternoons and Saturday mornings most students recuperate from the strenuous activities of the preceding week, but on Saturday and Sunday afternoons the Library is packed with industrious students storing up knowledge for the trials of the coming week. Monday and Thursday are the busiest week days and full use is made of the library and its facilities every school night. It seems that activities in the lib are inversely proportional to events on the Social Calendar.

Circulation Increases
And as if the library staff didn't have enough to do keeping people entertained in the reading room, circulation has almost doubled since 1943. Figures tabulated from the University Library files support Dr. Leedy's prediction that "Circulation in the 1945-46 year will probably surpass any we've ever had."
