Panhel Council Sponsors Tour

Panhellenic council, governing body of all sororities on campus, will sponsor an open-house tour for all new women students on Oct. 5.

Purpose of the tour is to acquaint the new women on campus with the sororities.

The women will be divided into a number of groups which will be guided by representatives from each sorority. Each group will begin the tour from different sorority houses and will follow a specified pattern. Included in the tour will be a tea given by Panhellenic in Studio "B," P.A. building.

Nebraska Grad Aids Hayward

Assisting SCF director Hollis Hayward this year is Carol Bridenbaugh, Danforth Fellow from Dakota City, Kansas.

A June graduate of the University of Nebraska, she received her Bachelor of Science degree in home economics. Active on her campus, she was president of the YWCA; secretary of Phi Upsilon Omicron, national home economics honorary; member of the Lutheran Students association; and the senior women's honorary.

Carol found Bee Gee a "well organized, attractive, and very friendly campus," and she says, "unlike many college campuses, the temporary buildings haven't destroyed the beauty of the layout."

Enthusiastic and full of ideas for this year's SCF program, she is especially interested in developing an interracial group here, similar to the cosmopolitan clubs of other schools.

She finds SCF a unique set-up and believes it is becoming very outstanding among the youth programs throughout the country.

What Carol would like to accomplish most during her stay here is "give what I can of myself to SCF and other dominational groups so that I may become a better person as a result."

Her interests outside of her SCF duties are reading, sports of all kinds, music, roller skating and "bull sessions."

She is living with Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Mayfield at 225 Thurstin Ave.

Ronald Kern Plays Lead In "Late George Apley"

Ronald Kern, Toledo, will play the leading role in the University production of "The Late George Apley," Prof. Elden T. Smith, director, has announced.

The play, an adaptation of the novel of the same name by John P. Marquand, will be presented in the Main auditorium for four nights, beginning Wednesday, Oct. 22. The set for the production will be designed by Philip Miles, technical director of the University theatre.

Other members of the cast are: Dorothy Albright, Alliance, Eleanor; Sunny Burt, Cuyahoga Falls, Jane; John Cannavan, Amsden, Wilson; Sandra Contos, Anderson, Ind. Emily; Frank Coss, Toledo, Roger; Charles Foxall, Bloomfield, Conn., Henry; Mary Heskett, Akron, Agnes; Patricia Hiser, Bradner, Amelia; Lee Miesle, Fremont, John; Robert C. Rhodes, Long Island, N. Y., Horatio; Phyllis Sangston, Detroit, Mich., Lydia; Dorothy Skirletz, Elyria, Margaret; Evalie Smith, Elizabethton, Tenn., Catherine; Richard Smith, Martin, Julian H. Dole, and Robert Triplet, Hicksville, Howard Boulder.

Lee Miesle, who is a graduate student in speech, was director of the summer play, "George Washington Slept Here." Ribert Triplet, who plays Boulder, has played in summer stock and has attended drama school in Hollywood. The majority of the "Apley" players have had experience in University plays, and only three in the cast are freshmen.

"The Late George Apley" concerns the everyday life of a stuffy Bostonian family and their rebellious daughter. The original play on Broadway starred Leo G. Carroll and Janet Beecher.

Committees Appointed By Student Senate

Appointments to seven campus committees were approved by the Student Senate at the second meeting of the semester held Monday evening in the Ad building. New justices of the Student Court were also approved, plans for Homecoming were made and matters of campus interest were discussed ranging from WSSF to the traffic conditions prevailing on North College drive.

Tryouts For Irish Drama Open Monday

Tryouts for Sean O'Casey's play, "The Plough and the Stars," will be held in the main auditorium Monday and Tuesday, October 6 and 7 from 7:30 to 10 p.m.

The play is to be directed by Lennox Robinson, visiting professor in Irish drama.

Differing from past university play productions, "The Plough and the Stars" will draw its cast not only from university students, but also from faculty and townspeople. This is the first time that persons other than students have had a chance to act in these plays.

This year, in accordance with the department of speech's new program of expansion, six full-length plays will be produced, in addition to six bills of one-acts.

On Monday evening, the tryouts will be for students only. Any student on campus is eligible to try out. Tuesday evening, they will be only for faculty and townspeople. Recalls will be held later in the week for both groups. The students and townspeople are not in competition with each other, but the department feels that the addition of several faculty and townspeople will add much maturity to a play such as "The Plough and the Stars." This is a practice used today in many colleges throughout the country.

Because of this increased schedule of production, tryouts for a play are held while another is in production, but this does not mean that a person rehearsing in one play cannot be eligible for a role in a forthcoming one. They may be in both, as one will not go into rehearsal until the present play has been given.

Scripts for the play will be on reserve in the Library over the week-end.

The play, dealing with the Easter rebellion of 1920, was the first produced in the Abbey theatre under Mr. Robinson's direction. Barry Fitzgerald was a member of the original cast.

Rifle and Pistol Club Reorganizes

The first meeting of the university Rifle and Pistol club will be held in Room 101 of the Men's gym on Thursday, Oct. 16, at 7 p.m.

This club, being reinstated with the National Rifle association, is open to all men and women students and also to faculty members.

Sponsored by the intermural sports department, this club under the leadership of Dave Mathews, will enter intermural competition and intramural competition. Applications can be made only on Oct. 6, in Dean A. B. Conklin's office.

The range will be located in the basement of the Practical Arts building and the meetings will be split up for range practice so that all members will have a chance to fire. Range practice will be held several different nights a week so that members can arrange to fire on a non-crowded schedule.

SCF Will Sell New Student Directories

Student Directories for 1947-1948 will be sold by SCF as fast year. They will be the same except for the addition of several new phone numbers which were recently installed on campus.

Students under the Business Education Department will do the typing and the Directories will be printed by the Gray Publishing Company of Fostoria, Ohio.

Any address corrections should be turned in promptly at the Journalism office.

First on the agenda was the appointment of students to the various committees. Elected to the Student Activities committee were: Joanne Malinkowski, William Martin and Don Prittie. Faculty advisors are: Dr. Lloyd Helms, Dean Robert Overman, chairman, and Ass. Prof. Willard Singer.

Nominees for the Publications Committee were: Harold Flagg, Mrs. Bobbie Simpson John, Jim Limbacher and Doris Smart. Faculty advisors include: Miss Florence Baird, Paul Jones and Dr. Paul Leedy.

Student Union committee appointees were Richard Casciani, Don Williamson and Barbara Ward. Dean Harshman and Ass. Prof. Lewis Manhart are faculty advisors.

The Entertainment committee appointments were: Mary Helen Allstetter, Joseph DeSantis, and Beth Neikirk. Advisors include: Prof. Merrill McEwen, Prof. John Smith.

Elections committee appointments were: Dave Aurelius, chairman, Sal Guidice, Mason Grove, and Bill Wagner. Dr. Charles Barrell will act as adviser.

The Speech committee appointments were: Dick Bauman, Lucille Nobile and William Prentice. Faculty advisers will be: Prof. Elden Smith, chairman, Prof. C. L. Rue and Asst. Prof. Sidney Stone.

Plans for the WSSF drive were discussed. Sam Morel was appointed as head of a committee to review and remedy as far as possible the traffic and pedestrian problem on North College drive.

Lines Reduced By "Commons" Increase

Plans to open the east end of the Commons, university Mess Hall, during the week of Oct. 5 were announced today by F. Eugene Beatty, director of services. The use of both sides of the building will cut lines in half and lessen time required for meals.

People with meal tickets will use the east end of the building, and a la carte people will use the west end. With the new system, all traffic will come in the extreme east entrance and exit from the north doors.

Serving approximately 1500 people per meal, lines are often 30 minutes long. They are expected to be cut to ten minute service per person.

Although eating hours are now extended over a long period, initiation of the new system will bring about scheduling regular one hour periods during which meals will be served.

Educators Expand Health Program

Dr. Clyde Hissong, State Director of Education, attended the Ohio Extended Health Education Conference at Russell's Point, where he and 70 experts made plans for expanding the state school's and community's health education program.

Dr. Hissong, on leave of absence from Bowling Green will work out a plan whereby more teachers will be trained to be full-time supervisors or special teachers in physical education in Ohio's elementary and high schools.

a good start

It is apparent to every one of us that in the near future the alumni of Bowling Green will be greater than ever before. They will become a stronger group that can do a great deal of good for the school.

There have already been plans laid and put into effect by Mr. I. William Miller, present director of the Alumni Bureau, to keep in step with the growing group of alumni scattered throughout the forty-eight states.

Up to now there has never been a strong alumni either in total numbers or financially for our graduates have been for the most part, teachers—a not very lucrative position. Many of the first students graduated from this school are just now breaking into jobs as principals and superintendents.

But since the expansion of the curriculum into the fields of liberal arts, business administration and music, the number of personnel has jumped considerably. To keep in step, the Alumni Bureau initiated an annual gift fund in July of the present year. It has as its purpose the aid and development of three major projects: The Clayton C. Kohl student loan fund, the establishment of chimes in the tower of the Practical Arts building, and the setting up of new scholarships. $1,000 has already been subscribed.

In addition to this program the Alumni Magazine has been expanded and student Ray Shellhammer has been made associate editor.

It is a proven fact that a strong well-knit alumni is of the utmost importance to any college or university, especially when it is expanding to the degree that is taking place at Bowling Green. We are looking to our alumni to help us continue the forward march that is making Bowling Green one of Ohio's leading universities.

slow down . . .

by John Fay

Fort Miami race tracks are a few miles up the Dixie. It is not opening a sub-trick here in Bowling Green, especially on North College drive.

The campus police or campus ruling body cannot enforce traffic laws on the street as it is city property. It is up to students who have automobiles to take stock of the "no sidewalk" situation on the Drive and drive accordingly.

Students from the veterans' apartments, North dorm, and East and West halls use this "road to education" constantly. It is a menace to the pedestrians and bicyclists to have cars whizzing by at 35 and 40 miles an hour.

For safety's sake—slow down!

Created by Bob Jones and Johnny Norris, this brand new Torch comic strip (the only original weekly collegiate strip in Ohio) will endeavor to incorporate actual campus incidents into the cartoon. The creator was awarded third prize in a state wide cartoon contest last spring.

Phi Delta Pet Enjoys Life Out of The Dog House

by John R. Dyer

With a $3000 grandfather, a 165 lb. father and the Lord knows what kind of a mother the Phi Delta's have acquired an animal of prodigious magnitude to say the least. His possibilities are enormous. He might grow up to be as big as his father or as valuable as his grandfather. Then again he might be a show dog or a good water carrier.

His name is Von Berghenof and at this stage in the game he eats two cans of dog food (Dash), two lbs. of Friskies, a suitable amount of cod liver oil which all youngsters should have, and some yeast-all, this taking place evenly distributed over four feedings.

Born on July 4th, Von, renamed Trevlac (Calvert spelled backward) by his twenty odd masters, is a Great Dane and a Phi Delta. It's hard to say just what time Trev rises in the morning since none of his frat brothers have ever been around to see it.

Trev's main interests in life are food (all of it) and sitting in his new home in Fraternity Row in front of the fireplace with his masters around him on various piles of lumber. When the house is finished the dog will have a little corner of his own and by that time will in all probability be eating the frat out of house and home.

All in all, Von Berghenof has a great future in store for himself. In a few years the fraternity should be able to start a kennel and keep a lot of Trevlacs on hand.

Rec Hall Like Grand Central

Life can lead to dif-few-culties.

Anyone skeptical of above-stated fact is cordially invited to try life in the Rec hall—Bee Gee's Grand Central Stationish emergency housing program.

At the crack of dawn, about 5 a.m., that is—the first alarm clocks begin splitting the ozone. And there's always the fellow with the huge, clattering alarm job which awakens the entire hall, although it never phases the clock's owner.

Problem No. 1 then becomes shave, shine, and shower maneuvers. There are two possible solutions to the problem in question: (1) freeze to death by using cold water, and (2) freeze to death by organizing an expedition to obtain the hot water from the Men's Gym.

To add to the "cold receptions," one of the Rec windows broke, then persisted unreleasing periodic miniature blizzards on the unfortunates sleeping near the late window. Nightmares only an Eskimo could dream up were reported.

Practical jokesters and storytellers keep evenings about as quiet as a four-alarm fire.

About midnight, all's quiet on the Rec hall front. It is then high time to keep the wee hours lively by falling books and mirrors, returning nightgowns, and various and assorted snores. Peace and quiet? What is it that—pray tell?

Slowly but surely, adjustments are being made to Rec hall living conditions. But for the first few days the "Rambling Wrecks from Georgia Tech" didn't have a thing on the Rec hall wrecks from Bee Gee.

Mushroom Daddy

A 40-year practice of gathering mushrooms during hikes in the woods was climaxed by Joseph De Pasqua when he found a mushroom a foot high, three feet in diameter, and weighing 48 pounds.

Faculty Recital Pleases Audience

by Dorothy Schumann

Dr. James Paul Kennedy again proved his dexterity at the keyboard in his 11th annual faculty recital Friday evening, Sept. 26, in the Main auditorium.

The recent, more complete, issue of the Gesellschaft Edition made possible the first number, Prelude and Fugue in A minor by Bach. The genial Sonata in F Major Op. 10, No. 2 by Beethoven with the attractive opening motif was clearly set forth in such a manner that even the laymen listener was able to follow the development of the theme throughout the first movement. The Allegretto and Fuga Presto movements were also beautifully rendered.

The outstanding selection of the evening was the Etude in A Minor, Op. 25, No. 11 (winter winds) by Chopin, which was technically the 'tour de force' of the program.

This was followed by the hauntingly beautiful Prelude in A Major, Op. 28, No. 7 by Chopin. Continuing after only a slight pause, he completely changed the mood by playing the lively and playful Scherzo in B Minor, Op. 20, also by Chopin.

Of general interest were the announcements given by Dr. Kennedy himself, between the four Debussy preludes, which made up the next part of his program, and so guided the listener. The first prelude was No. 6 (General Levine). The descriptive Prelude No. 2 (Dead Leaves) painted a mood of melancholy. The Prelude No. 9 (Hommage a S. Pickwick Esq. P. P. M. P. C.) and Prelude No. 12 (Fireworks) concluded this part of the program.

Taking a step backward in time from present day classical music, the brilliant Dohnanyi Rhapsodie No. 3 in C Major, Op. 11, No. 3, which to this listener, seemed a reflection of late nineteenth century music, portrayed with its Lisztian technical devices, a fitting close to this program.

Called back by an enthusiastic audience, Dr. Kennedy chose Etude in E Major by Chopin as an encore.

New "Moms" Tuck Coeds Into Beds

Six of the ten women's dormitories on the campus are meeting new house directors this year. Mrs. Helen Rhonehouse, formerly of the Women's Building, has been assigned to Shatzel Hall. Mrs. John Haggard has filled the vacancy at the Women's Building.

In the sorority houses, Mrs. Ester Hayne has taken over the duties at the Alpha Xi Delta house, Mrs. Hazel Keil is at the Delta Gamma house, and the Kappa Deltas have Mrs. Irma Strickland as their new house-mother. Mrs. Hayne, formerly the Sigma Nu's housemother, will continue at the Alpha Xi Delta house until the fraternity houses are finished.

Mrs. Sue Hatfield, Mrs. Josephine James, Mrs. Jessie Lantz, and Mrs. Eva Farmer at Kohl Hall, Williams Hall, the Alpha Phi house, and the Gamma Phi Beta house are the only house-mothers remaining from last year.

'Mrs. Mike' Has Love, Adventure Drama, Humanity

by A. L. McClain

When 16-year-old Kathy left Boston to live with her Uncle John in Canada, her mother said, "You'll bear in mind, Katherine Mary O'Fallon, that's as far north as I want you to go. Don't be letting your uncle take you up into this." She waved in the general direction of the North Pole.

However, that was before Kathy met Sergeant Mike Flannigan of the Royal Mounted Police who captured her Irish heart and made her Mrs. Mike.

Journeying to Mike's station in the barren wilderness of northern Canada, the hardships are almost unbearable. There, Kathy learns that her husband is a martyr among the Indians, caring for their illness and protecting them with the law.

Living among the mosquitoes, disease, and fires that destroy entire villages, Kathy matures into a strong compassionate woman. She begins to learn the ways of the Indians and she is happy in her role of Mrs. Mike.

Kathy finds a Godmother in "Sahra" who acts as mid-wife when her two children are born. Then a new epidemic sweeps the territory and Kathy's children are among the large number fatally stricken.

In her despondence, she inadvertently blames Mike and a barrier is built between them. When an opportunity to return to Boston is afforded Kathy she leaves Mike and returns to her parents.

She fails to find happiness in Boston, old friends have become unimportant, and she realizes only Mike matters to her, Mike who would be only a policeman in Boston, but a martyr in northern Canada. She returns to her husband and becomes "Mrs. Mike" to the Indians and to herself.

In its simplicity "Mrs. Mike" is a beautiful book. It has a number of ingredients which make it a success, a love story, adventure, drama, humanity, and it is sure to continue as a best-seller for months to come.

Hemline Battle Baffles Males

by Harold Flagg

Why American women frantically follow every whim of the French fashion designers is just deep for a mere male to fathom.

Yet, every time Madame Schiaparelli creates a draped derriere or something, American womanhood charges over to the local frock shoppe and buys a new draped derriere. Eventually Dallas, Texas, stages a demonstration against the new fashion; but in the end, even Texas joins the mob already following the latest command of the Rue de la Paix.

If a woman has a nice set of gams, why hide them in acres of cotton and hemlines? The only answer to that question is "because they're doing it in gay Paree."

And so it is that designers from all over the world dash off to Paris, then force the women of the world to dress according to whatever they're wearing on the Champs Elysees.

Upon whom does Paris rely for fashion commands? The answer is well-known to millions of Yanks who, during Hitler's big fuss, watched Mademoiselle take a few bits of silk and twist out a new fedora as chic as the 30-buck chapeaux at Lucy Belle's on Main street. The Parisienne uses originality and a certain degree of non-conformity if necessary. The result is the production of some of the sharpest glad rags ever to enhance the curvacious fairer sex.

American women would do well to take a tip from her French cousins and do less blind conforming and more thinking.

If the little woman would only be content with last year's non-Parisian hemline, 'twould ease financial strains. The French-inspired battle of the hemline is putting huge dents in U.S. bank-rolls.

Nevertheless, if we "embattled men" write from now 'til doomsday, women will still follow the rules from Paris as closely as they did in the days of Marie Antoinette.

It's just one of those things.

The news that 8 of the 17 lettermen from last season's crack swimming team have failed to return this semester, hustled us over to the Natatorium expecting to find Coach Sam Cooper a mighty perturbed gent.

Instead, we found Sam his usual, cheerful self, showing no remorse over a break which would find most coaches running for the crying towel. While admitting the team will be considerably weakened by the loss of such standout performers as backstrokers Paul Stark, Kenny Reed and Bob Rosenbush; freestylers Mickey Cochran, Harold Jordahl, Dave Joyce, and Slick Hess plus a backstroker Bob Russel, one of last year's top scorers; he feels he will be able to find suitable replacements from last year's holdovers and the large crop of new men.

Building a team from few lettermen is nothing new to Cooper. Last year he took a group, comprised mainly of return veterans the Fighting Falcons will make a big splash in Midwest swim with little or no collegiate swimming experience, and whipped them into a well-balanced team that completed the season with a record of 13 victories against 2 defeats. In the process, they managed to chalk up 834 points to their opponents' 287 while setting 30 varsity and opponent pool records.

This year, he will be priming his boys for the big meets with Wayne and Cincinnati and believes if they can get by these two major obstacles, the team should hold their own against the others.

When the first practice begins on November 1, Sam's building process gets underway with lettermen Charley Joyce, Fred Kline, Tom Stubbs, Tom McManus, Glen Moore, Charley Parsons, Bob and Dick Pence and Bob Ruth. Several other members of the '46-'47 team, including Maury Rosenthal, Porky MacMillan, and Jack McClure will also answer the call.

At this stage, the season's outcome can hardly be determined but Cooper's confident attitude creates an impression that the Fighting Falcons will make a big splash in Midwest swim circles this year.

Touch Football Begins Intramural Activity

The intramural football schedule opened last Wednesday with the fraternity leagues playing five games. In League No. I, the S.A.E.'s passed to a 6 to 0 win over a hard fighting Sigma Chi team, the Pi Thetas triumphed over Beta Sigma by virtue of a forfeit and Kappa Sigma outgained Kappa Tau in an overtime period. In League No. II, the PiK.A.'s dumped A.T.O. 6 to 0 and the Phi Deltas dropped Sigma Nu 7 to 0.

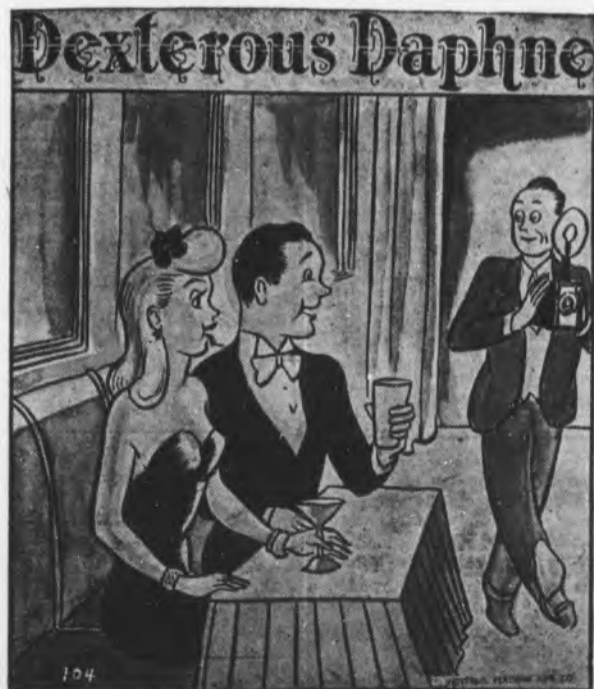

An independent league is also being formed for touch football but so far only three teams have entered. Any men interested in forming a team for this independent league should submit the name of the team to Dave Mathews, intramural director in the athletic office.

Each team is composed of nine men and anyone is eligible except those men who have won numerals or letters in football at this school or who are now practicing football now, or who are out for cross-country.

The games are played each Wednesday night, all games starting

Bowling Green Edges Central Michigan 20-19

by John Schwaller

Continuing to operate on the slimmest margins, a policy which provides plenty of excitement, but often loses games, the Bowling Green football team today owned a .500 percentage on the gridiron by way of a 20-19 triumph over Central Michigan last Saturday at University stadium. The Falcons lost the first game of the season at Xavier by a two-point

Harriers Open With Ball State

The 1947 edition of the Bowling Green State University's cross country team will take to the cinders Saturday against Ball State Teachers College of Muncie, Indiana. Coach Dave Mathews has been putting his men through some stiff workouts and expects to have them in top condition for this opening meet.

Nothing is known about the strength of Ball State as this will be their first meet of the season also. But the teachers can be expected to field a good bunch of runners as always. For the Falcons, it looks as if Petrie, Lamb, and Scott will carry most of the load since they have been looking good in practice.

Falcons Invade Dayton For Third Gridiron Acitivity

by T. J. Loomis, Jr.

Sporting a record of one victory against one defeat in two nip and tuck battles, the Falcons journey downstate Saturday to battle a powerladen University of Dayton eleven. This will be the second meeting in the history of the schools—in 1926 Bowling Green was trounced, 41-0.

This season the Flyers can expect no such easy going as their predecessor enjoyed 21 years ago, but nevertheless must be entered in the books as favorites. Coach Joe Gavin, Cleveland Holy Name high school mentor for the past 15 years, has taken over at Dayton and has high hopes of improving the enviable record of last fall's aggregation. U. of D. lost only to the high geared machines of Miami, Cincinnati, and Chattanooga, while rolling over such stalwarts as Wichita, Toledo U., Western Reserve, Xavier, Ohio U., and Marshall. It might be noted that Xavier fell, 33-6, a score identical to that the Whittakermen achieved against the Musketeers in 1946.

Last Saturday Dayton exhibited outstanding possibilities in turning back Scranton, 28-6. Gavin uses a T formation with a man in motion and an occasional flanker. The offense is built around veteran quarterback Ed "Chief" Toscani, a brilliant ball handler and passer, and his flashy understudy, Joe Ducey. Scatback Ray Munger and two big speedboys from Toledo, Art Bok and Johnny Delp, will handle most of the halfback chores, and Ken Boxwell should get the nod at full.

Along the line the only weakness may be a lack of depth behind the starting guards and tackles. Captain Dick Dohn leads a host of excellent ends, while there are three capable centers on hand. Coach Bob Whittaker will bring the Falcons into the game at full strength with one glaring exception. Mel Augenstein, hard driving fractured ankle in the Central Michigan game and may be lost to the team for five or six weeks. Although Bee Gee is blessed with much veteran talent, the loss of the Napoleon halfback is a bitter blow. Mel came up fast last year and his play in the opener with Xavier showed tremendous promise.

Students planning to attend the tilt Saturday will be able to purchase good general admission seats at the Dayton stadium for $1.25. No word has arived concerning the possibility of obtaining tickets in advance for the proposed "migration to Oxford" on Oct. 11 when the Falcons meet Miami.
