Key Royalty Style Show, Election Set

Photos Due Today, Voting Thursday

Key King and Queen candidates will be presented at a style show tomorrow at 7:30 p.m., according to Sue Hartman, general chairman of the event.

Each candidate will appear twice, once in casual clothes and once in formal dress. The candidates will make their entrance through a large keyhole in the center of the stage and will leave the auditorium by walking down the aisles. Acting as mistress of ceremonies will be Carole Van Hook while Arthur Kurtze plays background music on the organ.

Photographs Due

By today, one 8 by 10 photograph should be in the Key office. This is to be used for voting which will take place Thursday, Dec. 18, in the student room of the Nest from 8 to 12 a.m. The student body will choose five women and three men candidates to be sent to a prominent person for final judging.

The candidates for Key Queen are: Shirley Kleine, Alpha Chi Omega; Eldred Webster, Alpha Delta Pi; Lois Stebbins, Alpha Gamma Delta; Lois Dunsmore, Alpha Phi; Delores Shepp, Alpha Xi Delta; Sue Wyndham, Delta Gamma; Marilyn Early, Gamma Phi Beta; Joyce Crede, Delta Zeta; Barbara Howard, Kappa Delta; Alice Sukaitis, Phi Mu; Idora Miller, Chi Omega; Suzanne Davis, Kohl; Lois Diehl, Ivy; Louise Roberts, Shatzel, and Barbara Judy, Williams.

A complete list of the men candidates was not available at the time the paper went to press.

Committees Listed

The Key is sponsoring the election and Sue Hartman is general chairman. The committees and their members are:

Decorations: Patricia Vietmeier and Nancy Crall, co-chairmen, Bonnie Jones, Gerry Chambers, Gretchen Van Brunt, Donna Poland, Marilyn Lindsey, Ronald Penkoff, Ruth McClellan, and Carol Winkle.

Publicity: Judith Mallo, chairman, Joan Sayre, Lois Chestnut, Joan Paisley, Marilyn Chamberlain, Donna Rossbach, Ramona Knoff, and Patricia Guthman.

Arrangements: Nancy Richardson, chairman, Virginia Frye, Carolyn Schwen, Mary Kinsey, Patricia Smith, Marilyn Baker, Janice McNary, Joanne Campbell, and Mary Beck.

Shuck To Attend Language Meeting During Vacation

Dr. Emerson Shuck, dean of the Graduate School, will attend the Modern Language Association conclave Dec. 27 to 30 in Boston. The association is a learned society for professionals in languages and literature.

While in Boston, Dean Shuck will attend a meeting of the College English Association which is meeting in conjunction with the MLA meetings.

Advertising Examination Scheduled In February

A special examination in advertising will be given to Ohio college juniors and seniors on Saturday, Feb. 14, at Cleveland College, located at the Public Square in Cleveland.

"Through the examination we are seeking to encourage qualified young people to enter the advertising business," said John F. Wilson, Cleveland examination committee chairman and executive vice-president of Carr Liggett Advertising, Inc.

A fee of $20 is charged to cover part of the cost of the examination. Additional information and application blanks may be obtained from J. F. Wilson, A.A.A.A. Examination Committee chairman, c/o Carr Liggett Advertising, Inc. NBC Building, Cleveland 14, Ohio.

Chorus, Solos Outstanding In Performance

By CHARLES HORNADAY

A near capacity audience heard the University Choral Society and Orchestra present Georg Friedrich Handel's "The Messiah" Sunday evening at 8:15 in the Men's Gym.

Conductor, James Paul Kennedy led the group of approximately 400 students and townspeople in presenting the world-famous oratorio. Featured soloists, Suzanne Der Derian, soprano, Walter Carringer, tenor, Jean Ellsperman, contralto, and Warren Allen, bass, were magnificent in their appearance in the annual Christmas program.

A fine job was done by Mr. Kennedy in combining the voices of the Choral Society with the University Orchestra, which produced a smooth and blended musical program that proved pleasing to the large audience.

The outstanding singing of Miss Der Derian and Mr. Carringer is worthy of commendation. Many students remember Miss Der Derian's fine voice from her appearance in Verdi's "Requiem," at the University in 1951. Sunday night she again thrilled a receptive audience with her fine soprano voice.

Sunday evening marked the ninth time that "The Messiah" had been presented at the University. The Christmas Concert Program was founded in 1942 by Merrill C. McEwen, chairman of the music department.

Procurement Team Schedules Interviews

A Marine Corps procurement team, headed by Captain George S. Belli, will launch a drive Jan. 7 to 9 to enroll qualified men at Bowling Green State University for the Marine's Platoon Leaders and Officer Candidate Classes.

According to information received from the Marine Officer Procurement Office, Cleveland, the representatives will be in the Well to interview all interested men. They will administer physical and mental examinations to men wishing to join either class.

The Platoon Leaders Class is open to qualified freshmen, sophomores and juniors between the ages of 17 and 26. The Officer Candidate Class is designed for seniors and graduates between the ages of 17 and 27.

Men who qualify for either class will be granted a deferment until they graduate, according to Captain Belli.

Applicants in the Platoon Leaders Class will attend two six-week summer training periods prior to graduation. The first will be spent at Parris Island, S. C., where indoctrination in the basic concepts of the Marine Corps will be given. The advanced training period will be held at Quantico, Va.

After graduation, a candidate will receive a commission as second lieutenant in the Marine Corps Reserve and will proceed to basic school.

Seniors and graduates qualifying for Officer Candidate School attend a ten-week course at Quantico immediately following graduation. After training they receive second lieutenant commissions in the U. S. Marine Corps Reserve and proceed to basic school.

Undergraduates Need An OK To Take Grad Courses

Eyas Magazine Has Contest On Prose, Poetry

Two prizes of $5 each will be given by Eyas, campus literary magazine, to encourage contributions for next semester's issue.

The contest, announced by Frederick R. McLeod, instructor in English and Eyas adviser, will award one prize to the writer of the best prose submitted while the other will go to the author of the best poetry. Prize winning contributions will be among those printed in the next edition of the publication which is expected to be ready in late April.

Deadline for contributions for next semester's Eyas is March 16. Any student, regardless of class rank or major, graduate students included, may contribute original poems, essays, or short stories.

All manuscripts must include the name and address of the author so they may be returned if not used. June Emery, editor, has said that contributions may be sent to 6 English Building any time between now and the March 16 deadline.

Library To Close For Repair Work

Dr. Paul F. Leedy, University librarian, announced that due to repairs being done in the building, the library will be open only four days during the Christmas vacation.

The days and the hours the library will be open are subject to change because of the repairs, but the tentative schedule is as follows: Monday, Dec. 29, 9 a.m. to 12 noon, and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.; Tuesday, Dec. 30, 9 a.m. to 12 noon; Friday, Jan. 2, 9 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.; and Saturday, Jan. 3, 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

Reserve books may be checked out for use over the vacation anytime Friday morning.

APhiO Members Are To Attend Meet In Columbus

Forty members of the Zeta Kappa chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, will attend the twelfth national convention in Columbus Dec. 28 to 30.

Official delegates are John Grossman and Frank Connor, and alternate is Ray Bertelsen. The convention is held every two years, according to Gage Mersereau, president of the fraternity. This year it will meet in the Deshler-Wallick Hotel in Columbus.

The Bowling Green chapter will be in charge of registration. Every Ohio chapter of Alpha Phi Omega will be a host committee with the Ohio State chapter in charge of the reception committee.

Chapter exhibits will be displayed showing pictures, clippings, etc., pertaining to service projects. The Zeta Kappa chapter will display material relating to their blood bank, travel bureau, loan fund, and grass campaign which they sponsor annually.

Receive Trophies Thursday Evening

Kappa Sigma and Gamma Phi Beta, winners of this year's United Christian Fellowship Christmas decorations contest, will receive their trophies Thursday evening during the all-campus Christmas caroling program.

Kappa Sigma was the winner of the men's division, while Gamma Phi Beta took top honors for the second straight year in the women's competition.

Runner-up honors in the door-decorating contest went to Alpha Chi Omega and Phi Kappa Tau.

This year's contest was judged by Roy Digby, manager of LaSalle's Bowling Green store, and Mrs. Walter C. Eyster, wife of the Rev. Eyster, Methodist minister.

Bud Weckesser, chairman this year, pointed out that the decorations were judged on a 100-point system. One-third of the points counted for originality, one-third for durability and quality, and the other third for appropriateness.

The judges viewed the entries twice, once in the daylight and once after the lights were turned on, so that they were sure of the contest stipulation that "all decorations be suitable for day and night" had been met.

Productions Written By Playwriting Class

Seven University students are trying their skill at play-writing. Tryouts were held last night at 7 p.m. in the Gate Theatre for the casting of seven one-act plays written by members of the University playwriting class. The plays will be presented Jan. 16 and 17 in the Gate Theatre.

The plays and their authors are "Peaked," by Jay Ludwig; "Divided Duty," by Carolyn Knepper; "The Bargain," by Robert Kirkwood; "Gygies, The King," by Alan Nichols; "The Winner," by Edith Steinberg; "Last Laugh," by Thomas Roland, and "Songs, Laughs, and Funny Falls," by Sally Gearhart.

Student Receives Trip For 4-H Club Work

Eleanor Irvin has returned from a week in Chicago at the Conrad Hilton Hotel after attending the National 4-H Club Congress and National Livestock Exposition.

Her trip was sponsored by the Wayne County Farmer's Equity in recognition of 10 year's participation in 4-H club work.

Miss Irvin, a junior majoring in home economics, has been active in steer feeding and girls' club projects. She has been feeding steers for the past five years and has won several prizes at county fairs with her steers. In the girls' clubs she has acted as junior leader and more recently as club adviser.

APhiO Loan Fund Offered To Students

Students who are financially short are urged to take advantage of the Alpha Phi Omega Loan Fund, which is available to any student of the University.

Loans are made to students for sixty days for any amount up to $65. These loans are interest free. Any student interested in obtaining a loan should contact Paul Jones in the News Bureau.

Loans, if granted, are made two or three days after application has been made.

A special Christmas vesper, sponsored by United Christian Fellowship, will be held at 4 p.m. Wednesday, in Prout Chapel.

Carol Singers Tour Campus Thursday Eve

Two Groups Visit Rows, Dormitories

Annual all-campus Christmas caroling will begin at 6:30 Thursday evening in the Circle in front of the Ad. Bldg. From there the carolers will divide into two groups to sing around Sorority Row and Fraternity Row.

All students living off-campus, including fraternities, sororities, and Falcon Hall, will meet in the Circle at 6:30 p.m.

Two Groups To Serenade

Peggy Wertz will lead part of this group to each sorority house on campus, Ivy, Shatzel, and Williams Halls. This group will serenade Johnston Hospital before gathering again at the Circle.

The second group of students, going to Fraternity Row, Kohl Hall, Stadium Club, Men's Independent Society, and Dorm R-9, will be led by Robert Peterson. They will serenade Pres. and Mrs. Ralph W. McDonald at their home.

A Cappella Will Sing Also

Peterson will direct A Cappella Choir in singing "White Christmas" and "Silent Night" when the two groups meet in the Circle.

Carol Doren, chairman of the caroling for the Association of Women Students which sponsors the annual event, said letters have been sent to all dormitories and houses explaining the schedule.

Houses To Respond With A Carol Each house has been notified which song it is to sing in response to the caroling group.

Caroling will end in time for students to attend the basketball game that night, she added.

Graduate Training Discussed By Deans At Recent Meeting

Deans from the five state universities of this state met here last Thursday afternoon and Friday morning to discuss co-operative programs of graduate training beyond the masters degree to apply towards doctorates.

Heads of the colleges of education at Kent State, Miami, Ohio University, Ohio State University and Bowling Green determined the procedure for students who wish to work on their doctorates at schools other than OSU.

At present, Ohio State is the only state institution that has the power to issue doctorates. The new move will not alter that power, but it will enable students to work towards their doctorates while still at the other four schools.

At the meetings last week, the following procedure was set up for students in the field of education:

The graduate student first must go to his adviser who will advise him as to whom to contact at Ohio State. The student then makes the contact and arranges for a meeting at Columbus with his BGSU adviser and a representative from State.

At the meeting the student and the advisers from both schools go over the desired curriculum and the student's course of study is outlined.

Other business at the meeting included discussion of a proposed co-operative research program in the teacher education curriculum. This program would study education problems, with each one of the Ohio colleges of education taking a specific aspect of the problems.

The program of graduate training is set up so that it can be started at any time, while definite plans for the research program will not be set until the next meeting of the deans, March 12-13.

Bowling Green faculty members that participated include Dean Herschel Litherland, Dean Emerson Shuck, Doctors John Gee, Charles Young, Walter Zaugg, and President Ralph McDonald, who greeted the visiting educators.

Today's issue will be the last issue of the B-G News this year. The next issue will appear on the tables on the east and west sides of the Well on Friday, Jan. 9, 1953.

This fall's total enrollment for 1,900 United States campuses is 2,148,000, an increase of 1.5 per cent over 1951. The U.S. Office of Education reports that this is the highest enrollment since the peak year of 1949.

In Our Opinion

Kindness At Christmas

The Christmas spirit is certainly evident all over campus this year. House decorations both inside and out have given the whole school a festive air. With vacation only three days away, everyone seems to be catching that holiday spirit.

One spontaneous burst of Christmas spirit in the true sense, was shown by three freshmen girls at Williams Hall recently. These girls had seen an article about an elderly man who had been in prison most of his life. The article mentioned that he had had no visitors for 15 years and no mail for about three years. On a spur-of-the-moment decision the girls wrote to him, telling him about themselves, and sent him a Christmas card.

Another campus group has bought a glass eye for a blind boy. A great many other University students and organizations have done something for others . . . parties for Lab school children, entertaining Children's Home groups, providing a basket for a needy family.

True, these aren't world-shaking events by any means. That warming sense of doing something for others is important. Because these students have thought of someone else, in the midst of Christmas parties and dances, we think the holiday season will be a lot gayer and a lot more meaningful to many.

'Madwoman' Play Noted Outstanding By News Reporter

By CAROL SUTLIFF
Outstanding performances in an outstanding and unusual production characterized "The Madwoman of Chaillot," at the Gate Theatre last Wednesday through Sunday.

Patricia Rudes, as the madwoman, Countess Aurelia, did an excellent job of creating the character who so charmingly sets about to get rid of evil people and thus right the troubles of the world. From the time she first appeared to startle the audience in her strange costume, Mrs. Rudes never once lost the personality of the eccentric, yet engaging, Countess Aurelia.

Barbara Whittington, Dolores Kolthoff, and Carmelene Amato, as the other three madwomen, Mme. Constance, Mlle Gabrielle, and Mme. Josephine, respectively, met the standard set by Mrs. Rudes. One of the top scenes of the play came when Constance, Gabrielle, and Countess Aurelia met to take tea and to plan for ridding the world of evil.

Another high point was James Liedtke, as the rag picker, with his fine performance in the make-believe courtroom in the second act. Larry Selka, Vincent Tampio, Robert Smith, Robert Stager, and a number of other performers deserve credit for adding greatly to "The Madwoman of Chaillot."

Two's Company, But Tree's A Crowd; Why Branch Out?

I'm off Christmas trees for life. From now on I'm going to have nothing more than a holly wreath on my shower curtain. I've had more trouble with Christmas trees in the last few years than doubting Virginia has had with Santa Claus.

There was the time my girl Brenda had to climb to the top-most branch to put the glowing star on top of the tree. She also was glowing and had a rather bad time of it. She was loaded with Christmas spirit but the tree just wasn't cooperating. She lost her balance and in no time we had 18 miniature Christmas trees scattered about the room for the joyous Yuletide season.

sweating and chopping, we cut down the old pine tree.

The worst Christmas tree experience happened this last year when that new type of automatic semi-liquid snow came out. It comes in a can with a spout on it just like whipped cream, shaving cream and shampoo. So I bought a can of it to spray on the tree.

Another year my mother said, "Don't bring home a big tree. Just a small one." So I went out and got a big bargain from a black market Christmas tree vendor. It was so big that I had to walk home by radar.

"What a surprise this will be to have real looking snow on the tree this year," I thought as I placed the can on the kitchen table. It was a surprise, too. That night mother (who is a bit nearsighted) put snow on our pumpkin pie. The next morning my father (who is ditto) was shaving with the stuff.

"Surprise!" I yelled as I crashed the tree through the front door—knocking two feet of casing off the door. It was a surprise, too. I was in the wrong house!

If I ever meet the president of the company who manufactures the stuff, I'm going to insert the can of snow into his mouth—turn on the nozzle—and run like the devil.

Then there was the year my dad and I decided to cut down our own tree in the country. Well, I hate outdoor activity—even necking—and I hate worse anything about the country. All my life I've avoided the country because I knew nothing about it. The first time I saw a cow I thought it was a horse who had swallowed a glove. But we went anyway.

And so it goes. Year after year. The joyous Yuletide season is always marred by the trail of the loathsome pines.

My dad saw the perfect tree in the middle of the forest. "Let's go," he shouted. "Timber!" he screamed, gaily swinging his ax around his head and prancing in to the woods. He sensed I didn't share his enthusiasm for the outdoors.

A tear came into dad's eye. "What could I do?"

"All right, dad. I can't let the old family tree down. Let's cut."

Rifles Society Drills New Pledge Class

With only 15 active members returning to school at the beginning of the fall semester, company I-1 of Pershing Rifles, national military honorary society, has grown into an active organization.

Late in October a smoker was held by the active members of the unit. As a result of this smoker, 45 basic course students accepted pledgship into the unit's fall pledge class.

Last Wednesday night, pledge officer Rodney Rish officially released the names of the 45 pledges. They are as follows: Jack Armstrong, John Buckley, Joseph Charlton, Steve Cifani, Robert Cleary, Edward Donnelly, Lauren Emerine, Robert Fitch, Carl Ford, Norman Geller, Charles Griminger, James Hessman, John Ingersoll, Daniel Ireland, Richard Jewett, Sheldon Kadish, Dan Kaiser, Emanuel Kallos, Berton Keith, Waldon Keith, Albert Levenson, Jack Marion, Owen McFall, Bruce McGarvey, Roger McVannan, James Miller, David Moody, Robert Moyer, Richard Mumma, Eugene Popielec, Todd Puder, Harold Prosocki, Chester Schafer, Roy Schieferstein, Michael Scholler, James Slinger, Kenneth Smith, Robert Taylor, Jack Weigand, William Smith, Richard Thomas, Nile Young, Sam Zonfa, Elmer Gough, and Paul Granger.

During the month of November the pledges were taught the basic foot drill of the soldier. Intermingled with this drill was some of the fancy drill used by the PR unit.

At the Ohio University-Bowling Green football game, a 24-man exhibition drill platoon, led by Capt. Ralph V. McKinney, commander of Company I-1, performed a three minute drill. Twenty-one of the 24 men in the platoon were pledges who had never drilled before the public at Bowling Green.

At the request of Col. Thomas R. Malone, professor of Military Science and Tactics, the unit is now learning ceremonial firing for military funerals. All members of the unit will be taught this firing so that a six-man firing squad may be summoned to participate in military funerals on short notice. Company I-1 will wear its "dress" uniform at all

Decorations Mark Christmas Season In Campus Dorms

"Deck the dorms with boughs of holly" seems to be the theme in the air as the Bowling Green campus prepares for another big Yuletide season. Townspeople and students alike are decorating their rooms and houses in the gayest of holiday motifs, with everything from traditional Christmas trees to cleverly painted windows.

Many of the residence doors have been sprayed with the newest novelty product, "magic snow," which supplies the wintry spirit when Old Man Weather fails to comply. Door mantles are adorned with pine boughs and huge red bows, offset with bell trios dangling from gold and silver cords.

Towering Christmas trees decked out in tinsel, shiny bells and multicolored light bulbs are the center of attraction on both sides of the Commons, and similar replicas glow from the windows on sorority and fraternity row. Each dorm has placed a huge fancifully decorated pine in their lounges, also, adding to the Christmas spirit. Some say there's still some restlessness afoot to be in accordance with "I'll be home for Christmas," though.

A stained-glass mosaic pattern has been successfully carried out on several dorm windows, while a few imaginative coeds have taken to painting poinsettias, snowmen, and holly wreaths on individual window panes. The corridors are lined with Santa Claus and Rudolphs, with Merry Christmas greetings flowing out from each room! One trio of Shatzel roommates gave their next-door buddies a four-foot paper "Bugs Bunny" as a token of their season's "spirit of love!"

Also carrying out inter-residence holiday greetings are the numerous sorority and fraternities, who have sent personalized cards to the dorms and other houses, all keeping in the theme of a happy holiday for all.

BG Meets Rough Holiday Opponents

Falcons Host To Lawrence Tech Quint This Thursday

By BILL ROGERS

Dismayed by their one-point loss to Duquesne Friday, but anxious to show the fans that they can have a winning team without Jim Gerber, the Falcons will try to get back on the victory trail against Lawrence Tech Thursday night.

Lawrence Tech comes to Bowling Green with a reputation of being a perennial cage power. The Detroit school entered the National Association Intercollegiate Basketball tournament last spring and in 1951 received an invitation to the National Invitational Tournament. The last time the two schools met was during the 50-51 season and Bowling Green came out the loser 60-53.

Gustavus-Adolphus is the only common opponent played so far. Bowling Green edged the Gusties 83-78 while Lawrence Tech won out by a 78-69 score.

The Blue Devils have been paced by 5'9" Herman Pett and 6'8" Werner Killen in the first three games, which include a 66-60 loss to Gonzaga. Other probable starters are Jankowski, Adam, and Westbrook.

BG Plays Okla. Champs

After the Lawrence Tech game, the Falcons will have a week of rest before facing three of the top sectional powers in the Oklahoma City Tournament on Dec. 29, 30, and 31. Drawings for the tournament were held last week. BG will meet Oklahoma City, defending tournament champions, in its first game at 7:30 p.m., Dec. 29.

The Oklahoma City Tournament is the oldest collegiate tournament in the country, having its seventeenth renewal this year. Each year top sectional teams are invited to compete against local basketball powers. This year's participants are no different. Teams participating are: Bowling Green, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma A&M, Penn State, Western Kentucky, Idaho, Wyoming, and Tulsa.

Okl. A & M Favored

Western Kentucky, playing Idaho in its first game, and Oklahoma A&M are the tournament favorites. BG might meet A&M in its second game. The Aggies, a member of the Missouri Valley Conference, have been rated the fifth best team in the country in pre-season forecasts. Bob Mattick is the team's leading scorer, and at 6'10 1/2" will be one of the tallest players in the tournament.

The only time a Falcon quintet ever faced the Aggies was during the '45-'46 season, BG won 48-37 over the team that later became national champions.

Western Kentucky of course is well known in these parts. Only one man was lost from the outfit that beat the Falcons twice last season.

Oklahoma City has three of the starters back from last year's champions including 6'3" Arnold Short, sometimes called "the best all-around player in the basketball history of Oklahoma City University."

Falcons Face Bradley

After the tournament Bowling Green will stop off in Peoria to play powerful Bradley on Jan. 3. The Braves play a fast moving type of ball and will provide the Falcons with plenty of competition. Bradley has a veteran studied lineup returning from the scandal-racked team of last year.

Ryer Takes First In Swimming Meet

Rod Ryer took first place in two of the three events in the first independent swimming competition, Dec. 11. Ryer won the 50-yard crawl event with the time of 32 seconds. Steve Berry took second place. There were six men in this event. The others were Paul Evans, Bill Basey, Jack Blaine, and Marve Anderson.

Ryer came through again to cop first place in the 50-yard breast heat. His time was a good 51.4 seconds. Basey was second, Anderson took third, and Evans came in fourth.

Berry finished first in the 50-yard back stroke event while Ryer came in second. Blaine placed third and Anderson finished up in fourth place.

Independent swimming is being conducted in a different manner this season. All swimming is being done on an individual basis with trophies to be offered to the individual champions.

SAE Dumps Hot Rods For Volleyball Crown

After trouncing Theta Chi Wednesday for the fraternity championship in volleyball, Sigma Alpha Epsilon went on to dump the independent champions, the Hot Rods, to become all-campus volleyball champions.

Long Island Lad Makes Good On BG Cage Court

By BRAD GREENBERG

Four seasons have passed since a Long Island City High School basketball coach first ordered a rangy, inexperienced boy to practice tossing a basketball through a net.

Since that time, this same youth has ripped into a rapid scoring, play-producing forward on Bowling Green's starting five. Needless to say, Al Bianchi no longer is forced to play the sport in which he has excelled since first scrimmaging for L.I.C.

At present, Al is the top scorer on the team, gathering 68 points for a 13.3 average. His point rate has been tops for three of the initial five games. As a sophomore last year, he averaged 10.8 for 27 contests, lagging behind only Gerber in total rate.

His court maneuvers while on defense are as distracting to the opposition as his scoring. Al pos-

Independent Cage Season Starts Jan. 8

The independent basketball season will get under way Jan. 8. Entries must be turned into the intramural office by Dec. 17.

Entry rules are as follows: A team is limited to ten men, however by permission a man may be dropped and a new man can take his place, if the change is made before the second game. A man found playing on more than one team will subject these teams to forfeiture of all games the player took part in. Each team pays a two dollar forfeit fee and this is returned if no games are forfeited.

Games will be forfeited if: (a) less than four players are on hand for the start of the games, (b) a team is not ready ten minutes after the scheduled time of play, (c) an ineligible player is used.

The Leagues will be made up of six teams. Games will be played in the evening at 7:15, 7:30, 8:15, 8:30, 9:15, and 9:30. Members of freshman and varsity basketball teams are ineligible as are members of varsity teams in wrestling and track, unless permission is secured from the coaches of these sports.

Homecoming Tilt Drew Largest Attendance

Bowling Green's football team drew a total attendance of 16,851 persons for five home games this year, an increase of 4,878 over last year. However, there were only four home games in 1951.

The largest crowd of the year was 5,228 at the Homecoming game with Baldwin-Wallace.

Duquesne Squeezes Out 57-56 Win Over BG Hardwood Five

By HAL VAN TASSELL

Coach Andy Anderson's hardwood aggregation took its third loss in five starts on the chin from the highly touted Duquesne Dukes in a heartbreaking 57-56 loss Friday.

Trailing the Pittsburgh school throughout the entire battle, the Falcon five tied the score at 55 all with 1:48 left in the game. Dick Ricketts meshed his tenth hook shot with 20 seconds left to give the Dukes a two point advantage.

Al Bailey fouled Lou Drago with two seconds remaining. Drago sunk his first attempt. His second effort bounced off to the right with George Reis' tip in try rolling off into the hands of Ricketts.

Bucky Slesinger leaps high in the air to score for Bowling Green during the Duquesne game.

The game started off very slow with both clubs putting the emphasis on defensive action. Neither team scored a fielder for six and half minutes. Al Bianchi broke the ice to give the Orange and Brown a temporary 6-4 lead.

Sid Dambrot hit a couple long swishing field goals which fired up the Duke quintet to garner a 14-9 first quarter advantage.

The lethal hook shot of Dick Ricketts went into action during the second chapter. The 6'7" alternating center tallied 12 points

Anderson Says Gerber Probably Won't Play

Coach Harold Anderson announced Friday that his scoring ace, 6'6" Jim Gerber will probably be lost for the season.

Gerber has been examined by a Toledo specialist, Dr. R. C. Young, and the doctor recommended that he undergo an operation.

Greek Philanthropies Set Christmas Season

By GRETCHEN VAN BRUNT

Christmas spirit, which has been creeping into the social activities of the past few weeks, took a firm hold on last week's doings and from all indications will continue through this week.

All dormitories and most fraternity and sorority houses were open after the annual Christmas formal Saturday night. Many groups provided buffet lunches and dancing for their guests.

Sigma Chi's initiated a novel twist in Christmas parties when they had the first annual dawn party Saturday morning. Friday afternoon Santa Claus, alias Bob Stephan and a group of Sig carolers delivered packaged invitations to their dates. Saturday morning at 6:45 they gathered at the house for breakfast and dancing.

Alpha Tau Omegas gave their annual formal, Winter Wonderland, at the Legion Hall Saturday night. Jimmy Lind's band from Toledo played for dancing.

Children Benefit
After their exchange dinner Wednesday evening, Phi Mu and Phi Kappa Tau repaired toys to give to children in Bowling Green. They made arrangements for the Welfare Department to distribute the toys to needy children.

Delta Tau Deltas gave a party Friday for the third graders from the Lab School. The children went to the Delt house for games, refreshments and gifts.

Children from the first grade of the Lab School were entertained yesterday by the Alpha Xi's. Santa Claus distributed gifts and they had refreshments and entertainment.

Chi Omega had its annual Christmas party Friday evening at the Wood County Juvenile Home.

Gamma Phi Beta's and Sigma Alpha Epsilon's annual party for the children from the Wood County Juvenile Home was Saturday at the Armory. About 38 children attended and Santa Claus presented gifts.

At Kappa Sigma's annual party, Gamma Phi Beta and Alpha Gamma Delta had tree trimming parties Saturday night. At an Alpha Xi date party Friday night their housemother, Mrs. Melva Webb, played Mrs. Santa Claus, giving out candy canes at the door and novelty presents.

Phi Mu gave an informal reception Sunday night for the soloists in The Messiah.

Christmas Banquets
Alpha Chi Omegas had their annual banquet before the AWS formal Saturday. Guests included members from the faculty, administration, and board of trustees.

Alpha Phi gave its thirteenth annual Christmas Tea Sunday afternoon from 2 to 5. All faculty and administration members and wives, house directors, and representatives of fraternities, sororities, and dormitories were invited to attend.

Exchange dinners last week included the following: Gamma Phi Beta and Kappa Sigma, Alpha Delta Pi and Sigma Nu, Alpha Xi Delta and Pi Kappa Alpha, Alpha Phi and Phi Kappa Psi, Phi Mu and Phi Kappa Tau, Delta Gamma and Zeta Beta Tau, Alpha Chi Omega and Delta Upsilon.

Alpha Xi Deltas will have a formal Christmas dinner Wednesday night. Several members of the administration and their wives will be guests.

Kappa Sigma celebrated its Founders' Day with a dinner Thursday evening for its advisers.

Alpha Phi will have a formal Christmas dinner Monday night. Delta Zeta and Alpha Gam will have their Christmas dinners Wednesday night.

The Phi Taus had a party for their dates after the basketball game Friday, and a dinner party for their dates before the formal Saturday night.
