Ideas, Problems Aired At Convo

More than 60 men, representing all of the fraternities on the campus, met in Findlay, on Saturday for the First Interfraternity Council Conference. The Conference was for the purpose of exchanging ideas and working out problems that are common among the fraternities, according to Dick Weaver, chairman of the Conference and past president of the IFC.

The men were broken up into discussion groups led by Dr. Russell Decker, assistant professor of business administration; Walter Freuff, head resident of Rodgers Quadrangle; Edward Heminger, publisher of the Findlay Republican-Courier; and Jack Taylor, '53, a former teacher at Perrysburg and now associated with a Findlay concern. All of the men are active fraternity alumni and are well-acquainted with the fraternity system at Bowling Green. The groups discussed rushing, social programs, financing, pledge training, interfraternity relations, and scholarship.

Glen Nygreen, dean of men at Kent State University spoke to the group on the role of the fraternity system in today's expanding educational institutions. He stressed cooperation among the Greek groups and with the University and urged the fraternity men present to identify themselves closer with the real role of education. The speaker is a member of the Supreme Council of Sigma Alpha Epsilon and is chairman of the fraternity leadership school.

Following both the morning and afternoon sessions of the conference the results of the group discussions were tabulated by the IFC officers and a summary was presented to the whole group by the newly-elected Council President, Fred Ashley.

Dr. Elden T. Smith, director of student life and services, and Arch B. Conklin, dean of men who serve as advisers to the IFC attended the conference and were present at several of the group discussions.

Jacques Named B-G News Editor-In-Chief

Henry Jacques, a junior majoring in journalism in the College of Liberal Arts has been selected by the publications committee as Editor of The B-G News for the coming year.

Jacques has been active in several phases of campus publications work. He served as the Administrative Assistant Editor of the '56 KEY and wrote copy for the previous year's edition of the yearbook. The new editor also has been a member of the B-G News sports staff. This year Jacques served as Co-Editor of the "Falcon Sig," the chapter publication of Sigma Chi. Before transferring from Western Reserve in his sophomore year Jacques was a reporter for the campus paper.

Jacques served as a counselor in Rodgers Quadrangle and has held several important fraternity offices. He is also a member of the Press Club.

JACQUES

As of yet, no one has been selected for the Managing Editor's position. The choice is now being carefully considered by the new editor. Applications for staff positions are now being considered, Jacques stated.

Joan Honkala, a junior majoring in journalism in the College of Liberal Arts will serve as Business Manager of the News. Miss Honkala has been assistant society editor of the News for the past two years.

HONKALA

MEGISON

Marvin Megison, a sophomore majoring in public relations journalism was appointed Business Manager of the '57 KEY. Megison has been advertising manager of the '56 KEY and is assistant sports editor of The B-G News. While in the service Megison wrote for the base paper at the Kingsville, Texas, Naval Air Station.

Liberal Arts College Introduces Privileged Student's Procedure

Beginning next year, the College of Liberal Arts will provide a regular procedure by which superior students may take advantage of university policies which permit exceptions to certain regular academic patterns.

Students will be asked to petition the Liberal Arts Council for special status. Evidence required will include specific recommendation by the student's academic adviser and by at least two class instructors; scores on an academic aptitude test and any other diagnostic test taken; superior grades in high school or superior college grades in at least two departments, with a high general average; and (when the Council feels necessary) additional scores on an appropriate test to be administered by the Counseling Service or other testing agency.

Academic advisers and faculty members are being asked to identify students who might benefit from the special status program, and to encourage them to petition, the Liberal Arts Council will recommend the specific way in which the student's program may deviate from the normal patterns. Privileges will be special considerations in credit by examination; course pre-requisites; course level restrictions; graduation requirements of the college on the basis of prior experience or demonstrated competence; major and/or minor requirements; academic load restriction; individual reading or independent research registration, and honors work; and class attendance, at the discretion of each instructor. The privileges granted to a student in the program may be reviewed and altered at any time upon evidence of changed circumstances.

137 Grad Students Enrolled For '56-'57

More than twice as many graduate students have been admitted to the University in the past four months than were accepted during the same period last year, according to Dr. Lloyd A. Helms, dean of the Graduate School.

Since the first of January, 137 students have been admitted to graduate study at the University, compared with the 67 accepted by the first of May last year, Dean Helms reported.

"This increased enrollment of graduate students," President Ralph W. McDonald commented, "is particularly advantageous to the people of Ohio in view of the recent findings of a study made by the Ohio College Association."

"The survey indicated that Ohio private and public institutions of higher education lagged behind colleges and universities of other states, more than any other way, in the number of graduate students enrolled," Dr. McDonald said.

The 137 students already accepted this year compares with the 136 graduate students admitted by the end of August, 1955. Graduate students enrolled at the University in 1954 numbered 142. In 1955, the number increased to 193.

31 Students Installed In Circle K Group

A new Circle K Club at the University was formally installed May 16. The student club was sponsored by the Bowling Green Kiwanis Club.

Stewart Henderson, district governor of Kiwanis, was in charge of the installation and initiation of the officers and members. Dr. Russell Decker, assistant professor of business administration, was chairman of the Circle K organizing committee of the Bowling Green Kiwanis Club.

Charter members of the club initiated were: Robert Drager, Raymond Presar, James Staley, Philip Cleaveland, Henry Jacques, Kenneth Robbins, Eugene France, Peter Gerace, Richard Kneiss, Theodore Johnson, James Pollock, Robert Wurzel, Jesse Conrad, William Tibbitts, Donald Ballard, Gerald Hackett, Gregory Mee, Raymond Lusher, Glenn Vogel, James Howell, Arthur Dreman, Courtney Libey, Gene Eddy, Gerald Von Bergen, Barry Curtis, Larry Garner, Lewis Geller, Terrance Lower, William Patterson, Rodger Bow, and Charles Perry.

Gamma Phi's Take First Place For Best Float

Andrea Robbins, Delta Gamma's senior candidate, was crowned the 1956 May Queen Sunday afternoon at ceremonies on the University Plaza. Selection of the queen and her court were made through the all-campus election, Thursday, May 17.

Attending Miss Robbins were Linda Sue Johnson, Gamma Phi Beta, senior attendant; Janice Weissinger, Alpha Phi, sophomore attendant and two sorority sisters of the Queen, Sally Steidtmann, junior attendant and Ann Thompson, freshman attendant.

Each sorority and dorm, in cooperation with a fraternity, presented their four candidates on floats. The award for the outstanding float went to Gamma Phi Beta, assisted by Sigma Chi. The float depicted a spring garden scene with a budding tree and bird bath. The decoration theme was carried out in pink and white colors.

Symphony Plays Final Concert

The University Symphony Orchestra, playing to a small crowd, closed its concert season with a display of unity and power in its annual spring concert in the Main Aud Sunday night.

The 50 member ensemble, conducted by Prof. Seymour Benstock, played a nearly all-German program, performing works by Brahms, Beethoven, Wagner, Richard Strauss, and—the lone outsider—Tchaikovsky.

The program opened with Brahms, "Tragic Overture," a profound composition that was well played. Richard Strauss' famous opera "Der Rosenkavilier" was represented by a series of waltzes from the opera. These light, care-free numbers were well in keeping with the attitude of the orchestra and they came off very nicely.

Jane Herrmann, a junior music major, was the featured soloist in the opening number of the second half, the first movement of Beethoven's Concerto no. 1 in C for piano and orchestra. Miss Herrmann seemed quite at home with the difficult movement and did a fine job.

Tchaikovsky's famous ballet "Swan Lake" provided the music for the closing selection as the orchestra played the suit from the ballet. Except for a little trouble with woodwinds, it came off well. As an encore, the group played a concert version of "Pop Goes the Weazel."

Platts Plan Summer Trip To Europe

Dr. Grover C. Platt, chairman of the history department at the University, and his wife, Dr. Virginia B. Platt, associate professor of history, will sail for Europe on the Empress of Britain from Montreal June 12, with their two daughters. Although both have visited Europe they have never been there together.

Dr. Platt was in Europe last summer and Mrs. Platt studied at the University of London in 1937-39.

"I expect that not traveling by ourselves will be quite different for both of us," comments Mrs. Platt.

Driving an English Hilman-Minx, they will tour France, Italy, Germany, and England. In August, they plan to attend the Edinburgh Festival in Scotland. They will sail from Liverpool Sept. 7 for home.

Dr. Platt is not planning to do any specific studying, but he is particularly interested in ancient and medieval civilizations.

Smith Acts As MC

Presenting each float and its candidates was Robert Smith, who acted as master of ceremonies.

Orchestra Entertains

The new Queen and her court were entertained by members of the Orchesta Dance Club. The group performed two numbers "To The Queen," and "Spring." The festivities were closed with the singing of the Alma Mater.

Jane Metzger was general chairman of the presentation and decorations for the queen's throne were arranged by Jo Ann Ruppanner. Sidney Stone, associate professor speech, acted as adviser.

Miles To Teach Summer Courses At Whittier

Dr. Frank F. Miles, assistant professor of sociology, will teach at Whittier College, Whittier, Calif. for the second session this summer.

Dr. Miles will teach a new course, "The Child in the Community," and also a social problems course.

The head of the sociology department at Whittier, and Dr. Miles are co-authors of a book, "Field Manual on Sociology," which was published by Dryden Press this spring. While at Whittier, Dr. Miles plans to work on a similar book dealing with social problems.

Dr. Miles said Whittier has an intercollegiate Graduate Program under which a number of colleges co-operate in giving graduate work. A student may take work at the different schools and graduate from the one of his choice.

Band To Hold Plaza Concert

The University Symphonic Band will present an open air concert at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, May 23, on the plaza south of the Practical Arts Bldg. Roy J. Weger, assistant professor of music, will conduct the band and Richard Ecker, instructor in music, is the assistant conductor.

Opening the concert will be E. E. Bageley's march, "National Emblem," followed by "An Outdoor Overture" by Aaron Copland and a chorale prelude, "Sleepers Awake" by J. S. Bach.

Student conductors, William Saul and Barbara Corwin will conduct two numbers "March of the Martians," by Soderstrom, and "T.V. Suite" by Harold Walters.

Jerry Reed has a tuba solo in "Emmett's Lullaby" by G. E. Homes. John Gregory will play a cornet solo in "Farewell My Granada."

"Deep Purple" by Peter De Rose and marches, "On the Mall" by Goldman and John Philip Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever" will be included in the program.

The concert is open to the public with no admission charge.

Ten Profs Awarded Research Grants

Research grants amounting to $3,500 have been awarded to 10 faculty members, Dr. Kenneth H. McFall, chairman of the committee on scholarly advancement, announced today.

The grants come from the University Fund for Research Aid, established in 1954 by President Ralph W. McDonald to assist faculty members in conducting advanced research studies. In the two previous years, 17 grants totaling 5,530 were made to faculty members from this fund.

Those receiving grants and descriptions of their projects for this year are as follows:

Dr. Joseph K. Balogh, associate professor of sociology, a study of the "Socio-psychological Impact of Televising Viewing on Child-Parent Relations as Indicated by Selective Attitudinal and Preferential Factors," and a study of "Penal Psychology and Panel Administration in Western European Nations."

Dr. Richard C. Carpenter, assistant professor of English, writing of a novel concerning a phase of college life on a New England campus.

Dr. Jacob Cohen, associate professor of economics, a continuation of the study of "The Concept of Financial Intermediary" and a study of the relative economic contribution of commercial banks and other financial institutions.

Dr. Edgar F. Daniels, instructor in English, research and study leading to the preparation of a monograph on "The 17th Century Basis of Milton's Satan."

Dr. John V. Falconieri, assistant professor of foreign language, a bibliographical and iconographical study of the Commedia dell'Arte, Italian comedy as performed by guilds of professional actors from about 1560 to 1625.

Dr. John T. Greene, instructor in psychology, a study of the use of different reward sequences to investigate the phenomenon of partial reinforcement.

Dr. A. J. Hammer, professor of chemistry, continuation of work on the preparation of a review of "The Analytical Chemistry of Vanadium" and on "The Geochemistry of Vanadium."

Dr. M. S. Loughheed, assistant professor of geology, a study of the relationship between "the habit of zircon and stage of granite" and "to determine the pertinency in the genesis of igneous rocks."

Dr. S. H. Lowrie, professor of sociology, continuing research relating to "Investigation of Regional Variations in Dating Behavior."

Dr. Benjamin G. Rosenberg, assistant professor of psychology, an attempt to provide objective scoring for the Yacorzski Block Test and to investigate various aspects of concept-formation.

Actives Enjoy (?) Ink Showers, Early Rising

Vaseline on the doorknobs, stolen stuffed animals, doors roped shut—an active's life just isn't safe these days. Even when she is sleeping soundly in her own room, she has no assurance that she won't be wakened at 5 a.m. and kidnapped. Yes, it's spring, the season when a young pledge's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of pranks.

Kidnap Trainer

The Chi O's also gave their pledge mistress a scare by kidnapping her and leaving her at the city jail for about an hour. Phi Mu's pledges kidnapped several actives too. Not to be outdone, the Alpha Delta Pi pledge class took its actives for a ride—out to City Park for a breakfast cook-out at 5:30 a.m. on a Saturday morning. Another early morning wake-up was accomplished by the Alpha Xi Delta pledges, who took their actives swimming at the Natatorium in the small hours of the morning.

Pranks Backfire

If the Delta Gamma pledges looked a little pale recently, it's because one of their pledge pranks backfired. Caught stealing all of the actives' makeup, they had to go without makeup themselves the next full day. A more ambitious theft was undertaken by the Alpha Phi pledges, who took the living room carpet over to the Pi Kappa Alpha house. Unfortunately for the pledges, the actives made them carry it back.

Another pledge prank which backfired was the Alpha Gamma Delta pledge class depositing the outhouse, used by the workmen on campus, in the sorority's front yard. Their actives responded with an early morning pledge court. Another pledge class to face a court was Alpha Delta Pi. Their crime? Turning off all hot water in the house, placing the actives' shoes on the roof, and shutting off the main light switch in the house so that the actives had to study by candlelight.

Richards Voted Prexy Of Young Republicans

David Richards was elected president of the University Young Republican Club at its meeting.

Others elected were Alan Sastrowood, vice-president; Jean Goldinger, secretary; and Arthur Limbaugh, treasurer. Rachel Davis was appointed membership chairman, and Herb Moskowitz will continue as publicity chairman.

Roy H. Longnecker, member of the Ohio House of Representatives for 16 years, spoke to the group on the subjects, "Why I Like Politics."

ODK To Honor New Members At Dinner

Omicron Delta Kappa, men's leadership honorary, will hold a banquet for new members Tuesday, May 29, at 6 p.m. at Portage American Legion Hall. The announcement was made by Brad S. Greenberg, president of ODK.

John Gargus is chairman of the committee planning the banquet program. The affair will take place following the announcement of the names of the new members at the annual Honors Day program.

News Staff To Picnic

The B-G News staff will hold a picnic this Saturday afternoon at Side Cut Park. Marcia Karszewski and Charlotte Sennett, society editors, are planning the affair.

Members of the staff interested in going who have not paid the $50 may do so to either of the society editors.

A lunch and recreation period are planned for the afternoon.

Liberal Arts College Introduces Privileged Student's Procedure

Beginning next year, the College of Liberal Arts will provide a regular procedure by which superior students may take advantage of university policies which permit exceptions to certain regular academic patterns.

Students will be asked to petition the Liberal Arts Council for special status. Evidence required will include specific recommendation by the student's academic adviser and by at least two class instructors; scores on an academic aptitude test and any other diagnostic test taken; superior grades in high school or superior college grades in at least two departments, with a high general average; and (when the Council feels necessary) additional scores on an appropriate test to be administered by the Counseling Service or other testing agency.

Academic advisers and faculty members are being asked to identify students who might benefit from the special status program, and to encourage them to petition, the Liberal Arts Council will recommend the specific way in which the student's program may deviate from the normal patterns. Privileges will be special considerations in credit by examination; course pre-requisites; course level restrictions; group requirements of the college on the basis of prior experience or demonstrated competence; major and/or minor requirements; academic load restriction; individual reading or independent research registration, and honors work; and class attendance, at the discretion of each instructor. The privileges granted to a student in the program may be reviewed and altered at any time upon evidence of changed circumstances.

137 Grad Students Enrolled For '56-'57

More than twice as many graduate students have been admitted to the University in the past four months than were accepted during the same period last year, according to Dr. Lloyd A. Helms, dean of the Graduate School.

Since the first of January, 137 students have been admitted to graduate study at the University, compared with the 67 accepted by the first of May last year, Dean Helms reported.

Andrea Robbins, Delta Gamma's senior candidate, was crowned the 1956 May Queen Sunday afternoon at ceremonies on the University Plaza. Selection of the queen and her court were made through the all-campus election, Thursday, May 17.

Attending Miss Robbins were Linda Sue Johnson, Gamma Phi Beta, senior attendant; Janice Weissinger, Alpha Phi, sophomore attendant and two sorority sisters of the Queen, Sally Steidtmann, junior attendant and Ann Thompson, freshman attendant.

Each sorority and dorm, in cooperation with a fraternity, presented their four candidates on floats. The award for the outstanding float went to Gamma Phi Beta, assisted by Sigma Chi. The float depicted a spring garden scene with a budding tree and bird bath. The decoration theme was carried out in pink and white colors.

Symphony Plays Final Concert

The University Symphony Orchestra, playing to a small crowd, closed its concert season with a display of unity and power in its annual spring concert in the Main Aud Sunday night.

The 50 member ensemble, conducted by Prof. Seymour Benstock, played a nearly all-German program, performing works by Brahms, Beethoven, Wagner, Richard Strauss, and—the lone outsider—Tchaikovsky.

The program opened with Brahms, "Tragic Overture," a profound composition that was well played. Richard Strauss' famous opera "Der Rosenkavilier" was represented by a series of waltzes from the opera. These light, care-free numbers were well in keeping with the attitude of the orchestra and they came off very nicely.

Jane Herrmann, a junior music major, was the featured soloist in the opening number of the second half, the first movement of Beethoven's Concerto no. 1 in C for piano and orchestra. Miss Herrmann seemed quite at home with the difficult movement and did a fine job.

Tchaikovsky's famous ballet "Swan Lake" provided the music for the closing selection as the orchestra played the suit from the ballet. Except for a little trouble with woodwinds, it came off well. As an encore, the group played a concert version of "Pop Goes the Weasel."

Platts Plan Summer Trip To Europe

Dr. Grover C. Platt, chairman of the history department at the University, and his wife, Dr. Virginia B. Platt, associate professor of history, will sail for Europe on the Empress of Britain from Montreal June 12, with their two daughters. Although both have visited Europe they have never been there together.

Dr. Platt was in Europe last summer and Mrs. Platt studied at the University of London in 1937-39.

"I expect that not traveling by ourselves will be quite different for both of us," comments Mrs. Platt.

Driving an English Hilman-Minx, they will tour France, Italy, Germany, and England. In August, they plan to attend the Edinburgh Festival in Scotland. They will sail from Liverpool Sept. 7 for home.

Dr. Platt is not planning to do any specific studying, but he is particularly interested in ancient and medieval civilizations.

Smith Acts As MC

Presenting each float and its candidates was Robert Smith, who acted as master of ceremonies.

Orchestra Entertains

The new Queen and her court were entertained by members of the Orchestra Dance Club. The group performed two numbers "To The Queen," and "Spring." The festivities were closed with the singing of the Alma Mater.

Jane Metzger was general chairman of the presentation and decorations for the queen's throne were arranged by Jo Ann Ruppner. Sidney Stone, associate professor speech, acted as adviser.

Miles To Teach Summer Courses At Whittier

Dr. Frank F. Miles, assistant professor of sociology, will teach at Whittier College, Whittier, Calif. for the second session this summer.

Dr. Miles will teach a new course, "The Child in the Community," and also a social problems course.

The head of the sociology department at Whittier, and Dr. Miles are co-authors of a book, "Field Manual on Sociology," which was published by Dryden Press this spring. While at Whittier, Dr. Miles plans to work on a similar book dealing with social problems.

Dr. Miles said Whittier has an Intercollegiate Graduate Program under which a number of colleges co-operate in giving graduate work. A student may take work at the different schools and graduate from the one of his choice.

Ten Profs Awarded Research Grants

Research grants amounting to $3,500 have been awarded to 10 faculty members, Dr. Kenneth H. McFail, chairman of the committee on scholarly advancement, announced today.

The grants come from the University Fund for Research Aid, established in 1954 by President Ralph W. McDonald to assist faculty members in conducting advanced research studies. In the two previous years, 17 grants totaling 5,530 were made to faculty members from this fund.

Those receiving grants and descriptions of their projects for this year are as follows:

Dr. Joseph K. Balogh, associate professor of sociology, a study of the "Socio-psychological Impact of Televising Viewing on Child-Parent Relations as Indicated by Selective Attitudinal and Preferential Factors," and a study of "Penal Psychology and Panel Administration in Western European Nations."

Dr. Richard C. Carpenter, assistant professor of English, writing of a novel concerning a phase of college life on a New England campus.

Dr. Jacob Cohen, associate professor of economics, a continuation of the study of "The Concept of Financial Intermediary" and a study of the relative economic contribution of commercial banks and other financial institutions.

Dr. Edgar F. Daniels, instructor in English, research and study leading to the preparation of a monograph on "The 17th Century Basis of Milton's Satan."

Dr. John V. Falconieri, assistant professor of foreign language, a bibliographical and iconographical study of the Commedia dell'Arte, Italian comedy as performed by guilds of professional actors from about 1560 to 1625.

Dr. John T. Greene, instructor in psychology, a study of the use of different reward sequences to investigate the phenomenon of partial reinforcement.

Dr. A. J. Hammer, professor of chemistry, continuation of work

on the preparation of a review of "The Analytical Chemistry of Vanadium" and on "The Geochemistry of Vanadium."

Dr. M. S. Loughheed, assistant professor of geology, a study of the relationship between "the habit of zircon and stage of granite" and "to determine the pertinency in the genesis of igneous rocks."

Dr. S. H. Lowrie, professor of sociology, continuing research relating to "Investigation of Regional Variations in Dating Behavior."

Dr. Benjamin G. Rosenberg, assistant professor of psychology, an attempt to provide objective scoring for the Yacorzski Block Test and to investigate various aspects of concept-formation.

University Growth

The building surge on the Bowling Green campus is far from being unusual. Rather, it is typical of most colleges and universities from Maine to Florida to Oregon—those schools making provisions to accept the vastly-increased number of students who will want in by 1960-70.

College-age students will be boosted a third by 1960, and statisticians say almost two-thirds by 1970. This isn't guesswork. These potential college students are already in the latter part of elementary school, some in secondary work. According to the Department of Commerce, kindergarten enrollment jumped 82 per cent, elementary 24 per cent, and high school 19 per cent from 1950-1955.

Ohio State, for example, now has better than 21,000 students and the total is figured to double—to 42,000 by 1970. And it is the state-supported schools, Bowling Green, OSU, etc., which have to absorb the bulk of the increase. Little more than a high-school diploma is necessary for admittance, but the trend is definitely towards imposing some restrictions to curb overcrowded conditions.

So, the buildings continue, and for Bowling Green and other state schools not only in Ohio but in the 48, the problem is getting the funds for the minimum construction necessary. Sources may include donations, endowments, tuition fees, tax funds, and borrowing. Others, as Bowling Green has, have taken to the sale of bonds to finance the self-liquidating buildings, like the Union, residence halls, and eating places.

One shocker is that the lack of parking accommodations here is a typical situation. Old cars are cheaper or students generally have more money to spend, but the result is the same—more cars than parking spaces.

Two solutions have been found. One is the outright banning of all student vehicles from the campus and from the college community. The other, more difficult solution is to provide for the cars. Minnesota built four underground garages, and a seven-level parking ramp to supplement the normal parking areas. University of California plans an expenditure of more than $2 million in the next five years for parking areas. And Ohio State contemplates an outdoor conveyor system to take students to the main campus from a parking area across the Scioto River.

The bricks seem always to come, slowly at first when the money is hardest to find, but the inevitable fortunately does happen, the buildings go up. "You can buy bricks, but you can't buy trained personnel," comes from Dr. Ernest V. Hollis of the Health, Education, and Welfare Department. This remains the major problem.

The present staff of 150,000 teachers in 1,855 American institutions of higher education must number about 330,000 by 1970 as a minimum staff for the enrollment.

And most must come from the present college enrollment in the undergraduate level. Additional training and then experience to the classes from '56 to '60 is what will give the country the necessary teaching staff. The time has passed for this to be fully realized and we are now reaching the danger zone.

Inducements must come for present-day college students to become college teachers, or the college learning experiences will pass from the instructional and experimental to the automatic and systematic.

New Telephone System Installed

Plans are being made to install a new switchboard system on the second floor of the Maintenance Bldg., said John W. Bunn, director of residential and plant operations. Installation is expected to be completed in September.

Telephone calls made on campus will automatically be channeled to the Maintenance Bldg. and relayed to the number requested. Under the present system, calls made on campus to dormitories are channeled to a switchboard in town, and relayed back to campus.

The switchboard will be attended by six operators. "In effect, the University will have its own telephone company," said Mr. Bunn.

Many electrical improvements will be made on campus to handle electrical loads from new dormitories under construction. Telephone poles along side of Kohl Hall are being ripped down, and streets are being torn up in preparation for the installation of electrical systems.

12 Students Tapped For Book, Motor

Dr. Virginia Platt, associate professor of history, was initiated as an honorary member of Book and Motor, scholarship society, at the annual initiation dinner held May 17.

Other initiates were Veda Burkley, Sandra Clark, Ross Cornell, Robert Fleischer, Mary Jo Freshley, William Gibson, Allys Goldsmith, Jane Herrmann, Thomas Kinstle, Jane Metzger, Gilbert Pierce, and James Trace.

Book and Motor officers are Fred Ashley, president; Coleen Schaefer, vice-president; Linda Welshimer, secretary; and William Schmeltz, associate professor of accounting, treasurer.

Bus Ed Department Buys New Machines

Three new pieces of office equipment have been purchased by the business education department, Dr. Galen Stutsman, department chairman, announced.

A Burroughs accounting machine, a Marchant calculator, and a Clairy ten-key adding machine have been added to the department's equipment.

Expected before the summer session begins are six new Underwood electric typewriters, Dr. Stutsman added.

Student To Receive "Credit Men" Award

The Toledo Association of Credit Men will present its annual award to the outstanding student in credit management on Honors Day.

The award consists of: a copy of Credit Manual of Commercial Laws; a certificate of honor; and the winner's name inscribed on a plaque, to be presented to the University by the association.

Two Receive Masters Degrees In English

Carol Doren and Robert Burnett will receive Masters' degrees in English, according to Dr. Howard Brogan, chairman of the English department.

Mr. Burnett is writing his thesis on George Herbert, a baroque poet. Miss Doren is writing an imagery of Shakespeare's "Anthony and Cleopatra."

Southern Cal Alums Organize; Bright Tassels Adorn Grads

BY BRAD GREENBERG

A letter from Ivan "Doc" Lake, '23, tells us that 34 BG graduates met in Norwalk Park, Calif., on May 6 and organized the Southern California alumni chapter. "Doc" is also the former editor of the Sentinel-Tribune, and makes his present home in San Diego.

Present at the meeting was Mrs. Ruth Crosby Spreng, '18, who registered in the first class to attend BG in 1914 and was the first graduate to teach in California, going there in 1921.

The names of the persons there might be familiar to some students and more faculty. Those who attended:

Mrs. Margaret Allis McDaniel, '29; Jean Robertson Wood, '31; Orrin Wisely, '34; David and Helen Callin, '35; M. Reed Shelley, '38; Dr. Paul Powell and Eugene P. Basinger, both '39; Marie Lutz Aslin, '40; Charles P. Catanese and Betty Jennings Plaucher, '41; Alberta Ruelle Rodrigues, '42.

Joann Rigdon Knibb, '44; Dorothy Secor Thomas and Eugene Thomas, '46; Ruth Willey Foster, '47; Marjorie Weekley Apel, '48; Rose Calieni, Eleanor Purser Dennis and Willard Dennis, Sabina Slichinski Schwab and Karl Schwab, all of '49; Merlin Apel, Rodger F. Kurtz, and Dwight Teater, '50; Hazel Shelton Dimick, Wells Gorman, '54; and Victoria Korosi and Margie Mueller Mick, '55.

VALUES: We read that Andrea Robbins, for being named top senior in business education, received, among other things, a year's supply of back issues of a business education magazine. Good luck, Andy.

Closer yet to cap and gown time, and a little pamphlet from Dr. Harshman clears up things bothering us about differences in gowns. For those with hoods on their gowns, that hood varies in width with the three degrees, bachelor being the narrowest and doctor's the longest. All hoods have velvet borders with blue for philosophy, white for arts, light blue for education, and gold for science.

But more colorful bits are found in the colored tassels which represent departments by the candidates for degrees.

Among the brighter tassels are pink for music, apricot for nursing, nile green for chiropody, citron for social service, drab for accounting, lemon for library science, cerise for naprapathy, salmon for public health, and of course, black and white for journalism.

Practical jokes seem to have caught on this spring, incited we like to feel by the fake SICSIC story that our beloved managing editor fell into. Since the tale

Key Positions Open

The 1957 Key is already in the planning stage. Positions are open on the lay-out, copy-writing, advertising, and office staffs for next year.

Students interested in working on the book should contact Ann Blackmar at the Alpha Xi Delta house, 5763, before the end of the school year. No experience is necessary, but please indicate in what area you would like to work.

Home Ec Majors Planning Meals

Students in the advanced foods class, a course for home economic majors, are giving a series of formal meals as a part of their classwork.

Wednesday, May 16, they entertained the following at a buffet supper: Dr. and Mrs. Donald S. Longworth, Dr. and Mrs. Elden T. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Buford, Dr. and Mrs. Donald W. Bowman, and Dr. Melvin Hyman.

A formal dinner and a formal luncheon are scheduled to be given this week.

The entire meals are planned, prepared and served by the students. They are responsible for buying all the food, making out the guest list, and inviting the guests. After each meal is given, the students make out a score card, scoring the meal according to set standards.

TILL WE MEET AGAIN

I always find myself yawning hugely when a comedian, having finished his act, steps out in front of the curtain, takes off his putty nose, assumes a sincere stance, and delivers an oration full of tender and lofty sentiments.

So how come I'm doing precisely the same thing right now?

Two reasons. First, because I couldn't possibly make you laugh at this time of the year; cramming for finals has left you wan, woebegone, and in no mood for innocent merriment.

Second, because this is the last column of the current series, and I'd be a liar if I didn't admit I was just a tiny bit choked up.

It was two years ago that the makers of Philip Morris asked me to write this column. My first impulse, frankly, was to say no. Though I am a man who likes a dollar as well as the next fellow, my talents just do not seem to lead me in the direction of writing advertising copy. When called upon to rhapsodize about soap or sex or cigarettes, I get to giggling uncontrollably and have to be helped home.

"Buddies," said I to the makers of Philip Morris, "I smoke Philip Morris myself, and I think it's a jim-dandy cigarette. But that's all I think it is—a cigarette. Not a graven image. Not a love object. Just a smoke. I'm afraid I can't get reverent enough to write ad copy for you."

To my astonishment, they seemed delighted. "Reverence is not required," said the people at Philip Morris. They assured me that I would not be required to write fulsome commercials—that I could rib the cigarette and the company all I liked—that my columns would be mine alone, with no editing, no suggestions, and no supervision.

"Hah!" I said by way of reply.

But they kept insisting and finally, my thin breast full of misgivings, I went to work.

For the first few weeks they were scrupulously true to their words. Not one syllable, not one comma, was ever changed; not one quarter-ounce of pressure was ever exerted. But my doubts were not laid to rest. "When will the honeymoon be over?" I kept asking myself.

...the honeymoon is still going on

The answer, gentle readers, is that the honeymoon is still going on. This finishes my second year for Philip Morris. During that time, though I'm sure my copy caused an occasional conniption fit in the boardroom, my carte blanche has remained as blanche as the day it was issued. Whatever I've perpetrated in this column has been, as they guaranteed, mine alone.

They've been living dolls, the makers of Philip Morris, and I think I may be forgiven for getting a trifle misty. And as long as the stops are out, let me say that it's also been a big charge writing for you, the college population of America. Your response has warmed my old heart, and on the occasions when I've visited your campuses, it's been deeply gratifying to see that you're still as pleasantly disorganized as ever. I figure that as long as the likes of you exist, I'm in business.

So, for now, goodbye. Stay well. Stay happy. Stay loose.

©Max Shulman, 1958

Old Max has said it all. We, the makers of Philip Morris, can only add a heartfelt second chorus: Stay well. Stay happy. Stay loose.

Rockets Humiliate Falcons, 7-5, 7-2

The Bowling Green Falcons dropped two tiffs to their chief competitors the Toledo Rockets last week end as the Rockets swept through the series with 7-5 and 7-2 triumphs. Infield errors by the Falcons constituted the winning margin for the Toledo Rockets in the first game on the Toledo diamond as they set the Falcons back 7-5.

The Rockets tore into the game in the first inning by peppering the infield with short line-drives, and scoring one run on a walk. In the third frame, the Rockets blasted in four runs, two of which were scored on Falcon errors. It was a long inning for the Rockets and a short one for the Falcons as pitcher Jerry Eitzman scored two of his nine strikeouts in that frame.

Falcons Score

The Falcons finally shifted in gear in the fifth, scoring one run, but were victims to an unassisted double play by the Rocket third baseman. The Rockets also scored one run in that frame.

Hughes Triples

In the sixth inning, the Rockets scored one run while the Falcons reached their scoring peak by blasting in three runs, two of which were scored by L. A. Hughes' triple. Pitcher Don Purvis ran into trouble after walking two, and was replaced by right-hander Joe Podijil.

Russ Bierly, star first baseman of the Rockets, led his teammates on a torrid hitting pace, as he tallied three hits in four trips to the plate, and walking his third time up.

Score One In Eighth

In the eighth frame, the Falcons tapered off their rally, scoring only one run. In the Falcons last attempt in the ninth, Glen Matter walked, but the game ended with three dancing grounders, and outs at first. Podijil finished the game, walking one and fanning four.

Lose Saturday, 7-2

In the Saturday game, the Falcons scored one run in the first but watched the Rockets tie the game in the second and move ahead with four runs in the third. The Rockets hit pitchers Dick Johoske and Ted Johnson 10 times to a Bowling Green nine hit spree.

Netters Belt OU, Lose To Broncos

The BG netters traveled to Ohio University and Marshall College last weekend and managed a split in the two tilts. After soundly thrashing the Bobcats of OU 8-1, the Falcons were nipped by the contingent from Huntington, 5-4.

All But One Victory

At Ohio University the Falcons swept every match but one singles dual in which Dick Woolwine edged out Tom Crow 4-6, 6-1, and 6-1. In the singles the victors for BG were Ron Fulgenzi, Dave Young, Ed Wahl, DeWayne Smith, and Jerry Kramer. The Falcons swept aside all opposition in the doubles matches as the combinations of Fulgenzi and Smith, Young and Wahl, and Kramer and Crow romped to victories.

Falcons Battle Big Green

At Huntington the Big Green and the Falcon squad battled each other on even terms until the final doubles match in which the BG twosome of Tom Crow and Jerry Kramer was thwarted by Chester Bearden and Bill Siedel 1-6, 6-3, and 7-5. Up until the final and deciding match Ed Wahl, DeWayne Smith, Kramer, and the doubles team of Young and Wahl carried the brunt of the attack for the netters. Victors for Marshall were Bill Bias, Bearden, and Seidel. The Herd's doubles team of Bias and Larry Hite took the first of the three doubles matches.

Final Dual Meet

The southern junket was the final dual competition the Falcon's will face before the Mid-American Conference meet to be held here at Bowling Green next Friday and Saturday. The meet will conclude the season's activities.

Spring Champs Crowned Sat.

Approximately 225 to 250 athletes from the seven Mid-American Conference schools will converge on Bowling Green which is the scene of the MAC spring sports championship meet. The majority will arrive Thursday and the champions will be crowned Saturday afternoon at 3:40 in the University Stadium. Trophies will be handed out for the league champions of the entire year.

Team Housing

The teams will be housed in Falcon Hall, East Hall, and West Hall. Thursday the participants will spend the day practicing. Thursday at 8 p.m. there will be Stag Party in the American Legion Hall. All conference representatives, visiting press, and radio men may attend.

Tennis and golf commence Friday morning. At 9:30 a.m. there is a Council Meeting scheduled for faculty representatives and athletic directors.

Track Prelims

At 4 p.m. the track preliminaries will be run off. The Joint Conference Dinner will take place at 7 p.m. in Williams Hall. The MAC business meeting will immediately follow the dinner.

On Saturday at 9 a.m. the final 18 holes of golf will start. The final tennis single matches are at 11 a.m. and the doubles are at 2 p.m.

Track finals are from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m. Upon the completion of the track events the final presentations of the year will be made.

Golfers Whip Marshall, Defeated By Broncos

Western Michigan came out on top last Saturday in a triangular golf match with Bowling Green and Marshall.

The Broncos defeated BG, 12-6, and Marshall, 10 1/2-4 1/2. The Bowling Green Falcons registered a win with Marshall, 19 1/2-4 1/2.

Low scores were shot by Dave Steinen of BG and Ray Bovee of Western Michigan. Both had 73s over the Bowling Green Country Club course.

Theta Chi, K Sig Continue To Lead IM Softball Loops

Theta Chi won its fifth straight game and clinched a tie for first in League I in fraternity softball Wednesday, May 16.

Theta Chi, scoring all its runs in the last two innings, beat unbent Sigma Alpha Epsilon 7-1. Thomas Lanwehr hit a home run for the losers only run.

By winning a make-up game with Phi Delta Theta, Theta Chi can clinch the crown. A loss would leave them in a tie with SAE.

In League II, Kappa Sigma suffered its first loss, 3-0 to Delta Tau Delta, but remained in first place with five wins and one loss. The Deltas were out-hit six to three but made the hits count for runs in each of the first three innings.

In other League I action, the Phi Deltas scored 17 runs in the first inning and went on to trounce Delta Epsilon 32-6. Sigma Chi scored six runs in the fifth inning to come from behind and defeat Sigma Phi Epsilon 7-4.

In League II, Alpha Kappa Omega won a slugfest from Zeta Beta Tau 18-11, and Sigma Nu edged Delta Upsilon 4-2.

The Rockets continued to lead in independent softball, winning their sixth in a row from the Richies 9-0, Ivy Hall defeated the Veterans 7-5 to move into second place.

Hobart Bests Muir In Tennis Tourney

The single elimination intramural tennis tournament was decided on May 8th when Bob Hobart defeated Bill Muir 12-6 on the University courts.

Hobart disposed of four other hopefuls on his way to the finals. He was pressed by Paul Harnad before pulling out a 12-10 victory. Joe Charlton was his semi-final opponent.

Bill Muir received a first round bye, won by forfeit in the second round, defeated Larry Gardner and John Jarrett before competing with the champion.

The tournament was marred by frequent forfeits which were the result of inclement weather.

BG Still Draws Hoop Flashes, Rosswurm Praises Anderson

By LES WAGNER

The announcement that Dick Rosswurm, Toledo DeVilbiss cage flash, will enter Bowling Green next fall was a pleasant surprise. In recent years, coach Harold Anderson has had but one team which lived up to the Falcons reputation. But it appears that past history is still drawing in these young high school stars. Last years freshman team certainly proved that.

Rosswurm paid Anderson a tribute when he said he considered him one of the country's best coaches. That was his main reason for attending Bowling Green.

The 1956-57 varsity should blossom into a top notch combination eventually. Their lack of experience may hinder them some at the start, and veterans like Boo Ellis, Al Reinke, and Bucky Slessinger will be pivotal men.

Next years contingent will cover a good portion of this nation on their cheap sightseeing tour. From the Niagara Falls region to Mormon country, Canisius and Brigham Young are the respective teams of those two areas. The Cougars are well regarded in basketball circles. Traditionally, the Skyline Conference cage race is between Brigham Young and Utah. A few years back, a Brigham Young squad went on to take top honors at the National Invitational Tournament in New York. All-American Mel Hutchins led that team.

Traditionally powerful Western Kentucky and Duquesne add flavor to the schedule. Loyola of Chicago and DePaul are the best around the Chicago area. Marquette is the pride of their region.

Five of the Falcons opponents entered tournament ball this year. Canisius, Duquesne, and Marquette went to the NIT. DePaul and Marshall were in the NCAA championships.

If sophomores Jim McDonald and Rex Leach meet expectations, Bowling Green has an outside chance of grabbing their initial MAC hoop title. Defending champion Marshall will still be the team to beat. This experienced unit has been working together for about two years. Center Charlie Slack was the lone loss from this years team.

With Ellis, Leach, Reinke, Slessinger, and Jerry Kramer, one thing the Falcons will enjoy over their opponents will be a height advantage.

Continuing with the MAC expansion program, Kent State has added the University of Louisville to its grid schedule and Niagara University in basketball. The Louisville game will be the second one for the Flashes, following the Bowling Green contest. This early two game road trip could make or break the Golden Flashes.

Transportation, Band Clubs Elect; Spanish Club Plans Coming Year

Thomas Snide has been elected president of the Transportation Club for next year. Other officers are George DeGennaro, first vice-president; David E. Visney, second vice-president; Donnel F. Clark, secretary; and John D. Travis, treasurer.

The Transportation Club was formed last February by the economics department for all transportation majors and others especially interested in the field. At present, the group has 21 members. Dr. Leland S. Van Scoyoc, the club's adviser, says that the group eventually hopes to affiliate with Delta Nu Alpha, national professional transportation fraternity.

Linda Wipior was elected president of El Circulo Hispanico, Spanish club at the May 16 meeting according to John Falconieri, assistant professor of foreign language. Other officers elected were Arlene Cohen, vice-president; Myrna Hooper, secretary; Joseph Chensky, treasurer.
