DiSalle, Hatcher To Give Convocation Speeches

Addresses by the Honorable Michael V. DiSalle, Governor of Ohio, and Dr. Harlan H. Hatcher, President of the University of Michigan, will provide the highlights of the University's gala Golden Anniversary Convocation, next Thursday. The Convocation will climax the year-long Anniversary celebration.

Governor DiSalle will speak on "You and Your State," and Dr. Hatcher on "New Responsibilities of the State University."

Attending the Convocation will be faculty, administrators, and delegates from colleges and universities throughout the state; delegates from learned societies and associations; and students, faculty, and alumni of the University.

A large-scale campus-wide birthday party has been planned by the Golden Anniversary Committee to celebrate the date upon which the University officially was founded 50 years ago. Included in the plans in addition to the Convocation, are a special Anniversary dinner for all campus students, featuring 343 birthday cakes distributed to all campus residence halls, open houses for all campus housing units from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; and decoration of the entire campus with orange and brown pennants. Afternoon classes on Thursday have been cancelled.

The menu for the Anniversary dinner will include fruit cocktail, grilled strip steaks, oven brown potatoes, corn, an Anniversary salad, relish plates, and hot rolls.

The Convocation program will begin at 2:30 p.m., following the Anniversary luncheon. The University Concert Band will play "The Anniversary Academic March," an original composition by Gerald Lefkoff, University instructor in music, for the processional, which officially will open the Convocation.

Following the processional, the Most Reverend George J. Rehring, Bishop of Toledo, will give the invocation. Governor DiSalle's speech will follow. At the conclusion of the speech, President Ralph W. McDonald will confer an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws upon Governor DiSalle.

DiSalle

Dr. Hatcher then will speak. His address will be followed by special music presented by a mixed chorus, an antiphonal brass choir and a symphonic wind ensemble, conducted by Cardon V. Burnham, assistant professor of music. The group will play a composition written by Professor Burnham, entitled "Cantus Prospectus: A Song of Dedication."

Hatcher

The results of the five-year long contest to choose a new alma mater for the University will be announced and the new alma mater presented after the special music production. The Convocation will conclude with a benediction by Bishop Rehring, and the recessional.

"This is the culminating event of the Golden Anniversary Year," said Dr. Ralph G. Harshman, vice president of the University. "In 50 years Bowling Green has grown from a normal school to a state teachers college, then to a state college, and finally to a state university. We not only celebrate the first 50 years, but also point the way to the next 50 years."

Governor DiSalle was elected Governor of Ohio in 1958. Previously he had been a member of the Ohio House of Representatives, first president of the Ohio Association of Municipalities, Mayor of Toledo, chairman of the advisory board of the United States Conference of Mayors and director of the Offices of Price Stabilization and Economic Stabilization.

Dr. Hatcher, a native Ohioan with an honorary LL.D. degree from Bowling Green, has been President of the University of Michigan since 1951. In his first seven years in office he has set several guideposts for meeting the inevitable upward surge of enrollment, including controlled growth year by year, maintenance of high standards, and continued growth both in the University's distinction and in its size. Dr. Hatcher has long been interested in the history and development of the Great Lakes region and recently served on the Soo Locks Centennial Commission. He is the author of several novels and volumes of history dealing with this region and especially with his native Ohio.

McDonald Proclaims May 19 Official 'Golden Anniversary Day'

Ohio Congress Sends Greetings

Following is a concurrent resolution submitted before the 86th Congress May 5 by the Honorable Delbert C. Latta (Dem.), Congressman from the Fifth District.

Whereas Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, Ohio, will celebrate its golden anniversary on May 19, 1960; and

Whereas during these past fifty years Bowling Green State University has grown from a small normal school to one of the Nation's outstanding State universities offering a diversity of programs to its many students; and

Whereas Bowling Green State University has during these past fifty years been chosen as the alma mater of students from the length and breadth of the United States and from many foreign lands; and

Publicity Pays Off; 'Inherit The Wind' Features Monkey

"Keep in the scene 100 per cent, but always under control." This quote, from Dr. Donald C. Kleckner, is law for all actors in the University Theatre presentation of "Inherit the Wind." The play, now in its second night, is built around the Scopes case which brought together Clarence Darrow and William Jennings Bryan in the climactic trial that tested an anti-evolution law in the 1920s. The Broadway production of the play starred Paul Muni, Ed Begley, and Tony Randall.

Dr. Kleckner had some difficulty locating a monkey to play the part of an organ grinder's companion. The monkey originally chosen to play the part suffered from stage fright and had to be replaced.

In response to considerable publicity on local radio stations and in area newspapers, a little spider monkey named "Minnie" was offered to Dr. Kleckner. She has been cast in the play.

Tickets for "Inherit the Wind" are still on sale in the business office, at $1.25 for adults, 50 cents for children, and 5 cents for University students with ID cards. All seats are reserved.

REHEARSAL REMINDERS—Dr. Donald Kleckner, director of "Inherit the Wind," gives last minute directions to members of his cast. The play, which opened last night, will be presented tonight and Saturday in the main auditorium.

Whereas Bowling Green State University is presently engaged in an expansion program designed to further enable this university to properly educate and equip its students to meet the needs and demands of a challenging future; and

Whereas Bowling Green State University has during these fifty years enriched not only the lives of its students, its faculty, its administrative officers, and members of its board of trustees, but has enriched the lives of the many citizens of the community of Bowling Green, Ohio, as well; Therefore be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives (the Senate concurring). That the Congress hereby extends its greetings and felicitations to Bowling Green State University on the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of its founding, and joins with the people of the United States in giving recognition to and expressing appreciation for the outstanding contribution Bowling Green State University has made to the field of higher education in America and in wishing this great university continued success.

General Assembly Sends Representatives To Anniversary Celebration

Following is a resolution adopted by the 103rd General Assembly of the State of Ohio at its regular session July 21, 1959. It was introduced by State Representative Charles Kurfess (Rep.—Perryburg Township).

Whereas, Governor Judson Harmon, on May 19, 1910, signed into law House Bill No. 44, passed by the 78th General Assembly, which brought into existence a state normal school at Bowling Green to serve the northwestern part of the state; and

Whereas, The establishment of this school and its subsequent growth is recognized as a giant step forward in Ohio's matchless and indefatigable effort to remain abreast with the ever increasing demand of its citizens for greater and improved education facilities; and

Whereas, This institution has grown through the years from a normal school to a state college and eventually to Bowling Green State University, with greatly expanded facilities and curriculum; and

versity is providing the citizens of Ohio and the nation and even citizens of foreign nations with education and training of the highest degree, and has established a reputation as a leader in the field of higher education; therefore be it

Resolved, That we, the members of the 103rd General Assembly, with a feeling of sincere confidence in the promising future of Bowling Green State University, extend our congratulations and best wishes to the Bowling Green community, the board of trustees, the administration, faculty and student body of Bowling Green State University, and to all those persons who have contributed to the university's magnificent growth, upon the occasion of its Golden Anniversary and express our appreciation for fifty years of work well done; and be it further

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House and the President Pro Tem of the Senate appoint a joint committee of members of the House and Senate to represent the General Assembly at the functions commemorating the Golden Anniversary of the establishment of Bowling Green State University; and be it further

Resolved, That the Clerk of the House transmit duly authenticated copies of this Resolution to each member of the Board of Trustees, to Ralph W. McDonald, President of Bowling Green State University, to the Daily Sentinel-Tribune, Bowling Green, Ohio, and the B-G News, the University newspaper.

Now, Therefore, I, F. Gus Skibbie,

versity is providing the citizens of Ohio and the nation and even citizens of foreign nations with education and training of the highest degree, and has established a reputation as a leader in the field of higher education; therefore be it

Resolved, That we, the members of the 103rd General Assembly, with a

Final Concert Features Violinist Mischakoff

The University Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Seymour L. Benstock, assistant professor of music, will play its final concert of the year at 8:15 p.m. Sunday, in the ballroom of the Union. Soloist for this last event of the Artist Series will be the world-famous violinist, Mischa Mischakoff, who will play "The Poeme," by Ernest Chausson and "The Gypsy Airs," by Pablo de Sarasate.

The orchestral portion of the program will commemorate the University's Golden Anniversary. The opening selection, "Jubilee," is by the nineteenth century romantic American composer, George Chadwick. This will be followed by the suite from "The Faithful Shepherd," by Handel. Judy Mylander, solo flutist for the orchestra, will be heard as soloist in the second movement of this suite.

The final composition of the evening will be the "Academic Festival Overture," by Johannes Brahms. This work was composed as an expression of gratitude in 1879, when Breslau University conferred upon Brahms the degree of doctor of philosophy. "The Gaudemus Ogitur," the most famous of all academic student songs, also by Brahms, will conclude the orchestra's tribute to the Golden Anniversary year.

President's Review Set For Tuesday

The University Stadium will be the site of the annual President's Review Tuesday, May 17. The combined cadet corps of the Army and Air Force ROTC will be massed at the Common Hour period.

Dr. Ralph G. Harshman, vice president of the University, will perform the ceremonial inspection and review of the cadet corps in place of President Ralph W. McDonald. He also will present the awards to the outstanding cadets of both units.

The military ceremonies will commence with the massing of the troops, and the playing of the National Anthem by the combined Army Band and Air Force Drum and Bugle Corps. The reviewing officers, Dr. Harshman, and the combined staff then will inspect the troops by "trooping the line," passing in front of the individual units. Air Force and Army decorations then will be presented. Following this, the cadets will pass in review.

In case of inclement weather, a yellow flag will be displayed from the Stadium flag pole at the east end of the field, and the combined corps will meet in the Administration Bldg.

Mayor Declares BGSU Month

Whereas, Governor Judson Harmon on May 19, 1910, signed into law House Bill No. 44, passed by the 78th General Assembly, which brought into existence a state normal school to serve the northwestern part of the State of Ohio; and

Whereas, the then-elected city officials and community-minded individuals successfully urged and obtained the selection of Bowling Green, Ohio, as its location; and

Whereas, the initial progress and subsequent development from Bowling Green State Normal College to Bowling Green College, and thence to Bowling Green State University was observed to be connected integrally with the growth and welfare of the City of Bowling Green, and

Whereas, Bowling Green State University has been and will continue to be of great economic significance to the city, and has brought about favorable recognition; and

Whereas, the citizens of Bowling Green, Ohio and its environs are grateful for the civic, cultural and educational advantage which its existence makes possible;

Now, Therefore, I, F. Gus Skibbie,

Mayor of the City of Bowling Green, Wood County, Ohio do hereby declare that the period of time between May 15 and June 15 shall be Bowling Green State University Golden Anniversary Month, with May 19th being designated as Golden Anniversary Day, and ask that all the citizens, business and industry of this community join in giving recognition, congratulations and best wishes to the Board of Trustees, the Administration, the Faculty and the Student Body of Bowling Green State University, and to all persons who have contributed to the University's growth, upon the occasion of its Golden Anniversary. I also take this opportunity of expressing in an official form the community's appreciation for fifty years of harmony and cooperation in the attainment of our common goals.

ODK Elects Cooper, Rueblin, Trowbridge As Circle Officers

Ken Cooper, Sigma Phi Epsilon, has been elected president of Omicron Delta Kappa, men's leadership honorary, for next year. Bob Rueblin and Keith Trowbridge were elected vice president and treasurer, respectively. All three men were tapped for membership in ODK in December.

Cooper was selected for the honorary in the area of social and religious affairs. He has been president of Sigma Phi Epsilon, secretary and office manager of the Intfraternity Council, and business manager of the Key. By virtue of his election, Cooper automatically becomes a Student Body representative for next year.

Rueblin, Phi Delta Theta, was tapped for membership on the basis of outstanding scholarship. He also has won varsity letters in football and track. Trowbridge, Alpha Tau Omega, is president-elect of the Student Body for next year. He also qualified for membership under the area of social and religious affairs. He has been a Student Council representative for two years, president of the World Student Organization, president of Circle K, and co-chairman of the 1959 Greek Week.

Editorially Speaking

Much Disappointment

There are, undoubtedly, a number of disappointed students on campus today—more than 200 in fact. These 200-plus students are among the applicants rejected for service on University Committees and Student Body Boards.

But there is a story behind their rejection. According to Dale Ford, chairman of the Student Leadership and Service Board, which makes final selections for recommendation to the Student Council, more than 300 students applied originally. Only 65 could be placed.

To insure that selections would be made fairly, the Board undertook a long and arduous screening process, beginning in March. From the "interest letters" which had been returned by prospective Board and Committee members, the Leadership Board established a master list of applicants.

From here they proceeded by eliminating those with the lowest grades. Next came long Saturday morning "hash" sessions, at which time all material and information on the remaining candidates was reviewed and discussed.

Survivors of these sessions were called in for interviews. On the basis of these interviews the final 65 names were picked.

"We could replace those 65 students with 65 other students of equal abilities," said Ford. "Our only problem was the overabundance of top-notch people."

A list of those final candidates not placed is being drawn up by the Leadership Board for distribution to Board and Committee chairmen. If replacements are needed they will be taken from this list.

Despite the disappointed students, the Boards and Committees stand to benefit greatly. Those students who receive appointments will know that they must produce or get out. There is no longer room for the "joiners"—there are too many workers ready to step in!

Alma Mater Contest Culminates Tomorrow

Selection of a new alma mater for the University will be made tomorrow, as the culmination of a five-year contest. Included in the final judging will be the winning entries for each of the past five years.

The selection will be made by a jury of 30 persons, including eight faculty members chosen from the Faculty Council; 10 students from the Student Council; and 12 alumni from the Alumni Board. The selection will take place in the recital hall, Hall of Music.

The winning entries for 1955 through 1959 have been recorded on tape by the Collegiate Chorale. Each juror has received a copy of the record made from the tape to aid him in his deliberation. The record also will be played in the Nest and on WBGU.

The jury will meet at 11 a.m. tomorrow, to begin selection of the winner. Students will sing each of the five entries and the present alma mater, so the jury can decide whether the song is singable and expresses appropriate sentiments for Bowling Green.

Nowack Resigns Hospital Position

President Ralph W. McDonald has accepted the resignation of Dr. Louis W. Nowack, submitted recently, with "deep regret."

Dr. Nowack, a physician at the University Health Center, will terminate his duties on May 31. He leaves after two years of University service.

Although Dr. Nowack has been here only a short time he has demonstrated not only the skills of a highly trained physician, but also the personal qualities of kindness, loyalty and devotion to the students and faculty, said Dr. McDonald.

Dr. Nowack will return to Watertown, where he intends to resume his medical practice.

Academic Scientists Growing In Importance

"The academic scientist is a person of growing importance in the United States," stated Dr. John R. Coash, chairman of the geology department, at Curbstone Hour May 9.

The academic scientist works with the sciences, engineering, and technology, he said.

"The general picture of an academic scientist is that of a typical professor who lives and works in an ivory tower. He is not thought of as a research man and is pictured as having no interest in the outside world," said Dr. Coash.

"An academic scientist is both a teacher and a scientist. Most are connected with a college or university, although some are found in high schools." Previously, these men did independent research, providing their financial support and publishing their works. Today, the National Science Foundation provides money for research and projects through grants and assistantships.

"In large universities, the chairmen of the science departments do not teach, but act as executives. They hire scientists, organize the teaching and research schedules of the department, and are responsible for administering grants and providing facilities for the department," said Dr. Coash.

The number of people involved in the sciences is growing. The president of the Association of University Professors predicts that by 1975 50 per cent of the instructional staffs of colleges and universities will be scientists.

"In addition to providing financial support for research and training, the National Science Foundation, aided by the academic scientists, develops the national policy toward science," stated Dr. Coash. The duty of the government toward science is twofold. It is responsible for the education of the public regarding science, and for keeping the public informed of the latest scientific advancements, he said.

The public should be concerned with the training of the scientist, science courses taught in colleges, the methods employed to teach the courses and the scientific knowledge available to the non-scientist, said Dr. Coash.

Dr. Donald S. Longworth, associate professor of sociology, will discuss "Soul Searching vs. Research—White House Conference on Children and Youth" at the last Curbstone session of the year.

Applications for the 1961-62 academic year for both the Fulbright award and Inter-American Culture Convention awards will be available to those interested Friday, May 20, from Dr. Emerson C. Shuck, dean of the College of Liberal Arts.

General eligibility requirements for both awards are: U.S. citizenship at time of application, a bachelor's degree or its equivalent, knowledge of the language of the host country sufficient to carry out the proposed study project and to communicate with the people of the country, and good health.

A good academic record and demonstrated capacity for independent study also are necessary. Preference is given to applicants under 35 years of age who have not previously lived or studied abroad.

Applications are required to submit a plan of proposed study that can be carried out profitably within the year abroad.

Applications for Fulbright and IACC scholarships for 1961-62 will be accepted until Nov. 1 of this year. Requests for applications must be postmarked before Oct. 15.

IFC-Pan Hel Establishes Policy To Limit Annual Greek Events

"Due to the ever-increasing number of events on the social calendar, it has been decided to limit the number of Greek-sponsored all-campus events to six per year," said Ed Tiller, chairman of an IFC-Panhel committee formed to study present and future Greek events.

The cramming of Greek-sponsored events into the spring semester is the problem the social policy committee was formed to investigate. In the past, the scheduling of several annual events, including Greek Week, in the spring semester, has made it almost impossible to fit meetings and other events into the schedule.

The newly established policy limits the number of Greek-sponsored events held during the school year to six. With the exception of Greek Week, it is hoped that three events will be held in the fall and three in the spring to provide better balance.

The purpose of the new policy is to create a better event through counseling by the IFC and Panhel. "Several events in the past have been poorly organized," said Tiller, "but now each event must be well received and well planned or it will be voted down by the Greeks."

Young Ideas

What Are The Falcons' Chances?

By Dave Young

OU Strong Bet

With the spring sports schedule nearing an end, interest is high as to which school in the Mid-American Conference is going to win the all-sports trophy. Last year Bowling Green captured the trophy, which was awarded for the first time by the Sentinel-Tribune and radio station WFOB. The big question is, Can Bowling Green retain the trophy? In the opinion of this writer—Yes, if . . .

Brief History

Before we give our reasons, let's take a look at the history of the trophy and the basis on which it is awarded. The Sentinel-Tribune and WFOB, both of which give extensive coverage to Bowling Green's athletic events, decided jointly to sponsor a magnificent rotating trophy to be awarded to the school in the conference accumulating the best over-all showing in conference competition.

There are seven teams in the conference, so it was decided that a seven-point system would be established. A school finishing first in a sport receives seven points, six for second, etc. With nine different sports, it is possible for a school to accumulate 63 first-place points.

Results To Date

Now, to get back to this year. After the fall and winter sports results were tabulated, Bowling Green was out in front with 30½ points. Next came Miami with 25½, and Ohio U. with 24. Western Michigan was fourth with 20½ points; Kent, Toledo, and Marshall followed with 16, 12½, and five points, respectively.

So far this spring, Ohio U. and Western Michigan have fared the best among the top four schools. Ohio U. already has clinched first place in baseball and looks like a good bet to capture the golf title. Western Michigan appears the strongest in both track and tennis.

At this point all we can do is speculate on the outcome. It is quite conceivable that the top four teams could wind up just two points apart.

Ohio U. already has picked up seven points in baseball, which, added to its previous total of 24 points, makes a total of 31. Another first place triumph in golf would give it 38 points. The Bobcats stand a fairly decent chance of finishing fourth in both track and tennis. This would raise their grand total to 46.

Western Michigan has almost wrapped up first places in both track and tennis. The Broncos should finish second in golf, unless Bowling Green noses them out, but this appears unlikely. The Broncos already have beaten the Falcon golfers twice this year. Western Michigan's baseball teams always have been powerhouses, but this year they have faltered and could very well drop all the way to fourth. It is our guess that the Broncos will garner 44½ points.

Miami probably will not score any firsts, but should capture a second in tennis, third in baseball and track, and a fourth in golf. This would make the Redskins' grand total 45½.

Tennis Holds Key

Bowling Green should finish second in track, as the Broncos are just too much to overcome. The golf squad will have to fight a little to gain a third. With a little luck, the Falcon diamondmen should finish fifth. However, they could finish anywhere from second to last. If Bowling Green can place second, third, and fifth in track, golf, and baseball, respectively, our total at that point will be 44½. This would place all the pressure on the tennis team. The tennis squad, by just finishing last, would throw us into a tie for second with Miami. If they could beat out Marshall, a team they tied earlier in the season, for sixth, we could nip Ohio U. by a scant half point.

This is how close the race for the all-sports trophy shapes up. We have confidence that the Falcons can come through in the clutch. But if any of Bowling Green's teams falter, the trophy is lost.

"IRONMAN" MALZAHN—Ernie Malzahn probably is the most versatile track performer Coach Bob Whittaker has ever had the pleasure of coaching. Malzahn, the top point-getter on the Falcons' undefeated track team, has performed in both hurdle events, the 220-yard dash and high jump, and as anchor man on the 880-yard relay team.

Whittaker Says Malzahn Is 'A Coach's Athlete'

By Bob Hoover

"A coach's athlete." These were the words used by track Coach Bob Whittaker in describing Ernie Malzahn, the 5-10, 165-pound Utica, Mich. track star.

Dubbed "Mr. Versatile" by many, Malzahn currently is the top point-getter on the squad, as he was last year. He competes in the 120- and 220-yard hurdles, the 220-yard dash, and the high jump. In addition, he generally runs the anchor leg on the 880-yard relay team. One Detroit track squad member was overheard to say as he warmed up for the mile relay, "You mean there's an event that Malzahn isn't entered in?"

That Malzahn is a pleasure to coach is evidenced by these comments from Coach Whittaker. "Ernie is one boy I never have to worry about concerning training. He's always keeping in shape and out there working hard. Ernie is an extremely consistent performer and it would be an understatement to say that he'll be a hard man to lose."

It wasn't until his junior year here that he really began to shine. His finest day last year came against Detroit, on May 13. With Bernie Casey injured, Malzahn produced three first places, in both hurdle events and the 220.

In the Mid-American Conference championships last year at Oxford, Malzahn finished third in the high hurdles, but then came back strong to capture the 220-yard low hurdles and place second in the 220-yard dash. His time in the low hurdles was just one tenth of a second off the MAC record.

This year, Malzahn has emerged as the dominant threat on the team. Against Kent State, he duplicated his Detroit feat with three first places. In addition, he placed third in the high jump and ran on the 880-yard relay squad which set a new Falcon record.

Best known for his track exploits, Malzahn also is on the cross-country squad and, during the winter season, serves as manager for Coach Sam Cooper's swimmers.

Casey May Hold Key At Western Michigan

The success of the Falcons' showing against Western Michigan today may well depend upon the legs of Bernie Casey, Casey, who injured a leg muscle in the Kent State meet April 30, is a doubtful starter. And, as Coach Bob Whittaker put it, "We've been doing pretty well without Bernie. But with him back in there, we could be doing much better."

In Western Michigan, Bowling Green will be running up against a real powerhouse, currently defending Mid-American Conference champs. Coach Whittaker himself is not optimistic about his team's chances. "I really don't see just how we can possibly win. They've got men in almost every event better than we are. I know the fellows will give their best, but it's just a question of too much quality," he commented.

BG should have a better than even chance in the 100 and 220 with Johnson and Jim Singleton, second in last year's MAC meet, ready to do battle with Angelo Privitera, Walt Killian, Earl Pearson, and Ernie Malzahn.

From there to the two-mile run, however, chances are slim indeed. WM has three men capable of running the 440 in under 50 seconds, while BG's Walt Bettis hasn't reached that mark yet. The situation is the same in the 880, mile, and two-mile races, in which the Broncos can sweep the first three places. In the two-mile, Art Eversole and Hancock both ran in the neighborhood of 9:35, while BG's Dave Armstrong's best is approximately 9:50.

Should Casey round into shape, Bowling Green's chances would be considerably enhanced, since the Broncos' hurdlers are not outstanding. BG also has a chance of taking the 880-yard relay, but the Falcons will be outclassed by WM's flashy mile relay team, which sprints the distance in about 3:22.

The outlook is better in the field events. Firsts in the discus and high jumps are distinct possibilities with Carroll Rine and "Old Reliable" Killian sharing the load. WM's Wayne Gutowski throws in the neighborhood of 50 feet and should take the shot. Two Bronco pole vaulters are capable of clearing 14 feet, as against Ken Campbell's range of 12-6 to 13-0. Ron DeWulf and Killian will carry BG's main hopes in the broad jump.

Linksmen Finish 6th; Tackle Miami Today

Ohio State and National Champion Jack Nicklaus won the state intercollegiate golf title May 9. Bowling Green dropped from fifth place last year to a tie for sixth this year. Glenn Apple was low for the Falcons with an 80.

Nicklaus, the Buckeye sophomore from Columbus, had three birdies and two bogeys as he fashioned a 71 over the cold, rain-swept, 6,700-yard par 72 Scarlet layout on the Ohio State University campus.

Originally planned as 36 holes of medal play, the tournament was called off at the end of 18, by a vote of the coaches of the 21 competing colleges and universities, due to the bad weather.

The best five scores of the six competitors from each school were counted. Ohio State's 384-stroke total was 16 lower than runner-up Ohio University's. The Bowling Green total was 419.

Ohio U. also finished second in the individual race, as Bob Bryant fired a 74.

Today the golf squad travels to Oxford, where the Falcons meet the Redskins of Miami in a rematch. Earlier in the season, Bowling Green handed Miami a 16-8 defeat.

So far this season Miami has a 2-5 record, having beaten Dayton and Xavier, with losses to Bowling Green, Kent, Marshall, Cincinnati, and Dayton.

Tomorrow the Falcons entertain Eastern Michigan in the last home match of the season.

After getting off to a slow start, the golf team won four of its last six matches, making its season record 7-7-1. Bowling Green has defeated Wittenberg, Hillsdale, Miami, DePaul, Toledo, and Kent, the latter twice. They have lost to Kentucky, Xavier, Ohio U., Denison, Notre Dame, and to Western Michigan, twice. Marshall tied the Falcons in the third match of the season.

Perry Lanning and Harold Warren are leading the team with averages of 77. Following them are Bob Wink, 78; Ed Gregor, 79; Glenn Apple, 79; and Walter Felgar, 83.

The final golf competition for the Falcons will be May 19 through 21 at Athens, for the Mid-American Conference championship.

Women's Sport Teams To Swing Into Action

Four women will represent Bowling Green at the Ohio State Women's Tennis Tournament, today through Sunday at Wittenberg University in Springfield. They are Dorothy Lemieux, Johanna Slygh, Barbara Comstock, and Carolyn Harris. Miss Penelope Bousoulas, instructor in HPE and Tennis Club adviser, will accompany the group.

Miss Lemieux and Miss Slygh will compete in the singles matches, and Miss Comstock and Miss Harris in the doubles matches.

The contestants from various Ohio schools will attend a banquet in their honor tonight.

Women's Softball
Eleven teams began play last week in the 1960 women's round-robin softball tournament sponsored by the Women's Intramural Association.

The teams are: Delta Gamma, Alpha Chi Omega, Alpha Gamma Delta, Prout, Ruper's Raiders, T.U.I.A.S., Alpha Delta Pi, Alpha Xi Delta, Nifty Nine, Run Arounnds, and the Treadway Turtles.

The tournament will last two weeks, after which a playoff will be held to determine the champion.

The public writes the check for "public power"—in taxes

You and other Americans have already been taxed $5,500,000,000 for federally-owned "public power" systems.

And now the "public power" promoters are after $10,000,000,000 more—almost twice again as much—to put the federal government deeper and deeper into the electric business.

All this spending for more and more federal "public power" is unnecessary. For the hundreds of independent electric light and power companies, like yours, are ready and able to supply all the low-price electricity people will need—without depending on taxes.

"Public power" spending goes on because most people don't know they are paying the cost. The best way to stop it is to tell your friends and neighbors what's happening. When enough people understand, you can be sure something will be done to halt this unnecessary tax spending.

CHAT FROM "THE RACK"

This week's column will continue our analysis of young men's style trends for fall.

It is interesting to note that there is a definite return to hat buying by College men. Watch for next fall's smart styles and you will want to join the parade.

The pleatless, traditionally styled, slack is far and away the number one style. Some Continental styling will be shown. In dressy slacks, worsted flannels will be number one, with hopsacks a close second. Corduroy will continue to be the leading fabric in casual trousers.

In dress shirts the tab collar is increasing in popularity. The authentic button down collar will continue to be the most popular. New interest is expected in a shorter point button down. Fabric-wise, oxford cloth is the leader. The best solid colors are white, blue and the new basic linen. Stripes will gain in importance.

There are no radical style changes forecast in sport shirts. Button down styles will be the best sellers. More Madras-colored plaids and checks will be shown with a trend to smaller foulards and batik-type allovers in subdued colors.

Sweaters will be as traditional as ever with crew necks the best style. Boat necks and shawl collars will be shown for high style.

Shop "The Rack" for your summer apparel. We have the latest styles at popular prices.

Till next week,

Casual Commentary

Youthful Writer Cites Judo Item

By Larry Coffman

"Get fresh with a coed at Bowling Green State University and you're liable to end up flat on your back." This statement is from a story that appeared in a Kenosha, Wis., newspaper recently, which told of the judo course our Pershing Rifles unit conducted some months ago.

A 14-year-old boy and his girl friend saw the story and were moved to write a letter to our dean of women. She sent it to us and now we pass it on. The letter reads:

"My girl friend and I read the enclosed clipping in our Kenosha paper recently and we had to laugh when we read it. Some of our school friends enjoyed the story, too.

"Judo is a wonderful thing to know and we think it should be taught to boys and girls in school as part of the physical education program. More men and women should take it up, too.

"My mother remembers reading about a husky lady in Los Angeles capturing an armed bandit with judo last summer. Forced out of her car at gunpoint, the lady disarmed and subdued the crook with judo, trussed him up with his own belt, stuffed him into the trunk of her car, and drove him to the police.

"Judo sure paid off there. In closing, I want to say how much we enjoyed the article in our paper."—Tom Keating.

Pan Hel Discusses Dinner Hour

The dinner hour was the prime topic of discussion at this week's Panhellenic Council meeting.

Several sororities serve the evening meal at 5 p.m. Panhel feels that late classes and late afternoon meetings too often force sorority members to eat cold or warmed over meals.

A dinner hour of 5:15 or 5:30 p.m. seemed to the Council to be

Alpha Gams Have Annual Party, Phi Mus Choose Dream Boy

The Alpha Gamma Deltas had their annual "Charlie Brown" party on their front lawn on May 5. Everyone was dressed as a Charlie Brown comic strip character. The event included a picnic supper and games, and the revealing of the secret "Itty Bitty Buddies" assigned to each of the pledges for a week. Gary Weaver, the Alpha Gam houseboy, was 'Charlie.' He passed out lollipops to the characters.

The pledges had a backward tea for the women at the house. The waitresses served ice cream with chocolate syrup, relish trays, and ham salad sandwiches—in that order. They were dressed backward and ate on the floor.

Phi Mu's closed formal, Carnation Ball, was held at the Maumee River Yacht Club April 30. William Schramm, president of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, was chosen Dream Boy. Jim Riggs and his band provided music. Chaperones were Mrs. Lottie Gomersall, Phi Mu head resident; Dr. and Mrs. Louis W. Nowack, and Mrs. Hazel M. Urschel.

Music Fraternity Installs Chapter

Fifteen students and three faculty members in music will be initiated tomorrow into Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia national professional fraternity for men in music.

The formation of the local chapter, Iota Omicron, is the culmination of several years of effort by Prof. Leon E. Fauley, of the music faculty, to bring a chapter of the national group to the campus. Professor Fauley was initiated into the fraternity while a student at Columbia University.

The initiation and installation ceremonies will be in Columbus, conducted by the Ohio State University chapter.

Students to be initiated are: Richard Alleshouse, Robert Baird,

Initiates from the music faculty are: Prof. William D. Alexander, Prof. Cardon V. Burnham, and Dr. James Paul Kennedy.

At least five members of the faculty already are members of the professional group. They are, in addition to Professor Fauley, Prof. Jesse J. Currier, Dr. Richard Ecker, Dr. Harry S. Spangler, and Richard Webster. If others are members they should contact Professor Fauley.
