From Black Power to Jewish Radicalism, 1967-1973

On April 19, 1943, the night of the first Passover Seder, the Warsaw Ghetto uprising began.
Resistance then.
Resistance now.

Michael Staub is Associate Professor of English at Bowling Green State University, and the author of Voices of Persuasion: Politics of Representation in 1930s America (Cambridge UP, 1994). His published articles range from the media coverage of the Black Panther Party in the sixties to the racial politics of the Hill-Thomas hearings and Art Spiegelman's Maus. He currently is writing a book on the reshaping of American Jewish identities in relation both to memories of the Holocaust and the African-American civil rights struggle.
