1955-2004 STATISTICAL DATA REGARDING FEDERAL COURTS

The Federal Judicial Center

Editor's note: Like the statement from the American Academy of Appellate Lawyers that precedes them in this issue and the state-court statistics that follow them, the federal-court statistics in these charts were circulated to all attendees in advance of the 2005 National Conference on Appellate Justice. They informed all of the presentations and discussions at the National Conference.

¹ The count of district court filings is the sum of civil cases commenced and criminal defendants commenced. Due to differences in the source data tables, however, in 1965 and 1975 the number of filings reflects the count of criminal cases commenced rather than criminal defendants. If the count of criminal defendants had been used, the total filing and per judgeship figures would be higher for these years.

² District court judgeships include temporary judgeships and judgeships in the territorial courts. Appellate judgeships exclude judgeships in the Federal Circuit. ¹ 1955 data do not report separately the number of prisoner cases (US/State) outside of habeas petitions and motions to vacate sentence; also does not include specific criminal case data.

² Since Oct. 1998, "original proceedings" have included second or successive habeas petitions.

³ Other Fed. Q includes a small number of general focal jurisdiction cases, and, in 1955, non-US defendant admiralty cases.

Sources: AO Annual Report of the Director. Data taken primarily from Table B-7 (in 1955, Table B-5), except counts for Bankruptcy; Administrative Appeals, and Original Proceedings that are taken from Table B-1. Criminal counts for 1955 also taken from Table B-1.

1. Civil terminations exclude land condemnation cases and cases in the territories.
 2. Civil breakdown in source tables for 1955 used different categories. The non-trial categories could not be reorganized into the categories used in later years. Therefore all non-trial cases were included in the "Before Pretrial" category. 44 (0.8%) of the trials held in 1955, were not specifically identified as non-jury or jury. They have been distributed into the non-jury / jury categories according to the proportions of the known trials (36% non-jury, 44% jury).
 3. Counts from the territorial courts excluded.
 4. Termination data for criminal defendants was not available for 1965; data from 1966 is presented instead.
