Most Rev^d & Dⁿ Sir,

In compliance with your wishes, I will endeavour to give such directions as I hope, under God, will be of use to you, in your travels. After you leave Lut-terworth, it will be the best to proceed to Northampton, where you will become acquainted with the Rev^d J. Shusby - Vicar of All. Saints, to whom I have written by you. From Northampton, I know not, whether there are any Towns worth your notice, till you get to Cambridge: if there are, M^r. Shusby will inform you. In Cambridge, it will be advisable to be introduced to the Heads of Colleges generally, but I should think especially to the Bishop of Bristol, Master of Christ's College, & also to D^r. Godfrey, the President of Queen's College; both good & pious Men. M^r. Simon, no doubt, will introduce you to these Gentlemen, & also to Professor Farish, & Professor Lee.

When you visit the North of England, & arrive at York, you will become acquainted with the Archbishop, who is an amiable & good Man: of the Clergy, Mr. Graham & Mr. Richardson are both good Men. It will be well also to procure an introduction to Mr. Gray of that City, a pious Man, & of note in the Christian World. In Leeds, the Rev. Mr. Fawcett is Vicar; but you must not forget to obtain an introduction to the Rev. Miles Jackson, Minister of St. Paul's. In Halifax, the Rev. J. Knight is Vicar, & a good Man. Should you visit this place, I shall be happy to give you the Meeting; & from thence, I would accompany you to Huddersfield, where the Church is less divided than in any other place I know of. From Huddersfield, it will be your best plan to proceed to Sheffield, where, I feel confident, the Clergy will receive you with gladness & joy, & render you every assistance in their power.

I know not of any other place in Yorkshire, except Hull, which is of great importance. In this place, you will meet with the Rev. J. Scott, son of Scott the Commentator, & the Rev. Mr. Dykes, who both will further your object. I believe this is all the information I can give: I hope it will be of service to you. In Manchester, we will do what we can in a pecuniary point of view; & we will not cease to supplicate the Father of Jesus Christ, that the Angel of his presence may go before you to sanctify & bless you in all you undertake for the glory of his Name, till you shall have fulfilled your Ministry, & have done the Work which he designs you perform. I hope you will excuse the familiarity with which I here write, & believe me to be with the devoutest prayers for your happiness.

My dear Sir,

Yours most respectfully & faithfully,

St. Stephen's - Salford.
