The Banner. A Terrible Experience.

L. B. MANTOVNA, late European correspondent of the BANNER, and who is at present the Chicago agent for Novell Brothers of New York City, made the following statement recently to a Tribune Reporter of late account from the Saint James Hotel, Chicago: I was awakened about 3 A.M. by some one pounding upon my door, and after springing from my bed, discovered that the whole city was in flames. I hastily put on my clothing, and going into the corridor, I saw a large crowd of men, women and children clustered about the door. Returning to my room, I gathered my goods quickly into boxes, and carried them down to the sidewalk. Hearing a shout, I seized a satchel and a small trunk, and rushed out. As I reached the door I saw some men coolly leading my boxes into the street. I called to them, but they laughed and drove away. The street was full of people with bundles of every description on their backs. I pushed for once to the west end. Neither Michigan nor Washburn avenues were there, and I rushed down the former. The air almost burned my face. The smoke was stifling, and my clothes were covered with ashes and cinders. As I passed along the avenue I looked up each street to the west to see where the fire headed me off in that direction. I had the fire behind me to the north, and the like on the left. My object was to get to the west side of the city, near Union Park, where I knew a gentleman named Mason. The lake was on my left, the city on the right, and I passed along Washburn street, and when I was nearly to the West street, at the head of Lakes, Randolph, Madison, Monroe, Congress, Adams, Jackson and Van Buren streets, and away to the south, I saw the fire in the distance. Here for the first time I reached this point I was utterly wearied out, and sat on my trunk on the street. In a few moments I saw a man pass by, and I asked him to give me a hand with my trunk. He said he would, and we walked up Fourteenth street. After going a short distance he said that he could not carry the trunk any further, and I told the man who was assisting me that I must give out. He urged me on, and after going about a block saw a man standing at his own door, looking in the direction of the fire, and thinking that I had been burned out, and that I was so weary I could not carry my trunk any further. I asked him for permission to put my trunk on his porch, and he consented, and between us we took the trunk into the yard. He and I then returned to his house, and he showed me the great business quarter, and most of the streets, from south Water street to the river, were in flames. After waiting until the progress of the fire arrested itself, I crossed my street, Fifth street bridge, which was then the only one standing on the south to Union Park, on the western side of the city. Here, I found my trunk, and as I was weary, I went to a house, and was just about to go to bed, when I was roused by the fire reaching the great business quarter, and most of the streets, from south Water street to the river, were in flames. HAVE PATIENCE.

A youth and maid, one winter night, Went sitting in the parlor. His name, we're told, was Joshua White, And hers was Patience Warner. Not much the pretty maiden said, He said, "I've loved thee since our birth, My cheeks were flushed a rosy red, Her eyes bent on her knitting. Nor could she guess what thoughts of love Were round her beauty floating. He said, "I've loved thee since our birth, My cheeks were flushed a rosy red, Her eyes bent on her knitting. MOUNT VERNON, OHIO. GREAT FIRES IN MODERN TIMES. THE GREAT FIRE IN LONDON, 1866. This fire, whose rains covered 436 acres, extended from the Tower to the Temple Church, and from the north-east gate to Holborn bridge. It destroyed in the space of five days 89 churches, the city gaols, the Royal Exchange, the Custom House, Guildhall, Zoos College, and many other public buildings, besides 12,300 houses, laying waste 400 streets. Over 200,000 people camped out after the fire in Islington and Highgate.

King Charles II, who had but a few years before been placed on the throne of his father, distinguished himself by his direction in person of the measures which were taken to rescue the city. It was, perhaps, the most useful act of his reign, and served to endear the Cavalier King even to embittered Puritans. The plague had decimated London the same year. The population of the city was at that time I've mentioned rightly, about 600,000.

Old Fashioned Division of Time. The ancient divisions of the day differed widely from the customs of our own time. The Greeks began their day at midday, and their day at sunset, and divided the day and night into four parts. This division of the day into quarters was in use long before the division into hours, and known by a name and particular figure.

MY HOUR OF PERIL! A THRILLING SKETCH. BY MARY A. OSBOURNE. Some thought me plain, many possible, and a few decidedly handsome. Whether or not I could lay any just claim to personal beauty, I am unable to say; but certain it was, at eighteen, the honor and pleasure of my alliances were solicited by two individuals, whose birth, education and position in life might have secured for them a hand, in a pecuniary point of view, far more desirable than mine.

HERBERT'S VIEWS. Herbert, I will say, is the bride of your life. The union you form with the eternal world will share together. But no bride ever leaves her father's home without making preparation; neither can I leave this world without having made some preparation for my journey.

Renegades Laid on the Shelf. One of the most gratifying results connected with the recent election was the emphatic manner in which the Democracy, in several counties of the State, rebuked and most emphatically defeated, sundry sore-headed bolters and renegades. Over in the Coshocton, Holmes and Wayne Judicial district, one Lyman R. Critchfield, who has been a chronic office-seeker for nearly twenty years, wished to be nominated for Judge, but the Democracy preferring another man (Judge Reed) Critchfield bolted, formed an alliance with the Radicals, and ran as an independent candidate. But he was overwhelmingly defeated, as he deserved to be, and forever hereafter, he will be looked upon as a sneaking traitor, who deserves the contempt and execration of every decent Democrat and every honorable man in the State. His name will be more offensive hereafter in the nostrils of Democrats than the stench of a rotten mackerel by moonlight.

In the Crawford and Wyandot Judicial district the Democrats were felled with another bolter named Motz, who, failing to be renominated for Judge, ran as an independent (Radical) candidate. But he was beaten out of his boots by the Hon. A. M. Jackson, the regular Democratic nominee, who is one of the ablest lawyers and clearest fellows in the State. Motz, like Critchfield, has made himself a mark for the unerring finger of scorn to point at until his worthless carcass is buried in the grave of forgetfulness.

The importance of a few votes is well illustrated by the result in several counties in Ohio, at the late election. In Noble county there was a tie for Representative. In Vinton county the Republican candidate for Representative received a majority of only four votes. In Highland the Republican majority was but thirty-five. In Hardin we lose the Representative by 30 votes, while we carry the State and county tickets. In Hancock county the Democrats should have carried the county by about 250. In Stark county we lose two Representatives—one by 79, and the other by 154 votes. In Scioto the Republicans carried the Representative by 111 majority. In Knox county the Republican candidate for Representative had a majority of 167, while the entire Democratic ticket was elected. Had our friends done their duty in all these counties, there would have been a Democratic majority in the Legislature; and a Democrat, instead of a Radical, would have been sent to the U. S. Senate.

Good for Old Knox. The Democracy have carried the whole Democratic ticket in Old Knox save the Representative, by a handsome majority, after having been in the hands of the Radicals for a quarter of a century. We congratulate Bro. Harper on this glorious triumph. Thank you, Bro. Gleason, for your sincere congratulations. Old Knox is now permanently and securely Democratic. We know that our party is in the majority, and nothing can defeat us hereafter but the failure of the Democracy to be true to themselves and to their principles.

Bascom's story about "Harper & Co." deliberately sacrificing Haiden, selling him out and trading him off for the sake of beating Farquhar, and thus securing the remnant of the county printing, is as transparent and most ridiculous falsehood, and Bascom knows it to be such when he penned it. In every issue of the Banner we warned our friends against trading or swapping votes—feeling confident, all the time, that if our full vote was polled, we would carry the day. Every proposition to "trade votes" came from Republicans, as the old out candidates of that party will testify. The result of this election establishes this fact: that the Republicans of Knox county would rather their organ should perish than John Sherman should be kept out of the U. S. Senate.

The Pittsburgh Post, in a two-column editorial, pronounced in favor of Thomas A. Scott, Esq., President of the Pennsylvania Railroad, as the People's candidate for President in 1872. Mr. Scott is admitted to be a successful Railroad officer, and we presume is a very clever gentleman; but beyond that we are not aware that he possesses any special claims or qualifications for the Presidency.

In the suit against Hawkins, one of the Mormon high priests, for being guilty of the crime of adultery, or polygamy, the jury, on Friday last, returned a verdict of "guilty." The Judge directed the defendant as a prisoner. The case was the first one of the kind in Utah and of course created intense excitement.

The Michigan State Relief committee have issued a circular, in which an appalling account is given of the suffering of the people of that State by the recent fire. It is estimated that from 12,000 to 15,000 people are homeless and destitute, and will require provisions, clothing and shelter during the coming winter.

The majority for Giddings, in the First Congressional District of Texas, is 3,963; for Hancock, in the Fourth District, 4,000. In the Second District Connor has 15,000 majority, and Herndon has 10,000 in the Third District. All these gentlemen are Democrats. Texas appears to be a first-class Democratic State.

Ohio is a Democratic State; but by counting the New England Colony, usually called the "Western Reserve," which is made up of all kinds of hair-brained fanatics, the Radicals have managed to carry the State. This New England Colony should be attached to Canada.

Fire in Pleasant Township. On Thursday afternoon of last week, the roof of the brick dwelling of Mr. William Smith, of Pleasant township, was discovered to be on fire, and so far advanced that it was useless to attempt to save the house.

An alarm was given, however, when the neighbors succeeded in saving a portion of the bedding and furniture on the first and second floors. All the articles, including the winter stock of potatoes and apples in the cellar were lost, together with $68 in money in a vest pocket, which garment was hanging in one of the chambers. This money was the proceeds of a lot of hogs sold that day.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Smith were away from home at the time of the fire. There was an insurance of $900 on the house and furniture in the Ohio Farmers' Insurance Co., of Medina, O. In the Spring Mr. Smith will erect a new and better house than the one just burned.

Ewall, the Auditor of Knox county, and like all the Ewall family, is a sterling Democrat, and an honest man. We congratulate him upon his success in his new home.
