Players Injured In Accident

by SHERYL TAM
Sports Writer

John Smith, baseball coach, gave this update on the conditions of the players hurt in an accident March 5.

Steve Johnson has been released from the hospital and is up and about. He is doing better than had been expected. It is possible he will be able to play ball this spring.

However, Dean Shepherd's recovery from his injuries is not progressing quite as quickly at this time. He has developed some fluid in his lungs and the doctors are working to clear that up.

Smith said that Dean would enjoy receiving cards and letters from his friends on campus.

His address at this time is Dean Shepherd, Iowa Methodist Medical Center, Intensive Care Unit, Des Moines 50308.

Rotaract Club Elections

The results of the Boone Campus Rotaract Club elections held Feb. 25 are as follows:

Viki Allen, president; Irene Kunce and Phillip Edwards, co-vice presidents; Yvonne Farrand, secretary; Terri Funnell, treasurer, Becky Johnson, historian, Judy Butterfield and Carole Beck, publicity officers.

Studying for Midterms?

These journalism and mass communications students, believe it or not, have just finished a session to study for their midterm exam. A rousing game of Jeopardy was played, in which questions pertaining to the classroom studies were asked. Categories included magazines, "All the President's Men," newspaper, communications, books, television, radio and music. Questions were worth from 10 to 100 points each. The team in the front row won the competition. Members are, from left: Shawn Dugan, John Spinner, Terri Bappe, Rob Kahler, Brad Dagger and Jo Patterson. Members of the second row team are Hugh Lynch, Jon Wright and Diane Alston. A rematch will take place to study for the final!

Clupper is Co-chair

RSVP Projects Underway in Boone County

by BRAD DAGGER
Staff Writer

The Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) will soon be going strong throughout Boone County. Dr. Beatrice Clupper, chair, communications/humanities department, is co-chairing the program with Jim Carlson of Boone.

RSVP, a federally legislated grant program, is people helping people, with volunteers sharing the skills of a lifetime to support their communities by helping others.

Dr. Clupper has been working on starting the program for about two years now, while Carlson has been on it for about a year and a half. Besides these two, there is an advisory council and, by the end of March, there will be a coordinator for the program.

The program is sponsored by the City of Boone, but it includes all of Boone County.

"All surrounding counties already have an RSVP set up, so ours is a late starter," Clupper said.

The program is made up of volunteers over age 60 and is a device to match volunteers with a part of the community that needs assistance.

"We have a large pool of volunteers already set up, and they are very eager to get started on things," Clupper said.

AIDS: A Deadly Risk

by JON WRIGHT
Editorial Page Writer

It poses the greatest health risk since the bubonic plague. Over 1,000,000 people are carrying the disease. It is now the leading cause of death among 18-34 year olds in certain sections of large metropolitan areas such as Los Angeles and New York City. Previously considered a disease reserved for those in the homosexual community, it has now found prominence among heterosexuals as well. And although some new drugs marketed in Great Britain can slow down the disease, there is no known cure.

The disease is Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS), which inhibits the body's ability to fight disease by destroying its immune system. Between 5,000 and 10,000 cases are now known but it is estimated that nearly 1,000,000 people may actually be carrying and possibly transmitting AIDS.

AIDS is spread through the exchange of bodily fluids, usually blood or semen during sexual intercourse. People receiving blood transfusions are also at risk but it is very slight, due to the more advanced screening procedures for blood. Also at risk are drug addicts who share unsterilized needles, which has prompted French officials to begin distributing free syringes.

Aside from abstinence there are some basic safeguards against the risk of infection.

- Know who your partner has slept with. When you have sexual intercourse with someone, you are having sex with every person he or she has had sex with, up to eight years before. There has been a resurgence in monogamous relationships lately, largely due to the growing fear of contracting AIDS.

- Use a condom. They provide up to 90% protection by preventing the exchange of seminal fluid during intercourse. These percentages decrease, however if the condom is not fitted or used properly.

- Avoid anal intercourse. The tissues in the anus are extremely delicate and can be ripped open. This provides an excellent entryway for the AIDS virus.

- Do not be afraid to talk about AIDS with your partner beforehand. This is not the time to be coy or embarrassed. If there are questions or worries, bring them out in the open. It is not just a question of unwanted pregnancies anymore.

- Do not be afraid to say "no." People have begun to reevaluate their stand on casual sex. This is not a question of morals or values. It is a question of living and dying. We are discovering that the risks of casual sex are simply not worth the dangers.

Teams Gave Their All

by SHERYL TAM
Editorial Page Writer

Well, the basketball season is (as some might say) FINALLY over. Even though it was not too successful judging by the win-loss record, this writer feels it wasn't a total loss.

After attending many of the home games, one factor was definitely noticeable - nobody gave up. It is not easy to keep up the strength and stamina needed to play in a ballgame without brief periods of rest. With a minimum number of players on the team, no one was allowed to get the needed breaks.

However, in each game, everyone seemed to give their all. They played as long and as hard as they felt able. Pain and minor injuries had to be ignored, as did the times when the players were ill and should not have been playing at all.

It is difficult to compete with other, bigger teams when there are only five, or three, as was the case in one women's game, players available to finish the game.

And so, to two teams who probably did not hear a lot of words of praise, thanks for sticking with it. Here's hoping for a more successful season next year and best of luck to those players who will move on to other interests.

Letter to the Editor

She Praises Campus Newspaper

Congratulations on the success of the DMACC Bear Facts newspaper! As an alum. and former student editor, I can really appreciate the long hours, hard work, and care that goes into each issue of the publication.

Now, after finishing my B.S. degree and working for two years in Houston, I'm back in Iowa serving as the director of information at Indian Hills Community College in Ottumwa.

I receive several of the community college newspapers from around the state, but I have been extremely impressed with The Bear Facts. Keep up the good work!

Wishing you continued success,
Marcia Matt

News from Other Campuses

Burlington, Vt. - Keith Miser, dean of students, said he and other University of Vermont administrators have noticed a demonstration of renewed social consciousness that hasn't been as prevalent here during the past decade.

"In the past two years, the pendulum has begun to shift away from self interests and back to more liberal values and concern for others," Miser said.

Miser noted several indicators of the changing trend. Last spring, nine new student advocate and social action groups formed under the Union of Concerned Students. The Center for Service Learning, which places student volunteers and interns in community service jobs, reports an increase of 500 students participating this year compared to 1980.

A new $15,000 federal ACTION grant to the Center for Service Learning to promote community service may signal a changing emphasis nationally, says Harold Woods, director of the center.

Chicago, Ill. - Recent reports criticizing the nation's institutions of higher learning unjustly condemn undergraduates and graduate schools, according to Pres. Hannah H. Gray of the University of Chicago.

These reports tell more about their authors than the institutions themselves, Gray said.

Speaking on "Educating for the 21st Century," Gray commented, "I have a great deal of trepidation of speaking about the future. I am a historian, and we are prophets of the past."

"If a friend of yours had AIDS, how would you deal with it?"

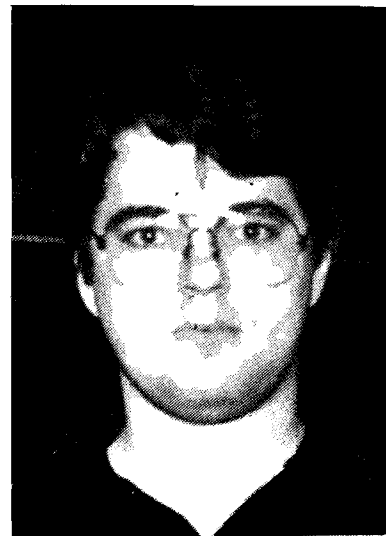

JOHN GAMERDINGER: I would treat him just like everybody else; in a way, I would feel sorry for him.

SUE HAVNEN: I would help him/her any way that I could. I would be a loyal friend.

MEL HOLTHUS: I would help them as much support as I could. I would back the organizations that are looking for cures.

TIM CARLSON: I wouldn't think about it.

IRENE KUNCE: I wouldn't act any different, and I wouldn't think of it as different from any other disease.

ISU Students Like DMACC

by MAJUEL ARMSTEAD
Staff Writer

If you happen to see a fellow student walking through the hall with a sweatshirt bearing the name ISU, don't be surprised!

Many students from ISU take a semester off to attend DMACC for various reasons. ISU students who attend DMACC find the academic pace slower, and because of reduced class sizes, they are able to get help from the instructors more readily.

There are also those who appreciate the smaller class sizes and don't feel like "just another number."

Brian Phillips, former DMACC student, says, "There seems to be better student/teacher communication at DMACC than at ISU."

Brian also feels the slower academic pace helped him to concentrate on his studies while attending DMACC.

"The instructors were very personable and always willing to help with problems I didn't understand," he said.

He thinks DMACC is a place to lay a good foundation toward higher education.

While DMACC offers ISU students advantages, there are also disadvantages. One is the distance DMACC is from ISU. Obviously, ISU students have to commute and some feel it is too far away. Some believe if DMACC was closer to Ames, there would be higher attendance.

It's Tax Time

Comments from Dean Philips

by KRISS PHILIPS

The remodeling project on the Boone Campus is scheduled to begin Wednesday, April 1. Many Boone Campus classes will be directly or indirectly affected from April 1 through sometime in August.

Listed below is an update as to the areas that will be affected by the construction.

- Rooms 103N, 102, and 104 (darkroom). This will necessitate office changes to include Rooms 102, 105 (dressing room), and 106.

- By May 1, Room 204N (computer lab) will not be available for instructional purposes. Also, no on-line hardware now in this area can be used from that date until Sept. 2.

- The April Phi Beta Lambda and math contests will not be held in the auditorium. Arrangements are being made to use the gymnasium. Also, Room 103N will not be available for the contests.

- The gymnasium will be utilized for classrooms beginning April 1 through May 5, as necessary.

At this point in time, it appears that we will be two classrooms short from April 1 through May 5 and four classrooms short during the summer semester. We are in the process of trying to make arrangements with the Open Bible Church, located across the street south of campus, to use their facility during this time. If the church is not available, we will consider other churches and/or the gym for classroom usage during the summer.

Probable moves that will be made are listed below.

- Classes currently scheduled in Room 103N will be shifted to the chemistry lab. Tables will be removed and chairs will be installed.

- The photography darkroom could be moved to the biology lab storeroom.

- Gary Stasko and Mel Holthus will be moved to the dressing room temporarily and then to another office after May 6.

It is anticipated that most of the construction work will be completed in the auditorium and 103N by June 1.

It appears this will be an exciting and confusing time; therefore, we appreciate everyone's utmost cooperation!

Career Fair At DMACC

by BRAD DAGGER
Staff Writer

The annual Career Fair was held at DMACC-Ankeny Campus March 4 and 5. Many booths were set up for students to view.

Careers represented included dental assistant, nursing, business administration, languages, and electronic maintenance.

Financial aid, student action board, and criminal justice club information was also available.

George Silberhorn, Boone Campus student advisor, was at the fair promoting Boone Campus. He commented the two-day event was a big success.

"Honey, wake up. You fell asleep while you were writing."
"Hmmmm-wha-hmmmm?"
"Honey, please wake up. You know laying on your face is bad for your acne."

"Oh... Mom. I had the most hideous nightmare. You wouldn't believe it. I dreamed that all the problems in the world were gone. Nothing was left but goodness. Richard Simmons was president, and Donny Osmond was governor, John Davidson was my landlord, and Mary Hart and Rob Weller were my parents. There was goodness everywhere, even at the administrative level. There was no crabgrass, and dirt was just something you read about. Politicians were honest, and used car salesmen were thought of as real people. There were no clouds, no taxes, no pollution. There was music playing somewhere, 'Put on a Happy Face,' and people were singing and dancing and smiling and laughing. It was horrible!"

"Now, now, you must not upset yourself, everything is alright now. You just had a little scare. Don't forget about what the doctor said about your high blood pressure, and stop slouching. Now, I brought you the Register, and Peter Jennings will be on in five minutes."
"Thanks, Mom."

It's no use. I'm used up.

Void. Empty. No sale. Syntax error. Insufficient funds. Bottom of the barrel. End of the road.

I'm done, folks.

I'm done complaining. I'm through with griping. I'm finished with sarcastic editorials, mud-slinging analysis, heavy-handed putdowns, and slanderous attacks.

I've decided that the problems inherent with riding this big blue marble are not important enough to gripe and complain about incessantly. I'm sorry, but my stomach just can't take it anymore. I have reached...

Somebody has $30 million and the Contras are starving...

No way.

As a journalist, I realize that I am setting a dangerous precedent, that the moaning and groaning, righting the wrongs, and saving a decadent society from itself are minimum requirements. But I have reached an emotional impasse and mental abyss, and for once, I'm turning my back.

So goodbye Iran/Contra affair, political campaigns, short-sighted school administrators, incompetent government officials, sexually transmitted diseases, starving and the poor, farmers, cutbacks in education, the bomb, polluted water, skyrocketing deficits, the bomb, shattered promises, broken dreams, ruined lives and high rent.

Instead, I'm going to say hello to all the good things in life. My focus will be on the beautiful, delicate, happy, and peaceful, the things we rarely talk about but always seem to yearn for. Hello good times, honest relationships, intelligent conversation, and no cholesterol.

Survey to Improve Library Services

by ANDY NELSON
Staff Writer

Recently a survey was conducted by the library staff in order to improve library services, according to Jayne Smith, head librarian.

The survey called for the instructors of Boone Campus to rate items such as physical facilities, staff, library equipment, and library services/materials. The library staff feels with the feedback, the library will be better able to keep up with the needs of both the teachers and students.

The survey was adapted from a survey that was given earlier to the staff of the Ankeny Campus, and proved to be a great help there.

The results of this survey are not yet complete. Results will be printed in the next issue of The Bear Facts.

Mexico Week Activities

by MAJUEL ARMSTEAD
and JUSTINE SHRIVER

Ole! Mexico Week will be held at DMACC April 8-10.

Lee McNair, Boone Campus coordinator of the event, says, "Events representing Mexican culture will take place on the Ankeny Campus. Some of the festivities will be held at the Boone Campus Wednesday, April 8.

"This will be the first time the Boone Campus has participated in this event," he said.

McNair added the reason this kind of event came about was to better the relationship between the U.S. and Mexico and so students could learn more about Mexico and its culture.

The governor of Yucatan, Mexico will attend a special dinner in Mexico Week, along with Gov. Terry Branstad. The dinner will be held Thursday, April 9 at Ankeny Campus.

In the past years, DMACC has sponsored a China Week and a Japan Week.

McNair said he hopes the coming year's events will bring different cultures and more focus to DMACC.

Boone Campus Activities

Boone Campus will celebrate Mexico Week Wednesday, April 8 and has invited speakers for a panel discussion about contemporary issues, immigration, debt, border problems, and the economic partnership between the U.S. and Mexico.

The discussion will be held in the auditorium beginning at 8 a.m.

Sunny Powers will be showing an award winning film called "El Norte," about the plight of a couple trying to enter the U.S. illegally. The film will be shown in Room 211 from 12:15 to 2:15 p.m. If you would like to attend contact Sunny. An evening showing is also planned.

Boone Campus Spring Fling

by ERIC NELSON
Staff Writer

Spring is in the air! What does this mean?

Spring Fling '87. A full day of intramural events and activities is scheduled for this year's Spring Fling Tuesday, April 21.

Sandpit volleyball, tug-of-war, one pitch softball, miniature golf and tennis are just some of the exciting activities planned.

People are encouraged to begin organizing their teams for these activities. The winners of the Spring Fling activities will receive steak, and the losers will get hamburger (which is really chopped steak).

After the cookout, a dance will be held. Watch the bulletin boards for more information.

IDs a Must For Computer Users

by ERIC NELSON
Staff Writer

In recent years, special IDs have been issued to students in computer-oriented classes to allow them access to the computers in the computer rooms.

Now, because of problems with the computers in the library, students are required to show their IDs in order to use them.

These IDs are being used to discourage people who are not students, and those students who are not involved in computer classes, from using the computers available to keep them for those students who need them for class.

The library staff would like to remind everyone that materials in the library are available for checkout to non-students, as well as students.

New Student Orientation At ISU

Spring orientation for new transfer students entering Iowa State University in Ames next fall will take place March 20, March 27, and April 27.

Students who are not able to attend will be invited to attend summer orientation which begins in late May and continues throughout June.

Students may choose the orientation date that best fits their summer schedule to come to campus and, with the help of their advisers, plan their tentative class schedules for fall. Students who are unable to attend summer orientation will be invited to campus five days before classes begin in the fall to complete orientation at that time.

Enter Essay Contest for Mexico Week

An essay contest will be held in conjunction with DMACC's Mexico Week, offering a cash award of $100 to the winner, according to Jim Stick, Mexico Week committee member.

All DMACC students are eligible.

Entries for the contest must be received no later than Friday, March 27, 1987. Entries should be mailed or delivered to Mexico Week Essay Contest, Jim Stick, Public and Human Services, 2006 S. Ankeny Blvd., Ankeny 50021.

Besides the cash award, the winner and his/her instructor and a guest will be invited to the Mexico Week gourmet dinner April 9 at Ankeny.

Here are the contest rules:

- Entries should be nonfiction prose essays of 500-1,250 words (two to five pages). Expository, argumentative, narrative, descriptive and research papers are all eligible. Fiction and poetry are not eligible.

- A successful essay or research paper should focus on a specific topic related to Mexico. Possible categories might include Mexican history, family structure and traditions, education, religion, business practices, law, the Mexican political system, and other more specific cultural practices or historical events.

- Each entry must be typed, double-spaced on one side of 8 1/2 "x11" paper. The student's name should appear on the first page of the entry in the upper right corner, and the pages of the essay should be numbered.

- All entries will be judged for originality, clarity, organization, coherence, control of language and grammar and, where applicable, reasoning and use of evidence.

She added senior citizens first approached her about the program, and it is up to each volunteer to determine how much time they want to contribute to it.

"They are the incentive of the whole thing. All of them will be recognized at one time or another for their time spent on volunteering," she said.

A needs assessment was taken to find out what types of services could be offered to the people of Boone County. Needs include one-on-one services like producing instructional aids, group services like helping with surplus food distribution, and general community services like an outreach program.

Examples of projects may include assisting in hospitals, schools, nursing homes and other non-profit groups. Tasks may include tutoring those seeking their high school diplomas, acting as a counselor to someone on a fixed income or sewing on a button.

Clupper states the Boone County Transportation System has been a big help in getting the volunteers where they need to be. The main office for the RSVP is located at Franklin Elementary School on Crawford Street in Boone.

Lab Provides Assistance

Students, faculty and staff can still find help for any writing need at the Boone Campus Writing Lab.

Last month, the free service got a new home when it moved to the walkway between Room 103N and the darkroom.

Like the Learning Center, the lab can provide grammar and punctuation assistance, as well as advice on focus and organization.

Jim "Jay" Judge conducts the lab five hours a week. Additionally, he conducted a lab-sponsored source-writing workshop March 9 and will repeat the workshop March 18.

Judge, who is nearing completion in his master's degree in English, cooperates with the related task of the Learning Center - helping students. He is authorized to provide one-on-one assistance to any member of the Boone Campus when the question involves writing.

Remodeling activity will cause the Writing Lab to move again during the first week in April. Students, faculty and staff should keep their eyes open for notices of the change.

The Lab hours are: Monday from 11:30 to 12:30; Wednesday, 10:30 to 12:30 and Thursday, 11 to 1.

Parking Rules Enforced

All Boone Campus students, employees and campus guests should take note that all areas designated as "no parking" in the fire lanes will be stringently enforced.

All vehicles parked in the areas clearly marked "fire lane" are subject to being towed away at the owner's expense at anytime, day or night, according to Dean Kriss Philips.

Vehicles may be retrieved at Condon's Getty Station at the corner of Story and Mamie Eisenhower Streets, Boone.

DMACC HEA Lobbies

by JUSTINE SHRIVER

The DMACC Higher Education Association (HEA) went to the state capitol last week to lobby Iowa senators and representatives to appropriate additional money for DMACC.

Lee McNair was the representative from Boone Campus and discussed the issue with Rep. Teresa Garman and Sen. Jack Nystrom. Both expressed their concern for additional money for DMACC and agreed that there was a need for the money to finance existing programs and to provide raises for faculty and staff.

DMACC faculty salaries are on the average $3,000 lower than K-12 teachers with similar qualifications in Polk County. If the legislature appropriates the $100 million for the K-12 teacher raises, without providing for DMACC, the DMACC faculty salaries will be another $4,000 behind, totaling $7,000.

"We are trying to reduce the salary gap that already exists and to keep it from becoming even wider," McNair said.

PBL Activities For Spring

The Boone Campus Phi Beta Lambda business club has many activities planned for the remainder of spring semester.

A luncheon was held at DMACC in Ankeny for recognition of Boone chapter officers Tuesday, March 10 from noon to 1 p.m.

A pizza party will be held at a local restaurant Wednesday, March 18 in celebration of secret sisters' birthdays.

The local chapter has 10 members entering the state leadership conference Friday-Saturday, March 20-21 in Waverly. A social event will be held Friday evening at the Waverly College Student Union. A banquet will be held at a Waverly restaurant Saturday night. The Boone Campus group is looking forward to the conference!

PBL is hoping for a good turnout for an Easter egg hunt to be held at Boone Campus for faculty, students and their children and friends. A date for this event has not yet been set. Also around Easter, the group will make Easter favors for local nursing home residents.

PBL will sponsor another bake sale in April. Be watching for details about this yummy event.

Group members will attend a secretary's tea for National Secretary's Day Wednesday, April 22 from 7 to 8 a.m.

If you're still interested in buying a candy bar through the PBL project, they are available in the business office.

Dr. Clupper to Chair Session

Dr. Beatrice B. Clupper will chair a session entitled "Communities within the Community College: Defining an Audience" at the annual convention of the Conference on College Composition and Communication to be held in Atlanta, Ga. from March 19-21.

Clupper will also participate in a postconvention workshop on using computers to teach composition and will assist in a session on Theorist Kenneth Burke.

Sculpture Workshops In April

by ANDY NELSON
Staff Writer

David Williamson, sculptor-artist-poet from Ogden, will be at Boone Campus in April.

Williamson's workshops will include hands-on participation and demonstrations.

The workshops will be free of charge and open to students of the Boone Campus.

Dr. Beatrice Clupper, chair, communications/humanities department, who is coordinating the event, isn't sure when in April Williamson will be here, but she is hoping the demonstration will be held outside. This way a larger number of students can attend, she said.

Crop Walk Coming Soon

The annual area fundraiser for world hunger is planned for Sunday, April 26.

The Boone Campus Rotaract Club will be helping out at the check points.

If you have any questions, contact Lee McNair, Rotaract Club advisor.

Students' Spring Break Plans

by JON WRIGHT

Several Boone Campus students and faculty were recently asked what their plans were for spring break. Here are their responses.

Billie Joe Crouse: Nothing.

Cathy Veale: Sleep.

Robert Taylor: I don't know.

Brenda Hoshaw: Go to Minnesota.

Angie Ostrander: Go to Jefferson, Iowa.

Kevin Knight: Go to Arizona.

Melanie Monen: Go to Daytona.

Jeff Boucher: Work.

Sandi Johnson: Go to Minneapolis.

Martha Ballantine: I don't know.

Donna King: Working.

Outlook is Good for Baseball Team

by SHERYL TAM
Sports Writer

Spring is here and with it comes the start of the baseball season!

According to Coach John Smith, the outlook is real good for the Boone Campus baseball team.

The team should see more consistent pitching than last year, with several of the freshmen contributing quality pitching and fielding.

The Bears are, however, playing a tougher schedule this spring. Smith said they will have to play well all of the time if they expect to win.

The spring training trip south during break will be very challenging for the team, as they will be meeting a No. 1 ranked Oklahoma squad.

On the Bears pitching staff are sophomores Bill Wengert, Todd Tekippe, and Shawn Hoover. Wengert, from Sioux City, had a good fall season.

"He has shown improvement since last spring and should be drafted by a major league team," Smith said.

Other sophomores on the team are Jesse Ybarra in center field; Tom Jellinik, second base; Fabian Schommer, catcher; and Dan Dotzler covering first.

Tekippe, a native of Decorah, has improved also. Hoover, a transfer from Ball State, is expected to throw in a lot of innings.

Ybarra, from Wellington, Kans., was drafted last year by the Cincinnati Reds. Schommer is from Canada and will also play in the outfield. Dotzler, a Defiance native, did some pitching last year.

Turning to the freshmen on the team, Smith pointed out that Gavin Hockey should provide a bright spot in the pitching rotation. Hockey is from Australia and has done a lot of throwing. Clayton Enno, a 6'2" lefthander from Williston, N.Dak., should be giving the team a lot of good innings. Others listed on the pitching roster are: Chad Miller, Scott Pederson, Mike Richter, LeRoy Johnston and Greg Corkin.

Freshmen infielders include Mike Olson, who played for Boone High; Chris Malinoski, LaCrosse, Wis.; Dave Hallman, Des Moines; Chip Wall and Scott Greene.

Outfielders are Craig Larscheid, John Spinner, and Mike Kelly, also a former Boone High player.

The other catcher on the team is Brendan Sheil, a freshman from Indianola.

Unfortunately, two other players that were expected to contribute to the team were injured in a car/motorcycle accident March 5. Dean Shepherd, a sophomore transfer from Indiana State; was expected to be in the pitching rotation. He throws in the low-90/mph range. Smith said he had a good chance to be drafted into the pro's. Steve Johnson, a freshman from North Platte, Nebr., was to get some playing time at first base and also do some pitching. We hope for a full and speedy recovery for these two fine, young ballplayers.

The Bears play their home games at Memorial Park, located at 19th and Boone Streets. Most are doubleheaders.

Coach Smith said he looks for a good year for the team.

"Other teams in our league look up to Boone as best in the state, and I like to feel we are."

If you enjoy watching a good baseball game, come on out and watch the Bears. Support the home team and catch a few rays!

DMACC Bears Are Improving

by SHAWN DUGAN
Sports Writer

The Boone Bears basketball team, led by Larry Hughes, may not look good statistically, but it has shown improvement each time on the court.

The team's main problem has been lack of size, and most of the time, being overpowered by bigger and stronger squads.

In the past 10 games, the Bears have shown some consistency, and they never come up short in the effort department.

One of the better games of the year for the Bears was Jan. 24 against the No. 9 team in the country, Ellsworth. The Bears were outscored in the first half 48-30, but played well in the second half, losing 91-73.

Jesse Ybarra led the team with 23 points, followed by Bryce Schaben with 14 and John Holbrook with 16.

The Bears also displayed a formidable effort against Southwestern C.C. in a 80-71 loss. The Bears had a balanced attack with Schaben leading the way with 20, Dan Lollman with 18, and John Holbrook with 18.

All-Stars Defeat Ankeny

The Boone Campus intramural basketball All-Stars defeated the Ankeny Campus league champions, 97-81, at the Boone Campus gym Wednesday, March 4.

Leading the Boone attack was Jesse Broome with 29, followed closely by Shawn Hoover with 24. Dan Coder and Chad Helms each had 12. Rounding out the scoring were John Spinner and Dave Seaman with 8, Dean Sheperd with 6 and Mike Richter with 4. Bob Alley played but did not score.

The team was coached by Dan Dotzler.

Rec Students Attend Conf.

A group of leisure studies majors will be traveling to Waterloo April 5-8 to attend the annual Iowa Parks and Recreation Assoc. state conference.

The conference theme is "Be Fiscally Fit." Many sessions will address methods of generating funds through recreation programs.

Cheer Squad Hosts Clinic

by JUSTINE SHRIVER
Staff Writer

The DMACC cheer squad held a cheerleading clinic Saturday, March 14, after presstime, for girls in second through sixth grade.

They learned jumps and cheers from the cheerleaders and the drill team taught them a dance routine. They received certificates for attending.

Rec Club Hosts Tourney

The Recreation Club hosted the state Class A Iowa Parks and Recreation basketball tournament March 14-15 at the college gym, after presstime.

Twelve teams participated in the single elimination tourney with the winner earning the right to play in the regional tournament to be held in Minneapolis, Minn.

GARY STASKO

Stasko Likes Campus

by ERIC NELSON
Staff Writer

Gary Stasko is an instructor of economic and business related courses, and has taught at three DMACC campuses in Ankeny, Des Moines and Boone.

Before coming to DMACC, Stasko was an instructor of agricultural marketing at ISU. Previous to teaching, he was a commodities broker in Ames.

Stasko's college education includes a B.S. degree in farm operations, which he received from Iowa State University in 1972, and a M.S. degree in agricultural economics in 1983, also from ISU.

At DMACC, Stasko's schedule is divided into two parts. The first part consists of teaching classes such as macro economics, micro economics, principles of marketing, as well as a variety of business classes. The second part of his schedule includes his involvement in the Holst Farm Management Institute.

His involvement in the Holst Farm Management Institute includes teaching short courses to farmers and other people in agricultural business. He eventually has plans to begin a degree program, and is open for any suggestions or ideas as to courses.

Stasko is a "diehard" railroad buff, and is a brakeman on the Boone and Scenic Valley Railroad. He would someday like to become an engineer.

Stasko resides in Ames with his wife Judi, and his two daughters, Laura and Kristine.

When asked what he likes about Boone DMACC he replied, "The friendliness and the personal aspect."

He also added he has no dislikes!

ISU College of Bus. Admin. Changes

There are several important developments that will appear in the college of business administration section of the 1987-89 Iowa State University catalog.

All students who apply for admission to the college of business administration after June 1, 1989 will be required to have earned a 2.5 cumulative grade point average in all college work or have earned a 2.5 average in the published foundation courses.

This new policy affects any student entering college for the first time fall 1987 as well as the students enrolled prior to fall 1986. Grades earned and cumulative GPAs from community colleges will be used to meet the admission criteria.

Briefly In The News

Assemble Teams Now for 1987 Spring Fling!

The Boone Campus Spring Fling will be held Tuesday, April 21.

It's time to get your teams of six guys and six gals together for a great time!

Financial Aid Meetings

The recently scheduled financial aid meetings were not held due to low attendance, according to Chris Carney, financial aid director.

She stated that although the meetings were not held, the interested students have been informed of how to apply for financial aid and were given all information needed to apply.

Rotaract Update

The Boone Campus Rotaract Club had a "clean up" day at DMACC-Boone Campus recently, as one of many projects underway.

Recent activities have included a social at a local restaurant in Boone Sunday, March 15 and a district conference in Des Moines March 14.

Other activities of the 12-member spring semester club include visiting hospitals and nursing homes as well as sponsoring bake sales, chili feeds and car washes.

If you're interested in joining, contact any member or Lee McNair, faculty advisor.
