By HARRY ANDREWS
Ericson Public Library in Boone is open to all Boone campus students, as well as to the residents of the Boone area.
Cynthia Cummings Watson, Director of Ericson Public Library, 702 Greene St. in Boone, emphasizes the fact that the Boone campus students are welcome to use the community facility.

Editor's desk

Happy belated Halloween to everyone!!!
Well, October has concluded and, once again, we managed to get the issue organized. For awhile, however, I wasn't certain of what to expect-having our copy set for the first time instead of typed has been quite an experience!

There was a great deal to learn and, though we had our share of difficulties, we managed to accomplish our "new look" through a team effort.
The Boone school district and Arvid Stock deserve big thank-yous for allowing us the use of their equipment and other special thank-you's go out to the BOONE NEWS REPUBLICAN for printing the paper; my friend (and boss) Louise, for her constant advice (and her Junior Miss picture) the entire BEAR FACTS staff, for helping to organize our "new look"; and especially Rosemary for just being there...all the time

I hope that you enjoy this issue and are as pleased with it's appearance as I am.

MnOANS.

Ryan's trips

By SHARON JONES
Did you know that Boone is filled with scenic areas? If not, Botany teacher Ryan can point them out for you.
He has taken his Botany classes to the Ledges State Park, the Holst Forest Preserve, the Barkley Forest and the Boesen Greenhouse.

The Environmental Biology class toured the local sewage disposal plant, the native prairie around town and stopped at a nearby house to see how the landscape was being changed.

R yan wants his Botany students to be able to locate the plants as well as the environment in which they can be fourd. Ryan wants to point out ecological concerns of the environment to his Environmental Biology class.

Feld trips are an important part of Ryan's classes. He says that they help the students to better understand the purbose of the class.

European tour

BY SHARON JCNES
Do you remember what you did during the past summer? Mrs. Hzailton remembers well, for she and her husband headed a party of 20 threugh a tour of Eastern Europe, Poland, Hungary and Crechoslavakia.
They began with a tour of Prague-the capital of Czechoslavakia. Everything there is owned by the government. Most farmers use litle machinery. Instead, they rake and stack by hand, says: Hamilton. She was also bothered upon see ng one horse pulling a two-horse wagon.
Poland was the next stop. Mr. Hamilton admires the Poles because she feels that theyhave produced many of the great scientists, musicians anl artists. A highlight of that stop was found in Warsaw Poland where World War Il destroyed the city, but it isnow reconstructed and appears almost exactly like the old city of Warsaw.
Another high point of the tour took place in Vienna, Austria. John Haise, a studrnt irom the DMACC, was staying in Vienna at the time and he visited the Hamilton's hotel to eat dinner with them on the fourth of July.
The group then arived in Olerammergau, Germany and attended a Passion Play in commemoration of the 17th century plague in Germany and the vow of the people to present the play should the plagiscome to an end. This has been done for 300 years now act orting to Hamilton.

In the last ten years, the Hanilton's have conducted many tours to Europe, South Ameris, The South Pacific and Australia.

Name that car!

By SHARON JONES
A Cadillac has been a daytime resident of the Boone Campus parking lots for the past six years, and has now been supplanted by a brand new Rambler.
How did the Cadillac come to be exchanged for a Rambler?
The Cadillac was owned by Claire Abbott, sociology instructor on the Boone Campus. He had originally obtained it from a family estate and has enjoyed its use ever since.
However, he recently decided it was time for a switch. During the years that the Cadillac was a member of the Abbott family, Claire Abbott had taken a lot of kidding about his large car from Bill Berge, English instructor on Boone Campus. However, when Berge discovered that Abbott planned to sell the car his tune changed! He told Abbott that he wanted to keep the car in his family and was selling it to his brother-in-law.
Have you seen the new Rambler that has supplanted the Cadillac? It may not be a large inside, but there are a lot more miles to the gallon in its gas tank!

PBL meeting

By ANDREA FLESHMAN

Reporter/Historian Phi Beta Lambda
The first PBL meeting was an Executive Board meeting on Oct. 7 to discuss duties, commitees, and an approximate schedule for meetings. Eight commitees were selected for this year's group of PBL'ers:
SOCIAL-consisting of arranging banquets, luncheons, and perhaps some parties.
WORKSHOP-An end of the year workshop/contest for surrounding high school students.
SERVICE-to include service to community such as caroling at Christmas, perhaps a big-brother/big-sister program, and other beneficial projects.
CIVIC-a single project for the betterment of the community, as yet undecided.
FUND-RAISING-raising money for the organization by selling concessions during Boone High School Basketball games, selling concessions during Boone High School basketball ganes, selling Wisconsin Cheese and Sausage (which would make great Christmas gifts), and other money-making endeavors throughout the year.

PROGRAM-finding interesting speakers or items that apply to business for the organizations personal programs held during the second monthly meeting.
PUBLICITY-advertise PBL and what the organization is here for.
NEW MEMBERSHIP-recruiting new people for PBL.

Following the Board meeting on Oct. 10, the officers planned a general meeting for Oct. 13 to inform members of each committee and have them sign up for those they prefer.

A seminar was held on Ocl. 16 with three girls presenting a skit. Skit participants were Deb Reitz (the efficient secretary), Laura Swanger (the boss) and Karen Abrahamson (the inefficient secretary). The skit was on etiquette in an office and they presented both the do's and don'ts in a humorous manner.

A wine and cheese party was also held on Oct. 16 to encourage the member to sell all the cheese and sausage possible.

Student of Month for November

Bv KATHY ABEL
As our first "student of the month" the Bear Facts staff is proud to introduce Kevin Israel: a student who says that he wants to be remembered as "going the other direction."

Kevin was born in Nevada, lowa, but raised in Ames. Kevin attended Ames high school and during those years he was active in football, Ames High Volunteers and even student taught at the third grade level.

Always active in drama, Kevin performed in three plays as a junior, three plays as a senior and three plays in the Ames summer theater.

While in high school, Kevin was employed by the Burger King restaurant and was known as the "king of the Whopper Cheese Board."
Kevin graduated from high school in 1978.
During the summer following, he traveled to Colorado working as a chef at a ski resort. He then moved to Florida for six months and worked as a carpet layer and a dry wall carrier. From Florida he returned home and first enrolled at the DMACC for the winter quarter of 1979.
Since he began at DMACC, Kevin has been involved in two dramatic productions. He will also be directing the upcoming one-act plays at school.
Kevin feels that no matter how many lines a character has in a play, he is just as important as any other character. "The satisfaction of making someone smile is worth every hour of practice and work," says Kevin.

He also feels that although the audience attends a performance for entertainment, the actors are there for their own satisfaction and pleasure. Kevin believes in doing plays for himself and for the thrill of seeing an audience smile or cry.

Kevin is enrolled in the Recreation Program at Boone and during his free time he likes to travel. His favorite pastime, however, is attending Space Mountain at Disney World in Florida and riding the roller coaster with his eyes closed and his hands raised above his head.
(NOTE: If you know of anyone whom you feel deserves to be the student of the month, please notify the editor).

Spinsters ask..

Anyone for tea?

By MARCIA MATT
Can it be possible for a group of elderly spinsters to be so taken in with a young homicide detective that they commit murder in order to attract his attention?
It may not sound logical, but such was the situation on Oct. 17 in the DMACC production of Bull In A China Shop by C.B. Gilford.
A capacity crowd attended the Fall presentation which kept the audience in wide-eyed anticipation of the resolution throughout the play.
The mystery, directed by Chuck Shaeffer, takes place in Miss Hildegardes' (Beth Christianson) boarding house at 909 Sycamore Street where her permanent residents: Miss Birdie (Kerin Springer); Miss Amantha (Lynn Norley); Miss Lucy (Chris Shedd); Miss Nettie (Jodi McElwee): and Miss Elizabeth (Sandy Johnson)originally totalling six old-maids-reside.
Due to the fact that the group has grown tired of keeping watch over the object of their affections (Kevin Israel) from long distance-their window looks into hisone of the group poisons another. This warrants calling the police and handsome neighborly detective Dennis O'Finn (Israel) arrives on the scene. (The problem of attracting his attention is temporarily solved).
After some dishevelling of the facts, it is Dennis' partner, Kramer (Tony Thornburg) who determines that Dennis himself is the motive for the murder. The detectives then decide that the best way to get these ladies to "talk" is to ignore their plea for attention.
The ledies, however, call in a reporter (Jean Golightly) to help shem in their case, but when she becomes interested in O'Finn they attempt (unsuccessfully) to make her the next victim. Due to that failure, another spinster is eliminated in order to rekindle Dennis' attention in the group.
Dennis eventually does crack the case (Miss Hildegaro aid it) and the other ladies bicker because she is able to leave for the police station with Dennis.
Other cast and crew members included Ron Bunting, Tim Orr, Brian Jones, Kathy Weber, Sharon Blaskey, Jimmy Coco and John E. Watt.

DMACC's production of Bull In A China Shop provided the perfect setting for an enjoyable evening of murder The characters were realistically portrayed by the group and the entire play was superbly directed.
Congratulations to Mr. Shaeffer and the entive UMACC drama department (and good luck to anyone who should ever have -quge to visit 909 Sycamore Street. USA).

THE FAVORITE PASTIME of the spinsters was watching

THE DREADED TEA berame the center of everyone's attention as the mystery uniolded.

Reporter Jane Rodgers attempts to romantically attract the detective as the case begins to find him as the motive 。
