'Said The Spider To The Spy' Campus fall play

The DMACC Boone Campus Drama Department will be presenting "Said The Spider To The Spy," Nov. 9-10 at 8 p.m. in the auditorium.

The cast includes nine students: Lori Lambert, as Augusta Waycross; Misti Orban, Ida Gormley; Mick Kawahara, The Man; Cory Vespestad, Bryon Peters; Carla Rogers, Ruth St. Martin; Nicole Devens, Julia Sibley; Jim Merrill, Manfred Sibley; Jacquie Hughes, Adele Addison; and Jim McKean, Dexter Addison.

Director is Kay Mueller, Boone Campus drama and speech instructor.

"I'm really excited about the play because we have a great cast, although it was difficult to choose between all of the great auditions," Mueller said.

"Said The Spider To The Spy" is a farce, so if your looking for a play with confusion, mistaken identity, plot twist, action and humor, this is it!

"I think the play will be an exciting experience, and the cast will be fun to work with," Vespestad commented

Orban said, "I wanted a part in the play because I knew it would be a good time. The people are great, and I think the play is gonna be a smash!"

Three attend Conference

by DODI O'LENA
Staff Writer

Three of the newly chosen SAB members attended a leadership conference in Ames at the Starlight, Oct. 19-20.

They included: Rob Lamke, Tony Trumm and Phil Strouse.

Also attending the conference were George Silberhorn, SAB adviser, and for the dinner, Kriss Philips, executive dean.

One major issue discussed was the funding for technical classes. The support of sports for all DMACC Campuses and the new legislation funding for junior colleges were also discussed.

Lamke's opinion of the conference was that, "It was excellent and I'd definitely do it again!"

Hypnotist to entertain

Dr. Jim Wand, hypnotist, will entertain, educate, and dazzle students, staff and faculty in an upcoming performance, according to George Silberhorn, director of student services.

Wand will appear in the auditorium Wednesday, Nov. 14 at 9 a.m.

His intent is, once again, to show students how hypnosis can be used to prepare for exams, improve study skills, reduce stress, increase motivation, and improve concentration.

All are invited to attend. There is no charge.

Graduation requirement meeting Nov. 7

by RICH FINNESTAD
Counselor

Wednesday, Nov. 7, at 10:10 a.m., a meeting will be held in the auditorium explaining graduation requirements for the Associate in Sciences and the Associate in Arts degrees. All students planning to complete one of these degrees at DMACC should plan to attend this meeting.

The meeting will include discussion on how degree requirements are completed, how various courses are used in the degree, and how the AS or AA degrees can be used in transfer.

With spring semester registration for general education students beginning on Monday, Nov. 12, attendance at the meeting will be beneficial.

Four attend IOAADN convention

Connie Booth, Paula Peterson, Gloria Larkins and Gina Wellendorf from the DMACC nursing program recently attended the state convention for the Iowa Organization for the Advancement of Associate Degree Nursing at Adventureland in Des Moines.

The theme this year was "Our New Decade --- Questions for the Future."

Keynote speech was presented by JoAnne Owens Nauslar who spoke on "Your Future Is So Bright You Ought To Wear Shades."

Another highlight of the convention was Julie Heide, who is a registered nurse with a degree of gerontology. Julie presented an original monologue in the area of aging which was very informative plus entertaining.

IOAADN is an organization speaking for Associate Degree Nursing. This was the 5th Annual Convention for the organization and membership includes individuals, groups, or institutions interested in promoting the goal of the organization.

DODIMANIA — Who Is Your Favorite Instructor?

Drug Addicted Mothers

by DODI O'LENA
Staff Writer

Since 1987, 19 states and the District of Columbia have brought 50 criminal cases against mothers for abusing babies with drugs during pregnancy.

Eight states have made laws making the use of drugs during pregnancy a crime. They don't think it's fair that a baby is born shaking from drug withdrawal, possibly suffering from brain damage, having deformities to their limbs and organs, or a learning disability.

Released last week from Fairbanks, Alaska, a study found that 14.2% of babies were born to mothers taking illegal drugs, such as amphetamines, marijuana, barbiturates, opiates, and/or cocaine.

Los Angeles County has a total of 24,000 drug addicted babies born each year. Arizona totals 65,000 a year.

Initial hospital care for drug addicted babies can reach $200,000. That means that our nation will spend approximately $5 billion to treat and provide foster care until the age of five for 100,000 cocaine-addicted babies born each year.

Cocaine-addicted babies, also known as crack cocaine babies, suffer from behavioral abnormalities, growth retardation, small head size, poor feeding and infection by sexually transmitted diseases.

According to the National Association on Perinatal Addiction Research and Education, 375,000 drug-exposed children were born in 1987 in the US.

Earlier this year, President Bush vetoed a measure that would have provided family and medical leave. Despite campaign promises, he has also failed to move the child-care policy forward. And the veto of the

Since students here at DMACC are in their third month of classes, the time seemed appropriate to ask: "Who is your favorite instructor, and why?"

Those of you who replied were quick to give reasons and it seems as if you have different qualifications with which to rate your instructors. Here are the responses:

Steve Clark: Harold Johnson, because he is very knowledgeable and knows how to get a subject across to his students.

Carmen Mead: Randy Smith, because he explains every little thing so that I can understand, and if I don't, he'll repeat the material until I do. Also, he has a great sense of humor.

Galyn Hall: Harold Johnson, because he's a great lecturer and makes it easy to take notes in order to understand the material. Also, he grades our tests right away so we don't have to wait for the results.

Jo Dieter: Mel Holtus, because he's intelligent and thorough and doesn't treat you like a fool.

Civil Rights Act of 1990 suggests that children born today will face some of the same discrimination their parents faced a generation ago.

Over a thousand drug addicted babies are born each day. And adding to the list of reactions they suffer are also blindness and seizures.

Recently, as a response to this life-threatening child-abuse epidemic, some judges and prosecutors have been incarcerating pregnant dope-addicted women as a way to protect both lives at risk. Cases have been rare—3 dozen or so to date—but results have been impressive for this last-ditch effort to put the force of the law between mother's dangerous, unrehabilitative behavior and the very life of her unborn child.

Soroptimist Grant

The Ames Club is awarding a $250 grant.

Applicants must be female, head of household, show financial need, be enrolled in a vocational program or undergraduate degree, and show how education will assist them in entering or re-entering the job market.

The deadline for this grant is Dec. 15, 1990.

Applications are available in the main offices.

Connie Lastine: Mr. Darling, because I enjoy working on the computer, and he explains things so well.

Debbie Johns: Mary Jane Green, because she does everything and does it well. She's inspiring, a real role model.

Darla Earll: Vivian Brandmeyer, she's a great role model and really knows her stuff.

Gene Nixon: Mr. Ryan, because he knows the subject matter so well. Plus, he's a little goofy in class.

Connie Garcia: Martha Griffiths. I have learned a lot in her class.

Carol Twiselton: Doug Kirschner, because he works so hard at using teaching methods that allow all students to grasp the ideas and concepts he is teaching.

Jim Pepples: Mr. James Bittner, because I enjoy his class, and he presents his material in a unique fashion of involving his class.

Amy Schultz: Vivian Brandmeyer, because she's really nice and I like the way she teaches.

Rose Hidlebaugh: Linda Plueger. She spends that extra five minutes with you, on a personal and professional level. She's really a caring person.

Becky Tolle: Linda Plueger, because she explains the assignments well, and will give extra help whenever its needed.

Jim Hoyle: Bill Alley. He's a realist and he relates to his students on a respectful level. With him, you always know where you stand.

Sheryl Robinson: Lee McNair and Dr. Taylor. They both listen to their students.

Ken Stoneburner: Dr. Taylor and Bill Alley, because they're entertaining and at the same time make you think. They are also easy to understand.

Cindy Schuttler: Mary Jane Green. She's very professional and takes the extra time with her students. She also expects the best from all her students, I like that.

Terry Fisher: Jim Hoyle, Pool 101. No reason.

Jenny Price: I have two favorites, Mr. Ryan, and Jill Burkhart. Both of them make my classes fun.

Iowa State Singers Wow Audience

by KAROL J. HICKS
Staff Writer

The Iowa State Singers, 46 strong, presented a varied and well-rehearsed program at DMACC - Boone Campus on Thursday, Oct. 18, conducted by Robert Molison. What the audience lacked in numbers it made up for in enthusiasm and appreciation.

The initial selections were sung a cappella, as well as without sheet music. The first was a Latin chant, "Let Us Give Thanks To God," the second, from choral music's Golden Age, was a classical choral composition from the 16th century, "Thou Art Peter," by Johannes Brahms (Brahms was a choral composer in the 19th century, but he wrote in 16th century style). The texts of the next four selections were taken from the Book of Job in the Bible.

Joseph Wood set two famous poems of William Blake to music: "The Lamb" and "The Tiger." Both were done in a light and well interpreted manner.

"A Lullaby To Alice," was a most unusual and innovative musical experience, done as an acrostic puzzle. This was followed by an English folk song for women's voices only, and an English pub song for men's voices only.

Several soloists with The Iowa State Singers sang many selections from Andrew Lloyd Webber's "Cats," "Phantom of the Opera," and "Requiem." The duet from "Phantom of the Opera" entitled "All I Ask Is You" was beautifully done, as was the duet from "Requiem."

The program concluded with a folk song, "The Deer Chase," a contemporary spiritual, "Rockin' Jerusalem," and a finely executed black spiritual, "Ezekial Saw The Wheel." Following programmed selections, the audience was treated to a medley of ISU school songs.

In spite of the sparse attendance, the entire group had a great deal of enthusiasm, and Molison can be proud of the performance. If you were not able to attend, you missed an excellent evening of music.

Representatives From ISU, UNI and U of Iowa Spend Day in Boone

by KAROL J. HICKS
Staff Writer

Representatives from Iowa colleges spent most of the day here at Boone Campus discussing transfer requirements and procedures with students considering their schools.

Rosemary Arp and Greg Millar were here from Iowa State University and talked with almost 80 DMACC students who are considering transferring to Iowa State.

Ron Green was here from the University of Northern Iowa, and left Boone Campus in the early afternoon to meet with other students from Ankeny Campus. He had approximately 25 prospective transfer students visiting with him.

Patricia Wynn discussed the possibility of transferring to the University of Iowa with approximately 30 students.

It was a busy afternoon for all three reps, but they said that it was a fruitful one. They probably will not be returning this semester, but plan on visiting again after the first of the year.

Panel discussion to be held in conjunction with Japan Week

A panel discussion, "The Japanese Impact on the Local American Economy," featuring three local speakers will be held Monday, Nov. 12 at 10 a.m. in the Boone Campus auditorium.

This event is free and open to the public. Boone Campus students and faculty are also urged to attend.

The panel participants are Dick Jorgenson, Midland Bioproducts; Ben Guenther, president, Citizens National Bank; and Wayne Seaman, West Central Co-op.

Bruce Kelly, Boone Campus history and government instructor, is organizing the event.

"The main focus of discussion will be the degree to which Japanese-owned businesses impact on the local Iowa economy and what some of the consequences of that impact might be.

"We have the specific example of Midland Bioproducts in Boone, but the panel members and the audience may discuss other examples as they may relate," Kelly said.

He added that examples need not only relate to agriculture and agribusiness, but may also relate to other aspects of the Iowa economy.

"What we hope will take place is a free-wheeling exchange of ideas among ourselves pertaining to the Japanese-Iowa economic connection," Kelly said.

Audience participation is strongly encouraged.

Work-study update

by LORI BLUMBERG
Staff Writer

There are currently 34 students participating in the work study program.

As a work study student myself, I feel it is an excellent way to earn money during my spare time. Working on The Bear Facts has given me the opportunity to meet a lot of students which has been great.

Some work study students were recently asked to comment on the program. Here are their responses:

Scott Swier works in the snack bar and for Coach Smith at the baseball park. He serves students their meals at the snack bar and maintains the ballpark by mowing and raking the field.

Scott commented, "Work study gives me a great opportunity to earn money between my classes. It also gives me a chance to meet people I otherwise wouldn't get to."

Jim Hoyle, a second year student, works for Bill Alley. His duties include maintenance of the pool table, making copies, typing and general filing duties.

Jim commented, "I think it's wonderful there is the opportunity available for people who need the money to work on campus."

Stephanie Osterhaus is a first year student and works for Kay Mueller. Her duties include making copies, making posters and set construction for the school play and general clerical duties.

Stephanie commented, "Work study is a good program because it allows students to use their free time productively and earn money. Although the program can be time consuming at points, the benefits are advantageous."

Watch for the next issue of The Bear Facts for some teacher comments on the work study program.

Who will you vote for in the race for governor?

by ANGELA FARRELL
Staff Writer

It is that time of the season again to cast your vote for the future of Iowa. Elections will be held November 6.

Who will Boone Campus students and faculty be voting for? Or will they be voting?

Those wishing to express their choice for governor and why, are listed below.

Elizabeth Foust- Avenson. I support his issue on abortion.

Grant Jordan- Avenson. I never liked Branstad. We need Bob Ray back.

Todd Fagen- Don't know.
Stephanie Osterhaus- I'm not voting, I don't know enough about the candidates.

Paul Newbold- Avensen. Iowa needs a change.

Rachel Frey- I'm not voting because I'm too lazy to register.

Scott Kelley- Avensen, because I flipped a coin.

Ranee Santl- When I get registered to vote, I'll vote Avensen because he is against raising tuition.

Travis Sonksen- Branstad, because he is Republican.

Santra Holman- Avensen, because first, he won't mess with abortion, and second, he's not going to raise tuition.

Misty Stokka- Avensen, because I think Branstad has done enough.

Chris Bushore- Avensen, because Branstad raised the drinking age.

Sandy Nordstrom- Branstad. I think he has done a good job so far, I do not share the same opinion on abortion with Avensen.

Theres Miller- I probably won't even vote, because I haven't paid attention to either one.

Wade Godwin- Avensen, because Branstad drained Spring Brook.

Dodi O Lena- I'm not voting. I leave it to the bigger people.

Tony Trump- I'm voting for Branstad, because he's an Iowan from my hometown.

Karol Hicks- Straight Democratic line.

Brian Meyer- Branstad. No idea why.

Registration is now under way

Registration for spring semester classes at Boone Campus is now under way, according to Rich Finnestad, registrar.

Career program registration began Monday, Nov. 5.

Arts and Sciences registration begins Monday, Nov. 12.

If students need assistance in schedule planning, they are encouraged to see their adviser. (A complete listing was printed in last month's Bear Facts.)

CAMPUS LIFE

Here are some courses to consider for spring semester

With registration getting started for spring semester, there are some very interesting and specialized courses in the Communications/Humanities field you may want to consider!

Here is a rundown of some of those courses, including the title, instructor, meeting times, and a synopsis of each:

LITERATURE 120

Black American Literature
T, Th 8:05-9:30 a.m.
Sunny Powers

This course traces the black experience in the U.S. through the literature of various black authors, past and present.

The student will read essays, poetry, fiction, and drama, beginning with the classics such as W.E.B. de Bois's Souls of Black Folk, and ending with contemporary authors.

LITERATURE 123

Major American Writers II
MWF 9-05-10 a.m.

(To be taught by new staff person)
The text being used in a brand new collection of literature by American writers of the 20th century.

All the English teachers are very excited about all the choices contained in this textbook.

The emphasis will be on modern authors and their social and cultural influence in America.

HUMANITIES 133

W 6-10 p.m.

(Not sure of instructor)

This semester the classes will examine the male/female roles in movies.

Scheduled for viewing are Pat and Mike, Double Indemnity, All about Eve, Seven Year Itch, Aliens, Sands of Iwo Jima, Full Metal Jacket, Deliverance, Cool Hand Luke, Tom Jones, and Coming to America.

LITERATURE 120

Introduction to Literature
MWF 11:25-12:10

Jim Bittner

Readings of plays, poems, and short stories from the classical Greeks to the present, which focus on general themes like rebellions, innocence, love, and death.

Simple reading quizzes and journal entries.

LITERATURE 130

Science Fiction

MWF 1:25-2:20

Jim Bittner

Science fiction novels and short stories from Frankenstein to Cyberpunk S.F., including utopian and anti-utopian works.

May include entries account for most of the grade.

JOURNALISM 123

Publications Production
(The Bear Facts)

Meeting times for The Bear Facts production class will fit anyone's schedule, because those times are set up after the staff has met. The staff then compares schedules to find meeting times that will satisfy everyone.

It should be stressed that anyone is welcome to join The Bear Facts staff. In the past, the majority of staffers have not been journalism majors!

You will help interview, write, edit, proofread, and layout pages for the student newspaper. Photography and advertising are also possibilities if you are interested in those areas.

We are currently using an IBM Personal System/2 computer for word processing, but the possibility exists that desktop publishing will be available spring semester!

If you're looking for a class with no quizzes, exams, or even a textbook, this is it!

An additional benefit is that listing this experience on your resume will look great to most any employer.

Joan von Grabow honored at reception

Joan von Grabow, director, DMACC nursing program, was honored at a reception Thursday, Oct. 18 at the Boone Campus Center. Von Grabow retired Friday, Oct. 19.

The event was hosted by the Boone Campus Nursing Department. Approximately 35 Boone Campus employees and members of the community attended.

Joan was presented with a DMACC sweatshirt and pants, and some beautiful Christmas ornaments, as guests enjoyed refreshments.

A special guest was Richard von Grabow, Joan's spouse.

Basketball season gets under way Nov. 14 At Home.

BEYOND IMAGINATION

Dr. Wand's presentations and stage demonstrations are hilariously entertaining and informative. Each performance is unpredictable and takes on a unique style all its own.

Dr. Wand has worked with some of the country's hottest entertainers including Jay Leno, Miami Sound Machine and The Judds and he performs to sell out crowds everywhere.

Don't miss your chance to see and participate in this totally unique and side-splitting adventure.

LIBRARY HAS NEW INFO COMPUTER

By JAYNE SMITH
Librarian

A new computer system, called MAGAZINE INDEX SELECT on InfoTrac, is currently in the library for a 30 day trial basis.

It allows patrons in seconds to search more than three years of issues of more than 200 magazines and the most recent two months of The New York Times for articles written on a specific topic.

Instead of thumbing through numerous print indexes to gather information on articles published on a specific subject over a year or so, our patrons simply sit at the computer, type in the subject they wish to search, press a button, and almost instantly they'll see a listing of articles on the subject.

In addition, the InfoTrac program will suggest other related topics that the user may wish to view.

This new reference system would always be up-to-date because a new database with indexing of the latest issues would be delivered monthly. (The database is recorded by laser on a compact disc, which is similar to those used for audio recordings.)

Please stop by the library to take a look at the InfoTrac station. I am hoping to generate enough interest in it to justify a subscription to this system.

DUKE BURRELL

Wish I may, wish I might, have these wishes!

by LORI BLUMBERG
Staff Writer

Several students were recently asked to put their imaginations to work by answering this question, "If you were given three wishes and you couldn't ask for money or more wishes, what would you ask for?"

Brian Meyer - 1991 Porsche, million dollar house with a pool, to be the best pool player in the world.

Jim Groves - To be just like Jim Hoyle (my hero), Seiko divers watch, completely paid for 1991 4 wheel drive Isuzu truck.

Bill Blanshan - Racial harmony, make abortion illegal forever, stop the destruction of the environment.

Jim Hoyle - No Satan, people would learn to love kids instead of creating more problems for them, success for all the people I love.

Stormy Bascue - GEO Storm, shopping spree at Maurice's, to have a great life.

Kym Crowdy - New car, better life for my mom, world peace.

Wade Godwin - World peace, carry guns, control all of the nuclear plants in the world.

Ralene Lewis - My grandma to get better, mom to be happy, to have my cats live with me again.

Dennis Ege - New car, toy poodles, a greenhouse.

Todd Fagen - No more wars, new car, success for my mentor Jim Hoyle.

Kriss Phillips (Executive Dean) - Excellent health, world peace, happiness and success for my family and friends.

Lori Johnson - A house for my son and I, new car, someone special to share life with.

Donna McGuire - Lose weight, get my inheritance early.

Debbie Johns - Win lottery, done with school, living high on a tropical island.

Lynn Tilley - Secure job, good health, happy life.

John Sindhal - Beer, better neighbors, cheaper beer prices.

Ben Blake - Good health for family, good baseball season, get drafted for baseball.

Tonnya Tarbell-Nolting - A boy so this will be the only time I have to be pregnant while attending school, more diamonds.

Gerald "Duke" Burrell has joined the full time staff in the Business Management, Computer Science departments as the Lab Supervisor for the computer network. His main responsibility is to maintain the network system to which the school prescribes. Duke spends the majority of his time programming, but if required, could stand in on the teaching level.

Although Duke is originally from Chicago, he grew up the son of a police officer and a social worker, he and his younger sister (who is a student in Atlanta, Georgia) decided to attend college in other cities. Duke chose Ames and ISU to get his degrees: Bachelor's Degree in 1988, and Master's in Industrial Technology in 1990. He can program in four different languages, and developed a voice controlled robot for his thesis.

Burrell is quite an active person, between biking up to 30 miles when he can, working out, and teaching martial arts. He is a 2nd degree black-belt in karate.

He lives in Ames, and plans to stay there. He is engaged to be married in the near future. He also just turned twenty-five on the 29th of last month.

He has quite an extensive ever-growing collection of ties, with over 55 of them at last count.

He enjoys it at home here on Boone Campus, and said that it is due to "all those who made me feel very comfortable from the start."

His goal is to become a senior programmer analyst but is not restricting himself to that.

He enjoys playing pool and he hikes whenever he can find the time.

If you need to locate Duke for any problems with your computer, or would like to find out more about available programs, see him in Room 213.

REZOOMERS to hear about JTPA

Peggy Soderstrum, Employability Services Specialist from Central Iowa Employment & Training Consortium will speak at the next REZOOMERS meeting Wednesday, Nov. 7, in the Library Conference Room 131 at noon.

She will explain the requirements for and benefits of the ADC Promise Jobs Program and the JTPA (Job Training Partnership Act) Program. These programs offer qualifying students assistance with school expenses as well as transportation and childcare costs.

All students are invited to attend this meeting.

The purpose of the REZOOMERS Club is to provide support to all adults who are resuming their education. The informal meetings provide the opportunity to share information and get better acquainted with others who are juggling school along with many other responsibilities.

Meetings are held twice monthly (the first Wednesday and the third Tuesday) in the Library Conference Room 131. Members eat lunch together (brown bag or from the Student Center), and come and go as classes permit between 11:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. Short programs with topics of interest to the group are presented during the year. All adult returning students are encouraged to participate.

The second meeting for November will be held Tuesday, Nov. 20.

For further information, contact club sponsor, Maggie Stone, in Room 128.

Paul Hammond, a second year DMACC student, fills himself with a cup of coffee during his break.

Holst Inst. offers spring classes

With enrollment for spring semester just around the corner, this is a good time to take a look at some courses and other things that the Boone Campus offers through its Holst Farm Management Institute that could prove to be quite educational for the agriculturally-oriented individual.

"Commodities I" (AGRI 205) will be offered on Tuesday evenings (6:30-9:35 p.m.) for the third straight year. Taught by Gary Stasko, who has an extensive background in agricultural marketing, this course covers the purpose and operation of futures markets and how they can be utilized to enhance farm profitability through the process of hedging. The principles taught in the course are also utilized in other industries (metals, financial, foreign trade, etc.) to achieve similar results.

"Principles of Farm Management" (AGRI 323) will address topics like enterprise and total farm budgeting, recordkeeping, farm business organization, and capital investment analysis. This class will meet on Monday evenings from 6:30-9:35 p.m.

There are no prerequisites for either of these courses and each will earn you 3 credits.

The fourth annual Boone Campus Chicago trip will take place March 17-19, 1991. Visits to the Chicago Board of Trade, Chicago Mercantile Exchange, and Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago are on the itinerary. Hotel accommodations have been made at the Congress Hotel, 520 S. Michigan Ave., which is close to shopping, museums, and Lake Michigan. Cost for bus transportation and room (double-occupancy) is approximately $98. A $30 per person non-refundable deposit will reserve you a place. For more information, see Gary Stasko (Room 201). Several people have already signed up so reserve your place soon!

TRANSFER PLANNING SESSION NOV. 14

Your Associate in Arts or Associate in Science Requirements will be completed in December/May.

Now what?

If you are in this position and deciding to transfer a planning session set for Wednesday, Nov. 14, 1990 at 10 a.m. in the auditorium will be of interest to you.

The discussion will include, course work, how it transfers as well as using an Associate in Arts or an Associate in Science Degree in transfer. In addition, information on sending transcripts, applications and Financial Aid will be included.

Also, concern about meeting a new advisor at your transfer school and how to meet increased educational costs will be included in the materials.

Boone Campus honors part-time employees

The Boone Campus Employees' Association sponsored "Part-time Employees' Week" Oct. 8-12, to honor Boone Campus's 59 part-time employees.

Vivian Brandmeyer, Association president, commented, "The week was chosen as a special time to show the part-time staff that their efforts are truly appreciated."

Refreshments were placed in the part-time faculty office daily, and notes of appreciation sent to part-time faculty and staff, she added. The planning committee also included Connie Booth, chair, Nursing Dept., and Jayne Smith, librarian.

Of the 59 part-timers, 35 are teachers, seven work in The Learning Center, five, food service; five, main offices, three, Bookstore, two, sports/intramurals, one, library; and one, counseling.

As part of the week, part-timers were asked to fill out an informational form about themselves, to also include thoughts about working at Boone Campus.

We now present that information:

DR. IRVING H. ANELLIS Logic

I received my PhD from Brandeis University (1977) as a student of internationally renowned historian of logic Jean Van Hiejenoot. From 1978 to the present, I taught mathematics at a number of colleges and universities in the U.S.

In the past year I have worked primarily in publishing, as editor and publisher of the new journal "Modern Logic." Our journal publishes expository articles of contemporary research in mathematics logic and historical research articles on 19th century to recent work in logic.

This year, "Modern Logic," which has its offices in Ames, will be visited by several Soviet historians of mathematics who I met at a logic conference in Moscow in 1987.

IVETTE BENDER Counselor

I have been a part-time instructor at Boone Campus for 11 years; this begins my second year as evening counselor here. I like working at Boone Campus because of the friendly, caring attitude of instructors, counselors, office personnel, and the Dean. I also believe DMACC offers a variety of programs and educational opportunities for a very diversified population.

I did my undergraduate work at Wayne State College in Nebraska. My Master's Degree in counselor education was completed at ISU. My first counseling position was as a community counselor for victims of a tornado which ravaged the town of Manson, Iowa. I received crisis counseling training for that.

I have two sons who are college students, one at ISU and one at Boone Campus.

CRISTY BOYD Learning Center

I earned my GED in 1982 here at the Boone Campus. In the five years previous to my employment here, I was a daycare provider.

I enjoy working with all the different students in the Learning Center. The job is never boring as no two days are ever the same.

JILL BURKHART Journalism

My previous work experience includes eight years in the news business as a reporter/photographer/ad sales person, and seven years of part-time teaching at Boone Campus. I graduated from ISU in 1981.

I enjoy the friendly atmosphere at Boone Campus, and being able to call many students by their first names. Boone Campus lends itself well to individualized attentions to students, and providing quality education in a more personal manner.

My husband is a supervisor at Firestone in Des Moines, and we also operate a 40-cow dairy; I oftentimes bottle feed heifer calves. We have a daughter, Jenna, 3.

GLENDIA CAMELIN Main Office

I have worked as a dental assistant and a secretary. I now also work as a teacher at the Christian Nursery School.

I graduated from Boone Junior College, and attended Iowa State.

I really enjoy working in the office and especially with the college aged student after working with pre-schoolers most of the week!

DIANE DUNCAN Library

I have been working at the library since this past summer. Working with the library staff has been a very educational experience for me and I very much enjoy working with all the DMACC faculty and students.

After graduating from high school in 1987, I enrolled in DMACC and graduated two years later with an Associate in Arts degree. From there I transferred to ISU where I am currently a senior majoring in elementary education.

JIM GRIFFITHS Business

This is my first experience at teaching at the community college level, but I hope not the last. My long term objective is to teach at the community college level on a full time basis, and to that objective I am finishing a MSBAS at ISU to complement about 30 years of business experience. My teaching experience has focused on training and product knowledge for outside people at the industrial level, generally sales and marketing people.

My undergraduate degree is from the University of Iowa, in business administration, emphasis marketing. My experience ranges from entry level sales to director of marketing of a medium sized component manufacturing company. I am currently the president and part owner of an import/export business. It is my intention to maintain that business since other members of the company can handle the general operations. I am particularly interested in international business activities, in part because of about 15 years in the field as an international representative at various levels for two companies, and in part because of the globalization of business activities taking place in the world today and my interest in being involved in some way.

MARTHA GRIFFITHS Business

DMACC is the third community college where I have taught English. I was employed at Harper Junior College, located in the Chicago suburb of Palatine, Ill. Just previous to coming to DMACC in August of 1989, I taught at Lake Michigan College in Benton Harbor, Mich.

Undergraduate education included three years at U of I, BS from Rockford College in Rockford, Ill. Graduate degree (MA) was achieved at ISU. Other graduate courses were at ISU and Western Michigan University.

I enjoy the diversity of the students and the friendly and helpful attitude of everyone at the Boone Campus. In fact, I was so enthusiastic about teaching at a community college, that when my husband decided to make a career change, he directed this change toward teaching at this level.

RITA HOUGE Psychology

I received a BS in psychology and an MS in industrial relations/human resource management, all from ISU.

Work experience includes seven years at Des Moines Public Schools, and one year in employee relations at The Des Moines Register. I plan to finish PhD work and teach. My special interest are personnel-related, i.e. performance appraisals.

My husband works for John Deere in Ankeny. I have two daughters, who attend Ballard; and three stepdaughters. I have been a member of the Ames Human Relations Commission for one year, and the ISU Human Relations Committee for two years.

I hope the students enjoy the Boone Campus as much as I do!

GEORGE HUEDEPOHL Chemistry

My work experience includes five years at NIACC in Mason City, 14 years at ICC in Fort Dodge, and too many years teaching at high schools in Iowa and Illinois.

My educational background includes graduating when Sputnik took off, and spending 13 consecutive summers of National Science Foundation funds after graduating from Illinois State University.

Boone Campus is an exciting, growing place. People are downright friendly, and usually polite and well-mannered.

MARGUERITE KELLEY History

I went to high school and college with David Soul (he was David Seelberg then).

Four out of 20 students spelled my first name correctly on a quiz.

I am a student at ISU. I wish society would let women rule for just 10 years and see how well women do.

(These are suggestions by my students of the most interesting things about me!)

SANDY KRAUSE Learning Center

I am a 1956 (Minnesota) High School graduate. I took secretarial subjects and held secretarial jobs at Shattuck School in Faribault, MN; Donnelly Corp., Nevada; and Trinity Lutheran School, Boone.

I have been married to the same wonderful man for almost 35 years. He is an agent for the C&NW Railroad in Boone and is in his 38th year with them. We are the parents of four wonderful children, two boys and two girls, and the grandparents of six beautiful grandchildren, two boys and four girls. I was a mother and homemaker for twenty some years, and enjoyed sewing and cooking for my family.

I now enjoy everything I do, especially my job at DMACC; the people are wonderful. I love sewing, biking, crocheting, walking, church choir. We have lived in Kilkenny MN; Clemons, IA; Iowa Falls, Mason City, and Boone. Each place was special to us and we left many friends behind each time we moved.

JIM LOOS Music

My educational background includes degrees from ISU and UNI. Previous experience includes 16 years, junior/senior high school choral director; two years, junior college. My current other most involvement includes being choir director, Memorial Lutheran Church in Nevada; adjunct lecturer in music appreciation, Mary Crest in Camp Dodge; and private students in voice and piano. This takes up about one-third of my time, the rest being spent in piano tuning and other business areas. This is my sixth year at Boone Campus.

I enjoy teaching at this level and the kind of students I mostly get. I wish, however, that the Iowa junior college philosophy in general, and Boone Campus DMACC in particular, would give equal time and importance to liberal arts preparation as it does to the vocational programs.

The specific application to Boone Campus is making the music position a half-time contract. My biggest dissatisfaction is the pay. I do not feel it's right that I get one-half (not even including the benefits we don't get) the pay (for having the same quality work and spending equal amounts of time teaching a three hour class) that the contracted people get. Spring semester of last school year I had music appreciation for three semester hours and 12 private students-at ISU that's at least half time!

PAT MCNAIR English

I'm originally from St. Louis. I attended New Mexico Highland University and the University of Missouri. I have an MA in English.

I have taught at the high school, junior college, and college levels.

I especially enjoy the variety of students at DMACC; there is a complete range of age and backgrounds.

SANDY NORDSTROM Main Office

I attended Boone Junior College after high school graduation (back in 1958).

I operated dance studios in Webster City and Boone for 24 years. I started working in the Boone Campus main offices five years ago. I enjoy my job and like working with the students, faculty and staff.

I am the mother of three children, two girls and a boy; all are grown and out on their own. I also have one granddaughter.

CONNIE PETRICH Business

This is my first semester at the Boone Campus. I teach Principles of Accounting I Monday nights. Last year I taught for the Ankeny Campus at its satellite program in Ames.

I work during the day as an administrative assistant in the Agricultural Engineering Dept. at ISU. I also hope to complete my Master's Degree in Business Administration at ISU this academic year.

My husband Scott and I are originally from Minnesota. (Scott is a graduate student in chemistry at ISU.) My B.S. in Business Education and Accounting is from Southwest State University in Marshall, Minn.

I really enjoy teaching the variety of students who enroll in evening classes. Their enthusiasm to learn is exciting!

LINDA PLUEGER Business

DMACC-Boone Campus is the place to be! I thoroughly enjoy working with the students and staff on our campus.

In the past, I have worked as a private secretary and also as a secretary for a group of employers. Also, I have taught high school business education classes, as well as adult education. I have been teaching every semester at Boone Campus for the past eight years in the office occupation area and appreciate the opportunity to do so.

My husband Mike and I have lived in Ogden for 14 years. We have three children: Jaime, 13; Jason, 11; and Julie, 8. We are finding out how busy they can keep us and are treasuring these days as we know all too soon they will be gone.

DON RIEMENSCHNEIDER Education

I am a former superintendent of Boone Community Schools.

JEANNE ROTH Learning Center

I taught eighth and ninth grade English for four years at Benton Community School and Ames Community School before teaching at DMACC. I have taught several different writing classes and have worked in the Learning Center the past five years at DMACC. I have a BS in English from ISU.

I really love the one-on-one teaching we do in The Learning Center. It gives me the opportunity to get to know the students well and to follow their progress through school.

CHERYL SANDERS Psychology

I am a doctoral candidate in the psychology program at ISU. I will finish up my degree next year and hope to pursue a career teaching and doing psychological research. Previous teaching experience includes general psychology at ISU and being a teaching developmental psychology for DMACC in Ames next semester.

I am married and my husband is working on a PhD in physics at ISU.

I've really enjoyed DMACC students this semester, and hope to continue teaching for DMACC.

CANDACE STRAWN
English

My work experience includes three years at ISU as an instructor while getting my master's degree there; 11 years of upper high school teaching English and speech at Bondurant-Farrar and Gilbert (also directing plays and coaching speech contests). This is my fifth year of part-time teaching on the Boone Campus. I thoroughly enjoy teaching Comp. I, Comp. II, and speech.

I have a BS in English and history, and an MA in English, both from ISU. I've also attended the University of Michigan, Drake University, Portland State University, and Bemidji State. I am teaching certified in English, speech, and journalism.

I'm married and live in Ames. My husband is a computer science professor and director of the Computation Center. We have two sons: Adam, 9; and Brandon, 5. Plus, we raised two step-daughters (Teri and Cheryl) who have each made me a step-grandmother! They live in Texas and Oregon. In my free time, I enjoy drama, traveling, reading, northern Minnesota, playing with my children and pets, and gourmet cooking.

BARB VASKE
Art

I'm a fourth generation farmer from eastern Iowa. I attended UNI in Cedar Falls for a BA in art, and went to California College of Arts and Crafts in Oakland, CA for my MFA.

My shows include Corcoran Gallery, Washington, D.C.; Bowers Art Museum, Santa Ana, CA; and Coos Bay Art Museum, Coos Bay, OR. I'm presently having a one person show at Grinnell Community Center.

(Vaske is national known for her sewn aluminus mesh sculptures. She also gives talks and art presentations to corporations and schools.)

TONYA WILLIAMS
Main Office

My job here at DMACC is my co-op job to finish my clerical diploma. I graduated in May 1990 with a Liberal Arts AS degree from DMACC.

Basically, I have worked in restaurants all my life with an exception of Randall's Super Valu in Boone. I was injured in a car accident in Feb., 1989, and had to quit my job at Randall's due to my injuries. It took about a year and two months to recover from the surgery before I could return to the work field.

I was then hired here at DMACC and then as an intern. Working here at DMACC is the best job I've ever had. I like dealing with the students; I've been through school here at DMACC and I can relate to the students well. I plan to someday get my Bachelor's Degree in Liberal Arts, but I don't know when or where just yet.

Fagen likes individual attention from teachers

by WADE GODWIN
Staff Writer

Todd Fagen is a sophomore this year at Boone Campus.

The one thing he likes best is the one-to-one basis the teachers and students have.

"It's good to get to know your teacher more personally. It makes it more fun to learn," he said.

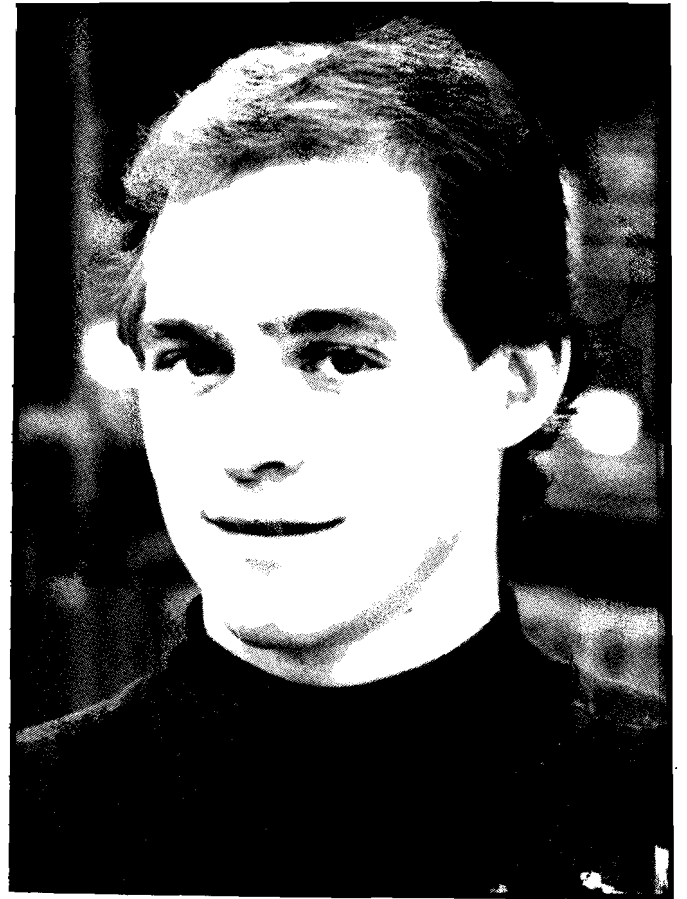

Todd lives in Grand Junction with his dad Bud, and his stepmom Pat. He has three sisters, Kelli, 21; Annie, 11 and Jessica, 8; and one brother Brett, 4.

Todd has a very full load this semester, his classes include psychology, biology, sociology, math for elementary educators, theatre and comp. II.

Next semester Todd plans to go to Castle Rock, Colo. on his internship in the recreation field.

Athletics have played an important part in his life; this fact helped him choose his field of study, recreation. It also shows in his pastimes. Softball, baseball, golf, waterskiing, snowskiing and playing pool all rank high on his list of favorites.

In leaving us next semester, Todd offers this advice: Take your vitamins, say your prayers, study your books and take Pool 101.

TODD FAGEN

the student newspaper. Photography and advertising are also possibilities if you are interested in those areas.

We are currently using an IBM Personal System/2 computer for word processing, but the possibility exists that desktop publishing will be available spring semester!

If you're looking for a class with no quizzes, exams, or even a textbook, this is it!

An additional benefit is that listing this experience on your resume will look great to most any employer.

Criner has high hopes for Lady Bears

by WADE GODWIN
Staff Writer

"A little of everything," Coach Dick Criner's comment on the strong points of his Lady Bears basketball team this year.

"The team has a lot of height, and some quick people to balance the attack. Add with that some dead eye shooting, and you've got yourself a fine team," he added.

DMACC's women's basketball team is 11 strong this year. Only one player is back from last year's squad, but there are three sophomores that should help lead the team.

Criner said he thinks this bunch of players is a very fun group to coach and they are responding well to his coaching.

He said Creston, Ellsworth, Waldorf, and NIACC will be the teams to beat this year. He hopes to compete with these tough teams by mixing up his defenses, and putting lots of pressure on the ball by using full court pressure.

Criner has high hopes for this year's team, and believes they will do well in the conference.

Coach Criner will be tested in the Lady Bears' season opener against NIACC, at Boone Wednesday, Nov. 14, at 6 p.m.

Hughes excited about men's BB season

by WADE GODWIN
Staff Writer

Coach Larry Hughes is very excited about the upcoming Boone Campus men's basketball season.

He said the practices are coming along very well and his players are responding well.

The Bears are a very young team this year having only two players returning from last year's squad. The team may be young, but it has excellent speed, despite giving up a height advantage to most of this year's opponents. The team is also blessed with good depth.

Coach Hughes is still questioning the team's shooting and rebounding, but feels their running game could be the best the Bears have had in 10 years.

The Bears play NIACC Wednesday, Nov. 14, at 8 p.m. in their home opener.

Rec Club Goes To Phoenix

by KAROL J. HICKS
Staff Writer

October was a busy month for Bill Alley and some of his Rec Club members.

In addition to regular class demands, nine students traveled to Phoenix, Ariz. to attend the National Parks and Recreation National Congress.

Seminars were on such topics as: municipal parks and recreation, therapeutic recreation and resorts and commercial recreation.

Those present had their choice of any of 15 meetings to attend which were held concurrently each hour.

The Boone group, including Mike Burkhardt, Todd Fagen, Todd Fisher, Randy Kilstofte, Kerin Klinkenbeard, Brian Knudson, Kurt Kruse, Kelly Lough, Dave Tryon, and Bill Alley (advisor), left Boone Campus in the DMACC van Oct. 9th and returned Oct. 15th.

Hotel and most of the expenses incurred were financed by the club members themselves. It wasn't all work, however, and a few members of the group went to Superstitious Mountain for some fun. There was also an all-conference student dance which some attended.

Approximately 6,300 of the 50,000 members of the National Park and Recreation Association were in attendance to learn about new techniques and see some of the equipment on display at the 741 exhibit booths.

Alley commented, "These students are 'Leisure Study' majors, and the main purpose of getting together is to enable them to become involved with as many activities as possible, which are directly related to their professional development."

Todd Fisher, who was one of the students on this field trip commented, "Personally, I think there should have been more new rec students there. We had a good group, but the newer students could have benefited the most, if not from an academic view, then from a social, recreational standpoint."

Todd also added, "We had a good time during our free hours. Three of us went to see the Phoenix Suns-Denver Nuggets basketball game."

Intramurals Update

by WADE GODWIN
Staff Writer

In the intramural world at Boone Campus, the basketball tournament games that were scheduled for Sunday, Oct. 21, were both won by default.

The teams of Johnson and Mears won.

These games will be played for six weeks, Sunday nights, at 6 and 7. The winner of the six week tournament will play the winner of the tournament being held in the Ankeny Campus. The Championship will be held in the Boone Campus gymnasium.

Sabra Lingren, intramural director at the Boone campus said, "Ankeny won the tournament last year, and were hoping to win the championship back this year."

Coed volleyball was cancelled due to the lack of response.

Snow softball tournaments are a possibility this winter. Watch for more information.

Also, the Boone Campus gym is open Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

Meet the Bear Facts staff!

This month we will tell you a little bit about the students who put together The Bear Facts.

Boone Campus students are responsible for virtually every aspect of the publication, including reporting, writing, taking photos, selling ads and layout work.

Typesetting and actual printing of The Bear Facts is done by employees at the Boone News-Republican.

Here is a brief rundown of The Bear Facts staff:

Lori Blumberg, the staff work-study student, is 28 and a freshman. She is from Kansas City, and is majoring in education.

Angela Farrell, 18, from Ogden, is a freshman majoring in commercial art, with a minor in journalism.

"Working on the student newspaper staff is a good example of what a professional reporter does for a living. Although we have no exams for this class, it can still tend to be stressful," she said.

Wade Godwin, 18, of Grand Junction, is a freshman majoring in journalism.

"It's fun knowing the up-to-date information by working on the newspaper. DMACC has a very friendly atmosphere," he commented.

Karol Hicks, 44, of Ogden, is a freshman majoring in accounting.

"Working on The Bear Facts staff is a real enjoyable experience. I'm having fun and getting class credit for it. I love going to school at a small college. We're much closer to our classmates and staff than we would be at a larger school," Karol said.

Dodi O'Lena, 19, Ogden, is a freshman in liberal arts.

"Working on The Bear Facts is a change, but it's fun. And Boone Campus is certainly not high school," Dodi said.

Stephanie Osterhaus, 18 from Independence, is a freshman in mass communications.

"The Bear Facts gives me good experience toward my major, but does take a quantity of my time. Boone Campus is convenient because all the classes are in one building, which will be nice when the weather gets colder. I also like the smaller classes because it makes the transition from high school to college easier," she commented.

Lori Burkhead, 30, is a second year part-time student originally from Sioux City. Her major is photo-journalism. "As far back as I can remember, I have always had an interest in photography. I enjoy the thrill and excitement of photographing and meeting the variety of people. My education at Boone Campus has opened up many new doors for me."

Paula Trowbridge Receives Award

by DODI O'LENA
Staff Writer

Paula Trowbridge was this year's recipient for the Boone Campus Alumnus of the Year Award, chosen by the DMACC Foundation selection committee.

She was recognized for her involvement and leadership in the community with activities such as a PTA fundraiser, room mother, substitute Sunday school teacher, vacation Bible school, and a 15-year class reunion.

The annual meeting of the DMACC Foundation took place at the Ankeny Campus, Thursday night, Oct. 11, with a gourmet dinner. Five other recipients, all from different DMACC Campuses were also recognized. All nominations come from Boone Campus.

One from each campus is nominated every year. In return, the winners receive a plaque but is not expected to appear at any future meetings.

Paula's overall comment was, "It's a nice honor. I was really surprised."

Homemaker's Center continues to offer support

Now in its fourth year the Boone Campus Displaced Homemakers Center, Project Self-Support, continues to provide services to single parents, displaced homemakers (those who are divorced, separated, widowed, or with a disabled spouse), and homemakers who have worked primarily in the home and have diminished marketable skills.

Each of the past three years, approximately 120 persons were served by the Boone Campus Center. Numbers are running much higher this fiscal year with 75 individuals being served during the first quarter alone.

Maggie Stone, coordinator of the Center, attributes this increase to several factors.

"The Center is well established now. People, both in the community and on campus, know we're here. Agencies, ministers, lawyers, faculty, and students are making referrals. Also, more and more adults in general are returning to school these days. Many of those displaced homemakers who are searching for resources to aid them on their career journey," Stone said.

Thirdly, Stone feels that with welfare reform, more individuals are being told they must obtain training to become self-sufficient. Also, recent plant closings have sent displaced workers back to school for retraining.

The Displaced Homemakers Center offers career assessment and counseling as well as academic, pre-enrollment, and financial aid counseling for those considering enrollment at DMACC. Stone makes every effort to be aware of existing financial assistance programs which can aid students in reaching their career goals.

The Center has been awarded grants from both the Department of Education and the Iowa Commission on the Status of Women to provide services as well as financial assistance toward childcare and transportation expenses to qualifying students.

"I encourage all students who feel they might qualify to check with me if they are experiencing financial difficulty with childcare or transportation costs.

"Also, if you are experiencing difficulty with the balancing act of home and school, I'm available to listen and to pass along suggestions from others who have been there.

Sometimes it just helps to talk. I'm here for that, too," Stone said.

The Displaced Homemakers Center will be sponsoring various workshops throughout the year. A pre-enrollment workshop for adults who are considering enrollment will be offered Monday, Nov. 12 at 7 p.m. at the Boone Campus. The workshop is intended to provide prospective students with information on DMACC programs of study, financial aid, support services....in short, everything they'd need to know and do to become a DMACC student. Other workshops are planned for later in the year including pre-employment skills training (how to find a job) and "Computers Don't Byte" ("hands on" for the computer novice.)

The Center's goal is to assist displaced homemakers in their transition from home to the work world...whether that is to help them find employment with the skills they already have, or to develop a plan for further education.

For additional information regarding the Displaced Homemakers Centers, contact Maggie Stone in Room 128. Office hours are 8 a.m. to noon and 12:30 to 4:30 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday.
