EX-OFFICIO MEMBERS

Dr. Joe Anna Hibler, President
Lucille North

Dear Alumni and Friends:

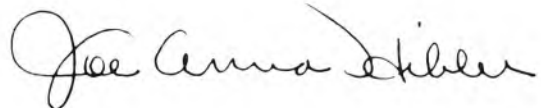

As I gaze out of my window this morning from the second floor of the Administration Building, the campus is covered with snow and more is falling. The surrounding countryside is beautiful, but as you recall, walking or driving a vehicle on "The Hill" is certainly a challenge!

A year ago in the 1992 spring issue, I explained that we were experimenting by mailing the next issues of Echoes to all alumni on our current mailing list to encourage our graduates to join our Alumni Association. The University and the Association agreed to share the expense. This is the third and final issue that will be mailed to all alumni. Starting with the 1993 Fall issue, only paid members will receive Echoes while all alumni will participate in the annual membership drive later in the year. Our membership has increased, but not enough to make much of a dent in the approximately $10,000 that it takes to publish and distribute each issue. I've met with the Association officers, and we agree that our funds should be used to serve our members. Hopefully, you will enjoy hearing from your alma mater and will maintain your membership in the Association.

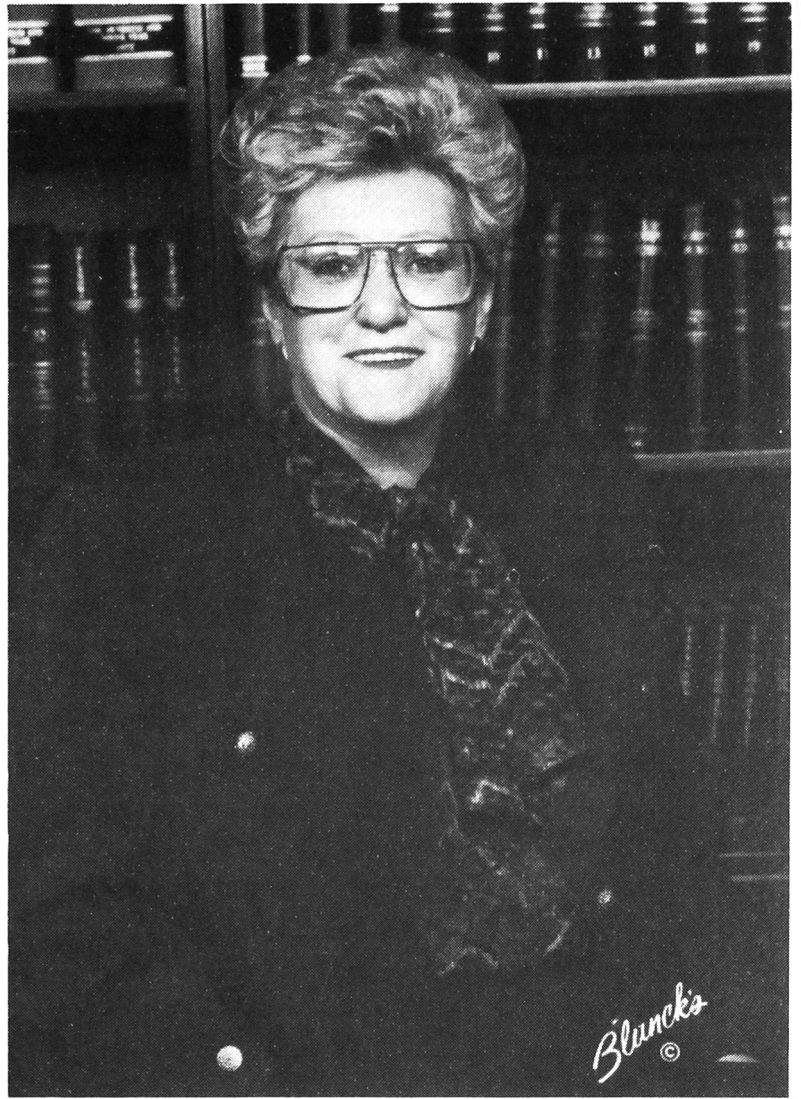

With the passage of State Question 649 and 650, we are in the thick of planning new construction and renovation on both campuses. Various projects are slated to begin this summer and will continue through the next few years.

Mark your calendar for September 25 and join us for Homecoming. This is a special time for our alumni and friends, and it will be even better if you are here!

Sincerely,

Joe Anna Hibler
President

Five named First Team All-Americans

Two others make honorable mention

A school-record of five Southwestern Oklahoma State University football players at Weatherford have been named First Team All-Americans.

Running back Eric Royal of Hughes Springs, Texas; tight end Junior Lowden of Tecumseh; offensive lineman Damon Sartor of Willis, Texas; defensive tackle John Wichert of Weatherford; and line-backer Stephen Buford of Midwest City (Carl Albert) were all honored on the first team which was released January 13, 1993.

Two other Bulldogs, offensive lineman Bob Bruce of Wynnewood and strong safety Brandin Beers of Shattuck, were named honorable mention All-Americans.

Southwestern was one of two schools with five First Team All-Americans. Gardner-Webb, NC, also had five selections. The only school in NAIA history to have five First Team All-Americans was Central Arkansas in 1988.

Southwestern Oklahoma had a banner season in 1992. Paul Sharp's squad started out the season 7-0 and ended up number one in the nation before losing at Southeastern.

SWOSU bounced back the next week to defeat Northeastern and clinch a tie for the Oklahoma Intercollegiate Conference championship title.

The Bulldogs also qualified for the eight-team NAIA playoffs but lost in the first round to Central Arkansas. SWOSU ended the year with an 8-2 record.

Royal was a big reason for the Bulldogs' success. The senior running back was named OIC Offensive Player of the Year. Royal rushed for 1,147 yards and scored 15 touchdowns. He also ended up being the school's third-leading all-time rusher with 2,757 yards.

Lowden was a sophomore starting end who was named an OIC First-teamer. Lowden made 20 catches for 393 yards in 1992.

Joining Lowden as a First Team All-American is senior offensive lineman Sartor. Sartor was left tackle on the line which enabled quarterback Grant Pitt to throw for 1,643 yards and Royal to run for over 1,000 yards.

Like Royal, Wichert was honored by the OIC as Defensive Player of the Year. The junior tackle was an anchor on the Bulldog defense which was one of the top units in the NAIA.

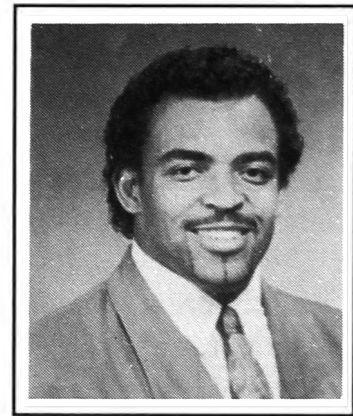

Wichert was involved in 75 tackles and had 10 quarterback sacks.

Buford, a senior, had 81 tackles in 1992 despite playing in only eight contests. Buford also had three pass interceptions and recovered one fumble.

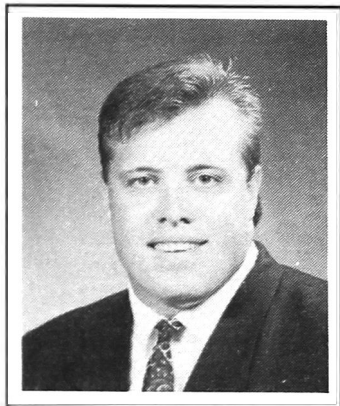

The two SWOSU honorable mention All-Americans are both seniors.

Bruce was the starting right guard on the offense, while Beers was strong safety on defense.

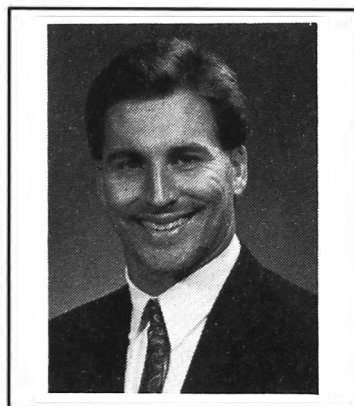

Beers was the Bulldogs' second-leading tackler with 85 tackles and three pass interceptions.

Governor selects work of former art instructor

Weatherford potter LeRoy Schultz, a former art instructor at Southwestern, has been commissioned by Oklahoma Governor David Walters to create pottery bottles for each of the nation's governors.

Schultz's bottles are adorned with stamps of the seal of Oklahoma, five civilized tribes and the letters OK. The artist creates the designs by tying on pewter beads and feathers, which have become his trademark.

First Lady Rhonda Walters discovered Schultz's artwork and recommended it be selected as gifts from the Governor's office.

The final decision for the artwork was made by a committee whose task was to select a piece of artwork that would be presented to the governors at the National Governors' Association meeting in August, as a gift from the state of Oklahoma.

LeRoy Schultz, former SWOSU art instructor, looks over one of the bottles which will become gifts from Oklahoma to the rest of the nation's governors.

Neff family donates 'Pastor's Study' collection

Southwestern campuses at both Weatherford and Sayre have received a collection of literary, philosophical and inspirational books from the Rev. David M. Neff of North Riverside, IL.

Neff, a Sayre native and son of Mike and Bunny Neff of Sayre, gave the "pastor's study" collection of books to SWOSU in dedication to an 89-year-old grandmother, Lucille Neff, who is currently residing in a nursing home in Wytheville, VA.

Mrs. Neff lived in the Sayre area for 13 years after her retirement as a dietitian in New York City.

Mrs. Neff is an artist noted in the area for her historical paintings of Western Oklahoma.

Mrs. Neff and her family have long been advocates of educational excellence. For years, Mrs. Neff gave books as gifts for birthdays and Christmas.

Hence, Rev. Neff gave the collection of books in her honor. The gift collection will be used by Southwestern for general education purposes.

Rev. Neff is pastor of Community Presbyterian Church in North Riverside. He is a 1975 graduate of Sayre and attended SWOSU for two years.

He earned his bachelor's degree in 1980 from the University of Oklahoma and his master of divinity degree from Yale University in 1985.

According to Bunny Neff, three former and current SWOSU faculty members were instrumental in Neff's decision to enter the ministry. They are Dr. James Sill, Dr. Jerry Nye and Dr. John Abel.

The Neff family has several additional ties to Southwestern, since David's brothers Patrick and John are both graduates of the university..

A distant cousin, Audobon Neff, is the namesake for the men's dormitory Neff Hall on the campus at Weatherford.

Grads' work published in psychology journals

Dr. Paul Nail co-authors with Lynn Ruch, and Marilyn Van Leewen

Dr. Les Levy, psychology department chairman at Southwestern, has announced that an article co-authored by Dr. Paul Nail of the psychology faculty and former student Lynn Ruch, appears in the current issue of the British Journal of Social Psychology.

The article is concerned with social communication and persuasion, and it represents the culmination of four years of research performed by the pair, which started when Ruch was a student in Southwestern's master's degree program in psychology.

The study demonstrates the use of a novel paradigm for studying influence processes between individuals, and it shows how various responses to social influence can be discriminated from one another.

Ruch graduated from Southwestern with his MS degree in 1989. He is currently on the staff of the Four County Mental Health Center in Independence, KS.

Another paper co-authored by Nail and former Southwestern student Marilyn Van Leewen was recently accepted for publication in Personality and Social Psychology Bulletin.

The paper is entitled "An analysis and restructuring of the diamond model of social response." It provides the theoretical rationale for the research reported by Nail and Ruch.

Van Leewen graduated from Southwestern with a BS in psychology in 1987. Earlier this year she completed requirements for the PhD in Experimental Psychology from Texas Christian University. She is currently an assistant professor of psychology at Murry State University in Murry, KY.

Dr. Levy said the psychology department is particularly pleased with the publications in that both students involved worked persistently over a period of time with Dr. Nail in order to be published and that these were only two of many students who have worked with Dr. Nail who are continuing their professional careers in psychology.

Tuition guidelines waiver revised

Southwestern has instituted newly revised guidelines listing eligibility requirements for waiver of non-resident tuition surcharges.

The three categories for qualification are academics, activities, and legacies.

Legacy guidelines (entering freshmen only) include one of the student's parents, grandparents, or legal guardians must hold a degree from SWOSU. There is no application for this fee-waiver. Your admission form along with high school transcript and ACT or SAT scores are all that are needed to show proof of qualification.

For more information contact Dr. John Hays, Executive Vice President-Administration.

Directory to simplify locating friends

Soon locating fellow alumni will be as easy as turning a page with the Southwestern Oklahoma State University Alumni Directory.

You may reserve your personal copy when your Harris representative phones.

The directory will sort your data by name in the alphabetical division, by class year and geographic location in separate sections in the book.

Also included will be a special message from the Alumni Association as well as photos and information on the school.

Thank you for your cooperation. Without your help the alumni office would not have been able to make this directory available.

Three SW faculty are senior industrial techs

Technology department faculty members Dr. Gary Bell, Dr. Richard Baugher and Dr. James Griffin recently completed requirements by the National Association of Industrial Technology to become senior industrial technologists.

The trio were recognized for their academic background and teaching experience in construction technology, drafting and robotics, respectively. Bell has been at SWOSU since 1983. Baugher came in 1976 and Griffin in ???

'Building on Our Heritage' campaign

Third phase of drive underway

Southwestern Oklahoma State University Foundation directors, officers and volunteers are beginning a third phase of a $2 million drive to benefit the western Oklahoma university campus locations in Weatherford and Sayre.

SWOSU Director of Development and Alumni Jim Waites said the alumni and friends phase of the four-part "Building on Our Heritage" campaign will continue through fall 1994.

Chairpersons of the alumni and friends phase are Clinton residents Paul and Dottie Flick who also spend time at their home in Moore. The Flicks are owners of Blunck Studios which has locations in Clinton, Moore, Weatherford, Elk City, Lawton and Amarillo.

Waites said the third phase of the drive has a goal of $450,000 and a challenge goal of $600,000.

Currently the Foundation drive has a total of $1.5 million in pledges, cash and deferred gifts which was support through participation," Mr. Flick said. "Per-

In 1952, Paul and Dottie purchased the operation and developed Blunck Studios with an emphasis on school photography throughout Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas and New Mexico.

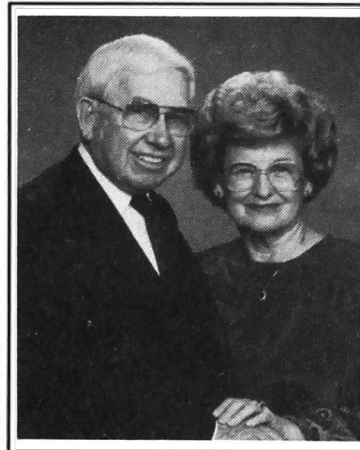

The Flicks had four children (three still living) who all attended Southwestern. They have been long-time SWOSU supporters who have established scholarship funds through the Foundation for senior high students at both Hammon and Clinton High Schools.

The Flicks are involved in the "Building On Our Heritage" campaign which will benefit Southwestern in various ways. Some of the priorities are scholarships, endowed chairs, professorships and lectureships, expansion of the new conference center, general endowments, academic support for the Sayre campus, removal of handicap barriers, campus beautification and library support.

'...The third phase will provide an opportunity for Southwestern's many alumni and friends to demonstrate their loyalty...'

--Paul Flick, chairperson of the alumni and friends phase raised during the first two phases of the three-year campaign. The first phase, which started in late 1991, centered on Foundation board members and SWOSU faculty and staff. The second part of the drive concentrated in the Weatherford/Custer County area. Corporations and foundations will be contacted in the final phase.

"The third phase will provide an opportunity for Southwestern's many alumni and friends to demonstrate their loyalty and sonally, my wife and I feel our association with Southwestern contributed to our company's success."

The Flicks are well-known western Oklahoma residents. Paul is graduate of Hammon, while Dottie graduated from Clinton. Both attended Southwestern, but business pursuits led them elsewhere. In 1948, the couple moved back to Clinton where they started work with Dottie's parents, who owned Blunck Studios and were considering retirement.

Kenneth Reid Family

Weatherford's Kenneth Reid, representing the Reid family, recently gave $20,000 in cash and deferred gifts to the Southwestern Oklahoma State University Foundation at Weatherford. The Reid family's gift was part of the "Building on Our Heritage" drive which is continuing at Southwestern.

Tommy and Sue Nabors

Tommy and Sue Nabors of Weatherford recently donated an $18,000 deferred gift to the Southwestern Oklahoma State University Foundation at Weatherford. The Nabors are downtown Weatherford business people who made their contribution during the current "Building on Our Heritage" Foundation drive.

Stovall endowment benefits students at Sayre campus

William G. and June Stovall of Golden, CO, have given $10,000 to the Foundation.

The endowment will be used for scholarships to assist students at the SWOSU campus at Sayre, according to Foundation Director Jim Waites.

Students in Beckham County will have first priority for the scholarships, with other western Oklahoma county students receiving next consideration.

Stovall is a 1937 graduate of Southwestern State Teachers College in Weatherford. He graduated with a bachelor of arts degree with majors in Physical Education, Science and History. He married June White of Clinton.

The SWOSU graduate is a 32 degree Mason, and he and his wife belong to the Methodist Church. They have two sons and one daughter.

Nunn donation supports Lady 'Dogs

Ethel Giles Nunn of Weatherford recently gave $10,000 to the Foundation to benefit the perennial power Southwestern women's basketball team.

Foundation Director Jim Waites said Nunn's donation will be set up as an endowment.

Nunn, who rarely misses a SWOSU home basketball game, is a 1936 Southwestern graduate.

Her interest in basketball started when she filled in as a coach during World War II for junior high boys and girls and senior high girls.

Nunn's interest in basketball was renewed in the 1980s when she learned of a young lady, Kelli Litsch, who was doing a fine job on the Southwestern team.

Mrs. Nunn poses here with members of the nationally ranked Lady Bulldog basketball team and coaches Kelli Litsch and John Loftin.

City National Bank of Cordell and Weatherford recently set up a $10,000 scholarship fund with the Southwestern Foundation. The fund will benefit students from Corn, Cordell and Weatherford.

Dr. H.F. Timmons, Dean of School of Health Sciences at Southwestern recently gave a $10,000 cash gift to the Foundation. Timmons has been an employee of Southwestern since 1956.

Rick McNeil graduated from Southwestern with a BS and ME in Administration, and is the new principal at Elk City High School.

Lori Scott graduated from Southwestern in 1991. After 18 months at National Oilwell, she now helps the Woodward community by helping deliver food to the needy citizens.

Patsy Schaumburg graduated from Southwestern with a degree in Home Economics and is a home ec teacher at Mesquite High School. Schaumburg was named Teacher of the Week in Minyard Food Stores.

Dr. Melba Sherwood graduated from Southwestern in 1962 with a BA in Language Arts Education and in 1966 with a Master's in Guidance and Counseling. She is employed by Caddo-Kiowa AVTS as the Education Enhancement Center Coordinator.

Terry Stricker graduated from Southwestern in 1987 with a ME Administration Certificate. He is now serving as principal at Central Elementary School in Frederick, and he is also a member of a number of professional education associations.

Mike Smith, a 1978 graduate of Southwestern, has returned to Elk City as a State Farm Insurance agent. Smith has been involved in the insurance for 14 years.

On September 19, 1992, Southwestern played Midwestern in Wichita Falls. This was the day Truman Smith played against Midwestern 39 years ago. On this day, just before half time, he was pulled out of the game to find out his wife Jane had just given birth to a baby boy. In honor of the coach, who had coached him in high school and college, he named his son Joe Bruce. In 1992, Joe and his father attended the college game to relive a memory.

Commander Craig E Vance, a SWOSU graduate with a BS degree, joined the Navy in August 1973 and recently reported for duty aboard the Frigate USS Elmer Montgomery, home ported in Mayport, FL.

Nominations being accepted for Alumni, Athletic Hall of Fame

Persons wishing to nominate alumni for the Distinguished Alumni Hall of Fame may submit names and a resume to Dr. Bob Brown, Vice President, Southwestern Oklahoma State University, Weatherford, OK 73906. Dr. Brown serves as chair of the committee that will make the selection. Persons wishing to nominate alumni for the Athletic Hall of Fame may submit names and letters of recommendation to Dr. Joe Anna Hibler, President, Southwestern Oklahoma State University, 100 Campus Drive, Weatherford, OK 73096.

Assessment plan needs your input

Graduates Fall 1987 through Fall 1992 probably have received a survey from the Southwestern Assessment Office which requests information that will be used in planning programs and services for current and future students. The two-page questionnaire will take only a few minutes to complete. In order to have a meaningful survey, timely input is needed from as many graduates as possible.

Bulldog yearbooks from 1965-1992 available to alumni

If you forgot—or didn't have the cash at the time—to buy your college yearbook, now is your last chance to take that long-awaited trip down Memory Lane.

Cost for books from 1965 to 1980 is $8, from 1981 to 1991 is $12, and for the 1992 book is $20. The cost includes shipping.

Books may be ordered by mailing check or money order to the Bulldog Yearbook Office, 117 Science Building, 100 Campus Drive, Weatherford, OK 73096.

Bulldogs again among the nation's elite

It is becoming tradition for the Southwestern women's basketball team to qualify for the Final Four of the NAIA national tourney.

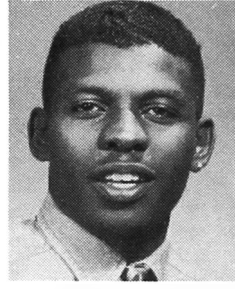

For the fourth straight year, the Lady Bulldogs were once again among the elite four during the 1993 tourney. Southwestern was ousted in the semi-finals in a controversial finish which enabled Union located in Jackson, TN, to pull out a 54-53 victory in front of 6,500 screaming Tennessee faithfuls. A Union player hit a free throw with :02 seconds remaining to pull out the victory.

Southwestern ended the season with an impressive 29-4 record. The Ladies were ranked #1 in the final NAIA poll released before the playoffs. Southwestern also played in the District 9 finals for the seventh straight year, but lost in the finals to Southern Nazarene.

John Loftin's Ladies received an at-large berth in the national tourney. It was their ninth trip in the past 12 seasons.

Valerie Fariss

Sharif Ford

Southwestern's Valerie Fariss was named an NAIA Honorable Mention All-American. Teammate Shirley Harmon was named to the national tourney first team.

Southwestern's men's basketball team, coached by veteran mentor George Hauser, finished the 1992-93 season with a 13-14 record. The Bulldogs won their final two games of the season and narrowly missed the District 9 playoffs.

Sharif Ford led the Bulldogs this season with a 24 point average. Ford became Southwestern's second-leading all-time scorer with 1,716 points. The senior ended up falling short of Southwestern's all-time leading scorer Archie McGill, by 125 points.

Southwestern's women's team loses only one senior, Rhonda Buggs, from this year's squad, while four players—Ford, John Boyton, Sidney Kennedy and Vince Gaines—were seniors on the men's team.

Southwestern faced with budget shortfall

Based on Oklahoma Governor David Walters' proposed budget, Southwestern is faced with a nine percent budget cut for the upcoming year.

Administrative officials are expecting a shortfall of around $1.5 million.

At this time, twenty faculty positions at Southwestern will not be filled for 1993-94. These positions include tenure-track, one-year contract and adjunct positions. SWOSU President Dr. Joe Anna Hibler said support staff will have to be cut and more layoffs among faculty members may be necessary.

SWOSU Executive Vice President John Hays said cuts are also planned in equipment, travel and other operating categories of the budget.

The state's funding shortfall and consequent cutbacks are behind the layoffs. Based on the projected budget, Southwestern is expected to cut around $1.5 million from a $23 million budget, of which 83 percent is salaries.

"This is the first reality check after the passage of 640," Hibler told reporter Ann Marcy of the Weatherford Daily News, referring to the state question that requires almost all tax increases to be approved by a vote of the people.

"The money just isn't there and the rainy day fund has been drained in the last two years," she said.

The expected budget cuts will affect not only the campus, but also the entire western Oklahoma area, and the way courses are taught. Course offerings could change as early as summer.

Dr. Bob Brown, Vice President for Academic Affairs, said there may be fewer offerings during summer term.

"Traditionally, Southwestern has prided itself on having doctorate teaching [underclassmen], and in small classes," Brown said.

Now it looks like the university will have to put more students in classes. The number of sections could be limited so that students may have a more difficult time getting classes they need.

In addition, the university recently received from the State Regents of Oklahoma a list of programs it will have to either eliminate or defend. The list is a result of the Academic Planning and Resource Allocation program which has been underway for two years at all state institutions of higher education.

The state regents are recommending a tuition increase to help offset the state appropriation decrease. As of mid-March, the legislature had not appeared to be sympathetic to a tuition increase.
